Fine Arts at the Mountain Opened

by Sarah Beavers, Messenger Staff Writer

Michael and Netta Karr celebrated the grand opening of Fine Arts at the Mountain with an open house and ribbon cutting on April 27. Michael and Netta created Fine Arts as a creative safe space that “helps to develop the whole person,” said Michael.

Michael and Netta came to Sewanee a year and a half ago, fell in love with the Mountain, and decided to open up the store.

Fine Arts at the Mountain offers classes on a variety of musical instruments for students and professionals. They also offer repairs on instruments. “When you have a nice instrument, it draws you to it and makes you want to play,” said Michael. The music store offers musical instruments and accessories, a band instrument rental program, and a comprehensive music education program.

Michael was raised in a music store and was even part of a band. He began playing the violin at the age of nine, but the guitar is his instrument of choice. Music has had a profound influence on Michael. “Music is what life sounds like,” said Michael.

In 1993, Michael and his family moved from the West Coast to attend Florida Baptist Theological College in Graceville. “God called Michael to ministry,” said Netta. He earned a bachelor of arts in church music. He then went on to Southern Seminary in Louisville, Ky., where he got a masters of arts in worship.

Michael is ordained and has served for more than 20 years as a music minister and worship pastor. His church members wanted to become more active in the service by playing instruments. Parishioners wanting to learn how to play plus a growing interest within the community drove the need for access to high quality instruments at affordable prices.

In 2008, Michael and Netta opened their first store, called Fine Arts at the Beach, in Panama City, Fla. Both realized they were called to teaching. Michael and Netta’s coaching style is self-described as “it’s more than just teaching. It is going on the musical journey with them, where their inner creative part is expressed through music,” said Michael. “And, a music studio needs to be a place where you can be free to make discoveries,” said Michael.

Fine Arts at the Mountain is located at 91 University Ave. Store hours are 10 a.m.–5 p.m., Monday–Friday. Call (931) 463-2400 for information or go to their website at <www.fineartsatthemountain.com> to learn more about music instruction for individuals or groups, and the instruments.

Vandalism at Guerry Auditorium

The Sewanee Police Department is investigating acts of vandalism that occurred in Guerry Auditorium on the University campus late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, April 27 or 28. The damage was significant; it will take a few days to determine the full extent and remediation needs.

The vandalism included broken furniture, damaged equipment, and spray paint over walls and other items. In addition, fire extinguishers were discharged over a large portion of the auditorium.

Music events scheduled in Guerry for the days following the incident were moved to other venues. The University would like to thank St. Andrew’s-Sewanee for opening McCrory Hall for a Monday evening performance.

Guerry Auditorium often is used as overflow space for the University Baccalaureate service, and it was intended to be used for this purpose on Saturday, May 11. Facilities Management is hopeful that use of the space will be possible by then, but additional cleaning and inspections must be completed before that decision can be made.

Similarly, the University is hopeful—but not yet certain—that the auditorium will be available for the start of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival. More information will follow as repairs are made.

The Sewanee Police Department is offering a $10,000 reward for information leading to the identification of the person or persons responsible for the recent acts of vandalism that occurred in Guerry Auditorium. Anyone having any information about the vandalism is asked to contact the Sewanee Police Department (931) 598-1111. SPD Investigator Jody Bray will continue to follow every lead received.

HSI Home Almost Completed at Sherwood Springs

Nestled back a ways from the main road up the Mountain, Mickey Suarez, Michael Coffey and Peter Hunter hammer away on a smart, 750-square-foot home at 1835 Sherwood Rd.

The home is the first of a group of seven sites that are planned for Sherwood Springs area.

The project is being led by Housing Sewanee, Inc., (HSI) which was founded in 1993 and modeled after Habitat for Humanity. Since its creation, the organization has built 17 houses, all with no-interest loans and financial counseling for locals who are in the market for an Police Chief Virgil McNeese recognizes officers David Strieby and Zach Fults for saving the life of an opioid overdose victim.

Monteagle: Police Save Life, Jobs, Pit Bulls

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

“I have no doubt in my mind the officers saved the woman’s life,” said Monteagle Police Chief Virgil McNeese recognizing officers Zach Fults and David Strieby at the April 29 Monteagle City Council meeting. On March 30, an unidentified motorist dropped off an unresponsive woman at the Monteagle 911 Center. Called to the scene, Fults and Strieby assessed the situation and administered nasal Narcan, a drug used to reverse the effects of an opioid overdose. The woman’s breathing and heart rate immediately returned to normal.

“Law enforcement is a lot more than writing tickets and working wrecks,” said McNeese in commending the officers. “A lot of times you have two seconds to make a decision that will change someone’s life forever.”

During the business portion of the meeting, the council issued a business permit to Dollar Tree, reviewed a request from a resident who had no access to his property, considered banning pit bull dogs in the city limits, and passed a resolution that will accommodate extending a section of the Mountain Goat Trail.

