Wilder Play Reading 'Looks Like Pretty'

Professional actors will read from Elyzabeth Gregory Wilder's play, "Looks Like Pretty," on Sunday, Feb. 23, at 4 p.m. in the Tennessee Williams Center. The play is a co-commission from the Sloan Foundation and Geva Theatre and will last for two hours with intermission. There will be a reception afterward.

In "Looks Like Pretty," Charlie is in love with Shirley, the Kodak Color Girl. With fair skin and auburn hair, she is the basis by which all photographs are color balanced. But when Gloria, an African-American employee, asks for his help after the disappearance of her daughter, they both begin to question how we perceive light, color, and beauty. "Looks Like Pretty" examines who is seen and who is invisible, and how science and technology play a role in manipulating the narrative.

Elyzabeth Gregory Wilder is the Tennessee Williams Playwright-in-Residence. Her plays have been produced at the Royal Court (London), Denver Center Theatre, Alabama Shakespeare Festival, Arden Theatre, Triad Stage, New Conservatory Theatre, and Hartford Stage, among others.

Ward to Present Solo Organ Recitals

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

Music has been a part of Geoffrey Ward's life since he was young. Early on, his father demonstrated a deep appreciation for classical and church music. Ward said that is something he carried with him into his professional life.

Ward, who is the University's organist and choirmaster, first began studying the organ as a student of Arizona State University. His background was initially in piano and trumpet, but during his studies at ASU, the organ became his focus.

Drawing inspiration from his father's love of music, Ward went on to study trumpet, piano, pipe organ and conducting. Later this month, he will present an organ concert showcasing the works by Camille Saint-Saëns, Johann Sebastian Bach, Jehan Alain, Herbert

Animal Harbor Chili Benefit

Everyone is invited to enjoy chili and fixings in Sewanee while helping out the homeless pets at Animal Harbor, Franklin County's limited-admission, no-kill animal shelter.

The chili supper will be held from 5-7 p.m., Friday, Feb. 28, at the Sewanee Community Center, 39 Ball Park Rd.

Attendees may choose from traditional chili or vegetarian chili with drinks, desserts and other fixings included. A suggested donation for adults is $10 and $5 for children. Enjoy eating in or take out.

The community's support will help continue Animal Harbor's mission to provide health care and temporary shelter for lost and homeless companion animals while working to find loving homes. The Harbor also works to prevent cruelty to animals, educates the community about animal welfare and promotes spaying and neutering. This event is held in celebration of World Spay Day.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., Winchester. The facility is operated by members of the Franklin County Humane Society, a private nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization.

Because of the recent heavy rainfall, Animal Harbor is closed temporarily due to a flooded parking lot and surrounding area. The shelter is continuing to allow adoptions by appointment. Check out their adoptable pets at <http://animalharbor.org> and enter a drawing on their website for a free spay or neuter for one of your current pets.

Animal Harbor hours are Tuesday through Friday from noon to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Call Animal Harbor at (931) 962-4472.

Attorneys Recommend Suspending Monteagle Fire Chief

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Feb. 17 working session, the Monteagle City Council reviewed a letter from city attorney Sarah Bible Willis with Bible and Bible, P.C., recommending terminating the employment of Monteagle Fire Chief Mike Holmes. The letter cited "Holmes recent conviction for criminally negligent homicide," stating "We find it problematic to allow him to remain in the fire chief position." The law firm proposed suspension with pay until Holmes' April sentencing.

Holmes was present for the subsequent discussion.

"We would prefer to pay you up until sentencing," said Vice Mayor Tony Gilliam.

"Then what?" asked Holmes. Holmes said he was appealing the conviction and pointed out another felon worked for the city.

"He's not in a supervisory position," Gilliam said. "He served his time and probation."

Alderwoman Jessica Blalock objected to suspending Holmes.

Assistant Fire Chief Jeremy Blalock asked who would serve as chief.

"We want to talk with you about that," Gilliam said. Gilliam explained the city could not pay him because his wife, Jessica Blalock, served on the council. Jeremy Blalock is a volunteer fire fighter.

"You tried to get me to resign," Holmes said. "I already have an attorney hired."

"If we don't do what the city attorney tells us to do, we need to resign," Gilliam said. "We don't want any of the fire fighters to resign."

Holmes and assistant chief Blalock walked out during the discussion. The council did not vote on Holmes' suspension or termination.

According to city recorder Debbie Taylor, one of the volunteer fire fighters turned in his equipment the next day and most of the city fire fighters have resigned, but because they are volunteers, their official status is unclear. Taylor is contacting them to verify their status. Sewanee Volunteer Fire Department Assistant Chief Doug Cameron said SVFD would respond to Monteagle area calls if necessary.

In other business, Mountain Goat Trail Alliance Board President Nate Wilson presented the council with options for extending

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Feb. 18 meeting, the Sewanee Utility District Board of Commissioners elected officers for the coming year. To educate the board on an issue critical to public water utilities, SUD manager Ben Beavers presented an overview of water-loss metrics, how water loss is calculated, and the financial ramifications.

The meeting opened with the swearing in of new commissioner Doug Cameron. Board President Charlie Smith welcomed Cameron back, "We're glad to have your expertise on the board." Cameron previously served two, four-year terms on the SUD board, five of those years as president.

The board elected Smith president, Cameron vice president, and Paul Evans secretary.

In discussing water-loss accountability, Beavers referred the board to the annual water audit report, a benchmark reviewed by the state comptroller in the annual audit assessment of public water utilities.

