

Picasso at the Lapin Agile Opens Oct. 26

Theatre/Sewanee will present the long-running Off-Broadway comedy by Steve Martin, "Picasso At The Lapin Agile," at 7:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday, Oct. 26-27; at 2 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 28; and at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 1-3, in the Tennessee Williams Center.

The comedy places Albert Einstein and Pablo Picasso in a Parisian café in 1904, just before the renowned scientist transformed physics with his theory of relativity, and the celebrated painter set the art world afire with cubism.

In his first comedy for the stage, the actor, novelist and screenwriter plays fast and loose with fact, fame and fortune as these two geniuses muse on the century's achievements and prospects, as well as other fanciful topics with infectious dizziness. Bystanders, including Picasso's agent, the bartender and his mistress, Picasso's date, an elderly "philosopher," and an idiot inventor introduce additional flourishes of humor.

"Picasso At The Lapin Agile" features Michael Caskey as Picasso and Dana Huffer as Einstein. Other cast members include Megan Quick, Cody Snead, Willem Peglau, Pagie Wilson, Oliver Crawford, Haley Poole, Hunter Woolwine, Elise Anderson, and Hyatt Pyle.

The play is directed by Peter Smith, assisted by Beckett Scott. Scenery is designed by Andy Philpo, lighting by Dan Backlund, costumes by Carter Stough, with stage management by Mary Morrison.

Admission is free, and reservations are encouraged at 598-3260 or <mcook@sewanee.edu>.

2nd Annual Sewanee Angel Festival Saturday

On Saturday, Oct. 20, the downtown village will transform itself for the Second Annual Sewanee Angel Festival, hosted by the Sewanee Business Alliance. There will be food, drink, dancing and crafts for folks of all ages at the Angel Park.

Ashley Cleveland will open the festival at 7 p.m. She is a three-time Grammy and two-time Dove Award winner who has released eight critically acclaimed albums. "God Don't Never Change," her most recent effort (2009), features songs rooted in a "host of traditions: black spirituals, folks songs, 18th-century hymns, gospel blues and jubilee." The Austin American-Statesman called it, "One of the best rock n' roll albums of the year." Taking the stage after Cleveland will be Towson Engsborg & Friends, a talented local blues and cover band.

There will be booths offering food, drink and information (see related story on page 9). Among the local offerings will be items from the Blue Chair Café & Tavern, Sewanee Sweets and Julia's. Members of the Sewanee Arts & Crafts Association will also be displaying their work. The Sewanee Business Alliance has also commissioned a limited quantity of printed Hatch Show Print posters for the festival. They will be for sale, along with bricks and T-shirts, during the Angel Festival. Proceeds from these items benefit the park.

The Angel Park is being built by donations from local businesses and community members. So far, $60,000 has been raised and another $40,000 is needed to fully fund this new and exciting venue. Personalized bricks will be available for purchase during the festival.

"We are expecting hundreds of people to attend this event" said John Goodman, Sewanee Business Alliance president. "We could not produce such high quality music without the support of more than 25 local sponsors this year."

Goodson encourages folks to bring a chair or blanket, enjoy the park, listen to incredible music, enjoy great food and drink, and savor the fall weather. The festival is free to the public.

"Camp Discover" Connects Families, Children and Community in Grundy

Families, children, teachers, community leaders and partners gathered at Grundy Lakes on Oct. 4 for a family reunion of "Camp Discover: Me, My Community, My World." The event included hayrides, canoe rides, educational hikes, apple tastings, read-alouds, singing, a family-style dinner and many lasting memories from this summer's Camp Discover. To extend the learning at home, families and children were given a Camp Discover backpack, books and a family activity guide.

"Camp Discover: Me, My Community, My World" was a new two-week summer program for 24 Tracy City Elementary School students in grades K-2 designed to foster resilience by helping children and families feel connected to each other, their community and the world. Emphasis was placed on exploring, sharing and celebrating the community's stories and heritage. Students enjoyed educational trips to nature sites and landmarks, including South Cumberland State Park, Dutch Maid Bakery, Grundy County Historical Society, May Justus Memorial Library and the University of the South.

A key part of each trip was introducing the children to community members who shared their unique stories. To help reinforce the camp themes and visits, children also enjoyed literacy-based activities such as read-alouds, original songs and journaling.

"For many of the children and families, it was the first time they visited these places," said Sherry Guyear, a camp leader and teacher at Tracy City Elementary School. "They were learning alongside of each other. These experiences will long be remembered."