Dollar Tree will be located at the site currently occupied by Family Dollar, which will close on May 5. Dollar Tree plans to hire 30 part-time employees. The grand opening is scheduled for May 30.

Mitchell Lawson who owns land on the back side of Laurel Lake with no road access asked the council to construct an access road in keeping with the provisions of the 1975 agreement, which deeded the city property to construct the lake. Lawson’s father sold Monteagle the land for one dollar. The agreement proposed an access road be constructed on the spillway.

“Federal law says you can’t land lock a piece of land,” Lawson insisted. Developers are interested in purchasing the property. Other access options include an easement for a road through the Black property or Clifftops development.

IMMIGRATION TOPIC AT IONA

To the Editor:

The poignancy of anger and the aching in empathy were emotions manifested about immigration at IONA: Art Sanctuary's spring creative fine arts presentations.

Olivier Mababazi's painting, Birth of Mercy, of his birth soon after the Rwandan Genocide set a tone for the entire week stating: "During this endless flux of constant changes and uncertainty called life, I used to wonder: What will be my consolation? I need no consolation. Now, I question myself. "What is my contribution?"

Leslie Lytle and Robin Gottfried spoke about family relatives migrating to this country. From poet Dan Baracka of Georgia "the first time I saw race and felt the difference to be overcome/ painful stories became the basis for rebirth/to establish rights, justice not retaliation/ healing depends on truth, starts with our own confessions..."

Faye Walter shared "A Vacant Expensive, and Dangerous Presidency," including "Everything about him is instinctive, immoral and contemptible, particularly his lust for money. Money substitutes for religion in his life."

Patrick Dean's "Borders" drew analogies between camping tents, borders, and walls: "And we erect borders like this throughout lives, across our personal landscapes. Our neighborhood, on this side of our arbitrary imaginary border, is affluent, peaceful, desirable. That neighborhood is run-down, crime-ridden, and to be avoided. Our town and that town. Our state and that state. Our team and that team./ Our [blank] and that [blank]."

Sewanee's creative and generous writers included several others who were equally eloquent, hopefully to be addressed in another week.

CHILI COOK-OFF THANKS

To the Editor:

Saturday, March 30, was the first Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary Chili Cook-Off and what a great day it was. The rains held off and our local Rotary Club welcomed a large, enthusiastic crowd of chili cooks and chili tasters. I am proud to announce that we exceeded our financial goal, netting approximately $6,700.

The success of this fundraising event, which benefits the international projects supported by our Rotary Club, is shared by many. I'd like to thank all of you. From our sponsors to ticket buyers to the people and businesses who donated services and items for the event, I am in awe of your generosity. A special thank you to our judges — John McCardell, Karl Sjolund, Jodi McCullah, Linda Parrish and Wilbur Cox for your tasting and professionalism in selecting the prize winning chilis.

Thank you to the generous sponsors: University of the South Board of Regents, Lodge Manufacturing, Woody's Bicycles, Scott and Laura Anderson, John and Bonnie McCardell, Citizens Tri-County Bank, Joseph Sumpter Remodeling, Monteagle Valley Bank, The Sewanee Mountain Messenger, Gooch-Beasley Realtors, Tower Bank, University Realty, Askew Art & Merchandise, Rhea and Nancy Bowden, Dan and Carolyn Hatfield and John and Tan Hille.

Many thanks to The Blue Chair and Tavern, Big A Marketing, Chef Rick at McClurg Dining Hall, Mountain Outfitters, Mountain Goat Market and The Sewanee Inn for donating gifts in kind. Finally, kudos to the Rotaract members, especially Caroline Sweetin and Morgan Jennings, who did a wonderful job of getting student participation for this inaugural event. The Club is very appreciative of the energy that all the students brought to the fundraiser.

I want to thank the steering committee, Amy Burns, Lee Harmon, Aaron Welch, Jessica Favalo, Sarah Lodge and Dixon Myers; the many Monteagle-Sewanee Rotarians who volunteered and the University of the South Rotaract Club, who did a wonderful job of getting student participation in this inaugural event. The energy that you brought to the fundraiser was appreciated. Everyone was dedicated to making this fundraiser a huge success. I am honored to have served as the first chairman of this project and look forward to helping grow the event in the future.

Rumor in the community is that this should become an annual event. Look forward to notification of next year's Chili Cook-Off!

Kathy Henslee, 2019 Chili Cook-Off Chairman, Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary Club

THANK-YOU FROM JOSEPH'S REMODELING

To the Editor:

April 24 marked a very special day at Joseph's Remodeling Solutions. We were honored to celebrate our new office building and 32 years in business with so many wonderful clients, friends and family, business partners, and a few new faces. We want to extend a huge thank you for those of you who were able to come, and to those that were here in spirit. It is because of you that we exist, and we are so very blessed to be here to serve you and our wonderful community.