Of the 109 million gallons of water SUD produced in 2019, 30.3 million gallons counted as non-revenue water, or water not paid for. Non-revenue water includes water from three categories: water produced at the plant and used by SUD in its operations; water lost due to theft, meter inaccuracies, and other data system errors; and water loss from identified leaks, such as line breaks, unidentified leaks, such as aging, deteriorated water lines; and hydrant flushing.

Translated into dollars, of the total cost of producing water, 6.1 percent was for non-revenue water. "Actually," Beavers said, "that's very good compared to other water utilities of our size. SUD is in the top 25 percent statewide." Some water utilities' scores showed nearly 50 percent of their cost of production resulting from non-revenue water.

Beavers has a threefold strategy for reducing non-revenue water loss.

FAREWELL TO FRANKLIN WITH THANKS

To the Editor:

It is with heartfelt thanks that I write this letter. Our Compassus hospice volunteer, Howard Franklin, will be leaving the area soon for the Sunshine state of Florida. He has been volunteering with us for 10 years. He has been a great advocate voice not only for our volunteer program, but also for our hospice program in general including our bereavement program. He has supported hospice patients and their families' lives on the Mountain and beyond. Over the years he has given much needed patient caregiver relief; visited regularly with caregivers for emotional support; sat bedside with alert and dying patients and has been known to cook an egg or two for a patient along the way. Good-hearted folks like Howard quietly go about their day doing so much good and sometimes we just have no idea the depth of footprints they leave. Thank you just does not seem quite enough. I wanted the community to know how much Howard has meant to Compassus, the lives he has touched (just within our hospice realm), not to mention to those of yours he has touched, and myself. There were times when he patiently waited in the wings for my phone call of a volunteer request. It was always comforting for me to know that he was only that phone call away. Thank you Howard for your selfless and compassionate service to others in your community and beyond. I am grateful for your heart for hospice. We will miss you terribly, but know that you will continue your life of volunteer service in your new home. Godspeed to you and blessings in this new chapter of your life!

Most sincerely,

Julia Logan-Mayer, Volunteer Coordinator, Compassus Hospice & Palliative Care, Tullahoma (serving Bedford, Cannon, Coffee, Franklin, Grundy & Moore since 1995)

All Saints' Chapel

Growing in Grace continues Sunday, Feb. 23, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel. Rick Wright, chef and director of Sewanee Dining, will share his story with us. This informal worship service is designed for students and community members, featuring student-led acoustic music, a different guest speaker each week, and Holy Communion. This semester, each of our speakers will address our theme, "The Stranger as God." Together, we will explore how we see God in the stranger, drawing wisdom from Hebrews 3:2—"Do not neglect to show hospitality to strangers, for by doing that some have entertained angels without knowing it." Email Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep if you have any questions.

Compline—The School of Theology Schola will be singing the service of Compline throughout the Easter semester in All Saints' Chapel, 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 25. This beautiful service is led by Kenneth Miller, assistant professor of church music, and Zachary Zwahlen, assistant university organist.

Ash Wednesday, Feb. 26, marks the beginning of a dramatic transition as we leave behind the season after the Epiphany and enter into the season of Lent. There will be two services on Ash Wednesday (both with Holy Eucharist and the imposition of ashes): one at 7 a.m. held at the High Altar, the other at 5:15 p.m. held in the Nave. Child-care will be provided at the 5:15 p.m. service. Traditionally, Lent is a season marked with prayer, penitence, and fasting. It carries us slowly, yet deliberately, to Palm Sunday, through the events of Holy Week, culminating in the "Great Three Days" in the life of the Church: Maundy Thursday, Good Friday, and the Easter Vigil. During this season, our worship will be simplified: for example, there will be no flowers and no alleluias. We encourage you to engage in these services and invite you into the observance of a Holy Lent.

The Catechumenate will continue Wednesday, Feb. 26, at 6:30 p.m. in the Women's Center. A catered meal will be provided. Based around fellowship, study, openness, and conversation, the Catechumenate serves as a foundational piece for the Christian faith, as well as a forum for discussion for people of all backgrounds. We will begin discussing Ash Wednesday and the Rite of Enrollment. All are welcome. For more information, please contact Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep <kayla.deep@sewanee.edu>.

Christ Episcopal Church

The annual Pancake Supper will be held at the Father Adamz Parish House in Tracy City, 5–7 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 25. The menu will be waffles, pancakes, sausage, bacon, homemade maple syrup, mike, coffee and orange juice. Cost is adults $5, and children $3. This event is sponsored by the Episcopal Church Women.

Cowan First Baptist

On Feb. 26, the Community Ash Wednesday Service is at 6 p.m., at Cowan First Baptist Church. Ash Wednesday marks the beginning of Lent, a 40-day season of fasting, prayer and reflection. In worship during the Ash Wednesday service, we mark ourselves with ashes as a reminder that we are sinners, facing our own certain death, and in need of God's saving help. Cowan First Baptist is located at 316 W. Cumberland St. The speaker will be Rev. Dr. John Daniels. The service is sponsored by the various churches in the Cowan Ministerial Association.

Morton Memorial United Methodist

This weekend we step over a threshold, so to speak, a marker for the Christian year, moving from the season after Epiphany into Lent and collectively moving closer to the celebration of the resurrection. This Sunday is Transfiguration Sunday, when we move from an adoration of the light into an encounter with our own personal darkness during the 40 days of Lent. And, if we pay attention, we will discover we are not as alone, as we sometimes feel, when we examine our darkness. We will mark this threshold by looking to Matthew 17:1-9 and preparing ourselves for this journey. You are invited to join us for coffee at 10:30 before the service. A well-staffed nursery is available.

