

Tunnel Hill Now Protected by the Land Trust

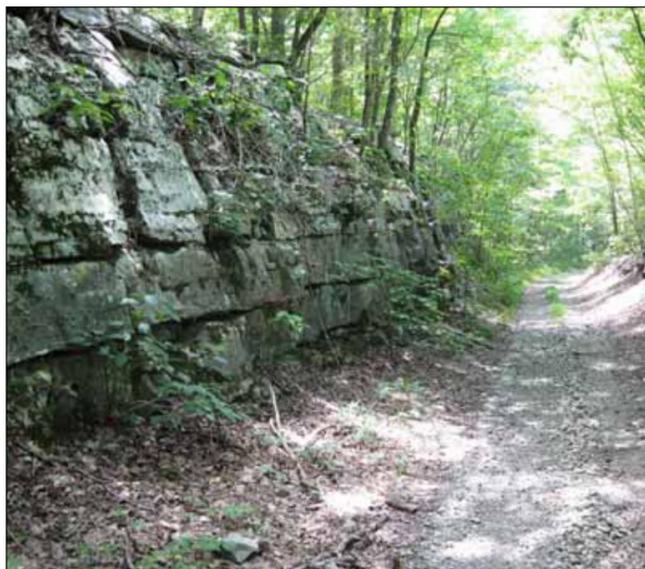

The Land Trust for Tennessee has announced the protection of Tunnel Hill, which is 411 acres just west of Sewanee in Franklin County.

This forested property was the last remaining, unprotected, private tract separating Hawkins Cove State Natural Area and Bear Hollow Wildlife Management Area. With a bridge loan from Open Space Institute (OSI), The Land Trust purchased the property from long-time Sewanee resident Peter Keeble earlier this year. The property was then transferred to the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency (TWRA) on Aug. 31 to be managed as part of the 15,000-acre Bear Hollow Wildlife Management Area.

The property is critical for connectivity and is home to numerous rare species of plants, including a large

The northern property boundary is a former railroad right-of-way that is in the process of being transformed into part of the Mountain Goat Trail.

SCA Learns About Arcadia; Receives Update on Classifieds

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

The long discussed vision of a retirement community in Sewanee is staged to become a reality, Kathleen (Kat) O'Donohue told Sewanee Civic Association (SCA) members and guests at the Oct. 12 meeting. O'Donohue, a founding member of the recently incorporated senior-living project Arcadia, summarized past stumbling blocks and the new energy driving future goals. The SCA also heard an update on information important to users of Sewanee Classifieds, the community-wide email messaging service sponsored by the SCA.

O'Donohue, director of Folks at Home, became involved in the senior living project years ago when invited to a meeting by Jerry Forster, University CFO at that time. The effort stalled when a developer concluded the market was too small to make the project feasible. The vision took on new life with the formation of Sewanee Elder Care and the appointment of John McCardell as vice-chancellor in 2010. McCardell supported the effort and assigned Frank Gladu, University Vice President of Administrative Services, to act as University liaison.

As the landowner of any proposed facility and a strategic partner in the project, the University funded analyses of demographics and related factors and found 15 percent of respondents surveyed said they were likely to move to a Sewanee assisted living facility, with 10 percent replying they would do so within the next three years. The research recommended moving forward with plans for an assisted living facility with no more than 25 beds and exploring the possibility of providing independent living facilities offering a continuum of services based on residents needs.

Three sites are strong contenders, O'Donohue said—the area of Castleberry Drive within walking distance of downtown, the Alabama Ave.-Kernerly Rd. vicinity, and a tract of land bordering Georgia Ave., Finney Lane and the hospital property. Fittingly, the name Arcadia comes from an idyllic description of Sewanee by author William Alexander Percy.

O'Donohue stressed that on McCardell's insistence residence in the facility would be monthly rent based, rather than a buy-in model with astronomical upfront costs.

The Sewanee Community Chest has pledged $1,000 in support of the project to help pay for nonprofit registration, consultation and website expenses.

New director of Sewanee Classifieds Doug Meyers said his efforts have primarily been directed toward cleaning up the website, identifying overdue accounts and sending reminders to users in arrears. Classifieds currently has 655 paid subscribers. Meyers attributed the decrease in subscribers, originally more than 1,200 emails, in part to removing duplicate, invalid and long arrears accounts from the roles during a database cleanup performed during the summer.

University Archives Boasts Bounty of Art

by Kevin Cummings, Messenger Staff Writer

In addition to being a keeper of Sewanee history, the University of the South Archives and Special Collections is a treasure trove of art.

"You would never think the dissection of a frog would be artistic, but they are absolutely stunning. We're going to try and build an exhibit around these materials, which are mostly chemistry and biology."

That's DebbieLee Landi, director of Archives and Special Collections, talking about hand-painted plaster casts of dissected amphibians that will likely be a part of an exhibit next year related to teaching science at the University.

Art is subjective and there are thousands of items in the Archives that can invoke artistic interpretations, including traditional pieces such as 19th century photographs of Sewanee's founders or Rembrandt and Goya paintings. Sewanee archivists are also stewards of antique furniture and books, sculptures, silver, medieval manuscripts, prints—and a Spanish fire helmet with a horse's tail attached.

"I'm not sure where it came from, but it's a very impressive piece," said Matt Reynolds, assistant director.

The artwork ranges from the 16th century to present day, a number of the pieces relating to Sewanee or by Sewanee artists, while others are just historical. Many of the Special Collections' art pieces can be seen in buildings on campus as part of the Archives' loan program.