Joseph and Alyssa Sumpter, Sewanee

CLOSE ENCOUNTERS

To the Editor:

In retirement, I tend our bird feeders, and sit quite still on a bench close by. There I watch birds, chipmunks, and squirrels compete for sunflower and thistle seeds. Recently I put sunflower seeds between my shoes and attracted chipmunks. Soon I began putting seeds on my shoes. The chipmunks looked up at me as I bent over them and seemed to say, "This isn't a trap, is it?" then kept on stuffing their cheeks. They soon moved on to eating seeds out of my hand. So there I was on the bench one day leaning over, when something hit my back. I was startled and even more startled when whatever it was went into my hair. Yikes! It was pulling out hairs. I looked up in time to see a titmouse heading off with one of my hairs to put final touches on a well-made nest.

More than 50 people took part in the Sewanee Children's Center Annual Fundraiser, the Progressive Dinner last weekend. And by all reports, it was a huge success. Kudos to those who served as Dinner Hosts: Pradip and Rachel Malde, John and Kathy Solomon, Mark and Melissa Webb, Katie Gohn and William Shealy, Margaret Zucker, and Stephanie and Romulus Stefanut. The evening-long event began at the home of Annun and Dixon Myers with appetizers prepared by Cassie Meyer, Barbara Simpson, and Carrie Mauzy. Following dinner in the homes of the dinner hosts, everyone moved downtown to the upper level of Shenanigan's for delectable desserts made by Abby Colbert, Shana Minkin, and Leigh Preston. Guests mingled on the outside deck listening to music provided by local DJ Haynes Roberts. Many, many thanks to Bill Elder and the Shenanigans staff who offered the space for the final course of the evening. A good time was had by all. The event was chaired by Megan and Haynes Roberts and Annun Myers. All funds raised from the event are spent toward further enhancing the curriculum and experience for both the teachers and children at the Sewanee Children's Center.

Guerry Auditorium Vandalism: "malicious and...intentional"

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

"This senseless incident is more than regrettable; it is malicious and certainly appears to be intentional. It also does real harm to the University's program of events and, even more, to our reputation," said Vice-Chancellor John McCardell in response to the destructive vandalism at Guerry Auditorium last weekend.

Facilities Management is leading the remediation with assistance from other departments who have expertise related to the systems and equipment damaged. The University predicts it will be some time before they can accurately estimate the dollar-value cost of replacing the broken furniture and damaged equipment along with the cost of cleanup and remediation necessary as a result of the fire extinguisher discharge in the auditorium and almond-colored spray paint disfiguring the furniture and walls.

Baccalaureate overflow was scheduled to be held in Guerry on May 11, and the auditorium has traditionally offered the arena for Sewanee Summer Music Festival concerts, with the festival scheduled to begin June 15. The University is evaluating the impact to all events that occur at Guerry and will share plans for scheduling going forward once the extent of the damage can be more accurately assessed.

As a result of the vandalism, there will be increased police officer presence around campus. In order not to hamper the ongoing investigation no further details about the vandalism can be released.

"We are making every effort to discover the perpetrator(s) and hope that anyone with any knowledge of the incident will come forward with that information to the Police Department," said McCardell. "We are offering a sizable reward for information leading to the identification of those responsible."

affordable path to home ownership.

The total cost for the home has been estimated at $70,000, taking into account that a significant number of the materials used in the build were donated and that labor was all volunteer.

Construction on the home began about two years ago. Now, just a few months away from the home being complete, the organization is taking applications for potential occupants.

"We found this piece of land about three years ago, and it's a little more than six acres. One of the key parts of the property is that it has a natural spring," said Dixon Myers, co-founder of Housing Sewanee.

A key component of the home is its energy efficiency, which is made possible by the top-grade insulation, the scrap building materials that were donated from various community members, the solar collection system, and the geothermal electric system.

Michael Coffey, visiting professor of physics at the University, spearheaded the geothermal system and plumbing. Coffey said the main idea behind the geothermal system is to keep the cost of utilities low.

"We have 1,200 feet in 3-foot coils lying on top of each other, buried 5-feet underground. The main unit is a heat pump. What a heat pump does, if it's used in a house setting, is exchanges heat from the outside air with the inside air. If it needs to cool, then it dumps heat into the outside from the inside. It works like an air conditioner, a series of compressions and expansions with some kind of cryogenic fluid," he said. "Without electricity or gas, there is no energy expended on heating or cooling the air, so it's a much lower utility bill with this system."

Mickey Suarez, Housing Sewanee design and construction manager, said the utilities are something he and the others at the organization will be monitoring.

"We are going to start construction next door on our garage that is going to be used as a training center. We will be monitoring the utility use on a 24-hour basis. We'll have a good handle going forward, and will be able to compare that with other designs. Each house will vary in size and footprint, and it will vary in some of the amenities to try to save energy," he said.

For all that are involved, the energy-efficiency and low cost are worthwhile, but the goal of the project comes down to one thing—pouring into the Sewanee community.