Join us on Wednesday, Feb. 26, as we mark the beginning of the Lenten season with an Ash Wednesday service at 6:30 p.m.

Morton Memorial will host "Eat Well. Be Well," a free diabetes prevention program sponsored by the University of the South with Dr. Karen Gilson, Certified Diabetes Educator, MD. The first session will be from 5:30 to 7 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 24 and will continue on March 2 and March 9. Dinner and snacks are included. All in the South Cumberland Plateau are invited. Come if you are diabetic, pre-diabetic, have a family member who is diabetic, or just want to learn more.

Otey Parish

This Sunday, youth meet at 9:45 a.m. in Brooks Hall for Sunday Service Hour. Infants 6 weeks to children 4 years old are invited to the nursery beginning at 8:30 a.m. There will be nursery for both services and the Sunday School Hour. Children ages 3-11 are invited to join us in the Godly Play 2 room Claiborne Parish House.

The Otey Parish Adult Forum, meeting in St. Mark's Hall on Sunday mornings 9:45-10:45 a.m., is open to the public. The theme of this year's Forum is "Practicing Our Faith in a World of Need." All are welcome. This Sunday, Julia Bates will present "Youth and the Church," with a focus on the 'assets' children and youth develop in order to become healthy adults.

The SEARCH Institute has spent 50 years studying healthy children who become successful adults. Out of that research came a list of 40 assets, both internal to the child and external in the community, that support solid physical, mental, and emotional growth. One of the external assets is church membership. This adult forum will explore how the members of a church can contribute to the lives of children they see every week. Youth who have grown up at Otey Parish will act as moderators for group discussion.

St. James

Wednesday is on Feb. 26. The Eucharist and Disposition of Ashes at St. James will be at 5:30 p.m.

During Lent there will be an adult class that meets each Sunday, from March 1 through April 5 - Palm Sunday, beginning at 10:30 a.m. The title of the class is "Walking the Way of the Cross," and it will invite us to walk with Jesus as He journeys from condemnation to crucifixion. Yet we all know the story doesn't end on the cross because we find new life in the power of the resurrection on Easter morning. Please join David Boyd, our seminarian, and Fr. John as we look deeply into the journey Jesus made along the Via Dolorosa to achieve our salvation. As a guide, we will use the book, "Praying the Stations of the Cross: Finding Hope in a Weary Land" by Margaret Adams Parker and Katherine Sonderegger. Eerdmans, 2019.

Sisters to Offer Contemplative Prayer Service

The Sisters of St. Mary look forward to hosting another contemplative prayer service on Friday Feb. 21, at 7 p.m. in the convent chapel. The service is part of their ongoing series of retreats, workshops and worship services open to the community, and all are welcome.

The theme for the February service is noise pollution and its impact on human and wildlife health. The service will feature improvised music by talented local musician Andy Gay as well as intentionally selected video presentations, time for hearing scripture and selected readings, and periods of silence for contemplation and prayer.

the trail along the section paralleling the Highway 41 South from the junction with Main Street to Ingman Road. The MGTA has a grant to complete the trail to Tracy City, Wilson said, and must spend a portion of the money each year. Construction will begin in April on the section from Summerfield Market to Cumberland Bible Chapel. Plans call for the section from Nickajack Trail/Scenic Road to Summerfield Market to follow Dubose Street, which runs parallel to Highway 41 South and use part of the street for the trail.

An individual holds a deed giving him ownership of Dubose Street, Wilson said. According to Gilliam, the county maintains the street. The MGTA offered the deed holder $3,000 an acre for the land, 1.46 acres, and the owner countered with an $80,000 price. Wilson said the property could be acquired with a Quiet Title since it was a public street.

"The city can't pay for trail maintenance," alderwoman Blalock said. Alderwoman Rebecca Byers concurred. "We can't put any more on the city," Byers said.

Wilson pointed out the city would own the section of trail beyond Summerfield Market to Ingman Road as well as the section of trail in town, and there would be "a disconnect" if the city did not own the Dubose section. "The trail will bring in a half-million dollars revenue annually to the town," Wilson said. "You're not interested in owning the street?"

The general agreement voiced by the council was, "no." The council also discussed ending the contract with E-911 and moving police dispatch to police headquarters as a cost savings measure. Mayor David Sampley explained the city was incurring excessive expense for E-911 operators' overtime.

"Eighty-five to ninety percent of the calls are EMS," said E-911 Director Wanda McDaniel.

"We're running an ambulance service and not getting paid for it," said Gilliam. "The police don't have a dispatcher." McDaniel will investigate the cost of radios, a generator, and security for operating dispatch from the police department.

Howells and Max Reger. The concert will be at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 28, in All Saints' Chapel.

This recital precedes his performance with the Trinity Church on Wall Street in New York City. Trinity Church is an inclusive Episcopal community focused on service to others, and Ward's performance at the church is scheduled for 1 p.m., Thursday, March 12.

"The recital at Trinity Wall Street is part of their concert series called Pipes at One. The music program at Trinity is one of the best in the country. There is a professional choir in residence as well as many other choirs, orchestras and concert series," he said.

Ward and his wife, Hilary, who works as a visiting professor of music and managing director of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival, have been in Sewanee for four years, and Ward said the inspiration for much of his work comes from people—those he interacts with on the Mountain and beyond.

"Having the opportunity to work within a diverse community and sharing the gift of music is always an inspiration, and this recital is a great opportunity to share the beautiful organ in All Saints' Chapel," he said.

