Fiber to the Premises Across the Domain

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

All Seawanee leaseholders may soon have the option of subscribing to fiber optic internet service. A partnership between Ben Lomand Connect, Duck River Electric, and the University of the South would make the cutting-edge technology available.

"Once the agreement is signed all three parties are ready to move forward," said interim Duck River President and Chief Executive Officer Charles McDonald. Laying infrastructure could begin as early as October.

Duck River would provide the connection to the home and Ben Lomand would take over from there and go inside the house, said Patrick Jordan, who oversees IT and system operations at Duck River. In some instances, the infrastructure would be underground and in other instances, overhead.

Ben Lomand Operations Manager Chad Dees said the one Gbps (gigabytes per second) service would be active as opposed to passive. When providers offer a passive connection, the one-gigabyte is split among 8-32 customers substantially reducing speed. Both uploading and downloading would occur at the one Gbps speed with the new fiber connection.

Among the benefits to customers and the community, Dees cited telemedicine, entertainment, telecommuting, and e-learning. Jordan noted the new technology would also enable Duck River to control home thermostats during peak usage for customers who subscribed to the service.

Providing background on the project, Eric Hartman who heads up University Risk Management, said the Board of Regents' Committee on Innovation found a need for effective connectivity on the Domain. The University explored several partnerships with several providers.

Duck River recently completed a 330-mile fiber optic loop connecting the 16 counties it serves, said McDonald. The system gives Duck River real-time information during outages and allows for technology that reduces the number of customers who lose power, Jordan explained.

Duck River decided to lease unused portions of its fiber optic network

The University Childcare Center celebrated Grandparent Day and other special adults on Sept. 12.

Seawanee Elementary welcomed grandparents with a breakfast and an invitation to join our school community to observe Patriot Day. Many came to spend a special morning with their grandchildren. Here, Teresa Brown is pictured with her grandchildren Samson McClain and Vera McClain.

GC Food Bank Helping Those in Need

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

Each month, upwards of 225 families receive food assistance from The Grundy County Food Bank. Diana Foster, who serves on the board at the food bank, has been involved for nearly 10 years. She said the need for food assistance in the area became more apparent to her when she retired.

"It is a huge need in the community," Foster said. "The majority of our people are so thankful for the help they receive. Being able to help your neighbors just makes you feel good."

Food insecurity is often coupled with health issues, such as diabetes and heart disease, and people of color, children, the elderly and those living in rural areas are statistically more likely to need food assistance. Compared to an average of 15.4 percent food insecure nationwide overall, rural areas are more highly affected.

The Grundy County Food Bank, which is one of several local organizations working to address the need of hunger in the community, distributes every Tuesday from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. Members are able to come once a month to receive food for their families.

"We provide food to our clients. Our food comes from Wal-Mart programs, and we buy from the Chattanooga Food Bank. We also get food from donations," Foster said.

The Grundy County Food Bank is new to The Hunger Walk partnership this year. Aside from supporting The Hunger Walk, which is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 28, Foster said the food bank is always in need of volunteers to help unload food shipments and distribute food to clients.

"Our families have a dire need, and we always need help. We are just hopeful that being a part of The Hunger Walk this year will help us to serve more of our community," Foster said.

Gee's Bend Exhibit: the Local Connection

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

Decades before folk art dealer Mathew Arnett began collecting quilts from Gee's Bend, the Freedom Quilting Bee cooperative brought prosperity and dignity to impoverished black women from Gee's Bend and other rural Wilcox County, Ala., communities. None of the above would have come to pass without Seawanee resident Rev. Francis Walter's hands-on work during the 1960s struggle for black civil rights.

In 1965, Walters answered a calling to Selma, in Wilcox County, to take up the work of civil rights activist Jonathan Daniels. Before Walter and Daniels ever met, Daniels died from a gunshot wound received shielding a young black woman as they tried to enter a whites-only store.

White landowners were evicting black tenant farmers who registered to vote. Walter and a fellow civil rights worker set out one afternoon to interview rural Possum Bend residents to find out if they were being evicted and if they needed housing. The road they traveled dead ended at the Alabama River. At a nearby cabin, stunning colorful quilts draped across a clothesline caught Walter's eye. The quilts reminded him of the Op Art in vogue at the time.

The quilt maker ran into the woods and hid when Walter went to the door. Walter returned with a local black civil rights leader and the fearful quilt maker came out to talk. He asked if she sold quilts and for how much. The going rate: $5 with the white-woman buyer

After serving a 17-year tenure as Foster Grandparent at Sewanee Elementary School, Mrs. Madeline Prince will no longer be in the first grade classrooms each morning to help our first graders start their day with extra support. Due to federal budget cuts, the South Central Human Resources Agency is unable to continue the Foster Grandparent Program at Sewanee Elementary. The school's small size and socio-economic status were considered in the decision to cut SES from the program. Happily, Mrs. Prince will continue to share her time three mornings each week through generous support from the Sewanee Parent Organization with Sewanee Community Chest funding. Pictured is Mrs. Madeline Prince with student Wyatt Burge.

Burnett Named to Industrial Development Board

Stephen Burnett will represent the 5th district on Franklin County's Industrial Development Board, filling the seat vacated by the departure of Haynes Roberts. This board works to attract appropriate industries to our county. Franklin County will be well served by Burnett's depth and breadth of experience: a Master's degree in finance from the University of Tennessee-Knoxville, a veteran, and a long public accounting career with Deloitte working with government budgets and large corporations. He and his wife, Nancy, have lived in Sewanee for the past 12 years where they love to host their seven grandchildren.

Community Council Special Election

The Sewanee Community Council will be conducting a special election to fill a Council Representative position for District 4, the boundaries of which are Tennessee Avenue, University Avenue, Texas Avenue, and down Alto Road/Roarks Cove Road to the edge of the Domain. The term will run until December 2022.

To be a candidate, residents must reside in or on a boundary of District 4, be a registered voter in Sewanee, and turn in a petition with the signatures of 10 resident voters in District 4 to the Provost's Office by noon on Friday, Oct. 4. Petitions are available at the Office of Leases and Community Relations (Blue House). If there is more than one eligible candidate, District 4 resident voters will be able to vote from Monday, Oct. 7 to Friday, Oct. 25 during business hours at the Office of Leases and Community Relations (Blue House).

More information about the Sewanee Community Council and a map of the districts can be found at: <<http://www.sewanee.edu/offices/leases/community-council/>>.

Backlund Presents 'Enrollment Trends and Troubles'

Lee Ann Backlund will present "Enrollment Trends and Troubles" at the Monday, Oct. 7 gathering of the Academy for Lifelong Learning.

College enrollment in the U.S. has decreased for the eighth consecutive year, according to new data released in May by the National Student Clearinghouse Research Center. This is due in large part to an ongoing decline in the number of students graduating from high school. Most private colleges, even those with significant endowments, are highly dependent on tuition revenue. When enrollments decline, colleges face tough choices including whether to reduce some academic programs, to limit financial aid, and, in the extreme, whether to merge with another institution or to cease to exist. This has created a difficult, competitive environment for colleges.

Backlund is the Vice President for Enrollment Planning and the Dean of Admission and Financial Aid at the University of the South. Her career spans 38 years in education including six years at Agnes Scott College where she served as the director of admission and associate vice president for enrollment and dean of admission. In addition, she spent three years as the director of college counseling at Porter-Gaud School in Charleston, S.C. Backlund is currently chair of the Common App Board of Advisors and is a past-president of the Southern Association for College Admission Counseling.

The Academy, part of the Sewanee Seminars Series, meets from noon to 1 p.m. in Lower Cravens Hall at 439 Kentucky Ave., Sewanee. The cost for a single session is $3 and an annual membership is available for $20. Coffee, water and cookies are available, and attendees are invited to bring a sack lunch.

There is ample parking in the parking lot adjacent to Cravens. Sewanee parking regulations require that the vehicle's rear bumper be visible from the parking lot aisles, so attendees are advised to avoid backing into a space or pulling through.

All Saints’ Chapel

Growing in Grace continues Sunday, Sept. 22, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints’ Chapel. For our semester-long series “One Step Before Me,” we’re asking each of our speakers to share about another person—from history or from their own life—who has impacted or shaped them. In reflecting on a “personal saint” who made their path clearer, our speakers allow us all the opportunity to experience gratitude for all who have given us strength to wander and learn. Email Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep if you have any questions. We hope to see you there—and bring a friend!

The Catechumenate continues this Wednesday, Sept. 25, at 7 p.m. in the Bairnwick Women’s Center. Catechumenate, from a Greek word meaning “learning and exploring,” is a place where we explore what it means to be a human being and what it means to be a person of faith in our community. This is a great place to meet new people and build relationships. Food, prayer, questions and conversation power this process. Contact Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep for directions or more information <kayla.deep@sewanee.edu>.

Christ Church Welcomes the Baileys

The Rev. Kenneth Bailey, who is a graduate of the college at Sewanee, class of 1994, and is now the rector of St. Matthew’s Anglican Church in Riverside, Fla., will be the preacher at Christ Church Monteagle on Sunday, Sept. 22. Nancy Beth Bailey, who graduated in 1995, will also be with us. Wesley Bailey is a sophomore and serves as an acolyte at Christ Church on most Sundays. The Baileys have seven children, and it is always a treat to their friends on the mountain when they can come for a visit. With a degree in English and having studied music as well, Nancy Beth has become a well-known photographer not only among their friends, but among others in the area where they live.

