

The Sewanee Mountain MESSENGER

VOL. XXVII No. 3

Friday, January 21, 2011

Published as a public service for the Sewanee community since 1985.

Sewanee Community Chest Nearing its Goal of $102,000

After only a few short months, due to the great generosity of our local patrons, the Sewanee Community Chest campaign for 2011 has received $82,000 in gifts and pledges. Still short of the goal of $102,000, co-chairs Laurie and Jay Fisher (pictured above, on right) and Susan and Bob Askew (left) would like to make one more plea for pledges before the campaign ends. If your donation slipped your mind, or if you are new in town and didn't receive a letter and would like to share in the joy of giving, you can make a donation or pledge to the Sewanee Community Chest at P.O. Box 99, Sewanee, TN 37375. The Community Chest, part of the Sewanee Civic Association, supports outreach, safety and educational organizations in the greater Sewanee community. Your support is critical to the campaign's success!

Author Meacham to Speak at SAS

Jon Meacham will speak at 3 p.m., Sunday, Jan. 23, as part of the 18th annual Bishop Reynolds Forum at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School. The talk and reception following will be held in McCrory Hall and are free and open to the public. The Bishop Reynolds Forum is brought to SAS through an endowment established in memory of the Rt. Rev. George Reynolds, the late Bishop of Tennessee.

Meacham, the former editor of Newsweek magazine, won the Pulitzer Prize in biography for "American Lion: Andrew Jackson and the White House." He is also author of "Franklin and Winston" and co-anchors the PBS program "Need to Know."

Pearson at McCrory Hall Tonight

Guitarist Jack Pearson, formerly of the Allman Brothers Band, brings his musical talents to St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts for a concert at 7 p.m., Friday, Jan. 21.

The concert is free and open to the public. It is sponsored in part with a grant from the Tennessee Arts Commission.

HTSWL Brings Menand to Sewanee next Thursday

Pulitzer Prize-winning author, Louis Menand, will present "What Every College Graduate Needs to Know," as part of the University's "How, Then, Shall We Live?" lecture series at 4:30 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 27, in Convocation Hall. Admission is free and the lecture is open to the public.

Menand's most recent book, "The Marketplace of Ideas," examines general education, the state of the humanities and the tensions between disciplinary and interdisciplinary work. In the book he assesses what is important in a traditional university—and what is not—and questions whether universities are providing a less useful education than they might. His work straddles the worlds of academia and popular culture.

Menand is the Robert M. and Anne T. Bass Professor of English and American Literature and Language at Harvard University and a staff writer at the New Yorker magazine, where he examines issues in the worlds of literature, art, pop culture, television, politics, history and journalism. As a professor, he has written on the challenges of higher education and the role of the university in modern America.

Menand is also the author of "The Metaphysical Club," which won the Pulitzer Prize for history. His book, "American Studies," is a collection of essays on prominent figures in American culture.

Slate magazine, in a January 2010 review, said of Menand, "He has managed to stay accountable at once to his colleagues in English departments and to his audience of general readers, and he has pulled this off without sacrificing either rigor or range. Menand is proof that an academic can be a great prose stylist and that a journalist doesn't have to be a dilettante—and that having a commitment to one community enriches one's contribution to the other."

From Urban Models to Rural Solutions A Series of Community Conversations

In conjunction with opening convocation at the University of the South, the university is hosting a number of public forums with area residents to explore issues of rural poverty in southern middle Tennessee.

On Tuesday, Jan. 25, the University of the South will award honorary degrees to two individuals who are changing the lives of young people, especially those living in urban settings: Geoffrey Canada, president/CEO of the Harlem Children's Zone and Marguerite Kondracke, president/CEO of America's Promise Alliance.

Given the University's community connections through service learning and volunteering, as well as its commitment to the well-being of those living in the area, the purpose of these activities is to engage both the university and the wider community in envisioning new models of support for the families and young people of the area.

The convocation service will begin at 12:30 p.m. Canada will give the convocation address.

At 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, the conversation will continue on the second floor of McClurg Dining Hall with Kondracke and John White, Department of Education deputy assistant secretary for rural education. Refreshments will be provided.

A public roundtable, led by Kondracke, was held after the screening of "Waiting for Superman" on Thursday night.

All events are free and open to the public, including parents, students and residents of Franklin, Grundy and Marion counties. If you would like to attend the conversation at McClurg, please call 598-3247 to reserve a place.

TOURNEY A SUCCESS

To the Editor:

Many thanks to the following local businesses that helped make our Mountain Top Wrestling tournament a resounding success:

Aramark
CVS
Holy Smoke's BBQ
Monteagle Diner
Mountain Valley Bank
Piggly Wiggly
Sewanee Market
Steviarino's
Western Sizzlin'

Thanks, too, to the many parents, students, friends, and fans who make this annual tournament possible.

WE BUILT AN ARK!

To the Editor:

This year, the Sewanee community raised $5,225 for Heifer International, which means that we were able to continue our strong support by contributing another ark full of animals! Every year, Sewanee community members, students, faculty and staff raise a substantial amount of money for Heifer International through alternative giving at Christmas. Since 1944, Heifer has helped 12.5 million families in more than 125 countries move toward greater self-reliance through the gift of livestock and training in environmentally sound agriculture.

Thank you to everyone who supported this wonderful organization by your financial donations.

Assistant Coordinator,
Outreach Ministries* ■

THANK YOU, RESCUERS

To the Editor:

On a recent Saturday night I experienced a long fall off the bluff at my home in the Jump Off area. I must have had at least one guardian angel, as I escaped with relatively minor injuries and don't remember most of the fall. After I was pulled to the top of the bluff, I discovered that three counties' worth of emergency personnel had responded to the 911 call.

I was completely overwhelmed at the concern and compassion shown to me and my family. Sewanee Police Department officers James Rollins and Zack Fultz were the first to arrive, followed by Sewanee Fire Department volunteers Ronnie Hoosier and Tyler Cooney. Grundy County responders Gene Richards and Greg Burrows were soon on the scene and Marion County EMS personnel April Chadwick and "Rocky" Brown took care of me once I reached the top. My husband counted many more, but I haven't tracked down everyone's name yet, so I apologize in advance for leaving some of you out. Everyone involved was so kind, professional and positive, constantly reassuring me and making sure I was alright. (I lost track of how many "mini-mental-status" exams I was given!)

