Food Banks Meeting the Need

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

A recent study by The United Way of Tennessee found that one in three Tennessee households struggled to afford basic necessities in 2017, including housing, food, child care, health care, transportation and a smartphone. And, according to the ALICE report, the numbers in our area are not good.

ALICE stands for Asset Limited, Income Constrained, Employed and represents households that work and earn more than the Federal Poverty Level but make less than the basic cost of living for the county.

For locals, that statistic isn't surprising or new. Food banks on the Mountain have been operating for years, working tirelessly to help meet the needs of area residents.

"This fundraiser serves the three food pantries on our Plateau—the CAC in Sewanee, Morton Memorial in Monteagle and the Grundy County Food Bank in Tracy City. Combined, these food pantries served more than 5,000 families last year distributing more than 340,000 pounds of food," said Rich Wyckoff, Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary Club member.

Of Tennessee's 2.5 million households, 39 percent struggled to meet basic needs, and in Grundy County specifically, more than half of the households were reported as having struggled to meet basic needs that year. In Marion County, the rate is 40 percent.

John Noffsinger, Morton Memorial attendee and member of the Hunger Walk planning committee, said it's these numbers that spurred the organization to take action in 2015. Last year through The Hunger Walk, more than 200 area residents came together to raise thousands of dollars to support local food banks. In 2017, the group raised $17,000 for area food banks.

"Through this cause, the community has become aware of the food insecurity faced by one in five children in our area, and once people become aware of the hunger issue, they then have an appreciation about how they themselves have been blessed. I believe then the community comes together as Jesus would want his followers to do and we all help those less fortunate," he said. "Through this cause, the community is able to unite through their giving and their walking to support the one in two families on the Plateau who are in financial hardship and face food insecurity."

The ALICE study reported that in Tennessee, 38 percent of families with children under the age of 18 have a monthly income that is below the ALICE threshold. And of the demographic groups in the state, people of color, women, LGBTQ+ folks, senior citizens and people with disabilities are more likely to live in households that fall below the threshold.

"From the beginning, the Scriptures tell us that we are indeed our brothers keepers. All through the Bible, in fact, we are reminded that we are all connected. What I do affects my neighbor, and what my neighbor does affects me. We live in an area of the state and in fact an area of the country where the need is profound," said Rev. Jodi McCullah with Morton Memorial United Methodist Church. "It's through the work of this cause that we are able to see how powerful and effective a strong community response can be."

The Hunger Walk will be held at 9 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 28. The walk begins at Angel Park in Sewanee. Registration begins at 8 a.m. Registration is free for children under 12, $15 for students and $25 for adults.

SCA News and Happiness Update

*by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer*

News about the Community Chest and changes to Sewanee Classifieds topped the agenda at the Sept. 19 Sewanee Civic Association (SCA) dinner meeting followed by some intriguing tips on "growing" happiness from John Coffey.

The 27 applications received by the Sewanee Community Chest were under review, said President Brandon Barry. A budget and award announcements are expected at the November meeting. The Community Chest is devoted to supporting organizations that promote the common good, serving three counties on the South Cumberland Plateau. Community Chest funds meet basic needs in the community: food, books, elder care, children's programs, recreational spaces, animal care and more. "The Community Chest is what keeps this a great community," said Vice President Jade Barry. Donations are accepted at SCC, P.O. Box 99, Sewanee, TN 37375.

Participating in the SCA sponsored email forum Sewanee Classifieds costs $10 a year. The service is free to dues paying SCA members.

SUD Drought Update, Lake Dimmick, Fluoride Question

*by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer*

At the Sept. 24 meeting of the Sewanee Utility District Board of Commissioners, SUD manager Ben Beavers updated the board on the hot and dry weather's impact on the water supply. The board also discussed the uncertainty surrounding the use of Lake Dimmick in a drought emergency and the upcoming vote on discontinuing fluoridation.

"They're saying it's going to be dry for the next two weeks," Beavers said. "We've gone into 'abnormally dry,' which is the last step before it's an official drought. It's going to cost us in electricity, but we've still got plenty of water. For the year rainfall is five inches above

IONA DEDICATION CEREMONY

To the Editor:

With wonderful audiences and a breadth of magnificent creative writers and performers all week at the IONA Autumn Festival of Fine Arts, we heard through the darkness from Naomi Buck Palagi with the following:

hierarchies established are dust gods enthroned, dust
oppressions justified, dust neither created nor destroyed just swirling back around.

we mold this, with bind of seat, tears, bind of fresh spring water. we mold this and are molded and when we are lucky, we take a moment to watch the night sky...

...which led into a lilting “Night Sky Lullaby” in addition to a sound-medley —indeed a symphonic approach to sounds in the environment as recorded, edited and performed by Linda Heck. Adam Latham, in splendorous wit and vibrant verse offered a reading based on the creation of the first couple, Adam and Eve.

By request, we are repeating the dedication ceremony to “The Celestial Sky—Messiah,” at 5 p.m., Friday, Oct. 18, for the IONA Winter Festival of Fine Arts. This time in full light of late afternoon.

The program for the October meeting will be presented by one of our own, Mae Kamalick. The title of her program is "Arabs & Arab-Americans: A Conversation in Diversity—Making Every Voice Count." This is an interactive presentation that explores a specific segment of immigrants, Arabs and Arab-Americans, to foster diversity and enhance understanding.