Please join us at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday morning and stay for lunch if you can.

Progress continues on the restoration of our buildings, and we are very grateful for all the support during the thefts over the summer. Please call the Monteagle Police Station if you have any information about the several burglaries in the area.

Cowan First Baptist

On Sept. 28 and 29, there will be a Homecoming at Cowan First Baptist Church. Come and hear The Gardners on Saturday, Sept. 28, at 6:30 p.m. An ice cream social will follow. Join us again on Sunday, Sept. 29, for a 10:25 a.m. celebration service followed by a covered dish luncheon in the fellowship hall. Cowan First Baptist is located at 316 W. Cumberland St. For more information call the church at (931) 967-7506 or log on to <www.cowanfirstbaptist.org>.

Harrison Chapel Church

Harrison Chapel Church will host a Family and Friends Day, Sunday, Sept. 22. The service begins at 10:30 a.m. Lunch served after church and there will not be an evening service.

Otey Parish

This Sunday, Youth meet at 9:45 a.m. in the Hethcock Room in Claiborne Hall for Sunday Service Hour. Parents are welcome. Infants 6 weeks to children 4 years old are invited to the nursery beginning at 8:30 a.m. There will be nursery for both services and the Sunday School Hour. Children ages 3-11 are invited to join us in the Godly Play 2 room Claiborne Parish House. Adult Forum—”Corruption in Religion and Politics” with Perry Butler.

Tullahoma Sangha

Tullahoma Sangha, a Zen Buddhist meditation and study group, meets each Wednesday at 6 p.m. at Unitarian Universalist Church of Tullahoma. Newcomers are welcome; please call ahead and we will have a short orientation at 5:45 p.m. For more information, or if you would like to be added to the email group, call (931) 455-8626.

Unitarian Universalist

The Unitarian Universalist Church of Tullahoma’s speaker this Sunday will be Beverly Lee on “Human Trafficking.” The service begins Sunday at 10 a.m., followed by refreshments and a discussion period. The church is located at 3536 New Manchester Hwy., Tullahoma. For more information call (931) 455-8626, or visit the church’s website at <www.tullahomauu.org>.

Obituary

Juanita Keller Coleman

Juanita Keller Coleman, age 94 of Decherd, died on Sept. 10, 2019. She was born and raised in the Alto Community. She was a devoted member of Christ Episcopal Church, Alto, and made many things for the church such as the banner, garments for the ministry and numerous wall hangings. She was preceded in death by her parents, Herman Lee Keller and Alene Clark Keller; her husband, Virgil Coleman; and her brother, William Lee Keller.

She is survived by her daughter, Judy Jones of Orange, Calif.; son, Joe Jones of Decherd; step-daughter, Diane Alexander of Murfreesboro; one granddaughter; and numerous nieces, nephews and cousins.

Funeral services were on Sept. 14, 2019 at Christ Episcopal Church Alto, with Interment followed in Mt. Garner Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that memorial donations be given to the American Alzheimer’s Association. For complete obituary go to <www.moorecortner.com>.

Death Notice

Eric Woodfin Naylor, C’58

Eric Woodfin Naylor, C’58, died on Sept. 16, 2019, at his home in Sewanee. He was a professor of Spanish at the University of the South from 1962 to 2004.

Funeral services were on Sept. 19 in All Saints’ Chapel. Interment followed in the University Cemetery.

A memorial service and reception to celebrate his life and legacy for alumni and friends will be on Saturday, Sept. 28. The service will be at 4 p.m. in St. Luke’s Chapel, followed by a reception in Convocation Hall. This will allow another time for remembrance and celebration, especially for those who could not make it to Sewanee on Sept. 19.

Louisiana Bendolph worked with students at Sewanee Elementary to engage them in the topics of history and the art of quilting. A field trip to the University Art Gallery to see the exhibit of quilts created by Louisiana and other quilters from Gee's Bend, Ala., gave students background information prior to her visit. Gee's Bend quilts are considered an important part of American art and cultural history. The craft of quilt making by the ladies of Gee's Bend dates back to before the 19th century. Pictured are Gee's Bend quilter, Louisiana Bendolph and fourth grader Amelia Hart working on quilt pieces.

supplying the scraps and thread.

"Black women all over the county were making quilts," Walter said. A friend suggested selling the quilts in New York City. One quilter he talked with about buying quilts directed him to nearby Gee's Bend where he met the quilter Minder Coleman.

Walter explained he was paying $10 for quilts and planned to sell them in New York. Anything the quilts brought in above the initial purchase price would also go to the quilters.

"Minder knew an opportunity when she saw one," Walter said. She asked what day Walter would be coming by and had all the local quilters display their quilts in their yards.

Walter bought 70 quilts. A friend in NYC coordinated an auction in Greenwich Village and sent back the cash. The success of the effort sparked an idea in Walter's mind: the woman should form a quilting cooperative.

An attorney friend drew up articles of incorporation and the quilters met in a church to elect officers. For a while the quilters operated out of one another's homes or abandoned houses. Walter headed up the Selma Interreligious Project (SIP), a multi-faith coalition of civil rights activists. With SIP's help, Walter secured grant funding to build a sewing factory.

The architect husband of a supporter designed the building and local black laborers constructed it with locally made brickcrete blocks. Called the Martin Luther King Sewing Center, the facility included a childcare wing. The state of Alabama opposed blacks operating childcare programs. Finally an SIP worker ushered in approval for the center's childcare program along with several others in the Selma area likewise operated by blacks.

A NYC connection arranged for sale of Freedom quilts at Bloomingdale's. The department store wanted standardized sizing and patterns. The quilters were frustrated, but complied, welcoming the income. The center began to produce other items as well. The Sears and Roebuck craft division contracted for pillow shams, which brought in steady revenue and were far less labor intensive than quilts.

What did the quilters spend their money on? Graduation rings and deep freezers were top on the list according to Walter. Many used the income to pay for their children's college education. They also built a home for an impoverished man and his son living in a hovel adjoining the sewing center property.

Sharing the good fortune was second nature to them. Asked about the name, the Freedom Quilting Bee, Walter said, "Everything was 'freedom.' The tent city that sprang up to shelter the evicted was called Freedom City. At demonstrations the song 'Oh, Freedom' rang out," said Walter.

The Freedom Quilting Bee's impact resonated far beyond impoverished Wilcox County, but the women didn't always reap the benefits. A cousin suggested to Walter the women copyright their designs, an idea he dismissed. A few years later at a conference he saw a woman wearing a dress with fabric patterned after one of the Freedom quilts. It was seeing an illustration of a quilt from Gee's Bend that prompted folk art dealer Arnett to travel there and pursue acquiring quilts for his collection.

Rennie Miller, retired following a career in management, hopes to revive the cooperative, according to Nancy Callahan, author of the book "The Freedom Quilting Bee." Miller is the daughter of one of the original members. Her mother's earnings from Freedom helped to finance her education.

Foundation Day Celebration Sept. 20

The University of the South will celebrate Foundation Day on Friday, Sept. 20. Sylvia Earle will be the speaker at Foundation Day Convocation and will receive an honorary degree.

The convocation, which will be held at 4:30 p.m., coincides with Family Weekend and will include the conferral of two additional honorary degrees and the induction of new members into the Order of the Gown.

John Lewis Ford, former dean of campus life at Emory University, and the Rt. Rev. Dr. Frank Clayton Matthews, former bishop for the Office of Pastoral Development, also will receive honorary degrees during the convocation.

to providers such as Ben Lomand.

"When you're looking for someone to partner with, it makes perfect sense to look to another co-op who shares your vision," said Ben Lomand General Manager Lisa Cope.

Cope cited concern for the community and exceptional customer service as basic principles of co-ops. Ben Lomand offers 24-7 network support and boasts a 90 percent first-call resolution rate.

Hartman said the University's portion of the cost was $725,000. The University planned to pay for 15 percent of that based on the University's ownership of 15 percent of the 555 leaseholds. The remaining cost would be divided among the other 472 leaseholders.

"We haven't made a decision about how the cost will be spread out and over how many years, whether monthly, quarterly or annually," Hartman said.

Subscribing to the Ben Lomand connection would be optional, Hartman stressed, offering residents another service provider in addition to Charter and AT&T. No landline will be needed for the Ben Lomand service.

The three-phase project would take 12-18 months to complete. Phase one would begin in downtown Sewanee and spread north and east through central campus and take six to eight months. Phase two, would encompass the west side of the Domain and phase three the south side. Phases two and three would take three to five months each.

Cope spoke enthusiastically about the partnership suggesting it provided a nationwide model for extending fiber optic connectivity to rural areas.

"It seems very optimistic we will move forward," Hartman said.

Making arrangements with leaseholders and informing them about overhead versus underground connections would fall to Ben Lomand.

