

Community Council Candidates: Who they are and why they want to serve

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

On Nov. 8, Sewanee residents will elect 12 members to the Sewanee Community Council, two members in each of the four districts and four at-large members. All council seats are open for election. The candidate receiving the most votes in each district will serve a four-year term, with the runner-up serving a two-year term. The same rule applies to at-large seats, with the two candidates receiving the most votes serving four-year terms and the runners-up serving two-year terms.

The candidates were asked to address the following questions: how long have you lived in Sewanee?; what are your qualifications?; and why do you want to serve on the council? Here are their replies.

David Coe, Candidate for District One: I am running for reelection to my seat in District One. I have lived in Sewanee for 24 years. I've built a house here, raised children here, done countless book signings at the University Bookstore. I've been Treasurer of Sewanee Youth Soccer, Coordinator of the Sewanee Food Buying Club, President of the St. Andrew's-Sewanee Parents' Council, and, since 2008, a member of the Community Council. I am connected to the University by marriage—my wife, Nancy Berner, is Vice President for Planning and Administration. But in my years on the Council I have been an independent, at times outspoken voice, supporting University initiatives when I believe they serve the interests of the community, and opposing them whenever I feel they don't. I will continue to speak my mind for as long as the people of District One trust me to be their representative.

Flournoy Rogers, candidate for District One: Since moving from Memphis to District One in Sewanee in 2005, I have been impressed with the willingness of its citizens to address community concerns. Working with groups and serving on boards since grade school, I know the importance of active community participation. The Sewanee Woman's Club and the Fourth of July Committee introduced me to many aspects of life here. The Sewanee Community Council will be an opportunity to expand by hearing District One concerns, passing them to a larger forum, adding a touch of urban perspective, and sharing in enhancing all the possibilities of this singular place. I look forward to phone calls, emails and being button-holed on the streets.

Louise Irwin, candidate for District Two: I was born, raised and educated in Sewanee, and following business school I moved to Illinois. After 17 years I returned to Sewanee with three children and my husband who had multiple sclerosis. Dick died in 1974. I got involved with the "going ons" in Sewanee because I must keep busy. I'm currently serving on the Community Council and seeking re-election. I am a member of Folks-at-Home, the American Legion Auxiliary, Sewanee Senior Citizens, Franklin County Resource Development Association, Franklin County Sheriff's Civil Service Board, and several more committees. I am also a member of Otey Memorial Parish Church. I'm a people person. I'm civic minded and do love my hometown of Sewanee. I help people in any way I can. I care what happens to our community.

Pamela C. Byerly, candidate for District Two: In November of 1998 I moved to Sewanee and went to work in the Office of Marketing and Communications. I am happily still there. After I was here a couple of years, I moved to Willie Six Road in District Two and decide to try out for the Community Council. I have been on the council ever since. On the council I served as secretary for several years. I am currently the liaison to the Leasehold Committee and also a liaison to the Trustees Community Committee, which meets twice a year. I enjoy being involved in the community. I am also a member of the University Employee Advisory Committee, and at Otey Parish I am in my second year on the vestry.

Halloween Concerts to Feature Zeppelin, Dory

by Kevin Cummings
Messenger Staff Writer

"Talk and song from tongues of liting grace, whose sounds caress my ear..."

The Sewanee Symphony Orchestra will look to caress some ears as they perform "Kashmir," with a rock band on Friday, Nov. 4, during the SSO's fourth annual Halloween Concert. The Led Zeppelin hit is part of an eclectic event, juxtaposing classical and popular music, said César Lear, the symphony's conductor.

"What young audiences have on their iPods is eclectic," he noted. "This musical arrangement for the Halloween concert doesn't necessarily scare people but it brings an element of the fantastic."

Merging rock and classical music is a delicate process.

"It was a challenge to come in with rock guitars and amps and acoustic instruments like violins," Lear said.

Along with "Kashmir," the symphony will also perform Liszt's 19th-century piece "Totentanz" (Dance of the Dead) featuring Sewanee senior Sherlock Xu; music from Offenbach's operetta "Orpheus in the Underworld;" and "Pirates of the Caribbean."

EQB Hears Update on Sewanee Village Plan

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

"If we get three or four new buildings in the next five years, I'm declaring victory," said Frank Gladu, Vice President of Administrative Services who oversees the University initiative to revitalize downtown Sewanee. Gladu addressed the EQB at the Oct. 19 lunch meeting, updating the group on the Sewanee Village Plan, which originated five years ago in conjunction with the University Master Plan's new vision.

"We want the downtown area to be a place for visitors," Gladu said, "but even more important, we want it to be a place students, faculty, and staff can feel part of." Gladu acknowledged using the words "village" and "downtown" interchangeably, stressing the importance of defining the boundaries of the area which includes 130 leaseholds. In July, the County Commission approved rezoning the area to mixed-use allowing for both commercial and residential development.

"Our priorities are the Highway 41A intersection, a grocery-type market, a village green, and housing," Gladu said.

"We want to support the businesses already here," he insisted. "We know we need more housing." Gladu emphasized that being "able to support more people" was a prerequisite to expanding retail development.

Two years ago, the University retained Town Planning and Urban Design Collaborative (TPUDC) to guide

Sewanee Fire Station 2 - Jumpoff District celebrated the addition of the new pumper truck recently donated to the fire department by Dan Rather. The pumper truck is a great addition to the department's fire-fighting capability. Many thanks to Dan and to all who turned out for the event. SUD Repairs Major Leak; Commits to Midway Pressure Boosting Station

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

"Wetland plants were well established suggesting the water line in the Jackson Point Road area had been leaking a long time," SUD manager Ben Beavers reported at the Oct. 25 meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties. Former SUD commissioner and board president Cliff Huffman alerted SUD when he discovered the wetlands, Beavers said.

Repairing the 14,000 gallons per day leak will result in a dramatic decrease in unaccounted for water loss, Beavers emphasized. Not only was SUD not being paid for the water, producing that much water takes from 20-25 minutes per day. "SUD will also realize a savings in chemical and electricity costs," Beavers said.

In another water supply issue, SUD commissioner Randall Henley said he'd received numerous phone calls asking why SUD had not addressed the low water pressure in the Midway community.

"This has been going on for years," Henley said.

Event Offers Group Discussion of Presidential Debate

by Kevin Cummings
Messenger Staff Writer

In Founder's Hall at the Sewanee Inn, people munched on pan roasted chicken with lemon caper butter sauce as Hilary Clinton and Donald Trump tried to earn their vote for President.

Approximately 50 people who participated in the limited-seating DebateWatch event on Oct. 19 were primarily Sewanee students, but peppered throughout the crowd were professors, University employees and community members. This was the fourth DebateWatch, a group watch party co-sponsored by Sewanee's Center for Speaking and Listening and Office of Civic Engagement, plus three student groups: No Labels, Sewanee College Republicans and Sewanee Democrats.

APOLOGIES FOR SHAKE DAY BEHAVIOR

To the Editor:

The sisters of Phi Kappa Epsilon would like to extend our sincerest apologies to the Sewanee community. Our actions on Shake Day on University Avenue were unacceptable. We let the excitement of the day get the best of us and we lost the ethics and etiquettes of how to behave as an organization on this campus.

Sewanee is steeped in wonderful tradition and we are grateful to be given the opportunity and responsibility to participate in such traditions, such as Shake Day. However, we abused that responsibility with inappropriate behavior. Just because something is a PKE tradition, does not mean that it is a good tradition. We are already reevaluating our values as a sorority through our service work in the community and are currently discussing what our values, missions and intentions are as an organization. Therefore, because of the incident on Shake Day, we hope to use this moment for growth as we further evaluate traditions.

Moving forward we are working to establish what we, as PKEs and members of the University, stand for. I hope you can accept our apology, and we can work together on mending this relationship.

