Hartman Updates Community Council on Cell Tower

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the March 25 Sewanee Community Council meeting, Eric Hartman, head of University Risk Management, updated the council on the University's "aim to be responsive to concerns" about the proposed location for a new cell tower. "We're in a holding pattern," Hartman said. "We've explored three other locations, which have not been successful."

Two sites, the Convenience Center and behind Facilities Management, were too close to the airport to allow for the tower height needed, Hartman explained. The third site at the University water tower, further from central campus, would have needed a very tall tower to allow for sufficient propagation (i.e., penetration of stone buildings) and so would require a light to meet federal aviation rules.

"We want to try to avoid it being lit," Hartman insisted. "Beyond the football field and dairy we begin to lose signal strength."

Remarking on the finding of the Society for Historical Preservation, Hartman said the organization requested evidence other sites had been investigated and that the tower be as short as possible—"Our tower company has done that...they've looked at alternative locations."

Hartman stressed that Verizon needed to do propagation research for each proposed site. "This is one of the reasons we weren't successful in getting a Verizon cell tower in 2006," he said. "They stopped working with us."

SUD Discusses Rainfall Impact; Budget Revision Considered

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

At the March 26 meeting of the Sewanee Utility District Board of Commissioners, SUD manager Ben Beavers updated the board on the impact of recent heavy rainfall. Beavers also brought to the board's attention a suggestion by the state comptroller's office that the district revise the 2019 budget.

The district received 11.28 inches of rainfall in February, meaning abnormally high inflow and infiltration of rainwater into the sewer system, increased water feeding into the lagoons, and increased spray field application to keep the lagoons from overflowing.

"We've had to be proactive about it," Beavers said. "It's eating into our overtime budget, but not enough to hire an additional employee."

SUD again experienced overflow incidents at a pumping station in the Alto area. In spite of the heavy rainfall, "the pumps should have been able to handle it," Beavers insisted. Both pumps are brand new and were installed at the same time.

"One pump appears to be overpowering the other and causing it to overheat," Beavers said. He plans to install additional pressure monitoring gauges and meet with the pump vendor to determine the problem.

Turning to the comptroller's recommendation, Beavers said in reviewing SUD's budget the comptroller's computation projected a $20,000 loss in 2019. "The comptroller figures it a little different than we do, including depreciation

Laurel Lake Drive residents presented a plaque of appreciation to the Monteagle Utility Department crew and Superintendent John Condra for their work on the road that was damaged due to flooding.

Monteagle Utility Department Honored; Fire Hall Update

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the March 25 Monteagle City Council meeting, Vice Mayor Tony Gilliam presented Utility Department Supervisor John Condra with a plaque of appreciation from Laurel Lake Drive residents. The plaque thanked the department for its perseverance and hard work to address flooding that made the road impassable.

Heavy rainfall earlier in the year left the road temporarily out of service, then the situation worsened.

"During the last big rain the road totally washed out," Gilliam said. "The utility department workers were in 17 degree water temperatures pumping out water."

On March 13, the road reopened with a five-foot culvert installed to prevent future flooding. The city has requested reimbursement for the repair costs from the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Gilliam also thanked James David Oliver for the easement allowing a temporary road on his property.

"It helped us, too," Condra said. "We had to have access to work on the road." Condra extended personal thanks to the utility department crew for their hard work and a job well done.

Updating the community on plans to construct a new fire hall, Gilliam said the design was downsized to keep it within the budget, but the downsized structure wouldn't accommodate the fire department's equipment.

Compassionate Home Care Working for You

by Sarah Beavers, Messenger Staff Writer

Compassionate Home Care, founded in October 2017, opened a new location in Sewanee. Michelle Ladd, the president and owner, runs the company independently. She has more than 20 years of experience in the medical field. A native of Tracy City, Michelle stays close to home as a majority of her clients reside in Sewanee and the surrounding area.

Michelle started her medical career at Emerald Hodgson Hospital as a freshly-minted certified nurse at age 19. She has worked at other home care companies. An experience at work coupled with her daughter's own health problems pushed Michelle to establish her own company.

"My purpose for opening my own company was to establish a business that will be successful and provide the best quality of care to my clients," said Michelle. "This will also help to provide for the needed assistance to my daughter."

Michelle strives to make her company stand out from the others by personally assuring all her clients are taken care of to the best of the Compassionate Home Care team abilities.

RESTS IN PEACE

To the Editor:

American citizens are witnessing a former draft avoider president attack a deceased senator who is unable to defend himself. A war hero who, while suffering permanent injuries from torture in enemy custody, responded courageously, refusing to be released until all prisoners held captive were.

While many regard Trump as living and performing darkly, faithful John McCain, having departed this life through the mercy of God, rests in peace with light perpetual shining upon him.

THANK-YOU FOR THE ARTICLE

To the Editor:

I thank Leslie Lytle for her article on the student division of the Sewanee Fire Department. Comments in the article by Doug Cameron and the current student chief Travis Nadalini are apt, accurate, and worthy of our community's attention. Student and community members of the SVFD are highly trained, dedicated, and courageous. They deserve our gratitude and support, and it is vitally important to all Sewanee residents that the university accommodate student firefighters by providing housing that will allow them to preserve the tradition of camaraderie and serious training that has been a source of pride and safety here for many years. No group has given more.

Robert Benson, Sewanee

COMMENTS ON LAST ISSUE

To the Editor:

I have two subjects from the March 22, 2019 edition upon which I wish to comment.

First is a simple complaint about the pathetic misconstruction of the English language in the caption for the photograph above the article on the Kennerly family on page 1. Slavery may be abolished or one may benefit from its abolition. There is no such word, abolishment, as was used in the caption. Does the English Department have an input here?

Second, I emphatically agree with Chief Nadalini when he asserts, on page 6, that "[Student volunteer firefighters] are more than a theme." I recognize that the folks that run the UoF must cater to a myriad of competing attractants that may cause matriculants to choose Sewanee. Clearly, creating spaces where they can thematically clump together is a valid attempt to demonstrate a commitment to meeting those inchoate needs. However, it seems to me that the safety of the commons as provided by the student volunteer firefighters, and the valid reasons why, as articulated by Mr. Cameron, they might want/need/require to be housed together, ought to have enough merit to tip the scales and move them to the head of the line in the lottery for "thematic" housing.

