Starship Enterprise Powered by University Orchestra to Lift Off from Guerry Tuesday

Are you ready for an auditory adventure? Come to the University Orchestra's otherworldly concert and step into the Starship Enterprise: meet Princess Leia and march against Darth Vader in the battle of good versus evil. Guided by Yoda, travel to the throne room.

The journey, free and open to all, begins on Tuesday, April 20, at 8 p.m. in Guerry Auditorium. As the concert will not last long, young people of all ages can allow themselves to be transported by the awesome music, inspired by student soloists and still get home by bedtime.

In addition to the "Star Wars Suite for Orchestra" by John Williams, College seniors Max Smith and Michael Corliss will astound the audience with their incredible talent. Smith will perform the allegro molto moderato movement of Edvard Grieg's Concerto in A Minor for piano. This familiar and well-loved movement gives him a chance to use the powerful interpretation we've enjoyed in his performances before.

Corliss will play the allegro movement from the Concerto in B Minor for cello by Antonin Dvorak. A gifted and passionate performer, Corliss will amaze the audience with his virtuosity on the cello.

Book Club Meets Monday

"Wherefore": Sewanee Senior Art Majors Exhibition Opens Tuesday with Artists' Talk, Reception

The University Art Gallery is pleased to announce "Wherefore," an exhibition by Sewanee's graduating art majors: Caitlin Gilliam, Allison Kendrick, Lacy Morrison, Lexi Namer, Sam Sanderson and Jack Wyrick.

All are invited to the gallery on Tuesday, April 20, at 4:30 p.m. to hear the artists discuss their work and for an opening reception in honor of the students. "Wherefore" concludes the University Art Gallery's 2009-10 exhibition season and will be on view until 3 p.m. on May 15.

Painting, sculpture, photography and video are included in "Wherefore," and the range of media is emblematic of the varied interests of these students. Some of the works in the exhibition are directed to furthering the ends of social activism, some confront mortality, some document the chaos of college life, and some investigate the nature and meaning of the medium of the artwork itself.

Caitlin Gilliam, "Light: Part 1," 2010, acrylic

Sam Sanderson, "Glitch," 2010

A few common interests are evident in the works of these artists, including memory, identity and experience of the natural world. These six artists use their work to explore open-ended questions. The word "wherefore" serves as a question, introduces answers and is a synonym for "reason." The artists chose this title because "wherefore," by definition, functions as both the question and the purpose, just as our work does."

The event is sponsored by The Mountain Goat Trail Alliance and the University. Proceeds will support the expansion of the Mountain Goat Trail to Monteagle.

TOWARD BUILDING BETTER COMMUNICATIONS

To the Editor:

I was thrilled to note that a main agenda item at last month's Community Council meeting revolved around communication, and I was sorry I was unable to attend.

I was relieved to read that general community members may request to be added to an emergency/weather distribution list that is sent from the University. Safety should always come before all else. And while I would certainly endorse a manager-free internet bulletin board, similar to the University classifieds system but open to all, I will continue to do my best to keep the community informed via the Community E-mail Service until we find something better.

Currently, the system posts Sewanee Police notices, emergency and weather alerts, nonprofit and University event information (as it is sent to the service), along with major community news (and the slew of lost and found animals).

I do hope to move toward a more open bulletin board type mechanism in the near future using a moderated news group approach, allowing for a broader range of posted information—not quite "manager free" but much easier to maintain.

For event postings and announcements, you may send them directly to the community e-mail, <community@cafes.net>. Anyone may join the current 300 members by sending a request to the above e-mail address.

Please note that if you already receive the University Classifieds, it would most likely be redundant for you. Again, a manager-free system would be remarkable.

One final note, to avoid potential scheduling conflicts and until that time where we as an entire community can discern a way to have an overall all-encompassing internet calendar, an excellent comprehensive overview can be found on the back page of the Messenger.

ENDORSEMENT FOR KNOLL

To the Editor:

I, also, would like to recommend that members of the Sewanee community vote to re-elect Arthur Knoll to the County Commission (District 5, Seat B.)

Sewanee is a community whose very reason to be is centered on providing education for the next generation. We all have a stake in the well-being of the public schools of Franklin County. Public schools in Tennessee are governed by a local school board, except that school boards do not control the allocation of local taxes for public education—this is in the hands of the County Commission.

I'm very pleased that Arthur has been able to serve on the School Committee of the County Commission. Arthur's experience as a lifetime educator (professor of history at the University, until his recent retirement) proves that his service on the County Commission (and on its School Committee) must be very valuable as these bodies deal with issues related to the public schools in Franklin County.

I believe that a vote for Arthur Knoll is a way that we can support the cause of better public schools for Franklin County.

Sherwood Ebey

ENDORSES MORRIS FOR NEW DIRECTION

To the Editor:

I am writing in support of Rocky Morris for the county commission seat currently held by Arthur Knoll [District 5, Seat B]. Rocky has been active in our community and knows the county well, having lived and worked both on and off the Mountain.

Most importantly, Rocky will support public education in Franklin County. The incumbent, Dr. Knoll, has not, having actively worked against adequate funding of our school system for the past four years.

Franklin County schools rank in the bottom 3 percent nationally in funding per student. Tennessee state government is shifting more of the funding burden to our county because of our capacity to generate tax revenue. Yet, the current county commission has ignored the needs of our schools.

It's time for a new direction. Please vote for Rocky Morris in the Democratic primary election.

THANKS FOR THE JOY YOU HAVE GIVEN ME

Dear Sewanee Dance Students and Families,
Congratulations on another outstanding dance performance! As I watched this year's performance, new memories and memories of performances past reminded me once again how truly blessed I have been to do what I love in this wonderful and supportive community.

A huge thank-you to Abram Jones, Simmons Falk, Amanda Meador, Samantha Gribben, Michael Ostrowski, Michael Redman and Larry Wood, the incredible production crew who gave generously their gifts of time and talents. Without them, the performance would not have had lights or music.

Special thanks to my college assistants: Chelsey Barry, Megan Burnham, Kristin Hanson, Rebekah Hilderbrandt and Jessie Weinmann. They have taught our students with kind and compassionate hearts.

Thank you for the lovely flowers and beautiful Sewanee book. Your thoughtfulness and generosity will always be treasured. I hope that dance will continue to bring you as much joy as you have given to me.

THANKS FOR SUPPORT OF G.C. FOOD BANK APPEAL

To the Editor:

I am one of six persons who issued a letter on March 5 to about 280 possible donors in the Sewanee area on behalf of the Grundy County Food Bank (GCFB) Urgent Appeal.

