The Gailor House. Photo from the University Archives

Historic Homes of Sewanee Exhibit

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

In 1874, a little ways back from the corner of North Carolina and University Avenues, sat the Gailor House. The home had four rooms upstairs and four downstairs, and the four Gailor children grew up spending summers on the Mountain. The wide front porch was perfect for spending a summer afternoon in a rocking chair with a glass of iced tea, and its gabled roofs and shuttered windows look like they jumped off the page of a storybook.

"I read that Charlotte Gailor used to say that her parents, whenever the roof leaked, would add a room instead of having the old roof repaired," said Molly Elkins, a GIS Technician in the Landscape Analysis Lab. "True or not, the way Charlotte describes her family dynamic and the way that they lived makes me laugh, and I think that's what makes it my favorite historic house in Sewanee."

Despite its beauty and history, in 1991, the Gailor House was demolished to make room for Chen Hall, the residence of the Vice Chancellor.

It is the aim of the Historic Homes exhibit to keep Sewanee's history in the forefront, according to Mary O'Neill, who is in charge of the exhibit.

"I work in archives and have tried to update and make a database of all the images of historic homes in Sewanee," she said. "I've been working on that for over a year, trying to document the year each home was built and who lived or lives there. I've been working with the Sewanee Trust for Historic

6th Annual Dancewise Coming to the Stage

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

Dancers from the Theatre and Dance Department will take the stage this weekend for the sixth annual iteration of Dancewise, a production led and choreographed by University students.

The dance will feature faculty, 19 University students and guest artist Jenny Showalter of New York's Treeline DanceWorks. Courtney World, assistant professor of dance, created Dancewise six years ago to give student dancers and choreographers the opportunity to work on a production that is similar to a professional contemporary dance concert.

"I come up with a theme for the production, and often, the theme is around something that I'm working on in my own work. I wanted to do something jazzy this year, and I was hoping to open the door to having more live music in the future. This year, Jenny Showalter came down from New York to create something with the students," she said.

The students will perform Showalter's "Flightless," which was inspired by feathers and light.

"It's abstract enough that everyone will discover something for themselves in it," World said.

World said the inspiration for the theme "Body and Soul" was the classic dance song of the same name.

"I've always loved the jazz tune 'Body and Soul,' and that got me thinking, what is body and what is soul, and how do those two things relate and be so different for everyone? I tend to choose a theme that's quite open so the choreographers can find their own way into exploring something related," she said.

Student choreographer Robin Kate Davis said the first step to creating a dance is feeling the music.

"I'll hear a piece of music and start picturing how I want to dance to it. So much of it is about how the song makes me feel," she said. "My choreography is to a piece called 'Dreams,' and the subject of the scene is becoming aware that she can be a part of the dream as well. My inspiration was a soul connection rather than one to the body, and it's about making oneself aware of that curiosity it takes to become part of the dream."

Danielle Silfies, a senior theatre major, choreographed dances for the production of "Cabaret," which she will be working to restage for "Body and Soul."

Silfies said Sewanee has given her the tools she needs to create

Monteagle Grapples With Need for Road Repair

*by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer*

Lobbying for much needed road repair on Laurel Lake Drive, more than 50 residents attended the Jan. 28 Monteagle City Council meeting.

Laurel Lake Drive residents complained about potholes causing damage to vehicles and no shoulder on much of the road where crumbling road edges significantly narrowed the driving surface. Also troubling, in places resurfaced segments of the road abruptly rejoin unresurfaced segments with as much as a two-foot difference in the width of the roadway.

Another particularly dangerous concern is an area where water stands in the road. "Drivers need to cross the center line at a blind curve to get past it," said Laurel Lake Drive resident Jessica Favalaro. "Someone is going to get killed."

Twice since late 2018, Laurel Lake Drive has been closed due to washout of the road surface at an area where a culvert becomes blocked with debris and the water cannot flow into Laurel Lake.

"Water is rushing through the big rocks and washing away the crusher run gravel there," acknowledged Monteagle Utility Manager John Condra.

Alderman Tony Gilliam suggested there should have been a bridge at that section of the road and proposed the section needed reengineering. "There's nothing we

School Board Resolution Opposes Vouchers

*by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer*

At a Special Called meeting Jan. 25, the Franklin County School Board passed a resolution affirming opposition to "any legislation or other similar effort to create a voucher program in Tennessee that would divert money intended for public education to private entities." The pending state legislation would allow students to use public education funds to pay for private school tuition.

The Tennessee School Board Association reached out to local school boards asking them to "offer opposition" to the proposed legislation, said Director of Schools Stanley Bean. The resolution points out voucher programs go by different names and are variously referred to as "opportunity scholarships," "education savings," and "tax credits."

"Regardless of what you call it, it's taking money out of public education and giving it to parents of

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

More than 25 residents attended the Jan. 28 Sewanee Community Council meeting to voice opposition to the cellular tower slated for construction behind the football stadium. The tower would greatly improve community cell phone service from Verizon, Sprint and T-Mobile. Currently, only AT&T service is widely available.