With a master's degree in English and Education, Mae began her U.S. government service with the FBI shortly after 9/11, first as a linguist, and then as a manager, developing, coordinating, and analyzing strategic plans and recommending improvements for quality of translation and the development of linguists. Prior to this government service, May worked on two continents and in three U.S. states as a corporate trainer and college instructor in English, Communications, Public Relations, and Arabic. She moved to Sewanee from the DC area a year ago and is now teaching intermediate Arabic, making new friends, and enjoying one set of her grandchildren.

Backlund Presents at ALLL

Lee Ann Backlund will present "Enrollment Trends and Troubles" at the Monday, Oct. 7 gathering of the Academy for Lifelong Learning.

College enrollment in the U.S. has decreased for the eighth consecutive year, according to new data released in May by the National Student Clearinghouse Research Center. This is due in large part to an ongoing decline in the number of students graduating from high school. Most private colleges, even those with significant endowments, are highly dependent on tuition revenue. When enrollments decline, colleges face tough choices including whether to reduce some academic programs, to limit financial aid, and, in the extreme, whether to merge with another institution or to cease to exist. This has created a difficult, competitive environment for colleges.

Backlund is the Vice President for Enrollment Planning and the Dean of Admission and Financial Aid at the University of the South. Her career spans 38 years in education including six years at Agnes Scott College where she served as the director of admission and associate vice president for enrollment and dean of admission. In addition, she spent three years as the director of college counseling at Porter-Gaud School in Charleston, S.C. Backlund is currently chair of the Common App Board of Advisors and is a past-president of the Southern Association for College Admission Counseling.

The Academy, part of the Sewanee Seminars Series, meets from noon to 1 p.m. in Lower Cravens Hall at 439 Kentucky Ave., Sewanee. The cost for a single session is $3 and an annual membership is available for $20. Coffee, water and cookies are available, and attendees are invited to bring a sack lunch.

There is ample parking in the parking lot adjacent to Cravens. Sewanee parking regulations require that the vehicle's rear bumper be visible from the parking lot aisles, so attendees are advised to avoid backing into a space or pulling through.

Obituaries

George Calvin Mitchell Jr.

George Calvin Mitchell Jr., age 70 of Cowan, died on Sept. 11, 2019 at his home. He was born on March 22, 1949, in Sewanee, to George Calvin and Betty Irene Cornett Mitchell Sr. He was preceded in death by his parents; brother, Bruce Mitchell; and sister, Deborah Hasketh.

He is survived by his wife of 51 years, Vera Gass Mitchell of Cowan; children, Chris (Ashley) Mitchell of Estill Springs, and Kristy (Eric) Stewman of Huntland; four grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were on Sept. 13 from the Moore-Cortner Funeral Home chapel with the Rev. James Taylor officiating. Interment followed in Franklin Memorial Gardens, Winchester. For complete obituary go to <www.moorecortner.com>.

Eric Woodfin Naylor

Eric Woodfin Naylor died on Sept. 16, 2019, in Sewanee. He was born in Union City, Tenn., to Woodfin and Gertrude Naylor, was raised in Union City and graduated from Union City High School. He graduated from the University of the South in the centennial class of 1958, achieving membership in Phi Beta Kappa and a Woodrow Wilson Scholarship. Masters and Doctoral degrees were received at University of Wisconsin at Madison. He was the William Rand Kenan Jr. Professor, emeritus, of Spanish at Sewanee, where he served for 42 years before his retirement in 2004.

He joined the faculty of the University of the South’s Department of Spanish in 1962. An early collaboration with the noted Spanish medievalist Manuel Criado de Val resulted in the joint monograph for which Naylor is best known, the first paleographic and critical edition in a single volume of all three extant manuscripts of the Libro de buen amor. This work was published in 1965, in 1972, and again in a special millennial edition recognizing it as one of the 100 most important scholarly texts of the 20th century in Spain.

Naylor’s acquaintance with nascent digital technology at Wisconsin and a Fulbright Research Fellowship in the mid-1960s led to a project with the Center for Electronic Computing in Madrid which digitized his transcriptions of the Buen amor manuscripts and produced the first computer-generated concordance of a major Spanish literary work. Other projects included numerous articles in scholarly journals and textbook anthologies of Spanish and Latin-American literature produced in collaboration with his Sewanee colleague, Thomas D. Spaccarelli. In retirement, he published, in collaboration with Professor Jerry R. Rank, the first English translation of a 15th-century Spanish work known as Corbacho by Alonso Martínez de Toledo under the title, The Archpriest of Talavera by Alonso Martínez de Toledo, dealing with the vices of wicked women and the complexions of men. He was, until his death, an advisor and supporter of the Tau Delta chapter of Chi Psi Fraternity and a long-standing member and supporter of Sewanee’s Red Ribbon Society. He was twice director of the Sewanee Medieval Colloquium, recipient of the 2005 Distinguished Faculty Award of the Associated Alumni, and a generous benefactor of the University of the South.

He is survived by his cousins in Union City and by a legacy of Sewanee graduates, many of whom have followed him as professionals in Hispanic Studies and whom he considered family.

He was buried in the University of the South cemetery on Sept.18, 2019. A celebration of his life and legacy will be at 4 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 28, in Convocation Hall, followed by a reception. Friends, family, colleagues, students, and members of the University community are invited.