The program is part of an ongoing community project involving Scholastic, Yale Child Study Center, the University of the South, Tracy City Elementary School and other local organizations. In addition to Camp Discover, a family cooperative program will begin early next year to help build supportive connections within the community.

Representatives from both Yale Child Study Center and Scholastic were at the reunion. Dr. Linda Mayes of Yale Child Study Center and a native of the area noted, "We're delighted to be working alongside such dedicated and talented community leaders and families." Windy Lopez, director of community affairs at Scholastic, added, "Seeing the proud and confident smiles on the faces of the children and families is what this is ultimately about."

Of the parents and adult family members who completed surveys this summer, 75 percent said they noticed changes in their child after participating in the camp, including personal and social growth such as increased confidence and being interested in family history, as well as an increased knowledge and interest in the community and in nature. 100 percent of families reported that their child made new friends at camp and that they would like their child to attend a program like this again in the future.

As one parent shared during the reunion, "My child was excited to be able to hold and learn about animals such as the "corn snake." He loved everything about the camp and couldn't wait to go each day."

Emily Partin, director of Grundy County Schools Family Resource Center and a lead camp coordinator, said that children were so excited after the reunion, "Some even came to school with their event name tags and Camp Discover book bags ... we can see how the program is making a positive impact!"

FSC Hike & Fete Saturday

The Friends of South Cumberland (FSC) is hosting its second annual "Take a Walk on the Wild Side," Sat., Oct. 20. The event will include a guided hike, music and a visit from Tennessee State Naturalist Emeritus Mack Prichard, as the FSC honors those who join the Mack Prichard Circle.

This "low-key, wear-your-hiking-boots, relax-on-the-bluff" event will be held at the Clifftops home of Charles and Lynn Blankenship.

Members and people interested in learning more about the Friends of South Cumberland are invited. The honorees will be those who "Follow in Mack's Tracks" by making a donation of $250 or more to the FSC. Guests may join the Friends (annual dues are $25 per person or $35 per couple).

A short hike will begin at 2:30 p.m., and the party is 3-5:30 p.m. Guests will enjoy hors d'ouvres and music by Mary Priestley and Mike Roark.

The mission of the Friends of South Cumberland is to support the Park, preserve and protect it, and to serve as a mechanism to reach out to individuals to become involved. Totalling 21,649 acres, the South Cumberland Park is comprised of ten districts scattered over 100 square miles in Franklin, Marion, Grundy and Sequatchie counties, but is managed as a single park.

DISAPPOINTMENT FROM N.C.

To the Editor:

It is with considerable dismay that Katherine and I learned that Shenanigans has closed. We've been merely distant observers of late and certainly understand the rigors of the restaurant business. We're neither making judgments nor casting stones. We're just disappointed.

There were many times when we owned Shenanigans [1989-1993] that Katherine and I felt the enormous pressure of keeping the doors open. Shenanigans didn't really belong to us. It belonged to the entire community. We signed on less as owners and more as stewards. The task wasn't always easy, but it was always worth the effort—and most of the time, it was fun.

We're both confident that Shenanigans will reopen soon and the culinary stars will once again align in Sewanee. In the meantime, feel free to visit us in North Carolina—Katherine still knows what you're going to order and our doors are always open. Cheers.

SUPPORT FOR LEWIS

To the Editor:

I have known Jim Lewis, who is running for state senate in District 16, since 1965 and would like to tell you what I know to be true about the man. Jim is passionate about public education because he knows that an educated workforce is integral to a strong economy; an educated citizenry is integral to a strong democracy; and an educated populace is integral to a strong society. He will be tireless in his efforts to improve public education.

Jim Lewis has been a pharmacist for 42 years. He is knowledgeable about healthcare from both provider and patient standpoints. He will be a powerful voice to ensure that all our citizens have affordable and accessible healthcare while also being responsive to the needs of healthcare providers.

As a small businessman, Jim is aware of the challenges business people and farmers face. He is also a strong supporter of all working men and women. Without a strong workforce, businesses cannot succeed and without strong businesses, workers cannot succeed. Jim Lewis knows that the needs of both businesses and workers must be met for our economy to prosper, and he will work to ensure the success of both workers and businesses.

Jim also believes that a decent society provides for its seniors, its children and its disabled, and he will be their voice in the legislature also.