Dale Richardson, who, with his wife Leslie Richardson hold the lease on the property closest to the tower site, summarized many of the group's grievances. Richardson pointed to possible health hazards from electromagnetic waves, noting many communities had band cellular towers. He also predicted a decrease in property values and argued the tower would disrupt the historical character of the location. "The football field is the oldest continually used football field in the South."

Another complaint voiced by many was lack of communication about the project.

"The biggest disappointment was that there was no communication from the University or the Community Council," said Peggy Peterson. Peterson and her husband hold the lease on the other property adjoining the site.

Peterson learned about the project from the Messenger report on the April 23 council meeting at which the proposed cellular tower and favored location were briefly mentioned. There was no discussion. Formation of the Parks Committee dominated the council's concerns that evening.

As potentially impacted adjoining leaseholders, the Petersons and Richardsons received notice in the fall from the Franklin County Board of Zoning Appeals about a proposed zoning change in their neighborhood necessary for a tower to be erected there. The Richardsons attended the zoning board meeting. The board rejected the University's rezoning appeal.

In December, the Franklin County Commission voted on a zoning rules amendment that paved the way for the project to go forward. The amendment allowed exceptions to the rule prohibiting towers when occupied structures were within the fall radius if "the proposed tower is needed for emergency communications."

Speaking for herself and Johnny Hughes, the other District 5 commissioner, Helen Stapleton said, "We were happy to approve the rule change. We had no idea there was any opposition. We thought we were doing the right thing. I apologize."

The Richardsons' home will be 140 feet away from the 189 foot tower.

The Petersons and Richardsons were unaware of the proposed zoning rules change and did not attend the county commission meeting. They read about an upcoming January zoning meeting in the Messenger, received notice of the meeting from the zoning board, and attended the Jan. 3 meeting to protest proposed rezoning in their neighborhood. The rezoning passed.

Numerous residents asked why no other sites were acceptable. Eric Hartman, head of University Risk Management, said other sites considered included the area of the Tennessee Williams Center for the Performing Arts, the baseball field, the baseball practice field, and the parking area at McCrady Hall. Hartman confirmed the contract with the wireless internet company Vogue Towers had been signed and the contract stipulated the location.

THE SHOULDERS WE STAND ON

To the Editor:

I read in the Messenger about the death of James William “Squealer” Sherrill. No mention was made of his important link to the founding of The University of the South. He was the great-grandson of Abraham Bowers, one of the original land donors to the Sewanee Domain. His mother was Mrs. Juan Bowers Sherrill, being the granddaughter of Abraham Bowers. She was an owner of the City Café, forerunner of The Blue Chair, and a true Sewanee lady. It is good to recognize the shoulders we stand on. God speed to you “Squealer” and all of your family.

Over a week before most students arrive, about 100 incoming freshmen, who choose to begin their academic experience here by learning about the "place" in which they will be living, learn about Sewanee through large group meetings, but mainly small interest groups of about 14, each with a faculty member as convener. These groups study and experience the local area's history and geography within a particular context, such as public health, art, literature, history, etc. One of the popular interest groups is "Walking in Place," and Potter leads that group, hiking on and off the campus. The classes continue to meet during first semester.

Church News

All Saints’ Chapel

Growing in Grace continues Sunday, Feb. 3, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints’ Chapel. Mark Hopwood, assistant professor of Philosophy, will be sharing his reflections with us. This informal worship service is designed for students and community members, featuring student-led acoustic music, a different guest speaker each week, and Holy Communion. This semester, each of our speakers will meditate on the theme of Moving Mountains.

The Catechumenate will meet Wednesday, Feb. 6, at 6:30 p.m. in the Women’s Center. A catered meal will be provided. Based around fellowship, study, openness, and conversation, the Catechumenate serves as a foundational piece for the Christian faith, as well as a forum for discussion for people of all backgrounds. This week we will learn more about the history of the Catechumenate. All are welcome!

For more information, please contact Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep <kayla.deep@sewanee.edu>.

Taizé will take place in St. Luke’s Chapel at 7 p.m., Friday, Feb. 8. Taizé services are a form of group meditation that uses repeated, simple chant-like melodies, brief Scripture reading, silence, and prayer. The atmosphere is quiet and contemplative, using candlelight and icons as a devotional focus. The service will last about 45 minutes. Please email Caroline Carson, if you have any questions. All are welcome.

Christ Church

On Feb. 3, the main focus of the service will be The Presentation of Christ in the Temple, transferred from Feb. 2 this year. On the 40th day after the birth of Jesus, he was taken to the Temple by Mary and Joseph to receive the customary blessing. This story, recounted by St. Luke, gave us the “Nunc Dimittis,” which is now known as The Song of Simeon. The Orthodox call the account “Hypapante” translated in English as “the meeting.” The feast came to be called “Candlemas” from the blessing of candles on this day. Americans call it “Groundhog Day,” though few know the origin is from legends about the “friendly beasts” waking up from their winter sleep just in time to see the Christ child.

CAC Pantry Sunday

Pantry Sunday for the Community Action Committee (CAC) is Sunday, Feb. 3, for participating churches: St. James, Otey, Cumberland Presbyterian and All Saints’ Chapel. Please bring your food offerings to Sunday services. The typical bag of groceries includes: rice, beans, pasta, macaroni and cheese, peanut butter, and cans of vegetables, fruit and soup. The cost for a complete bag is less than $15.