Our hope was to offset the costs incurred last November of purchasing a truck to replace a retired EMT vehicle, which had been used to transport food from various sources for free distribution to increasing numbers of hungry persons in Grundy County and Franklin and Marion counties through other outlets. I also handled the processing of all receipts from this special campaign. I am happy to report that 82 donors from Sewanee and the surrounding area to date have contributed a total of $6,615, all currently deposited for GCFB. A single donor has promised to match $6,000 of this amount. This total will cover not only the truck purchase and startup expenses, but also make available a sizable fund for the ongoing program costs of the Grundy County Food Bank, an IRS certified 501(c)3 charity.

Thanks to all who responded to this appeal. We had hoped to raise a minimum of $2,500, so here again Sewanee and the surrounding area can be proud of its support for an all-volunteer program regularly providing the most basic support for those hardest hit by the economic downturn. Your support is appreciated. Additional funds are always needed. If any reader should wish to contribute, send donations directly to: Grundy County Food Bank, P.O. Box 1683, Tracy City, TN 37387.

Serving Where Called

Six years ago this column began to support the large number of reservists and National Guard members called up for active duty to serve in the war in Iraq. About 120,000 troops remain in Iraq to support and train their military and assist with counterterrorism.

On Dec. 1, President Barack Obama announced he is sending 30,000 additional troops to Afghanistan to focus on reversing the Taliban's momentum. They will join the 68,000 troops currently deployed in this volatile area.

This is a reminder that someone else is standing guard and facing fire for us. Please keep the following individuals, their families and all those who fight for freedom in your prayers:

A reception will follow the concert in Key-Andrews Hall. The concert and reception are open to the public; a free-will offering will be taken at the concert.

The concert will include works by Bach, Franck, Ireland, Brahms and Myron Roberts.

"Sons & Daughters of Abraham" Pilot Program Off to Great Start

"Sons and Daughters of Abraham Project" is a pilot program begun by Fire on the Mountain, Episcopal Youth Coalition of Sewanee. The purpose of this program is to provide opportunities for Muslim, Jewish and Christian middle-school youth to come together in order to better understand our different backgrounds, faiths and cultures.

"Our program will provide a forum for discovery of the things which bring us together and and empower youth to change those things which keep us apart," comments Betty Carpenter, Youth Ministry coordinator at Otey Memorial Parish.

The Mountain was the perfect backdrop for a recent event that included games, a picnic and a hike on the Fiery Gizzard trail.

"We concluded with a discussion about our faiths and beliefs and the promise of continued dialog," Carpenter said.

SUD Board to Meet April 24

The next meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties is scheduled for 5 p.m., Tuesday, April 27, in the SUD office on Sherwood Road.

F.C. Commission to Meet Monday

The Franklin County Board of Commissioners will meet on Monday, April 19, at 7 p.m. in the Franklin County Courthouse, Winchester. County commission meetings are open to the public. Johnny Hughes and Art Knoll represent District 5.

Johnny Hughes Seeks Re-Election to County Commission

"I want to thank the voters of the 5th District who four years ago put their trust in me to serve you. It has been a privilege for me to be your representative on the County Commission [Seat A]. I would like to ask for your vote in the Democratic Primary on May 4th," announced Johnny Hughes of Sewanee.

Hughes has announced some of his goals for the next four years. "I think one of the big weaknesses in this county is the lack of communication between our elected and appointed people.

"I want all of us to sit down together—commissioners, road commissioners, school board members, mayor, etc., and come up with clear-cut plans to move our county forward. Even if we disagree, we need to communicate."

On taxes, Hughes comments, "I will never say I will not vote for a tax increase, but what I will say is that I will go over the budget and try to eliminate anything I consider to be a waste of taxpayer money before I vote for one."

Education, highways and law enforcement are things that will always need to be worked on, according to Hughes. "In the next four years I would like to see a vocational school put on the old high school site; I would like to see emergency communications improved in the Sherwood area; I would like to be able to get water to the people in Keith Springs," Hughes adds.

"I want to continue to work with the other commissioners to build a better relationship between Sewanee and the rest of the county," according to Hughes. "Sewanee is perceived as being only a University town, and, although the University of the South is a big asset and part of Sewanee and the county, I want the people to realize that we have places like Midway, the Jump-Off community, Garnertown area, etc., that are not on the University domain and really need and deserve the county support."

In closing, Hughes promises the people of the 5th District—Sewanee, Sherwood and Keith Springs, "I will continue to work hard for you. I owe it to you."

Two Die in Car Fire on Mountain

While on patrol on Saturday, April 10, Franklin County sheriff's office deputies discovered a vehicle fire on U.S. 41A (locally called the Cowan Road) at the top of the Mountain. In a report filed by Deputy Doug Seals, Seals stated that he found the vehicle, a 2002 Nissan Extera, fully engulfed in flames. Investigators from the sheriff's office and the state fire marshal's bomb and arson section were able to determine at the scene that two females had in fact died in the vehicle while it burned.

Sewanee Police Chief Robert White reported to the community via e-mail April 10 that "around 1 p.m. the Sewanee Police and Fire responded to a vehicle fire at the picnic table pull off on 41A at the top of the Mountain. Upon extinguishing the fire two bodies were discovered inside the vehicle. There's no evidence at this time that connects the vehicle or the unidentified victims with the University or Sewanee community. ... If anyone passed this location between 12 and 1 p.m. today [April 10] and observed any activity please contact me at 581-3104 or 598-1111. You may also contact Sheriff Tim Fuller at (931) 962-0123 or investigator Mike Bell at (931) 308-9416."

On Sunday, April 11, Franklin County sheriff's office investigators, in conjunction with the state fire marshal's bomb and arson squad, determined that the vehicle in question was registered to Valerie Gooden of Nashville. Law enforcement officials also determined that Gooden had a 7-year-old daughter.

Investigators are still awaiting positive identification of the bodies from the state medical examiner's office. At press time, investigators are treating this investigation as a homicide.

Civic Association Adopts Mission Statement, New Fees, Schedule; Hears Local Outreach to Haiti Report—Challenging Hopelessness

At the April 5 meeting of the Sewanee Civic Association the membership voted to adopt the following Community Chest mission statement: "The purpose of the Sewanee Community Chest campaign is to raise funds for local organizations that serve the common good. An important function of the campaign is to minimize the need for excessive area fund-raising by many groups; therefore, organizations receiving funds are expected to acknowledge support from the Community Chest in other Sewanee fund-raising efforts."

The membership also approved a proposal for reorganizing the meeting and membership structure of the Civic Association. By the new plan, the group will hold four meetings per year: September, November, February and April. Dues will be $5 per year, with a per meeting meal fee for those who wish to dine. Meeting dates other than the first Monday and different venues are being considered, as well as serving wine, for a fee.

