School Board Revises Budget for the Fourth Time

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the July 8 meeting following two hours of deliberation, the Franklin County School Board approved a fourth round of amendments making additional cuts to the 2019-20 budget. An alternate proposal granting a 2 percent raise to support employees, a 1.5 percent raise to contract bus drivers, and years-of-service step increases for all certified employees failed to receive enough votes to pass.

On July 2, the Franklin County Finance Committee rejected the school board's third budgeting attempt that slashed over $500,000 in addition to $300,000 in cuts from a previous budget. The additional cuts satisfied the Finance Committee's concerns about drawing down the reserve fund balance to dangerously low levels, but the Finance Committee objected to removing the raises for classified employees, contract bus drivers, and certified employees who did not receive step increases. The proposed county budget includes 2.8 percent raises for highway department and solid waste department employees and 2 percent raises in all other departments, excluding the school system.

To satisfy the Finance Committee's objection, Director of Schools Stanley Bean worked with his staff last week to revise the school

Ken and Evelyn Taylor in front of Taylor's Mercantile.

Taylor's Mercantile, 36 Years and Counting

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

Before opening Taylor's Mercantile in 1984, Ken Taylor got his start selling his greenhouse-raised plants on the steps in front of the University Bookstore.

"When I was growing up, I loved to garden and play around with flowers. I would pick weeds and make bouquets out of them when I was little," he said.

Taylor graduated from Franklin County High School in 1972, and went on to pursue a degree in chemistry from Tennessee Tech. After being denied admission to medical school in 1976, Taylor went on to get his masters in microbiology.

He had worked for years to make his dream of becoming a physician a reality, but after working for 18 months in a lab studying tuberculosis bacteria, he turned down an offer from Vanderbilt. He said he just wanted to come home.

"After being cooped up for 18 months in the lab, I just knew it wasn't what I wanted to do. I could not be in an office all day long. It may have seemed like a stupid thing to do, but I wanted to make a life in Sewanee," he said.

By that point, the 1980s had come knocking, and Taylor had moved back in with his mother, Evelyn. He says to this day she has been his biggest supporter.

SSMF Concludes this Weekend

by Bailey Basham
Messenger Staff Writer

The 63rd season of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival comes to a close this week, with the final performance of the year scheduled for 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, July 14.

"When the festival ends on Sunday, we will pack up some of our items, take some notes and close the door for a few days — and then the whole process starts over again early in August preparing for our 64th season. I hope we are able to see some of these marvelous young musicians again next year," said managing director Hilary Dow Ward.

The Cumberland Orchestra will perform on at 2:30 p.m., July 14 and present Glinka's Overture to Ruslan and Ludmilla and Musorgsky's Pictures at an Exhibition. Gene Moon, music director of Riverside Arts Academy in Riverside, Calif., will be conducting the Cumberland Orchestra.

Under the direction of Jacomo Bairos, the Sewanee Symphony will perform De Falla's Three-Cornered Hat, Rogerson's Of Mountains and Respighi's Pines of Rome.

Prior to Sunday's final performance, the last faculty artist series of the season will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 13, in Guerry Auditorium.

Berlioz and Bartok are on the repertoire for the evening, and a celebration of the life and legacy of Martha McCrory, longtime director of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival, who passed away in February of this year.

"The music festival has been a whirlwind. The students have really grown during this time period, and I feel like they are leaving stronger musicians and more importantly, better citizens. Regardless of where the students come from, music is something that brings them together," Ward said. "I am extremely grateful to the Sewanee and surrounding communities for all of their support of these young musicians. Performing is part of the learning process and we are lucky to be able to provide the students with such a supportive fan base."

Tickets for the final performances can be purchased at <ssmf.sewanee.edu/tickets>.

Other events include:

Friday, July 12, 7 p.m., Guerry Auditorium, Student Chamber Concerts in St. Luke's Chapel and Convocation Hall.

Saturday, July 13, 10 p.m., All Saints' Chapel, Festival Brass Concert.