"Sewanee has a really impressive art collection, so in order to share that with other people that's one thing that we've done," Landi said. "There's probably very few buildings that you could walk into on the campus and find one that does not have art from the Archives."

The Permanent Collection of Fine & Decorative Arts boasts more than 1,700 items and the Archives also has gallery space for special exhibits. The current exhibit in the gallery is "Communal Spirit: 3,000 Years of Mexican Artistry." According to the Archives, the exhibit features Mexican folk art and artifacts from 800 B.C. to the 1990s and the display is open to the public through Dec. 16. Laura and Daniel Boeckman (C'82) loaned the items for the exhibit.

Reynolds drove the Communal Spirit items from Dallas, Texas. Working with many priceless, valuable and important works can be challenging.

"I get nervous working with the art," he said. "Transporting the exhibit was an exercise in controlled terror, because I was driving a very large van and I normally have a tiny car that I drive."

The archivists stress that they are not gate keepers of the University's more than 150 years of history and extended art collection, but the Archives is there to benefit the students and public.

"That's another thing I think people misunderstand a little bit about University Archives and Special Collections," Reynolds said. "Yes, we collect, yes we preserve and organize, but we

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

Editor's Note: This is the third and final in a series of interviews of the mayoral candidates for the Town of Monteagle.

Monteagle mayoral candidate David Sampley has lived in Monteagle his entire life. From a large family of eight siblings, responding to people's needs is second nature to Sampley. He took EMT (Emergency Medical Technician) classes at Grundy County High School, and working for the ambulance service soon led to a career in nursing. After earning a degree at McMinnville Vocational Technical College, he took a job at the Monteagle nursing home managed by Health Care Capital and rose to the position of supervisor. His 12-and-a-half-year career there ended abruptly in 1996, when he blew the whistle on patient abuse and was fired.

He testified several times in the subsequent lawsuit that resulted in new owners taking over the facility. "Why are you doing this?" his sister asked, after seeing lawyers attempt to discredit him on the witness stand. "I feel like I don't have a choice. It's something I have to do."

Commitment and responsiveness to people's needs is the driving force behind Sampley's campaign for mayor. If elected, he would designate a staff member to take calls from residents with concerns and work directly with the staffer to find a solution. "People who've lived here all their lives feel pushed aside," Sampley said. "I complained and nothing was ever done"—you hear that a lot.

From the time Sampley's father served as mayor during Sampley's high-school years and continuing through Sampley's service as a Monteagle alderman in the early 1980s, Sampley watched the town struggle with bad credit and economic woes. During that era there was talk of "turning Monteagle into a little Gatlinburg,"

A VOTE FOR CORRUPTION

To the Editor:

Hillary Clinton did not provide adequate protection for Ambassador Chris Stevens in Benghazi even though he had asked for it. The administration sent no military aid.

In her email scandal she endangered our national security by using her own unsecured server. Emails were destroyed after Congress issued a preservation order and a subpoena for the emails.

Clinton claims to be against Wall Street yet she has taken millions of dollars from them.

In my opinion a vote for Clinton is a vote for corruption.

ROTARY INTERNATIONAL ANNOUNCES WORLD POLIO DAY

To the Editor:

For many of us in the United States, poliomyelitis is only a disease they may have heard about in news stories. For many people my age, it was a scourge and a horror that destroyed the lives of young people we knew. We remember young people in braces, unable to walk, and children unable to breathe without the "iron lung" device and even deaths. Through the Salk and Sabin vaccines, polio has been wiped out in our country and many places throughout the world, however polio continues to rear its ugly head in Pakistan, and Afghanistan, and though thought to have been eradicated in Nigeria, it recently had a recurrence there.

In 1985, Rotary launched its PolioPlus program, the first initiative to tackle global polio eradication through the mass vaccination of children. Rotary has contributed more than $1.5 billion and countless volunteer hours to immunize more than 2.5 billion children in 122 countries. In addition, Rotary's advocacy efforts have played a role in decisions by donor governments to contribute more than $7.2 billion to the effort.

The Global Polio Eradication Initiative, formed in 1988, is a public-private partnership that includes Rotary, the World Health Organization, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, UNICEF, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, and governments of the world. Rotary's focus is advocacy, fundraising, volunteer recruitment and awareness-building.

On Monday, Oct. 24, Rotary International will mark World Polio Day to help raise awareness and the funding needed to reach full eradication of this disease. Please join us in celebrating how far we have come in defeating this scourge, and be aware that when you support the activities of your local Montecagle-Sewanee Rotary club, you are helping us to win this fight.

As they hit the back roads from coast to coast, Mike and Frank are on a mission to recycle and rescue forgotten relics. Along the way, the Pickers want to meet characters with remarkable and exceptional items.

The pair hopes to give historically significant objects a new lease on life, while learning a thing or two about America's past along the way.

Growing in Grace will resume Sunday, Oct. 23, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel. The speaker will be Lucas Crossland, a senior in the college. This informal worship service is designed for students and community members with student-led acoustic music, guest speakers, and Holy Communion. This Advent semester, Growing in Grace will focus on moments in our life where we find ourselves at a "Crossroads."

The Catechumenate will continue this Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 7 p.m. in the Bairnwick Women's Center. Desserts and coffee will be provided. This is a great place to meet new people and build relationships. Food, prayer, questions, and conversation power this process. Email Lay Chaplain Rob McAlister <rvmcalis@sewanee.edu> for directions or more information.