Bobbie Jean Finney Walls

She was preceded in death by her parents, Robert “Bob” Lee Finney and Lora Sanson Finney; husband, Polk Kenneth Walls; sisters, Mary Sells and Helen Marlow; and brothers, Don, John, Grady, Virgil and Earl Finney.

She is survived by her daughters, Debbie (Troy) Taylor and Gail (Wayne) Clark, both of Winchester, and Deta (Donnie Gibbs) Watts of Decherd; sons, Kenneth Walls and Jerry (Shelia) Walls, both of Decherd; siblings, Virginia Mantoath of Winchester and Tennie Partin of Texas; three grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services were on Sept. 15 from the Roy B. Watson Chapel of Watson-North Funeral Home with the Rev. Spencer Van Order officiating. Interment followed in Watson-North Memorial Park Winchester. For complete obituary go to <www.watsonnorth.com>.

An associate professor of psychology, Coffey linked research on happiness to everyday experience. People often believe things like buying a house or getting a promotion will make them happy, Coffey insisted. Far more conducive to increasing happiness are living close to green space, even a houseplant, and having a strong sense of community and strong relationships. Coffey cautioned, though, that while social media allegedly made people “more connected,” it actually stifled happiness by prompting “social comparison.”

Coffey gave several illustrations highlighting the importance of strong relationships: the effect of losing a good friend is equivalent to wrecking a $200,000 car; having good social relationships is better for your health than quitting smoking 15 cigarettes a day; and people with adequate social relationships have a 50 percent greater chance of survival.

Turning to the effect of money and income on happiness, Coffey said happiness did not increase with higher earnings once basic needs were met, with $75,000 per year household income being the threshold beyond which more money did not equal more happiness. On an international scale, wealth did not correlate with happiness, Coffey noted. The top five countries on the happiness list were social democracies that offered universal health care, welcomed immigrants, and offered far more vacation time than the United States. The United States was 19 on the list. An obsessive work ethic correlated with a shorter life span and worse health, Coffey said, while having good health had the happiness impact of giving someone two million dollars.

Coffey listed several ways money could increase happiness: spending money on experiences like vacations and concerts, rather than material things; using money to buy back time like paying for house cleaning to allow more time for happiness promoting activities; and spending money on others.

Coffey’s five tools for promoting happiness: engage in intentional random acts of kindness; cultivate optimism by writing down the good things that happen and why they’re important; express gratitude and write gratitude letters; build structure into your day with routines and rituals; and savor the past, be mindful of the present, and anticipate the future.

“Planning a vacation and anticipating a vacation is where we see a lot of the happiness,” Coffey pointed out. For the most part growing happiness “doesn’t cost a thing.”

Sewanee Deer Hunt 2019-20

The 2019 hunting season in Sewanee begins Sept. 28 and runs discontinuously until Jan. 11, 2020. This year marks the 17th year of organized hunting on the Domain after a resolution passed by the University trustees in 2001 requested that the deer herd be controlled.

The program has continually evolved in response to herd populations, community input, and ever-expanding datasets on the impacts of the herd on the ecological and human community.

The current hunt is organized around the 2016 White tailed deer management plan, <http://www.sewanee.edu/media/offices/domain-management/White_tail_deer_management_plan_Final_1_26_2016.pdf>. This document outlines both the population and habitat goals, and the steps involved to reach those goals. In general, our goal is to bring the population down to what the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency feels is a sustainable population (approximately 25-30 deer per square mile) in a way that maximizes safety, minimizes impacts to the non-hunting members of our community, and maximizes student-led monitoring of the ecological and social impacts.

This year there are minor changes to the hunting areas. Areas on both sides of the water tower trail have been reopened to full season hunting after being limited for the last two years. As was the case last year, limited hunting will be allowed during Homecoming in zones away from heavy recreational activity. There will be no hunting on Breakfield Road during Homecoming to ensure ample hiking opportunities for guests. As always, all trails and firelanes remain open to recreational use during the season and hunters maintain a 100-yard safety zone around all recreational trails.

This invitation only hunt is open to all approved University faculty and staff, as well as their direct relatives. The hunt is also open to approved students. All participants must complete the Tennessee Bowhunter Safety Course (or other state equivalent), undergo a background check by the Sewanee Police Department, and participate in all mandatory meetings. All hunters are required to possess a valid TN hunting license and follow all TWRA rules and regulations at all times.

As in previous years, there may be a surplus of animals available for local families. If you are interested in picking up a field-dressed deer for processing, please email <domain@sewanee.edu>. For more information on the University hunting program and specific rules and times, go to <<http://sustain.sewanee.edu/domain/ecosystem-management/deer-hunting/>>.

normal. We’re not in a deficit.”

SUD pumps water from Lake Jackson into Lake O’Donnell and from there to the water plant. Lake Jackson is down six and one-half feet and O’Donnell two to two and one-half feet. Irrigation use for September was already nearly double than in August, Beavers said. On the plus side, SUD plans to do lagoon maintenance at the sewer plant since the lagoon levels are low. “The water evaporates almost as fast as it comes in,” Beavers explained.

Commissioner Randall Henley asked about progress on negotiations with the University on use of Lake Dimmick during a drought emergency.

“The University has been silent on the issue,” said Board President Charlie Smith.