Before making Sewanee home, Ward previously worked as the Healey Willan Organ Scholar at Saint Mary Magdalene Church in Toronto, Canada. He said that experience was formative in furthering his appreciation for liturgical music.

"This was truly the greatest experience of my life up until this point. I hardly made any money, and I was constantly busy learning as much as I could from the multiple choirs, priests and the director of music. Saint Mary Magdalene has two choirs for their principal liturgy every Sunday. There is a male chant choir that performs from the front of the church and an SATB motet choir that sings from the balcony. Healey Willan established the tradition of music excellence at this church from 1921 to 1968 and it continues to this day. The beauty of the liturgy and the community of this church live with me to this day."

The concert is free and open to the public. Ward's performance at Trinity Church will be at Saint Paul's Chapel and will be live-streamed on the Trinity website <https://www.trinitywallstreet.org>.

SUD is replacing inaccurate dorm meters, upgraded to a new device to test meter accuracy, and this spring will conduct a sonar leak detection survey.

SUD will postpone the survey until the weather improves. “The ground needs to be fairly dry to transmit sound,” Beavers said. “If we have the survey data by the end of July, that will give us plenty of time to plan for the 2021 budget.”

SUD recently completed a waterline replacement project to eliminate leaks from aging cast iron water lines, and financed the project by drawing on cash reserves rather than taking out a loan. “By mid-year, cash reserves should be up to where they were before SUD undertook the waterline replacement project,” Beavers predicted.

Based on a country wide assessment of water utilities of SUD’s size, once SUD’s water loss from unidentified leak sources falls below 10.6 million gallons per year, finding the leaks can cost more than the lost revenue from the leaks Beavers pointed out.

The SUD board meets next on Tuesday, March 17. The board decided to change the regular meeting day from the fourth Tuesday to the third Tuesday.

Bishop Owensby to Lecture

The Beecken Center of the School of Theology will host its second FaithMatters event, March 6–7, on the campus of the University of the South in Sewanee. The event will be facilitated by the Rt. Rev. Jacob W. Owensby, Episcopal bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Western Louisiana and author of “A Resurrection Shaped Life: Dying and Rising on Planet Earth.” Owensby will deliver an evening lecture titled “Leaning into the Resurrection” in All Saints’ Chapel on Friday, March 6, and lead an all-day workshop, “A Resurrection Shaped Life” on Saturday, March 7.

The lecture is free and open to the public (a free-will offering will be collected), and the workshop is open to anyone for a fee of $79 until Feb. 28, and $99 thereafter.

Owensby will explore the resurrection of Christ not as a distant, mysterious event, but as an active force working in the world today. Workshop participants will explore past moments of resurrection in their lives as resources for ministry to others needing new life.

For more information on this event and to register online, visit the website at <bit.ly/faith2020> or call (800) 722-1974.

Bishop Wright at SAS Forum

The public is invited to attend a free lecture by the Rt. Rev. Robert C. Wright at St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School on Sunday, Feb. 23, at 4:30 p.m. in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts. Bishop Wright, Bishop of the Diocese of Atlanta, is this year’s Bishop Reynolds Forum speaker. The topic of his talk will be “Becoming Beloved Community,” a reference to Dr. Martin Luther King’s vision of a society based on justice, equal opportunity, and love of one’s fellow human beings. There will be a reception following the talk.

In a 2014 sermon, Bishop Wright reminded congregants that, “The Beloved Community seeks to describe the reality that good is created, locally and cosmically when people practice Christian love through reconciliation and redemption. And that the practice of Christian love generates unique goodwill that transforms old-age gloom into new-age exuberant gladness.” His message is one of acknowledging past sins in order to move forward.

The Right Rev. Robert C. Wright is the 10th bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Atlanta, which covers north and middle Georgia and embraces 110 worshipping communities. At the time of his election in June 2012, he had served 10 years as rector of St. Paul’s Episcopal Church in Atlanta. Prior to that, he was a school chaplain and on the staff of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York City.

Since becoming bishop, Bishop Wright has addressed the Georgia legislature about gun control, spoke up for Medicaid expansion and has been a vocal and active opponent of the death penalty in Georgia. In commemoration of the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King, he prayed with a City of Atlanta sanitation crew before taking an early morning shift on the back of a city garbage truck. In January 2015, he was named among the 100 Most Influential Georgians by GeorgiaTrend magazine.

Wright was born in a Roman Catholic orphanage in Pittsburgh, Pa., and was adopted at 9 months of age. After graduating high school, he served five years in the U.S. Navy. While attending Howard University in Washington, D.C., he worked as a child advocate for two mayors. He earned an M.Div. from Virginia Theological Seminary, and he has been awarded honorary Doctor of Divinity degrees by the Virginia seminary and The University of the South.

Bishop Wright’s visit is made possible through the Bishop Reynolds Forum which brings a prominent speaker to the SAS campus each year to engage students and the community in a topic of current interest. The Forum was established through an endowment in memory of the Rt. Rev. George Reynolds, the late Bishop of Tennessee. A graduate and former chaplain of the Sewanee Military Academy and a former trustee and past parent at St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School, Bishop Reynolds was engaged by and involved with the numerous personal and social issues confronting the individual, the Church, and the society he served. In the forums of his ministry, he had the courage to ask the difficult questions and the strength and openness of mind to explore the ideas that flowed from response to those questions. He was guided by the belief that thoughtful and open address of issues and conflicts created personal growth, moral strength, and sound judgment. The Forum is a creative way to honor these qualities of mind and heart and to encourage emulation of them by students of St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School and the Sewanee community.