CORRECTION NOTICE

In the Oct. 21, 2016 issue, the Messenger incorrectly identified the Midway Community Park as serving only low income families. The St. James Midway Community Park on the St. James grounds was started by members of the Midway community in the early 1960s when community members met at the former Midway School House to start the park. St. James provides for the maintenance of the grounds and insurance. The park is also enjoyed by the wider Sewanee community. We regret the errors.

Letters to the Editor Policy

Letters to the Editor are welcome at the Sewanee Mountain Messenger and are a vital part of our community's conversation. Letters need to be no longer than 250 words and may be edited for space and clarity. Letters and/or their author must have some relationship to our community. We do not accept letters on national topics from individuals who live outside our print circulation area. Please include your name, address and a daytime telephone number with your letter. You may mail it to us at Sewanee Mountain Messenger, P.O. Box 296, Sewanee TN 37375, or come by our office, 418 St. Mary's Ln., or send an email to <news@sewaneemessenger.com>. —KB

Burn Ban Notice in Sewanee

The Office of Environmental Stewardship, in coordination with the Office of Leases and Community Relations, the Office of Risk Management and the Sewanee Volunteer Fire Department is banning open fires on the Domain effective immediately.

The Domain has received less than an inch of rain during the past 5 weeks and is currently included in an area of extreme drought by the USDA.

Given the danger of wildfire, all open fires are prohibited. This ban applies to open ground fires only. Fires in grills, Turkish fire pits, chiminea or similar fire enclosures on leaseholds remain permitted but should be closely monitored.

This ban will remain in effect until further notice.

MARC BARKtoberfest, Oct. 30

Marion Animal Resource Connection (MARC) invites everyone to bring their dog(s) to Blevins Pavilion in Kimball Park, 1-4 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 30. There will be games, vendors, pictures, food and drinks, face painting, a one-mile dog walk, dog costume contest, prizes, and more. Funds raised will be used for MARC's low-cost spay and neuter program.

Kimball Park is at 3591 Industrial Blvd., Kimball.

The Academy Presents 'Successful Grandparenting'

On Thursday, Nov. 10 at noon, the Academy for Lifelong Learning at St. Mary's Sewanee will welcome Raven Rudnitsky as its speaker. Her topic will be "Successful Grandparenting."

Rudnitsky is from Selinsgrove, Pa., where she has been a partner in a family therapy private practice specializing in couples, and multi-generational family therapy, adolescent therapy, women's issues, and stress and time management.

Rudnitsky has three daughters and six grandchildren all living within walking distance, allowing for plenty of grandparenting opportunities. Grandparenting is a joy and a privilege that comes with responsibilities. She will share her years of experience with us and provide guidance on ways in which we can make the most of our own grandparenting situations.

The Academy for Lifelong Learning is a year-round program offering stimulating talks every month on a wide range of topics. The membership fee to join the Academy is $12 annually or one may pay $2 per session. A box lunch ($12) can be ordered by calling Debbie at (931) 598-5342 or email <reservations@stmaryssewanee.org>. November's lunch choices are a Caesar salad with or without chicken or a ham/Swiss sandwich with side salad and choice of dessert and a drink.

For more information contact Anne Davis at (931) 924-4465.

SWC Meeting, Nov. 14

The next luncheon meeting for the Sewanee Woman's Club (SWC) will be at 11 a.m., Monday, Nov. 14, at the DuBose Conference Center in Monteagle.

The program, which precedes the noon luncheon, will focus on "Sweet and Savory Day," a fundraiser featuring favorite dishes prepared for the event by a bevy of clever and creative cooks. Five dollars will purchase the chance to sample each culinary creation. Recipes and cooking related items will also be for sale—great additions to everyone's Thanksgiving and Christmas menus.

Lunch ($13.75) for this meeting will be tossed salad, fancy grilled cheese sandwich, tomato soup and apple crisp, served at noon. Reservations are required and are due by Friday, Nov. 4. To make a reservation call Pixie Dozier at (931) 598-5869 or email Marianna Handler at <mariannah@earthlink.net>.

The Sewanee Woman's Club hosts luncheon meetings on the second Monday of each month, September through May, except January. Club business matters are handled briefly at 1 p.m. Child care is also available; please request these when making a reservation. Please bring a snack for your child.

Shop and dine locally!

Upcoming Meetings & Events

Wetland Tour

The University of the South and the University of Georgia wetland research group invites the community to come learn about the new constructed wetland, 9-11 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 29. The event will begin at the Sewanee Utility District (SUD) office on 150 Sherwood Rd., and an van will shuttle guests to the wetland. Coffee and breakfast snacks will be served at 8:30 a.m. before the tours begin. The event will include a tour of the wetland and treatment lagoons, educational activities for elementary and middle school students, tree-planting and a mascot contest. Ideas about future signage for the wetlands will also be discussed. For questions about the event, contact Deborah McGrath at <dmcgrath@sewanee.edu>.

Coffee with the Coach

Coffee with the Coach, an opportunity to learn more about Sewanee's sports teams, will be at 9 a.m., Monday, Oct. 31, with track and cross country coach Jeff Heitzenrater. Gather at the Blue Chair Tavern for free coffee and conversation. All are welcome.

EQB Club

The EQB Club will have a lunch meeting, noon, Wednesday, Nov. 2, at St. Mary's Sewanee.

Area Rotary Club Meetings

The Grundy County Rotary Club meets at 11:30 a.m. on Tuesdays at Dutch Maid Bakery in Tracy City. The Monteagle Sewanee Rotary Club meets at 8 a.m., Thursdays at the Sewanee Inn. Thursday, Nov. 3, will be a Club Assembly.

Lease Agenda Items Due

Lease agenda items are due by the fifth of each month for Lease Committee meetings. If the fifth falls on a weekend or holiday, then agenda items are due on the next business day. Lease Committee meetings are normally the third Tuesday of each month.

Leasehold information is available online at <leases.sewanee.edu> or by calling the lease office at 598-1998. A county building permit is required for structures with roofs; call (931) 967-0981 for information.

Crow Creek Festival

The third annual Crow Creek Fall Festival will be at the Crow Creek Community Center in Sherwood. The fun begins at 4 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 5, with live music by Bazzania, and arts and crafts. An auction will feature many antiques and other merchandise. Hot dogs, chili, cole slaw, drinks, and desserts will be available.

The festival is presented each fall to raise funds for the care and maintenance of historic Mountain View Cemetery in Sherwood. The event is hosted by the Crow Creek Heritage Preservation Society.

Episcopal Church Women to Meet, Nov. 7

All interested women of the area are invited to ECW's second fall meeting of the year on Monday, Nov. 7. The luncheon meeting will take place at St. Mark's Hall of Otey Parish.

Following up on the recent All Saints' Day, Mary Marcia Cook will present an audience, including devotional on some interesting saints of the Christian Faith.

Reservations for the $10 luncheon, catered by Jennifer Janeway, must be made by 6 p.m., Friday, Nov. 4. Please call Connie Gibson at 598-5583 or email her at <lgibson@sewanee.edu> to make a reservation.

Sewanee Emeritus Association

The Sewanee Emeritus Association will meet at 3:30 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 10, in the Torian Room of duPont Library. All meetings are free and open to the public. Nicky Hamilton will present the program on the Americorps VISTA programs.

As Senior Associate Director of the Office of Civic Engagement at Sewanee, Nicky Hamilton, C'99, oversees the development and assessment of programs. She also supervises the Americorps VISTA programs and serves as Director of the South Cumberland Community Fund Capacity Building Initiative.

Senior Center Thanksgiving Luncheon

The annual Sewanee Senior Center Thanksgiving Luncheon will be at noon, Tuesday, Nov. 15. The menu is turkey and dressing, yams, green beans, corn on the cob, roll and dessert. The cost will be $7 and reservations must be made by Fri., Nov. 11 by calling the Center at 598-0771.