If SUD had permanent emergency access to Dimmick it could drop tap fees by half, Beavers stressed. The greatest portion of the tap fee is dedicated to maintaining an adequate water supply. Providing history on use of Lake Dimmick, Beavers said following the drought of 2007, SUD entered into a $10,000 per year contract with the University to draw water from Dimmick in a drought emergency. In addition to the annual fee, SUD would have been charged for the water withdrawn. In September of 2013 the board decided the $10,000 per year fee was excessive and canceled the contract.

In the past year, Beavers talked with Vice President of Risk Management Eric Hartman who directed him to the Sustainability Committee to pursue the question about guaranteed access to Dimmick in a drought emergency. The Sustainability Committee has not yet responded.

“The entity most impacted by the high tap fees is the University,” Beavers said.

Revisiting the subject of discontinuing fluoridation, Beavers distributed literature provided by retired dentist Bob Childress. Smith said according to consultation with Childress, fluoride most impacted the developing tooth during the early childhood years.

Commissioner Art Hanson noted the research in the literature the board received cited studies from more than 50 years ago.

“I’m curious to know what the current research shows,” Smith said.

At the Oct. 22 meeting, the board will vote on discontinuing fluoridation. SUD welcomes input from SUD customers and encourages interested customers to attend the meeting.

SUD continues its search for a field crew employee to train for the sewer plant operator position.

Sewanee Expands Financial Aid to Meet Full Need

In a continuing effort to make an excellent college education more accessible for more of the nation's best students, the University of the South is expanding its financial aid program to meet the full need of domestic and international admitted students who qualify for financial aid, starting with first-time first-year students who arrive in fall 2020 (the future Class of 2024). The University's Board of Regents has made a commitment that by 2026 the University will have returned to meeting the full need of all of its undergraduate students.

"We have been determined for quite some time to restore Sewanee's historic commitment to meeting 100 percent of our students' demonstrated financial need," said Vice-Chancellor John McCardell. "Over the years, and by a variety of actions, we have shown a dedication to keeping the cost of a top-quality college education as affordable and predictable as possible. I am delighted that our efforts will culminate in meeting full financial need for the Class of 2024."

In the state of Tennessee, the only other institution that meets full need is Vanderbilt University; Sewanee will be one of a select few residential liberal arts colleges in the Southeast able to make this claim.

Under the program, students who are admitted will have their expected family contribution determined based on FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) and CSS Profile applications. The difference between what the family can pay and the total cost of a year at Sewanee, which is considered a student's full need, will be made up by a combination of scholarships, employment opportunities, and federal student loans. Full need will continue to be met for all four years provided students maintain satisfactory academic progress.

Lee Ann Backlund, vice president for enrollment planning, says the expanded financial aid will not only make an excellent education more affordable, it will allow Sewanee to attract and retain the very strongest students. "It demonstrates our commitment to access and affordability for top students from all backgrounds," said Backlund. "Our goal is to accept the most talented students for whom Sewanee is the best choice, and then provide the financial aid that makes it possible for them to enroll here." With this restored commitment to meeting full need, by fiscal year 2024 Sewanee will be allocating an additional $8 million annually to need-based financial aid.

2019 Annual DuBose Lectures

Emilie Townes will be the School of Theology's 2019 guest lecturer on Oct. 2 and 3, continuing with the theme of the three-year series on racial reconciliation. The lectures are held on the campus of the University of the South in Sewanee. The first two lectures will be on Wednesday, Oct. 2, at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. The third lecture is on Thursday, Oct. 3, at 9 a.m. All lectures will be held in Guerry Auditorium, on Georgia Avenue, and are open to the public at no charge.

About the 2019 Lectures

"Premeditated Indifference: Facing (In)Justice With the Power of Hope"

Sometimes the power of hope is all that sustains us when we look at the world around us and ask, "How did we get ourselves into such deep divisions?" Rather than turn away from the challenges that this question poses, these lectures will explore how we can use hope as both solace for our souls and a call to action in our public witness.

Lecture 1—"What in the World?" explores the various ways in which we do and do not engage each other and creation with care, compassion, respect, and love.

Lecture 2—"How in the World?" explores how we might begin to mend creation in ways that help us realize God's marvelous gift of creation in our lives and in the lives of others.

Lecture 3—"Hope of the World!" explores how a robust hope, grounded in God's call for justice and mercy, can lead us into just and loving relationships with each other and the rest of creation.

VILLAGEREPORT

by Frank X. Gladu

I am pleased to report that all five priority projects experienced progress during the month of September. Leading the way was the new Bookstore. Located between the Sewanee Post Office and Tower Community Bank, it is steadily taking shape. The framing continues with signs that walls are not far behind. The projected completion date continues to be by the end of 2019. The narrowing of Hwy. 41-A for a half-mile through the downtown area, is on track for the completion of the design and right of way in early 2020. We anticipate actual construction by the Tennessee Department of Transportation to begin by 2021. The schematic design for the mixed-use building, on the southeast corner of Lake O'Donnell Road and 41-A, is almost finished. The design includes retail space as well as a food market on the ground floor and about 12 studio and one-bedroom apartments on the upper floor. Our Development partner for the Village project, BP Construction, is actively seeking tenants for the retail and apartment space. We are in the process of beginning a conceptual design for the Village Green. This space is on the current site of the Sewanee Market, so it will require that the new market be completed before construction can begin on this civic and event space.