Classifieds recently introduced forgery detection to combat spam. When asked to return a verification code, a user should simply press "reply" and send the email containing the verification code back to the sender. "Do not copy the code and send it to all of Classifieds in a new email," Meyers stressed. "When you reply to the verification email, your original email will be sent to the Sewanee Classifieds group."

He said when subscribers use the service from a different device, a phone rather than their home computer for example, they are asked again to return a verification code. population of the Cumberland rosinweed (Silphium brachiatum), a state-endangered species found in only a few counties in Tennessee and Alabama.

The northern property boundary is a former railroad right-of-way that is in the process of being transformed into part of the Mountain Goat Trail. The Land Trust is pleased to partner with others on this Rails-to-Trails project creating a multi-use recreational trail connecting several communities in Grundy and Franklin counties.

The property also contains Cowan Tunnel, an active railroad tunnel that is still used by CSX today. The property adjoins Hawkins Cove State Natural Area, a 249-acre property managed as part of the South Cumberland Recreation Area and a 200-acre conservation easement held by the Tennessee Parks and Greenways Foundation.

In addition to state and federal funding through TWRA, the project was supported by grants from OSI because of the tract's importance in facilitating wildlife adaptation to climate change. OSI assembled the funding from Doris Duke Charitable Foundation, Lyndhurst Foundation, Benwood Foundation and Merck Family Fund.

a strategy Sampley opposes. "I love the small town feel of the community," he said. He pointed out that homes have become expensive in Monteagle, and people raised here can't afford to live here. He's seen many restaurants fail and cites a need for "stable businesses" like Tag Plastics in Tracy City. "I'd like to see the planning commission and council draft a plan to draw businesses and advertise for businesses to locate here," Sampley said.

Sampley worries about bored young people spending all their time pecking on phones and video games and their subsequent lack of social skills. As mayor, he'd establish a committee of parents to "come up with ideas for giving kids things to do in the town."

Addressing his concerns about senior citizens and shut-ins, Sampley wants to reinstitute a program previously in place in the community in which registered seniors phoned the police dispatcher once a day. If a senior didn't phone in, an officer would visit the home to make sure all was well.

Sampley is currently the director at the Tracy Clinic, a position he's held since 1996. He's also served as a volunteer police officer and dispatcher for Monteagle and volunteer deputy for the Grundy County Sheriff's Department. People he knows in the community approached him and asked him to run for mayor. "The mayor and alderman are employees of the people," Sampley stresses, "and the people should be involved in every decision. But to get people involved, you need to make them feel part of the community. If people feel wanted and welcome, they'll step forward to help."

David Sampley is running for Mayor for the Town of Monteagle, one of three candidates.

University Launches the Largest Capital Campaign in University History

The University of the South has announced a $250 million fundraising campaign, called Stronger Truer Sewanee—The Campaign for the University of the South. The campaign is the most ambitious in Sewanee's history.

To date, more than $175 million (70 percent of the goal) has already been raised; colleges typically announce the "public" phase of a fundraising campaign about halfway through.

Vice-Chancellor John McCardell introduced the Stronger Truer Sewanee campaign to the university's Board of Trustees earlier this month, at a meeting marking the 150th anniversary of the first post-Civil War meeting of the Trustees. "We have been successful stewards of the founders' vision," said McCardell. "Yet we cannot stand still. The campaign priorities are designed not to make Sewanee like some other place, but rather a stronger, truer version of its essential self."

The campaign aims to support four strategic goals:

Ensuring access, value and opportunity for all college and seminary students through an expansion of resources for financial aid and internships;

Reinforcing academic distinction by continually building a world-class faculty and creating innovative academic programs that complement and build on Sewanee's traditional disciplines;

Enriching the Sewanee experience through facilities such as a new University Commons and programs focused on enhancing wellness and community life;

And, preparing tomorrow's church leaders by relocating the School of Theology to its historic home in the center of campus, creating new sources of financial aid, and creating dynamic new lay programs in the Episcopal Church.

Campaign tri-chairs are Nick, C'68, and Mary Babson of Missoula, Mont.; David, C'68, and Kitty Beecken of Chicago, Ill.; and Claude, C'73, and Kate Nielsen of Birmingham, Ala.

Nick Babson says that the University has the resources—quality, breadth, and depth of faculty, students, and staff—to support an investment in the university's future. "It is our responsibility—alumni, Trustees, friends—to get this campaign successfully to the finish line," said Babson.

"For all who love Sewanee, this is our time. For all who have shared in the splendor of this place and been transformed by it, this is our chance," McCardell said. "This campaign offers us an opportunity to demonstrate the same confidence, courage, faith, and hope that our 'second founders' demonstrated 150 years ago."

New Deputy Chief Position Created for Sewanee Fire Department

A need has been identified to engage in succession planning for the Sewanee Volunteer Fire Department (SVFD). Accordingly, the position of deputy chief is being created at this time, and expressions of interest are invited from members of the Sewanee community.

The responsibilities of the deputy chief will include standing in for the chief whenever needed; engaging in strategic planning for equipment, staffing and procedures; maintaining a current inventory; reviewing mutual aid agreements; and serving as a member on the SVFD Board. The initial appointment will be made by John McCardell, the University's vice-chancellor, for a period of three years, and will be renewable.

Nominations and expressions of interest, including a brief personal statement, a list of qualifications and the names of three references, should be sent to the Office of the Vice-Chancellor, Walsh-Ellett Hall, at the University of the South. Review of candidates will begin Nov. 14 and continue until the position is filled.