The Senior Center will be closed Nov. 24 and Nov. 25 for the Thanksgiving holiday.

All Saints' Chapel

Choral Evensong will be celebrated Sunday, Oct. 30, at 4 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel. This service will feature the University Choir.

Growing in Grace will continue Sunday, Oct. 30, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel. Tanner Potts, a member of the class of 2015 and trustee relations coordinator, will be the speaker.

The Catechumenate will meet Wednesday, Nov. 2, at 6:30 p.m. in the Bairnwick Women's Center. A catered meal will be provided. Catechumenate, from a Greek word meaning "learning and exploring," is a place where we explore what it means to be a human being and what it means to be a person of faith in our community. Email Lay Chaplain Rob McAlister <rvmcalis@sewanee.edu> for directions or more information.

All Hallows at Christ Church

On this Sunday, Oct. 30 at 10:30 a.m., the service will be an early Halloween, but without the spookiness. When All Saints' Day, Nov. 1 comes on a weekday early in the week, it tends to get lost. Nov. 2 is All Souls Day and will be kept on Wednesday at Noon in accordance with the calendar. In Hispanic tradition, and especially in Mexico, it is called 'Dia de los muertos' (the day of the dead). However, it is not a day to be dreaded as one might think, but rather a celebration and a remembrance of ancestors. Lunch always follows the service and hospitality is extended into the afternoon.

Otey Parish

This Sunday, Oct. 30, in Christian Formation at 10 a.m., the Lectionary Class will explore Sunday's gospel in the Claiborne House, Adult Education Room. There will be no Adult Forum or Godly Play classes this Sunday. Join us to color crosses that will be displayed the following Sunday to celebrate All Saints' Day.

St. Agnes' Church

The community is invited to visit St. Agnes' Episcopal Church in Cowan on Sunday, Oct. 30, at 11 a.m. The Rt. Rev. John C. Bauerschmidt, 11th Bishop of Tennessee, will lead the service. For more information call the church at (931) 636-6313 or go to <www.saintagnescowan.org>.

Halloween "Trunk Or Treat"

St. James Episcopal Church in Midway invites everyone to come and enjoy themselves, 5-7 p.m., Monday, Oct. 31, at St. James' Midway Community Park.

Cars will be in the parking area with trunks open with treats, as Trick or Treaters stop by. Drinks and hot-dogs will be available for a donation toward the maintenance and improvement of the park.

Sears Memorial Service

A memorial service for Mary L'Engle Sears, who died on August 31, 2016 in Melrose, Florida, will take place 10:30 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 29, at Otey Memorial Parish Church in Sevanee with a committal to follow at St. Mary's Cemetery. A reception will follow the committal in St. Mark's Hall of Otey Parish. All are welcome to attend and celebrate Mary's life.

Donations in her memory can be made to Otey Memorial Parish Church or Trinity Church, 204 State Rd. 26, Melrose, FL 32666.

Professor of violin Peter Povey is responsible for arranging the music for both "Kashmir" and "Pirates" and will play the electric violin. Povey updated Kashmir for the Sewanee concert, but he originally created the arrangement for the Montgomery Symphony in 2011.

The suite from "Pirates of the Caribbean: Curse of the Black Pearl" by Klaus Badelt and Hans Zimmer features an ending arranged by Povey and a special simultaneous movie presentation.

"We're really stretching the technical boundaries of Guerry Auditorium," Leal said. "We will have some projections, images, lights and sounds."

The concert starts at 7:30 p.m. at Guerry Auditorium, but that morning, the SSO will also give a special concert for about 500 area grade school students. The sorority Phi Kappa Epsilon (PKE) is involved in planning the festivities.

Molly Mueller, who is co-community service chair of PKE with M.C. Murphy, said the theme of the event is "Finding Dory." All of the sorority participants will be in costume, and three members will emcee the event, which will also feature a skit at the beginning of the concert, Mueller said.

"PKE wanted to up our community engagement by getting involved in a project that we could continue to be a part of year after year, building and strengthening the relationships each year we are involved," she said.

The sorority is also creating goodie bags for students. A number of local business sponsors helped make the children's concert possible.

calling for street-side parking along the highway and some sort of pedestrian activated crosswalk.

Gladu said the parking shortage on University Ave. would be addressed by street-side parking and parking behind the businesses. In keeping with regulations, handicapped parking will be incorporated into the design.

Speaking to concerns about the future of the Senior Citizens' Center and Community Center, Gladu said, "There is no plan to move the Senior Center or Community Center at the present. When that day comes we'll work with them to relocate. Both are important parts of the Village. We want them in downtown."

Gladu came to Sewanee in 2012 to oversee the transition of University Food Service to self-management and quickly became involved in the initiative to revitalize downtown. "I welcome the views of those who have far more experience in this place than I do," he said.

Asked about the future of the Sewanee Village Plan and if it would be abandoned if there was a change in administration, Gladu acknowledged, "That's always a possibility. The Sewanee Village Plan is a plan for the ages. The hope is that it will be incorporated into future master plans. My charge is to see that it moves forward."

SUD's 2016 budget calls for a pressure boosting station in Midway. "I've been trying to figure out a way to increase the water pressure without the expense of the pressure boosting station," Beavers said. When recent remedial work to St. Andrew's-Sewanee water tank failed to correct the problem, he consulted with engineers who proposed raising the height of the tank, a solution just as costly at the pressure boosting station.

"Plans call for completing the Midway pressure boosting station before the end of the year," Beavers said. "The only task remaining before we begin installation is getting the electrical easement signed."

Beavers said the Midway project was temporarily delayed due to the pressing need to replace more than 400 feet of broken clay pipe sewer line in the Alto Road area, which allows rain water to flow into the collection system and cause sewage overflows. "The right of way has been cleared, and we're ready to install the pipe," Beavers said. SUD is also doing collection system repair on Depot Branch.

Discussing the 2017 capital improvements budget, Beavers said, once the Midway project and collection system work was completed, most of the critical capital improvement needs would be addressed. "We've been putting out brush fires. I want to move to more preventative stuff," he said, "particularly leak detection." He estimates a $100,000 capital improvements budget, compared to $200,000-$300,000 in past years.

Reporting on operations, Beavers said he declined the University's request to fill its irrigation pond, "due to the drought conditions." Water sales are below budget for 2016.

Commissioner Henley offered to serve as election coordinator. The SUD Board of Commissioners will have one open seat beginning in 2017. All SUD customers are eligible to serve as commissioner. Prospective candidates should contact Randal Henley via the SUD office (598-5611) or, alternately, submit a petition signed by 10 SUD customers by Jan. 4. Petitions are available at the SUD office. Voting begins on Jan. 5 and continues through the close of the business day on Jan. 24.

The SUD board meets next on Monday, Nov. 21.

Sean O'Rourke, professor of rhetoric and director of the Center for Speaking and Listening, moderated the evening.

"Our effort with DebateWatch is to promote independent thought and expression, civic engagement, and political discussion and debate by listening closely to the debate and only the debate—no commentators saying who 'won' and who 'lost,' focusing our discussions around three or four questions, and sharing our thoughts in the larger open forum," he said.

Following the final presidential debate, tables discussed various questions as a group and then individuals shared their views with the entire audience. The evening also featured instant polling using a smartphone app called "Poll Everywhere." Organizers showed the results on the big screen. The majority of those in attendance felt that Clinton presented herself better in the debate.

About 10 percent of pollsters said they had a more favorable view of Trump after the event, compared to about 48 percent who said they viewed Clinton more favorably after the debate. Approximately 55 percent of those polled said they had the same unfavorable view of Trump compared to 21 percent who held the same unfavorable view of Clinton after the debate.

Those who said they held the same favorable view of Trump post debate were at about 24 percent, while about 4 percent said the same of Clinton.