Verizon, the primary provider who will offer service at the new tower, selected the football field location as “the site that does the most good and the site we’re most interested in,” Hartman insisted.

Vogue Towers CEO Pat Tant explained Verizon’s choice was based on minimizing “the difficulty in penetrating stone buildings” and identifying a central location to maximize “propagation.”

“We need to hear from Verizon. They need to tell us why this is the perfect site,” argued Leslie Richardson.

Speaking in favor of the tower, University student Adam Foster said, “Just last night I got an email about a suspicious person on campus near Spencer Hall.” Foster expressed special concern for female students walking back to their dorm in areas where there was no cell service. “There is no service right here,” Foster stressed.

In addition to cell phone service providers, Franklin County Emergency Management will also use the tower to facilitate much needed improvement to communication in the Alto Road area, Hartman said.

Addressing the health hazard issue, Vice-Chancellor John McCardell noted that the cellular antennae “we have now in Shapard Tower emits these waves. Students living in the area and everyone who walks past is exposed. There are levels of risk one is willing to incur in every decision one makes in life.”

Citing the largely agreed upon need and benefit to the community, council representative Charles Whitmer observed, “If it’s not in your backyard it’s in someone else’s.”

Acknowledging the poor communication about the project, McCardell said, “There are things we might have done better. I’m grateful for the sincerity and passion of the residents who attended tonight’s meeting. These are our friends, neighbors and valued members of the community, and we should thank them.”

can do right now with the type of weather we’re having.

Mayor David Sampley promised Laurel Lake Drive residents when the new budget allocation for paving was drawn up in June, “We’ll put you ahead of everybody else. The other worst case scenarios have been taken care of.”

Marion County does road repair for Monteagle with the town paying for materials. Sampley said he would contact the Marion County road superintendent and get an estimate on the cost.

In regular business, the council elected Gilliam vice mayor. The city charter states the council should elect a vice mayor from among the alderpersons. The council had been operating under the convention of the previous mayoral administration, appointing as vice mayor the alderperson who received the most votes in the election held the year the mayor was elected. Jessica Blalock acted as vice mayor since November of 2016.

The council also voted to amend the Beer Permit ordinance to bring it in line with state law. Two years ago the state amended the law applying to beer sales at markets and grocery stores allowing 8 percent alcohol by weight and 10.1 percent alcohol by volume. Monteagle’s unrevised ordinance capped the by volume alcohol limit at 5 percent by weight.

The Pilot Travel Center contacted city recorder Debbie Taylor about the discrepancy. “Pilot wanted to be legal, so they were pulling the higher alcohol content beer off the shelves,” she said.

In another state law related issue, the council voted to opt out of paying for city employees’ health insurance after retirement. The cost would have far exceeded the town’s limited resources from occupancy tax, gasoline tax and sales tax. Monteagle does not levy an income tax.

Addressing excavation costs incurred by the Clifftops gated community to investigate the cause of surface water bubbling up onto the road, the council concurred with Condra’s recommendation to reimburse Clifftops for the $4,797 expense.

“I think it’s only right,” Condra said. The water source turned out to be a leaking, no longer used city water system valve. The Monteagle water department removed the valve and repaired the line.

The council allocated $1,050 to pay for a DJ at the monthly Cruise-In events held from April through September.

The council will begin meeting for monthly workshops, time and date to be announced. The next regular council meeting is Feb. 25.

Preservation, and they’ve been quite involved with this.”

The Historic Homes exhibit is scheduled for Feb. 4 and will run until the end of July. An opening reception and talk on Thursday, Feb. 7, at 5:30 p.m. will feature Elkins, who organized a driving tour of the historic homes, along with homeowners Bran and Cindy Potter, Virginia Craighill and Nancy Cortner. Posters are for sale, and an opportunity to order a historical plaque for homes on the Domain will be available at the opening.

The Historic Homes tour includes one main route through central campus, and two much shorter alternative routes. Presentations on Feb. 7 will feature an interactive map of houses that are still standing, and those razed or burned, along with links to Omeka, a database which showcases more images and text about each house.

O’Neill said there are upwards of 75 homes in Sewanee with some historical significance. She hopes the work on the exhibit will provide to the community a look at what life may have been like in previous Sewanees.

“Each historic home has a rich and unique history, and once burned down or razed, these stories often become forgotten,” Elkins said. “And these homes are more than just about architecture—each home was a representation of the person or family that lived there. I think the best part about this exhibit is that you get to see what was important in the lives of the previous owners of the house, what they valued, what brought them to the Mountain and what might have ultimately made them leave.”

Sewanee Inn Welcomes New Executive Chef

The Sewanee Inn welcomes new Executive Chef Wilbur G. Cox Jr. Cox comes to Sewanee from Baltimore, Md., where he was most recently the Executive Chef at the Hotel Revival. His extensive experience includes Hotel Monaco, The Elkridge Club, and corporate trainer for The Kimpton Group. He has had the privilege to work under or with some of the finest chefs in the country, including E. Michael Reidt (Food and Wine Best New Chef 2001), Guerillmo Tellez-Cruz (formerly of Charlie Trotter’s 2 Star Michelin), Patricia Yeo (Food and Wine Best New Chef 2001), Andrew Carmellini, and Thomas Dunklin (Emeril Group). Cox’s many awards include the American Institute of Food and Wine’s “Farm to Chef” best vegetarian, “Maritime Magic” best savory, first place at the 20th Annual Chocolate Affair, and first place three years in a row at their annual Farmer and the Chef competition. He has also been featured in Flavor & the Menu, Baltimore Style, and Sip & Savor magazines.