"Chief David Green's service to the Department has been of high quality, and his leadership has for more than four decades, sustained a Department that has risen to every occasion," said McCardell. "He deserves the thanks of every member of our community. At the same time, if and when David decides to retire, we need to make provisions."

Community Chest Spotlight: Midway Community Park

The 2016-17 Sewanee Community Chest (SCC) Fund Drive is underway. Sponsored by the Sewanee Civic Association, the SCC raises money yearly for local charitable organizations serving the area. This year's goal is $116,850.

For the next few weeks, the Sewanee Mountain Messenger will focus on some of the organizations supported by the Community Chest. This week we shine the spotlight on the Midway Community Park.

The Midway Community Park has been located next to St. James in the Midway community for more than 20 years and was started with a grant from Dandridge Trust. It is the only recreational space available to low-income families in that community. In the last couple of years efforts have been made to improve the park and better serve the community, including a South Cumberland Community Fund grant in 2014 to purchase new equipment, mulch and picnic tables.

There are several activities for older children and adults such as a volleyball court, basketball goals, swings and slides. Volunteers for the Midway Community Park are now trying to raise funds for a new playset for the smaller children. The total cost for the playground equipment is $5,500. The SCC will grant the Midway Community Park $2,000 to help purchase the new age-appropriate equipment.

Since 1908, the goal of the SCC has been to help citizens by funding the community. Through SCC funding, 26 local organizations can help those caught in the cycle of poverty, improve quality of life through outreach and community initiatives, and provide support for children with a variety of programs. The SCC is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, and donations are tax-deductible. Send your donation to Sewanee Community Chest, P.O. Box 99, Sewanee, TN 37375. For more information, or to make a donation through PayPal, contact <sewaneechest@gmail.com> or go to <www.sewanee.org>.

Wetland Tour Planned

The University of the South and the University of Georgia (UGA) wetland research group invites the community to come learn about the new constructed wetland, 9–11 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 29. The event will begin at the Sewanee Utility District (SUD) office on 150 Sherwood Rd., and a van will shuttle guests to the SUD wastewater treatment site where the wetland is located. Coffee and breakfast snacks will be served at 8:30 a.m. before the tours begin. The event will include a tour of the wetland and treatment lagoons, educational activities for elementary and middle school students, tree-planting and a mascot contest. Ideas about future signage for the wetlands will also be discussed.

Since June, effluent from the adjacent treatment lagoon at SUD has been flowing through the three experimental wetland basins. Goals of this research wetland include investigating wetland processes as a cost effective means of removing contaminants from wastewater effluent. The wetland will also serve as a focal point for raising public awareness about water and wastewater issues.

As the constructed wetland monitoring program continues, the Sewanee UGA research group will share results of water quality testing with the community on a project website <www.sewaneeetwetlands.org> and on social media. For questions about the event, contact Deborah McGrath at <dmcgrath@sewanee.edu>.

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

By
Dr. Kurt Shull

OCTOBER IS NATIONAL CHIROPRACTIC HEALTH MONTH

October is National Chiropractic Health Month. It's the perfect time to learn about the field of chiropractic care and schedule an appointment with a chiropractor. A good place to start is at the website of the American Chiropractic Association- www.acatoday.org - the organization that represents chiropractors around the country. The site provides all sorts of information about chiropractic, including a way to find a doctor of chiropractic in your community.

Essentially, chiropractic is a conservative approach to pain management, a philosophy that has become all the more appealing during what most health care professions recognize is an epidemic involving the prescription of opioids. Chiropractic does not involve the use of prescription drugs or surgery. At its core is the belief that a properly functioning body is capable of addressing many of its own ills. Key to that is a healthy spine, which is the infrastructure for the transmission of messages to and from the brain to the body and its organs. Make an appointment with a chiropractor to find out how it might help you.

We are now accepting new patients.

SES Peace Pole Ceremony

On Oct. 14, Sewanee Elementary School students gathered for their annual Peace Pole ceremony. This year the phrase "May Peace Prevail on Earth" as written in Polish was added to the pole.

The fourth grade students have been studying Poland's history and culture, including their folk tales, in preparation of the ceremony. Austin Elliott, Samantha Eklund, Robbie Philipp and Julia Sumpter informed the student body about Poland and helped those gathered say the phrase in Polish.

Throughout the school, peaceful doves adorn the walls with written or illustrated student commitments for how they plan to help peace "begin with me."

Area Teacher Completes Intensive Training on Holocaust History

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's history teacher Geoffrey Smith completed training this summer from the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum educators.

Smith was one of 183 participants who attended the 23rd annual Arthur and Rochelle Belfer National Conference for Educators, a three-day workshop for teachers hosted by the Museum in mid-July. The conference is a vital part of the Museum's ongoing effort to equip educators throughout the country with the knowledge and skills to effectively bring Holocaust education in their classrooms.

Every year, the Museum trains hundreds of teachers through programs held in Washington, D.C. and around the country. It provides these teachers with advanced tools and teaching materials for students of history, English, social studies, language arts, library science, journalism and more.

At the conference, the participants teamed up with Museum educators and scholars in sharing rationales, strategies and approaches for teaching about the Holocaust, Nazi propaganda and antisemitism by using various media, such as literature, survivor testimony and diaries that the Museum provides. They toured the Museum's permanent exhibition, as well as special exhibitions like "Some Were Neighbors: Collaboration & Complicity in the Holocaust." Program participants also heard from Agi Geva and Henry Greenbaum, two Holocaust survivors who volunteer at the Museum.