Why President Taft Came to Sewanee Part 1

by David Bowman

Archibald Willingham Butt (1865-1912) might well be one of Sewanee's two or three most important alumni in national governmental service. A century ago he served officially as military aide to President Theodore Roosevelt, beginning in April 1908, and to President William Howard Taft, from his inauguration on March 4, 1909, onwards.

If Major Butt had not lost his life in the sinking of the steamship "Titanic" on the night of April 14, 1912, it seems likely he would have continued to play a vital role in our nation's turbulent history.

The best biography available in the University's duPont Library is the two-volume "Taft and Roosevelt: The Intimate Letters of Archie Butt, Military Aide" (Doubleday, Doran & Company, 1930). Here is a capsule summary to begin with:

"Born in Augusta, Georgia, on September 26, 1865, Archie Butt was graduated in 1888 from the University of the South. He was a reporter in Louisville, Kentucky, and Macon, Georgia; then correspondent in Washington for a group of southern newspapers. After enlisting in the Spanish-American War, he became quartermaster captain of volunteers in 1900 and received his commission in the regular army. Service in the Philippines and Cuba was followed by his appointment as military aide at the White House. In that capacity he was a constant companion of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft, both of whom bore witness afterward that he had won their friendship as well as their appreciation for extraordinary service." (pp.ix-x)

Nearly all of the letters in these two volumes' 852 pages were written to "Dear Clara," Archie's sister-in-law, Mrs. Lewis F. Butt, of Augusta, Georgia. Published two decades after his death, these letters form a lively depiction of the Major's public and private life; they were the memoirs that this ex-newspaperman never got the chance to write.

Try to imagine, for example, the exhausting number of public occasions that Taft, Butt & Company provided constituents, as described in a letter dated November 20, 1911:

"We have actually traveled on railroads 15,270 miles and at least 3,000 miles by motor and side trips. We have been on the go for 58 days, and 14 nights we have spent off the train. We have visited 28 states, entertained as many governors, and been flooded by their ridiculous staffs and yapped at by all the Congressmen and ward politicians from Beverly to the Coast and back again. We have made 220 stops, and the President has made 380 speeches. We have carried the figures farther and estimated that he has addressed 1,614,850 persons in auditoriums and halls and from platforms and has been seen by 3,213,600 ear-splitting citizens. Do you wonder that our nerves have been disintegrated and that our innards are all upside down?" (p.765)

One of these stops, on November 10, 1911, was made at Sewanee, as reported rather splendidly by the Sewanee Purple (Thursday, November 16, 1911). The weekly student newspaper printed Taft's entire speech, delivered on the unfinished porch of All Saints' Chapel, to an umbrella-wielding crowd. An accompanying article paid tribute to "the little train, after its labored pull up the steep mountainside, rolled into Sewanee station and came to a stop, panting and hot, flushed and proud, as it were, in the cognizance of its privilege - that of bearing the greatest American of all - when this little train arrived at 8:15 on last Friday morning." (see Note 1)

As with all presidential-type speeches, Taft's included some crowd-pleasers, singling out local celebrities like Sewanee's own Colonel William Gorgas, and his role in fighting yellow fever, "the construction of the Panama Canal would have been impossible without Colonel Gorgas" - but there was a surprising amount meaty policy statement about the President's advocacy of an "international arbitral court sustained by all nations" to bring about and sustain world peace:

"We are a strong enough nation to meet any other nation in war if we so desired. No one would think of charging us with cowardice for seeking peace. We are in a position to organize, and Europe is waiting for us to take the lead - all the countries of Europe will follow.

"Some say if we look after our own that is enough. I say 'No!' and I look to the men who have studied our responsibilities and understand our world-wide duty to help us on our desire for universal peace."

Considering the historical fact that the Great War would break out in Europe, just three years later, Taft's plea to his University audience to help create such a multi-national entity was immensely sensible.

That message alone would have made Taft's stirring Call to Sewanee memorable - even if he had not been the only "sitting president" to visit Sewanee in the University's 150 year history- but there is another intriguing explanation as to why Taft, Butt & Company wanted to come to this mountaintop.

This involves the mega-issue of trust busting.

Note 1: The only automobile on the plateau was owned by Sam Werner, Jr. of Sam Werner Lumber Company in Tracy City. The University officials, knowing of Taft's enthusiasm for motor vehicles, borrowed the Werner vehicle to meet the train's arrival at the Sewanee station and escorted the President around Sewanee in it.

This article will be continued in a future edition of this newspaper.

The notes to this article were prepared by Oliver W. Jervis of the Heritage Center. This article was originally published in Keystone Newsletter of the Sewanee Trust, Winter 2012. It is republished here with permission of Sewanee Trust for Historic Preservation and the author, David Bowman.

Readers are invited to visit the Heritage Center Monday through Friday 10 a.m.-4 p.m., and Saturday, 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

St. Mary's Sewanee Offers Workshop on Zen Buddhism

St. Mary's Sewanee: The Ayres Center for Spiritual Development is pleased to announce a new one-day workshop, "The Ten Oxherding Pictures," on Saturday, Nov. 16. The workshop will begin at 9 a.m., and includes lunch.

"The Ten Oxherding Pictures" is a way of exploring the Zen training path to enlightenment. In this day-long workshop led by Richard Dubé, participants will explore the history and meaning of this ancient tradition. The sketches are an examination of one's Buddha nature and ego, and how those evolve as people approach enlightenment. Ultimately, Dubé says, the workshop is about uncovering the real person who resides beneath the false self.

As part of this journey of self-discovery, participants will explore a greater understanding of the trinity of self (physical, intellectual and spiritual); the three commitments (doing no harm to yourself and others, engaging in compassionate acts everywhere and accepting the world as it unfolds); what enlightenment looks and feels like; and the practice of Zazen meditation.

Dubé—a naturalist, author, photographer, and educator—is the leader of this event. He is the author of three nonfiction books—"Natural Pattern Forms," "Natural Stonecapes" and "Landscaping Makes Cents." He is a lecturer and public speaker on topics including Japanese garden design, permaculture, forestry and birding.

For more information about this event, including making reservations, call St. Mary's Sewanee at (931) 598-5342, email <reservations@stmaryssewanee.org>, or go online to <www.stmaryssewanee.org>.

Sewanee Elementary students, guests and community first responders gathered around the flag pole in memory of the nearly 3,000 people who were killed in the 9/11 terrorist attacks. First responders were also recognized for their heroism risking their lives to save others. As we commemorate Patriot Day, a national day of service and remembrance, we continue to be mindful of the debt we owe those who continue to serve and protect us each day. During the ceremony, fifth graders Trevor Rollins and Lily Smith led everyone in the Pledge of Allegiance. Former SES student and current member of the FCHS band, Dixie Knight, played "Taps," adding much meaning to the ceremony.

Lecture on 'Slavery & The Old School Tie'

Richard Cellini, founder of the Georgetown Memory Project, will deliver a lecture in Sewanee at 4:30 p.m., Monday, Sept. 23, examining the complicity of American universities in the antebellum slave economy, and its implications for members of these university communities today.

The lecture, "Slavery & the Old School Tie: Shouldering Responsibility for Alma Mater's Role in the Slave Trade," will be in Convocation Hall. All members of the community are welcome and encouraged to attend the lecture, which will be followed by a lively and robust Q&A period.

The Georgetown Memory Project, headquartered in Cambridge, Massachusetts, is an independent nonprofit research institute dedicated to locating and identifying the 314 enslaved people sold by Georgetown University to southern Louisiana in 1838, and to tracing their direct descendants (living and deceased). Georgetown's sale enabled the struggling university to avoid bankruptcy.

To date, the project has documented the lives of more than 200 of the enslaved persons the college sold, and traced more than 8,200 direct descendants. More than 4,000 of these descendants are alive today.

Richard Cellini

Cellini's presentation will seek to answer the hard question: What can and should the present do for future generations to mitigate the sins of Alma Mater's past? It will examine the experiences of other universities with significant ties to human trafficking, with a focus on Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. Sewanee's connection to the slave trade will be placed in this larger context.

His lecture also will consider and weigh significant objections to modern-day reparations and look at some specific approaches to reconciliation and restitution. Finally, Cellini will conclude with some brief observations and recommendations that take into account the (truly) unique history, traditions, and charisma of the University of the South.

Cellini has worked as a senior executive in the high tech industry for the past 25 years. He holds both a bachelor's degree and a law degree from Georgetown University. He received a master's degree from the University of Cambridge (UK) in 1994.

He was named to the Chronicle of Higher Education's "Ten Most Influential" list in 2016. In 2018, he received the Frederick Douglass Service Award of the Sons & Daughters of the U.S. Middle Passage, the nation's leading lineage society for the descendants of persons enslaved in America. In 2019, he was elected to serve as a councilor of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, the most respected name in family history.

The lecture is sponsored by the Roberson Project on Slavery, Race, and Reconciliation, the initiative launched by the University of the South to investigate and make known its historic entanglements with slavery and slavery's legacies. Additional funding has been provided by the University Lectures Committee, the Southern Studies initiative, and the Office of Civic Engagement.

SEWANEENOW AND THEN

Sewanee Trust for Historic Preservation

On Sept. 7, 1865, Tennessee's diocesan convention elected Charles Todd Quintard bishop. In October, his election was confirmed by the General Convention and he was consecrated bishop of Tennessee. In reference to his confirmation, Quintard said, "When the report of the committee on my consecration was made to the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies, there was, I believe, but one dissenting voice."