Sewanee's Deb Dreves, a registered Republican who attended DebateWatch, said on Oct. 24 that she did not plan to vote for Trump.

"I really appreciated being part of the event—it gave me a hands-on feel for what was transpiring; it was helpful," she said. "No surprises, but I did appreciate that there was one young man who spoke out on Donald Trump's behalf. As a Republican this has been a divisive year—while I don't agree with the young man's sentiment, I am glad there are still some who believe the Republican Party is worth standing up for."

On the question of which candidate offered a better vision of America, about 72 percent of those participating in the poll chose Clinton as opposed to nine percent for Trump, with the rest voting "even" or "neither."

Some people in attendance said Clinton displayed a better depth of knowledge, but Trump was effective in using emotional responses and utilizing ambiguity.

J.D. Thompson, a Sewanee senior who donned a Trump T-shirt, said he was disappointed in the candidate's performance.

"He has always done a better job of seeming more authentic," Thompson said, "but at the same time he was much less articulate and didn't make his points well. She obviously did a lot more prepping and did a better job executing. Her answers were obviously much more articulate, better prepared."

Thompson also said that Clinton should have offered a defense when Trump accused her campaign of inciting violence at Trump rallies.

A number of people disagreed with Trump's stand that he may not accept the results of the election. The primary tone of the evening among supporters of both candidates was civil and polite.

"In my view, our discussions went very well," O'Rourke said. "One key test is whether participants can see past, or perhaps through, their own preferences and political biases to see what was said well or poorly, who answered questions well and who did not, who provided detail and evidence and who did not. I think the group did an especially good job."

With cold cups of coffee and cheesecake crumbs littering the table, some attendees carried on their political discussions after the event.

Early voting continues until Nov. 3, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Saturday, 8 a.m.—noon at the Franklin County Election Commission, 839 Dinah Shore Blvd., in Winchester. For more information on other counties and sample ballots, visit <tnsos.org/elections/election_commissions.php>.

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

By
Dr. Kurt Shull

CHIROPRACTIC AND VERTIGO

Vertigo is a sensation of spinning. It is an unpleasant condition with symptoms that can range from a few minutes of dizziness or light-headedness to a full-blown attack of disconcerting whirling and the unbalanced feeling that you're being pulled in a certain direction. For at least some people suffering from vertigo, chiropractic has been proven effective in either eliminating or easing the condition. While the inner ear is the body's control center for balance and is the most likely source of the problem for a person suffering from vertigo, the condition can be brought on by a head or neck injury.

In a study done in 2006, focusing on 60 patients afflicted with some degree of vertigo, researchers found that the problem seemed to stem from a misalignment in the cervical spine. Of those 60 patients, 56 recalled having had a traumatic episode, like an auto accident or a ski fall, in their past. As testing went on, it was found that all 60 patients had some spine damage, a misalignment of vertebrae. For one to six months following the study, each patient received appropriate chiropractic treatment. Forty-eight of the 60 were symptom-free after the adjustments. Talk with your chiropractor about the benefits of treatment.

We are now accepting new patients.

Pam Byerly

Pixie Dozier, candidate for District Three: I am currently a council member and agreed to be on the ballot because I am interested in the relationship between town and gown. The Community Council membership now reflects a good cross section of members from the community and the University. I served for two years on the council's Community Funding Project, which supports initiatives to improve the quality of life for Sewanee citizens. A shortlist of my work in the community includes service to the hospital, several churches, Senior Citizens, CAC, the public school and the Children's Center. I have served on many boards, both appointed and elected. I have had the opportunity to be involved with the citizens in Sewanee in many capacities. I can relate to their wants and needs. I am interested in making our community safe, improving the quality of life and seeing Sewanee get better and better.

Pixie Dozier

Charles Whitmer, candidate for District Three: Charles Whitmer came to Sewanee in 2010 with his wife Kelly who is a professor of history at the University. Since arriving in Sewanee he has undertaken graduate coursework in Conflict Management at Lipscomb University focusing on mediation and conflict resolution and currently works for a local nonprofit organization and as a mediator in the local courts. As a council member he would focus on advocating for more transparent policies in regard to the University's relationship with the broader Sewanee community and addressing the unintentional adverse consequences of those policies.

Charles Whitmer

Richard Barrali, candidate for District Four: I've resided in Sewanee for almost three years, but my Sewanee connection dates from August 1977 when my car broke down in front of Ed Carlos's house on Tennessee Ave. After that auspicious beginning, I visited Ed and Sewanee many times while living on Signal Mountain before moving here permanently in the Spring of 2014. I graduated from Memphis State University and recently became a substitute teacher at SES. I am also trained to teach Mindful Self Compassion and plan to offer classes with my co-teacher, Maryellen McCone. I currently teach yoga at the Sewanee Community Center. I served on many committees in the Chattanooga area. I have a vested interest in seeing the Sewanee community flourish and thrive. As a council member, I'll work towards encouraging a healthy collaboration between the University and other Sewanee residents. I'm also committed to making Sewanee as ecologically efficient and green as possible.

Richard Barrali

Phil White, candidate for District Four: I came here as a student in 1959 and never left, except for completing a Master's of English degree and other studies during vacations. I retired in 2004 after 41 years of teaching English, first at the Sewanee Military Academy, followed by the Sewanee Academy, and most recently St. Andrew's-Sewanee School. My teaching years included serving as activities director, literary magazine sponsor, soccer coach and golf coach.

Phil White

Since retiring, I served on the Otey vestry and Community Council. I wish to continue to promote policies and programs that bring the University and the Mountain community closer together. While on the council, I co-authored a request for a lowering of the University transfer fee, which was subsequently reduced from 6 to 4 percent. I also received approval from the Council for a dog park, and with the help of the University, dedicated citizens, and generous donors, the dog park was completed.

Annie Armour, At-large candidate: Annie Armour is a 1977 graduate of the University and a 36-year resident of Sewanee. Janet, Sarah and Meg are her grown daughters and she has two grandsons. She has served on the Community Council for 14 years. She has also held other leadership positions in the Sewanee and St. Andrew's communities. Annie was the University Archivist for 28 years. She has published many articles and two books about the history of Sewanee. She brings a historical perspective and an openness to change to the Council. She would like to play an active role in resolving the issues that arise affecting our community.

Annie Armour

Cindy Potter, At-large candidate: Sewanee has been my family's home since 1980 when my husband, Bran, joined the University's faculty. Much of my life here has focused on serving area children. I taught at Sewanee Children's Center and was the PTO sponsored librarian at S.E.S. before spending 25 years teaching in the Franklin County Schools (two years in Sherwood and Oak Grove and 23 at Sewanee Elementary). When sixth grade moved to Jackson Jr. High, I joined the St. Andrew's-Sewanee school community and helped begin the sixth grade program there. I also created a summer enrichment program for area children. Teaching has always been my deepest passion and enriched my life beyond measure, but I have been active in other areas of our community. I recently joined the CAC Board and in the past served on the Community Council and Duck River Board. I look forward to serving in new ways.

Cindy Potter

Kate Reed, At-large candidate: I have been on the council since late March as a representative to District One completing an unexpired term. I'm seeking election to an at-large seat. I've resided in Sewanee since August 2013 and just bought my first house in the downtown village district this spring. I am grateful for the home I have found in Sewanee and seek to serve the community in this period of thoughtful planning for our future. I look forward to a lifetime in Sewanee, and I hope through the Community Council to strengthen the relationships that make this town so special.

Kate Reed

Theresa Shackelford, At-large candidate: Sewanee has been the adopted hometown of Theresa Shackelford for more than 30 years. She has been a full time resident of Sewanee since 2007. Theresa has been actively involved in the community as a member of the boards of the SES PTO, Sewanee Civic Association, Sewanee Woman's Club, Thurmond Library and the Community Chest. She has served two terms on the Community Council as a representative of District Two. During that time, she has served on the constitutional revision committee, the committee to appropriate community funds and as the 2015 election officer. Theresa has one child, William Gilchrist, who is a sophomore at High Point University in High Point, NC.