The Museum's website <www.ushmm.org> provides resources at no cost to educators, including a range of online training modules, exemplary lesson plans and extensive historical information about the Holocaust.

THE INSATIABLE CRITIC

by Elizabeth Ellis

This Halloween—who(m) ya gonna call? As the leaves change and the wind chill plummets, The Sewanee Union Theatre cranks up the spooky with some classic supernatural exterminators from both the past and the present.

The Rating System

Stars are so overused, and there's nothing on the planet more critical than cats, so one feature each week is rated from one to five Jackaroos. The more Jackaroos there are, the better it is!

Jackaroo

The Infiltrator

7:30 p.m., Friday, Oct. 21 through Sunday, Oct. 23
2016, Rated R, 127 minutes

Hang onto your seats for this one as this thriller based on a real-life sting goes deep undercover into the world of U.S. drug rings. Bryan Cranston stars as Robert Mazur, a customs agent who in order to bring down top drug lord Pablo Escobar must pose as money-laundering scumbag Bob Musella. Aided by his fellow agent Emir Ebreu (the ever-impressive second banana John Leguizamo), Mazur finds himself in a deadly cloak and dagger plot, where one wrong move could lead to his cover being blown—and certain painful, bloody death. Much like its plot, this film also flew under the radar upon its initial summer release, but still garnered praise from critics and general audiences alike. Rated R for strong violence and language throughout as well as sexual conduct (e.g. strippers) and drug material, this one is strictly reserved for older teens and adults.

Ghostbusters (Original!)

7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 26
1984, Rated PG, 105 minutes

Strap on your proton pack and get into the "spirit" of the season! This supernatural blast from the past is back, large and in charge on the big screen. Comedy kings Bill Murray, Harold Ramis and Dan Aykroyd star as parapsychology professors who get kicked out of their cushy university jobs in New York City for their questionable experiments with the souls of the hereafter. With the help of their friends, they decide to set up shop as ghost exterminators in an old firehouse. Business starts booming, and no job is too big for them—until one unlucky lady (Sigourney Weaver, who else?) discovers a vicious poltergeist tearing her apartment in half. What's behind door number one is an answer even The Ghostbusters don't want to find out—but duty (literally) calls! Though the special effects are a tad hokey by today's standards, this film remains a cult classic appropriate for audiences young and old. Due to some suggestive comments and creepy moments, parents should take caution with very small children.

Ghostbusters (Reboot!)

7:30 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 27 through Sunday, Oct. 30
2016, Rated PG-13, 116 minutes

When you need a big job done—get a woman to do it! This fiercely funny take on the ghoulish franchise stars Kristen Wiig, Melissa McCarthy, Kate McKinnon and Leslie Jones as the fabulous classic four, making Halloween weekend a booked solid ladies night. Taking place 30 years after the original movie, The Big Apple once again finds itself overrun by spooks of all sizes and shapes—some of which may be familiar faces to diehard fans of the original. When the ladies set up shop, they also employ the dashing bespectacled Kevin (Chris Hemsworth) as their "secretary." With callbacks aplenty to the source material, (same jumpsuits, spiffier special effects) director Paul Feig manages to create a film that is concurrently wholly original as well as a fitting tribute. Rated PG-13 for ooky spooky action and some crude humor, it is geared towards the same audience as the original.

Usherwood Presents Faculty Recital

Jessica Usherwood, soprano, presents her first faculty recital at the University of the South in collaboration with pianist Bernadette Lo. The recital will take place at 3 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 23, in Guerry Auditorium. The concert is free and open to the public.

Usherwood and Lo will present a program of American songs by Andre Previn, Gwyneth Walker, Lori Laitman, Ricky Ian Gordon and H. Leslie Adams. Song settings come from noted American poets Edna St. Vincent Millay, Langston Hughes, Mary Oliver, E. E. Cummings and Toni Morrison.

Usherwood is visiting assistant professor of voice and holds an M.M. and professional diploma in opera from the Chicago College of Performing Arts, Roosevelt University and a D.M. from Indiana University Jacobs School of Music. She also serves as soprano for the International Chamber Artists (ICA) of Chicago.

Lo is visiting assistant professor of piano and holds a B.M. and M.M. from the Peabody Conservatory of Music and M.M. and Ph.D. from the University of Illinois.

Upcoming SSO Concert

Nearly 500 area elementary school children are invited to the Sewanee Symphony Orchestra's (SSO) fourth annual Halloween concert at 10 a.m., Friday, Nov. 4, in Guerry Auditorium. At 7:30 p.m., Nov. 4, in Guerry, the SSO will perform a concert for the community. All SSO concerts are free of charge.

Sixth Annual Campus Gallery Walk, Nov. 12

The University of the South will host its sixth annual Campus Gallery Walk 4–7 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 12. The University Art Gallery, the Museum Gallery of Archives and Special Collections and the Carlos Gallery of the Nabit Art Building will all be open late, with receptions designed by IvyWild and dance and musical performances inspired by the exhibitions. This event is free and open to the public.

Performances are coordinated by César Leal, conductor of the Sewanee Symphony Orchestra and assistant professor of music, and Courtney World, assistant professor of dance. Performances will be repeated three times in each space, at 4:30 p.m., 5:15 p.m. and 6 p.m., so that visitors may attend in any order.