Bishop Wright will also speak at an all-school chapel on Monday morning and visit the senior Introduction to Religious Studies classes.

Babson Center Welcomes Phillips Campus Lecture

Joelle Phillips, president of AT&T Tennessee in Nashville, will be the Babson Center’s 2020 Graham Executive-in-Residence for the Easter semester. As a life-long student, Phillips will encourage students to learn and explore throughout their lives in order to remain competitive and engaged professionally.

While on campus, Phillips will be a guest lecturer for a business seminar and meet with students in the Interdisciplinary Humanities Program, the co-sponsor of this visit. She will also deliver a campus presentation titled, “Your Liberal Arts Education: Skills that Enable Us to Navigate Constant Change,” at 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 26, in the Torian Room at duPont Library. All are welcome.

As AT&T Tennessee strives to bring innovative communication technology solutions to meet the soaring demands of customers across the state, Joelle Phillips is leading the charge to improve the speed, increase the coverage, and enhance the quality of wireless networks. Her legal work as an in-house attorney with AT&T has put her in the perfect position to collaborate with community and business leaders, elected officials, and company employees to advocate for public policy that brings simple solutions to the expansion of new infrastructure throughout Tennessee.

Throughout her college years,

Phillips was passionate about acting and theatre, but she quickly realized the disadvantages of late nights and erratic work schedules so began the process of creating a career in law. Using skills learned during her liberal arts experience, Phillips immediately thrived in an environment filled with working in a team, memorizing cases, and being in the spotlight in class and the courtroom.

Her career trajectory took off when she was hired as a general attorney by AT&T in 2001 and was recognized by the Nashville Business Journal’s peer-selected “Best of the Bar” awards for Corporate Counsel in 2008 and Telecommunications in 2013. That same year, she was promoted to president of AT&T Tennessee, the first woman in this position in the state. Philosopher Callard to Present Two Events

The philosophy department, with generous support from the lectures committee, invites you to attend two special events featuring philosopher Agnes Callard (University of Chicago):

Sewanee Night Owls will be from 9 p.m. until late, Thursday, Feb. 27, at McGriff Alumni House. Night Owls is a wildly popular late-night philosophical discussion society at the University of Chicago that brings together students, faculty, and other members of the community to talk about controversial topics like love, sex, death, violence, and artificial intelligence. Join Agnes Callard, founder of Night Owls, for the first ever meeting of the Sewanee Night Owls chapter, where we will discuss the question "Is plagiarism morally wrong?" (Callard will try to convince us that it's not.) Dessert will be served.

On Friday, Feb. 28, from 3:30-5 p.m., in Convocation Hall, Callard will present a talk "Why Does Love Hurt?"

Love is something positive: an appreciative and benevolent response to something (taken to be) good. But there are times when love hurts. How is it possible that sometimes the way in which we appreciate, engage with, connect to and house the goodness of something outside us is by way of negative emotions such as grief and anger? I argue against a variety of solutions to this problem, and end with my own, which involves a substantive revision in how we understand the basic building blocks of moral psychology.

Agnes Callard is an Associate Professor in Philosophy at the University of Chicago. Her primary areas of specialization are Ancient Philosophy and Ethics. She is the author of "Aspiration: The Agency of Becoming" (OUP 2018) and has written articles on philosophical topics for the New York Times and the Boston Review.

Free Income Tax Prep

The IRS-certified BetterFi and Sewanee Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) Program will be processing and filing qualifying residents' income taxes for its sixth year in a row. This year the students and volunteers are working with the University of the South, financial nonprofit BetterFi, and the South Cumberland Community Fund-sponsored South Cumberland Plateau VISTA Program.

Regular morning hours will be maintained at BetterFi in Coal-mont on Monday and Wednesday 8:30 a.m.-noon. BetterFi is located in the old red brick Tower or Citizens State Bank building right near the junction (9933 State Route 56). Walk-ins are permitted, but BetterFi requests that folks planning to come to regular hours register ahead of time for an appointment through their website <betterfi.co/vita>. The VITA program will also host weekend tax sessions at partner sites. These are all first-come-first-served except at Franklin County Library, where individuals looking to file should sign up in advance at the library.

Any resident of Franklin, Grundy, or Marion county who makes less than $55,000 a year, is disabled, or is elderly qualifies for a free tax return.

Each resident interested in filing must bring proof of identification (a photo ID), social security cards (if filing jointly with another person then bring both social security cards and both individuals must be present), wage and earning statements (W-2, 1099, etc.), dividend and interest statements (if this applies to the resident filing), birth dates of the resident(s) and dependent(s), and banking account and routing numbers for direct deposit (found on a blank check).

If a resident filing does not have a social security card, then he/she must bring an IRS Individual Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN) assignment letter.

If a filer cannot make any of the tax sessions or regular hours at BetterFi, they should email Sam Shaw at <sam@betterfi.co> to schedule an appointment that works for them.

Renovated gym with digital scoreboard

Middle Schools: A Glimpse of the Future

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

On Feb. 15, project construction manager Gary Clardy led a group of school board members, administrators, and teachers on a tour of the under-construction new South Middle School. In January 2019, after three years of contentious debate, the Franklin County Commission voted to allocate $48 million for the construction of two new middle schools at the sites of the two current schools.

"These will be schools our community can be proud of," said board member Sarah Marhevsky. "We're doing right by our kids."

The gyms at the existing schools have been retained and renovated. The gyms have new membrane roofs, new flooring, digital scoreboards, coaches' offices, air conditioning and locker rooms with showers for both the home team and visiting teams. Previously, visiting teams had no place to change and the lack of air conditioning made visiting schools dread sports events at the middle schools.