"We will move from our historic eight dinner meetings per year to four: September and November/February and April. Membership will drop from $60 per person to $5, and meals will cost the same for everyone," commented association president Elizabeth Duncan. "A more dining-friendly venue is sought, and additional information will be forthcoming over the next several months."

"We will offer three vibrant programs in addition to the Community Service Award meeting, and it is my hope to see many more community members from all our various sectors come and join us, especially those who receive Community Chest funding," Duncan said. Suggestions for programs and speakers are always encouraged and welcomed, <eduncan44@gmail.com>.

The harsh and difficult challenges posed by poverty-stricken and earthquake-devastated Haiti for medical missionaries were shared by Sewanee residents Sandy and Bruce Baird, D.D.S., and local contractor Bill Mauzy. Sewanee Outreach, a University program headed up by Dixon Myers, sponsors the annual medical mission trip to Haiti; the Bairds and Mauzy have been regular participants. They recently returned from Haiti on the spring break mission trip.

Sandy Baird offered historical, geographic, and demographic context to the circumstances in Haiti. Haiti shares the island of Dominica with the Dominican Republic. Mountainous Haiti receives very little rainfall because the clouds rising to cross the mountains drop their moisture on the Dominican side of the island.

In 1804 the sugar plantation workers revolted and killed all the white landowners. In the years that followed, vast numbers of trees were cut for use as cooking fuel, and the island's topsoil literally ran into the ocean. Farming, the primary livelihood of most of the inhabitants, became even less productive in the arid country.

Haiti is the poorest nation in the western hemisphere and relies almost entirely on aid to survive. The only exports are sugarcane and the rum made from the cane. In much of the country there is no electricity, and only half the residents have clean drinking water, a circumstance exacerbated by the recent earthquake.

Haiti has an 80 percent unemployment rate, a 50 percent illiteracy rate, and 65 percent of the population is undernourished (the frequent spectacle of orange hair signifies protein deficiency). The average lifespan of Haitians is 49.5 years.

In stressing the need for the medical mission trip, Sandy Baird noted that in Haiti there are only three physicians and one dentist for every 10,000 people (compared to 26 physicians and 16 dentists for every 10,000 Americans).

Bruce Baird and Bill Mauzy presented a slide show chronicling their experience. The random destructiveness of the earthquake was painfully obvious, with the remnants of destroyed buildings next to unaffected buildings. In the capital city of Port-au-Prince, children played basketball on a court next to the ruins of a technical school beneath which 30 students were buried. One slide showed the national palace still in a state of ruin two months after the quake. The outreach group saw no relief workers and no large equipment clearing debris; instead, men chipped away at the concrete ruins with sledgehammers, dismantling the rubble by hand.

The medical mission group was assisted by six Haitian translators and 17 student volunteers from the University. Originally 21 students signed up for the trip, and while the earthquake deterred a few prospective volunteers, most remained steadfast in their commitment.

The mission group was based in the village of Montrouis. They expected to lodge in tents, but local residents gave up space in the few remaining buildings to the volunteers.

The volunteers worked in temperatures in the high 90s in squalid quarters with no ventilation, usually no electricity, and sometimes no water. Haiti has an HIV rate of six percent, the highest in the western hemisphere. Due to risk of infection, the volunteers "suited up" in caps and gloves in spite of the heat.

In the remnants of an old clinic, dentist Baird spent long, painful hours bent over a dental chair locked in the lowest position. Contractor Mauzy learned to pull teeth. Student volunteers performed triage, assessing whether people who came for treatment needed medical or dental care and prioritizing them according to the severity of their ailments.

Other members of the medical mission group included Outreach coordinator Dixon Myers, his wife the Rev. Annwn Myers, and physicians Diane Petrilla and Matt Baird (son of Bruce and Sandy).

The mission volunteers pulled 150 teeth and treated 500 patients. They focused their efforts at St. Vincent's Orphanage, the only institution in the country serving handicapped children. St. Vincent's facilities were destroyed during the earthquake. Most of the St. Vincent's children are blind and/or deaf; many suffer from thalidomide birth defects.

The local priest oversaw the volunteers' efforts. By the priest's decision, on the first day, they saw only children from the orphanage, while on the second day they saw people from the town. Over the objections of the volunteers, the priest insisted the town people pay 16 cents for treatment. The priest explained that charging made the experience more meaningful for those who received medical and dental care.

Haitians "only know how to ask for things," Bruce Baird observed, a consequence of the long-standing desperation of a country that cannot support itself. In addition to health care needs, the volunteers also aided in resolving problems related to the limited water supply. Mauzy hopes to return next spring to replace scale-clogged galvanized pipes impeding the flow of water.

A Haitian man raised at St. Vincent's Orphanage may visit Sewanee this summer to help increase awareness about the country's special needs. Joseph "Jo Jo" Jean Paul has no arms and legs, but he is a gifted artist who holds his brush in his teeth. Jo Jo counts himself blessed, since by his example he gives the children of St. Vincent's hope. For more information about Sewanee Outreach and the Haiti medical mission contact Myers at 598-1156 or <dmyers@sewanee.edu>.

At the May 3 dinner meeting, the Civic Association will celebrate the organizations' leaders and the Community Service Award recipient for 2010. The award ceremony will be held at Otey parish hall, with dinner at 6:30 p.m. and the program beginning at 7 p.m.

Local School Districts to Receive an Estimated $6.2 Million

A Report from Senator Eric Stewart

Tennessee was named the big winner in the Race to the Top competition for federal education funds. The state will receive 500 million dollars in federal money for our schools as a result of our commitment to innovation and reform.

Over the next four years, we will be expected to raise graduation rates, improve our low-performing schools and commit to an overall higher quality of education in Tennessee. We may see some changes in how some schools are organized, but our goal will always be to give our children the best opportunities for the future.

Of the $500 million in federal funds, half will go directly to local school districts. According to state Department of Education estimates, local counties will receive: Coffee County, $612,600; Manchester City Schools, $202,000; Tullahoma City, $607,500; Franklin County, $953,200; Grundy County, $998,000; and Sequatchie County, $647,800.

"But our work in the legislature went beyond obtaining federal funds," Stewart reports. "We had to commit to some hard decisions affecting our teachers, and I am especially proud of an amendment I sponsored to ensure that public school teachers would have a voice in determining how student achievement data will count toward teacher evaluations. Our public school teachers are the foundation of education in Tennessee, and they must have a seat at the table when we talk about education reform. Those discussions are ongoing, and I look forward to updating you on their progress.