Visitors to the University Art Gallery will experience Jessica Wohl's "Love Thy Neighbor." As communities struggle with misunderstanding, prejudice and fear, Wohl's quilts ask viewers to respond to one another with empathy. Pieced together from cast off pieces of fabric, these quilts, made into new wholes, offer warmth, comfort and inclusivity.

A special performance of music and dance inspired by "Love Thy Neighbor" will be presented at 4:30 p.m. and again at 5:15 p.m. and 6 p.m. in the University Art Gallery.

In the Museum Gallery of University Archives and Special Collections, the current exhibition, "Communal Spirit: 3,000 Years of Mexican Artistry," explores the creativity and workmanship of artists working in Mexico beginning in 1500 B.C. and concluding in the 1990s. The installation incorporates diverse Pre-Columbian artifacts from both western and eastern Mexico, representing eight different indigenous civilizations. The 20th-century folk art presented features many of the same regions, inspiration, and creative techniques. Highlights include an Olmec baby ca. 1200 B.C., a Huastec female ball player ca. 100 B.C., celebrations of the Day of the Dead, and a marketplace scene with more than one hundred clay figures, fruits, vegetables and animals.

Mexican folk art-inspired song will be presented in the Museum Gallery at 4:30 p.m., 5:15 p.m. and 6 p.m.

Visitors to the Carlos Gallery in the Nabit Art Building will experience Anderson Wrangle's exhibition of photography "a hand's width." Weight, tension and balance play a large part in this series of photographs. Wrangle uses "work" as a metaphor to draw a connection between the mind, the hand, and the object being made and to play off of our expectations of the functions of utilitarian objects.

The musical performance inspired by "a hand's width" will be presented in the Carlos Gallery at 4:30 p.m., 5:15 p.m. and 6 p.m.

OFTOWERSANDBELLS

by Ray Gotko

Eight = the cube of 2... the square of 64... 7 plus 1... 104 minus 96... the number of planets... 2 golf foursomes... half the number of hooves on a team of four horses... how many ways can eight be? If you have eight of anything, how many ways can you arrange them as a sequence? For some that is an easy question to answer, for others a mystery. The simple answer is "a lot." The real answer is $1*2*3*4*5*6*7*8 = (?)$ The simple answer for a change ringer in Breslin Tower is a full peal which, in change ringing language, is the "extent" of eight bells. Ringing all the possible changes on eight, or any number of bells, constitutes ringing its "extent," the ultimate goal of a serious change ringer. Change ringing (with the exception of "call changes") is all about ringing permutations of a sequence of numbers without the repetition of any sequence.

Here is an example of creating a non-repetitive series of any number of bells using a change ringing method called "plain hunt." The method of ringing plain hunt on four bells is this: begin ringing the bells in sequence from the highest to the lowest (1234). Then, follow this simple method: first, each pair swaps their order of ringing (21 43) then the outside bells ring in place and the middle pair swap their order of ringing (2 4 1 3). Repeat the method until the sequence comes around to its beginning (1234). If you are bored or have trouble dropping off to sleep, working out plain hunt on any number of bells will do the trick. Knowing the sequence and ringing the sequence with a band of ringers is not for sleep-deprived folk. It requires intense concentration. Plain hunt will never produce an "extent," but it is a start. However, clever folk have devised diabolical methods to ring "extents." Some of the more well known are Plain Bob, Stedman, Grand sire, Cambridge Surprise Minor, Kent. The list is exceedingly long.

Change ringing ensures order in your life when things are out of control, which is most of the time. Ringing the changes is a mindful, contemplative discipline. When ringing, there is no way to think of anything else but ringing your bell in place and on time. The local band in Breslin Tower always needs new ringers. Interested in giving it a go?

Judaism and Christian Preaching Lecture

Amy-Jill Levine will give a public lecture on Thursday, Oct. 27, at 3:30 p.m. in Hamilton Hall's Hargrove Auditorium at the School of Theology. A self-described "Yankee Jewish feminist who teaches in a predominantly Christian divinity school in the buckle of the Bible Belt," Levine combines historical-critical rigor, literary-critical sensitivity, and a frequent dash of humor with a commitment to eliminating anti-Jewish, sexist, and homophobic theologies. The lecture is open to the public.

Her lecture, "Understanding Judaism for Christian Preaching" will explore common misunderstandings of Second Temple and contemporary Judaism that continue to confuse our interpretation and proclamation of the gospel. By looking at biblical and post-biblical texts she will share a portrait of Jesus with Judaism that will ground and guide faithful teaching and preaching. There will be a book sale and signing after the lecture.

'The Art of Islamic Spain' Lecture

Antonio Momplet of the Department of Medieval Art History of the Universidad Complutense in Madrid, Spain and current Brown Foundation Fellow at the University of the South will present a lecture titled "The Art of Islamic Spain: Beyond the Middle Ages, Beyond the Iberian Peninsula" at 5 p.m., Monday, Oct. 24, in the Lytle Reading Room of the University Archives on the Sewanee campus. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Momplet began his career as a specialist in the 12th-century art and architecture of Christian northern Spain, but is best known for his writing and expertise on the art of al-Andalus, the variable area of the Iberian Peninsula controlled by Muslims from the eighth to the 15th century.

During that period, al-Andalus was home to the most vibrant and sophisticated culture in Europe. By the time of the conquest in 1492 of Granada, the last of Spain's Islamic kingdoms, Hispano-Muslim culture had been so deeply absorbed by the whole of the Iberian Peninsula that its imprint on the language, cuisine, architecture, and visual culture of Spain was indelible.