On Sept. 20, 1865, the following appeared in a Knoxville newspaper:

Charles Todd Quintard

Episcopal Rebel

The rebel influence seems to have prevailed in the late Episcopal Convention at Nashville. We have looked their proceedings over, and have failed to find any expression of regard for the Government of the United States, or any sympathy for Union armies. They decalred for the notorious Quintard for Bishop, a rebel of the first water, who had served four years in the rebel army, and part of the time on a rebel General's staff. They elected eight delegates to the General Convention, where the question of Bishop Otey's successor is to be settled, and elected Quintard men, even beating F.B. Foggy [sic], who has always heretofore been a delegate and is one of the purest and best men in the State. They refused East Tennessee as a delegate, evidently because of its loyalty. It was a rebel Convention, actuated by patrician rebel feelings, and did up a dirty rebel job. The who concern ought to have been arrested and sent to a military prison.

The loyal Episcopalians of Tennessee have one consolation left. The General Convention will indignantly reject their Quintard faction, or rather their nomination, and set aside the brawling rebel preacher, and thus show the world that they don't want traitors to the country, to fill the first offices of the Church.

Registration Continues for the Fifth Annual Hunger Walk

There are numerous organizations dedicated to addressing the problem of food insecurity in the community, including the Grundy County Food Bank, Morton Memorial Church and the Community Action Committee. Through a joint effort in the fifth annual Hunger Walk, the Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary Club and Grundy Rotary Club hope to raise awareness about hunger issues as well as raise money to help end them.

The walk will be held at 9 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 28. The walk begins at Angel Park in Sewanee.

Registration is free for children under 12, $15 for students and $25 for adults. Register to walk at <www.thehungerwalk.com>. Registration may also be completed on the day of the walk.

University Rankings Updated

The U.S. News and World Report's 2020 Best Colleges report was released Sept. 9, 2019. In this list, Sewanee ranked No. 43 among the nation's 223 top national liberal arts colleges; other institutional categories include national universities, regional universities, and regional colleges.

Sewanee also appears on the separate U.S. News lists of "Most Innovative Schools," "Best Undergraduate Teaching," and "Best Value Schools."

Among the other ratings that have been released recently, Sewanee is once again in the Forbes Grateful Graduates Index (No. 52 out of the top 200 schools). "Which colleges provide the best return on investment? The ones with the happiest and most successful alumni, of course," says Forbes.

One of the "Best 385 Colleges" listed by Princeton Review, the University was highlighted as No. 8 in the most beautiful campus category and No. 19 for best career services. It was also selected again for the separate "Green Colleges" list.

Washington Monthly uses a different methodology for its rankings, based on an institution's contribution to the public good in three broad categories: social mobility, research, and promoting public service. Sewanee ranked No. 15 this year, out of 214 schools, in the service category—with a perfect score for its voter engagement efforts led by the Office of Civic Engagement.

Finally, Teach For America recently announced that the University of the South is among the top small colleges sending graduates to its 2019 corps of teachers, with five alumni joining TFA this year.

Rotaract Club Relay for Life

The Rotaract Club of Sewanee is sponsoring an American Cancer Society Relay for Life. Relay for Life represents the hope that those lost to cancer will never be forgotten, that those who face cancer will be supported, and that one day cancer will be eliminated. This event will take place from 4 p.m.–8 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 26, at the Hardee-McGee Field at Harris Stadium. For more information on how to donate, form a team or get involved, go to <www.relayforlife.org/sewaneetn> or email <amasoek0@sewanee.edu>.

SBA Reverse Raffle Tickets

The Sewanee Business Alliance is sponsoring a reverse raffle with the grand prize awarded of up to $5,000. Tickets are $100 each, and no more than 500 tickets will be sold. Proceeds benefit Sewanee Angel Park and Housing Sewanee.

Tickets for the reverse raffle are for sale at the following local businesses: Beauty by Tabitha, Big A Marketing, The Blue Chair, Fine Arts at the Mountain, the Lemon Fair, University Realty, and Woody's Bicycles. Tickets may also be purchased online at <www.sewaneevillage.com>.

The winning ticket will be drawn at the ninth annual AngelFest on Friday, Oct. 4. The celebration begins at 4:30 p.m., with children's games and vendors. The concert begins at 7 p.m. The reverse raffle drawing will take place during the concert.

Body Recall Program at Monteagle City Hall

Two exercise programs based on the Body Recall program will be offered in Monteagle in the meeting room at City Hall. These programs are designed to increase flexibility, mobility and improve balance.

On Mondays and Thursdays, the Body Recall class meets from 9 to 10 a.m. This class is appropriate for area residents who are able to exercise on the floor. There will be seated, standing and floor exercises, following 15 minutes of indoor walking. Participants should wear comfortable walking shoes and bring a floor mat or towel.

On Thursdays, the Chair Exercise class meets from 11 a.m. to noon. It incorporates balance exercises from the Matter of Balance program as well as light weight lifting along with Body Recall exercises. Wear comfortable shoes and bring light weights, if you wish to use them.

Instructor Judy Magavero has led the Body Recall class at Cliff-tops since 2010 and Chair Exercise at Monteagle City Hall for five years. The programs are ideal for folks who suffer from arthritis or fibromyalgia. You may contact her for further information at <jmagavero@blomand.net> or (931) 924-3118.

The program is free, although small cash donations to The Grundy Food Bank are appreciated.

We're glad you're reading the Messenger!

Register for Lifelong Learning Courses

The Center of Lifelong Learning at the University of the South is excited to announce our new courses. Contact Dan Backlund at <lifelong@sewanee.edu> for further information and to register before the classes are full. The enrollment fee for each course is only $60 and includes six hours of formal learning time.

Secret Messages: Old and New Methods of Encryption—This course will look at simple and complex substitution cyphers (think of Poe's "The Gold Bug") and then spend time exploring how computers encode text. After realizing that messages on a computer are just a string of zeros and ones, students will spend just enough time with some mathematics to be able to understand modern encryption techniques. At the end, the course will examine potential encryption techniques which might be used when much more powerful computers are available. Instructor: Laurence Alvarez, Professor Emeritus of Mathematics, Tuesdays, Oct. 29, Nov. 5, 12, and 19, from 1–3 p.m.

Feuding Couples in Theatre and Film (the Comic Version)—Comedy is a particularly powerful means of exploring relationship anxieties, which is why some of our great comedies use the battle of the sexes for their structuring tension. In this course we will apply different theories of laughter and of the comic. Instructor: Robin Bates, Professor Emeritus of English, Mondays, Oct. 28, Nov. 4, 11, and 18, from 2–4 p.m.

Matthew Arnold (1822-1888): A Man For Our Season—Among all of the major Victorian poets and cultural critics, Matthew Arnold was especially attuned to the unique contours and problems of industrial society and capitalist global economy. His poetic voice and stance anticipate many of the major themes and techniques of 20th and 21st century poetry. His capacity to "see life steadily and to see it whole" especially recommend him to readers of our age. In this brief course we will begin in the first of four sessions by considering an Arnoldian essay (The Study Of Poetry) in which he makes his claims for the role of poetry in the modern life: then we will read and discuss Arnold's major poems that address the human condition in the context of the modern landscape. Text: Victorian Prose and Poetry (the Oxford Anthology Of English Literature); eds. Lionel Trilling and Harold Bloom; ISBN 0-19-501616-5; paperback edition. (This is the same text used in the previous Robert Browning Course offered in the winter of 2018.) Instructor: John Reishman, Professor Emeritus of English, Wednesdays, Oct. 30, Nov. 6, 13, and 20, from 9–11 a.m.

New Classical Music: Learning from the classics while experiencing the modern—This class will explore the differentiation between classical music in differing time periods while also exploring new compositions and how to understand them as a listener. We love the "classic" aspect of classical music, but what is it that makes it so classic? And, what about modern classical music? Just like we exercise our palates with cuisine, this class will strengthen your palate within classical music. Instructor: Hilary Dow Ward, Thursdays, Oct. 31, Nov. 7, and Nov. 21, from 2–4 p.m.

Friends of the South Cumberland Events

Pint Night and Movie Premiere—The documentary "Filling the Void," which features South Cumberland State Park's Denny Cove, will be shown at 6:30 p.m. on Sept. 26 at Cumberland Transit, 2807 West End Ave., Nashville. Tickets are $5, or $10 with a commemorative mug and two beers from Athens, Georgia-based Terrapin Beer Co. The event is co-sponsored by Friends of South Cumberland, and all proceeds benefit the nonprofit Southeastern Climbers Coalition. For more information visit <www.steepthrough.com>.

Cycle Sequatchie—A biking and hiking event begins at 8 a.m. on Oct. 5 in Tracy City. Bikers will ride 2.5 miles on the paved Mountain Goat Trail from downtown Tracy City to the Grundy Forest parking lot, where they will hike the 2-mile Grundy Day Loop on the Fiery Gizzard Trail, and then ride bikes back to Tracy City. A farm-to-table lunch buffet and outdoor expo will follow. The event is sponsored by the Friends of South Cumberland and the Mountain Goat Trail Alliance. For more information visit <www.mountaingoattrail.org>.