Words can't express my appreciation and respect for everyone involved. My husband and I moved here in 2006 after falling in love with the area and people. We have never been disappointed, and Saturday's incident reinforced our feeling that this is one of the greatest places in the world to live. Thanks to everyone a million times over, and God bless and keep you safe!

Stewart Named to State Senate Committees

State Senator Eric Stewart (D-Belvidere) was named to two Senate standing committees last week, in addition to his designation on the Joint Fiscal Review Committee.

"I'm pleased and honored to be named to these committees and I look forward to serving both my committee members and constituents in all matters, especially those concerning agriculture and the environment," Stewart said.

Stewart was named to the Commerce, Labor and Agriculture Committee, which deals with legislation pertaining to agriculture, small businesses and employees; and the Environment, Conservation and Tourism Committee, which addresses environmental issues, state parks maintenance and tourism.

Stewart was also appointed by his peers to the Joint Fiscal Review Committee, which provides crucial services to the legislature such as reviewing all major, noncompetitive contracts awarded by the state.

"We have an obligation to the taxpayer to review all of our spending and ensure we're getting the most for our dollar," Stewart said. "I want to bring a common-sense approach to spending in Tennessee, and the Fiscal Review Committee provides a great opportunity to do that."

Senator Stewart represents Franklin, Bledsoe, Coffee, Grundy, Sequatchie, Van Buren and Warren counties. Contact him at <sen.eric.stewart@capitol.tn.gov> or (615) 741-6694 or 310A War Memorial Building, Nashville, TN 37243.

DREMC Trimming Trees in Sewanee

Duck River Electric Membership Corporation is doing right-of-way trimming around the two circuits out of the Sewanee substation. Tennessee Avenue, Carruthers Circle, Proctors Hall Road and surrounding side streets are the focus of the work in the coming weeks.

DREMC's forester, Melanie Coate, is working in conjunction with University domain manager Nate Wilson to get his approval before work is performed. People will see markings on trees that guide the crews: CR—crown reduction, T—trim, X—removal, S—service trim, O—overhang trim and Z—trim to a safe zone (where it will no longer be a danger to the electric lines).

For more information, contact Lee Pettes at DREMC at 598-5228.

SUD Holds Annual Meeting Tuesday

The Sewanee Utility District Board of Commissioners will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 25, at 5 p.m. at the SUD office.

Voting in the commissioner election will continue through 4 p.m. that day. Randall Henley and Cliff Huffman are seeking seats on the SUD board. Both are running unopposed.

The agenda for the meeting includes the closing of the election and counting of votes, approval of the agenda, approval of the December minutes, the general manager's report and financial report.

Unfinished business that will be addressed at this meeting is the Lake Jackson dam repair. New business includes the announcement of the election results, discussion of fluoride and a request for a donation to the community park.

Visitor comments and announcements will occur at the end of the meeting.

The next SUD meeting will be at 5 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 22, at which time the board will elect its officers.

The SUD office is located at 26 Sherwood Road.

"I'm all revved up"

— AND READY TO RIDE —

— Jerry Forster

Jerry Forster (center) knows that life can change in an instant. In April 2008, he was riding his brother-in-law's motorcycle in West Virginia. "It was bigger than what I'm use to handling," explains Jerry, who is the Chief Financial Officer for the University of the South. "I got into a curve, lost control in the wind and crashed."

Jerry broke his femur and his shoulder in two places. After emergency surgery in West Virginia, Jerry started a week of inpatient therapy at Southern Tennessee Medical Center, where Anna Shasteen (left), supervised his care. Then, working with Becky Campbell (right), he completed a program of outpatient therapy at Emerald Hodgson.

"My goal was to get back on my feet for my daughter's wedding on June 28, just two months away," says Jerry. "With Becky and Anna's help, I was able to walk my daughter down the aisle without crutches. I was really impressed by the staff's professionalism. They went the extra mile to take care of me."

Speaking of miles, this past September, Jerry ran in a 15-mile mountain race in Charleston, West Virginia. "My leg feels good," says Jerry. "I'm planning to run the Music City Half Marathon in April."

Sewanee EMTs Learn New Wilderness Skills

[Editor's note: Doug Cameron recently led a wilderness emergency medical technician (EMT) course and offered this perspective on the vital role the volunteer EMTs provide in our community.]

Eight student EMTs and one community EMT were joined by a fire department alum (Melissa Riley C'96), who works with search dogs in Urban Search and Rescue, as well as a member of Tennessee's disaster response team and a paramedic student from Alto to take a five-day Wilderness EMT course in the snow earlier in January. The course ought to be called a "remote areas difficult access improvised materials disaster" medicine course, but then nobody would sign up. Instructors were David Ramsey, a Kentucky paramedic and search dog handler, and myself, both lead instructors with Wilderness Medical Associates.

The classes were based on understanding how the body works and how to decide what is a true emergency. Students learned and practiced six "wilderness protocols," skills that are beyond the scope of practice for "street" EMTs and that require a physician's authorization (clearing a spine, reducing dislocations, removing impaled objects and cleaning wounds, treating anaphylaxis, and stopping CPR). They learned to splint and immobilize patients using improvised materials and search and rescue gear, as well as how to move patients over rough terrain safely.

Much of the time was spent out of the classroom, doing hands-on patient care in challenging situations: in the snow, in a smoke-filled post-tornado structure, at night off the bluff near Green's View, where Annie Armour and Meg Armour-Jones volunteered as "patients." The EMTs are better prepared to do their jobs now, both on the street and in the woods, and they have the tools to help after a disaster.

Sewanee's EMTs are not paid, yet they are on duty and have to stay close to the station nearly half the time. Many go on to medical school or work in the emergency and health care profession. They deal daily with medical emergencies in the most humble of homes, in dorms and on the roads. They sometimes are there when people die, yet they go on with gentle determination and loving care for the community and for each other. We are lucky to have them.

Sewanee EMTs in this course were Tyler Cooney, Fritz Butler, Ted Robinson, Taylor Stavelly, Laura Bownes, Alex Brown, Elizabeth Henry, Curt Lindstrom and Joyce Kuik.

Church News

Otey Parish to Host Patronal Celebration on Jan. 30

A service of celebration followed by a reception and light supper will be held to honor the birthday of Bishop Otey, after whom the parish church was named, on Sunday, Jan. 30, the Sunday closest to his birthday. The event, known as a patronal celebration, will begin with a 5 p.m. service in the church. Continuing the celebration, a reception and light supper will be held in the parish hall for adults. Children will be served pizza in Brooks Hall, followed by games. Babysitting for infants will be provided.