Theresa Shackelford

Early voting for Community Council continues through Nov. 7 at the Lease Office.

Special thanks to Tabatha Whitsett in the Provost's Office for her help in gathering photos and information from the candidates.

Community Council Adopts New Election Protocol

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Oct. 24 meeting the Sewanee Community Council approved a change in the election process to accommodate the decision in May to reallocate the distribution of elected seats. Beginning with the Nov. 8 election, elected representation shall consist of two seats from each district and four at-large seats.

Sewanee residents will vote for one representative from their district and two at-large representatives. The candidate receiving the most votes in each district will serve a four-year term, with the runner-up serving a two-year term. The same rule applies to at-large seats, with the two candidates receiving the most votes serving four-year terms and the runners-up serving two-year terms.

On Election Day, council members will be on hand at the polls to assist residents in determining what district they reside in. Residents can vote early in the council member election at the Lease Office. Residents who already voted in the General Election can vote in the council member election at the Lease Office or at the polls on Nov. 8.

University biology professor Deborah McGrath announced the Constructed Wetlands project will host a Community Day Saturday, Oct. 29. Tours will depart from the Sewanee Utility District office on Sherwood Road 9–11 a.m. The event includes activities for children and an onsite overview of the research and analysis undertaken jointly by the University of the South and the University of Georgia to study the effectiveness of wetlands in cleaning wastewater. Vice-Chancellor John McCardell praised the project as trendsetting research in wastewater treatment methods.

Discussion on the crosswalk on University Ave. was deferred to a future meeting, since Franklin County Highway Commissioner Joe David McBee was unable to attend. The council vigorously and unanimously expressed an interest in renewing the invitation to McBee.

Retiring council member John Flynn thanked the council for its ongoing “commitment to community affairs.” Dennis Meeks, also retiring, said, “I’ve enjoyed my stay on the council and value the friendships I’ve made.”

A visitor asked the council if there was a timetable for the planned senior living facility Aracadia. “The committee overseeing the project is moving along with dispatch,” McCardell said. “I wish we’d started sooner.”

The council’s next scheduled meeting is Jan. 23. The council has reserved tentative meeting dates in November and December should issues arise requiring the council’s attention.

HEARING HEALTH NEWS
by Debbie Gamache,
M.S. CCC-A Audiologist

HEARING AID CARE

Hearing instruments are electronic appliances. They need cleaning and care just like any other appliance would. You should inspect and clean your hearing aid daily wiping it off with a soft cloth and using the cleaning tools that you were given when you purchased your hearing aids. Persons with active lifestyles will also benefit from using a drying appliance for hearing aids nightly. Remember, like any other appliance, your hearing aid is going to need the occasional tune up and maintenance. Regular maintenance will help keep your instrument in good working condition.

At Debbie Gamache's The Hearing Center LLC we recommend coming in to have your hearing aids cleaned and checked at least every 3-6 months. We will counsel you on continuing care and maintenance. Please feel free to contact our center at 931-393-2051 if you are interested in repair and maintenance for your hearing aids. We are located at 705 NW Atlantic St. Suite B, Tullahoma. You can also visit our website at www.thehearingcenterllc.com.

Community Chest Spotlight: Folks at Home

The 2016–17 Sewanee Community Chest (SCC) Fund Drive is underway. Sponsored by the Sewanee Civic Association, the SCC raises money yearly for local charitable organizations serving the area. This year's goal is $116,850.

For the next few weeks, the Sewanee Mountain Messenger will focus on some of the organizations supported by the Community Chest. This week we shine the spotlight on Folks at Home.

Folks at Home (F@H) began as a grassroots project, sponsored by Otey Memorial Parish. In 2010, the organization began its first full year of operation. F@H is a local nonprofit organization developed for and dedicated to assisting its members in continuing a dignified and comfortable lifestyle in the community through coordination of services they need during elder years. Anyone of any age is invited to participate.

In 2015, F@H provided more than 2,500 services to 145 people including transportation, home visits, consultations, care and service coordination, information and referrals, as well as the pro bono Equipment Exchange of accessibility items. F@H provides services at no cost to the recipients. In addition to the 57 annual subscribing members, F@H provided pro bono services to more than 61 individuals and numerous groups and organizations. The number of pro bono clients who received services is an indication of the tremendous need for these services.

F@H will receive $5,000 from the Sewanee Community Chest. This grant will be used to help fund the pro bono direct client services, which range from F@H staff providing educational information and referrals to in-home visits and task assistance by a volunteer student or community member, to transportation to an event or health appointment, to paid staff having indepth meetings with families facing illness, surgery, end-of-life and transitions.

Revenue is generated through donations from individuals and grantors, as well as membership dues. In 2015, donations comprised 75 percent of the revenue, with 62 percent from individual donors. In 2016, revenue came from annual membership fees, individual donations, rental income, and grants from the Sewanee Community Chest, Dodd Endowment, Shield-Ayres Foundation and the South Cumberland Community Fund.

For more information about F@H, contact director Kathleen O'Donohue at <folksathomesewanee@gmail.com>.

Since 1908, the goal of the SCC has been to help citizens by funding the community. Through SCC funding, 26 local organizations can help those caught in the cycle of poverty, improve quality of life through outreach and community initiatives, and provide support for children with a variety of programs. The SCC is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, and donations are tax-deductible. Send your donation to Sewanee Community Chest, P.O. Box 99, Sewanee, TN 37375. For more information, or to make a donation through PayPal, contact <sewaneecommunitychest@gmail.com> or go to <www.sewaneecivic.wordpress.com>.

Local Cooks Serve Up Their Favorites

Exciting, scrumptious food and more will be center stage when the Sewanee Woman's Club hosts "Sweet and Savory Day" at the DuBose Center in Monteagle at 11 a.m., Monday, Nov. 14. Members and visitors are invited to sample some delicious treats as part of the Club's fundraiser. The regular luncheon ($13.75, reservations required) will be preceded by the chance to taste a bevy of stand-out dishes. Five dollars will purchase the opportunity to sample all of the entries. Recipes for each dish will be available for $1 apiece.

Rotary Club Fundraiser Dinner

On Monday, Nov. 14, the Grundy County Rotary Club will host its annual Fundraiser Dinner at the DuBose Conference Center. Tickets, which cost $50 per person, are available at all local Citizen Tri-County Bank branches, Tower Bank, Monteagle and Regions Bank, Sewanee, as well as from Rotary Club members.

The social hour begins at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 7 p.m. Following dinner, Parnassus Productions will present the "Legacy of Galileo", an Encounter with Genius in the DuBose Chapel, featuring Roy Henderson as Galileo Galilei (1564–1642).

Proceeds from the fundraiser will support the Grundy County Imagination Library Program and other Rotary programs in support of the youth of Grundy County.

Tori Hinshaw, C'19, Chris Murphree, C'16, Margo Shea, and Margaret Stapleton, C'18, at the National Council on Public History "Outside History" conference.

Students Continue to Share the Story of the Highlander Folk School

Most college courses are completed when the semester ends. Grades are submitted and the class disperses. For students in two community-engaged courses affiliated with Sewanee's Collaborative for Southern Appalachian Studies, however, the lessons continue. So do opportunities to share knowledge with others.

Last spring, students in Margo Shea's Introduction to Public History and Place-Based Research Methods courses researched, developed, and delivered walking tours of the historic Highlander Folk School in Monteagle. More than 300 people visited the site to learn about its significance locally, its role in popular education, labor and civil rights movements, and its closure in Monteagle and continued work in New Market, Tenn. This fall, the story continues, with Sewanee students continuing to interpret the site for a variety of audiences.