CHANGES TO BREAKFIELD ROAD AND GREENS' VIEW PARKING

To the Editor:

Elders and differently-abled folks who love the woods but cannot walk hills or gravel roads will not be able to park as we do now, out Breakfield, at the firelane entrances. And the new parking at Green's View does not allow for anyone to park and enjoy the view. Rather folks sit awhile with the car running, polluting the air and the quiet, and cannot just relax and enjoy.

What these have in common is a flagrant disregard for the needs of the elders and differently-abled. This lack of planning for us is highly exclusionary, showing great prejudice!

Katy Bear, Sewanee

THANKS AND A CORRECTION FROM PARADE ORGANIZERS

To the Editor:

Now that we've cooled off (finally), we can take a moment to thank those who answered our call in May for help with this year's Fourth of July parade. Honestly, Lane and I couldn't have done it without Clay and Paula Yeatman, May Kamalick, Ashley Jenkins, Charles Beaumont, Kevin Wilson, Karen Keele, Lynn Stubblefield, Aaron Bridgers-Carlos, Dan Backlund, Ron Goodman, and William Shealy. For so many reasons, many of which included these volunteers, this was our best parade yet!

However, parade organizers want to make it right for the This is My Town float! The judges voted unanimously that Brenda Harrison and her friends and family deserved the second-place trophy, and yet, it was given in error to one of the third-place co-winners. Chalk it up to lack of sleep or heat-stroke, but we are very sorry. If you see Ms. Harrison give her a congratulations for an amazing float complete with water tower, picnic table, and fresh watermelon.

The Fourth of July Parade celebrates America and our common history—that time when we could articulate and agree on the ideals of freedom and good citizenship. Lane and I wanted to be part of an event where everyone felt welcome and respected. We hoped for a parade that left spectators feeling proud of our big/little town for its creativity, diversity, and mutual respect, and we think Sewanee knocked it out of the park this year.

If you believe the parade is a time to celebrate what brings us together: deep love for this Plateau and deep hope for this country, the parade needs you. If you want to feel hope again for what is possible in this country and in this community, where we are as different as we are the same, you need the Fourth of July parade. In this spirit, I hope even more of you will get involved next year. I will not be leading the charge, but someone will and they will need your help. Sewanee is really at its finest on the Fourth.

Leigh Anne Couch and Lane Beaumont, Sewanee

We want to thank the Messenger for offering the excellent reporting provided by Leslie Lytle. Judith Swart Webb

Judith Swart Webb, age 76, died on June 28, 2019, at her home. She was born on Oct. 11, 1942, in Rhinebeck, N.Y., to Craig and Carolyn Swart. She grew up in Vermont, lived in New Hampshire and Florida, then moved to Sewanee, where she lived for almost 30 years. She and her husband founded and operated a handcrafted jewelry business, traveling to craft shows throughout the southeast, and selling their jewelry to shops across the U.S. and as far away as Guam. They retired and moved to Sanbornton, N.H., in 2007, to pursue their spiritual life closer to their mentor Kirpal Singh of Deli, who had founded Sant Bani Ashram there; she became the Ashram's first resident in 1964.

She is survived by her husband of 39 years, Shipp Webb; her daughter Mira Gerard of Johnson City, Tenn.; her sister, Kate Canning of West Rupert, Vt.; and brother, Peter Swart of Riverside, Calif.

A memorial service was on July 7, 2019 at Sant Bani Ashram.

Memorial gifts may be made to Pyareo Home, 333 Brook Rd., Sanbornton, NH 03269, a vegetarian assisted living facility in Sanbornton where Judith volunteered, or online at <www.pyareohome.org>.

"I moved in with my mom and built a greenhouse at her house in Jump Off in 1981," he said. "I was still trying to make sense of what I wanted to do, but I knew I wanted to be in Sewanee."

After a suggestion that Taylor buy the old Hamilton hardware store, which is where Taylor's Mercantile has been for 36 years, Taylor said he walked across the street to the bank, applied for a loan and got to work. Taylor's Mercantile is a wedding florist, gift shop and home decor store.

"On Jan. 1, 1984, my mom and I opened the store. We were both working at Emerald Hodgson. I was an X-ray tech and she was an LPN. Every day at 2 p.m., I would run down and swap places with her. We did that for eight years," he said. "And, 36 years later, we're still here. My mom just turned 90, and she still comes to work every day."