"As always, I'm working for you. Contact me using the information below with any questions or comments. I look forward to continuing to serve the 14th District."

Senator Eric Stewart represents Franklin, Bledsoe, Coffee, Grundy, Sequatchie, Van Buren and Warren counties. Contact him at <sen.eric.stewart@capitol.tn.gov>; (615) 741-6694; or 310A War Memorial Building, Nashville, TN 37243.

Local Author Book Signing Saturday

Sewanee author Isabel Anders will autograph her new book, "Becoming Flame: Uncommon Mother-Daughter Wisdom," in Lorena's Gift and Coffee Shop in Monteagle on Saturday, April 17, from 1 to 3 p.m.

"Becoming Flame" is a collection of Anders' succinct, original mother-daughter dialogues, a style of communication rooted in the wisdom tradition, and adapted to a timeless feminine context. In the book's introduction, Anders discusses feminine wisdom and Christian tradition.

Reading by Critically Acclaimed Author Glenn Blake Tuesday

Author Glenn Blake will read from his work on Tuesday, April 20, at the McGriff Alumni House, beginning at 4:30 p.m. All are cordially invited to attend the reading, as well as the book-signing opportunity and reception that will follow.

Glenn Blake is the author of two critically acclaimed story collections, "Drowned Moon" and "Return Fire," both published by The Johns Hopkins University Press. His fiction has appeared in Southwest Review, Gulf Coast, Boulevard, and American Short Fiction.

In 2004, he received a John N. Wall Fellowship from the Sewanee Writers' Conference. He teaches creative writing in the Writing Seminars at the Johns Hopkins University and serves as the managing editor for the Hopkins Review.

Blake was also an inspiration for the character Bad Blake in the Thomas Cobb novel and subsequent movie adaptation, "Crazy Heart," for which Jeff Bridges won an Oscar.

The reading is presented by the University English Department and the Sewanee Writers' Conference.

Turrell Awarded Teacher of the Year

Sewanee Business Alliance to Break Ground for Park

To help beautify the downtown area of Sewanee, the Sewanee Business Alliance (SBA) is planning a new pocket park to be constructed in the vacant lot between the Lemon Fair and the American Legion. Everyone in the community is invited to the ground-breaking ceremony on Monday, April 19, at 4:30 p.m. at the park site.

The new park will house a wood and stone pavilion to be used as a musical venue for festivals, dances, concerts and more. Brick walkways and a patio made of personalized bricks will be built. Bricks can be purchased as tributes or memorials. Community members and visitors will be able to enjoy the park year-round.

The park will cost an estimated $88,000 to construct and maintain throughout the years. The University has donated the land and will maintain the park. "This is real win-win for our community," says John Goodson, SBA chairman. "We need a venue downtown where people can enjoy themselves, listen to concerts and have a place to sit outdoors."

The park will be built from donated funds from the community and friends of Sewanee. Naming rights for the park, pavilion, cornerstones, stone benches and bricks are all available. You can name the park for a donation of $25,000, name the pavilion for a donation of $10,000 or have a personalized cornerstone or stone bench made for $1,000-$2000. A limited number of these are available.

Bricks will run from $75 to $250, depending on their size and number of characters imprinted. For $50 an individual's name can be etched in stone. Companies can do the same for $500. Order forms will be available in the Sewanee Mountain Messenger office, the Sewanee Purple and at several of the downtown merchants.

Volunteer opportunities will also be available for help with the park's construction and landscaping. The park is scheduled for opening this summer.

This is one of many projects being planned to spruce up Sewanee.

If you are interested in becoming a donor, visit <www.sewanee.biz>, contact John Goodson at 968-1127 or e-mail <sewaneebiz@yahoo.com>. Checks can be mailed to P.O. Box 101, Sewanee, TN 37375.

The Sewanee Business Alliance is an informal group of business owners and leaders in Sewanee who promote, plan and execute community and business projects to improve Sewanee's image and strengthen the local economy. The SBA's first successful program was the SHOP SEWANEE campaign to promote business. The SBA is funded by community and personal donations.

To learn more about or become a member of the Sewanee Business Alliance, e-mail <sewaneebiz@yahoo.com> or contact Goodson, 968-1127. The SBA is also on Facebook and Twitter under Sewanee Biz.

Brownridge to Lecture on "South Africa: Engine of Change"

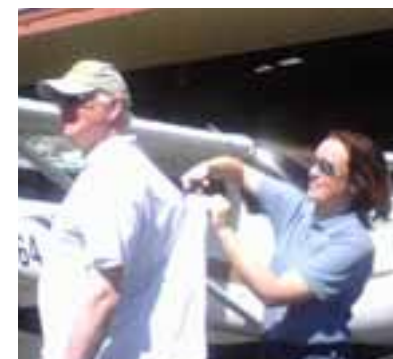

On Thursday, April 22, at 4:30 p.m. in Gailor Auditorium the Rev. Walter Brownridge will talk about South Africa's role in the 21st century, "South Africa: Engine of Change."

This June, just 16 years after becoming a democracy, South Africa will host the World Cup, one of the largest international sporting events, a first for the country and the continent of Africa. South Africa is the only nation in Africa with the economic and political stability to qualify for such a distinction. In his talk, Brownridge will explore the significance of South Africa's role for the continent and internationally.

Brownridge, associate dean for community life at the School of Theology, recently returned from a visit to South Africa. Prior to his appointment at Sewanee, he served in the Diocese of Cape Town, at St. George's Cathedral as canon precentor in charge of liturgy and worship and later as canon pastor responsible for pastoral care, the Cathedral's HIV/AIDS ministry and its participation in the International Cross of Nails, a global network involved in the ministry of justice, peace and reconciliation.

Brownridge's lecture is sponsored by the Cumberland Center for Justice and Peace. For more information contact Leslie Lytle at 598-9979 or <slytle@blomand.net>.

Instructor Rebecca Gibson cuts off Bob Burns's shirttail just after his first solo flight, an old flight training tradition.

Burns Solos

Sewanee resident Bob Burns flew solo for his first time on April 6 at Winchester Airport. Burns has been taking flight lessons from instructor Rebecca Gibson at the Sewanee/Franklin County Airport and hopes to earn his pilot certificate soon.

Burns first got interested in flying when he was a Boy Scout touring Stewart Air Force Base in Smyrna, Tenn., some 55 years ago.

He says, "This activity fulfills a lifelong dream and [I] encourage anyone interested in flying, young or old, to call Rebecca and come on out to the Sewanee Airport and give it a try."