I strongly support Jim Lewis for state senate and ask that you also vote for him.

Fog Happens

Safety Tips for Driving on These Gray Days

Autumn is here, and that means the arrival of the Mountain's infamous dense fog. And with fog comes greater concerns about traffic safety.

The Sewanee police department reminds folks of the following safety recommendations for driving in the fog.

"People need to really slow down, turn on their headlights and use extreme caution," said Marie Eldridge, acting police chief. Traffic accidents increase in the fog, whether it is because of deer in the roadways that are hard to see or vehicle collisions.

Tennessee state law requires that car headlights be turned on for rain, fog or precipitation. "When in doubt," she said, "turn those headlights on."

Other safety tips for driving in the fog include:

When visibility is limited, turn off any music, roll down your car window and listen for traffic you cannot see.

Stay on the roadway by following the white stripe adjacent to the right shoulder of the road. This is easier to see than the middle stripes in dense fog, and oncoming headlights are not in your eyes.

Remember that other drivers have a limited sight distance, and fog can leave roadways slick. Use your turn signals, and when you use your brakes, don't stomp on them.

If an accident occurs, pull as far off the road as possible and turn on your flashing emergency lights. If there is no safe place to stand, stay inside your car.

Before getting in to drive, make sure your car is defrosted and the interior windows are defogged.

When in doubt, turn on your car lights, but make sure your high beams are not on. High beams direct light up into the fog, making it difficult for you to see. Low beams direct light down onto the road and help other drivers to see you.

DuBose Lectures

Begin Oct. 31

The 2012 DuBose Lectures at the School of Theology will be Oct. 31–Nov. 2. Thomas Long, Bandy Professor of Preaching and coordinator of the initiative in religious practices and practical theology at Emory University's Candler School of Theology, is the featured lecturer.

In 1996, Long was named one of the 12 most effective preachers in the English-speaking world. Preaching magazine named his book "Witness of Preaching" one of the 25 most influential books on preaching in the past 25 years.

Long will explore the different "languages" in which preachers are summoned to speak in three scheduled lectures: "The Preacher Becomes Multilingual," "Preaching in the Language of Wisdom" and "Preaching in the Languages of Enchantment and Embodiment."

Other highlights include reunion events for School of Theology alumni; a reception hosted by Education for Ministry to introduce the EfM Alumni Association; continuing education workshops on "New Generation Latinos" and "Being a Clergy Spouse: Calling, Job or Annoyance"; a question-and-answer session with the Rt. Rev. Neil Alexander, dean of the School of Theology; Holy Eucharist in Spanish; dedication of a new icon in the Chapel of the Apostles, and the All Saints' Day service with Long as the guest preacher.

Multiple Locations for Monteagle City Elections

Monteagle City limits span into three counties—Grundy, Marion and a small portion of Franklin, known as the Deep Woods area. Because of the three-county situation, state law allows Monteagle to choose Grundy or Marion County to manage the city election. The city chose the Grundy County Election Office for conducting the city election. All voting takes place in Grundy County. This year the city election will be held in conjunction with the November general election.

Early Voting

All early voting will take place in Grundy County at two locations: the Election Commission Office, located at the Courthouse in Altamont or at 10218 U.S. Highway 4 (formerly the site of Sharron's Beauty Shoppe between Monteagle and Tracy City).

Monteagle City voters registered in Grundy County will vote the entire ballot (general and city) when appearing to vote early at either of these locations. Marion and Franklin County voters who live in the city of Monteagle will have access to the city ballot only when voting early at either of the above listed locations.

Absentee Voting

All requests for absentee voting should be directed to the Grundy County Election Office. They will be working in cooperation with the Marion and Franklin County Election Offices to see that all requests are dealt with in a timely manner.

Election Day Voting

Monteagle city voters who reside in Marion County will vote on Tuesday, Nov. 6, at Monteagle City Hall. The general election ballot will have the Presidential race, U.S. Senate, U.S. Congress and Tennessee State House. On Nov. 6, Marion County voters wishing to vote in the Monteagle City Election must go to the Monteagle City Hall Annex on College Street and cast a city election ballot.

Monteagle city voters who reside in the Deep Woods area of Franklin County will vote on Tuesday, Nov. 6, at their regular assigned voting location in Sewanee. On Election day, Deep Woods voters wishing to cast a ballot in the Monteagle City Election must go to the Monteagle City Hall Annex to vote.