Taylor said after 36 years operating the store, he has never been more grateful for the Mountain community.

"I believe that God has given us all a gift, and it's our duty to minister to those around us. I am lucky enough to get to feel like that is what I'm doing," Taylor said. "We knew we'd never get rich, but we certainly love it here. We will retire someday, but not yet. We enjoy it too much."

Taylor's Mercantile is located at 10 University Ave., in Sewanee. The store hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday. For more information, give them a call at (931) 598-5893.

system budget to include raises for classified employees, contract bus drivers, and step increases for all certified employees. Bean noted Mayor David Alexander agreed to review the property tax levy, taking into account the reduction in the schools' share of the total over the past seven years.

"That's a good faith effort on Alexander's part. We need to make a good faith effort on our part, as well," said Bean.

To balance the expense of the raises, Bean proposed cutting $200,000 for unplanned positions, $15,000 for bus garage supplies, $100,000 for bus garage construction, and returning $125,000 to the fund balance previously earmarked for the bus garage.

Over the weekend, Deputy Director of Finance Cindy Latham found an error in the reporting of prior encumbrances in the budget reviewed by the Finance Committee on July 2. The error zeroed out the impact of the recent cuts proposed by Bean, meaning his proposed budget would leave only $2.5 million in the fund balance.

Vice Chair Lance Williams spoke against approving the budget. "We took $1.2 million from the fund balance this year, and the proposed budget requires taking $1.696 million from the proposed budget next year. We are spending more than we are receiving. Our goal should be to have a balanced budget."

By law, the reserve fund balance must contain 3 percent of the budget. Williams stressed if the fund balance continued to drop at that current level, it would fall below the 3 percent minimum requirement in two years.

Williams and board member Chris Guess voted against including the pay raises in the budget. Board members Linda Jones, Christine Hopkins, Sara Liechty, and Chair Cleijo Walker voted for including the raises. A majority of five out of eight members is needed for the board to pass a measure. The board is short two members due to the death of board member Gary Hanger and the resignation of Adam Tucker.

The board approved Bean's proposed budget without the raises, which will leave the fund balance at just under $3 million.

The board will have an opportunity to discuss the 2019-20 budget with the county commission at a special workshop July 23. The commission will vote on the full county budget July 29.

According to Bean, if the county commission rejects the school system budget, the school board will have 10 days to make additional revisions. If the county commission again rejects the school system's budget, the schools will be funded at the 2018-19 level. If the county commission fails to approve an increase in school funding for three consecutive years, the state will mandate an annual increase of 3 percent.

Tennessee First Lady to Participate in Make a Difference Day

Tennessee First Lady Maria Lee will serve alongside volunteers on Make a Difference Day, July 20 at several elementary school sites. Mrs. Lee is passionate about service and found a good match in the goals of South Cumberland Community Fund's (SCCF) Make a Difference Day and her own priorities for serving the state.

For the third year, SCCF will partner with the eight elementary schools on the Plateau and the AmeriCorps VISTA program for a morning of service. This year the date was moved to coincide with the opening of school so the community can help get their schools in shape for the new school year. Volunteers are needed to plant gardens, apply new paint in old spaces, and spruce up playgrounds, among many other projects. The service day will run from 8 a.m.-noon and a light breakfast will be available with a T-shirt given to every volunteer.

This year Tracy City Elementary will concentrate on outdoor spaces, including planting trees and painting playground benches. Coalmont Elementary will repaint the school parking lot, plant flower beds, and work on a variety of indoor painting projects. Monteagle Elementary will create an outdoor classroom space. Sewanee Elementary will add game boards to the playground area, repair and refill sandboxes, and add mulch to a newly landscaped area.

All hands are welcome - students, parents, teachers, and community members. Rakes, shovels, wheelbarrows, and other gardening equipment are needed for many of the schools. To volunteer for Make a Difference Day please go to <<https://www.southcumberlandcommunityfund.org/>> or contact Lucas Crossland at <scsfvista@gmail.com> with questions or for additional information.