Unofficial Election Results

The Grundy County Herald reports in the April 13 Monteagle municipal elections winners were: Marilyn Campbell Nixon, mayor; Lexie Orr, Alvin Powell Jr., Rusty Leonard and Harry Parmley were the four top vote recipients for alderman.

Priesthood in Our Culture

On Wednesday, April 21, at 7 p.m., the Rev. George Sumner will present "Road Salt: Indelible Priesthood and the Culture of our Church and Times," in Hargrove Auditorium, Hamilton Hall, at the School of Theology. All are welcome to attend.

Sumner's lecture will address ordination and leadership by taking as its point of departure the most distinctive yet often overlooked feature of ordination: indelibility—being ordained for life. While Sumner wholeheartedly agrees with the Reformation emphasis on the ministry of the whole people of God, he argues that we can only understand priesthood if we understand what one is ordained for. Indelibility provides an entrée to the question of what sets the ordained apart.

Sumner is the principal of Wycliffe College, University of Toronto, where he teaches missiology. His academic background is in systematic theology with research interests in the theology of missions, interreligious dialogue, Anglicanism and the theology of ordination. He has served in various pastoral roles as a missionary teacher in an evangelical Anglican theological college in Tanzania, as a pastor on a native reserve and as a parish priest in a small town. He serves as a canon to the dioceses of Toronto and Saskatchewan.

Rudder Goes Solo

Josh Rudder, manager of the Monteagle Piggly Wiggly grocery store, recently flew solo for his first time at Winchester Airport. Rudder has been taking flight lessons from instructor Rebecca Gibson at the Sewanee/Franklin County Airport since November and hopes to earn his pilot certificate soon.

Rudder became interested in flying when he took a plane to California for his 21st birthday. He said, "The views and the way flying makes the world smaller and more accessible is what makes me want to learn to fly."

Rudder enjoys flying with his family and plans on continuing his flight training by adding an "instrument rating" to his pilot's certificate.

Grundy County Heritage Center Receives Major Gift

Oliver Jervis, chairman of the Development Committee for the Grundy County Historical Society Heritage Center, recently announced that the center received a major donation from the family foundation of Lulu and John Elam of Nashville, the Restoration Foundation.

Lulu Elam is the granddaughter of the descendants of the originator of the site. Her grandfather was E.L. Hampton, whose career began as a telegraph operator in Stevenson, Ala., and who developed into a major Tennessee coal, banking and real estate magnate, greatly affecting the economic, financial and industrial status of this region of Tennessee.

The Heritage Center is being developed to enhance knowledge of the cultural, historical and intellectual background of the region for the benefit of its inhabitants.

The five historical subjects that define the focus of the center are the Chikamaka tribe's separation from the Cherokees, and their role in the Revolutionary War and the Trail of Tears; the origin of the New South, the development of the coal industry, its relationship to the steel industry, and the progression of mining activities in the region; the Swiss colony; the Chautauqua Sunday school movement to Monteagle; and the Highlander Folk School.

Other development plans for the Heritage Center include the depiction of the geological and natural history of the region and the Beersheba Springs story.

Jervis says, "This realization is being achieved, through such generous gifts as the Restoration Foundation and Lulu and John Elam, who have seen the vision of what the Heritage Center will mean to the region and people, and have acted on that vision."

For more information visit the websites <www.gchs.homestead.com> or <www.grundycountyhistory.org>, or call The Heritage Center at (931) 592-6008 or (931) 592-6009.

Honors Candidate Sanderson Exhibition On View, Artist's Talk Fri.

The Department of Art and Art History of the University of the South announces an exhibition by senior honors candidate Sam Sanderson. The exhibition is open to the public through Saturday, April 17, in the Carlos Gallery of the Nabit Art Building.

Sanderson will give a public presentation on Friday, April 16, at 5 p.m. in the Nabit Art Building. All are invited to visit the exhibition and attend the presentation.

Sanderson was born and raised in Huntsville, Ala. As a teenager he spent countless hours at Olde Towne Coffee Shoppe making conversations with hobos, bohos, computer programmers and rocket scientists. His artwork playfully critiques the current role of digital media through performance, video, digital photography and sculpture. By imposing scrollbars on the gallery walls and using outdated tape cassettes to quantify a gigabyte, Sam examines the relationship we have with our electronic devices.

The Carlos Gallery in the Nabit Art Building is located at 105 Kennerly Road. The gallery is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, 1-5 p.m.

For more information, contact Greg Pond, 598-1870 or <art.sewanee.edu>.

Emily Masters Honored by Duke TIP

Emily Masters recently received invitations to the Duke Talent Identification Program (TIP) Tennessee Recognition Ceremony to be held at Vanderbilt University, and to the Grand Recognition Ceremony to be held at Duke University's Cameron Indoor Stadium. She was one of 74,000 students from 16 states selected to participate in the Duke program this year. These students qualified by scoring in the 95th percentile or above on their various states' standardized tests.

Qualifying students chose to take either the ACT or SAT college entrance tests. Of the students who took these tests, only 1,769 earned invitations to the Grand Recognition Ceremony. Emily took the ACT and qualified by scoring 33 out of a possible 36 points on the English portion of the test. This score put her in the 97th percentile of recent high school graduates nationwide. Emily is the daughter of Brian and Elizabeth Masters of Monteagle and is a seventh-grade student at Monteagle Elementary School.

Allison Bruce and Ethan Evans

Evans and Bruce Receive Duke TIP Recognition

The Duke University Talent Identification Program (TIP) recently recognized two SAS students in its seventh-grade Talent Search. Talent Search identifies students in 16 states who have scored in the 95th percentile on a grade-level achievement test. These students are invited to take a college-entrance exam (SAT or ACT) to achieve state and/or grand recognition.

Ethan Evans of Sewanee qualified for grand recognition by earning scores equal to or better than 90 percent of college-bound seniors who took the same tests. He will be honored at a ceremony to be held at Duke University in Durham, N.C. Ethan is invited to participate in the Center Summer Programs, designed for the highest scoring students in the group, at Davidson and Trinity universities.

Ethan and Allison Bruce of Monteagle qualified for state recognition. They will be honored at a ceremony to be held at Vanderbilt University in May. The state recognition ceremony honors seventh-graders who have earned scores equal to or better than 50 percent of the college-bound seniors who took the tests.

Allison is invited to the Academy Summer Programs held at Appalachian State University and the University of Kansas. Academy students have scores in the top 5 percent of the students who participated in TIP this year.

Local Students Earn SAS Honor Rolls

The following Sewanee, Cowan, Winchester, Decherd and Monteagle students have been named to the Honors Lists at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School for the fifth six-week grading period and the first semester. They are joined by 46 boarding students and 54 day students from other communities who also achieved academic distinction.