Along with Shea (a public historian and a Mellon Fellow with the Collaborative, teaching and doing community-engaged participatory research), three students presented at a National Council on Public History conference organized around the theme "Outside History" in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park.

Margaret Stapleton, C'18, Tori Hinshaw, C'19, and alumnus Chris Murphree, C'16, reflected on the challenge of developing a tour, the uncertainties associated with a grassroots historical interpretative project, the excitement of bringing so many people together to share their own histories with Highlander, and the sense of responsibility to weave those stories into the tour itself week by week. They also discussed what it means to present difficult or controversial history without focusing too much on any one perspective. The students facilitated a discussion with more than 25 conference attendees about possible next steps for interpreting and preserving the Highlander site in Monteagle.

Two more Sewanee students, Grey Jones and Lexy Rouse, both C'17, also have continued to share the Highlander story on the Mountain. In early October, they led a tour for Sewanee Elementary School fifth graders, for whom Highlander is part of a larger curriculum unit on Tennessee history. Jones and Rouse, together with Shea, gave the fifth graders a taste of the folk school's history in relation to themes such as the Great Depression, the Cold War and the civil rights movement.

Shea notes that it is unusual to work with students after a class ends, but says these were exceptional students and the courses were a unique learning experience from the beginning. She adds that the students have been willing repeatedly to go beyond what is expected of them. "It has been inspiring and humbling as an educator to tap into the ideas of Highlander itself in my work with students and audiences of all ages. As Myles Horton used to say, 'we make the road by walking,' and in the case of this project, every step, every voice, every new opportunity to share the story adds another layer of depth and significance to the history of the school and its values of cooperation, creativity, and the power of acting on a shared vision together."

Grandparents Hit It Out of the Park at MES

On Sept. 30, Monteagle Elementary celebrated another successful grandparent's celebration. More than 300 grandparents/grand-friends were present for the "Grandparents: A League of Their Own." The grandparents were welcomed with treat bags of popcorn, bubble gum, corn dogs and Twinkies along with bottled waters that had a special appreciation message. It was just like being at the old ball park. Everyone dressed as their favorite baseball player or donned their favorite team colors and hats.

A special program of poems, dances and songs as well as a candle memorial was presented to honor the grandparents. The event was capped off with the grandparents being able to look at tables of old baseball memorabilia and get their pictures taken with their grandchildren against the baseball field backdrop. It was a fun filled day for all in attendance.

THE INSATIABLE CRITIC

by Elizabeth Ellis

It is officially the most wonderful time of the year — Halloween! The Sewanee Union Theatre cranks up the creepy with some large and in charge (female!) supernatural exterminators, followed by a suspense film based in a bleak and dysfunctional future. Wrapping up the lineup is a family drama that takes a definite walk on the wild side. Read on for more info!

The Rating System

Stars are so overused, and there's nothing on the planet more critical than cats, so one feature each week is rated from one to five Jackaroos. The more Jackaroos there are, the better it is!

Jackaroo

Ghostbusters (Reboot!)

7:30 p.m., Friday, Oct. 28 through Sunday, Oct. 30
2016, Rated PG-13, 116 minutes

When you need a big job done — get a woman to do it! This fiercely funny take on the ghoulish franchise stars Kristen Wiig, Melissa McCarthy, Kate McKinnon and Leslie Jones as the fabulous classic four, making Halloween weekend a booked solid ladies night. Taking place 30 years after the original movie, The Big Apple once again finds itself overrun by spooks of all sizes and shapes — some of which may be familiar faces to diehard fans of the original. When the ladies set up shop, they also employ the dashing bespectacled Kevin (Chris Hemsworth) as their “secretary.” With callbacks aplenty to the source material, (same jumpsuits, spiffier special effects) director Paul Feig manages to create a film that is concurrently wholly original as well as a fitting tribute. Rated PG-13 for ooky spooky action and some crude humor, it is geared towards the same audience as the original.

Children of Men

7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 2
2006, Rated R, 109 minutes

Based on the novel by P.D. James, this film takes place in 2027, where a child has not been born to anyone on earth in 18 years. As poorer civilizations collapse, citizens are sent to England and other wealthy nations for support. However, London is currently in chaos due to warring sects and the general morale of the world is at an all-time low as science seeks, and fails, to explain why new life has ceased to be. Theo Faron (Clive Owen), a British disillusioned peace activist, finds out from his ex-wife Julian (Julianne Moore) that there is a woman named Kee who has mysteriously become pregnant and must be protected at all costs. The race is on to bring Kee and her most precious cargo safely across the seas (with the help of Jasper — representing the older generation — delightfully played by Michael Cain) to a place in the Azores called The Human Project; a collection of scientists who have dedicated their lives to restoring human fertility. Directed by Oscar-winning Alfonso Cuarón, this film received rave reviews from the critics for its thought-provoking subject matter and solid pacing. Leave the little ones at home for this though. It is Rated R for strong violence, language, brief nudity and some drug use.

Captain Fantastic

7:30 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 3 through Sunday, Nov. 6
2016, Rated R, 118 minutes

Viggo Mortensen, who first made superstardom 15 years ago as the classic fantasy ranger-turned-king in “Lord of the Rings: Fellowship of the Ring” is back in the spotlight, and still in the woods, as Ben, a father raising six children with his wife in the wilds of the Pacific Northwest. The family lives off the land in a challenging but idyllic existence, sheltered from the technological norms of the average person's every day. When tragedy strikes, Ben and his brood are thrust headlong into the mainstream modernity that they have forsaken for so long. Two worlds collide as extended family, concerned for welfare of the children, begin to talk Ben out of returning to their remote existence. Can the two sides come to a compromise? A heartfelt look at the pros and cons of parenthood off-the-grid, this indie venture written and directed by Matt Ross (known for “The Aviator”) has captured the hearts of audiences worldwide with its unexpected twists and turns. With the combination of heavy subject matter, language, and brief extensive nudity, this one is best reserved for older teens and adults.

For more ooky spooky reviews and fun, visit <http://theinsatiablenecritic.blogspot.com/>.

Showtimes, unless otherwise noted, are at 7:30 p.m. Ticket prices are $3 for children and students, and $4 for adults. Wednesday night Cinema Guild movies are free of charge.

The University Archives

“Communal Spirit: 3,000 Years of Mexican Artistry” incorporates diverse Pre-Columbian artifacts from both western and eastern Mexico, representing eight different indigenous civilizations. The 20th-century folk art presented features many of the same regions, inspiration and creative techniques.

The exhibition will continue through Dec. 16. The Museum Gallery of University Archives and Special Collection is open 1–5 p.m., Tuesday–Friday.

University Art Gallery

The University Art Gallery will then present Jessica Wohl's “Love Thy Neighbor,” an exhibition of quilts and drawings that grapples with the fear, intolerance and polarization the artist sees dividing communities and cities across the country, and answers those divisions with objects that evoke empathy and comfort. The exhibition will be on view from Oct. 28 to Jan. 27.

Wohl will speak about her work at 4:30 p.m., Friday, Nov. 11, in Convocation Hall with a reception to follow.

The University Art Gallery is located on Georgia Avenue. Hours are 10 a.m.–5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and noon–4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Call 598-1223 for more information or go to <gallery.sewanee.edu>.

Foothills Crafts Festival

The Foothills Crafts Christmas Arts and Crafts Festival celebrates its 31st annual event 9 a.m.–5 p.m., Friday and Saturday Nov. 11 and 12, at the Manchester-Coffee County Conference Center, 147 Hospitality Blvd., Manchester.

Parking and admission are free. Lunch is available from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. There will be a bake booth fundraiser both days.

Local exhibitors include Carol and Glenn VandenBosch and Carolyn and Chuck Tocco. For more information contact Luise Richards, (931) 454-1090.

‘Universal Robot’ Opens This Weekend at SAS

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee Players present “Universal Robot.” Performances Oct. 28–30 in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts.