Other activity includes efforts to identify ways to attract visitors to Sewanee. This tourism effort involves student projects from the Babson Center's Carey Fellows and with MTSU's Tourism majors. We are also participating in the Tennessee Department of Economic and Community Development effort to form a tourism program that involves the South Cumberland Plateau region. The Kim Butters Pilates Studio is nearing the completion of construction documents that will allow for the start of building Kim's Body Works Youniversity later this fall.

One of the most important projects for the vitalization of the downtown area is the ability to create more places for people to live. This continues to be a major need and an important building block for the community. However, it is a multi-dimensional challenge. Several factors need to be addressed. The most pressing is the need for the University to have places for employees to live. Faculty and staff that are in the early stages of their careers do not have enough options for places to live. Although there are several dozen rental units provided by the University, more are needed. Ideally, there would be newer units that are aligned better to the needs and lifestyles of employees. In addition, we are looking to create a variety of rental options that include apartments and apartment houses. Another objective would be to create smaller and more affordable multi-family homes such as duplexes and townhomes along with the single-family homes. The University has been working on all of these needs with various studies and by releasing building sites for employees to construct homes. Currently several are in the process of being built. The Village project has a unique opportunity to make progress in this need for housing in Sewanee by creating and making available a variety of housing types that do not currently exist. Our Development Partner, BP Construction will hold input sessions for University employees, so that they can better understand the needs and wants of employees who desire to live in Sewanee.

In addition to this effort, we want to also understand the needs of community members who would like to live in Sewanee. The focus of the October update meeting will be just that. On Tuesday, Oct. 1, with one session at 10 a.m. and another at 4:30 p.m., the topic of housing for community members who would like to live in Sewanee will be the focus for the meeting. Input on size, variety and affordability will be explored. In addition, updates on the major projects will be provided. The sessions will be held at the Blue Chair Café and Tavern.

Hope to see you there!
 Frank

SAS Admission Open House, Oct. 6

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School welcomes families seeking better educational options to its annual fall admission open house on Sunday, Oct. 6, at 2 p.m. Families with children in grades four-11 will enjoy campus tours, information sessions, mini-classes, and an introduction to the admission and financial aid application process. Check-in for the event begins at 1:30 p.m. at McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts on the school's campus.

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School provides outstanding college and life preparation for day and boarding students in grades six-12. Named one of the South's most beautiful high schools by Southern Living Magazine, the school takes full advantage of its 550-acre mountaintop campus. Students spend significant time outdoors each day walking the historic campus and enjoying outdoor learning and recreation opportunities. Playing as the Mountain Lions, the school fields 30 teams in 11 sports, including a varsity mountain biking program, one of the first in the state, and the best private school girls' wrestling program in Tennessee. SAS is also known for its rich visual and performing arts programs.

SAS students enjoy small classes, personalized instruction, and the opportunity to participate in a wide range of activities regardless of their prior level of experience. The school's Learning Resource Center provides academic support for students needing additional attention. Students seeking more challenge may take college courses for free and for credit at the nearby University of the South.

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's Episcopal heritage is central to its mission, but the school welcomes students of all faiths. To provide educational opportunities for those students for whom such experiences might not otherwise be available, the school awards close to $2.3 million in financial aid each year.

In addition to the Open House, the school will hold "shadow days" on Oct. 14, Nov. 11, Jan. 20, and Feb. 17. These are opportunities for prospective students to spend a day shadowing a current student to get a closer look at SAS classes and school life.

For more information about St. Andrew's-Sewanee School and the Admission Open House, go to <www.sasweb.org>. Registration for the event is recommended.

TN Promise Mentors Needed

With the deadline less than three months away, tnAchieves needs an additional 5,000 volunteer mentors across the state to support TN Promise applicants from the Class of 2020. Locally, Franklin County needs 31 mentors to meet student demand.

Mentors spend one hour a month assisting students as they transition from high school to college. They remind students of important deadlines, serve as a trusted college resource and, most importantly, encourage students to reach their full potential.

"The financial support that TN Promise provides students is critical, but we know that the support from a local mentor is equally important to student success," said Krissy DeAlejandro, tnAchieves Executive Director. "TN Promise students are graduating at a rate 21 percentage points higher than their non-TN Promise peers at the same institutions. The guidance and encouragement students receive from a mentor cannot be understated – they are the difference maker for many of our TN Promise students."

TN Promise, in partnership with tnAchieves, allows every graduating high school senior the opportunity to attend a community or technical college, as well as several universities, tuition free with mentor support. Many of the students that apply for the scholarship will be the first in their family to attend college and mentors work with students to overcome barriers that previously prevented students from accessing higher education.

"We understand that navigating the college-going process can be very challenging," said tnAchieves Deputy Director of Partnerships, Graham Thomas. "Mentors serve as a resource for students and their families in a process that may contain many unknowns. Understanding that someone is available to answer questions and walk this journey with them can be very impactful for students."

Potential mentors must be 21 years of age, are subject to a background check and complete a one-hour training. For more information or to apply, you can visit <www.tnachieves.org> or contact tnAchieves Deputy Director of Outreach Graham Thomas at (615) 604-1306 or <graham@tnachieves.org>.

Tickets are $20 and can be purchased at the door the evening of the performance or in advance by emailing <hrward@sewanee.edu>.