W. Brown Patterson, retired professor of history and dean of the College, will give the homily at the service.

About Bishop Otey, the Rev. Dr. Benjamin J. King, assistant professor of church history at the School of Theology, wrote: "When Otey came to Tennessee as a priest, there were no Episcopal parishes. He had to hold services in the Masonic Hall in Franklin, (which would become St. Paul's), then added services in Nashville (which would become Christ Church) and Columbia (which would become St. Peter's). Such missionary endeavors, all carried out on horseback, explain why he was elected first Bishop of Tennessee in 1833, and why in 1841 the General Convention added to his jurisdiction the missionary districts of Arkansas and the Indian Territory. The Dioceses of Mississippi and Florida also elected him their provisional bishop."

The event is open to everyone in the community. Please make reservations by filling out the sign-up sheet in the parish hall, no later than Monday, Jan. 24.

While this is the first patronal celebration held at Otey Parish, the Bishop Otey Society, event sponsors, hope to make it an annual affair.

Andy Gay to Sing Psalms in Cowan

"Psalms, Creation, and the Prayer of our Lives" is the title of a presentation to be given by pastor and singer/songwriter Andy Gay at the Cowan Fellowship Church, 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 30.

Gay will share stories, songs and readings from the book of Psalms, showing how our lives are connected in prayer through the powers of creation all around us.

Andy was the pastor of the Cowan Fellowship Church for seven-and-a-half years. He and his wife, MaryAnn, lived in Cowan for 18 years.

He currently lives in McMinnville. In Franklin County, Andy has performed extensively with friends and musicians in Cowan and Sewanee, at schools, churches and campus events.

This presentation is sponsored by the Cowan Fellowship Church and the Cowan Ministerial Association.

Outreach Office Coordinates Clothing and Food Drive

The University Outreach Office is coordinating a number of opportunities for service and helping others this weekend:

Today, Jan. 21, they are sponsoring a clothing drive. Donate your gently used, unwanted clothing to the Appalachian Women's Guild. Donation boxes will be located in most dorms and in the Outreach Office in the Bishop's Commons.

Tonight, Saturday, and Sunday, they are helping Sewanee Union Theatre (SUT) support the Community Action Committee. Each night this week, the SUT will have a donation box set up to collect nonperishables for the CAC. Bring a friend and a can of food!

For more information, please contact the office at 598-3201.

All Saints' Chapel Activities

Growing in Grace

All Saints' Chapel is pleased to present this semester's Growing in Grace theme: "The Light of the World."

Growing in Grace is an informal worship service held at 6:30 p.m., Sundays, in All Saints' Chapel. Live acoustic music fills the space and a different speaker shares a personal message each week relating the Gospel and how the "Light of the World" enters daily life. Stay after the service for refreshments and conversation.

This Sunday, John Benson is the speaker. A native of California, John has lived and worked in Sewanee for over a decade as the director of the Sewanee Outing Program (SOP). He spends time helping students get acquainted with the Domain, as well as challenging students to try new and exciting things. Under John's direction, the SOP makes trips to snowshoe in Colorado, canoe the Rio Grande, hike the Appalachian Trail, bike the Jack and Back (a fund-raiser for multiple sclerosis from Franklin to Lynchburg) as well as many other adventures. Locally, he enjoys climbing, caving, hiking, canoeing and bicycling, especially if his son, Elliott, or wife, Emily, joins him. Come on out to All Saints' Chapel this Sunday at 6:30 p.m. to hear John's memorable and thrilling stories and how Christ as the Light of the World intersects.

This semester's lineup is:

Jan. 23: John Benson, director of the Sewanee Outing Program

Jan. 30: Suz Cate, seminarian T'12

Feb. 6: Becca Stevens, C'85, T'09, founder of Thistle Farms and Magdalene House in Nashville

Feb. 13: Rob MacSwain, professor of theology and Christian ethics at the School of Theology

Feb. 20: Samantha Tashman, program manager of Mountain T.O.P. Ministries

February 27: Dr. Mitch Mutter, founder of Children's Nutrition Program in Haiti

March 6: Dr. Gerald Smith, professor of religion at Sewanee

March 13 and March 20: No GiG (spring break)

March 27: Emily Ezell, C'11

April 3: Tevyn East, performer of the one-woman show "Leaps and Bounds"

April 10: Brittany Roper, assistant coordinator of outreach ministries

April 17: Eric Benjamin, director of multicultural affairs

April 24: No GiG (Easter)

May 1: Bexter Richardson, C'11 and "Sewanee Praise"

Catechumenate

You are invited to Bairnwick Women's Center on Wednesday, Jan. 26, for the Catechumenate, which was historically a process in the early church where people would receive instruction before baptism into the Christian church. Today, the Catechumenate is a process of listening and learning in a safe environment about our lives, faith and place in the world. Professors, students, seminarians and community members all find the Catechumenate to be a place of deep thought, questioning and unwinding during the week. The session begins with home-baked goods, Stirling's coffee and conversation at 7 p.m. Tom Macfie, University chaplain, will give a brief presentation on church history; small groups will then discuss pertinent questions. Please call Catherine Outten, University lay chaplain, 598-1251 with any questions.

Cervical Cancer Awareness

STMC/EHH invites the community to a free ladies night out event with refreshments and door prizes.

Awareness, prevention, and treatment of cervical cancer will be discussed by Dr. Christy Pettes.

Sunday at Otey Parish

At 10 a.m., Sunday, Jan. 23, Sid Brown, associate professor of religion, will address Otey parish's Adult Forum. Brown will share some of her personal journey with Buddhism and her experiences with Buddhist meditation.

Buddhist meditation practices facilitate the journey toward nirvana (freedom from suffering) and enlightenment (awakening). These practices can be incorporated into many spiritual traditions and are very useful for finding peace and serenity in the midst of life's distress.

Adults and high school youth are welcome to attend this class, which will be held in the Quintard Room.

Otey will celebrate the third Sunday after the Epiphany with the Holy Eucharist, Rite II at 8:50 a.m. and 11 a.m. During each service, parishioners will be asked to pledge their gifts of time and talent for 2011.