Grades are averaged on a 13.0 scale to determine the High Honors List and the Honors List. Students who earn a grade point average of A- or above (11.0-13.0) are designated as being on the High Honors List. A student whose average ranges between B and B+ (9.0-10.9) and who has received no grade below C earns the distinction of being on the Honors List. Satisfactory completion of afternoon programs is required for students to be eligible for the Honor Roll.

Sports Scoreboard

Tiger of the Week: Leisha Meade

Leisha Meade of Sevierville, Tenn., a senior thrower on the Sewanee track and field team, has been named Tiger of the Week for her performance the week of April 5-11.

Meade broke the school record in the hammer throw April 10 at Boston Moon Invitational at Tennessee State with a toss of 115 feet, six inches, which places her third so far in the SCAC. Meade is also second so far in the SCAC in the shot put.

"Leisha has worked very hard the last four years to reach and exceed her goals this year," said Sewanee coach Jeff Heitzenrater. "She is really performing well right now and should be primed to have a fantastic conference meet next week."

Leisha Meade

Other Outstanding Performances

Sewanee lacrosse player Meg Welton of Germantown, Tenn., had five draw controls (of Sewanee's nine total) against Greensboro last weekend. She was also the team leader in draw controls and ground balls against Guilford and scored seven goals and four assists in the two games.

Gracie Becker of Austin, Texas, from the Sewanee equestrian team rode extremely well in her team Walk-Trot-Canter at the IHSA Zone 5, Region 3 championships and clinched the second-place finish for the team.

Sewanee men's lacrosse player Thomas Moore of Dallas had four goals and three assists in two games last weekend as the Tigers went 1-1 at Fontbonne and Mount St. Joseph.

Tennis player Will Holloway of Augusta, Ga., picked up a pair of wins against Young Harris on Saturday with an 8-4 win at No. 2 doubles and a 6-4, 6-2 win in the No. 4 singles slot.

Sewanee runner John Gilmer of Mobile, Ala., ran one of the top four 1500m times in school history and posted a personal best by four seconds at the Boston Moon Invitational at Tennessee State on Saturday with a 4:02.36. He is currently in fifth place in the SCAC.

Sewanee Equestrian Team

The Sewanee Equestrian Team has qualified to compete at the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association (IHSA) National Horse Show for the sixth time since it became a varsity sport. The 2010 IHSA National Horse Show will be held May 6-9 at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington.

Tiger Baseball Update

The Sewanee Tigers dropped a nonconference baseball game to Covenant College (11-1) on April 6 and were defeated in a doubleheader against DePauw University on April 10-11. DePauw took the opener 19-1 and the second game by a score of 31-10. Sewanee falls to 6-23 overall and 1-11 in SCAC play.

Sewanee Tennis Assn. Slates Spring Tournament

The Sewanee Tennis Association will sponsor the second annual spring tennis tournament beginning April 23.

Competition will include men's and women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles. Players may enter one or two events. The fees for members are $10 for one event, $15 for two, and for nonmembers, $20 for one event and $25 for two.

To register for the tournament or become a member of the Sewanee Tennis Association, send your fees, phone number and e-mail address to Laurence Alvarez, 160 South Carolina Ave., Sewanee, TN 37375. Association dues are $15 for a single membership and $25 for a family. Checks should be made out to the Sewanee Tennis Association. The last day to register is Tuesday, April 20.

Men's Golf

The Sewanee men's golf team competed at the Emory Spring Invitational Monday and Tuesday and finished in 16th place with a two-day total of 691, edging out SCAC foe Millsaps by just 15 strokes. Greensboro won the event, followed by Methodist.

Alex Irwin led Sewanee's effort with 80th-place rounds of 88 and 83. Rounding out the top five for Sewanee were Chris Beveridge, Robert Osburne, Will Stanley and Neil Dyer.

Sewanee will compete at the SCAC Championships in Stone Mountain, Ga., April 23-25.

Sewanee Softball Wins Two

Behind the arm of Carly Warfield and the bat of Alex Ginsburg, the Sewanee Tiger softball team won both ends of an afternoon doubleheader over the Fisk Bulldogs. Sewanee won the opener 8-0 and the second game 12-4. Warfield was the winning pitcher in both games, and Ginsburg had four hits and four RBI in the doubleheader.

Warfield scattered three hits and struck out eight Bulldog batters for a shutout in the first game. Ginsburg picked up two hits and drove in two runs for Sewanee. Claire Elliott was 2-for-3 in the game with a double. Warfield and Caitlin Sneed also had one hit apiece.

In the second game, Ginsburg, Warfield, Erin Polena and Lindsey Ward each had two hits. Nikki Poppiti picked up a single. Ginsburg had two RBI.

The Tigers travel to Memphis this weekend for a four-game SCAC series.

Women's Golf

The Sewanee women's golf team traveled to Covenant for its spring golf invitational April 5 and 6, and hosted Maryville in competition on April 10.

The Sewanee Tigers finished the invitational in seventh place. Senior Brittany McCall led Sewanee's effort with a 118 two-day total, which put her in 30th place. Cally McGowan was 35th with a 125, also highlighting the Tiger effort.

The visiting Scots from Maryville shot a 395 to edge out Sewanee, which shot a combined 439. McGowan led Sewanee with a 99. Brittany McCall, Virginia McCall and Lauren Gould rounded out the top four scorers for the Tigers.

Sewanee's next outing is the SCAC Championships at the Stone Mountain Club (Ga.) April 23-25.

SAS Girls' Tennis Wins Three of Four

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee girls' tennis team improved its record to 4-2 on Monday, soundly beating region foe Franklin Road Academy 7-0. After sweeping the doubles and singles, SAS also earned exhibition wins from Katharina Fietz (No. 7) and Sara Harrell (No. 8).

Early last week, SAS topped University School of Nashville 5-1, marking its first win against USN in two years. Sadie and Avery Shackelford (No. 1) and Nikki Johnston and Michaela Shackelford (No. 2) captured the doubles sweep, putting SAS ahead 2-0.

In singles, SAS's top half of the lineup dominated USN as Sadie Shackelford (No. 1), Avery Shackelford (No. 2), and Michaela Shackelford (No. 3) each brought home wins. Ellen Gobel put forth a strong effort at No. 5, ultimately losing in three sets.

On April 8, SAS faced tennis powerhouse the Webb school of Knoxville and fell 1-5. Sadie and Avery Shackelford earned the lone win in their No. 1 doubles match. On April 9, the girls bounced back and shut out Middle

SAS Boys' Tennis Report

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee boys' tennis team fell to 1-4 on Monday, losing a close match to Franklin Road Academy 3-4.