"You give someone a place to live, the opportunity to fulfill a dream of owning a home, it can really change their whole outlook," Coffey said.

The application process for the home is open until mid-May. For more information or to apply, visit <housingsewaneinc.com>.

"The Black property sounds like the best bet," said Vice Mayor Tony Gilliam. The council will consult with city attorney Harvey Cameron.

Reporting on Codes Enforcement, John Knost said North Bluff drive residents have complained about pit bull dogs chasing neighborhood cats and the UPS driver. Knost suggested the council consider an ordinance similar to that adopted by South Pittsburg to ban pit bull dogs in the city limits. In South Pittsburg those already owning the dogs were required to confine them behind a six foot fence.

"It could be any dog," said alderwoman Jessica Blalock. "We don't need to worry about pit bulls. We need to enforce the leash law."

The leash law hasn't been enforced, Gilliam conceded. "If we enforce the leash law, violators will go before the judge, and it's out of our hands."

Mountain Goat Trail Alliance board president Nate Wilson provided an overview of a plan to extend the trail from Clifftops to the interstate. The Tennessee Department of Transportation has federal grant money for a pedestrian walkway, Wilson said. Wilson and Tennessee Senator Janice Bowling persuaded TDOT to upgrade the proposed walkway from a five foot sidewalk to a ten foot to twelve foot pedestrian facility to be used as part of the trail. The MGTA will pay for reengineering the project. There would be no cost to Monteagle. Monteagle's only commitment would be to facilitate tie-ins to existing infrastructure. Wilson doesn't anticipate any tie-ins being needed.

The council approved a resolution allowing Mayor David Sampley to sign the paperwork needed for the project to move forward.

The council meets next on May 20, rather than on the regular meeting date of the last Monday of the month.

Street Dance Canceled?

The Fourth of July Committee needs your help if we want to continue the street dance tradition on Wednesday, July 3. We need a volunteer to coordinate the details of the street dance and to fundraise at local businesses to pay for the band. Without a volunteer, we will have to cancel the street dance this year. The Committee is here to help you with the planning, but we need someone to take charge of the event. Please let us know by May 10 if you would like to help so we can finalize our event schedule. If you have questions, or if you are interested, please contact Jade Barry at <jademcbee@gmail.com>.

SES Forest Fridays Explores the World Outside

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

Eli Rose ran down the hill behind Sewanee Elementary School, dressed in rain pants and ready to explore. He and the rest of the students made it to the bottom of the hill and began to settle in around the circle of tree stump stools. After a moment, he shrieked.

One of his classmates almost sat on the slug that was occupying the stump next to him.

"Be careful!" he yelled. "The slug is already sitting there, so that's the slug's stump."

And so it was.

Eli and his classmates were spending Friday morning outside as they do every Friday, rain or shine. This allows natural environment to become an alternative classroom, which is something administrators at SES have been exploring since last summer.

"We went out our very first Friday back in August the first week of school, and the first day with all 36 of our kindergartners, it was pouring down rain. It was wonderful! We saw a luna moth, put slugs on each others' heads and we had to stomp in puddles too," said kindergarten teacher Kelli Camp.

Inspiration for the project came from Red Bank Elementary School just outside of Chattanooga, and, with funding from the Sewanee Parent Organization through the Sewanee Community Chest, kindergarten teachers Michelle Whaley and Kelli Camp and pre-school teacher Kim Casey completed the level one Forest School Teacher Training. Camp has since received the level two training.

Principal Kim Tucker said the purpose of the nature-based education is the education of the whole child.

"Forest Friday really helps us with that. Using our community and using our forest has enhanced the learning, and the kindergarten teachers are already planning to do a piece of this every day instead of just Fridays," she said.

Camp said there are benefits for both the teachers and the students.

"For the students, they're getting to experience most of our science standards first-hand — the change of the seasons, getting to observe plant and animal life and the weather. What better way to learn than be right in the middle of it?" she said. "The children have learned respect for each other and nature. We are learning that, even on rainy days, there is so much to enjoy. And for the teachers, we get to experience nature through the eyes of our students. Their excitement and wonder confirms that this is how our kids should be learning."

Looking for worms.

Camp said parents have been very supportive as well, providing rain pants and boots for the students and making notes of what the children experiment with on their own in the home.

One parent said her child now brings all sorts of sticks inside and watches closely as she makes waves in the bathtub. "Several have joined us in the woods and only have good things to say about this program," Camp said.

Eli's mom Robin said she's glad Eli and his classmates are getting the opportunity to spend more time outside — and less time in a classroom looking out the window.

"I feel like kids are indoors way too much, and Eli is an outside boy anyway. Being out in the fresh air and sunshine is good for them. I think it's awesome that they can do classrooms," she said. "He talks about it every day."

Camp said for the 2019–20 school year, they hope to expand the program and institute a 2-hour daily period of exploration.