“Food, cooking, and service have always been true passions of mine,” said Cox. “As a child, my family would spend the summers working on my grandmother’s family farm in rural North Carolina. I had the rare opportunity to see the entire process of seed to fork since the age of five, and it is upon that foundation that I find myself where I am as a chef today. I began my culinary career as a pot washer in my family’s restaurant at 13 years of age, and never looked back.”

her own choreography as well as design costumes to accompany the dances.

Silfies is working with the Professor Jennifer Matthews’ costume design class to outfit all the dancers.

“A lot of my inspiration comes from being a dancer—it makes it easier to talk to other dancers about what they want for their costumes. They’ll give me a general idea of what they’re envisioning, and from there, you can take that idea and find historical pictures to create the pieces.”

New to Dancewise this year is student lighting designer, Krystal Fowler.

“Typically, we have faculty or an intern do lighting, but Krystal is doing the design for ‘Body and Soul’ as her senior project. She is meeting with every choreographer individually to plan for the show.”

“DanceWise: Body and Soul” will run at the Tennessee Williams Center’s Proctor Hill Theatre at 7:30 p.m., Friday, Feb. 1; at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 2; and at 2 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 3.

Community Council Honors Knoll

*by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer*

Although discussion about the cellular tower dominated discussion at the Jan. 28 Sewanee Community Council meeting, the council also took up several other issues. Following the suggestion of resident Mary Priestley, the council voted to make the roadside cleanup project an annual event and to name the event after Arthur Knoll.

Knoll, a former county commissioner and University professor, actively promoted and supported the cleanup project for many years, Priestley said. Council representative Phil White will chair the cleanup initiative. Priestley coordinated the project last year and will do so again this year. The proposed date is April 20.

Vice-Chancellor John McCardell welcomed newly elected council representatives Anna Palmer, District 1, and Eric Keen, District 3. Palmer serves as the admission counselor at St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School. Keen is a visiting instructor of biology at the University.

Provost Nancy Berner announced a vacancy on the agenda committee. The committee reviews potential agenda items submitted for the council’s consideration to determine if the topic is one the council should address or if the subject should be referred to another entity, Franklin County or the University Lease Committee, for example. Berner asked council representatives interested in assisting with the agenda review process to contact her. Agenda items referred to other entities are announced at council meetings to keep the council informed of community concerns.

Council representative Cindy Potter announced the Community Action Committee will pay for the fees and equipment for any child who wishes to participate in youth sports and lacks the resources. For information or to recommend a child for assistance, contact Potter <cynthiadepotter@gmail.com> or the CAC (931) 598-5927. The council meets next March 25.

VILLAGE REPORT

by Frank X. Gladu

The priority projects in the Village continue to move forward. The road project has completed the right of way phase and is now being reviewed by the Tennessee Department of Transportation engineers. The project is expected to begin construction planning this spring. There has been some reevaluation of the mixed-use specialty food market and apartment building to consider a two-story building instead of three. It is an interesting adjustment to the plan and we are taking a look at it for the benefits and drawbacks. The Bookstore is nearing the completion of a re-design and hopes are to break ground this spring with an opening in the Spring of 2020. The other significant activity has been with the housing project. A request for proposals for building homes in Sewanee was sent out in November. The target market for these homes is to be within the financial reach of faculty and staff of the University. The objective is to create some affordable single family homes as well as some town homes and duplexes. Several proposals have been submitted and we are in the process of evaluating them. I am hoping to identify some possibilities within a month or two so that we can begin building places to live in Sewanee. In addition to these projects, we are finishing up a storm water study and the recommendations of that study are expected in March. Also, a conceptual parking plan study is expected soon.

We are also exploring the creation of guidelines for what we are calling Quality of Life. These voluntary Quality of Life guidelines would be intended to complement and enhance the architectural and building standards already in place as outlined in the Sewanee Village Pattern Book (See www.sewanee.edu/Village). The intent of these guidelines would be to create, protect and preserve our natural environment and to address the look and feel of the place. It would include items such as tree preservation, view sheds, trails, access to the woods, storm water practices at the leaseholder level, light pollution and establishing dark sky principles. It would also be intended to address landscaping principles that provide for open spaces, selected plant types for both trees and shrubs as well as lawn maintenance, flower beds and sidewalks. We need to plan for an attractive street with appropriate signage, storefront windows, seasonal décor, bike racks, outdoor furniture with resting and gathering spaces. In addition, we would like to capture the principles established in the University's Sustainability Master Plan of 2013. All of these things and more need to be identified and established to guide not only the development as we begin to build new buildings, but to assist existing building and business owners to achieve an attractive and charming downtown.