Monteagle city voters residing in Grundy County will vote at the City Hall Annex on College Street.

Tennessee state law requires that everyone who wants to vote must present a state or federal-issued photo I.D. For more information call (931) 692-3551.

Energy Aid Available

The South Central Human Resource Agency is accepting applications for low-income home energy assistance in Franklin County.

Assistance is provided through direct energy payments to the energy provider for households with income below 150 percent of the federal income guideline.

Proof of the total household income for the past eight weeks is required to determine eligibility. The Social Security card for each household member must be provided, along with a current energy bill.

For more information call 967-1438.

Southern Literature Talk at Friends of the Library

Friends of the Library is hosting a talk by John Daniel Tilford and Rick Sommer at 4 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 24, in the Archives and Special Collections Building on campus. They will highlight a recent gift from Sommer and his wife, Wilma, of first edition books and materials focused on Southern literature.

Tilford is the curator of the University's special collections. "The Rick and Wilma Sommer Collection constitutes one of the most significant gifts ever made to University Archives and Special Collections," said Tilford. The collection includes more than 3,000 volumes of Southern literature with a focus on the Agrarian and Fugitive movements, including works by Andrew Lytle, Allen Tate, Carolyn Gordon and Robert Penn Warren, among others.

The collection contains numerous signed first editions, including a 1930 first edition of "I'll Take My Stand: The South and the Agrarian Tradition by Twelve Southerners." This extraordinarily rare volume is signed by Warren, Davidson, Lytle, Tate and Ransom.

Sommer began acquiring Agrarian and Fugitive works more than 25 years ago. In addition to acquiring works at auction and through dealers, he has attended the Southern Writers Conference, acquiring first editions before asking the authors present to autograph their work. The Sommer Collection also contains numerous letters and small-press publications by Agrarian and Fugitive authors. For more information go to <http://libguides.sewanee.edu/FOL> or contact Judy Rollins at 598-1265.

SAS Parents' Council Auction on Nov. 3

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee Parents' Council's annual auction is set for 5 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 3. The "Future Hopes" auction begins with appetizers and a silent auction in Langford Hall. A dessert bar and a live auction will conclude the evening. All proceeds from the auction are used to fund school projects and professional faculty development.

Items for bidding include Antigua vacations, Sewanee accommodations, home-baked goodies for students and more.

Last year the Parents' Council raised approximately $14,000 to fund a variety of enhancements, including the administration of the Learning Style Inventory to students in sixth, ninth and 11th grades, and backpacking equipment to support the expansion of the Leadership Environment Adventure Discovery Series program. Other gift allocations included the purchase of 20 sets of Magic Circles for the aerobics afternoon program; a laminated world map wall mural for the middle school; a portable multimedia device to be used for school activities, dances and outdoor movie screenings; and equipment for the SAS farm to extend the growing season, with the goal of supplying the dining hall during the school year.

The acquisition team welcomes fun and exciting items, including gifts, vacations and services that both boarding student and day student parents can use. If you have a donation idea, contact Kiki Beavers, 598-0997.

Registration is now open. Tickets are $35 per person. For more information, go to <http://www.sasweb.org/about-sas/parents/auction>.

Clean Water Grants Available

Two Clean Water Act section 319(h) grants were awarded recently to the Southeast Tennessee Resource Conservation and Development (SETN RC&D) Council, a local nonprofit group that works to achieve conservation and community development. Dan Huser, watershed project coordinator of the council, said that funding for the grants, provided by the Tennessee Department of Agriculture, was given to assist in the restoration of impaired stream segments in the Gunterville Lake and Sequatchie River watersheds.

As a result, the main priority of the grants is to reduce excess nutrients, pathogen and sediment resulting from agricultural sources and failing septic systems. Segments directly affected are located within the Tracy City area of Grundy County and portions of Bledsoe, Marion and Sequatchie counties.

The SETN RC&D Council and the University of the South have partnered to promote these grants due to the University's expanding interest in environmental studies and its close proximity to the stream segments, Huser said. Students from the University also regularly swim downstream of three converging impaired segments, which adds to the University's interest as a stakeholder. The partnership is continually evolving, yet so far has consisted of helping better connect the council with local communities and providing an internship program to give students experience in these watershed restoration programs.

Most grant funds will be spent on cost-share assistance for both agricultural projects and septic system repairs for interested parties in the Tracy City area of Grundy County, and selected areas in Bledsoe, Marion and Sequatchie counties.