OCCU (the Organization for Cross-Cultural Understanding) hopes to shed light on the eclectic shades of diversity that exist on campus and invites the whole community to take a trip around the world right here on campus. An international-themed dinner will follow at McClurg dining hall afterwards beginning at 5 p.m.

More than 64 children are playing soccer this fall with the Sewanee Youth Soccer Association. The children are having fun learning skills and teamwork.

Grundy Soccer Association Up and Kicking

Grundy County now has a Soccer Association for children 3-10 years of age who want to learn the sport. Altamont Mayor Jana Barrett, has been working closely with the Franklin County Soccer Association learning what needs to be done so that Grundy County can have a quality soccer program.

"As of now, we are registered under Franklin County's Soccer Association so we can access affordable personal injury insurance. Another benefit is that because we are just starting out we can continue to learn the processes without paying the state association dues. We are covered through our affiliation with Franklin County's association," Barrett said. "When our association is viable enough to sustain itself we will break away into our own state sanctioned association. Franklin County Soccer Association director, Casey Jackson of Winchester, has taken us in hand, met with us and has patiently walked us through to where we are at this point. Now we are ready for coaches and ready for players."

The Soccer Association Board, Chairman Russell Ladd, Garry Miller, Brittany Woodlee, Jody Campbell and Jana Barrett, has been working since February to get the league in place. The biggest drawback has been finding coaches. Barrett said that in a county so richly steeped in various athletics, she was very surprised to find no one she contacted locally knew anything about soccer. Jade Arnold, a star player for Coffee County High School, expressed interest in coaching as part of the community service hours she must fulfill as part of the Tennessee Promise scholarship program. She has also enlisted the help of two other students who also need these hours.

The Grundy County Soccer Association is an Academy Play program. In other words, it is a training program and the children practice and play in the same two hours each week. No outside practice is necessary. Every Saturday morning at 10 a.m., players will meet to work on skills and learning the rules and then finish up the morning with scrimmages. There is no competition as such, but children will be given awards at the end of the season in late October.

"Our goal is to get these children trained in skill and game rules, then when they leave the Academy play they will be prepared to go onto older teams and work on strategy and fine tuning their abilities," Barrett said. "We have to start somewhere and starting we are. Hopefully someone will be working to get a GCHS soccer team started. Even a middle school league will be possible once children have received thorough training."

Garry Miller and Russell Ladd have been instrumental in preparing the Altamont softball field for soccer. Miller was able to carve out three juvenile soccer courts that will accommodate 3-5 years old, 6-8 year olds and one for 9-10 year olds. Ladd constructed and installed one set of portable goals for now. As team numbers increase, more equipment will be put in place.

The fall season officially began Sept. 17. There was a fair turn out, but not enough for even one team. Optimistically, as word gets around, more kids will show up. Visit the website, <grundysoccer.org>, or the Facebook page to sign up, or just come to practice at 2 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 29. The fee is $40, however, if one can pay $10 per child for insurance, we can raise the rest with a fundraiser or sponsors. Do not let lack of funds keep you from signing your child(ren) up to play. Anyone who would like to volunteer time with these kids please go to our website, click on volunteer, and enter what you would like to do.

For more information, call and leave a message with Jana Barrett at (931) 235-1012 and she will get back with you.

The SAS middle school girls' team after ringing the bells in victory.

SAS MS Girls' Soccer No. 3 in Tourney

The SAS middle school girls' soccer team hosted Community last Thursday, in a re-match of last year's district tournament semi-final. The Mountain Lions put together perhaps their most complete game of the season, winning 2-0 with such an overwhelming defensive effort that Community was not able to record a single shot on goal. SAS scored their first goal on a corner kick by Elizabeth Perkins, which was volleyed by Caroline Neubauer off the Community goalkeeper. Drew Delorme put in the rebound for her fifth goal of the season. In the second half, Caty Layne broke free for a run down the right side, executing a beautiful cross to Delorme, whose shot was blocked by the keeper. In an outstanding display of awareness and initiative, a trailing Caroline Neubauer called off her teammates and chipped the deflected shot over the goalkeeper's head for her second goal of the season, putting the game out of reach for the SAS victory.

On Sept. 23, the SAS girls started their post-season run after earning the No. 3 seed due to their strong district play this year. The Lions hosted Liberty, and were almost upset by the sixth seeded Patriots, as Liberty came out full of energy and scored in the opening five minutes on a breakaway goal. While SAS controlled play on both the offensive and defensive ends for the remaining bulk of the game, they were unable to put the ball in the net despite several creative offensive runs and shots on goal. Liberty extended their lead with less than 15 minutes remaining in the game, and with the Lions down 2-0, an early exit from the tournament looked almost inevitable. SAS showed tremendous grit, teamwork, and determination with a barrage of shots over the final few minutes. Finally, Sarah Knight found Emma Wockasen on a cross deep in Liberty's territory, which Wockasen buried in the corner for her first goal of the year to cut the lead to 2-1 with just minutes remaining. Shortly thereafter, Drew Delorme came up with a steal in the midfield and managed to elude the keeper with her shot, scoring the tying goal with under three minutes to go in regulation. In the overtime period, Caty Layne and Sarah Brewster continued to heavily pressure the Liberty defense before Delorme got off a final shot with just 13 seconds remaining in the game. Her shot found the back of the net for her seventh goal of the season, giving the Lions the dramatic 3-2 victory and the right to advance to the tournament semifinals. SAS will look to continue their run as the tournament resumes in Cascade this weekend.