Major Discounts at Lodge® Cast Iron's Second Annual Warehouse Sale

On Oct. 4-6, come visit Lodge Cast Iron's Warehouse Sale for up to 80 percent off warehouse inventory, including discontinued, overstocked, and limited-release items.

The second annual Warehouse Sale was turned into a three-day event, due to the successful turnout of its inaugural event in 2018. The sale, located at the first shipping bay around the side of the Factory Store, will be open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 4, and Saturday, Oct. 5. On Sunday, the sale will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"Given the success of our first event last year, we decided to add an extra day to give people another opportunity to shop," said Walker Henley, manager of retail sales at Lodge. "We're excited to see the turnout and expect to see people from all across the southeast!"

Shoppers are encouraged to park at the Lodge Employee Center, located at 345 Railroad Ave., South Pittsburgh. Signs will be placed around town with directions to the Employee Center. Additional parking is available at the Factory Store, if needed.

The three-day event will also feature live music, local barbecue, and games and activities for the whole family.

Henley encourages shoppers to come early for the best selection.

2019 Annual DuBose Lectures

Emilie Townes will be the School of Theology's 2019 guest lecturer on Oct. 2 and 3, continuing with the theme of the three-year series on racial reconciliation. The lectures are held on the campus of the University of the South in Sewanee. The first two lectures will be on Wednesday, Oct. 2, at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. The third lecture is on Thursday, Oct. 3, at 9 a.m. All lectures will be held in Guerry Auditorium, on Georgia Avenue, and are open to the public at no charge.

About the 2019 Lectures

"Premeditated Indifference: Facing (In)Justice With the Power of Hope"

Sometimes the power of hope is all that sustains us when we look at the world around us and ask, "How did we get ourselves into such deep divisions?" Rather than turn away from the challenges that this question poses, these lectures will explore how we can use hope as both solace for our souls and a call to action in our public witness.

Lecture 1—"What in the World?" explores the various ways in which we do and do not engage each other and creation with care, compassion, respect, and love.

Lecture 2—"How in the World?" explores how we might begin to mend creation in ways that help us realize God's marvelous gift of creation in our lives and in the lives of others.

Lecture 3—"Hope of the World!" explores how a robust hope, grounded in God's call for justice and mercy, can lead us into just and loving relationships with each other and the rest of creation.

Emilie M. Townes, an American Baptist clergywoman, is a native of Durham, N.C. She holds a doctor of ministry degree from the University of Chicago Divinity School and a Ph.D. in religion in society and personality from Northwestern University. Townes is the dean and Carpenter Professor of Womanist Ethics and Society at Vanderbilt University Divinity School, becoming the first African-American to serve as dean of the Divinity School in 2013. She is the former Andrew W. Mellon Professor of African American Religion and Theology at Yale University Divinity School and in the fall of 2005, she was the first African American woman elected to the presidential line of the American Academy of Religion (AAR) and served as president in 2008. She was the first African American and first woman to serve as associate dean for academic affairs at the Yale Divinity School. She is the former Carolyn Williams Beard Professor of Christian Ethics at Union Theological Seminary and professor of social ethics at Saint Paul School of Theology.

Vice-Chancellor Search Process Continues

The Vice-Chancellor Search Committee invites input from various University constituents as it determines the qualities and characteristics for the next vice-chancellor. A vice-chancellor search survey and several upcoming meetings will provide opportunities for participation.

All University constituents are invited to share their thoughts about the characteristics and qualities desired in the next vice-chancellor by taking this survey: <<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/SewaneePresidentialSurvey>>. The survey is anonymous and will require about 10 minutes to complete. Results will be shared with the Search Committee and the search consultants. Please complete the survey by Friday, Sept. 27.

Various University constituents are invited to participate in the following open forums taking place on campus on Monday, Sept. 23, and Tuesday, Sept. 24.

Monday, Sept. 23, 3:30–4:30 p.m., open forum for College faculty, Gailor Auditorium; 5:30–6:30 p.m., open forum for College students, Gailor Auditorium; 7:30–8:30 p.m., open forum for community members, Convocation Hall.

Tuesday, Sept. 24, 9–10 a.m., open forum for University staff, Convocation Hall; 3–4 p.m., open forum for School of Theology faculty, Hamilton Hall Room 223, 4–5 p.m., open forum for School of Theology students, Hargrove Auditorium.

The search consultant and members of the Search Committee will join the trustees and regents during their meeting on Oct. 10 and 11.

Based on the information received through the survey and constituent meetings, the Search Committee will compile a vice-chancellor profile and requirements to begin the search process. Over the winter months, the Search Committee will continue its work in anticipation of an election of the 17th Vice-Chancellor by the Board of Trustees in early spring.

Anyone with a question about the search may direct it to <vcsearch@sewanee.edu>. One of the committee members will respond.

Collect Box Tops to Help Sewanee Elementary

There is an easy way to support Sewanee Elementary School. Take a few minutes and clip the “Box Tops for Education” from many of the groceries you already buy at the store.

Last year the school earned almost $1,000 through the Box Tops program, money that went directly to SES to support teachers and education. Please keep clipping! You can drop the box tops off at SES or in the box in the entry area of the Sewanee Post Office.

There is a complete list of participating items online at <www.bxotops4education.com/products/participating-products>. For more information visit <www.btfe.com>.

Eventually the Box Tops program will become digital-only. Participating brands are starting to change their packaging from a traditional Box Tops clip to the new Box Top label.

If you see this label, use the new Box Tops app to scan your receipt. Box Tops are still worth 10 cents each for your school. The app will find participating products purchased at any store and instantly add cash to your school’s earnings online.

No more clipping. No more sending Box Tops to school. All you need is your phone. Download the ALL-NEW Box Tops app, shop as you normally would, then simply scan your store receipts within 14 days of purchase to find participating products. The app will automatically credit your school’s Box Tops earnings online.

SAS Welcomes Families for Upper School Weekend

St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School welcomes the families of its 162 Upper School students to attend Family Weekend, Friday, Sept. 27 through Sunday, Sept. 29. The weekend is an opportunity for both day and boarding families to get a glimpse of the SAS classroom experience, meet with teachers, advisors, house heads and coaches, and connect with other families.

Friday’s highlights include a home football game, a cross country meet, and junior varsity and varsity volleyball games. SAS will be celebrating their senior volleyball players before their 6 p.m. game. Dinner will be served at the varsity field. There will be a parents’ reception at Ayres House at 6:30 p.m.

On Saturday, the day begins early with a Q & A session with Interim Dean of Students Geoffrey Smith and Academic Dean Kelley Black. An address by Head of School Karl Sjolund will be followed by a class walk-through, faculty office hours, and a college counseling session for juniors and their parents. At 12:30 p.m. Steve Yeats of Revolution Prep will offer a public session on pre-college standardized testing in McCrory Hall. Saturday evening entertainment includes Creative Expression at 7:30 p.m. The event is an evening version of the student assembly that encourages the community to share arts performances.

The weekend concludes with a Sunday Eucharist and brunch. The Eucharist, which begins at 10:30 a.m., will feature student musicians. The Rev. Molly Short, Chaplain, will be the celebrant and Head of School Karl Sjolund will be preaching.

The athletic events, standardized testing information session, Creative Expression, and Sunday Eucharist are open to the public.

SES Events

Peace Pole Ceremony

Sewanee Elementary School invites the community to join them for their annual Peace Pole ceremony, Friday, Sept. 27, at 8 a.m. The students will be adding the phrase “May Peace Prevail on Earth” in Romanian. The fourth grade students will present their research about Romania and the fifth grade class will present a musical performance.

Scholastic Book Fair

Sewanee Elementary School will be hosting a Scholastic Book Fair Monday, Sept. 30–Thursday, Oct. 3 during school hours. This fundraiser supports literacy efforts at the school. A wide array of books for students ages 5–11 will be available for purchase. The community is welcome to attend. Books make great gifts!

Tigers Don’t Leave Tracks! at Sewanee Elementary

Tigers Don’t Leave Tracks!—a program aimed at educating students about sustainability and helping them reduce their use of single-use plastics, continues at Sewanee Elementary.

Guest speakers are visiting Sewanee Elementary School this year to share their knowledge and projects with students.

On Sept. 20, William Shealy, Superintendent of Landscape Planning & Operations at the University of the South, will present “The Community Forest,” a talk about the essential roles of trees in our environment, and how to take care of them.

On Oct. 3, we will plant a tree at the school.

On Dec. 13, Bill Haley from the Tennessee Aquarium in Chattanooga will share his presentation “Undersea Wonders” with students, illustrating the impact of single-use plastics on aquatic life, and suggestions for ways to reduce our use.

Other presentations will follow in the spring.

The Piggly Wiggly is hosting a draw in support of the project. When you bring your own bags to The Pig, write the name of a teacher or a class on the back of your receipt (grade 2, Mrs. Camp’s class, Principal’s Choice, etc.) and put it in the Tigers Don’t Leave Tracks! jar at the front of the store. Those receipts will be collected periodically and entered in prize draws. The winning classes will receive tools for making sustainable habits easier—sturdy Klean Kanteen water bottles or LunchSkins Reusable Sandwich Bags for everyone.