Potential agricultural projects likely to be of interest to landowners include access control, alternative water source establishment, cross-fencing, heavy-use area protection, stream crossings for cattle and travel lanes, among others. Septic system projects that may qualify consist of pump-outs, system repairs and field line extensions, and accessing sewer, where applicable. Cost-share assistance for agricultural projects will typically account for 60 percent of project costs; assistance with septic system repairs will generally cover a minimum of 50 percent of repair costs.

Grant funding will be available until the spring of 2015.

For more information about this grant program or to see if you are eligible, contact Huser at (423) 544-9076 or (423) 507-1252, or by email, <duser.setnrcd@gmail.com>.

Dimes for Dogs & Cats Campaign

Joseph's Remodeling Solutions, Taylor's Mercantile and Beta Theta Pi fraternity are joining together to help the Franklin County Humane Society raise money for the new Animal Harbor building.

As part of the Angel Festival on Saturday, Oct. 20, Joseph Sumpter is donating $1 for every person who comes by his booth and signs his register.

Sumpter is also helping to support Animal Harbor with a "Dimes for Dogs and Cats" campaign starting Saturday and lasting through November.

Come by and get a bottle of water at the festival, drink the water and take the bottle home to fill with dimes. Once the bottle is full of dimes, take it to Taylor's Mercantile, 10 University Ave., Sewanee.

Beta Theta Pi will be taking the project to the University campus. Taylor's will remain the collection point throughout the campaign.

Taylor's will collect the bottles and deposit money into the Animal Harbor campaign account. Each bottle filled with dimes will be worth $92 and will go directly to the fund to build a new Animal Harbor shelter building. Donors will be invited to the finished shelter's grand opening and acknowledged as contributions grow toward the $500,000 goal. For more information call 962-4472.

AT THE MOVIES

Sewanee Union Theatre This Week
Friday–Sunday, Oct. 19–Oct. 21, 7:30 p.m.
Moonrise Kingdom
 Rated PG-13 • 94 minutes • $3

Wes Anderson has made another delightful, quirky movie, "Moonrise Kingdom," set in the mid-1960s about two 12-year-olds who fall in love. There are adults in the film (Bill Murray, Edward Norton, Francis McDormand, Bruce Willis), but the focus is on the two very precious children. Each of them is trying to run away from something, perhaps growing up, and together they find adventure and wonder. With gorgeous cinematography, terrific music and period-perfect accents, "Moonrise Kingdom" is enchanting. Rated PG-13 for sexual content and smoking. —LW

Animal House

R • 109 minutes • Free

"Animal House," John Landis' 1978 cult classic comedy set on a 1962 college campus, explores the machinations of a fraternity that is at risk of having its entire roster expelled. The dean of the school, in his attempts to get rid of them, comes up against great problems at the hands of the men of Delta Tau Chi, who are just as determined to keep themselves on campus as the dean is to remove them. John Belushi stars. Rated R for strong sexual content, language and brief drug use. —CG

Sewanee Union Theatre Next Week
Thursday–Sunday, Oct. 25–Oct. 28, 7:30 p.m.
Ted

Rated R • 106 minutes • $3

"Family Guy" creator Seth MacFarlane's film "Ted" may just be the first instance in which men actually want to go see a film about a teddy bear. This film centers around John Bennett (Mark Wahlberg), who is living an altogether normal life. The only abnormal aspect of it is the fact that John's childhood teddy bear, Ted, is alive and plays an active role in his life: a role that is jeopardized when John's girlfriend (Mila Kunis) decides she wants more out of their relationship. Seth MacFarlane also stars as the voice of Ted. Rated R for sexual content, language and drug use. —CG

"My Perestroika" Screening and Discussion Thursday

Director Robin Hessman will screen her award-winning documentary "My Perestroika," at 4:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 25, in Gailor Auditorium. A talk and question-answer session with the director will follow the screening.

An intimate epic about the extraordinary lives of this last Soviet generation, Hessman's documentary tells the stories of five Moscow schoolmates who were brought up behind the Iron Curtain, witnessed the joy and confusion of glasnost, and reached adulthood right as the world changed around them. Through candid first-person testimony, revealing verité footage and vintage home movies, Hessman reveals a Russia rarely seen on film, where people are frank about their lives and forthcoming about their country.