Civil Rights, Architecture, Cottage Tour, and Sewanee's Chef at MSSA

The Monteagle Sunday School Assembly in Monteagle continues its 137th consecutive summer season of enrichment with an interdenominational worship service at 11 a.m. in the Assembly's Warren Chapel. The eight-week season will continue through Sunday, Aug. 4, featuring numerous visiting lecturers who will present morning and evening programs in Warren Chapel that are open free of charge to the public; unless otherwise noted, morning lectures begin at 10:45 a.m. and evening lectures at 8:15 p.m. Anyone interested in a full schedule of the Monteagle Assembly's 2019 program is welcome to pick one up at the Assembly Office (tel. 931-924-2286), or to peruse the schedule on the Assembly's website at <www.mssa1882.org>.

Freedom Rider Fred Clark, artist and activist Jane Dalrymple-Hollo, and Sewanee history professor John Willis will discuss the Civil Rights movement in a Tuesday evening lecture, "Hands Across Place, Time, & Race." This conversation will focus on the relationships forged in Mississippi that connect Dalrymple-Hollo and Clark, with Willis providing historical context from his research specialization in southern culture and history. Willis will also introduce the film "Freedom Riders" in a screening Monday, July 15, in Warren Chapel, beginning at 8:15 p.m. The PBS American Experience film from 2010 explores the six months of 1961 during which more than 400 black and white Americans traveled together in the Jim Crow south. Willis will also answer questions at the film's conclusion.

Preservation architect Al Cox will lecture Thursday, July 18, on "How to Read a Building: The Influence of Building Technology on Architectural Styles." A past president of the American Institute of Architects (AIA) Northern Virginia Chapter, Cox has received several accolades and awards from the AIA. He currently serves as the Historic Preservation Manager for the Department of Planning & Zoning in Alexandria, Va. In addition to his talk, Cox will lead Assembly architecture walk and talks on Sunday at 4 p.m., leaving from Harton Hall, and Thursday at 2:30 p.m., leaving from Warren Chapel.

The 56th annual Woman's Association Cottage Tour and Bazaar takes place on Friday, July 19, on the Assembly grounds. Cottages on the tour this year include Twin Oaks (No. 167), Memphis Home (No. 72), Hillside Rest (No. 135), Reunion (No. 118), Nearview (No. 50), and Full Circle (No. 116). The Bazaar runs from 9 a.m.—4 p.m., with the Cottage Tour available from 11 a.m.—4 p.m. This year's Tour lecture will be "Modern Traditions: Mixing Old & New In Your Home," with Paige Albright. With her keen eye for antique pieces and a particular specialty in Oriental rugs, Albright works in residential interior design and runs a shop in Mountain Brook Village in Birmingham, Ala. Among her talents is the ability to generally evaluate a rug's value by sight. Attendees of the Cottage Tour are welcome to attend her 1 p.m. lecture in Warren Chapel. Tour tickets are available in advance at the MSSA Office.

Sewanee's Chef Rick Wright will lead two culinary lecture/demonstrations at Harton Hall this week. On Tuesday, July 16, at 4:30 p.m., Chef Wright will discuss "Why Purchase Local?" Then on Wednesday, July 17, at 5 p.m., join him for a demonstration and tasting of gazpacho, both healthy and delicious.

Additional events this week include the following:

Tuesday, July 16, 10:45 a.m., Warren Chapel—"A Community in Black & White: A Story of Family, Photography, & Community," with Joseph Shipp & Chuck Reece.

Tuesday, July 16, 2:30 p.m., Writers' Grove—"Spirituality and Enneagram," with Rev. Keith Gunter.

Wednesday, July 17, 10:45 a.m., Warren Chapel—"Beyond Singing, Sermons, & Scripture II: The Building Blocks of Creating Church Textiles," with Jennifer Berk, followed by a make and take workshop for adults on "Be an Artist & Build a Banner." Second Annual Plateau Play Day, July 13

The Americorps VISTA Project, a partnership between the University of the South's Office of Civic Engagement and South Cumberland Community Fund, announces Plateau Play Day, a community-wide day of play for children and families in Franklin, Marion, and Grundy counties on Saturday, July 13, from 10 a.m.–noon, at the South Cumberland State Park in Monteagle.