The spacious auditoriums seat 440 with features including a projection room and dropdown screen on the stage.

"The new construction at both schools is the same," stressed Director of Schools Stanley Bean. At North Middle School, which has more students, the existing eighth-grade wing will be retained. The new schools have energy saving LED lighting throughout.

Designed to maximize security, the new classroom wing offers full visibility from the single access point. Soon to be installed lockers will fill the recessed niches in the hallway.

"I'm obsessed with the light," said North Principal Holly Eslick commenting on the abundance of windows enhancing the spacious ambiance of the large classrooms. Each classroom will have its own thermostat to allow for customized heating and cooling.

The extra-large science classroom will accommodate student desks and lab setup within the same classroom space and allow two or more classes to inhabit the room to hear guest speakers. The STEM classroom has a double-wide door leading to the outside so equipment can be brought in. Long tables will enable seated students to view demonstrations and pursue their own projects in the same workspace.

The art room includes a kiln for firing pottery. The vast choir room and huge band room feature noise reducing ceilings to control disruptive reverberation and background racket that make it difficult for musicians to hear what they're singing or playing. Adjacent practice rooms provide a place for individual musicians and small groups to rehearse.

During free time, students can congregate in the secure interior courtyard. A small concrete stage will provide a setting for bands and speakers.

"These state-of-the art facilities will open up opportunities for students and offer an incentive for people considering moving to Franklin County to want to be part of the school system," said board member Caycee Roberts. "People will be excited to be here."

The main office is located just inside the front entrance. An array of adjacent offices will house staff attending to administrative and guidance needs.

Eslick said she was particularly pleased with the CDC [Comprehensive Development Classroom] facilities. "Our CDC students have a variety of different needs," Eslick observed. "We'll be able to meet those needs now."

Commenting on construction delays, Clardy said, "We've really fought with the weather and rain." On any given day, six days a week, 40-50 construction workers are on task at each site. The South site required patching and filling three sink holes, with one more sinkhole yet "to deal with," according to Clardy. Demolition of the old schools will begin in June. Clardy is confident the new schools will open on schedule Aug. 6.

Art Scholarships Available for Educators

Shakerag Workshops, a program of week-long craft courses held on the campus of St. Andrew's-Sewanee School in Sewanee, Tenn., offers 14-18 all-inclusive scholarships for educators.

Shakerag Educators Scholarship recipients may attend any of the program's week-long classes at no cost. All fees (tuition, all meals, class fees, and housing if applicable) are included in the scholarship opportunity. Scholarship recipients' only expense is transportation to and from Sewanee. Educators in all institutions, at all levels and in all subject areas, as well as administrators and school staff members, are encouraged to apply. No experience in art is necessary.

"At Shakerag Workshops, we believe that creativity is an essential dimension of the human experience and is especially important in helping to provide summer renewal for educators," said Shakerag Workshops Director and lifelong educator, Claire Reishman. "Stepping back into the role of student also helps us to connect with the student experience." That is why Shakerag Workshops makes these scholarships available to experienced artists, those with no prior experience, and the full range in between.

Shakerag offers week-long classes June 14-20 and June 21-27, 2020, in several different media. Applications for the Educators Scholarships will be accepted through March 31. Applicants should contact Shakerag directly <info@shakerag.org> to be sent an application, or go to the website registration page <www.shakerag.org> to apply on line. The deadline for Shakerag to receive these applications is April 1, 2020. Scholarship recipients will be notified by April 15. Most classes still have openings during Shakerag. Prospective applicants should refer to the Shakerag website, <www.shakerag.org>, to determine which class best fulfills their needs.

Sunday Afternoon Recital

In cooperation with the Department of Music, a free public recital will be offered on Sunday, Feb. 23, at 2 p.m. in St. Luke's Chapel on the Sewanee campus. Participants include Meghan Joanna Mazur (soprano), John Gatta (clarinet), and pianists Zachary Zwahlen, William Stokes, and Gabriel Perkins-Lawrence.

The event features a performance of Franz Schubert's final composition, The Shepherd on the Rock (Der Hirt auf dem Felsen), together with other voice and instrumental selections. Der Hirt auf dem Felsen is a Romantic-spirited art song scored for three performers. The work expresses its singer-speaker's frustrated love and longing in a mountain setting. Sung in German, it draws on a text by poet Wilhelm Müller.

LOOKSATBOOKS

by Pat Wiser for Friends of duPont Library

Words and Pictures

A century ago, the adage, "A picture is worth a thousand words" became popular when an advertising campaign attached large images to streetcars. As today's literature for all ages features images in abundance, I've wondered if the trend brings unfortunate trade-offs of words for pictures. Thus, I warily approached this year's prestigious Newbery Award for Children's Literature, "New Kid," Jerry Craft's graphic novel about a black seventh grader's enrollment in a private school with little diversity. After Jordan's father defers to his mother's fervent plea, "This will open up . . . opportunities that we didn't have," he finds himself existing between a world of wealth and privilege and his own neighborhood friends and customs. His two-parent family is a surprise to many; teachers confuse the few black kids' names; a librarian consistently hands the black kids books about struggle and hardship, always with black characters. With glaring exceptions, his classmates are nice; some are genuinely open and friendly. In a key episode, his wise grandfather helps him see that it may be possible to choose the best from both worlds. Cartoonist-writer Craft blends 250 pages of strong speech balloons and vivid illustration into an important story. I hope that upper elementary and middle school readers will find it.