This month's meeting will be devoted to a discussion about these Quality of Life elements. We hope to identify what should be included in a set of guidelines. Two meeting times will be offered on Tuesday, Feb. 5, one at 10 a.m. and the other at 5:30 p.m. Both sessions will be held at the Blue Chair on University Avenue. Hope that you will be able to attend. But if you can't, please share your ideas on this topic with me and I would be glad to include them in our effort to enhance the livability of Sewanee.

Frank X. Gladu is a Special Assistant to the Vice-Chancellor and project Manager for the Sewanee Village Development. He can be reached at fxgladu@sewanee.edu or (931) 598-3397. More information can be obtained at www.sewanee.edu/village.

students to do whatever they want to with it," Bean said.

The resolution stressed, that "the State of Tennessee has established nationally recognized standards and measures for accountability in public education ... Vouchers eliminate accountability, by channeling taxes to private schools without the same academic or testing requirements, public budgets or reports on student achievement, open meetings and records, and public accountability requirements in major federal laws, including special education laws."

The resolution also noted, "vouchers have not been proven effective at improving student achievement or closing the achievement gap."

"Who will benefit from a voucher system?" asked school board representative Sara Liechty. "It won't be the children from poverty and inner city schools. It will be the upper middle class, wealthier children who would have been in private school anyway. The extra the parents get will take the family to the Bahamas for a vacation."

"It would just be a supplement," concurred Board Chair Cleijo Walker, emphasizing the amount parents received would not be nearly enough to pay for private school tuition. "Parents of kids in urban schools that aren't perform-

"The county appreciates the school board more than ever. I've been hearing lots of positive comments about the middle schools," said Director of Schools Stanley Bean in observance of School Board Appreciation Week. ing will be the ones who are for this, but it's not going to help them."

Illustrating the impact on the public schools from loss of funding Bean said, "The buses would still need to travel the same routes regardless of how many kids they were picking up. And we'd still need the same number of teachers. If there were 23 rather than 25 students in a class, we'd be losing the money for those two students, but we'd still have to pay for the teacher."

"Christian schools, private schools, home schooling—that's a lawful right," Liechty said. "But don't ask the tax payers to pay for it."

Views on Adapting to Business Challenges Lecture

Mike Deimler, P'14, a senior partner and managing director in the Atlanta office of the Boston Consulting Group (BCG), will speak at 4:30 p.m., Monday, Feb. 4, in the Torian Room in duPont Library. Deimler's presentation, "When the Game Gets Tough, Change the Game," will offer insights into creating business success with agile leadership. The lecture is free and open to the public and will be followed by a reception to meet Deimler, the Babson Center's Bryan Viewpoints Speaker for the 2019 Easter Semester.

BCG is one of the world's top management consulting firms, with locations in more than 50 countries. Deimler joined the firm in 1990 after earning his M.B.A. at the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Business. From 2005 until 2013, he was the Global Leader of BCG's Strategy Practice.

In his leadership role, Deimler guided the firm's investment agenda and training curriculum related to implementing programs driving growth and change. BCG is considered to be among the innovators in strategic planning and corporate strategy, developing many of the key concepts used today to assist companies in adapting to dynamic business environments.

At BCG, Deimler provides guidance to a broad range of companies, particularly those seeking to enter new Asian markets and the travel industry. In 2000, he played a senior role in the initial launch of Orbitz.com, a travel fare website and travel search engine. Deimler was also instrumental in the acquisition of Atlanta-based BrightHouse, a management consulting company, which happens to be led by Sewanee alumni and offers internships to Sewanee undergraduates.

Deimler is the principal editor of "Own the Future," a 2013 book on the attributes required to gain a competitive advantage in today's turbulent marketplace while building sustainable businesses. In 2005, he coedited the bestselling book "The Boston Consulting Group on Strategy," a curated compilation of BCG's best thinking on strategy topics. Deimler is also the author of "Adaptive Advantage: Winning Strategies for Uncertain Times."

In addition to his work with for-profit firms, Deimler also advises numerous nonprofit organizations, including the Boy Scouts of America, Feeding America, and Opportunity International, on strategy and direction.

The Bryan Viewpoints Speaker Series is sponsored by the Babson Center for Global Commerce and is made possible by a generous gift from Peggy and J.F. Bryan IV, C'65.

Author and Healthcare Leader to Give Talk on Values-Based Leadership

Jeff Thompson, M.D., pediatrician, author, and CEO emeritus at Gundersen Health System, will give a talk on values-based leadership at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 7, in the McGriff Alumni House at the University of the South. All are invited.

Thompson is a frequent speaker on the topic of building a mission-driven culture as a values-based leader. SAS Gallery to Feature Copper and Clay

More than 20 years ago, G. Sanford McGee went looking for a piece of copper he'd stowed a few years earlier on the edge of his yard while working on building his off-grid home near Sewanee, Tenn. McGee, a science teacher, naturalist and artist, was finally ready to begin the copper-faced architectural frieze he had planned for his new home. After locating the copper panel and pulling away the accumulated layers of plant and leaf decay, McGee met with an epiphany. The hand of nature had taken over, adding layers of patina to the copper, colors and forms telling the story of the particular leaves, plants and their chemical components interacting with the copper sheet. Another home-builder might have considered the copper ruined for their purposes. But, McGee, with his artist's eye, understanding of chemistry and deep knowledge of the plants of his native Cumberland Plateau was uniquely prepared to recognize and appreciate the opening of an artistic collaboration with nature.