With hosannas to those the English Department who, in the dim recesses of time, did their best with which they had to work, I've held this to the 250 word limit. I yield the balance of my available words.

*Harry Clark,
Decherd*

HEARING HEALTH NEWS

by Debbie Gamache,
M.S. CCC-A Audiologist

CAUSES OF HEARING LOSS

Hearing loss can be caused by a number of different factors. The most common cause of hearing loss in the United States is exposure to noise. In addition, other common causes of hearing loss include family history of hearing loss, history of heart disease or high blood pressure, diabetes and the normal aging process. Other possible causes of hearing loss can also include accumulation of ear wax or chronic ear infections.

Hearing loss varies by type and degree. In order to determine amount, type and degree of hearing loss you will need to have a diagnostic hearing evaluation by a certified licensed audiologist. If you have questions about hearing loss for yourself, a family member or friend, or to schedule an appointment to have your hearing tested, please contact us at Debbie Gamache's The Hearing Center LLC. The first step in identification and treatment of hearing loss is a medical diagnostic hearing evaluation. We are located at 705 NW Atlantic St. Suite B, Tullahoma. We can be reached at 393-2051. Christ Church

Mid-Lent Sunday has many names and has the distinction of being the oldest Mothers’ Day in history. Some churches use rose vestments to signal a bit of relaxation in the Lenten season. The Gospel always is focused on the miracle of the loaves and fishes, so one of the names is Refreshment Sunday. Christ Church Monteagle keeps all of these traditions.

On March 31, even the hymns will reflect the idea of Jerusalem being both a city on earth and a heavenly home. The service begins around 10:30 a.m. and this lunch time will be festive in honor of the special history of this particular Sunday. After this Sunday the focus shifts to the literal road to Jerusalem which Jesus faces.

Otey Parish

This Sunday, March 31, infants 6 weeks to children 4 years old are invited to the nursery beginning at 8:30 a.m. There will be nursery for both services and the Sunday School Hour. Youth Ministry meets in Brooks Hall. Children

Questions and comments will be welcomed. The meeting will be in St. Mark’s Hall in the Parish House. Coffee and tea are provided. All are welcome!

Aging with Courage & Grace at St. Mary’s Sewanee

St. Mary’s Sewanee: The Ayres Center for Spiritual Development is pleased to announce a retreat in April entitled, Aging with Courage and Grace: A Journey Toward Wholeness, April 5-7.

“Aging presents people with an accelerated curriculum on change and a deep spiritual dive into the paradoxes of loss, transition, and renewal. It invites reflection and the possibility of understanding, surrendering to, and being transformed by, the aging process,” said Marjorie Thompson, who will serve as the retreat’s facilitator. She will be joined by Marta Murrell; both are part of the Center for Courage and Renewal founded by Parker J. Palmer.

This three-day retreat offers a community experience where participants consider ways to explore their relationship with God, expand their capacity to love, serve and forgive themselves and others, seek peace, and embrace their own deaths. Retreatants will consider themes such as the attitudes of aging inherited from family and society, naming and claiming unlived lives, and finding pathways to wholeness through letting go of perfection.

“Wholeness is the goal, but wholeness does not mean perfection,” Palmer said. “It means embracing brokenness as an integral part of life. The sooner we understand this, the better. It’s a truth that can set us free to live well, to love well and, in the end, to die well.”

Scholarships are available for this retreat; a commuter option is also available. Deadline for registration is Monday, April 1. For more information, including making reservations, call St. Mary’s Sewanee at (931) 598-5342, email <reservations@stmaryssewanee.org>, or go online to <www.stmaryssewanee.org>.

Invitation to Contemplation and Care for Creation

The Center for Religion and the Environment, The University of the South is offering an in-person course May 23–28, 2019 and an online Community Practice, May 2019–May 2020 in Contemplation and Care for Creation.

How might a practice of nature contemplation impact our faith and relationship to both God and the natural world? How might our faith become more natural and our relationship to nature become more prayerful?

If you are interested in exploring these questions with like-minded companions, the Certificate Program for Contemplation and Care for Creation from the Center for Religion and the Environment provides a forum for study and discussion about the theological foundation and practical implications for creation care along with training in the practice of nature contemplation. Graduates of the program are equipped with a stronger spiritual foundation for sustained and just care of the earth as well as the tools to share this passion with others.

The next cohort of participants in Contemplation and Care for Creation will begin May 23. Having prepared by reading assigned materials in advance, participants will begin the year-long program with a six-day retreat in Sewanee followed by an ongoing at-a-distance program of nature contemplation and online community practice for the remainder of the year. In addition, all participants will be guided in the design and completion of a project relevant to the coursework. Participants will reconvene in Sewanee in May 2020 for reflection, sharing and learning. For more information about the program, how to register, or to read about past projects, visit: <www.sewanee.edu/resources/cre/what-we-do/certificate-in-contemplation-and-care-for-creation/>. Feel free to contact the Center Director, Robin Gottfried, at (931) 598-1243 or <rgottfri@sewanee.edu> if you have further questions.

Michelle and her staff retain flexibility in their scheduling in order to best provide for the needs of the client.

The process for home care services begins with an in-home assessment where the client and family members are present. The initial meeting determines the needs and schedule of the client in order to keep the clients comfortable in their home. "We honor the clients and their suggestions, and assign a permanent schedule with a permanent caregiver. Our motto is 'we work for you, you don't work for us,'" said Michelle.

State requirements mandate supervisory meetings of clients every six months, but Michelle revisits clients every three months to adjust the care giving schedule if needed. Compassionate Home Care relies on a highly trained staff. Michelle hires caregivers who are certified nursing assistants, or have relevant prior experience in a hospital and or nursing home. All employees must pass drug tests, submit to an extensive background check, and have excellent references. Michelle and her team continue their education by attending monthly training sessions to sharpen skills.

"This is home, and I've been here all my life. My reputation allows me to assist my clients to the best of my ability. It's whatever the clients need," Michelle said.

Michelle is in the process of being able to accept TennCare. For right now, clients can get a waiver for non-medical needs and Michelle has a contract to provide care for veterans. The company accepts private pay clients and long-term care policies. Compassionate Home Care is licensed and insured.

Michelle plans to grow Compassionate Home Care by working with another home care company, and potentially opening another office in Signal Mountain next year.