"We will spend the last 2 hours of every school day in our forest classroom, and our hope in the future is to provide every student with the gear that they need each day. This school year, thanks to the Sewanee Parent Organization, the Community Chest and Mountain Outfitters, we received rain pants for each child, and Bogs donated 20 pairs of children's boots. Taking the stress off the parents and providing gear ensures that each child is ready to explore each day," Camp said.

Long-term, Camp hopes the school's work with Forest Fridays will instill in the students a lifelong joy of learning and a constant wonder for nature.

Malinda Sutherland was honored for her 25 years of service.

Hospitality Shop Honors Sutherland

At its recent Volunteer Appreciation Lunch, the Emerald Hodgson Hospital Auxiliary honored the 25 years of volunteer work by Malinda Sutherland. Malinda began her work in the Shop's dining room in 1995. She has worked in all departments since then, eventually being named manager of the entire operation. She has served as the Shop's treasurer since she began her volunteering.

Auxiliary President JoAnne Atwood presented the award with thanks on behalf of the entire group.

The Shop is open Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. It is located at 1096 University Ave. The shop is currently having a huge half-price sale with almost every item in the store at half the marked price. The Shop will close at 2 p.m., Saturday, May 11 and will reopen May 28 with summer inventory and other surprises.

Proceeds from sales go to scholarships for area high school graduates who wish to enter healthcare careers, and to assist physical therapy specialists at the Sewanee hospital with continuing education needs.

F@H members on the trail!

F@H Intergenerational Outings in April

April was an ambitious month for Folks at Home and friends. In collaboration with Deborah McGrath's Human Health and the Environment class we introduced six members of the community to the spring foliage along the Mountain Goat Trail – all aboard the Biology Department's purple canopied pedicab! One long time Sewanee resident had not been on the trail before and few passengers had travelled so far along this verdant byway. All of our participants were delighted with the adventure, including McGrath's students who gave generously of their time and energy to pedal folks along. The pedicab trips included a stop at Mooney's Market and Emporium for refreshment and conversation.

Additionally, and still in collaboration with McGrath's class, four "outings" were organized, mixing community members and students together for visits to places and events of interest. The first outing was to the opera in Chattanooga. The second was a picnic at Foster Falls. The third outing took students and community members to the South Jackson Civic Center Museum, followed by lunch at the Celtic Cup. To cap off the month in style, our fourth adventure was a ride on the Southern Belle Riverboat up the Tennessee River.

Finally, in the month of April, our annual Spring Action for Elders program matched members of the Alpha Delta Theta Sorority with local community members for a day of yard clean up. ADT has adopted Folks at Home and continues to collaborate with us in a variety of ways, most recently through a monthly glass recycling pick up program. Sincere thanks to the members of this fine organization.

Thanks to everyone who made April a highwater mark in intergenerational activities. This includes our Canale Intern Sarah Cordell and our AmeriCorp Vista Whitney Whittington who organized Spring Action for Elders, as well as Canale Intern Mesgana Dagnachew who researched and co-wrote the grant which funded the pedicab electric assist upgrades. Sincere thanks for generous financial support from the University of the South's Green Fund and the Office of Civic Engagement. Finally, a big shout out goes to the dynamic duo at Woody's Bicycles for donating their time and energy getting the pedicab ready for the rides.

This I Believe, SAS Eighth Grade Presentations

On Monday, May 6 from 6:30 to 8 p.m., the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School eighth graders will deliver their individual "This I Believe" presentations in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts. The public is invited to attend.

In the 1950s, journalist Edward R. Murrow's "This I Believe" radio program allowed Americans to hear well-known public figures discuss the values that guided their lives. Loosely based on this broadcast, the SAS "This I Believe" presentations are the culmination of work conducted during the advisory period. Each eighth grader will present the values they have come to believe in based on their own experiences.

Following the presentations, there will be a reception and the opportunity to view artwork and self-directed, interdisciplinary projects by the middle school students in the Simmonds Building and art studios. The projects are the result of the school's IDE8 program. The school's very popular Graffiti Gallery 2019 exhibition has been held over in the SAS Gallery for viewing that evening.

Those who contributed to The Hope Lodge include Monteagle Elementary, Grundy County Schools, Myers Hill Methodist Church, Pelham United Methodist Church, Cumberland Bible Chapel, Morton Memorial, Monteagle Dollar General, Whitwell High School, South Pittsburg Elementary, South Pittsburg High School, and Whitwell Elementary. VILLAGEREPORT

by Frank X. Gladu

April was a productive month for the Village project with several significant events and accomplishments.