In the Sunday School hour, children may join their friends for Godly Play I, II and III. Middle school youth may join Evan Jones and Pratt Paterson for "Reflections," while high school youth may join Betty Carpenter and the Rev. Joe Ballard for "Text and Teach."

In addition to Adult Forum, the "Saving Jesus" series will explore "Jesus' Life: Incarnation," the Lectionary class will examine Matthew 4:12-23. Nursery care is available from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Coffee hour follows the 11 a.m. service.

Emotional Support Group Forming

Are you hurting? Learn coping skills with a new support group for people experiencing emotional pain and grief. It meets at 10 a.m., Saturday mornings, in Monteagle. Led by hospice chaplain Richard Barger, the group is designed to help those who are overwhelmed by guilt, anxiety and other emotional problems. For more information about the location and times, contact Barger at (423) 650-8802.

Emerald-Hodgson Hospital News

Employee Recognition

LPN Stephanie Barnes was the Emerald-Hodgson Hospital (EHH) employee honoree for December. Stephanie works in both the medical-surgical and skilled care units. She has been employed by EHH for more than 20 years. Stephanie and her family reside in Sewanee. She spends her leisure time enjoying her two children, Nora and Noah. Stephanie was selected for recognition in a random drawing among all employees with December birthdays. Her award included use of a close-in parking space for the month and a gift basket with movie tickets and other goodies. Congratulations, Stephanie!

State of the Hospital

Compared to December 2009, utilization of EHH's facilities increased in all areas in December 2010, except for skilled care admissions, which were at the same level as in 2009. While the increases in outpatient and emergency room visits were not substantial and less than projected in the budget, general admissions for December 2010 increased by 13 percent and observation visits increased by 38 percent.

Cervical Cancer Awareness—Ladies Night Out

Awareness, prevention and treatment of cervical cancer will be discussed by Dr. Christy Pettes, family practitioner, at 5:30 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 25, at the Sewanee Inn. There will be refreshments and door prizes. This event is free and open to the public.

EHH Lunch & Learn

At noon, Thursday, Jan. 27, Jerry Forster, University treasurer and chairman of Southern Tennessee Medical Center (STMC) and EHH's board of directors, will speak about the medical services available locally. Lunch will be served at the Sewanee Inn.

Becky Campbell, director of rehabilitation services, will highlight the hospital's outpatient rehab and inpatient skilled nursing facility rehab services. Laurence Alvarez will also speak about his own rehab care as a previous inpatient. This event is free and everyone is welcome, but limited seating is available. Please RSVP to Whitney Franklin at <whitney.franklin@lpnt.net> or Laura Knight at (931) 598-4213 or (931) 924-2051 if you would like to reserve a lunch and seating.

Industry Advisory Council

The Southern Tennessee Medical Center/Emerald-Hodgson Hospital Industry Advisory Council held its first 2011 meeting recently at STMC. The program included an introduction to the new disease management program that STMC/EHH is piloting. Phil Young, STMC CEO and Mary Beth McClain, director of the new program, shared the program's vision and goals for 2011. Members of the new council (above) include Teresa Smith of the University of the South and officials from Tepro, Zanini, Nissan and Shaw Industries.

SAS Welcomes New Nurses

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School welcomes to its staff Vanessa Rose, R.N., and Janice Thomas, R.N. They share staffing responsibilities in the school's health clinic, which provides preventative care to the school's student body, as well as offering support during illnesses and for ongoing medical issues.

Rose has a master's degree in nursing education and a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing from the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill. She completed coursework in UNC-Chapel Hill's doctorate of nursing program. She also has a B.S. degree in accounting from Barton College in Wilson, NC. She is a native of Grundy County and has two daughters.

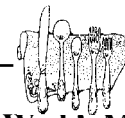

Thomas has a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing from Capital University in Columbus, Ohio, and received her neonatal nurse practitioner certification from Georgetown University. She has a son and a daughter, who both attend SAS. Thomas has been active in the Sewanee community and is an avid tennis player.

The Town

125 minutes • R • Admission $3

A tough movie about a tough town. Ben Affleck directed and stars in "The Town," an intense look at the seamy side of his hometown of Boston. Based on the award-winning book, "Prince of Thieves" (which Affleck also helped adapt for the screen), "The Town" tells the story of career bank robber Doug (Affleck) and his partner, Jim (Jeremy Renner), whose lives are changed when Doug falls in love with the bank manager they kidnap during a robbery. Family, honor and love mix for what has been called "a gritty, well-made heist flick." The terrific cast includes Jon Hamm, Rebecca Hall, and the late Pete Postlethwaite. Rated R for strong violence, pervasive language, and some sexuality and drug use. —LW

Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas

118 minutes • R • Admission $3

Director Terry Gilliam took a very funny book by Hunter S. Thompson and turned it into a mess of a movie. A cult favorite, "Fear and Loathing" chronicles the hallucinogenic road trip of sportswriter Raoul Duke (an alias of Hunter S. Thompson, played by Johnny Depp) and his lawyer, Dr. Gonzo (Benicio Del Toro). It is one long drug-infested haze from Los Angeles to Las Vegas, with terrific cameos by Mark Harmon, Cameron Diaz and Lyle Lovett along the way. Sadly, I agree with Roger Ebert who called it, "a horrible mess of a movie, without shape, trajectory or purpose," but some people love it for its quirky, chaotic journey. Rated R for pervasive extreme drug use and related bizarre behavior, strong language, and brief nudity. —LW

While studying "The Scarlet Letter" in high school, ambitious and straight-laced Olive (Emma Stone) decides to up her popularity quotient by lying about losing her virginity. As the school's swirling rumor mill increases both her notoriety and her finances, Olive enjoys her newfound status but eventually must decide which is more important: reputation or self-esteem. Stanley Tucci, Patricia Clarkson, Thomas Haden Church and Malcolm McDowell support the terrific Stone in "Easy A," which some reviewers have called "a high school romp that turns a stale genre upside down with sly wit and sharp satire." Rated PG-13 for mature thematic elements involving teen sexuality, language and some drug material. —LW

Cannon County Arts Center Events

The Arts Center of Cannon County has a new musical beginning this week and is preparing for a new production this spring.

"Smoke on the Mountain Homecoming," conceived by Alan Bailey, written by Connie Ray, with musical arrangements by Mike Craver, will be on the stage Jan. 21-30.