"My Perestroika" won a 2012 George Foster Peabody Award. It was an Official Selection at the 2010 Sundance Film Festival and has won awards at the Full Frame Documentary Film Festival, Silverdocs Film Festival, Mendocino Film Festival and Milwaukee Film Festival.

The screening is sponsored by the University Lectures Committee and these departments and programs: art and art history, Asian studies, film studies, history, international and global studies, and Russian.

New Cumberland Orchestra Conductor-in-Residence Selected

Octavio Más-Arocas has been appointed as the leader of the Cumberland Orchestra for the Sewanee Summer Music Festival (SSMF) and will be in charge of its education, performance, programming and overall success.

After the death of Bruce Dinkins, longtime Cumberland Orchestra conductor, the SSMF leadership conducted an extensive search to find a replacement. After two seasons of temporary and guest conductors, Más-Arocas was chosen for this important position. Every year, 90 musicians will student under him and perform challenging repertoire to increase their orchestral skills, musicianship, and enjoyment of their art. SSMF staff asked him a few questions about his selection.

Why did you accept this appointment?

When I went there, working with the students and fellow faculty was a great experience. The students were open and eager to learn and the atmosphere was fantastic. The Sewanee community is so unique and I couldn't pass up this opportunity to become a part of it.

What are your specific plans for your students this summer?

I treat my youth orchestras exactly the same way I treat my college orchestras and professional orchestras. I will encourage them to sound their best, play at their greatest potential, and teach them orchestral playing techniques. This opportunity at the Sewanee Summer Music Festival will give me the opportunity to consistently teach young, bright and talented musicians. My other goals are to ensure the students have fun performing music and even more important, want to return to the SSMF to work with me and my faculty colleagues.

What are your personal goals as a musician?

I hold myself to the same standards and expectations that I hold my students to. My goal is to always give my students my 300% effort and preparation. My goals also include making a difference in the lives of student musicians and ensuring that the enjoyment of making music for my students is never lost.

An alumnus of the American Academy of Conducting at Aspen, Más-Arocas won the Robert J. Harth Conducting Prize in 2008, awarded by David Zinman. He has conducted orchestras across North and South America and Europe including the Leipziger Symphonieorchester in Germany, the Spokane, Toledo, Phoenix, Memphis, Kansas City and San Antonio Symphonies, the National Repertory Orchestra, the Manhattan School of Music Symphony, the World Youth Symphony Orchestra, the Interlochen Philharmonic, the Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México Philharmonic, the Rosario Symphony in Argentina, Kharkov Symphony in Ukraine, the National Youth Orchestras of Portugal and Spain, the Pescara Symphony in Italy, the Amsterdam Brass in the Netherlands, and the Ciudad Alcalá de Henares Symphony.

IONA Readings

IONA: Art Sanctuary autumn readings continue at 6:30 p.m., today, Oct. 19.

Virginia Ottley Craighill, a graduate of Sewanee (C'82) and native of Atlanta, has been teaching in the English department at Sewanee since 2001. She also directs Writing-Across-the-Curriculum, and for fun, she writes the "Angel with an Attitude" column in the Messenger. She also writes poetry and nonfiction.

Peter Trenchi attended the University of the South, 1971–73 (psychology/biology); earned a B.S. in forestry at University of Tennessee-Knoxville in 1977 and an M.S. in forest economics at Auburn in 1979. For more than 25 years, he worked in the Ouachita National Forest. Since moving to Sewanee in 2005, Trenchi is a student in the Sewanee School of Letters and has a column in the Messenger, "The Village Idiot."

Audience members are invited to share a poem or two of their own, following the readings by Craighill and Trenchi.

The IONA readings are always free to the public and all are welcome; pole-light parking is available in the mowed portion of IONA's field at 360 Garnertown Rd., Sewanee.

The final event of the season will be at 4 p.m., Friday, Oct. 26, with a poetry reading by Richard Tillinghast during the 3:30–6:30 p.m. exhibition time and reception for him and for Ginny Deck Runge (watercolorist presenting mandala paintings based on flowers); both are graduates of Sewanee. This event will conclude the 2012 IONA: Art Sanctuary presentations.

Lady Mountain Lions Battle in Overtime District Matches

During the first game of the district tournament on Oct. 13, the Lady Mountain Lions faced Donelson Christian Academy. In regular season, the Lady Mountain Lions fell, 1-0, to DCA, who had the home field advantage.