McGee has continued the dialogue between his artistic practice and the natural world. These sublime yet highly physical works have been enthusiastically received and are exhibited across Europe and the U.S.

McGee's work will be featured in the SAS Gallery, along with another artistic collaboration: Annie Hanks Ceramics Studio of Chattanooga, Tenn., the joint project of Stephanie Anne Martin and Katherine Hanks. Their utilitarian, sculptural bodies of work combine a contemporary aesthetic with timelessly simple forms. Matte finishes and pale neutral colors add to the elemental character of their porcelain and stoneware.

Hanks, a Texas native with a lifelong affinity for the natural world, recognizes the influence of her native Hill Country landscape on her Annie Hanks work. Meanwhile, Stephanie Martin's connection to clay is more inwardly-focused; she describes her ceramic work as a manifestation of internal growth into tangible form.

In the five years since its founding, the studio has flourished, with its functional work featured in Scenic City Supper Club and Wildflower Tea Shop in Chattanooga, as well as the Hunter Museum of Art's popular Examinations project.

Annie Hanks Ceramics and G. Sanford McGee's works on copper can be seen in the SAS Gallery. There will be a public reception for the artists on Saturday, Feb. 9, 4-6 p.m.

Hours are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m.–3 p.m., and by appointment. Contact Gallery Director Julie Jones at <sasgallery@sasweb.org> for more information.

'Sweepstakes Red' at Carlos Gallery

The Carlos Gallery in the Nabit Art Building at University of the South will present "Sweepstakes Red," an exhibition of paintings by Chicago artist Carris Adams. The exhibit will be on display through March 14. An artist talk and opening reception will be at 4:30 p.m., today (Friday), Feb. 1.

"Sweepstakes Red" presents a series of large-scale paintings of text, language and imagery that recall signage indicative of neighborhoods and public spaces. Her work investigates markers such as advertisements, roads, residential structures and commercial structures and the relational threads between ownership in marginalized spaces and politics, class, histories, celebration and resilience.

Presented on unstretched canvases, the paintings behave like posters or billboards, aligning themselves with hand-painted insignias found in local communities and neighborhoods. The paintings rely on viewer's recollection of spaces they may have once visited or inhabited, inviting them to consider how mere text and imagery may be indicators of location, race, class or gender. The conceptually multi-layered works ask viewers to recognize their assumptions, recall an experience and perhaps note how societal markers materialize in the landscape.

The Carlos Gallery is at 105 Kennerly Rd. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 1 to 5 p.m., Saturday and Sunday. For more information contact Jessica Wohl at (931) 598-1256 or <jewohl@sewanee.edu>.

ANGELWITH AN ATTITUDE

by Virginia Craighill

Dear Angel,

What's this I hear about a cell tower going up at the football field? I live nearby and don't recall getting any information about this until I read about it in last week's Messenger. Couldn't they put it somewhere else? Is it going to be unsightly?

Signed,
Uninformed

Dear Uninformed,

Hopefully a new cell tower will improve communication around Sewanee. Perhaps the reason you and other neighbors weren't aware of the location choice until now is because you have really bad cell service and missed all the calls from people who care about your opinion.

Though the other locations considered were not specifically named, sources revealed that they were 1) the vegan line at McClurg, 2) the alien landing circle in the Lake Cheston parking lot, and 3) Lower Cravens. Clearly no one wanted to denigrate the architectural purity of Lower Cravens by putting a cell tower there, so the obvious choice is where hardly anyone ever goes: Harris Stadium.

As for being "unsightly," the tower will be about 189 feet tall, but it will be "tucked away" behind the football field, so just like that bottle of Jack Daniels you have "tucked away" behind the tax files in your drawer, it probably won't be noticeable at all. In other good news, it is a Vogue Tower, which could mean it will be shaped like one of those abnormally tall European fashion models. Even if it is a looming monstrosity, it doesn't matter as no one in Sewanee will ever look skyward again. Once we have good cell service all the time, there's no reason to take our eyes off the tiny screen that contains all we need of life.

Angel

Dear Angel,

I have to park in the Gailor parking lot for work, but every time I pull up the hill, I feel like I'll have as much luck finding a parking space as I will winning the Powerball Lottery. When will this nightmare end?

Signed,
Parking Lottery Loser

Dear Loser,

Your PowerBall analogy makes sense; getting a parking spot at Gailor after 8 a.m. feels like you've just won MegaMillions, but like winning the lottery, a parking space comes with its own set of problems: if you leave your money or your parking space at any point during the day, it will be gone when you come back, and every time you leave the building, you will encounter stalker cars, angling for some of your good luck.

The Gailor parking lot situation actually comes closer to Fortnite Battle Royale: you drive into the lot and must compete with 100 others players hoping to scavenge the sole remaining parking spot. Sometimes you can work in teams: professors about to leave Gailor can text you before they exit the building to let you know where their car is, so you can idle behind their space, but make sure no one else outmaneuvers you. You can eliminate players by calling SPD to report illegally parked student cars, but that will take some time. If you don't win, you'll be forced to turn your car around at the top of the lot without hitting any other cars; this will take you at least 30 extra minutes with no guarantee of finding a place to park closer than Monteagle.