It is October 1945, and the gospel-singing Sanders Family is back together again. If you enjoyed the original "Smoke on the Mountain" or "Sanders Family Christmas," you won't want to miss this show! The performance schedule for all shows is Fridays and Saturdays at 7:30 p.m. and Sundays at 2 p.m.

Auditions for "The Foreigner" by Larry Shue will be at 6 p.m., Monday, Feb. 7, and Tuesday, Feb. 8. This popular play demonstrates what can happen when a group of devious characters must deal with a stranger who (they think) knows no English. There are roles available for four men able to play roles ages 17 and up and for two women ages 21 and up. Production dates are April 15-17, 22-24 and 29-30.

The Arts Center of Cannon County is located on 1424 John Bragg Highway, just west of the town of Woodbury. For more information call (800) 235-9073 or check out its web site at <www.artscenterofcc.com>.

Jewelry Artists Host Open Studio

Metalworker and fine jewelry artist Lyle Lorren (above right), formerly of Simply L's, and Lotara (aka Linda Atnip) of Earth Harmony Jewelry will host a joint open studio from noon to 3 p.m., Saturday, Jan. 29, at 885 Lake O'Donnell Road. Lyle's precious metal pendants and rings will be on display, as will Lotara's original designs featuring re-purposed elements.

"If anyone is looking for a unique Valentine's Day gift, this is an opportunity to shop locally and discover a one-of-a-kind expression," Atnip said. "Among our offerings are a rare vintage ivory heart necklace and a coral antique pendant that traveled from Shanghai in the late 1930s to Paris and then to California where it was acquired."

The artists will be available for consultations regarding commission work during the event.

Wine and cheese and light refreshments will be served. For more information, call (931) 636-3220.

Sewanee Chorale Rehearsals Begin

The Sewanee Chorale will begin rehearsals in the new year at 7 p.m., Monday, Jan. 24, in the School of Theology's Hamilton Hall "Pit." Anyone who enjoys singing and can make the commitment of time is encouraged to join.

Auditions are not required, but the ability to read music is helpful. The group will begin with the Faure "Requiem" and looks forward to a great new season. For further information, contact Gary Sturgis at <gksturgis@yahoo.com> or (931) 636-5294.

Hughes Offers Art & Spirit Class

Barbara Hughes will offer a 10-week course titled "Art and Spirituality" beginning at 7 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 31, at her studio on Sherwood Road.

Hughes is an artist and teacher who leads workshops and retreats in Sewanee and around the country. It is her belief that art is a powerful tool for healing in ourselves and in the world.

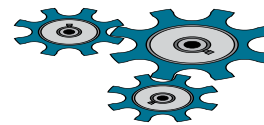

The course requires no artistic skill. Enrollment is limited. The cost for the 10 weeks is $185, which includes all art material; scholarships are available. For more information, contact Hughes at 598-0229 or via e-mail at <bhughes@sewanee.edu>.

Cinema Guild Sets Spring Films

Cinema Guild shows free movies on Thursday nights at the Sewanee Union Theatre. Showtimes are 7:30 p.m.

Jan. 27: "Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas" (see information on facing page)

Feb. 3: "Rashomon" (Directed by Akira Kurosawa, 1950, unrated, 88 minutes) "Considered one of Japanese director Akira Kurosawa's masterpieces, this Oscar-winning crime drama unfolds as four witnesses to a rape and murder report their versions of the attack, leaving the viewer to decide what really happened. But the chain of events depicted by the bandit (Toshiro Mifune), the rape victim (Machiko Kyo), the murdered man's ghost (Masayuki Mori) and the woodcutter (Takashi Shimura) have more differences than similarities."

—Netflix

Feb. 10: "Love and Death" (Directed by Woody Allen, 1975, rated PG, 82 minutes) "Writer-director-actor Woody Allen spoofs 19th-century Russian lit (think Tolstoy and Dostoyevsky) in this intellectual comedy—rumored to be his favorite—about a faint-hearted hero (Allen) who is drafted for war and convinces his beautiful cousin (Diane Keaton) to marry him. She thinks he's doomed, but he manages to survive a sure-death duel. Now, a plot to assassinate Napoleon is the only thing that can keep them together." —Netflix

Feb. 17: "La Belle et La Bete" (Directed by Jean Cocteau, 1946, unrated, 93 minutes) "Lost in the woods, a hapless merchant is captured and held prisoner in the castle of a beast-like man (Jean Marais), who vows to kill the merchant unless he's replaced by one of his daughters. The lovely Belle (Josette Day) gives herself up to save her father. But before long, she finds the beauty hiding inside her grotesque captor in this lyrical masterpiece, the most celebrated film of the French director and poet Jean Cocteau." —Netflix

Friends of South Cumberland to Sponsor Trails & Trilliums

New Leadership, New Location

This year, Trails & Trilliums, the successful spring event that was founded in 2004 at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School for hikers and wildflower enthusiasts, will be organized and directed by the Friends of South Cumberland (FSC), April 15-17.

The festival attracts attendees from four states who come to the Mountain to enjoy hikes, purchase native plants and participate in the Cumberland Wild Forum, focused on the environmental health of the plateau.

According to FSC president Mary Priestley, "We have grown to love Trails & Trilliums. When we learned that it was not going to be held at SAS in 2011, the FSC Board decided that continuing the event would be both a service to the greater community and a way to gain visibility for the Friends and the Park."

Several key pieces have fallen into place. Margaret Matens, the founder of Trails & Trilliums (recently retired from SAS) who is a new member of the FSC board, has agreed to chair the event.

The board of the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly stepped up and will host the mid-April event and donate the use of all its facilities.

"We are excited at this opportunity to continue Trails & Trilliums, which has grown from a small native plant sale into a regional event that has become an anticipated part of many people's spring schedules. We are indebted to the Assembly for their strong show of support! Their location is ideal, and their enthusiasm for hosting Trails & Trilliums is truly heartening. We have begun contacting the many organizations that were involved in the past, and they are eager to join in," Matens said.

SAS Head of School the Rev. John T. Thomas wished the FSC the best of luck in the reinvented program. "St. Andrew's-Sewanee School is proud to have initiated a wildflower celebration on the Mountain and to have provided a home for Trails & Trilliums for its first seven years. Its adoption by the Friends of South Cumberland and its partners is a testament to the widespread interest in the natural beauty of our area. We look forward to seeing the event's expansion as it moves beyond our campus."