The No. 2 doubles team of Seth Morris and Pledger Schaefer tied the match after doubles play with their 8-5 win. In singles, Nick Fletcher (No. 4) and Schaefer (No. 5) helped SAS gather two more wins. Martin Brownridge fought hard at No. 3 singles but was unable to convert the win.

Early last week, SAS faced a tough University School of Nashville team and lost 0-7.

On Thursday, April 8, SAS fell to an extremely experienced Webb School of Knoxville team 0-7.

The next day, the boys had opportunities but were unable to capture key matches against Middle Tennessee Christian School and ultimately lost 2-5. SAS's two wins came from Schaefer at No. 5 singles and the No. 2 doubles team of Schaefer and Morris. Both matches were hard-fought, ending in an 8-6 result.

SAS's ninth-graders were successful in their exhibition matches, as Brownridge and Slater Goodson each won their singles matches and then teamed up to win their No. 3 doubles match.

Coach Kelley Black comments, "The boys have been in a tough position in our last three matches with our No. 1 player, Diego Perezcano, out due to a shoulder injury. Each player has had to play a higher position, facing some very strong opponents. We have fought hard but must continue to work on the mental aspect of the game so we can convert close matches to wins."

Overtime with Coach Shack

By John Shackelford

One of the great things about being an athlete is seeing all the wonderful places and venues that sports leads you to visit. I have had the opportunity to play tennis in fabulous resorts, in beautiful settings and with great friends. Of all of the places I have seen and had the chance to compete in, one of my favorites is Brook Valley Park, a small, ragged city park in Jacksonville, N.C. The nets had holes, the court had cracks, and half of the wind screens had long since blown away.

My wife, Conchie, is from Jacksonville, and when we were dating during our college days I would visit her family there. She has six other brothers and sisters, and tennis was a large part of their lives. Conchie's youngest brother, Johnny, was just a 10-year-old boy during the first of my visits. We would go out to this old park and hit the ball for hours. For those couple of hours I got to be a hero. I was a college player battling with a young boy who just loved to play tennis. We'd walk back to his house covered in sweat and stop for a cold drink at the same 7/11 where Conchie had been taking him since he was old enough to walk. The questions were endless, but I loved the attention from my young friend.

Johnny grew up, played tennis in high school, and then went on to Purdue for college. He graduated and joined the army. Life was good. If this were a tennis match, Johnny would be up a set and a break. Yet, for all of us, occasionally life bounces like those tennis balls hitting the cracks on city park courts.

In his mid-twenties, at the peak of physical fitness, Johnny was affected with schizophrenia. This affects 2.4 million American adults age 18 and older. It often appears in men in their late teens to early 20s. His life and his family's life changed forever. There were Army hospitals, psychiatrists, an array of prescription drugs, and constant changes to his life. Johnny doesn't play tennis anymore, and he goes through good periods and occasionally some bad ones. We see each other no more than once a year now and often our conversations retreat to remembering those days in the park when our greatest worry was if we could rally one more time before we were late for Thanksgiving dinner.

Conchie's women's team played a match against Amherst College at the Riviera Country Club in Los Angeles, Calif., this season and another against Bowdoin College at Indian Ridge Country Club in Palm Desert, Calif. There were no cracks on those courts, and the windscreens were all in place. Men in all-white uniforms delivered ice and water to the cabanas beside our players, but I doubt either of us will ever have the same impressions as we have of that small park with four courts that we got to share with Johnny a lifetime ago. Sports have taken many of us to venues well beyond our means. I often wish it could take me back to Brook Valley and give Johnny the chance to do it all again.

SAS Baseball Drops Davidson Academy Doubleheader

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School baseball team played Davidson Academy in a doubleheader on April 6, losing both contests by scores of 22-8 and 19-1.

In the first game, the final score was not indicative of the close contest as Albert Tseng pitched well against a strong opponent. Davidson scored nine runs in the first inning; SAS responded by scoring three runs in the bottom half of the first and left the bases loaded. Alex Tinsley led off the bottom of the first with a single and Sam Howick reached on an error. Swade Mooney then singled to load the bases. Evan Morris, Justin Thomas and Will Thomas followed with RBI singles to cut the score to 9-3.

Davidson Academy scored a single run in the second before SAS again rallied. With one out, Howick doubled and Mooney had a RBI single. With two outs, Justin Thomas singled and Will Thomas followed with an RBI single. Storm Hill walked to once again load the bases before Addison Beene struck out to end the threat.

In the third inning, SAS made a couple of very good defensive plays and held Davidson Academy scoreless before SAS scored two additional runs. With one out, Tinsley walked, and Howick sent a deep drive to left field for a two-run home run to make the score 10-7.

Both teams were held scoreless in the fourth inning before Davidson scored twelve runs in the fifth inning. SAS answered with a single run as Mooney singled home Tinsley to conclude the scoring.

In the second contest SAS could not get anything going as Davidson took the early lead and never looked back. For the Mountain Lions, Tinsley went 2-2 with the lone run scored, and Howick went 1-2 in the contest. Tinsley pitched well in relief.

SAS Softball Defeats St. Cecilia

The Lady Lions came out swinging Tuesday in a big way against St. Cecilia from Nashville (14-4) after coming off a 3-6 loss to Middle Tennessee Christian April 8.

This was the first home game for the Lions and they provided a show for the crowd. The feisty Lions figured out which end of the bat works with highlight action from Keeley Stewart (3 for 4, two runs, one RBI and two stolen bases), Brittany Nunley (2 for 2, one stolen base, one run and two RBIs), Hannah Barry (2 for 4, one home run, one double, three RBIs, two runs and two stolen bases).

Other action came from Hannah Wimberly (one each double, stolen base, run and RBI), Lucia Krecmeryova (one hit, three runs, two stolen bases), Kate Wiley (one hit, two runs and two stolen bases), Maddie Griswold (one hit and two runs), and Kelsey Pearson (one hit and one run).

Kelsey Pearson nailed down the mound with five strikeouts and only two walks.

Caitlin Gilliam's approach to painting stems from her childhood in rural Tennessee and her experience of the natural world as a place of "infinite possibility." For Gilliam, her interaction with canvas and palette echo her interactions with the natural world, and she uses landscape painting as a mode of imaginative, unrestricted exploration.

Allison Kendrick's work combines art and social activism. Her photographs record the power of the individual voice in seeking social change, and her interactive installations encourage viewers of her work to participate and speak out themselves.