Volleyball Drops to Fayetteville

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee varsity volleyball team lost to Fayetteville High School, 25-19, 25-19, 25-22, on Sept. 24. Lucy Cassell had a strong game, recording five aces and five digs. Katie Finn Hurst four kills and two aces; Meredith Foster four kills; Justin Rogers three blocks; Luciana Mollica three kills.

This Friday, SAS will be honoring their eight seniors at the conclusion of the 5 p.m. match: Kendale James, Zoe Wallace, Saje Mangru, Hurst, Morgan Phares, Ali Sacco, Laya Lewis and Lizzie Sluser.

Carro and Brewer Advance to Semifinals at ITA Regionals

The No. 22 Sewanee men's tennis team saw a strong performance in the annual Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) Regional Championships at the Rome Tennis Center, hosted by Berry College, last weekend.

Andres Carro, ranked 10th in the final Atlantic South Region rankings last year, and Jordan Brewer advanced to the semifinals of the main flight, with each player posting four wins at the event.

Carro defeated Brandon McGuire of Emory & Henry (6-0, 6-0), Elijah Gregory of Guilford (6-4, 6-2), Nikita Revin of N.C. Wesleyan (5-7, 6-2, 1-0 (6)) before falling to Antonio Mora of Emory, 6-3, 6-1.

Brewer made the semifinals with victories over Max Middleton of Centre (6-1, 6-0), Mason Robb of Guilford (6-0, 6-1), Will Wanner of Emory (6-0, 6-1) and Ritwik Chatterjee of Rhodes (6-2, 6-7 (4), 6-4). Andrew Esses of Emory ended Brewer's run with a 7-5, 6-4 result.

Freshmen Noah Holsclaw and Liam Baer began their collegiate careers by advancing to the Round of 16 in the main flight as each player picked up three wins.

Poole Records Hat Trick as Sewanee Men's Soccer Blanks Third Straight Opponent

The Sewanee men's soccer team extended their winning streak to three matches and their unbeaten streak to five after the team's third 3-0 straight victory on Saturday afternoon at Puett Field. The Tigers earned the team's third straight clean sheet with the Quakers of Guilford College.

The Tigers had ample opportunities to get the opening goal in the first 45 minutes. Sewanee had 12 shots to Guilford's three, but it was a scoreless draw at the break.

In the second half, Evan Poole went to work. In the 50th minute, the sophomore found Thompson Schollaert's pass to make it a 1-0 advantage. Nearly two-plus minutes later in the 52nd minute, Poole found the back of the net again thanks to a pass from Austin Young in the box.

The icing on the cake was the hat trick for the Birmingham, Ala. native. In the 86th minute, after Schollaert attempted a shot to get the keep away from the box. The ball ricocheted from the Quaker's keeper to Poole who found nothing but net to seal the match.

Sewanee, for the match, had 20 total shots, and the defense held Guilford to nine shots.

Evan Poole led the Tigers with six total shots, four on goal. Thompson Schollaert added four shots and an assist. James Murray (5-1-1) recorded his third straight clean sheet and added four saves. The junior improved his conference-leading save percentage to .892, while shrinking his goals-against average to 0.42 per match, also a league-best.

Volleyball Bounces Back with Four-Set Victory Over Rhodes

The Sewanee volleyball team earned a weekend split in Southern Athletic Association play on Sunday by edging Rhodes College in four sets inside Mallory Gymnasium.

The Tigers started the match on a high note. Leading 9-7, the visitors went on a 10-2 run to lead 19-9.

The Lynx did not go away quietly, scoring eight of the next nine points to make it a 20-17 score, but the Tigers finished the set winning five of the final eight points to give Sewanee the 25-20 set victory.

In the second set, the Tigers out-attacked the Lynx with 15 kills to 12, but the home team pulled out a 25-23 victory by only committing four errors.

Trailing 23-19, the Tigers scored the next four points to tie the set, but Rhodes recorded the set victory by winning the next two points on a kill and a Sewanee attack error, respectively.

The Tigers bounced back to take a 2-1 match lead in the third set, but it did not come easy. Earning set point after going on a 6-0 run, Sewanee allowed the cross-state rivals to score the next four points to tie the set at 24 points apiece.

The final two points came by the Tigers thanks to an Ellie Pedersen kill and an Anna Ball ace.

The Tigers secured the match with a 25-23 win in the fourth set. After a block assist by the Lynx to put it at 24-23, Sewanee won the match on a Lydia Goffi kill.

For the match, Sewanee posted 57 kills, the most in a four-set match in 2019, while recording a season-high 74 points.

Lilly Reilly led all attackers with 16 kills and added 15 digs.

Destiny Stewart posted 18 digs and 15 kills with three assisted blocks.

Ellie Pedersen had eight total points thanks to five kills, four assisted blocks and one solo block.

Constance Connolly recorded a season-high 48 assists and added 18 digs.

Tigers Blank Agnes Scott, 6-0

The Sewanee women's soccer team, capped by a hat trick by Addie Roemershauser, routed the Scotties of Agnes Scott, 6-0, Sept. 21, inside Puett Field.

Sewanee struck the back of the net in the 13th minute as Isabel Washko saw a pass from Mena Kerrison to score.

In the 32nd minute, Addie Roemershauser saw an opportunity to give Sewanee the 2-0 advantage. After a pass was blocked by an Agnes Scott defender in the box, the freshman saw the keeper also distracted and she scored the second goal.