Compassionate Home Care is located at 125 University Ave., Sewanee, and is open Monday–Friday 8 a.m.–4 p.m. Call (931) 327-5276 for services, scheduling and or questions.

and other factors. It's a red flag to them," Beavers explained. "To be in violation of state law, SUD's audit would need to show a loss two years in a row, and I can't see that happening."

The comptroller gave SUD the option of leaving the budget as is or revising it to show zero loss or a gain. Beavers budgets conservatively. He proposed two solutions for balancing the budget. One, eliminate the projected loss by increasing the income figures since he anticipates water sales will be higher than the projection. Two, reduce the expense allocated for commissioner health insurance, since no commissioners are opting to insure through SUD.

Beavers will draft budget revisions showing both scenarios and present them to the board for a decision at the April meeting.

Updating the board on the waterline replacement project, Beavers said the rainfall led to erosion issues, especially on Florida Avenue, and the contractor would need to do additional seeding and strapping. Some paving and concrete work remains to be done, as well.

A flooding incident occurred due to contractor error. The contractor is insured and has been in communication with the University, according to Beavers.

Reporting on his research into amending the commissioner selection process, Beavers said, "It will require a political process which starts at the county level, and both counties will need to be on board." SUD serves both Franklin and Marion counties. SUD is pursuing a remedy to its difficulty finding customers to serve as commissioners.

One solution would be to eliminate term limits which prohibit those willing to serve from serving more than two consecutive terms. Another solution would be increasing the length of the term commissioners served so those willing to serve could serve longer. Both changes would require amending the legislative act, which established the utility and set the rules for commissioner term limits and selection.

SUD is considering polling customers to determine their preference. Broad public support will be needed to amend the act.

The SUD board meets next April 23.

Council Representative Erik Keen pointed out Wi-Fi calling was an option inside buildings and asked if Verizon would still work with the University if the tower only provided outside building service.

"I don't know," Hartman said. "We'll continue to explore other options. We've asked Verizon to come back, as well as another Verizon company. We're still waiting to schedule those dates."

Council Representative Cindy Potter revisited the issue of the need for sidewalks on Tennessee Avenue.

Austin Oakes, who heads up Facilities Management, emphasized the project would be expensive due to drainage issues, with $70,000-$75,000 as an estimated cost.

"It's on our radar along with several other sidewalk projects," Oakes said. Top on the priorities list are sidewalks for sorority houses in the vicinity of the football field and for the Georgia Avenue Townhouses in the vicinity of Stirling's.

Potter called attention to danger to pedestrians on Tennessee Avenue and suggested a temporary cinder path.

"That's easy to take a look at," Oakes said.

Revisiting ongoing grumbling about parking shortage, Council Representative Theresa Shackelford proposed residents have the option of purchasing a parking pass for a cost $50-$100 that allowed parking in reserved areas.

Police Chief Marie Eldridge said the parking policy was reviewed and updated each summer. For the April meeting, the council will review the policy and make recommendations. Eldridge noted that anyone who believed they erroneously received a parking citation could lodge an appeal at the police department website.

Council election officer Charles Whitmer called attention to problems with the Council's policy for filling vacancies. While the council can appoint someone to fill a vacancy, residents of the district might not agree with the council's decision. Also problematic, a special election to fill a vacancy is only allowed within 30 days of the most recent election.

Whitmer will draft a revised protocol for filling vacancies and present it at the next meeting.

The council voted to defer until fall awarding the project funding grants. Since no awards were made in the 2018-19 academic year, $20,000 will be available to fund community enhancement projects in the fall. Pixie Dozier and Kate Reed will co-chair the recommendation committee.

The council's regular meeting dates for next year are Sept. 9, Oct. 28, Jan. 13, March 23, and May 18.

The Council meets next April 22.

The council is looking at other designs and working with an engineer who recently oversaw construction of new fire halls for the Whitwell and Sequatchie fire departments.

Parks and Recreation Chair Jessica Blalock said 50 of the 3,000 eggs at the Monteagle Easter egg hunt would contain a dollar bill courtesy of a donation by the Harton Park Garden Committee. Citizens Tri-County Bank also made donations. The event is scheduled for April 6, at 10 a.m., at Harton Park.

Planning Committee Chair Ron Terrill said the committee is working with Southeast Tennessee Development District regional planner Garrett Haynes to create a road map for the city. An updated, accurate zoning map that will likely be available in both print and digital form. A public hearing will be held to present the zoning map upon completion.

The council approved on second reading rezoning of a 175-acre tract from commercial to agricultural to allow the new owner to run cattle on the farm property as was done in the past.

The council also approved a business permit for the Eagle Inn under new ownership by Dennis Patel.

Building inspector Earl Geary said the former Mexican restaurant would reopen under new ownership as The Porch, a tavern and restaurant featuring country cooking. Geary recommended deferring a decision on the business permit until renovation was completed.

The Monteagle Council meets next April 29.

CCC Camp to be Rededicated April 12

One of the area's most popular trails, the Fiery Gizzard in the South Cumberland State Park (SCSP), might not have been possible without the work of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal and the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).

Founded in 1933, the CCC was established in the heart of the Great Depression as a public works relief program to provide jobs for unemployed, unmarried men between 18 and 25. Company 1475 in Grundy County employed 200 workers who were responsible for constructing a portion of the trail.

For five years, the workers lived, camped and worked on 200 acres of land in the Grundy Forest. In 1938, with its work done, Company 1475 moved on, with the buildings on the campground site lost to history.

Now, the Friends of the South Cumberland (FSC) and SCSP rangers, through a grant from the South Cumberland Community Fund, have restored the CCC campground, added signage and an outdoor classroom, and opened the Civilian Conservation Camp Interpretive Area. The campground will be dedicated on Friday, April 12, and will be open throughout the weekend during the annual Trails and Trilliums fundraiser.

Visitors will have a chance to tour the camp during a hike, set for 9:15 to 11:30 a.m. on April 13. Rob Moreland, FSC volunteer and principal project researcher, will offer hikers details on the CCC, the campground and the area.

According to information from the Grundy County Historical society, the CCC's Camp S-67 site was purchased following a fundraising drive led by Grundy County businessman Herman E. Baggenstoss, who then donated the property to the state of Tennessee.

"Baggenstoss was a strong supporter of the CCC program, so much so that he became Company 1475's project superintendent for much of its time at Tracy City," said FSC board member Rick Dreves.