Like Fortnite Battle Royale, danger is rampant in the Gailor parking lot. To quote Wikipedia on Fortnite: "players outside that safe area take damage and can be eliminated if they fail to quickly evacuate. This forces remaining players into tighter spaces and encourages player encounters." Weaponized Monster Trucks filled with physically able students appear out of nowhere to park in Handicapped Spots, or to take up three illegal blue spaces with one vehicle because their muscular truck beds stick out too far, squeezing you into "tighter spaces." These same gargantuan trucks will dent, scratch, or crush your tiny professor Subaru as they pull out of the lot without ever seeing it, eliminating you from the game forever!

Good luck, and be careful out there,

GAAC Sculpture Competition

The Grundy Area Arts Council (GAAC) and the Mountain Goat Trail Alliance (MGTA) are pleased to announce the Old Roundhouse Park & Mountain Goat Trail Sculpture Competition for 2019. The GAAC and the MGTA seek proposals for site-specific sculptures from Tennessee and regional artists to provide an opportunity for artists to create a public work and to enhance the trail with sculpture.

The location for the sculpture will be visible from the Mountain Goat Trail in the newly developing Old Roundhouse Park. The 2019 approved site will be central to the proposed completed trail. Works can be in any media, must be suitable for outdoors, must be "sit-able" and should be permanent. Entries should incorporate elements of the story and culture of the Mountain Goat and the Plateau region it served. The selected work will be announced in March, and the finished work will be celebrated in June 2019.

This project is made possible with an Arts Builds Community Grant from the Tennessee Arts Commission. Proposals are due Feb. 15. The full application can be found at <www.mountaingoattrail.org/2019-sculpture-competition/>. For more information email <grundyareaarts@gmail.com>.

"fall in the woods" 24x32 diptych acrylic

In-Town Gallery Exhibits 'poems for the sky'

In-Town Gallery features a showing of paintings entitled "poems for the sky" by Chattanooga artist, Jaime Barks. Barks, who grew up roaming the foothills of the Smoky Mountains, creates dynamic paintings characterized by a strong sense of design, line, and color that seek to capture the wild earthy magic she felt during those hours alone in the woods.

"My goal," she says, "is to make artwork that connects people to nature and to each other."

Jaime Barks' paintings are in numerous private collections and public venues throughout the United States. Though she chose to get her degree in communications, she has been drawing all her life. After her children were born, she embarked on a rigorous project in which she made drawings everyday for two years. During this time she developed her distinctive technique using pen and watercolor before switching to fluid acrylics, the medium she most often uses today.

Barks' distinctive paintings are immediately recognizable. Her painting "fall in the woods" is a diptych composed of two 24 inch by 16 inch panels. The work presents us with stability and grandeur in the depiction of a boldly drawn tree trunk that unites the two panels, soaring upward, leading the viewer's eye to the dancing yellow leaf canopy above. The artist's rhythmic use of line combines with the lively yellows to suggest a life force flowing to the sky.

Barks' "poems for the sky" will be on display through Feb. 28, with an opening reception Friday, Feb. 1, 5-8 p.m.

In-Town Gallery is an artist co-op gallery that is open seven days a week and offers a wide range of art and fine craft from 32 artists, including paintings in many media, hand-painted silk scarves and clothing, sculpture, pottery, and handcrafted wood items. The gallery is located on the North Shore at 26A Frazier Ave., (423-267-9214). For more information, visit <www.intowngallery.com>.

Men's Basketball Survives Major Threat; Wins Third in a Row

The Sewanee men's basketball team escaped with a win on its home floor with a 62-59 triumph over the Majors of Millsaps College, Jan. 27, inside Juhan Gymnasium.

Trailing 8-4 with 13:30 left in the half, the Tigers went to work, making back-to-back triples to lead 10-8.

After the Majors evened the score, the Purple and Gold went on a 9-0 run to push the lead to 19-10.

The visitors were able to cut the deficit to as low as seven on two different occasions late in the first half, but the Tigers led by nine, 36-27, at the break.

Sewanee made the lead as big as 13, but Millsaps was able to cut the deficit to one with a little over a minute to go.

The teams were unable to get anything in the bucket in the final minute, but with less than 30 seconds left in regulation, the Majors had a chance to take the lead, but a steal by Jordan Warlick gave Sewanee possession.

After two free throws by Hunter Buescher with 2.2 seconds to go, the Majors had to go the length of the floor to attempt to tie the game, but an errant pass by Millsaps sealed the victory.

Hunter Buescher led the Tigers with 15 points, while Jordan Warlick posted 12 points. Matt Lee posted nine rebounds and eight points, while Luke Smith dished out six assists.

Women's Basketball Drops Contest to SAA Leader

The Sewanee women's basketball team saw the visitors shoot 52.2 percent from the floor, as the Tigers fell to the Southern Athletic Association leaders in Millsaps College, 68-59, Jan. 27, inside Juhan Gymnasium.