Even during the Middle Ages, the fruits of Andalusian intellectual and material culture overflowed Spain's borders, and, long after the fall of Granada, continued to do so in surprising ways. Though the palaces and mosques, silks and ivories, songs, poems, and treatises of al-Andalus now belong to the world of museums and academic specialists, Professor Momplet shows us that, from English castles and cathedrals to American cities and suburbs, the art of Islamic Spain has a long habit of smiling when and where one least expects it.

Political Implications of Class-In-Race Inequality Lecture

Political scientist Jennifer Hochschild will give a talk at Sewanee investigating the possibility of the recent marked growth of inequality within non-white groups changing those groups' political or policy views. Her talk—"Here they treat us like a different race: Political Implications of Class-in-Race Inequality"—is open to the public. It will be at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 27, in Blackman Auditorium (in Woods Labs).

Hochschild is the Henry LaBarre Jayne Professor of Government and professor of African and African American Studies at Harvard, and the immediate past president of the American Political Science Association. She is the Phi Beta Kappa Society's Visiting Scholar at the University of the South this year.

Whites in the United States have shown class divisions in politics for centuries, while since the 1960s Asian Americans, Latinos, and especially blacks have generally expressed liberal policy preferences and Democratic Party support regardless of their class position. Hochschild will demonstrate recent growth in class disparities within the four main conventional American racial or ethnic groups, and will show how this growing inequality is reflected in attitudes and preferences. She will include case studies in which these results are borne out by political and policy disputes on the ground.

During her two-day visit to campus, Hochschild also will visit classes, participate in a student dialogue on race and immigration and have a discussion with politics majors about careers.

SAS Soccer Team Finishes Season

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's varsity girls' soccer team lost 2-1 to King's Academy at home on Oct. 11 in the District finals/consolation round.

King's came out with intensity and shot on goal but Rachel Alvarez blocked the shot. King's scored later on a hard shot outside the 18-yard line.

SAS's Kate Butler returned with a shot over the King's goal. King's scored another goal over Rachel Alvarez's head despite Kyra Wilson's good defense.

After halftime, Wilson scored off of a penalty kick to make the score 2-1. SAS had many opportunities on goal at the end of the game but King's held on for the win.

SAS lost to Battle Ground Academy, 10-0, at BGA on Oct. 13 in the Regional playoffs.

SAS played a focused game and was accountable on defense. There were great moments of possession on both sides.

The Mountain Lions end the season with a 5-7-1 record.

SAS senior Kyra Wilson plays in a recent match.

Williams Nets Game Winner in Double Overtime

A double-overtime goal by Savannah Williams led the Sewanee women's soccer team to a 3-2 win over Southern Athletic Association member Hendrix on Oct. 16 in Conway, Ark.

With less than eight minutes remaining in the match, Williams tapped in a cross from teammate Erin Gill for the game winner. The goal was the fourth this season for Williams.

Earlier in the match, Sewanee took a 1-0 lead as Tasha Saunders fired in a rebound attempt off a Hendrix defender early in the first half.

After Hendrix tied the match 1-1 early in the second half, Sewanee retook the lead as Tyler Edell scored off her own initial shot with 10 minutes left in regulation. Unfortunately, Hendrix answered back four minutes later when Hagan Griffith scored her second goal of the match off a corner from Sydney Meyer.

Those goals would eventually set up Williams in the second overtime.

Overall, Sewanee's offense rebounded from an uncharacteristic performance at Rhodes on Oct. 15. The Tigers outshot the Warriors, 22-12.

Edell led the attack with seven shots, while Saunders and Williams both had multiple attempts.

Freibert Earns Swimmer of the Week Awards

Sewanee freshman swimmer Andrew Freibert has been named the Southern Athletic Association and the College Swimming News Swimmer of the Week awards winner.

The Lexington, Ky., native debuted in his first meet for the Tigers by winning the 50 freestyle (22.23 seconds), the 100 free (48.16), and leading off the 200-free relay with a time of 22.09 to secure the come-from-behind victory over Centre.

"The meet against Centre was notable because we never led the entire time until the last relay," said Sewanee head coach Max Obermiller. "We went 1-2-3 in the three-meter men's diving, first and second in the 100 breaststroke and one through three on the last relay to win by three points.

"I think that's the first time I have ever won a meet and never led at any portion of the meet," he added. "Andrew was instrumental in this, leading our sprinters to keep the meet close, and then finally persevere for the win in the relay."

Tiger Swimmers Open Season With Centre Split

The Sewanee men and women's swimming and diving teams split a dual match Oct. 14 at home in the season opener for both.

In the men's meet, Sewanee defeated the Colonels 118-115, while the women's squad fell to the Colonels, 157-82.

After Centre won the first six events, Sewanee earned its first victory as Andrew Freibert edged Noah Martin in the men's 50-meter freestyle with a time of 22.23 seconds.

Teammate Michael Whitehead then won the men's 400 individual medley with a finals time of 4:26.31. That was three seconds faster than Centre's Wilson Norris, who finished second.

Caty Hueske then won the women's 200 free with a time of 1:59.56. Later in the meet, Hueske won her second event when she touched the wall in the women's 100 backstroke with a time of 1:02.39.

After Noel Whitlock finished second in the women's one-meter dive, Alec Chennault, Jed Henrichsen, and Winston Westbrook swept the top-three in the men's one-meter event. Chennault won the competition with a final score of 212.65 points.