Named "Camp Alvin C. York" in honor of the famous World War I hero from Tennessee, the camp included a number of buildings which stored equipment and supplies, housed, fed, hospitalized and educated the workers of Company 1475 from 1935 until the unit was moved to Franklin State Forest, south of Sewanee, in 1938. A native of Grundy County, Baggenstoss was the son of Swiss settlers who founded the Dutch Maid Bakery in Tracy City in 1903. An alumnus of the University of the South, he also was a founding member of the Tennessee Conservation League and started the magazine now known as "The Tennessee Conservationist." Baggenstoss and his wife, Mary Elizabeth, later purchased the Grundy County Herald, which they published for 20 years.

Baggenstoss received many awards for his work with the National Conservation Resource Society, Soil Conservation Society of America, and U.S. Department of Agriculture Forest Service – the latter for his role in establishing the U.S. Forest Service research lab at Sewanee.

"With his passion for conservation and the environment, it is not surprising that Baggenstoss was the driving force for the establishment of South Cumberland State Park, which today includes not only the original 211 acres of Grundy Forest, but also much of the Fiery Gizzard basin and Savage Gulf in Grundy County, Sewanee Natural Bridge and Sherwood Forest in Franklin County," said Dreves. "South Cumberland State Park now protects over 31,000 acres of environmentally-significant land across four counties, and is Tennessee's largest state park."

FSC volunteers and park rangers have placed a series of large, illustrated interpretive panels at various locations around the camp to explain the functions of camp structures such as at the bath house, ice house, fire tower foundation and camp laundry.

In addition to rededication of the CCC campsite, the annual Trails and Trilliums fundraiser, set for April 12-14, will offer three days of guided hikes, a plant sale, seminars, entertainment and children's programs. To learn more, for directions or to register, visit <www.trailsandtrilliums.org>.

Dixon Myers

Myers Awarded Community Service Award

Dixon Myers, associate director of the university's Office of Civic Engagement, is the recipient of a 2019 Harold Love Outstanding Community Service Award. The awards are presented by the Tennessee Higher Education Commission to recognize demonstrated effectiveness in public service. Only five students and five faculty or staff members are honored from colleges statewide each year.

Myers was nominated for his work to connect Sewanee students with neighbors both locally and around the world: through his work with Housing Sewanee to create homes for people in need; through giving hundreds of students the chance to serve in communities from Tennessee to New York to Jamaica and elsewhere; through his efforts to create and amplify connections, especially in Haiti and Jamaica, that have led to ongoing programs and changed lives.

"While our current programs in civic engagement employ the labor, love, and energy of many people, all of that enthusiastic and effective connection with the community has its genesis in the work of Dixon Myers," said Vice-Chancellor John McCardell in his letter nominating Myers. "He is not only a creative force but an amplifying one. Dixon does not just do service; he embodies service."

"It is an honor to be selected for this award," said Myers. "My long-term commitment to service and community engagement has been truly life-giving and the University of the South has given me the greatest opportunity to fulfill this. The support of my staff and faculty colleagues, as well as all of the students I have had the great fortune to work with, has been invaluable."

Center of Lifelong Learning Announces New Courses

The Center of Lifelong Learning at the University of the South is excited to announce our new courses for April 2019. Please contact Dan Backlund at <lifelong@sewanee.edu> for further information and to register for these exciting classes before they are full. The enrollment fee for each course is only $60 and includes six hours of formal learning time.

Japanese Prints: Beautiful People and Famous Places. Instructor: Alison Miller, Art History and Visual Studies. This course will introduce the topic of 18th-20th century Japanese prints. We will discuss how prints impacted the time and place in which they were made, as well as how they were created. We will have the opportunity to view 19th century Japanese prints in the University Archives collection. Thursdays, April 11, 18, 25, and May 2 from 2–4 p.m.

Seeing American Culture through the Young. Instructor: Richard O'Connor, Professor of Anthropology. How does growing up in the U.S. shape our values? Although anthropology arose studying other cultures, we'll be coming home to look at ourselves. Our class will reflect on what's built in, and often hidden, in how we raise our young. Wednesdays, April 10, 17, 24 and May 1 from 2–4 p.m.

The Literate Walker. Instructor: Bran Potter, Professor of Earth and Environmental Sciences. We'll explore the Plateau on and off the trail using literature and natural history as contexts. Discussions will be fueled by readings from Wendell Berry, Edward Abbey, Rebecca Solnit, Robert MacFarlane, and others. Participants must be fit enough to navigate uneven ground and be able to walk several miles. Our initial meeting will be for a one-hour orientation followed by two outings of three hours. Tuesdays, April 2 from 1–2 p.m., Tuesday April 9 and 16, 1–4 p.m.

Spring Flora of the South Cumberland Plateau. Instructor: Mary Priestley. This class provides a great opportunity to increase your familiarity with the spring flora of this area, with emphasis on wildflowers of Shakerag Hollow. Weather permitting, we will spend two class periods in Shakerag to watch the woodland wildflower community develop and during the other two, we will explore resources, both print and online, visit the herbarium, learn about the collection, and possibly use dissecting microscopes and do a little sketching.

To get the most out of the class, participants should own a copy of the "Tennessee Native Plant Society's field guide: Wildflowers of Tennessee, the Ohio Valley, and the Southern Appalachians" by Horn, et al. A field notebook, 10x hand lens, and camera will also come in handy. Plan for some slow walking on somewhat challenging terrain for two of the sessions. Thursdays, April 11, 18 and May 2 and 9 from 2–4 p.m.

The public is invited and the talk will be followed by a reception.

The talk will be the keynote address for the university's celebration of Brain Awareness Week, and will be followed by a reception. Michael will speak at 5 p.m. in Gailor Auditorium.

As part of Brain Awareness Week, Madison Michael will be on campus to talk about the role Sewanee played in his journey from a natural resources major, through medical school, to his current positions as a professor of neurosurgery and as director of the neurosurgical residency program at the University of Tennessee Health Sciences Center. All members of the community are welcome.

'Conversations with People Who Hate Me: Why I Engage in Dialogue Across Difference'

Award-winning writer, performer, and filmmaker Dylan Marron struggled to know how to respond to hateful online comments he received to his work. Then one day he did something radical, he began calling his online opponents to talk to them one-on-one about why they wrote what they did and to see if they could find common ground or at least understand one another a little better. Dylan's podcast, "Conversations with People Who Hate Me," shares these difficult, funny, and humanizing conversations; join Dylan at 7 p.m., Thursday, April 4, in Convocation Hall for a public talk followed by a question and answer session.