Families will have the opportunity to engage in creative and spontaneous play, with a variety of special activities and fun materials. Come tunnel through cardboard boxes, build forts, create sidewalk chalk masterpieces, and slip n' slide the day away. Lunch and laughter will be provided.

"In a world facilitated by technology, play can easily become an afterthought," said AmeriCorps summer associate VISTA Eunice Muchemi. "Plateau Play Day serves as a reminder to pause and utilize other modes of creativity and healthy living. Children and adults alike will have a chance to connect and pass on wisdom through games and healthy forms of communication."

Research shows that play can counteract stress, and engaging in free play can help children develop both physically and emotionally, with impacts ranging from stronger bones to heightened social skills. Play is important, positive and fun.

Play isn't simply "fun and games," it's one of the most positive and powerful tools for child development. When children are given the freedom to create such things as sandcastles and forts or draw and paint or roam outside with limited adult supervision, they are on their way to good health.

The Summer VISTA organizers invite all families to Plateau Play Day. Volunteer assistance from parents and guardians is requested. Adults are invited to bring lawn chairs to play sites.

For questions, volunteer interest or to sign your child up, please email <scvistaleader@gmail.com>.

Conferences on Campus

On July 17, 11 Chinese students will arrive in Sewanee for an engaging program on U.S. economics and culture under the direction of University assistant provost Scott Wilson and three chaperones from CreditEase. After spending five days on campus, students will travel to the U.S. Space and Rocket Center in Huntsville, Ala., and eventually on to New York City's Wall Street to explore the infamous financial district's role in national and global economics.

From July 16 to July 28, the Domain will host fiction writers, poets, and playwrights from around the country as they gather for the 30th annual Sewanee Writers' Conference. Attendees will work with distinguished faculty such as Tim O'Brien, Naomi Iizuka, and Marilyn Nelson. Numerous editors and literary agents will also be in attendance. In addition, faculty members will host public readings each day of the conference. The schedule of readings can be found at <<http://www.sewaneewriters.org/events/>>.

About 50 high-school students from around the country and abroad will gather July 16–24 on the University of the South's campus for the seventh SUMMA Theological Debate Camp. SUMMA, a program of the School of Theology's Beecken Center, is an opportunity for students to develop skills in public speaking and debate. Under the tutelage of University and guest faculty, students will engage with a relevant and complex debate topic for the entire week, past topics have included capital punishment, separation of church and state, and gay marriage.

Tie-dyed cakes were the theme of this year's July Fourth Cake Contest at St. Mark's Hall, Otey Chapel.

The winner of the 12 and Under division was Malenda White who made a three-layer vanilla and cream cheese cake. Malenda decorated the cake with Peace, Love and Fireworks symbols, which were repeated in the cookie pops springing from the cake.

Sisters Josie and Carmen Green were repeat winners in the Best Taste and Best Presentation categories. Each of these winners received a gift card from Blue Chair.

Winners in the 13 and Over division were: Catherine Cavagnaro whose beautifully bright red, white and blue triple layer cake was decorated with symbols of peace, love, and fireworks was named Best Themed. Best Tasting cake award went to Shelley Cammack, who made a Burnt Leather Cake. Marissa Santiago was awarded Best Presentation for her sleek lemon cake with buttercream frosting, all covered in a white fondant decorated with fireworks.

The Grand Prize winner was Florence Atwood whose Tie-Dye Surprise cake was decorated with sparkling candles and an explosion of stars and stripes.

Prize money and Octoπ gift cards were sponsored by Sewanee Catering. The Grand Prize winner also received a big custom ribbon donated by Taylor's Mercantile. The awards presentation was followed by the Cake Tasting event.

The Sewanee Woman's Club sponsors the Cake Contest. Thanks to Sally Hubbard and Sarah Zimmerman who received entries, and to June Coker, Shirley Davis, Rob McSwain, and Melissa Williams who judged the entries. Thanks also to the Sewanee resident and Rhodes student, who along with her sorority sisters, offered to help with the clean up by stacking chairs. Thanks to Scott and Katie Peek along with their children Jax and Macie who swept and put up tables. It is people who are willing to give their time for others who make this and other events of the Fourth Celebration possible. Thanks to Otey Chapel for letting the Contest take place in St. Mark's, and another big thank you to prize sponsors, Taylor's Mercantile, The Blue Chair, Octoπ Restaurant, and Sewanee Catering for their generosity.