Graphic novels are popular with my family and local children. Ideally, many enjoy both graphic and traditional text format, including a middle school friend who recently dropped by bringing a fistful of daffodils and strong opinions following his recent reading of "To Kill a Mockingbird." We agreed that the novel's conclusion can be confusing, and it helps to re-read the words several times to understand what really happened. Who killed Bob Ewell? Why were certain decisions made? My young friend became a voracious reader after consuming stacks of graphic works. Now his ability to think critically about a complex plot seems to arise through his understanding of words.

Sewanee Elementary School librarian Kathryn Bruce's comparison of formats reinforces my belief that, to comprehend plot and character, readers often need the language of words that go beyond illustration. Popular series such as Ann Martin's "Babysitter's Club" demonstrate that need; for example, the graphic version of "Kristy's Great Idea" lacks the vocabulary and character history for readers to understand a confusing encounter with Kristy's teacher. Some reader reviewers like these graphic novels for reluctant or struggling readers; others argue that they don't help, one labeling them "lame comic books with virtually no reading."

Eoin Colfer's "Artemis Fowl," a pre-teen criminal boy genius, travels a universe far from the babysitters' pleasant suburb. Kathryn points out how this graphic begins with action; back story showing character motivation is missing. I'm struck by vivid description of a jeep ride through chaotic Ho Chi Minh City to an important destination introduced via Fowl's musings. However, except for one panel of a busy street, the graphic uses none of the aforementioned material. A cherry-picked reader review reflects my opinion: "You lose a lot of subtext in this comic vs the real Artemis Fowl book. Most of the characters inner thoughts and emotions are lost."

In her recent column, "Bookmarked," Margaret Stephens remarked on the Internet and our craving for speed these days. Graphic novels often fit into this preference for a quick look at the action. I share Margaret's wish that we delve more deeply into literature, going beyond a "splat of online text and picture . . . To glance at and skim past." Her choice of a 19th century novel's slow presentation of character, George Eliot's "Middlemarch," brought a smile, as I'd just sought out Charles Dickens after reflecting on the pace of graphic novels. Also, I was discouraged by the online arguments of Artemis Fowl fans ("Your {sic} a moron!") and by our country's corresponding tone of discourse. Some rainy afternoons find me happily tucked under a quilt with a copy of "Great Expectations," re-visiting Pip and friends. Who can feel discouraged in the company of Mr. Pumblechook or even Miss Havisham?

Cathell Named Head Coach for Women's Soccer Program

Sewanee Director of Athletics Mark Webb has announced the hiring of Greg Cathell as the next women's soccer coach at The University of the South. His duties will begin on March 1.

Cathell becomes the 11th head coach in the women's soccer program, replacing Patrick Johnston who stepped down in December. In his five-year head coaching career at Centenary (La.) and Rensselaer (N.Y.), he has posted a 48-33-11 career record.

"I am thrilled that Greg will join the athletic department as our head women's soccer coach," said Webb. "His extensive experience and competitive success as a Division III head coach will serve our program well, and I expect our team will thrive under his leadership."

Prior to his arrival on the Domain, Cathell spent the last three seasons as the head coach for the Centenary College of Louisiana in Shreveport, posting a 29-21-3 record. He turned a program around that saw a total of 20 wins in the first five seasons in the Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference (SCAC).

Cathell led the Ladies to their best finish in program history in the Division III era in 2019, finishing with a 16-3 record and a 10th place ranking in the United Soccer Coaches West Region poll. Additionally, the 16 wins tied a school record, also set in the 1995 and 1996 seasons.

The 2019 season also saw one student-athlete from Centenary, Migui Boldrin, named an All-American by the United Soccer Coaches. Additionally, Boldrin was named the SCAC Offensive Player of the Year.

In his time with Centenary, he coached 11 selections to the All-SCAC Team.

"I am both honored and humbled to receive this incredible opportunity to lead the Sewanee women's soccer team. I'd like to thank Mark Webb for believing in the vision I presented of returning the Tigers to national prominence and providing these young ladies a transformational experience while at Sewanee," said Cathell. "We will be a team of staunch competitors that won't settle for anything but our absolute best both on the soccer field and in the classroom. Together we look forward to setting standards and earning our success in the SAA and NCAA alike."

Prior to his time in Shreveport, Cathell served as an assistant women's soccer coach at Siena (N.Y.), an NCAA Division I program. During the 2016 season, he coached seven All-Conference Players, as well as the 2016 Metro-Atlantic Athletic Conference Defensive Player of the Year. Additionally, the team earned a 9-7-3 record and a second seed in the Mid-Atlantic Athletic Conference Tournament, earning the highest seed for the program in 12 seasons.

For the 2014 and 2015 seasons, Cathell served as the head women's soccer coach at NCAA Division III Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (RPI) in Troy, N.Y. His teams excelled both on and off the pitch, as the Engineers boasted a 19-12-8 record in two seasons. Cathell's squads also received the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA) Academic Award both seasons, and he coached the first women's soccer Athletic and Academic All-American at Rensselaer.

For four seasons prior to his stint with the Engineers, Cathell served as the assistant women's soccer coach and head recruiting coordinator at NCAA Division III Salisbury University. He helped recruit a freshmen class that went a combined 34-17-6 over three seasons, including two Regular Season Capital Athletic Conferences Championships and two trips to the CAC Tournament Championship game, with one CAC Tournament Championship and NCAA Tournament appearance.

Cathell also recruited and coached the first Seagulls women's soccer player to earn CAC Rookie of the Year accolades.

From 2003-08, Cathell coached soccer at Delmar High School in Delmar, Delaware, with stints as both the boys and girls head coach. In 2008, he garnered both the State of Delaware Coach and Small School Coach of the Year honors.