Poet Javier Zamora to Speak

Javier Zamora came to the U.S. when he was 9-years-old from El Salvador, escaping civil war. Today, he is a popular poet and Harvard fellow who writes about immigration and his experience crossing the border and life as an immigrant. He will speak at 4:30 p.m., Friday, April 5, at the Mary Sue Cushman Room, Women's Center.

'Grace And Gratitude'

Eric Motley is an executive vice president at the Aspen Institute and formerly served in the U.S. State Department and the White House.

He is the annual Omicron Delta Kappa speaker at the University of the South, and will give a talk, "An Odyssey of Grace and Gratitude," at 5 p.m., Monday, April 8, in Gailor Auditorium. All members of the community are invited to attend the talk sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa, the national leadership honor society, and the book signing that will precede it.

Bishop Reynolds Forum

Producer, activist, and humanitarian Meredith Walker, C'91, is St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's 2019 Bishop Reynolds Forum speaker. The public is invited to a lecture at 4 p.m., Sunday, April 7, in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts. The event is free. No ticket is necessary.

Walker began her television career working at Linda Ellerbee's NICK NEWS for Nickelodeon. During her time there, the show won the Peabody Award as well as several Emmys. Working her way up to senior segment producer, Meredith traveled to all 50 states to interview kids who had interesting stories to tell. This would become the foundation for her deepening interest in the lives of young people.

Meredith's visit is made possible through The Bishop Reynolds Forum which brings a prominent speaker to the SAS campus each year to engage students and the community in a topic of current interest.

The Forum was established through an endowment in memory of the Rt. Rev. George Reynolds, the late Bishop of Tennessee. A graduate and former chaplain of the Sewanee Military Academy and a former trustee and past parent at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, Bishop Reynolds was engaged by and involved with the numerous personal and social issues confronting the individual, the Church, and the society he served.

VILLAGEREPORT

by Frank X. Gladu

I am excited to announce a significant effort for the Village Project involving generating money to assist with the aesthetic improvement of the downtown. A fundraising event will take place on Tuesday, April 23, in coordination with a one-day giving effort by the University called Tiger Tuesday. The Village Project has been fortunate to secure matching gifts up to $10,000 from dedicated donors that support the vitalization of the Sewanee Village! So, if we can raise $10,000 in donations then we will have $20,000 to use to brighten up the look of the Downtown area. Some things that we have in mind are: seating areas, signage, renderings that identify what the priority projects will look like, landscaping, public WiFi, bike lanes and a trailhead for the Mountain Goat Trail and more. Our fundraising effort will primarily be conducted through social media. So, in addition to our website, we have begun to provide content about the project on Facebook and Instagram. You can refer to our website at <www.sewanee.edu/Village> and you can follow us on Facebook at Sewanee Village Project, and on Instagram at Sewanee Village Project.

The Sewanee Business Alliance (SBA), made up of the businesses in Sewanee, has embraced this effort. They have generated nearly a dozen commitments so far to support Tiger Tuesday. Some are donating a percentage of sales for April 23 and others are pledging a lump sum to support the Village Project. We are grateful for the SBA's involvement in and support of this effort. They are truly great partners with the efforts to move the Village Project forward!

Progress on the Village project continues to move forward on many fronts. The update on the five priority projects is led by the new Bookstore that is ready to break ground in a few weeks. The design for the road project to narrow U.S. Hwy. 41A between Kennerly and Kentucky is near completion by the Tennessee Department of Transportation. Later this spring, a plan to address the creation of additional housing will be in place that is specifically intended to provide places for employees to live in Sewanee. The plan will include some single family homes as well as multi-family homes including apartments, duplexes and townhomes. The Village Green project will begin a conceptual design process as we move toward the creation of a mixed-use food market project with our development partner, BP Construction. There is a schematic design for that building that is currently being costed out in order to determine the rental rates needed to be charged to support the project for the retail space on the first floor and about 12 apartments on the second floor.

The next monthly update meeting will be held at the Blue Chair on Tuesday, April 2, at 10 a.m. and again at 5:30 p.m. The meeting will highlight the progress on the Bookstore project as well as the mixed-use specialty food market/apartments project. Free coffee will be served. Many thanks to Jimmy Wilson for allowing us to use his space to hold these monthly meetings.

Frank X. Gladu is a Special Assistant to the Vice-Chancellor and Project Manager for the Sewanee Village Development. He can be reached at <fxgladu@sewanee.edu> or (931) 598-3397. More information about the Sewanee Village Project can be obtained at the website <www.sewanee.edu/village> and the Facebook page, Sewanee Village Project, and on Instagram at the Sewanee Village Project.

Help SCC Celebrate 70 Years of Operation

The community is invited to help the Sewanee Children's Center (SCC) celebrate its 70th year of operation!

In 1949, the Sewanee Nursery School and Kindergarten officially opened its doors, offering morning care primarily to university faculty children. In 1967, the SCC board initiated an extensive scholarship program to offer the benefits of a preschool experience to the wider mountain-top community. This diversity provided an even broader cultural experience for all and has, ever since, been a hallmark of the School's mission and purpose. In 1977, the school extended its highly respected program to provide afternoon care for preschoolers and children through second grade. Six years later, in 1983, the name was changed to Sewanee Children's Center in order to reflect the wide-ranging program. In 1997, the Center extended its program to provide care through eight-year-olds.

On Saturday, April 27, you are invited to join in the Center's celebration by taking part in the third annual Progressive Dinner, an evening of food and fun to be held at various locations across the community.

Reserve tickets ($60 per couple, $35 for singles) at the SCC by contacting Sandy Glacet at <sewaneechildrenscenter@gmail.com>. The activities will begin with hors d'oeuvres and conversation. Participants will then move to their designated host's home for a lovely seated dinner. A final participant-wide dessert gathering will conclude the evening's event. Participants will be notified of their appetizer and dining assignments the week before.

Proceeds from this fundraising event will be directed toward the Center's continuing commitment to excellence in pre-school education, offered in a safe and nurturing environment by teachers and staff whose goal is to draw out the unique creativity and personality of each and every child.