With her documentary photographs, Lacy Morrison examines how college students shape their behavior and identities in response to their surroundings and questions the possibility of "truth" in the photographic image and personal identity.

In her video series and photographic collages, Lexi Namer recycles photographs and home movies from other people's lives to remap a fictionalized version of her own life. She blurs the distinctions between past and present, fiction and truth, and investigates how we formulate our own identities.

Sam Sanderson's work combines a hacker aesthetic with a conceptual framework. His multimedia practice uses computer programming, digital photography, video and sculpture to explore the possibilities of artistic production in an increasingly digital world and of how our experiences of art, of objects and of the world itself have changed.

Touching on themes of rural heritage, spirituality, nature and death, Jack Wyrick uses sculpture and photography to create an autobiographical narrative, to revisit her memories of people, places and events and to explore the passage of time and her own responses to mortality.

Sewanee's University Art Gallery is located on Georgia Avenue. The gallery is free, accessible and open to the public. Hours are 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday, and noon-4 p.m., Saturday-Sunday. For more information call 598-1223 or visit <www.sewanee.edu/gallery>.

State Park Egg Hunt Winners Named

The 29th annual South Cumberland State Park Easter Egg Hunt was held March 27 at the Visitor Center on Hwy. 41 in Monteagle. The beautiful, sunny but chilly day brought out an estimated 389 people plus numerous volunteers to the event; 181 children participated.

This occasion, for children walking age and up, had five age categories. A total of 1,000 toy-filled plastic eggs and 20 prize eggs were hidden, with four prize eggs in each group.

Master of ceremonies and park interpretive specialist Jason Reynolds kicked off the festivities by recognizing and thanking all those who had a part in making the hunt possible: the Friends of South Cumberland State Recreation Area, for sponsoring the event; Tracy City/Grundey County Rescue Squad, for helping to hide eggs, park cars and promote visitor safety; Theron Gross, for bringing the Easter Bunny to visit the children; media, area schools, municipalities and local businesses, for advertising the hunt; park rangers Jamie Hambrook, George Shinn and Brent Smith, and park managers John Christof and Bill Knapp, for helping to hide eggs, park cars and serve as group leaders; seasonal park intern Pauline Andrews and senior services employee Carol Cowley, for preparing prize baskets; and park secretary Sharon King, for coordinating the hunt.

After the opening comments, Ranger Reynolds announced hunt rules and directed age groups to their group leaders. When all the prize eggs had been found, Reynolds awarded prize baskets to the following winners:

Walking-2 years: Gavin Payne, Coalmont; Celia Tate, Gruetli-Laager; Lana Layne, Tracy City; Taylor Jones, Whitwell.

Ages 3-4: Macie Anderson, Gruetli-Laager; Tierra Cash, Monteagle; Aiden Layne, Tracy City; Natalie Prince, Gruetli-Laager.

Ages 5-6: Zachary Lehford, Tracy City; Cara Dudley, Monteagle; Gage Campbell, Tracy City; Hunter King, Monteagle.

Ages 7-9: Jatin Schaerer, Tracy City; Trinity Sweeton, Tracy City; Johnny Bryant, Tracy City; Felicia Cooley, Coalmont.

Ages 10-up: Christian Street, Will Thomas, Brittany Shrum and Makayla Gill, all of Tracy City.

St. Mary's Sewanee to Host Sunset Serenade

On Saturday, May 8, the public is invited to enjoy a gourmet picnic and live music at St. Mary's Sewanee as the sun sets over its spectacular bluff overview. This event will be an opportunity to celebrate spring with friends and neighbors and to help support the exceptional programming at St. Mary's Sewanee, a Center for Spiritual Development.

A scrumptious buffet will be provided by Julia's Fine Foods beginning at 6 p.m. Attendees are encouraged to bring portable chairs or blankets for outdoor dining and entertainment; limited table seating will be available. Burns, Dawson and Friends, a favorite local band, will be playing a variety of popular music to put you in the mood for summertime. You may bring a beverage of your choice, including wine or beer; water and coffee will be provided with dinner.

Reservations are required. Please call St. Mary's Sewanee at 598-5342 to reserve your place or for more information. The cost for this delightful evening is $30 per person, which may be paid by credit card when you make your reservation.

Sunset Serenade is expected to become an important annual fundraiser for St. Mary's Sewanee. In addition to the thousands of individuals who find guidance, inspiration and healing through St. Mary's programs are hundreds of teachers and caregivers who gain strength and direction through these programs for their work with children and those in need among us.

Be sure to help launch this special community event and take part in the fun and fellowship.

Nature Notes

Goose Visits, First Hummingbird, Gray Foxes

This month, Jean and Harry Yeatman welcomed a pair of Canada Geese staying at Lake Eva, near the Jump-Off Road. The female is now nesting on the ground in a grassy area near the water, while the big male stands guard, when swimming nearby. To feed on the grass and clover, the gander visits the Yeatman pasture and lake. Sometimes the female will get off the eggs and, after covering them with leaves and down pulled from her breast, will join the male on the Yeatmans' pasture. When well fed, she will return to the nest.

Incubation will begin after all the eggs are laid, so they will hatch about the same time. After 30 to 35 days, the downy young will hatch and will follow their parents into the water and start feeding on insects, water weeds and seed. They grow rapidly, but stay with their parents until feathered and able to dive and eventually fly.

Sometimes the young wander away from the adults and are "lost." The Yeatmans have rescued two young that were walking along the Jump-Off Road. They were fed cooked spaghetti (looks like worms!) and pieces of hard-boiled eggs and insects. They made good pets according to the Yeatmans, following them in a canoe. They learned to fly and followed their foster parents, even on the highway. They made friends with the Yeatmans' Doberman dog, who protected them. One day Jean took the dog when she was horseback riding, and, on their return, found that a coyote had killed one of the geese, so the other was taken to a pond and released to join other geese.

Pixie and Lew Dozier put up their Hummingbird feeders on Saturday, April 10, and had their first Hummingbird visit of the season. They also saw an Indigo Bunting on April 9.

Jim Jones continues to have Gray Fox sightings in the yards of Ely's Lane in Sewanee. On Thursday night, April 8, and on Sunday night, April 11, he reports seeing Gray Fox. These foxes are much smaller than the first two Jim reported two and three weeks ago. He wonders if we have a new family in town?

From Bard to Verse

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

O sweet spontaneous earth how often have the doting fingers of prurient philosophers pinched and poked

thee
, has the naughty thumb of science prodded thy beauty .how often have religions taken thee upon their scraggy knees squeezing and

buffeting thee that thou mightest conceive gods (but true

to the incomparable couch of death thy rhythmic lover

thou answerest

them only with

spring)