SAS expected an intense, evenly matched game. The Lady Mountain Lions battled throughout the game, playing what both teams' coaches agreed was the best contest either had played all season. SAS players adapted well to changes in roles, including Eliza McNair transitioning from midfield to goalkeeper to replace the injured goalkeeper, Katie Craighill. Katelyn Howard played an outstanding game as both forward and outside mid. The Lady Mountain Lions truly shone, though they fell to DCA in a 2-0 loss in overtime.

In the second game of the day, the Lady Mountain Lions faced Ezell-Harding to determine which team would continue in tournament play. Both teams were fatigued as the game began, but the Lady Mountain Lions managed to net an early goal by Emory Babcock.

Ezell-Harding and SAS traded possession of the ball and scoring opportunities throughout the game, with the Lady Mountain Lions valiantly pursuing an insurance goal. In the midst of the fray, Ezell-Harding's star forward bravely took on the SAS defensive line and netted a goal that tied up the game. Though the SAS team mounted a vigorous attack in response, the Lady Mountain Lions were unable to break the tie.

Heading into their second tie-breaking overtime match of the day, the Lady Mountain Lions gave up a penalty just outside the box. Ezell-Harding placed a beautiful, curving shot into the upper corner of the net, just out of reserve keeper Emalae Howland's reach. Despite their best efforts, SAS was unable to answer with another goal, and Ezell-Harding pulled off an unexpected upset, 2-1.

SAS Bests Middle Tennessee Heat, 40-30

Kendall Kinslow led a punishing Mountain Lion ground game, running for 263 yards on 19 carries and three touchdowns, as SAS defeated Middle Tennessee Heat on Oct. 13. JR Clay added 117 yards and a touchdown, while Kinslow passed to Alex Tinsley for an eight-yard score.

The Mountain Lions churned out 428 yards rushing, and Kinslow was 7-14 through the air for 84 yards.

Tinsley, Kinslow and Josh Owens led the SAS defensive effort.

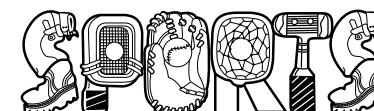

Seniors Kinslow, Tinsley, Owens, Robert Post, Tyler Privette, Tinashe Zimbwa, Mitchell Hazard, Russell Mays and Michael Ross were honored at halftime.

SAS is now 7-2 and 3-1 in conference play.

Oliver Paces SAS Cross Country

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee cross country team wrapped up its regular season competition at a Chattanooga Cross Country league race in Ringgold on Oct. 11.

Tommy Oliver paced the Mountain Lions with an 18:53 finish on the 5k course—good for 47th place out of 174 runners. Johannes Leonhardt was the second finisher for SAS with a season best 20:26. Myles Kincaid and Namkha Norbu also posted season-best times.

With the victory, Sewanee improved 7-6 overall and 3-1 in league play.

Sewanee took an early 1-0 lead after Sam Hutton's free kick deflected off a Berry defender in the eighth minute.

As second half action got underway, Jamie Samociuk pushed the Sewanee advantage to 2-0 when she scored off a corner kick.

Berry eventually got on the board, when Kari Detscher tapped in a deflection off Sewanee keeper Olivia Glascoe.

Despite giving up one goal, Glascoe stepped up and made a game-high eight saves. Offensively, Samociuk and Emily Harvey led the Lady Tigers with three shot attempts.

With the loss, Sewanee dropped to 2-5 overall and 0-2 in SAA action.

Millsaps jumped out to a 21-0 first-quarter lead after the Majors scored on their first three possessions.

Sewanee answered when quarterback Curtis Johnson added a three-yard touchdown run with 2:33 left in the first quarter.

The Majors scored two more touchdowns in the first half, including a one-yard score right before halftime.

OVERTIME

by John Shackelford

In my 51-plus years I'd never had the opportunity to travel abroad until this past week. Conchie and I were fortunate enough to visit our daughter Avery while she was traveling in Italy, on break from studying in Spain this semester. It seems that only yesterday she was coloring the University's tennis courts with her sidewalk chalk; today she is leading her two starry-eyed parents effortlessly through the incredible cities of Rome, Venice and Florence.