From the "This Ain't No Cakewalk" exhibit, by Thom Heyer

UAG Exhibits Exploration of the Cakewalk

"This Ain't No Cakewalk," created by visual artist Thom Heyer and musicologist César Leal, considers the parallels between the cakewalk tradition of the late 19th and early 20th centuries and New York's Vogue Balls of the 1980s and early 1990s.

Both cakewalk and voguing are based upon competitive performances of movement. Both are associated, in their origins, with the expression of identity and resistance. Both became broadly popular, and were appropriated and recontextualized for other performers and purposes. Both are charged with questions about race, identity and power, explored through artifice.

Juxtaposing sheet music and representations of performers, New York's drag balls and turn of the century cakewalks, Heyer's collages, costumes and multimedia pieces prompt us to consider the assertion of identity and community in dance and music, but also the appropriation and commodification of those performances, and of the bodies of the performers.

On Friday, March 29 at 5 p.m. in Convocation Hall, there will be two brief talks and a performance. Woody Register, professor of American History and director of the project on Slavery, Race and Reconciliation, will speak about the history and popularity of cakewalk in Sewanee.

César Leal, conductor of the Sewanee Symphony Orchestra and assistant professor of Music, will speak about the translation of the cakewalk to Paris and his collaboration with Heyer.

The event will conclude with a performance led by Heyer and assistant professor of dance Courtney World, and will include Taela Bland, Valerie Figaro Depena, Jose Hernandez, Cameron Noel, Matthew Riley, Danielle Silfies and Erin Elliott. Reception to follow.

On April 2 at 5 p.m. in Convocation Hall, there will be a panel discussion about the exhibition and the questions it explores, featuring Heyer, Courtney Thompson, Assistant Professor of American Studies and Women's and Gender Studies; Courtney World, Assistant Professor of Dance; and Curtis Johnson, C'14, senior assistant Director of Admission.

Dahlstrom Exhibit at the Carlos Gallery

"For Walls," a series of photographs by Art Honors candidate, Ivey Dahlstrom, will be exhibited in the Carlos Gallery through April 3. A reception will be held at 5 p.m., Wednesday, April 3.

Compiled from day-to-day observations, Dahlstrom's work explores growth, mortality, and memory through digital, silver gelatin, and platinum-palladium prints. Images of domestic scenes and day-to-day objects populate the work, forming the scaffolding around routine moments that are actually loaded with significance. This work invites us to be concerned about articles of familiarity. Sequenced in pairs of images and paced along the gallery wall in clusters, the exhibition generates a dialogue between photographs and with a suggested, but invisible, space.

"This work is about the tensions and collisions between how something looks versus how it feels," says Dahlstrom, going on to suggest that regardless of what we share, such as our homes, memories and community, there is a part of us that is ultimately un-sharable and alone. "From this separation between what can and cannot be shared, arise contradictions. All aspects of existence are saturated in contradiction, but to ignore them, to ignore a fundamental part of what it is to be human, is to be blind."

She symbolically equates blindness, in this context, with walls. Consequently, "For Walls" tries to understand the look and feel of how we intentionally blind ourselves, and build behavioral and emotional walls. Ultimately, the work proposes that we turn these walls into a home, within ourselves and amidst others, in order to survive.

In her final semester at the University of the South, Ivey B. Dahlstrom is completing her Bachelors of Art in sculpture and photography. An artist talk will be held Friday, April 26, in Convocation Hall at 9 a.m.

Mills to Exhibit at Stirling's

Phoebe-Agnès Mills exhibit a new show of oil paintings is currently on display at Stirling's Coffee House. Mills is a freshman at the University and the daughter of Katherine and Will Mills.

"This gallery contains paintings from what is essentially my entire body of work since I began oil painting. I picked up oils my sophomore year in high school, and I fell in love with it, devoting the next two years of my life to mastering the medium," Mills said. "I learned by painting in my art class, in my bedroom, and eventually at Townsend Atelier in Chattanooga."

Mills said she is drawn toward bright, highly-contrasting colors in her work, and while the works have been done over the course of three years Mills uses her craft as a means of finding what is good.

"I frequently use a palette knife in addition to brushes. I organized this gallery according to colors, stories, and groupings that are meant to place emphasis not only on the paintings themselves, but also on the way they fit together. They are unified in a search for the good and the beautiful in what can be the mundane or the painful of my own life," she said.

Mills sees painting as a way of reconciling reality with what she hopes will become of the world.

"Painting is my way of reconciling the world as it truly is to the world that I hope it to be, and I use the darkness in my palette as my attempt to appreciate light in my life. I search for beauty in the people around me, the moments that make my life meaningful, and the colors that build it all- that is what I hope to capture in my paintings," she said.

Stirlings is located on Georgia Avenue in Sewanee. Regular hours are Monday to Wednesday from 7:30 a.m. to midnight; Thursday and Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Saturday from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday from 9 a.m. to midnight.

Arts Center of Cannon Co. Presents 'The Nerd'

Willum Cubbert has often told his friends about the debt he owes to Rick Steadman, a fellow ex-GI whom he has never met but who saved his life after he was seriously wounded in Vietnam. He has written to Rick to say that, as long as he is alive, "you will have somebody on Earth who will do anything for you"—so Willum is delighted when Rick shows up unexpectedly at his apartment on the night of his thirty-fourth birthday party.

But his delight soon fades as it becomes apparent that Rick is a hopeless "nerd"—a bumbling oaf with no social sense, little intelligence and less tact. And Rick stays on and on, his continued presence among Willum and his friends leading to one uproarious incident after another, until the normally placid Willum finds himself contemplating violence—a dire development which, happily, is staved off by the surprising "twist" ending of the play.

"The Nerd" runs March 29 through April 13, with showtimes at 7 p.m., and a Sunday matinee at 2 p.m..

Tickets are $15 with discounts available for students and seniors and can be purchased by calling (615) 563-2787 Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m.-4 p.m., or online at <artscenterofcc.com> and (subject to availability) at the door one hour prior to show time.

Tracy Jam Time Change

The Tracy Acoustic Jam meets from 7-8:30 p.m. most Tuesdays in the Water Building on Hwy. 41 in Tracy City.

It is an open group, welcoming musicians at all levels of accomplishment, as well as people who enjoy listening to music.

Daffodils by Helen Brooks

Showers Bring Flowers at In-Town Gallery

A showing of floral paintings by South Pittsburg artist, Helen Brooks, will soon be exhibited at In-Town Gallery. The very personal processes of creating a painting and of growing and nurturing flowers have been instrumental in the artist's exploration and expression of her hopes, ideas, beliefs, and passions.