Taking a 2-0 lead into the locker room, Sewanee made it 3-0, 14 seconds into the second half. Bea Richardson found Abbie Kleckley for her first goal of 2019.

Roemershauser took it from there, as she netted her sixth and seventh goals of the season in the 80th and 86th minutes to complete the hat trick.

For the match, the Tigers out-shot the visitors, 26-1, with the lone shot by the Scotties coming in the 68th minute.

Bea Richardson and Addie Roemershauser had seven shots each for the match. Richardson had five on goal, while Roemershauser's three shots on goal all went in the net.

Abbie Kleckley also scored a goal on four total shots, three on goal. Hanna Judycki and Abigail Frazier combined for the clean sheet, with each player playing 45 minutes in goal.

Monteagle Monarchs

Stephanie Smith writes: "Please visit our website <www.monteaglemonarchs.com> for the very latest exciting news from the Smith-Boeth Monarch Waystation. As of today (Sept. 17), we have three Monarch chrysalises! Last week, we had 18 Monarch caterpillars. For the first year of the garden, I never expected to see even one caterpillar. This has been an extraordinary experience. On the website, you can follow the blog and see the happenings each day. What fun this is!"

We are a certified Monarch Waystation by <MonarchWatch.org> and are certified by the North American Butterfly Association. I submit sightings to Butterflies and Moths of North America, and have had many sightings accepted. Just last week, they accepted my photograph of the Long-tailed Skipper and said that it was the first sighting in Grundy County. It's a tiny little thing."

The Waystation was established just this spring. A full account of the endeavor can be found on the website. The first adult monarch sighting was posted on Aug. 1. On Sept. 9, they were thrilled to post a sighting of two monarch caterpillars, and at one point, they were up to 18—a great success in the first year of the garden. On Sept. 15, the first chrysalis was found, and ongoing reports of the development of that one and others are being posted on the website.

Pie

Pets of the Week Meet Pie & Alydar

Pie is a red and white piebald three-year-old pittie mix. Pie received her name for her piebald coat color and amazing "sweet as pie" personality. Pie was immediately diagnosed with heartworm disease when her original owners surrendered her to Animal Harbor in March. Luckily a very generous donor supported Pie during her treatment, and we could not be happier to finally have her healthy and ready for adoption. Six months of heartworm treatment and being housed in a shelter environment has been very stressful for Pie. She is very attached to people and has a very strong desire to be around her family. Animal Harbor staff members have become her family, but she is so ready for a new life in a new loving, understanding home. She prefers a nice lap and comfy couch for snuggles and endless kisses. Socially, Pie is dog selective but would do well in a home with older children. If you think your family would be a good fit, please come visit this sweetheart! Pie is up-to-date on vaccinations and awaiting her heartworm retesting and spay and microchipping procedure. Her adoption will not be immediate, but we do encourage you to come see her if you think she would be a good fit for your family.

Alydar is a 14-week-old orange tabby kitten patiently awaiting a forever home. Born from a stray mom, Alydar and his litter mates need extra cuddles to become accustomed to humans. Since being in our facility, we have seen this group of kittens blossom where they frolic in their community kitten room playing about and sleeping hard! They love human interaction and love the company of their roommates. Alydar is up-to-date on vaccinations, FIV/FelV negative, neutered and microchipped. Alydar is ready to go into our Foster to Adopt program. Ask us how you can start the process of adoption today!

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Sewanee Herbarium Fall Calendar of Events

Workshop on iNaturalist App—Saturday, Sept. 28, 10 a.m., with Angus Pritchard. Join Herbarium Fellow Angus Pritchard, C'22, for an introductory workshop on how to use an incredible new identification tool, the iNaturalist app! Meet at the Lake Cheston pavilion for a botanical and entomological walk and some tips about using the app's photo-recognition system. Just make sure you have the iNaturalist app downloaded to your smartphone before the walk. Please RSVP to <pritchaj0@sewanee.edu>.

Meadow Trail (South Cumberland State Park)—Saturday, Oct. 5, 10 a.m., with Yolande Gottfried. Meet at the South Cumberland State Park Visitor's Center to walk this easy trail behind the Center. Tall native grasses and numerous asters, goldenrods, thorn-oughworts, and many other wildflowers should still be in bloom.

Lake Dimmick (Day Lake)—Sunday, Oct 6, 2 p.m., with Mary Priestley. Meet at St. James Church, Midway. We'll see wetland plants and have an optional hike up "Little Mountain" to see the renovated log cabin. Some of the last wildflowers to bloom are found around our lake shores. In any case, fall color should be starting to reflect in the water. This walk may be wet, so wear suitable foot wear.

A group meets for nature journaling Thursdays from 9-11 a.m. Bring an unlined journal (or a few sheets of unlined paper) and a pen or pencil. No experience needed. As the seasons transition, we gather in different places, so contact <mpriestley0150@gmail.com> for info on the meeting place.

BARDTOVERSE

Peace Pole Celebration at Sewanee Elementary School

A Ploughshare bent
With labor heard
A Sword who bragged
With every word
Look at me said he
So debonair
My razor wit
Can split a hair
My soul is bright
My arm is thin
My tongue is sharp
My laughter quick
By rich red wine
I'm satisfied

I once was a Sword
The Ploughshare sighed