In the men's 100 free, Freibert continued his outstanding debut by winning his second event with a time of 48:16 seconds. Mac McNally (50:84) and Kipling Klimas (53:51) both joined Freibert in the top five.

After sweeping the one-meter dive, Chennault, Henrichsen and Westbrook finished first, second and third in the three-meter dive.

That was followed by a win by Kaylee Pierson in the women's 100 breaststroke. Pierson won the race by more than two seconds with a time of 1:13.75. Klimas then won the same event on the men's side with a time of 1:02.74.

Finally, Sewanee closed the contest with a win in the men's 200 free relay. The Tiger women's 200 free relay finished second with a time of 1:45:69.

Washington Passing Pounds Sewanee

Led by quarterback J.J. Tomlin, Southern Athletic Association football affiliate Washington University earned a 34-6 win over Sewanee on Oct. 15 in St. Louis.

The loss dropped Sewanee to 0-6 this season, while the Bears improved to 5-1. Like they have most of the season, the Tigers got off to a great start. After receiving the opening kickoff, Sewanee drove 60 yards in 15 plays. From the Washington nine yard line, Michael Jacobs made a 26-yard field goal which gave Sewanee an early 3-0 lead.

After Sewanee forced a fumble on the first drive by Washington, the Tigers took over at their own 31-yard line. Despite driving to the Washington 46, Sewanee was forced to punt. From there, the Tigers got the ball back after a quick three and out by Washington.

After Sewanee's drive stalled, the Tigers were set to punt at their own 37-yard line. On fourth and seven, junior punter John Cleveland faked the kick and found Thomas Richardson for a 31-yard pass. Unfortunately, Sewanee turned the ball over on downs six plays later.

Heading into the second quarter, the momentum switched to Washington. The Bears scored their first touchdown when Tomlin threw a 20-yard pass to Kevin Hammarlund with 11:49 left in the first half. Tomlin then found Hammarlund again on the next Washington drive for a 58-yard strike with 9:35 remaining in the second quarter.

Ahead 14-3 to start the second half, the Bears kept rolling. After driving to the Sewanee 13-yard line, Dan Kalvaitis connected on a 30-yard field goal.

On the Tigers' first possession of the second half, freshman quarterback Sam Hearn was picked off by Chandler Elmore at the Washington 40. Elmore then returned the interception to the Sewanee 28. Later in the third quarter, Tomlin tossed his third touchdown to Matt Goldberg from six-yards out.

After both teams exchanged field goals, Washington capped off the scores when Tomlin found Marcus Ramspott for a 21-yard touchdown pass.

Tomlin finished 23-for-36 for 368 yards and four touchdowns. Hammarlund was his favorite target on the afternoon as he finished with 133 receiving yards and two scores. Ramspott also finished with 116 receiving yards on five catches.

Warren Holland led Sewanee's offense with a career-high 74 rushing yards. Hearn also finished with 52 rushing yards to go along with 109 passing yards.

Sewanee's Warren Holland, a freshman running back, carries the ball against Washington University on Oct. 15 in St. Louis.

NATURENOTES

Nodding ladies-tresses

A Herbarium-sponsored walk around Lake Cheston last Saturday yielded sightings of some late-blooming flowers in addition to the yellows of the tulip poplars and the deep reds of black gum, red maple and winged sumac. The star of the show was nodding ladies-tresses, an orchid, in numerous spots all around the lake—more that some of us had ever seen. The white flowers spiral in three to four columns around the 8-18 inch spike.

There were also several members of the aster family: late purple aster, old field american-aster (small white flowers), hyssop-leaf thoroughwort, white snakeroot, rabbit tobacco, blue mistflower and several golden-rods. A few cardinal flowers were still blooming in one of the dried-up inlets and its relative downy lobelia (blue) along the lakeshore. A patch of rather dry fan ground-pine (lycopodium) was shedding spores, once used for flash powder in photography. The alders already bear their male catkins, ready to be among the first to shed pollen come spring.

Bashful

Mary

Pets of the Week

Meet Bashful and Mary

Bashful is a handsome, gentle adolescent Lab/Collie mix. He is a little shy, but when he gets to know you he opens up into a bouncy overactive cuddle bug! His favorite past-time is fetch, followed by stealing strands of grass out of your hand. This playful guy may be a little slow to introduce himself, but don't let that keep you from getting to know this awesome dog! His adoption fee will be reduced by 50 percent if he's adopted on a Friday. Bashful is heartworm-negative, up-to-date on shots, microchipped, and he will be neutered before he goes home with you.

Mary just loves to get petted. She could spend the rest of her days sitting on someone's lap, soaking up all of the affection she can get. She is a quiet, gentle girl, but as soon as she meets a friendly playmate her wild side comes out. She will run, jump, and slide around with kittens half her age and love every minute of it. With Mary you get the best of both worlds: a playful, fun-loving goofball like a kitten, with all of the mature easy-going know-how of an adult kitty. Mary is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and spayed.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

The mad girl with the staring eyes and long white fingers
 Hooked in the stones of the wall,
 The storm-wracked hair and the screeching mouth: does it matter, Cassandra,
 Whether the people believe
 Your bitter fountain? Truly men hate the truth, they'd liefer
 Meet a tiger on the road.
 Therefore, the poets honey their truth with lying; but religion-
 Venders and political men
 Pour from the barrel, new lies on the old, and are praised for kindly Wisdom. Poor bitch be wise.
 No: you'll still mumble in a corner a crust of truth to men
 And gods disgusting. --you and I, Cassandra.