"Every painting is a new experience," she says, "a way to voice my feelings and ideas about the beauty around me and a constant motivation to find true original expression."

Brooks's paintings, will be on display at In-Town Gallery through April 30, with an opening reception Friday, April 5, 5-8 p.m.

Helen Brooks, a long-time resident of South Pittsburg, graduated from Tennessee Tech with a degree in education and a minor in art. While teaching reading and art at South Pittsburg High School, she continued studying charcoal, pastel and oil under Bettie Wilson. Brooks also studied experimental water-media with Sandra Paynter

Washburn, and both oil and acrylic techniques with Helen Van Wyk, Janet McGrath, and Anne Bagby. She is a member of Tennessee Art League, Tennessee Watercolor Society, Chattanooga Civic Arts League, AVA, and Allied Arts in Chattanooga.

Her use of line, shape, color, value, and texture provide a visual rhythm and movement that celebrates her joy in life and in God's creation.

Brooks' deep affection for flowers and her energetic but controlled technique are readily apparent in her painting, "Daffodils." A multitude of yellows explode off a complex blue background and combine with the vigorously rendered lines defining the flowers to bring the viewer a deep sense of immediacy and the precious moment when the flowers reach their peak.

In-Town Gallery is located at 26A Frazier Ave., Chattanooga, and offers contemporary art and fine craft by 30 local and regional artists.

TigerSharks Summer Season

The Sewanee TigerSharks, the local summer league swim team for all area youth ages 4–18, is preparing for an exciting summer season. John Noffsinger returns in his third year as the TigerShark head coach, accompanied by returning assistant coaches Nan Long and Alyssa Summers.

Last summer, the team enjoyed a robust roster of 84 swimmers and hopes to have even more swimmers participating this summer. The Sewanee Tigersharks had a strong 2018 season, finishing second out of 10 teams at the RACE League Championships to the Manchester Makos, and they look to continue improving this summer.

The mission of the Sewanee TigerSharks is to provide a quality amateur competitive swimming experience for Sewanee and the surrounding areas. The team promotes good sportsmanship, individual health and safety through the development of quality swimming skills, self-esteem, and provides a strong community experience in all swimmers through an emphasis on individual progress, team unity, peer mentorship, and family participation.

All experience levels, from the complete beginner to the experienced year-round swimmer, are encouraged to participate. The only requirement is that a swimmer be able to swim 15-feet unaided. Men's Lacrosse Wins Big Over Oglethorpe

Ten different Tigers scored and 11 recorded points on the day as the Sewanee men's lacrosse team cruised to a 20-4 victory over Oglethorpe, March 23.

Sewanee scored the first eight goals of the contest before the home team scored with 9:56 left in the second quarter.

The Purple and Gold added 10 more goals in the second half, eight coming in the final 15 minutes to cap a perfect spring break of competition, playing in three games.

This is the 13th game in program history where the Tigers have eclipsed 20 goals or more in a contest.

Thomas Oliver led the Tigers with eight points, scoring five times and adding three assists. Drew Mullen scored four points with two goals and two assists. He also collected six ground balls. Henry Burns added four goals and three ground balls. Nico Ferrari won 16-of-24 face offs and recorded eight ground ball. Penn Mayhew (1-0) saved seven shots in 30 minutes between the pipes.

Baseball Drops Final Non-Conference Contest

The Sewanee baseball team wrapped up its non-conference competition play on the road March 26 with a 9-4 setback against the Scots of Covenant College. With the loss, the mountain rivals split their regular season series.

In the third, Riley Brandvold got the Tigers on the board with an RBI base hit, extending his hitting streak to 13 games. The Scots responded in the bottom half with an eight-run frame, capped by a three-run homer by Brooks DuBose.

Sewanee attempted a rally in the sixth and seventh. In the sixth, Chris McNulty scored the third run for the Tigers on a wild pitch.

In the seventh, Jake Woolard scored on a groundout by Brandvold. Trey Akins followed with an RBI single to score Max Murray.

Covenant would hold on to the lead by adding a run in the eighth.

Hunt Lacrosse Offensive Player of the Week

The Southern Athletic Association has announced that Sewanee attacker Hayden Hunt has been chosen at the SAA Men's Lacrosse Offensive Player of the Week, the conference office announced on Monday.

Hunt scored 13 points on the week for Sewanee, including a six-point performance in Sewanee's 16-15 victory over Colorado College.

The Memphis, Tenn. native helped Sewanee get back into its two spring break games in Colorado. Against Colorado College, the senior contributed on four goals with three assists and a goal to help Sewanee lead 10-7 at the half. His two goals in the second half kept Sewanee in the contest en route to a victory.

Two days later in Sewanee's overtime win against Springfield, Hunt's four goals, all coming in the quarter, gave the Tigers life in the second half, as they defeated the Pride, 12-11.

Against Oglethorpe, Hunt notched two assists and a point in the 20-4 victory over the Stormy Petrels.

Hunt is tied for seventh in total points (29), tied for eighth in assists (10) and ninth in the SAA in goals (19).

Vaughn Tennis Player of the Week

The Southern Athletic Association has announced on March 16 that Sewanee tennis player Abbie Vaughn has been chosen as the Tiger of the Week following her performance last week in California.

The Pheba, Miss. native finished 3-0 on the week against No. 5 Williams and Hope International. Against the Ephs, the junior took down Sarah Yang at the No. 6 flight, 6-4, 6-3.

The next day against Hope International, she won her doubles match with partner Caroline Adams 8-1 before winning at the No. 1 flight in singles over Samantha Paz.

NATURENOTES

by Yolande Gottfried

From the March 27, 2015 issue.

Spring Migrating Birds Arrive

On Sunday, March 22, David Coe heard and saw a Blue-headed Vireo (pictured at right) in his yard. This species of vireo, a small songbird that snakes among branches high in deciduous trees, is always one of the first spring migrants to arrive in Sewanee. As our forsythia bloom and the redbuds begin to gain some color, we can also expect to hear the “squeaky wheel” song of Black-and-white Warblers; the liquid, cascading songs of Louisiana Water thrushes; the bouncing, melodic notes of Yellow-throated Warblers, which frequent the evergreens on campus; and the five-note buzzy call of Black-throated Green Warblers.