Local businesses also support Tigers Don’t Leave Tracks! Mooney’s, the Lemon Fair, Village Wine and Spirits, the Sewanee Market, the Piggly Wiggly, and Joseph’s Remodeling Solutions have offered their support to the Tigers Don’t Leave Tracks! Reusable Bag project, making donations when you use reusable bags in local stores, and by making possible our student prizes. Please thank them for their support, and bring your reusable bags when you shop.

ANGELWITH ANATTITUDE

by Virginia Craighill

Dear Angel,

I read an email explaining a new Social Host policy put in place this summer, but I found it very confusing. Now there's an updated version of the new Social Host policy. Could you help me understand what the policy means and how they updated it? Really, I just want to know if it's okay for me to drink a beer this weekend.

Signed, Sewanee Parent

Dear Concerned Parent,

Yes, as of Aug. 15 any Good Times students hope to have must be premeditated and closely monitored. All Fun must be planned and registered with the Fun Patrol (a.k.a. Engage) at least two weeks in advance. Any and all social organizations and/or first-year student with a handle of Tito's vodka planning Fun Events must submit a guest list that includes all guests' names, birth dates, horoscope signs, real and fake Instagram passwords, and attorneys' phone numbers at least two weeks in advance. Any deviation from the list will result in "going dark" and the loss of McClurg smoothie privileges. Sober Monitors, or "Buzzkills," are required at all Entertainments and must undergo a three-month training course at a Gulag in Siberia (funded by the Social Hosts).

Several students, dismayed by the curtailment of any future Spontaneous Amusement on campus formed a committee to ask, "WWJD?" Because this is an Episcopal university, they received an immediate answer. Jesus was really bummed to hear about the new policies because, as He said, "What if I'd decided to have the whole Loaves and Fishes thing at the Wheat House, and this Social Host policy said I had to plan it two weeks in advance and submit a guest list? Yeah, I don't think so. And the Wedding at Cana would have been a complete bust. Imagine – there I am turning water into wine, and the SPD shows up and tells me the alcohol content is over 15% and shuts the whole thing down? I'd never even get invited to baptisms, much less weddings! As for Sober Monitors, even my twelve Disciples couldn't pass training." When the committee asked for recommendations, Jesus just raised two fingers in a peace sign and said, "just tell 'em to chill, dude. This policy is stricter than the Ten Commandments."

Thus, the modified Social Host policy now only requires ten days advance notice for Exuberant Activities, and some Spontaneously Joyful Gatherings can occur without repercussions. We also now have an "Angel Patrol" that will swoop down to keep revelers safe. I guess we know who to thank for that.

So, enjoy your Family Weekend, but check the alcohol content on your beer and bring your I.D.

Blessings, Angel

Dear Angel,

I understand the Search Committee for the new Vice-Chancellor has been formed. Do you have any insights into how they go about forming the Search Committee, how the committee then decides on a new Vice-Chancellor, and how I might provide input to the committee?

Signed, Concerned Citizen of the University

Dear Citizen,

The forming of the Search Committee is one of those great mysteries, like how did they build Stonehenge, what is a Roku, and who extended Hurricane Dorian's path into Alabama with a black Sharpie? Some things we may never know.

What we do know is the make-up of the committee; it can be broken down several ways: out of the 17 members there are, six Regents or former Regents, four Episcopal bishops or priests, three college faculty members, one administrator, one staff, one alumni trustee, and one student. Broken down another way, there are 10 men and seven women. Looking through another demographic, the committee consists of 10 people who do not work or have their primary residence in Sewanee and seven who do. Make of that what you will.

According to my research, the committee decides on a new Vice-Chancellor based on how well the ermine VC robe will fit him or her because alterations are expensive. They will also be looking for major social media influencers with YouTube profiles that appeal to GenZ and have a lot of Instagram followers, therefore DanTDM, PewDiePie, and Kylie Jenner will probably make the short list.

As for your input, there are several ways you can offer your opinion: 1) there will be open forums for faculty and staff of the college and School of Theology, community members, students of the college and the School of Theology, campus squirrels, Yoga Goats in Favor of a Fully Vegan McClurg, and the domain deer population. 2) All constituents of the University are invited to fill out the VC Search Survey which asks your input on desired characteristics for the next VC. These surveys will be carefully compiled and the data will be distributed for use in party games. All data will also be shared with the firm of Storbeck/Pimentel & Associates, who will most likely ignore it.

However, whether you are a community member, staff, student, faculty member, alumna/us, goat, deer, or well-meaning squirrel, it is worth the effort to make your desires known in whatever format is available. Make sure your voice is heard.

Sincerely, Angel

'Gee's Bend' Reading Thursday, Sept. 26

The University Art Gallery is honored to host "Prints and Quilts from Gee's Bend," on view through Oct. 13. Informed by the tradition of quilting, the art objects on view—created by artists Mary Lee Bendolph, Louisiana Bendolph, Thornton Dial, and Lonnie Holley—were carefully selected from the Arnett collection to represent a new chapter in the long story of quilting and the community of Gee's Bend, Ala.

On Thursday, Sept. 26, at 7 p.m. in Convocation Hall, University of the South students Asyja Brown, Bre Proctor, Taela Bland and Cameron Noel will perform a reading of Elyzabeth Wilder's acclaimed play "Gee's Bend," commissioned by the Alabama Shakespeare company and winner of the 2008 Osborn Award Award from the American Theater Critics Association. All are invited to attend.

The University Art Gallery is open 10 a.m.–5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday and noon–4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. The University Art Gallery is located on Georgia Avenue. Call (931) 598-1223 for more information, visit the website at <gallery.sewanee.edu>, or follow us on Facebook.

F@H Art Classes for Elders

Join Diane Getty and Folks at Home for this four-part series of Art Classes for Elders centered on capturing the State of Tennessee through various artistic mediums.

Classes will be held at the Sewanee Senior Center on Tuesdays and Thursdays in October from 2 to 4 p.m., Oct. 1–24.

The deadline to register is Tuesday, Sept. 24.

The classes are "Tennessee Collage and Prints," "Tennessee Trees and Treasures," "Our State in Stitches," and "Exploring Maps."

There is no charge for these classes. They are generously-funded through the Tennessee Arts Commission, The South Cumberland Community Fund and a private donor. Seating is limited, so please contact Folks at Home to register in advance.

For more information call (931) 598-0303.

Art Workshops for Adults and Families

The Franklin County Arts Guild (FCAG) is offering a variety of Art Workshops this fall and early winter at the Artisan Depot in Cowan.

These workshops are taught by local artist-educators working in media such as acrylic paints, ceramics, paper, stained glass, fabric, collage and wax resist. Each workshop provides an opportunity to learn art skills and walking away with a completed project.

In addition to the workshops for adults, the FCAG has included a Family Art Time series of classes. These workshops are appropriate for children 8 and up, and all children must be accompanied by an adult.

Registration is available online <www.franklincoarts.org>.

Adult Workshops and dates: Pour Paintings, Sept. 27; Ceramic Planters, Oct. 12; Stained Glass Stars, Oct. 18; and Paper Christmas, Nov. 23.

Family Art Time: Peace/Hope Flags, Oct. 19; Gratitude Collage, Nov. 16; and Northern Lights Winterscape, Dec. 14.

The Artisan Depot is located at 204 Cumberland St., Cowan.

41st Annual Tennessee Fall Craft Fair

Continuing the hand-crafted tradition, the 41st annual Fall Tennessee Craft Fair is scheduled for Oct. 11–13 at Centennial Park. Professional artisans from Tennessee and the surrounding states join craft artists traveling from around the country to serve approximately 50,000 visitors.

The Fall Tennessee Craft Fair continues to motivate and galvanize future generations of craft artists and collectors through valuable year-round programming including educational workshops, opportunities to showcase handcrafted work, mentoring, workshops, and scholarships. Purchasing artisan work forges a personal connection between the makers and the public.

The Fall Tennessee Craft Fair will be open Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Apprentice Program with Tennessee Craft

Tennessee Craft, in partnership with the Tennessee Arts Commission, announces the opening of the 2020 Master Artist/Apprentice Program (MAAP) application process. This mentoring program offers emerging artists a unique opportunity to learn traditional and contemporary craft skills firsthand from master craft artists.

All artists in the program choose challenging goals that will advance their skills and knowledge as craft artists. The MAAP was created to boost artists to the next level of their professional development during an intensive six-month one-on-one mentorship, not typically available in most learning environments.

Awarded apprentices receive a $1,800 stipend to work with their chosen master from Dec. 1, 2019 to June 15, 2020. Deadline for applications is Nov. 1. For more information, email <info@tennesseecraft.org>.

Art Wednesdays at Artisan Depot

The Franklin County Arts Guild invites community members interested in the visual arts to come to the Artisan Depot Gallery & Gift Shop for Art Wednesdays. Anyone can participate. Age and skill level do not matter.

The group meets every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Everyone brings their own art supplies and projects. Sometimes everyone works on individual projects and sometimes we get one of the members to do a mini-workshop for anyone interested. Wednesday Art is a great place to seek advice on technique, supplies, and get input on projects from the group. There are no fees.