Fundraising took center stage with Tiger Tuesday, the University's annual one-day giving event for the Sewanee Fund. This year marked the third edition of the event that was held on April 23. The Village project was a designation for gifts and was very fortunate to have two generous donors that offered a $10,000 matching gift. We surpassed the match and raised a total of $24,360. More significantly, 92 gifts were made including 22 gifts from Sewanee businesses. Their enthusiastic participation led the charge in accomplishing this wonderful result! In addition, our Town Planner, Town Planning and Urban Design Collaborative and our Development Partner, BP Construction, both made significant gifts to the effort. Donors also included community members, faculty, staff and generous alumni, all supporting the efforts to create a vibrant downtown Sewanee! The funds generated through this effort will be used for some small projects to create big results in an effort to brighten up the Village. Items that are under consideration include: providing seating, public WiFi, signage, landscaping, bike racks and more. Many thanks to all those who made a contribution to this effort.

A groundbreaking event was held on April 13 for the new bookstore in the Village. Several people were present to witness the ceremony. The bookstore will be the first new building on University Avenue in the downtown in more than four decades. More importantly, it represents the first step of the Village project and a significant connection between the campus and the Village. The moving of the bookstore to downtown Sewanee will be a catalyst to create a vibrant commercial area. The site of the bookstore will be between Tower Community Bank and the Post Office. This site is currently being prepared and a foundation will be laid soon. The completion date is expected by year's end providing Sewanee with a wonderful Christmas present!

The effort to create a stormwater plan to address the runoff of rain events in the Village has been finalized. The plan was created by a stormwater consulting firm, Horsley Witten. The report addresses the major development areas in the Village, with recommendations on how to address and apply design efforts for the projects in those areas. Thanks to the 12-member stakeholder group for providing expertise, feedback and focus. This group consisted of representatives from the Office of Environmental Stewardship and Sustainability, faculty from the department of Earth and Environmental Systems, the Lease Office, Village Advisory Group, University Landscaping Planning and Operation, and the Sewanee Utility District. The report is available for viewing on the website listed below, in the "resources" section.

The monthly update session for the Village project will be held at 10 a.m., Tuesday, May 7, at the Blue Chair. The focus this month will be on the design and layout of the new two-story bookstore to be located at 120 University Ave. Sarah Boykin, Director of Planning Design and Construction will provide insight on this project and discuss how this new facility will function as both the University bookstore and a community bookstore.

I hope that you will be able to join us.

Great Depression Exhibit at Tennessee State Museum

On permanent display at the Tennessee State Museum is an exhibit focused on telling stories from 1870 to 1945, during which Tennesseans struggled to find ways forward through economic upheavals, social changes and international conflicts.

Change and Challenge is one of seven permanent exhibits at the museum.

Featured artifacts document the tremendous changes that occurred in how people lived and worked, and exhibits highlighting how African Americans resisted segregation and disenfranchisement and Tennessee women fought for the right to vote.

Through Change and Challenge, learn how Tennesseans shared the nation's challenges in World War I, the Great Depression and World War II and see artifacts such as World War I hero Alvin C. York's Medal of Honor.

The Tennessee State Museum is located at 1000 Rosa L. Parks Blvd. in Nashville. There is no admission charge to the Tennessee State Museum's permanent and temporary exhibitions. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday; 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Thursdays; and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Sundays. For more information, call (615) 741-2692.

TigerSharks Summer Season

The Sewanee TigerSharks, the local summer league swim team for all area youth ages 4–18, is preparing for an exciting summer season. John Noffsinger returns in his third year as the TigerShark head coach, accompanied by returning assistant coaches Nan Long and Alyssa Summers.

The mission of the Sewanee TigerSharks is to provide a quality amateur competitive swimming experience for Sewanee and the surrounding areas. The team promotes good sportsmanship, individual health and safety through the development of quality swimming skills, self-esteem, and provides a strong community experience in all swimmers through an emphasis on individual progress, team unity, peer mentorship, and family participation.

All experience levels, from the complete beginner to the experienced year-round swimmer, are encouraged to participate. The only requirement is that a swimmer be able to swim 15-feet unaided. New swimmer, Rookie, and Junior evaluations will take place on Monday, May 20, at 3:15 p.m. at the University of the South Natatorium, with regular practices beginning Tuesday, May 21. All interested parents and swimmers should visit the Sewanee TigerSharks website at <www.sewanee-tiger-sharks.com> or email the team representatives at <sewanee-tiger-sharks@gmail.com>.

SAS Middle School Tennis Keeps Swinging

The SAS middle school boys' tennis team continued their strong improvement against Westwood Middle School, with the boys winning 6-1. Cameron Crawford and Grayson Cleveland combined to produce one of the most exciting matches of the middle school season, defeating Westwood's No. 1 doubles team in a tie-breaker that featured numerous lengthy points at crucial junctures. Dylan Kiningham and Aiden Tate continued their strong seasons at No. 3 and No. 4 singles, extending personal winning streaks with victories of 6-4 and 6-3 to secure the match for SAS.

The girls' team faced a much deeper Westwood side, but showed substantial individual and team growth since falling to Westwood earlier this year. Sarah Brewster and Madeline Sumpter battled a tough No. 1 doubles team from Westwood, and won two more games than they had in their previous try against the same team, before falling 6-3. Reagan Vaughan continued her steady improvement on the court and represented the squad and school well in a tough defeat, and Melanie Val emerged victorious in her exhibition match against Westwood's No. 5 seeded player. The Mountain Lions will wrap up their season this week with an away match against rival Webb School, and will look to end the season on a high note.