Over the next several weeks, as more migrants descend upon our forests, Sewanee residents with a bit of patience and a good eye might spot several of the near-30 species of warblers that pass through our area, along with orioles, tanagers, grosbeaks and buntings. Happy birding!

Jeepers! Peepers!

On a walk around Lake Cheston at dusk, Harriet and John Runkle observed several sights and sounds signaling that spring is finally here.

The young waxing moon, also known as the Cheshire moon because it looks like it is smiling at you, appeared with Venus blazing brightly right next to it in the western sky. They heard deafening choruses of Spring Peepers near the water's edges punctuated by the long, high trill of the American Toad and the occasional “glunk” of the Green Frog. After hibernating all winter under logs and behind loose tree bark, the Spring Peepers come out to mate and lay their eggs. These tiny, nocturnal frogs are rarely seen because of their well-camouflaged markings of tan and brown. However, you know you have spotted one because of a dark X on their backs. They grow to be around 1.5 inches in length and have large toe pads for climbing; however, they stay mostly on the forest floor amid the debris once mating season is over. At the end of their walk, the Runkles also saw several bats swooping over and around the lake feasting on those other less-appealing telltale signs of spring.

Oregon Grape in Oregon

Yolande Gottfried reports from the road that they have seen Oregon's state flower, the Tall Oregon Grape (Mahonia aquifolium, pictured at right), in its native habitat, while hiking along the Deschutes River. “It is in bud. More commonly seen in this area around Bend, Ore., at least by us, has been the Low or Creeping Oregon Grape (Mahonia repens), often around the base of lava boulders, a much smaller plant, but with similar flowers.

“The new bird of the week is the Varied Thrush, which we first took for a robin, but then noticed the dark breast-band. This is definitely a bird of western North America, which Sibley lists as a very rare winter visitor to other areas of the U.S. It is most common in its breeding range in higher elevations but moves to lower elevations in the winter.”

Bear Bryant

Penguin

Pets of the Week

Meet Bear Bryant & Penguin

Bear Bryant is a 3-year-old Shar Pei/Shepherd mix. Bear was found as a stray and his owner never came back for him. He has a mellow, laid back personality, is responsive to treats, and listens well, but is not big on toy playing. He knows basic commands and is thought to be house broken. He aims to please and will be a very loyal house companion. Bear does not mind cats, and in our experience he has been good with the other dogs here at the shelter. Bear may not be well suited in a home with small children, but overall he would fit in well with a variety of types of families. He keeps a very clean kennel, and respects his space. Bear is very laid back and would make an excellent couch potato. Come see this sweet boy!

Penguin is an adorable six-month-old black and white tuxedo cat. Penguin came to the harbor with his three brothers, all beautiful black and white teenaged kittens named after black and white birds. Upon arrival the brothers were very shy and stacked atop each other in the back of the intake kennel. However, it took only a few days for them to come out of their shell once they were placed in the teenage cat suite. Penguin loves to sit in the window perch and watch everything around him, however he is a bit sad these days, given his brothers have been adopted and he is the only kitten left of his litter mates. He would love to go into a home where he has a companion. We have a few great choices here at the harbor, including his new roommate, Suzzy Q. Penguin is FIV/FeLV negative, neutered, fully vaccinated, and ready to find his forever home where he can be the most regal king of the house!

Animal Harbor offers substantial adoption fee discounts for seniors and veterans. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at www.animalharbor.org. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Sewanee Herbarium Spring 2019 Calendar of Events

Roark's Cove—Thursday, April 4, 9 a.m., with Yolande Gottfried. A private property at the base of the plateau is being made available for a wildflower walk to see some species not seen on the upper plateau, such as shooting star (Dodecatheon meadia) and Virginia bluebells (Mertensia virginica), as well as trilliums and much more. Meet in front of duPont Library on the Sewanee campus to carpool or caravan to the location of this easy to moderate walk.

Collins Gulf West—Sunday, April 7, 9 a.m., with Mary Priestley. This section of the South Cumberland State Park rivals Shakerag Hollow for diversity and abundance of spring wildflowers. Wear sturdy footwear, pack water and lunch, and bring cameras! Meet at the Collins West trailhead in Gruetli-Laager. 6 miles, moderate to strenuous with 600-foot elevation change. For directions to the Collins West trailhead, contact the South Cumberland State Park Visitors' Center (931.924.2980).

16th Annual Trails & Trilliums Festival, Friday-Sunday, April 12-14, DuBose Conference Center. The Herbarium Staff is involved in several events in this year's Festival, including a walk in Shakerag Hollow. See the Trails & Trilliums website, <http://www.trailsandtrilliums.org> for the whole schedule. Numbers are limited and pre-registration is encouraged.

69th Annual Spring Wildflower Pilgrimage, Great Smoky Mountains National Park, April 24-27. Mary Priestley will lead nature journaling workshops. Mary and Yolande Gottfried will each be leading wildflower walks. Please see <http://www.wildflowerpilgrimage.org/> for more information. Registration online is recommended.

Shakerag Hollow—Sunday, April 28, 2 p.m., with Mary Priestley. A walk among the abundant and diverse spring wildflowers of this partly old-growth forest area. Meet at the Green's View parking lot (past the golf course). Two miles, moderate to strenuous, with one fairly challenging incline.

The herbarium sponsors a nature journaling group that meets Thursdays, 9–11 a.m. led by Mary Priestley. Come try it out – stick with it if you like. Bring an unlined journal (or a few sheets of unlined paper) and a pen or pencil. No experience needed. The group meets in Spencer room 173. All are welcome. Email Mary at mpriestley0150@gmail.com for more information.

Wear appropriate shoes on all of these walks. Risks involved in hiking include physical exertion, rough terrain, forces of nature, and other hazards not present in everyday life. Picking flowers and digging plants are prohibited in all of the above-mentioned natural areas.

For more information on these or other Sewanee Herbarium events, please contact Yolande Gottfried at the Herbarium (931.598.3346) or by email at ygottfri@sewanee.edu. A map of meeting place locations is available at http://sewanee.edu/media/offices/herbarium/sewanee_herbarium_maps.pdf.

April Fools' Day

Twass on the morn when April doth appear,
And wets the Primrose with her maiden tear;
'Twass on the morn when laughing Folly rules,
And calls her sons around and dubs them Fools,
Bids them to be bold, some untryed path explore,
And do such deeds as Fools ne'er did before