SAS theater instructor and director, John Holleman, created “Universal Robot” with his students. Using devised theater, the artists, particularly the actors, collaborate to craft a performance. In this style, games are often used as a starting point to explore topics through movement.

The play “Universal Robot” is based on ideas from the 1920 science fiction play “R.U.R.” (Rossum's Universal Robots) that coined the word “robot.” Using robots as a starting point, the SAS Players have produced a comic fantasy about our relationship with technology — both the benefits and perils. Fun activities, such as linking spoken-word performance with the linguistics of robocalls, make a soundtrack in which we ruminate on how media, telecommunications, and social networking have become the fiber optical ties that hold our society together.

Performances are 7 p.m., Friday, Oct. 28 and Saturday, Oct. 29 with a 4 p.m. show on Sunday, Oct. 30. Tickets are available at the door prior to each performance. Admission is adults $7 and children $5. SAS faculty, staff and students are admitted free.

Dance Conservatory Presents ‘The Nutcracker’

The Sewanee Dance Conservatory in partnership with Perpetual Motion and the Alabama Youth Ballet Theatre return to Guerry Auditorium at the University of the South on Saturday, Nov. 12, to present the Nutcracker: A Yuletide Ballet. Performances are on Saturday at 2:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. Tickets will be on sale at the door: $5 students/children and $10 adults.

Sewanee Grad and Serial Entrepreneur to Discuss His Career Path

Patrick Comer, C'96, Sewanee's 2016 Humphreys Entrepreneur-in-Residence, will deliver a public lecture, "All the World's a Stage: Sewanee to Serial Entrepreneur," at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 2, in Convocation Hall. A reception will follow.

Comer is the founder and chief executive officer of Lucid, LLC, a technology company that provides digital marketing services.

Comer's lecture will trace his career path from a theatre and music major at Sewanee to the creation of Lucid, a survey research firm founded in 2010.

The firm's clients are companies and organizations that analyze their advertising and marketing decisions based on findings from market research and "big data."

Lucid has also launched, in cooperation with the New Orleans Times-Picayune newspaper, an experimental presidential election tracking poll using the same research techniques that it provides to Fortune 500 companies.

After graduating from Sewanee as a theatre arts and music major, Comer went to New York, where he planned to build a career in professional theater, but the sudden emergence of the internet in the late 1990s soon lured him and his brother Walton, C'98, into launching an e-commerce company.

Though that venture, like most other dotcom-era businesses, eventually succumbed, the experience launched him on a career as an entrepreneur.

Comer was instrumental in the creation of Sewanee's business education program and was a founding member of the Babson Center's advisory board.

Sixth Annual Campus Gallery Walk, Nov. 12

The University of the South will host its sixth annual Campus Gallery Walk 4-7 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 12. The University Art Gallery, the Museum Gallery of Archives and Special Collections and the Carlos Gallery of the Nabit Art Building will all be open late, with receptions designed by Ivy Wild and dance and musical performances inspired by the exhibitions. This event is free and open to the public.

Performances are coordinated by César Leal, conductor of the Sewanee Symphony Orchestra and assistant professor of music, and Courtney World, assistant professor of dance. Performances will be repeated three times in each space, at 4:30 p.m., 5:15 p.m. and 6 p.m., so that visitors may attend in any order.

'a hand's width' at the Carlos Gallery

The Carlos Gallery in the Nabit Art Building at the University of the South is pleased to present "a hand's width," an exhibition by artist Anderson Wrangle. The exhibition will be Nov. 4 through Dec. 16. An artist talk and reception will be at 4:30 p.m., Friday, Nov. 11 in the Carlos Gallery.

Wrangle is an artist and Associate Professor at Clemson University. Originally from Houston, Texas, he is fascinated with the landscape, still life, tableau, ephemeral sculpture and performative gestures. He brings these forms together to play within the ideas of nature and art to achieve a new sense of order.

"a hand's width" continuously references "work" as a metaphor for the process of creation. His constructions and actions here are largely non-utilitarian, but provide for an interruption of our expectation and are a way of seeing something new. The objects in each of the images are made, the limitations being what can be achieved by Wrangle's hand, body and simple tools, such as the fulcrum. What happens in these works is a kind of serious play, an existential performance.

Work, thought and control are all at the center of the ideas manifested in this series. The interruption of expectation and actual space, simply inverting things and creating a heightened sense of the presence of an object like a stone, a hammer, a limb or the body creates a possibility for something new.

Wrangle has exhibited at the Museu de Arte Moderna do Rio de Janeiro, FotoFest, Lawndale Art Center, and Rudolph Projects / Artscan Gallery, among many others. He has just completed a sabbatical where he completed the work for this exhibition and several other long term projects. He has multiple research grants, including a 2014 CAAH Faculty Research Grant, a 2012 Clemson CAAH Seed Grant to pursue a collaborative photographic survey of the Savannah River, 2015, 2013, and 2012 Clemson Center of Visual Arts Faculty Research Grants, and a 2010 Clemson University Research Grant for his photographic survey of the Upper Savannah River Watershed. He was a finalist for the 2011 Clarence John Laughlin Award and was nominated for the Baum Award, and the ART-House Texas Prize in 2008. His work is in the collection of the Museum of Fine Arts in Houston, the Museu de Arte Moderna do Rio de Janeiro/Colecao Joaquim Paiva, and many private collections, including that of American writer Ann Beattie.

Sewanee Toppled by Centre's High Octane Offense

Led by 461 yards of total offense, Southern Athletic Association rival Centre defeated the Sewanee football team, 49-10, Oct. 22, at Farris Stadium in Danville, Ky.

The Tigers fell to 0-7 with the loss, while Centre is 6-1. Overall, the Colonels scored on four of their first five possessions. With that Centre, led 28-0 with 11:12 left in the first half.

After Centre forced Sewanee to a three and out, the Colonels drove to the Sewanee 45. From there, Amoh Kumengisa took off for a 45-yard touchdown run early in the first quarter.

The Colonels then scored with 3:01 left in the first when Cody Estep caught a 34-yard touchdown pass from Devin Hayes.

From there, Casey Bradley scored on an 18-yard run, while Kumengisa found the end zone again from nine-yards out.

Sewanee finally got on the board when Sam Hearn found his older brother Steven Hearn for a 29-yard touchdown pass with 32 seconds left in the first half.

Unfortunately, the Colonels kept rolling in the second half. After a 17-yard pass from Hayes to Duncan Mercer and a 23-yard field goal by Michael Jacobs, Centre added two late touchdown runs.

Individually, Hayes finished the day 10-for-19 for 151 passing yards and two scores. His lone interception came from junior Glenn Ireland, who finished with four tackles for Sewanee.

Along with Hayes, Kumengisa had a great afternoon with 95 rushing yards on just eight attempts. As a team, Centre had three backs rush for at least 60 yards and a score.

Freshman Warren Holland led Sewanee on the ground with 91 yards on 24 carries. Hearn also played well at receiver with 79 yards on eight catches.

Defensively, Tony Dykes led Sewanee with seven tackles, while Tristian Fuller added six stops.

The Tigers face the University of Chicago at noon on Oct. 29 in Sewanee before Homecoming on Nov. 5, against Millsaps

Sewanee Women's Soccer Squad Foiled by Colonels in OT

The Sewanee women's soccer team dominated possession for more than 80 percent of the match but still fell 3-2, to Centre College in overtime on Oct. 22.

The Tigers twice led during the home contest. Sewanee also outshot the Colonels, 17-11. Despite all this and an outstanding effort by the Tigers, the 2016 Southern Athletic Association regular season champions somehow found a way to win. The victory was the first for Centre over Sewanee in the last three seasons.

Sewanee scored the only goal of the first half when Savannah Williams headed home a corner from Dayla LaRocque.