Carter Sednaoui, C'21 recently won the championship match of the handball class at the University of the South. Women's Tennis Captures Seventh Consecutive SAA Championship

The 30th-ranked Sewanee women's tennis team took down Centre College, 5-1, in the championship match of the 2019 Southern Athletic Association Women's Tennis Tournament on April 28, from the Adams Tennis Complex.

The women's team split the No. 1 and No. 2 doubles points, with Maura McCrary/Mary Jane McCaghren won the No. 2 flight.

Caroline Adams/Sara Thompson rallied to take the 2-1 advantage with an 8-6 victory before the team broke off into singles play.

In singles, Ellie Czura and Maura McCrary made it a 4-1 affair with their wins in singles.

Catherine Owen at the No. 1 clinched the match for Sewanee, taking down Katharine Sherman, 6-4, 6-4.

Sewanee collects its seventh consecutive Southern Athletic Association Tournament Championship on Sunday, and the program has won their 13th conference title in program history.

Bottom of Singles Lineup Lifts Men's Tennis to Seventh Straight SAA Championship

The Sewanee men's tennis team overcame a 2-1 deficit after doubles play to secure the team's seventh straight Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Men's Tennis Tournament Championship, clinching the match 5-2 on April 28, from the Adams Tennis Complex.

The Lynx were up to the challenge in doubles play, taking two of three points for the early 2-1 lead. Jack Gray/Andres Carro recorded an 8-3 win to avoid the sweep.

In singles, the bottom of the lineup brought the Tigers back into the match. Jordan Brewer earned the first win in singles to even the score at two points apiece with a shutout of P.J. Shaw at the No. 4 flight.

Jack Metzger at the No. 6 gave Sewanee the lead with a 6-1, 6-1 victory over Sean Hogan to give the top-seed the 3-2 lead.

Fletcher Kerr at the No. 5 put the Purple and Gold one point away from clinching the match with a 6-2, 6-3 win over Sairam Gudiseva.

Senior Jack Gray clinched the match at the No. 2 with a 6-4, 6-2 win over Phil Lauture.

Sewanee collects its seventh straight SAA Tournament crown and the team's ninth between the SAA and the Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference (SCAC), where Sewanee was a member from 1991-2012.

Hedgepeth Steps Down as Head Coach of Men's Basketball

Announced by Director of Athletics Mark Webb on April 30, Mick Hedgepeth has stepped down to join the coaching staff at Belmont University. Brian Emerson has been tabbed as the next head coach of the men's basketball program at the University of the South. Hedgepeth will return to his alma mater, Belmont University, an NCAA Division I institution. He will serve as the Director of Basketball Operations under new head coach Casey Alexander.

In two seasons at the helm of the men's basketball program, Hedgepeth led the Tigers to a 36-18 record and the 2019 Southern Athletic Association Men's Basketball Tournament Championship. With a .667 winning percentage, Hedgepeth holds the highest winning percentage for a head coach in the program's 95-year history.

Finishing in third place during the regular season, Sewanee won the 2019 Tournament crown on a game-winning three-pointer by Michael Barry to give the Purple and Gold its first Southern Athletic Association Tournament championship and the first for the program since 1997.

In addition, he led the Tigers back to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since the 1998 season.

He helped the Tigers to six All-SAA Selections, two to the D3hoops.Com South Region Team and two to the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) South District Team. In addition, he saw a student-athlete named the SAA Player of the Year and Newcomer of the Year during his tenure.

Brian Emerson will assume the duties as the head men's basketball coach effective immediately. Emerson is the 24th head coach for the men's basketball at the University.

Serving as an assistant coach for the past two seasons, this will be the third year for Emerson with the men's basketball program. He was a member of the coaching staff that saw Sewanee win its first conference championship in over 20 years.

Once again, Ash Midyett won the 800 meter run in the SAA Conference Championship (seen here winning the same race at Sewanee a week earlier) and set a new personal record of 1:55:40. Photo by Lyn Hutchinson

Track and Field Wraps Up SAA Championships

For the second time in three Southern Athletic Association Track and Field Championships, junior Ash Midyett takes home the fastest time in the 800 meters as the Sewanee track and field teams concluded action at the SAA Championships on April 27, hosted by Hendrix College.

Kelsie Schiavone, who won the 400-meter prelims on Friday, finished in third in the 400 final on Saturday with a 58.19-second time. With her preliminary time of 58.08 seconds, she stands in fourth place in the region.

Clay McKnight ran to a second place finish in the 5,000 meters with an 18:25.82 result. The sophomore moved up from 35th in the region to inside the top-20. The Augusta, Ga. native also ran to a seventh-place time of 5:07.20 in the 1,500 meters.