The first annual Fourth of July picnic contest was a success with winners Bob and Susan Askeew receiving a picnic basket set to enjoy on future picnics. Thank you to all who participated and we look forward to hosting this event in the future.

The first annual Fourth of July volleyball tournament was a blast whether you were a participant or spectator. There were seven teams and Team Green took first place by defeating Team GOAT. Team Green, top, won the grand prize of $100 and bragging rights until next year. Start practicing now so you'll be ready to participate next year!

The Mutt Show

The spirit of Haight-Ashbury was in the air during the Fourth of July Mutt Show at Manigault Park, where dozens of dogs and their human handlers embraced the “Peace, Love, and Fireworks” theme with tie-dye, beads, and at least a couple of VW buses. One competitor was even named “Grooviest Dog.” Emcee Lizzie Duncan once again entertained the crowd with her running commentary on the entrants in five categories of competition and called on young spectators to offer their very best dog jokes.

A huge thank you to all of the volunteers who helped make this event possible: Ellen Copper, Ally Hollis, Bess Turner, and Beth Reed for their excellent registration skills; Cassidy Martin for manning the print station; Laura Crigger, Ally Hollis, Bess Turner and Beth Wiley for their organization and patience putting all of the contestants in order; Steve Burnette, Mary Ann Patterson, and Kate Reed for their expert work as judges; David, Theo and Jack Michaels for their enthusiasm in handing out trophies and Buck Butler for his fabulous photos. Special thanks to Lizzie Duncan for being the most entertaining and resourceful host ever, to Mo Ostrowski for setting up the sound system and printer on his day off, and to Matt Petrilla for spending two afternoons setting up and taking down the festive ring.

'Penelope and the Geese' at the SUT

"Penelope and the Geese," an opera in progress that gives a different perspective on "The Odyssey," will be performed at the University of the South at 5 p.m., Friday, July 12. The event, which is free and open to the public, will be held in the Sewanee Union Theatre. It will include a concert reading and a first showing of the full score.

In a traditional read of the Odyssey, we're meant to admire "faithful Penelope" and consider her and Odysseus' relationship a beautiful love story. In "Penelope and the Geese," composer Milica Paranosic and librettist Cheri Magid (former Tennessee Williams Playwright in Residence, 2015-16) tell a different kind of love story, one that levels the playing field. Their opera explores and explodes the issue of faithfulness, asking what the concept really means.

"Penelope and the Geese" is scored for harp, flute and cello and those instruments' ancient twins, ancient lyre, aulos and Serbian gusle. The singers are all women and they play all the female characters in the Odyssey.

The performance is part of Paranosic and Magid's two-summer residency at Sewanee and is a co-production with the Sewanee Summer Music Festival, the Office of the Dean of the College and the University of Delaware, where Magid was the inaugural Susan P. Stroman Playwright in Residence.

The Arts Center of Cannon County Presents 'We Will Rock You'

"We Will Rock You," a story about the globalized future without musical instruments, is scheduled for to run through July 27 at the Arts Center of Cannon County. The show is Rated PG-13 for mild language and adult content, and performances are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on July 19-20 and July 26-27 and at 2 p.m. on July 14 and 21.

In the show, a handful of rock rebels, the Bohemians, fight against the all-powerful Globalsoft company and its boss, the Killer Queen; they fight for freedom, individuality and the rebirth of the age of rock. Scaramouche and Galileo, two young outsiders, cannot come to terms with the bleak conformist reality. They join the Bohemians and embark on the search to find the unlimited power of freedom, love and Rock!