After Centre's Destinie Graves scored off a pass from Alana Hughes, Sewanee retook the lead off a beautiful goal from Kiley Ezzell. Ezzell found the back of the net in the 69th minute off a great serve from Erin Gill.

Unfortunately, Centre scored again five minutes later as Tori Dillard redirected a free kick by Amber Cowell just under the crossbar, which tied the match at 2-2.

Sewanee had a few late chances in regulation to win, however, a non-call in the box and a few great saves by Centre keeper Olivia Alford pushed the contest into overtime.

In the extra period, Sewanee fired two attempts and held possession the majority of the eight minutes. However, on a free kick by the keeper, Centre then redirected the ball into its attacking third where Graves outraced the Sewanee defense. From there, the Centre forward fired a low hard shot toward the far post for the game-winner.

Individually, Williams paced the Tiger offense with four shots. Sewanee's Tyler Edell, Mary "Sissy" Frank, Nikki Johnston and Ezzell all finished with multiple attempts.

Sewanee Soccer Falls at Home

A goal in each half led Southern Athletic Association rival Centre to a 2-0 win over the Sewanee men's soccer team on Oct. 22 at Puett Field.

The Tigers closed their regular season with a 7-9-2 overall record. The Tigers are scheduled to play at Millsaps in the SAA quarterfinals on Oct. 29. Earlier this season, Sewanee defeated the Majors, 3-1.

Centre scored its first goal when Phil Shehan drove a low hard shot into the far post in the 18th minute. In the second half, the Colonels expanded their lead as Caleb Vogel headed in a corner by Shehan in the 75th minute.

Overall, the Colonels outshot the Tigers 13-7. Sewanee, who had one All-SAA performer go out with an injury and multiple other starters limited because of various afflictions, finished with one corner.

Individually, Sewanee's Alpo Sipilla led the attack with two shots, while keeper Will Merriman finished with three saves.

NATURENOTES

Color Changes

Autumn color changes in leaves of trees, some shrubs and vines are characteristic of the deciduous woods of eastern North America, reported Harry Yeatman in 2001. This is due to four major groups of leaf pigments, known as chlorophyll, carotenoids, anthocyanins and tannins, interacting with the environment.

The chlorophyll, essential in enabling the plant to capture the energy of sunlight in the process called photosynthesis, impart the green color to leaves. In the fall, when days are shorter and conditions are cool and dry, a corky layer of cells is stimulated to develop at the base of the leaf stems. This layer cuts off water and minerals and leads to the buildup of sugars and the disintegration of chlorophyll in the leaves, which eventually fall. The disappearance of chlorophyll reveals the presence of the other pigments, just as in the ripening of fruit.

Carotenes are yellowish-orange to red in color. Anthocyanins range in color from scarlet to red to purple and blue, and are not present in most leaves in the summer, but develop in the upper leaf cells of certain plants in the fall, favored by the concentrations of sugars, cool air and soil temperatures, water deficiency, and low nitrogen levels. Leaf tannins produce the beautiful brownish bronze leaf color of the beech and some oaks. Combinations of these variable autumnal pigments produce the many shades of the fall foliage. Cool nights, with some rain to freshen the leaves, enhance the beauty of the foliage. Enjoy it, for it is simply a stage passed in leaf pigment degeneration before leaf fall.

Pine trees are dropping their old needles found in back of the young, terminal needles. This is a normal event in September and October and does not mean that the trees are diseased or dying.

—from Nature Notes, Oct. 18, 2001, reported by Harry Yeatman

Hummingbird

Freddy Tucker of Sewanee, who always has at least five hummingbird feeders up, reports that he saw the last male hummingbird at one of his feeders on Oct. 16. He had seen some females earlier, but updated us this week to say there have been no further hummers sighted.

Hickory

Patches

Pets of the Week

Meet Hickory and Patches

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Hickory is a sweet, gentle pot-bellied pig. Pigs are great companions in the right environment, but it's important to remember they are extremely intelligent, active animals that will weigh at least 60 pounds if healthy. Hickory is an older gentleman with pretty good piggy manners, and he's just a little mischievous.

Patches is the perfect playful companion! He's a 3-year-old potty-trained, happy-go-lucky guy who is ready for his fur-ever home. This little Terrier loves everyone: people, dogs, and cats, he loves them all! Patches is heartworm-negative, up-to-date on shots, neutered and microchipped.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

In a new Every Child in the Park program, the Friends of South Cumberland welcomed every fourth grade class in Grundy County to the South Cumberland State Park Visitors Center for all-day field trips Oct. 11-13. The students took a hike on the Meadow Trail with Mary Priestley to learn about native plants and pollinators.

State Park Offerings

Friday, Oct. 28

Grundy Forest Nature Hike—Meet Ranger Park at 2 p.m. at Grundy Forest parking lot, 131 Fiery Gizzard Rd., Tracy City, for a 2-mile loop hike showcasing some of the most picturesque waterfalls. Wear sturdy shoes. Bring water.

Sunday, Oct. 30

Horsepound Falls Hike—Meet up with Ranger Jessie at 10 a.m. at Collin's Gulf parking lot, 2689 55th Ave., Gruetli-Laager, for a strenuous five-mile hike through an arm of Savage Gulf State Natural Area. This out-and-back hike will pass Suter Falls, some impressive rock formations, and finally the famed Confederate horse-hiding area, Horsepound Falls. There are loose rocks on the trail, so wear sturdy footwear, bring plenty of water, and some snacks.

Sunday, Oct. 30

Lost Cove Cave Story Tour ($5, Reservation Required, Strenuous, 5+ miles)—Meet Ranger Park at 8 a.m. at the SCSP Visitor's Center, 11745 US 41, Monteagle, to carpool to the site. Come prepared for a strenuous excursion into the depths of the earth to hear (and hopefully not reenact) all the haunted tales of the region. There is a 2.5 mile hike to and from the cave so come prepared with plenty of water, snacks and proper footwear. There are no lights in the cave, so bring your own (two sources of light required). This is a wild tour, so crawling, sliding, climbing, rock hopping, squeezing through tight cracks are all required. The story tour differs from the normal trips in that we will be exploring some regions of the cave not visited on the normal trips and will be focusing on haunted tales rather than ecology. Helmets and a good time will be provided. To make a reservation please email <charles.greer@tn.gov>.

Saturday, Nov. 5

Hike Into History Adventure Series ($25 per person, strenuous)—The November installment of the Adventure Series will take participants over the edge—of Savage Gulf! Meet the Ranger at 8 a.m. at 3177 Hwy. 399, Palmer, for an incredibly strenuous climb/slide/scramble down the face of the gulf. Exploring sections of the Old Growth Forest in the Savage Gulf is truly a rare experience and should not be missed. This hike is by reservation only and is incredibly strenuous; not for the novice hiker. Wear sturdy shoes, dress for the weather, bring plenty of water and a camera. Make reservations online at <http://www.meetup.com/Friends-of-South-Cumberland-State-Park/> or call (931) 924-2980.

The South Cumberland State Park Visitors' Center is located on Highway 41 South between Monteagle and Tracy City and is open 8 a.m.–4:30 p.m. seven days a week. For more information call (931) 924-2980.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

HALLOWEEN, Oct. 31; ALL SAINTS DAY, Nov. 1

...Warlocks and witches in a dance:
Nae cotillion, brent new frae France,
But hornpipes, jigs, strathspeys, and reels,
Put life and mettle in their heels.
A winnock-bunker in the east,
There sat auld Nick, in shape o' beast;
A towzie tyke, black, grim and large,
To gie them music was his charge,
He screw'd the pipes and gart them skirl,
Till roof and rafters a' did dirl. --
Coffins stood round, like open presses
That shaw'd the Dead in their last dresses;
And (by some devilish cantraip slight)
Each in its cauld hand held a light.

—Tam O'Shanter, by Robert Burns