According to Priestley, "This event will focus attention on our great hiking and wildflower walks, be a boon to tourism and the local economy, strengthen partnerships among environmental organizations and encourage hundreds of people in their appreciation of the great natural areas found here. The friends will continue to hold the Cumberland Wild Forum to provide an opportunity for serious dialogue about environmental issues faced on the Plateau."

The weekend lineup of events will include the native plant sale; guided hikes by SCSRA park rangers and others; Wine & Wildflowers, with the presentation of the Yeatman Environmental Education Award and the Service Award; workshops and much more. A complete Trails & Trilliums schedule will be available soon on the FSC website.

Volunteers, environmental organizations or other groups and vendors who would like to participate should contact Margaret Matens at <mgaretmatens@yahoo.com> or (931) 924-2623.

Slow Burn, 2010. Oil on Linen, by Mira Gerard

Gerard Exhibition and Workshop at SAS Gallery

St. Andrew's-Sewanee Gallery welcomes new paintings of Mira Gerard, "Unknown Continent," through Feb. 12. About her work, Gerard said, "I utilize staged and found imagery from a range of disparate sources that refer to my own memories, experiences and dreams. Personal desires and compulsions guide some of the implied narratives in the work itself, as well as a fixation on media-related images from the world at large."

A 1986 graduate of St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, Gerard teaches painting at East Tennessee University in Johnson City. Gerard received a B.F.A. from Indiana University and an M.F.A. from the University of Georgia.

The SAS Gallery will host a reception for the artist on Thursday, Feb. 10, from 5 to 7 p.m. This event is free and the public is welcome.

SAS Gallery hours are Monday-Friday, 9 a.m.-3 p.m. and by appointment.

Mira Gerard will work with St. Andrew's-Sewanee visual art students Feb. 10-11. She will also offer a day-long workshop to the public on Feb. 12, "The Painterly Still Life." This workshop will utilize traditional systems of observational painting techniques to create a painterly still life. The $60 workshop fee will cover all supplies and lunch. For more information or to register for the workshop please contact gallery director Christi Teasley at <sasgallery@sasweb.org> or 598-5651, ext 3151.

Golden Beaker Search Helps Banish the Winter Doldrums

Long before the "Amazing Race" on television, before Harry sought out the Sorcerer's Stone, SAS had the Search for the Golden Beaker. SAS science teacher and Golden Beaker mastermind Lisa Keith-Lucas concocts vexing clues in this annual cure to the post-holiday midwinter doldrums.

Keith-Lucas started the school-wide treasure hunt in 1995. The Golden Beaker is hidden on campus, and students follow a trail of 25 clues to find it. The student, or group of students, who solves the puzzle in the beaker receives the undying admiration of his or her peers, permanent recognition in the annals of Golden Beaker history and a bit of swag. Past prizes have included Periodic Table T-shirts with glow-in-the-dark radioactive elements and Golden Beaker mugs.

The hunt begins with the posting of the first clue on the chemistry room door:

"Every journey, be it short or long, beginneth with a single step. Seek ye the Grail, Beaker of purest Gold that hides here At St. Andrew's-Sewanee. Seek ye not with spade or pick, As thy quarry, unlike many treasures of old, is buried not. Follow the trail of clues; they will each lead to the next. Some thee willst find quick to solve, others will vex thee."

This quest is usually not for the impatient. Keith-Lucas noted that one year the beaker was not found until May. In 2009 a team solved the puzzle in one week! (It takes longer to write and install.)

"This year's is going to be difficult," said K-L, as the student's call her. "It has to be because this year we have many experienced and savvy seekers."

While the students are away for vacation, Keith-Lucas devises the clues and hides them around campus. She now dates the clues with the year of the hunt because she is still finding old clues that were never retrieved.

The clues involve history, literature, current events, school history and traditions, science, faculty, students, puns, and play on words. One puzzle spelled the full name of a character from The Lord of the Rings. The last search required students to identify two famous people by what they had in common. The clues are quite easy at first, but get more difficult.

Solving the puzzle requires information from all of the clues, so finding the beaker accidentally (or clue 23) does not give a treasure hunter an advantage.

The Arts Center of Cannon County announces a reception for "Tradition: Tennessee Lives and Legacies," at 6:30 p.m., Friday, Feb. 4. Sponsored by the Tennessee Arts Commission, Dust to Digital Records and Spring Fed Records, this reception salutes the artists celebrated in the Tennessee Arts Commission's new book and companion traveling exhibition featuring portraits of the finest folk and traditional artists in the state of Tennessee.

With photographs by Nashville photographer Dean Dixon and text by Robert Cogswell, Tennessee state folklorist, this book and exhibition offers a unique insight in the state of Tennessee's traditional arts culture. Dixon's fifty color photographs will be on display in the Arts Center's Marly Berger Gallery Jan. 3-Feb. 26.

This public artist reception will also serve as the Hometown Premiere of "Let Your Feet Do the Talkin'," filmmaker Stewart Copeland's touching documentary of Eagleville's champion buck dancer, Thomas Maupin, and his banjo-picking grandson, Daniel Rothwell.

SAS Wrestlers Win Mountain Top Tournament

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School hosted the 30th annual Mountain Top Wrestling Invitational Tournament last weekend and came away as tournament winners. Team captain Seth Burns led the charge as the 160-pound champion with all pins and no one scoring against him. Myles Kincaid (119) and Storm Hill (215) also brought home championship medals, while team captain Trevor Laymance (heavyweight) carried the day with a silver medal, along with Elijah Cantrell (189). Team captain Allan Duggar (152) kept pouring in the points with a third-place finish, while Cody Seals (135), Tyler Privette (140), Leo Yoon (215) and Robert Post (171) finished the feeding frenzy with fourth-place medals.

SAS brought home the first-place trophy with 143 team points, followed by Coffee County (124.5), Riverdale (120.5) and Cumberland County (109). Head coach Dan Barry commented on the focus and leadership exhibited by this year's team.

"The example, encouragement and excellence set forth by our team captains truly fueled the excitement for the younger wrestlers that drove them to success. This is the elusive brass ring of total team effort we are all looking for as coaches," Barry said.

Barry offered a big thank-you for all the time, effort and donations it takes to make an event like this successful.

SAS Varsity B-Ball Defeated by Webb

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School boys' basketball team lost to regional rival, the Webb School of Bell Buckle, on Friday, Jan. 14, by a score of 56-43. The game was dominated by Webb's senior center Miles Davis' 20 rebounds and 28 points.