Both teams played a tight first quarter, with no team gaining more than a one-possession lead. Thanks to a triple by the Majors' Kasi Matthews, the game was even at 17 points apiece after 10 minutes.

The second quarter was all Millsaps. The visitors had a 34-23 half-time lead.

The Tigers attempted a comeback bid in the third quarter, cutting the 11-point deficit to two with a 20-11 run, 45-43 with 1:27 left in the period. However, the Majors scored the final four points to lead 49-43, and that lead would stand.

Ellie Treanton led all scorers with 17 points and added six rebounds. Sue Kim scored 13 points and dished out five assists. Kinsley Logan contributed 10 points, while Abby Young scored nine points and corralled eight boards off the bench.

Tigers Conclude Regular Season Slate at Birmingham-Southern

The Sewanee swimming and diving teams took on defending Southern Athletic Association champion Birmingham-Southern in a dual on Jan. 25, at the Birmingham CrossPlex. The 21st ranked men's team defeated the Tigers, 122-81, while the women, who are receiving votes in the College Swimming and Diving Coaches Association of America (CSCAA) and are ranked ninth in the West-Midwest-South region, gave Sewanee a 141-97 loss.

Lee Haber won two events on Friday: the 400 individual medley (4:14.49) and the 100 breaststroke (1:00.65), which is a season-best for the sophomore. He missed his career-best by .05 seconds. Anthony Carbone won the 200 freestyle with a 1:45.01 clip, while Thomas Young swam a 57.10-second clip in the 100 butterfly. James Hoyt earned the win in the 500 freestyle (4:52.11), while Jarrod Marable scored 85.05 points on the one-meter dive. In the 400 freestyle relay, the quartet of Carbone, Haber, Hoyt and Young won the event with a 3:21.53 clip.

American Woodcock

As the days begin to lengthen it's an excellent time to start observing the earliest signs of spring on the plateau. One such sign that winter will soon give way to warmer weather is the magnificent display of the American Woodcock. Also known as the Timberdoodle, this odd sandpiper isn't found on coastal beaches but in old fields and young forest across the entire eastern US. Across much of its range it's the first bird to start breeding activity, and we're lucky enough to have several pairs that breed around the Sewanee-Monteagle Airport!

The display starts just after sundown every day; the bachelor will select a patch of ground and begin to repeat a short, nasal 'peent!' call. He waits for just the right moment (known only to him) and without warning flies up from the ground with a wing-whir like a startled Mourning Dove. While you or I might assume that the bird was merely flushed, we'd soon be corrected by a soft twittering sound coming from high above us. It gets faster and louder and eventually you catch sight of a small, dark shape twisting and spiraling down from a great height to land in exactly the same spot it left a few minutes earlier. In my opinion this is one of the most spectacular displays of any bird to be seen in this area. The incredible part is that the twitter isn't the bird singing, but specially designed primary feathers which catch the air, producing chirping and whistling sounds as the bird twirls and dives down to earth. If you've ever used an 'Audubon' twist bird call, that's essentially the exact sound the wings make.

If you'd like to try to see this display, plan to arrive just before sunset at the intersection of Midway and Jump Off roads at the east end of the airstrip. In recent nights, the brushy area just to the northeast of this spot has hosted two males displaying simultaneously from different hidden spots. Listen for the 'peent' and when you hear the twittering call, watch above for the flight display (because the drama unfolds after sundown, it's often quite difficult to spot the birds against a dimly lit sky). The birds typically start displaying in this area in late December and continue as the weather warms. Winter can sometimes be a slow time of year for birders, but the flight of the Timberdoodle is a reminder that spring is coming.

—reported by Angus Pritchard, C'22

Louis Rice sends in this photo of the first crocus of the year. He spotted this in his backyard on Jan. 27, at 1:30 p.m.

Maria

Daisy

Pets of the Week

Meet Maria & Daisy

Maria is a two-year-old beautiful black and white mixed breed dog. She is very friendly and loves everyone she comes into contact with. Maria is a bundle of energy when she first meets you, but can also be a big couch potato that loves to snuggle. Maria gets along great with other dogs her size that have equal amounts of energy, but may not be well suited for a family with small children at this time. Due to her high energy level, she needs more training before she can be fully trusted around a small child. We think Maria will be a loyal, loving companion to the right owner, offering plenty of companionship and adventure. Maria is fully vaccinated and spayed.

Daisy is a nine-month-old Torbie kitten with a lot of love to give. Daisy loves to be the center of attention, and loves to be petted. Daisy prefers to stay inside and watch outside from a window instead of going out to explore the outdoor patio, so we think she will make a great indoor cat. Daisy has been with us since September, and she has proven to get along with all the cats and kittens very well. Being nine months old, she is starting to lose some of the immaturity and antics of a kitten and has blossomed into a well-behaved teenager. Daisy would love to grow into adulthood in a loving home where she can come into her own and become an integral part of a loving family. Daisy is fully vetted and spayed.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Every year
everything
I have ever learned in my lifetime

leads back to this: the fires and the black river of loss whose other side

is salvation whose meaning
none of us will ever know.
To live in this world

you must be able to do three things:
to love what is mortal;
to hold it against your bones knowing your own life depends on it; and, when the time comes to let it go to let it go.