Artisan Depot Gallery is located at 204 Cumberland St. E, Cowan.

Kohlhaas to Discuss Tennessee Williams Oct. 10

Karen Kohlhaas will speak on the relationship between Tennessee Williams and his grandparents, the Reverend Walter Edwin Dakin and Rosina Otte Dakin.

Walter Dakin taught in Tullahoma, Tennessee before Bishop Charles Todd Quintard convinced him to attend Sewanee's Episcopal Theological School. After his ordination, Rev. Dakin held a position at a church in Cleveland, Tennessee before moving to Mississippi.

Tennessee Williams spent the first years of his life living with his grandparents in Columbus, then Clarksdale, Miss., and they remained his touchstones in his life and his work.

Kohlhaas will speak on Thursday, Oct. 10, from 4:30–6 p.m. in the University Archives. For more information, contact Virginia Craighill <vcraighi@sewanee.edu>.

Chanticleer to Perform in Sewanee in October

Called "the world's reigning male chorus" by the New Yorker, the San Francisco-based GRAMMY® award-winning ensemble Chanticleer has just celebrated the 40th anniversary of its 1978 founding.

Chanticleer will perform in Sewanee on Tuesday, Oct. 29, with one showing at 7 p.m. and another at 9 p.m. Both performances will be in All Saints' Chapel, and seating will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Praised by the San Francisco Chronicle for its "tonal luxuriance and crisply etched clarity," Chanticleer is known around the world as "an orchestra of voices" for its seamless blend of twelve male voices ranging from soprano to bass and its original interpretations of vocal literature, from Renaissance to jazz and popular genres, as well as contemporary composition.

Tickets for this performance are $20 and can be purchased at the door the evening of the performance or in advance by emailing <hrward@sewanee.edu>.

MS Soccer Heads to Quarter Finals

The Mountain Lions played three games in the past week, wrapping up their district schedule as teams prepare for the postseason tournament. On Sept. 12, SAS traveled to Huntland, hoping to avenge a defeat from a preseason scrimmage. This time, it was the Lions who emerged victorious, coming from behind with Sarah Knight's unassisted goal off a mid-field steal, followed by a beautiful free kick from Elizabeth Perkins to a charging Nailah Hamilton to win 2-1. Hadlee Hale, Melanie Val and Caroline Neubauer also did much to control the tempo of the game and keep SAS in a position to get the important victory.

On Sept. 16, SAS played Cascade after a rain-delay forced a postponement against the defending district champions. While the Lions hung tough in the face of a sustained attack from the athletic Cascade offense, SAS eventually fell by a score of 3-0, losing their first district game of the season.

SAS followed up the tough loss with their final away regular-season game against Fayetteville City Middle school. SAS had terrific efforts from Julia Sumpter who played with great aggression in the midfield. Nailah Hamilton, Sarah Brewster and Caty Layne teamed up for a strong attack, and were just not able to put a goal in, in spite of vastly outshooting Fayetteville in the 1-0 loss.

The Mountain Lions begin postseason play with a home game on Monday, Sept. 23, so come out and support the girls as they look to build on a strong season of success and growth.

SAS Golfers Place Fourth in District

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School varsity golf team finished fourth in the district with a score of 357. Notre Dame High School finished third place scoring 347, Silverdale Baptist Academy finished second scoring 343, and Boyd Buchanan won scoring 322 in a competitive 2019 District Golf Tournament at Brainerd Golf Course in Chattanooga.

All members of the SAS Golf team qualified for the Regional Tournament. Out of the 25 player field SAS golfers finished: T6th, Tyler Rodgers (82); 13th, Nathan King (91); T14th, Luca Malde (92); and T14th, Robert Graham (92).

Rodgers continued his consistent good play with an 18-hole tournament play personal record of 82.

King and Malde strung together their personal best 9-hole rounds back-to-back to complete the 18-hole round, each beating personal record 18-hole rounds by more than 10 strokes in the match, shooting 91 and 92 respectively.

Graham had his two best 9-hole scores of the season back-to-back to finish with a 92 during the 18-hole round.

The regional tournament will be held at Three Ridges Golf Course in Knoxville on Monday, Sept. 23.

SAS Volleyball Defeats Franklin County

St. Andrew's-Sewanee Varsity Volleyball team defeated Franklin County Sept. 16, 25-20, 22-25, 18-25, 25-20, 15-11. Meredith Foster turned in her best performance of the season with seven aces and nine kills; Katie Finn Hurst 10 kills, three aces, four digs; Kendale James 23 assists; Madison King four kills; Lucy Cassell four digs; Madalyn Cleveland four digs; Luciana Mollica five kills; Zoe Wallace four digs.

SAS mountain bike member, Libby Neubauer, far right, on the podium (third place) for the JV girls' category.

SAS Mountain Biking Results

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee high school and middle school mountain biking teams raced with 28 other teams at Chickasaw Trace Park trail in Columbia for the Tennessee High School Cycling League's second event of the season. Seventeen SAS high school riders and four middle school riders raced on the fast and fun trail featuring a few short climbs, tight turns, and plenty of flowing singletrack.

SAS riders faced tough competition in all race categories. In girls' races, Libby Neubauer (third place) and Luciana Mollica (10th place) rode well to earn top 10 finishes in the JV category. Madeline Sumpter and Sam Lu placed fifth and eighth, respectively, in the ninth-grade girls' category.

In boys' races, Evan Fox (12th place) and Justus Averbeck (19th place) earned top-20 finishes in a competitive group of 66 riders for the JV Boys. Jack Tse and first-time racer Ivan Stoyanchev also rode hard for SAS in the JV boys' race. Eli Thompson, Rhys Fricker, Jon Wert, Isaac Pauley, and Kenneth Simmonds competed against 50 other riders in the 10th grade category, with Thompson leading the SAS group and crossing the finish line at number 20. AJ Clements earned a spot on the podium in the ninth grade boys' race, finishing in fifth place out of 45 riders, while Huxley Hume-Allingham finished strong with a spot at number 15. Other ninth grade riders for SAS included Caleb Palmer-tree and Alexander Waldrup. In the eighth grade boys' category, Elliott Benson earned fifth place in a large group of 58 riders, with Cameron Crawford also competing well in this race. Jack Hale showed good effort and determination in finishing his race in the seventh grade boys' group. William Schrader posted a fast seventh place finish out of 42 racers in the sixth-grade boys' race.

Coaches Speed Baranco, Beth Pride Ford, and Michael Short were pleased with the efforts shown by all SAS riders during the weekend and are looking forward to seeing continued improvement in skills and fitness before the next race in Memphis. The coaches and team are also grateful to our parent riders and team families for their continued support this season.

In current team rankings, St. Andrew's-Sewanee is in eighth place for the high school category and 15th place for the middle school category after two league races. The next race of the season is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 6, at Shelby Farms in Memphis, Tenn.

Kickball Tournament

On Friday, Sept. 20, from 3–7 p.m., the Office of Civic Engagement and the Office of Campus Activities are hosting a kickball tournament in conjunction with the Sewanee Parks Committee. The tournament will raise funds for the Sewanee Youth Ballpark to have lighting so that games can be played on the field after dark.

Up to 16 teams can register for the tournament. Each team can have up to 11 members on the team, the registration fee is $10 per person and can be paid via cash or check at the event. To register your team, go to <<https://forms.gle/guGf4n4XkKhe3Kxq6>>.

Games will be played for three innings or up to 30 minutes, whichever comes first. All games will take place at the Sewanee Youth Ballpark. For more information email <fsl@sewanee.edu>.

Field Hockey Finishes Weekend with Clean Sweep

The Sewanee field hockey team used a strong third quarter to earn the weekend sweep over Southern Virginia, 5-0, Sept. 14, from Puett Field.

The Tigers picked up where they left off last night against the Knights with an early goal in the fourth minute by Alex Hornsby.

With 36 seconds left in the opening half, Ceara Caffrey found Seabrook Brown's pass to give the Tigers the 2-0 advantage going into the locker room.

In the third, Sewanee put the contest away with three goals in the period by Hannah Bradley (35'), Molly Wheeler (39') and Caffrey's (41') second goal of the game. The goals scored by Bradley and Wheeler were off penalty corners.

On the day, Sewanee posted 42 shots and 16 penalty corners. 30 of the 42 shots were on target.

Alex Hornsby, Molly Wheeler and Ceara Caffrey all had seven shots each to Lead Sewanee. Hornsby and Caffrey had five shots on goals, while Wheeler had four.

Caffrey finished the day with five points thanks to two goals and an assist.

Barbara Canty (2-3) saw just one shot allowed in 180 minutes against the Knights and saved it.

Joseph, Atkins Pace Sewanee Cross Country Teams

The Sewanee cross country teams competed in their second meet in 2019 with the University of North Georgia Cross Country Invitational on Saturday. The men's team finished in fourth, while the women's team earned third place.

Molly Joseph led the Tigers with a seventh place finish out of 102 runners with a 19:46.8 mark in the 5K race.

Ellie Herron had a 21st place finish with a 20:58.7 mark, while Ann Chapman Haynes posted a 26th place time of 21:20.5.