The Mountain Lions were down by four at half and worked hard, ending the third quarter with a tie, 36-36. Webb grabbed a five-point lead with three minutes left in the game when SAS started to put them on the line, and Webb pulled away for the win.

SAS was led by sophomore Alex Tinsley's nine points; junior John Fisher added eight points and five steals; Tilghman Myers, six points; Jonathan Jones, five points; Sam Howick, Justin Thomas and Will Thomas each added four points; Kendell Kinslow added three points. The team defense was excellent throughout the game. The team record fell to 4-8, 2-3 on the season.

SAS MS Girls Lose to Swiss Elementary

Swiss Elementary had the better team, outscoring the SAS middle school girls team 45-10 on Jan. 17. Swiss showed its experience with multiple players scoring 3-point shots and many girls putting points onto the board. Harley Davis lead Swiss with 13 points.

SAS showed character by playing hard throughout the game and making improvements after halftime. Isabel Butler led SAS with six points. Sam Wiegand scored her first points of the season, hitting two baskets for a total of four points. SAS middle school girls are back at home at 6 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 27, against Coalmont Elementary.

SAS MS Boys' B-Ball Defeated by Monteagle

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School boys' middle school basketball team traveled to Monteagle last Thursday, losing to an improved Hornet squad, 24-59. The Hornets passed effectively and pressed the entire game, causing numerous turnovers. The combination of a tall starting group with a small court makes the Hornets' press difficult for opponents. A bright spot for SAS came in the third quarter, as Sam Thomas came off the bench to spark a comeback and SAS outscored Monteagle 17-13 in that quarter. Thomas led SAS in scoring with nine points, including three 3-pointers, while Kyle Johnston's defense and skilled dribbling kept the Mountain Lions competitive. Tanner Smartt and Terrince Bramhall scored 17 and 14 respectively for the Hornets.

Sewanee Men & Women in SCAC Action Last Week

The Sewanee men's basketball team rebounded in a big way from a tough loss last week to Trinity, picking up their second SCAC win of the season over visiting Southwestern University. After dropping a 58-40 decision to Trinity on Friday evening, Sewanee finished with four Tigers in double-figures on Saturday after using a 30-8 second-half run to put the Pirates away, 91-52.

Against Southwestern, freshman Valentino Bryant led the way with 19 points, five assists and no turnovers. Sophomore Brett Bouldin added 17 points, all in the second half, on five of seven shooting from beyond the 3-point line. Anvil Nelson finished with 16 points on seven of 11 shooting for the Tigers and grabbed seven boards and two assists. Trent Williams chipped in 14 points on five of six shooting. He also dished out three assists in the effort. In all, nine of 10 Tigers found the scoring column in the game. As a team, Sewanee put on their best shooting performance of the year in the contest, going 31 of 55 from the field (56.4%), 14 of 23 from the 3-point line (60.9%), and 15 of 22 from the free throw line (68.2%). With the 1-1 weekend showing, Sewanee moves to 6-8 overall and 2-5 in conference play. The Tigers will be back in action on Friday when they travel to Austin College for an SCAC match up.

The Sewanee women's basketball team dropped two SCAC contests last weekend, falling to Trinity, 82-55, on Friday, and Southwestern, 90-54, on Saturday. Sewanee and Trinity traded baskets and kept it close for much of the first half before the Texas Tigers used a 24-1 run to close out the first half and headed into the locker room with a 42-23 lead. The second half started out similar to the first, with both teams trading baskets, but Sewanee couldn't muster enough of a run to make a dent in the Trinity lead. Visiting Trinity went ahead as many as 36 before walking away with an 82-55 victory. Sewanee's Logan Miller led all scorers with 13 points, while Dani Kabbes added 12 and Dee Bradford chipped in 11. As a team, Sewanee shot 33.9% from the field in the contest. Saturday's game against Southwestern looked much the same before the visiting Pirates used a 17-2 run late in the first half to take a 20-point lead into the break. Sewanee was never able to recover in the second half before falling, 90-54. As a team, Sewanee shot 29% from the field, with Miller leading with 14 points. The two losses dropped the Tigers to 2-12 overall and 0-7 in SCAC play. Sewanee travels to Sherman, Texas next for a Friday match up with Austin College.

With 19 points, Valentino Bryant was Sewanee's top scorer in Saturday's win over Southwestern University. Photo by Lyn Hutchinson

Music City Marathon Registration

The 12th annual Country Music Marathon and Half-Marathon will take over the streets of Nashville on Saturday, April 30. The musically themed event annually attracts 35,000 runners, walkers and junior racers.

The entry fee for the half marathon is $110; the entry fee for the full marathon is $115. Registration closes on April 24.

The half-marathon course includes Music Row, Belmont University and Bicentennial Mall. Marathoners also run along the Cumberland River and through beautiful Shelby Park.

Both the marathon and half marathon courses start in Centennial Park on West End Avenue and finish outside of LP Field.

Race weekend kicks off with a two-day Health and Fitness Expo on Thursday, April 28 at the Nashville Convention Center. For more information, please go to <www.nashville.competitor.com>.

Lacrosse Players Picked for All-Conf

Two Sewanee lacrosse players were selected recently as 2011 preseason SCAC All-Conference honorees by Inside Lacrosse magazine.

Senior Teddy Peterson won 57% of his face-offs in 2010 and was selected by the magazine as the top returning face-off man.

Thomas Moore, a sophomore, scored 16 goals and tallied six assists in 2010 on his way to being selected the SCAC's Co-Newcomer of the Year. Also a First Team All-SCAC selection last season, Moore has been recognized as one of the conference's top returning midfielders.

The Sewanee lacrosse team opens its 2011 season on Sat., Feb. 12, when they host Fontbonne University. The Tigers finished 4-10 overall and 2-2 in conference play in 2010. Since then, SCAC men's lacrosse has expanded to eight teams and gained an automatic bid to the NCAA playoffs.

CONVENIENCE/RECYCLING CENTER HOURS

The Convenience Center, for household garbage, trash and recycling, is located on University Avenue by the golf course. Its regular hours are: Monday, 1-6 p.m.; Tuesday through Friday, 3-6 p.m.; Saturday, 8 a.m.-4 p.m.; Closed Sundays and on national holidays. There are recycling bins for metal, newspapers/magazines, plastic, plastic bottles and aluminum cans. Glass is not recycled here.