In the 100-meter hurdles, Meredith Stuber earned fourth place in the final with a 16.71-second mark. In the 200 final, the Stuttgart, Germany senior finished in sixth place with a 27.38-second time.

Ash Midyett won the 800 meters at the Championships for the second time in three years, and earns an All-Conference nod for the third time in his career in the event. The Fairhope, Ala. native finished with a 1:55.40 time, a new personal best, as he outran Ben Griffith of Rhodes by 0.5 seconds.

The 1:55.40 time is the fastest time in the league this season, and it is the seventh-fastest time in the South/Southeast region.

In the 400 final, Letherio Jones nearly missed an All-Conference bid with a fourth place finish, sprinting to a personal-best time of 49.72 seconds. He moves up to 22nd in the South/Southeast Region with the time.

Also in the 400 final, Ford McGovern finished seventh with a 51.57-second time.

In the 110 hurdles final, Miles Martin recorded a seventh place finishing time of 17.07 seconds. In the 400 hurdles, the junior finished with a 59.63-second performance, good for seventh place.

In the men's 4x400 relay, the quartet of Ford McGovern, Midyett, Erbie Jennings and Jones finished 0.77 seconds behind Oglethorpe for second place, running to a 3:24.88 time. Jones and Midyett, who were a part of the Honorable Mention team in this event last year, will earn a Second Team selection this season.

Hugo

Dinah

Pets of the Week Meet Hugo & Dinah

Hugo is a two-year-old black and white cat with a sweet demeanor and loving personality. Hugo was a stray that had been hanging around a Winchester neighborhood for a month trying to find food and shelter. A very nice lady noticed Hugo was not doing well and took him to a local vet to be assessed. Upon assessment, it was discovered he had a mouth ulcer that was causing him much trouble and making it hard to eat. We took in Hugo and are nursing him back to health. He is showing significant improvement. Hugo is very vocal and longs to have human interaction and attention. Hugo is fully vaccinated, FIV/FeLV negative, microchipped, and neutered. He is just awaiting his forever home. With some loving care, we suspect Hugo to make an amazing pet.

Dinah is a two-year-old lab/pit mix with a drive to please and fun personality. Dinah has had a life of displacement and needs to find her forever home once and for all. She is excellent with interacting with other dogs, even considered our shelter social butterfly. Dinah loves to play and also knows simple commands. We feel that with the right family she will blossom and be the perfect addition to any family. We think she is highly trainable and will make a wonderful loyal companion. Dinah is fully vaccinated, heartworm-negative, spayed, and microchipped. We hope you consider her to be your match made in heaven.

NATURENOTES

by Yolande Gottfried

We attended the 69th Spring Wildflower Pilgrimage last week in the Smokies. Timing was perfect for some of the flowering trees along the Little River Road driving into the Park from the Tennessee side. Silverbells were in bloom, their white bell-like flowers hanging in clusters or drifting on the ground. The tree is often noticed when the fallen flowers cause one to look up, giving it the common name of Heaven Above. This is a tree of moist, rich woods, especially mountain coves, and is the only member of its family in the park. Another tree in bloom was the Fraser's Magnolia, one of four deciduous magnolias in the Park, also a tree of rich woods. It has showy, creamy-white blooms at the ends of branches, above a cluster of large leaves with "ears" at the leaf base. The other "eared" magnolia is the Big Leaf Magnolia, but it is rare within the Park. On the steep, rocky roadbanks were gardens of Columbine, Fire Pink, and Purple Phacelia, creating striking color combinations.

One of the most common trilliums in the Park is the Yellow Trillium, Trillium luteum. It is similar in appearance to our Little Sweet Betsy Trillium, Trillium cuneatum, except for yellow rather than maroon flowers, but the Little Sweet Betsy is rare in the park. We also saw some Sweet White Trillium, Trillium simile, and Vasey's Trillium, Trillium vaseyi. The latter has the largest flower of the trilliums, a dark maroon-purple, hanging below the leaves, and is usually the last to bloom.

Another interesting group of plants seen were in the Broomrape Family. The plants in this family lack chlorophyll and are totally parasitic on the roots of other plants. One-flowered Cancer Root, or Pygmy Pipes, is a delicate-looking, white and violet flower on a single stalk, usually found in small clumps. Squaw-root or Cancer-root looks like a small ear of corn, yellowish brown and scaly, and growing in larger clumps on the underground roots of oaks. The word "cancer" in their names comes from their parasitic habit. Both of these were found on the Chestnut Top Trail.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

May, and among the miles of leafing, blossoms storm out of the darkness—windflowers and moccasin flowers. The bees dive into them and I too, to gather their spiritual honey. Mute and meek, yet theirs is the deepest certainty that this existence too—this sense of well-being, the flourishing of the physical body—rides near the hub of the miracle that everything is a part of, is as good as a poem or a prayer, can also make luminous any dark place on earth.