Cathell was a four year NCAA Division I scholarship student-athlete at the University of Maryland-Eastern Shore and was named All-Conference and All-Tournament Team in 2003 and 2006. In 2006, he received the Team MVP Award for the Hawks. He graduated from UMES in 2009 with a degree in secondary education, with a social studies concentration. Cathell received his Master's in post-secondary education from Salisbury in December 2012.

"My wife Mia and I as well as our two children are looking forward to joining the Sewanee family and building relationships that will last a lifetime," added Cathell.

Cathell holds his national coaching diploma and advanced regional coaching diploma from the NSCAA.

Wild Pitch Lifts Sewanee Baseball to Series Sweep of Pioneers

After allowing two runs in the top of the ninth, the Sewanee baseball team had to rally in the bottom half to secure the series sweep of Carroll University, defeating the Pioneers, 4-3, on Sunday from Montgomery Field.

A traditional pitcher's dual in the series finale on Sunday, each team scratched across just one run in the fourth. Carroll struck first in the top half thanks to a Sewanee error.

In the bottom half, the Tigers evened the score with a Jake Woolard sacrifice fly, bringing home Chris McNulty.

Four more innings past and nothing was decided after eight, still tied at 1-1. That all changed in the top of the ninth. After a strike-out to start the frame, four straight Pioneers reached base, and two crossed home plate to give the visitors a 3-1 advantage as the Tigers were down to their final three outs.

After a leadoff double by Jack Ahlum, later pinch ran for by Mikey Nardella, and a Ben Harper walk, William McAdams recorded his third sacrifice bunt of the game to push both runners into scoring position.

As the lineup card flipped to the top of the order, the Carroll defense traded a run for an out as Jack Galanek sent a groundball to the shortstop that allowed Nardella to cross home plate. That made the contest 3-2 in favor of the visitors, and the Tigers were down to their final out.

Jared Demkowicz put runners on the corners with a free pass, and that allowed the reigning Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Player of the Week in McNulty, strolled up to the plate. The senior would lace a single into the left center field gap and bring home Harper to even the game at three runs apiece and Demkowicz moved to third.

Following a pitching change, while Sully McCreery was at the plate, a wild pitch gave Demkowicz the opportunity to win the game, and he was successful as he slid into home plate to make the homestand crowd happy.

Hepatica at Buggytop

Deb Dreves and Mary Priestley hiked to Buggytop last Sunday morning, Feb. 16, to see the torrent of water flowing out of the cave — they weren't disappointed! Mary reports that "the happy surprise was the wildflowers — lots of hepatica (pictured) plus one tiny long-spurred violet in bloom. That trail's loaded with a profusion of evergreen ferns — we saw resurrection, walking, and Christmas ferns; purple cliffbrake; and black-stemmed spleenwort."

Buggytop is at a lower elevation than Sewanee, so the wildflowers are probably a little further along, also aided by the difference in temperature from the cave mouth. Purple cliffbrake and black-stemmed spleenwort are ferns of limestone areas like Buggytop.

Dress weather appropriately, wear sturdy hiking shoes/boots, and bring a flashlight or headlamp. The park will shuttle you back to your vehicle at the end of the hike. For a full refund you must cancel by calling the South Cumberland State Park visitors center at (931) 924-2980 by or before March 6 by 4 p.m. If conditions are too dangerous to hike, the Ranger will make the decision and a full refund will be issued.

Professor Jon Evans will lead a tour and give the fascinating history of some of the specimens. Please email Yolande Gottfried at ygottfri@sewanee.edu so we can have some idea of numbers, but come anyway even if you haven't emailed.

Earth Day Posters, Spencer Hall, room 173, Saturday, Feb. 29, with Mary Priestley. Spend some time this "extra" day doing good for the Earth! Drop in any time 9:30 a.m. to noon. Plants have been taking care of us people for as long as we've been around, and it's time to say thanks. The Herbarium is sponsoring a family-friendly poster-making event with the theme of "Thank You, Plants!" for an exhibit at Stirling's Coffee House honoring the 50th anniversary of Earth Day. We will have some materials on hand, but if you have any cool ones to share, please bring.

Botanical Illustration, Spencer Hall, room 173, Saturday, March 7, 9:30 a.m.–noon, with Mary Priestley. Very little drawing is involved in this easy technique. Participants will photocopy their choice, and use information from published sources to modify and enhance the image before transferring it to acid-free paper and going over it with ink and adding optional color. The show at Stirling's included some examples. Space is limited. Email mpriestley0150@gmail.com with questions or to reserve a space and so Mary can have the materials ready for each participant.

Nature Journaling

A group meets for nature journaling Thursday mornings 9–11 a.m. Come try it out and stick with it if you like. Bring an unlined journal (or a few sheets of unlined paper) and a pen or pencil. No experience needed. Meet in Woods Labs room G-10.

Wear appropriate shoes on all of these walks. Risks involved in hiking include physical exertion, rough terrain, forces of nature, and other hazards not present in everyday life. Picking flowers and digging plants are prohibited in all of the above-mentioned natural areas.

For more information on these or other Sewanee Herbarium events, please contact Yolande Gottfried at the Herbarium (931) 598-3346, or by email at ygottfri@sewanee.edu.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Ash Wednesday, Feb. 26, 2020

... This is the time of tension between dying and birth
The place of solitude where three streams cross
Between blue rocks
But when the voices shaken from the yew-tree drift away
Let the other yew be shaken and reply ...

T.S. Eliot, Ash Wednesday