Overtime with Coach Shack

By John Shackelford

My wife is one of the cheapest people I have ever met. Thankfully, she doesn't buy anything unless it is on sale 650 percent. She has done a great job of teaching these principles to the other four women living in my house and as a result, there is often enough left over at the end of each month so that I can say "yes" to the voice in the Sonic box when they ask me if I want some cheese sticks to go along with my #2 value combo and Route 44 Delta-Charlie. My father always laughed when someone reported that they had saved $50 or $100 on a sale. His theory was that they would have saved even more if they just didn't purchase anything.

I feel the same way when people begin to discuss the issue of gun ownership in this country. Wyatt Earp may have saved a few lives by shooting the bad guys, but it seems like even more would have been saved if nobody got shot. That "thou shall not kill" rule is kind of all encompassing. I don't think we get a free pass to shoot some of the people some of the time. Now the families of deer that live in my yard are a completely separate issue. They seem to have an agreement with the Lowe's Garden Center in Kimball to eat every azalea and rhododendron I purchase (at 50 percent off) in order to bring me back to the store for a few more shrubs and five gallons of deer repellent. Can I purchase a semi-automatic weapon at Lowe's? If not, I will put it on the list to get at Walmart the next time we are there to pick up school supplies and groceries. Then we can shoot multiple deer at once and save money on the shrub and shredded-venison purchases.

This may be my attempt at humor about an issue that is not humorous. Hunting in this country and in these mountains is a long and honored tradition. The right to bear arms did help to ignite and found this country many years ago, but the tragedy in Arizona is further evidence that we are falling short on a couple of key issues. Gun sales actually spiked after the shooting. I guess the thinking is that we can save lives by taking lives. I am not sure it would have worked out well if people at that Tucson shopping center had whipped out their own Glock 17s and opened fire on the shooter. Jared Lee Loughner is a killer, but he is also a mentally ill person. Unfortunately we are better at treating the common cold with over-the-counter medications than we are at treating schizophrenia and depression. Couldn't we have prevented this? Not with arms, but with a better mental health care program in the United States. There were more than a few warning signs that should have gotten this troubled person some help. Spending money and time on preventative care might have saved the lives that were lost and destroyed last week.

Dr. Madison Michael, one of my former players, is a brain surgeon practicing in Memphis. When I spoke to him about the progress that Congresswoman Gabrielle Giffords is making in her recovery, I naively asked him if he ever performed surgery on gunshot wounds to the brain. He looked at me incredulously as if to say, "Coach, do you ever teach people how to hit a topspin forehand?" When gunshots to the head are that common, it is not just Wyatt Earp defending his family. I want people like Madison to have the chance to fix brains, not repair them, with a needle and thread. I can live with the fact that many of you disagree with me about gun control. Nine-year old Christina Green cannot.

Nature Notes

Snow Birds II

The snow continues to fall and Jean and Harry Yeatman are "housebound." The birds are coming in mixed droves. Jean mashed down some areas for scattering the bird feed below the hanging feeders. Many kinds of birds walk instead of hopping. Observe the cardinals, sparrows and finches hop, leaving little pairs of imprints in the snow. Doves and blackbirds of various species walk, leaving rows of tracks. The Yeatmans watched a crow trying to force its way in the seven-inch-deep snow; it was successful. This week is notable because of the large numbers of three kinds of blackbirds.

They fly in flocks, feed in flocks and even nest in flocks, often mixed species, sometimes with starlings and cowbirds. Redwing Blackbirds (above) arrived in early January to feed on the flattened snow. First, the females came as a flock segregated from the black males. Female Redwings look like large sparrows with streaked brown on light backgrounds. Note the short, sharp bill, medium-length tail and white line over each eye. They walk, don't hop. Then came the black males with red and yellow epaulets, hidden or partly hidden by black feathers. Redwings have black eyes. Now, notice the newly arrived blackbirds with yellow eyes, medium-length tails and sharp bills. These are Rusty Blackbirds (left). The males are black or rust-colored, like the females. On Jan. 11, the Common Grackles arrived in a huge flock of 40 or more birds. They are larger than the other kinds of blackbirds but have wider and longer bills and glossy plumage that looks black. Eyes are yellow like Rusty Blackbirds. They have a long, wedge-shaped tail. Many nest in Sewanee in the summer.

Tims Ford Nature Center Subject of Monday Meeting

Tims Ford Council (TFC) announces its next public meeting will be at 6 p.m., Monday, Jan. 24, in the Community Center Room at the Franklin County government annex building in the old Franklin County High School.

Gary Farris, chairman of the Tims Ford Environmental Association, will be the speaker. Farris will discuss what is necessary for the development of the new Nature Center at Tims Ford State Park located in the old visitor's center.

TFC's website is located at <www.timsfordcouncil.org> and gives all the latest regarding membership and environmental information regarding Tims Ford Reservoir. All residents of Franklin, Moore and Coffee counties are welcome to attend these public meetings. For more information contact Fred Doyle at 967-5746.

Pets of the Week: Meet Barney & Josie

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Barney is a happy, active young Pomeranian/Spitz mix. He is very friendly and never meets a person he doesn't like. Barney loves the winter weather, so he will be a good inside/outside pet. He is up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Josie is a playful, active kitten who loves to perch in high places and enjoys "hunting" her toys. She loves to be held, and she would enjoy a home where someone would play with her during the day and cuddle her at night. Josie is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out their other pets at www.animalharbor.com.

Please help The Humane Society continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to The Franklin County Humane Society, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

From Bard to Verse

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

...so all night long the storm roared on;
The morning broke without a sun;
In tiny spherule traced the lines
Of Nature's geometric signs,
In Starry flake and pellicule,
All day the hoary meteor fell;
And when the second morning shone,
We looked upon a world unknown,
On nothing we could call our own.
Around the glistening wonder bent
The blue walls of the firmament,
No cloud above, no earth below, —
A universe of sky and snow!
The old familiar sights of ours
Took marvelous shapes; strange domes and towers
Rose up where sty or corn-crib stood,
Or garden wall, or belt of wood;
A smooth white mound the brush-pile showed,
A fenceless drift what once was road ...
The well-curb had a Chinese roof;
And even the long sweep, high aloop,
In its slant splendour, seemed to tell
Of Pisa's leaning miracle....