Since 2002, over 15 million theatergoers in 17 countries have been thrilled by this awe-inspiring production which is based on the songs of Queen with a book by Ben Elton (The Young Ones, Blackadder, Popcorn). Elton fashioned this hilarious futurist comedy around more than 24 of Queen's biggest hit songs including "We Are The Champions," "Radio Ga Ga," "I Want To Break Free," "Somebody To Love," "Killer Queen," "Don't Stop Me Now," "Under Pressure," "Bohemian Rhapsody," "Another One Bites The Dust," and of course, "We Will Rock You."

Tickets are $15 with discounts available for students and seniors and can be purchased by calling (615) 563-2787 Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or online at artscenterofcc.com. Subject to availability, tickets will also be sold at the door one hour prior to show time.

NATURENOTES

Spicebush Swallowtail

Black and Blue Butterflies

A number of the large, beautiful butterflies we are seeing these days are hard to tell apart, especially the ones that are largely black, with blue at the base of their hindwings. This note focuses on the female Tiger Swallowtail, the Spicebush Swallowtail, the Pipevine Swallowtail, the Red-spotted Admiral, and the female Diana Fritillary. All are common or fairly common in our area. The last two are fairly easy to distinguish from the swallowtails in that they do not have “tails.” The female Diana has actual blue spots or markings above on the margin of the hindwing and is a particularly large and striking butterfly. The blue of the Red-spotted Admiral is iridescent and covers a large area above on the hindwing. Males are frequently seen “puddling” on wet soil in unpaved roads, imbibing minerals along with the moisture. Among the three swallowtails, a distinguishing feature is the spots above along the margin of the hindwing (also the patterns on the underneath of the wings, but the butterflies do not often cooperate in allowing a good view of that). They all have metallic blue on their hindwings, but the Pipevine has one row of bluish-white spots along the margin and no red or orange dot at the “corner.” It differs enough from the other two to be classified as another genus. The female Tiger and the Spicebush both have the red-orange dot but the female Tiger appears to have two rows of spots or crescents to the Spicebush’s one, though this is not conclusive. To complicate matters, there are also Black Swallowtails whose females may be marked with some blue, but the red or orange dot has a black center. Binoculars may help!

Amara

Harvey

Pets of the Week

Meet Amara & Harvey

Amara is a three-year-old red and white pit mix with stunning blue eyes. Amara was surrendered to animal control when her owner suddenly passed. Amara came in with a flea and tick infestation, but after proper medication and several baths, her skin is healing. Amara is full of love and desires all the human affection and attention she can get. Amara likes to play outside, but prefers to be indoors where it is nice and cool. We imagine after a bout of the zoomies and playtime, she will be the perfect cuddle bug to lay on the couch with you. Amara is up-to-date on her vaccines, spayed, microchipped, heartworm-negative, and ready to go into a home where she deserves to be the center of attention.

Harvey is a one-year-old grey tabby and white cat. Harvey was found on the road and almost hit by a car. The driver kindly picked him up and brought him in to us to find a new home. Harvey is very social and loves to be loved and petted on. He is also a very laid back cat, with a “cool dude” type personality. Harvey gets along great with other cats and does not seem to mind dogs. Harvey recently lost his favorite cat friends whom were adopted, and is feeling a little lonely, so we would love to see him go into a happy, loving home very soon. Harvey is up-to-date on vaccinations, microchipped, FIV/FelV negative, and neutered. Harvey would love to be rescued and go into a home where he can live out his cat years free and happy.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Bastille Day - July 14, 1789

Allons enfants de la Patrie
Le jour de gloire est arrivé!
Contre nous de la tyrannie
L'Etendard sanglant est levé
Entendez-vous dans less campagnes
Mugir ces féroces soldats?
Ils viennent jusque dans vos bras
Égorger vos fils, vos compagnes

[Refrain]

Aux armes, citoyens
Formez vos bataillons
Marchons, marchons
Qu'un sang impur
Abreuve nos sillons!

La Marseillaise, by Claude Rouget de Lisle

Arise, children of the Fatherland!
Our day of glory has arrived
Against us the bloody flag of tyranny
Is raised; the bloody flag is raised.
Do you hear, in the countryside
The roar of those ferocious soldiers?
They are coming right into your arms
To cut the throats of your sons, your comrades!

[Refrain]

Too arms, citizens!
Form your battelions
Let's march, let's march
That their impure blood