As we stood in the shadows of the Roman Colosseum, where emperors watched gladiators battle one another and witnessed an astonishing array of exotic wild animals, we admired the numerous arches and the incredible longevity of the stone construction that is now almost 2,000 years old. My mind drifted back to a baseball game I once attended at Shea Stadium in New York City, a similar modern American coliseum built of steel and concrete built in 1961, the year I was born, to house a new expansion baseball team, the New York Mets. The Mets inaugural season of 1962 was a result of what would become an American tradition: the relocation of the fleeing Brooklyn Dodgers whose visionary owner, Walter O'Malley, had led them west to the greener pastures of southern California only a few short years earlier. I have already outlived Shea Stadium—it was bulldozed only 44 years after its birth to make room for the parking lot of Citi Field—a newer, bigger and more modern stadium with larger luxury boxes for New York's emperors of finance.

As we left the Colosseum it began to rain in Rome. My guide-daughter wisely suggested we hop on a bus with hundreds of other fleeing tourists to escape the downpour. Like the sardines I had recently seen sandwiched in ice in the open markets of Venice, we packed into an aluminum can in the shape of an Italian bus. I wedged into the back corner alongside an elderly Italian man, probably homeless, as he was carrying all of his belongings in a torn plastic garbage bag. As he stared straight ahead while the bus circled the city, it became obvious that he was only on the bus looking for a dry spot in a wet world, while the rest of us were busy rushing off to our warm, comfortable luxury hotel rooms.

My thought was that on a day not so long ago, this man was born into this world as someone's child. In this magnificent and huge city. With a life in front of him that could lead anywhere. But on this day, he was wearing a tattered women's coat that surely was once a prized purchase for a wealthy Roman citizen, but had long since been discarded in a trash bin. It was now a modern-day tunic for my new mass transit companion, giving him one more layer of protection than Michelangelo provided for David. I dropped a coin in his cup as we departed, but he sat as motionless as a marble statue, just gazing out the window as the rain cleansed his ancient cobblestone streets that have stood for centuries.

Fifty-one years of life is just a minute in time when standing on the same marble floor of the Pantheon where Roman rulers once walked in togas, tunics and sandals. I traveled a long way hoping to learn from the past, but what I found was a renewed hope in our future. Hope that the arches and stone foundations we construct today in the minds of our children can create and preserve traditions more important than just the memories of sidewalk chalk that is so quickly rinsed away in a Sewanee fog. Concrete and steel have not proven to be stronger than our will to honor our past and share new life with the friends we meet along our cobblestoned journey. I hope the sun is shining in Italy today, and that my friend spent his Euro enjoying a cup of espresso while sitting in the shade of the cypress trees surrounding the Colosseum. I am thankful that he showed me that reclaiming what others may see as a torn past can become another man's toga on a rainy day in Rome.

Nodding Ladies' Tresses Orchids

Blooming Wildflowers

Fall flowers are in full bloom beside Sewanee lakes, report Harry and Jean Yeatman. Besides the various kinds of Goldenrods, Asters and Eupatorium, are the more scarce Nodding Ladies' Tresses Orchids with tiny white flowers crowded on straight, upright stems growing near the water. Bluebottle Gentian with its lovely flowers is blooming in the grasses farther back from the water.

Read William Alexander Percy's description of Sewanee in his "Lanterns on the Levee." He tells of the flowers, including Gentian and Parnassium, that he encountered. The latter is often incorrectly called Grass-of-Parnassus. It has broad, round leaves and greenish lines on the five white petals. White Turtlehead is in full bloom. It is well-named because when the sides are pressed the "turtle's mouth" will open like that of a real turtle. It is in the Snapdragon family. Walks around Sewanee lakes and ponds are very rewarding in this season. Take a camera or painting equipment to record your experiences for future enjoyment. Charles Dickens wrote, "Nature gives to every time and season some beauties of its own."

BARDTOVERSE

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

Abou Ben Adhem (may his tribe increase!)
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace,
And saw—within the moonlight in his room—
Making it rich and like a lily in bloom—
An angel, writing in a book of gold.
Exceeding peace had made Ben Adhem bold,
And to the presence in the room he said,
'What writest thou?'—The vision raised its head,
And, with a look made of all sweet accord,
Answered, 'The names of those who love the Lord.'
'And is mine one?' said Abou. 'Nay, not so,'
Replied the angel. Abou spoke more low,
But cheerily still, and said, 'I pray thee, then,
Write me as one that loves his fellow men.'

The angel wrote and vanished. The next night
It came again with a great wakening light,
And showed the names who love of God had blessed,
And lo! Ben Adhem's name led all the rest.

—“Abou Ben Adhem” by Leigh Hunt (b. Oct. 19, 1784)