Other results include Madison Sellers (22:34.6), Perry Gresham (23:05.6), Elizabeth Chandler (23:07.4), Patricia Hammett (23:13.3) and Mary Ackerly (23:54.5).

The Tigers finished fourth in the meet with 112 points, the best out of NCAA Division III schools. Joining Piedmont and Agnes Scott as the only representatives from Division III, Sewanee averaged 21:34 per runner in the 5K race, the first of the season.

Bram Atkins led all Sewanee runners with a 12th place finish of 28:12.6, the best time among Division III runners in the 8K race.

Jack Barganier finished 17th with a 28:31.0 time, while Ash Midyett had a 28:37.6 time for a 19th place finish.

Other finishers include Wesley Cusack (29:27.8), Sam Kearley (29:53.6), Rob Mohr (30:15.9), Patrick Rodriguez (31:13.6), Ian Boer (31:20.5), Rob Ritchie (31:22.6) and Joseph Brown (33:31.7).

Sewanee finished fourth out of 12 teams with 112 points, averaging 28:57 per runner in the 8K race.

The Sewanee volleyball team, in the team's home opener, picked up two straight-set victories over Centre (25-13, 25-20, 25-19) in the Southern Athletic Association opener for both teams and LaGrange (25-14, 25-12, 25-18) last Friday afternoon inside Juban Gymnasium. Additionally, head coach Nancy Mueller-Culver earned her 200th career victory as a collegiate head coach in the nightcap against LaGrange. Opossums by David Rowe

Opossums

David Rowe sent in this photo of a mother opossum and babies hanging around a suet feeder at Caroline Shoemaker's home. The name opossum comes, according to the dictionary, from the word for "white animal" in an Algonquian language of Virginia. It is the only marsupial in the U.S., found all over the eastern and middle states. Marsupials are one of the most ancient mammal families, dating back to the Cretaceous. The more commonly used name "possum" actually more correctly refers to an Australian marsupial. The Virginia Opossum has more teeth than any other North American mammal (50) and very large eye sockets for its size. The teeth are used to eat "almost anything remotely edible," according to Fiona A. Reid in the Peterson Field Guide to Mammals of North America. This can include large numbers of ticks, which they kill and/or eat by cleaning the ticks from their own bodies. The eyes shine bright red in light at night and enable it to see well as a mostly nocturnal animal. They carry nesting material in the coiled up prehensile tail, which they also use for balance when climbing trees.

Sunday, Sept. 22

Sherwood Forest Trail Building (free)—Join Ranger Jason Reynolds and other park enthusiasts at 2 p.m. at Sherwood Forest parking lot (take Jump Off Road to old CCC Camp Road, turn right, go just past Coyote Cove Lane to continue work on this new loop trail. Sturdy footwear, plenty of snacks and water, and favorite hand-tools and gloves are a must. For more information, <jason.reynolds@tn.gov>.

Saturday, Sept. 28

National Public Lands Day at Denny Cove (free)—Join Ranger Ryan Harris at 10 a.m. at Denny Cove, 5949 Hwy. 150, Sequatchie, to be part of a team improving and repairing sections of the Denny Cove trail. In honor of National Public Lands Day, Tennessee State Parks are hosting a variety of volunteer stewardship projects, hikes, and interpretive programs for all ages. South Cumberland State Park has teamed up with Southeastern Climbers Coalition, Access Fund, and REI for National Public Lands Day at Denny Cove. Denny Cove is a new addition to the park. It offers scenic views, some of the best climbing in the area, and a beautiful 40-foot cascading waterfall. South Cumberland State Park invites everyone out to join us in showing respect and appreciation for the beautiful public lands to which we have access. Come prepared by wearing sturdy closed-toe shoes. Bring gloves, bug spray, water and snacks. For more information, <ryan.harris@tn.gov>.

Tuesday, Oct. 1

Trail Work in Collins Gulf (free)—Join Ranger Dan Wescoat at 9 a.m. at Collins West Trailhead, Collins W. Access Trail, Gruetli-Laager, for a day of building trail in Collins Gulf, working on a reroute leading to Horsepound Falls. We will be hiking approximately 1.5 miles to the worksite through some difficult terrain, and hike out the way we came in to conclude the day. Make sure to bring a sturdy pair of closed-toe shoes, as well as plenty of water and snacks to last throughout the day. If you have a favorite pair of work gloves or hand trail tools, feel free to bring them along. For more information, <daniel.wescoat@tn.gov>.

Friday, Oct. 4

Nature Hike to Suter Falls—Join Ranger Dan Wescoat at 1:30 p.m. at Collins West Trailhead, Collins W. Access Trail, Gruetli-Laager, for a short, roughly 2-mile roundtrip hike to see beautiful Suter Falls. The hike will begin and end at the Collins West Trailhead. On the way back we will make a quick detour to a beautiful overlook just past the Collins West campsite. The hike will take us through some tough footing, with some boulder crossings and slippery areas of the trail included. Make sure you bring sturdy shoes with good support for hiking, as well as any water and snacks you may want along our trip and any cameras you may want for pictures along the way. For more information, <daniel.wescoat@tn.gov>.

Loki

Orion

Pets of the Week Meet Loki & Orion

Loki is a two-year-old pittie-mix with the sweetest personality you will ever meet. Loki's story is a sad one, but one of hope and inspiration. Loki has been displaced throughout his entire life, even shot and run over by a vehicle while on the streets just trying to survive without a family. Fortunately a very kind family took him in off the streets, cared for him, and added him to their family as their own. Sadly, when the home insurance company refused to cover their home with a pitbull on the property, they reached out to Animal Harbor for help rehoming him. We are looking for the perfect family for Loki to spend his forever with. You would never think it considering his size, but Loki is a big submissive scaredy cat! He would do great in a variety of homes, seems not to mind cats, and is great around children. Loki is up-to-date on vaccinations, heartworm-negative, neutered and microchipped. Come meet him, and fall in love with this loving pittie who will provide endless love, cuddles, and kisses!

Orion is a 15-week-old flame point kitten with a sweet personality. This unwanted kitten came to us suffering from untreated upper respiratory infection which has been treated successfully. Orion deserves a great home in which he can thrive, and be cherished and loved. Just think of what a delight he would be in your home providing hours of fun! Orion has been medically tested and is negative for FIV/FelV and has been given his first set of vaccinations. Once large enough, he will be neutered and microchipped, and eligible to enter into our Foster to Adopt program, so stop in and see Orion. Fall in love with his striking looks and sweet kitten antics.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Sewanee Herbarium Fall Calendar of Events

Abbo's Alley—Saturday, Sept. 21, 7:45 a.m., with Mary Priestley. A Family Weekend tradition! Meet at the corner of University and Georgia Avenues (at the flashing light) near the arboretum kiosk for this one-hour easy walk in the Abbott Cotten Martin Ravine Garden. The Garden is a lovely mix of native and cultivated plants, and the ravine is steeped in Sewanee history. There are a surprising number of things to see and learn on this familiar trail. All are welcome to join in the walk.

Workshop on iNaturalist App—Saturday, Sept. 28, 10 a.m., with Angus Pritchard. Join Herbarium Fellow Angus Pritchard, C'22, for an introductory workshop on how to use an incredible new identification tool, the iNaturalist app! Meet at the Lake Cheston pavilion for a botanical and entomological walk and some tips about using the app's photo-recognition system. Just make sure you have the iNaturalist app downloaded to your smartphone before the walk. Please RSVP to <pricaj0@sewanee.edu>.

Meadow Trail (South Cumberland State Park)—Saturday, Oct. 5, 10 a.m., with Yolande Gottfried. Meet at the South Cumberland State Park Visitor's Center to walk this easy trail behind the Center. Tall native grasses and numerous asters, goldenrods, thoroughworts, and many other wildflowers should still be in bloom.

Lake Dimmick (Day Lake)—Sunday, Oct 6, 2 p.m., with Mary Priestley. Meet at St. James Church, Midway. We'll see wetland plants and have an optional hike up "Little Mountain" to see the renovated log cabin. Some of the last wildflowers to bloom are found around our lake shores. In any case, fall color should be starting to reflect in the water. This walk may be wet, so wear suitable foot wear.

A group meets for nature journaling Thursdays from 9-11 a.m. Bring an unlined journal (or a few sheets of unlined paper) and a pen or pencil. No experience needed. As the seasons transition, we gather in different places, so contact <mpriestley0150@gmail.com> for info on the meeting place.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Fall Equinox Sept. 23, 2019

Lyric night of the lingering Indian summer,
Shadowy fields that are scentless but full of singing,
Never a bird, but the passionless chant of insects,
Ceaseless, insistent.

The grasshopper's horn, and far off, high in the maples
The wheel of a locust slowly grinding the silence,
Under a moon waning and warn and broken
Tired with summer.

Let me remember you, voices of little insects,
Weeds in the moonlight, fields that are tangled with asters
Let me remember you, soon the winter will be on us,
Snow-hushed and heartless.

Over my soul murmur your mute benediction
While I gaze, on fields that rest after harvest.
As those who part look long in the eyes they lean to,
Lest they forget them.

Indian Summer, by Sara Teasdale
