SETDD Advises Monteagle Planning: Zoning and Parks

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Oct. 6 Monteagle Planning Commission meeting, Garret Haynes with the Southeast Tennessee Development District (SETDD) advised the commission on a 2018 zoning ordinance and grant opportunities for the park behind city hall.

Concerning the 2018 ordinance, Haynes said SETDD recommended approving the rules and regulations portion of the ordinance. The validity of the ordinance is in question because a public meeting was not held. The 2018 ordinance also included a map, but Haynes did not make a recommendation regarding the zoning map or changes the map denoted. His recommendation applied only to the rules and regulations which were in keeping with state standards.

Haynes also brought to the commission's attention two grant opportunities for refurbishing the Hannah Pickett Park playground behind Monteagle City Hall. A letter of intent is required by Oct. 8 for the TDEC Local Parks and Recreation Fund grant. The letter of intent deadline for the Healthy Communities grant is Oct. 31. Submission for the Parks and Recreation grant requires a site plan, but the state extended the deadline for submitting the plan until late summer 2021, Haynes said.

No action was taken on Haynes' zoning or grant opportunities recommendations at the meeting.

In other business the planning commission reviewed the final plat for the Retreat at Sunset Bluff, a tiny homes community. Haynes recommended the plat include the original name of the project, The Camp at Monteagle, for reference purposes. The commission approved the final plat pending receipt of the required bond.

The commission also took up a request from Sam Meeks, owner of the candle store next to the Mountain Goat Market. Meeks is moving her retail business to online and has leased the property to Mandi Oakes and Joseph Oliver, owners of 1866 Revival, a Seawanee antique and vintage store. Oakes and Oliver intend to open a second location in Monteagle. Earl Geary, who approves business permits, advised Meeks she would need to erect a firewall between the two business for both business entities to operate from the same location. Meeks told the commission she plans to end her retail business at the location by the end of the year and asked the commission to waive the firewall requirement. "I think we can work this out with Geary," said commission chair David Oliver.

The commission took a question from a resident who asked if a site plan before the commission was automatically approved if not acted on by the commission within a certain time limit. The resident raised the question, because it was his understanding the Petro Stopping Center site plan was still under consideration.

"We denied the Petro site plan at the Sept. 1 meeting, or at least that was our intent," Oliver said. "We'll double check on that."

The commission meets next on Nov. 4, at 5 p.m., rescheduling from Nov. 3, which is Election Day. Oliver said the commission would take up a subdivision amendment and was also expected to have an answer on the Petro zoning question pertaining to the 2018 zoning map changes.

FCHS Rebel Mascot: School Board Vote Imminent

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Oct. 5 workshop, the Franklin County School Board again took up the issue of changing the symbolic Franklin County High School Rebel mascot. At the request of board member Linda Jones, the board voted to move the mascot discussion to the top of the agenda. More than 50 people attended the meeting.

Jones said the board had a professional obligation to hear from people in the audience who represented the school system. Vice Chair Lance Williams, who conducted the meeting, said the speakers were not on the agenda, but agreed to allow one person representing each position five minutes to speak.

"For many African-Americans the word 'rebel' represents hate and brutality," said Jené Cooper, pointing to associations with white supremacy, the KKK, and the confederate flag. A mascot by definition should be "inclusive," she stressed, citing scripture, "if one part suffers, every part suffers." In closing, Cooper noted "a newly hired African-American teacher recently quit his job due in part to the climate in Franklin County... [the board] has the opportunity to repair the hurt felt by students of color for over 50 years."

"My family roots in Franklin County go back 120 years," said Michael Bradford. "I wanted to come back here because people got along so well, until now." Refuting charges of racism, he insisted, "If there's systemic racism, we want to know. You cannot remove racism with more racism." Bradford questioned the logic of shaming white people with a photograph from 1942. "We've come a long way since then. We've achieved Dr. King's dream... I see people getting along and working together and marrying. What is this [division] doing to the mixed-race children?"

A member of the African-American community objected to a decision being made on 10 minutes of discussion and requested permission to speak, but was denied.

Board member Chris Guess pointed out board members had been weighing input from county residents since July when the issue was tabled by Director of Schools Stanley Bean to allow the school system to focus on managing the pandemic.

Looking back to her student years when the county schools integrated, Jones acknowledged, "What I thought about was how it affected me, not their [African-American's] culture... they weren't telling us their pain... It's our job to make sure students are protected and included."

Making reference to the five-year plan, the other primary agenda item, board member Sarah

Meet the Candidate Marilyn Campbell Rodman: Restoring 'We' Power

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of interviews with some of the local candidates running for office. Marilyn Campbell Rodman was interviewed on Sept. 17. The second Monteagle mayoral candidate interview will be in the next issue.

Marilyn Campbell Rodman's campaign for Monteagle mayor calls for "restoring" what she calls "the important principles of government: responsibility and accountability, transparency and fairness, and strategic planning for smart growth." What does this mean translated into action? Rodman cited her prior two terms as mayor by way of illustration.

During her tenure, the city wastewater plant came out from under a 7-year moratorium. "We did it with grants, stimulus money, and a 1.7 percent interest rate loan," Rodman said. The city's revenue increased by 25 percent, in part by saving over $200,000 by refinancing debt. Monteagle had a Triple A credit rating, over $2 million in capital assets, earned three GFOA awards for outstanding financial management, and employed a CPA to monitor checks and balances.

Proud of her administration's transparency and fairness, Rodman said all meetings were televised. The tapes archived in a safety deposit box provided verification if meeting minutes needed clarification. The city also created a website and adopted state-sanctioned ethical standards. "There was no preferential treatment," Rodman stressed, pointing out she insisted her daughter, a certified police officer, not be employed by the city.

The 2020 Strategic Plan developed by Rodman's administration relied on town meetings for input. The plan called for historic preservation, beautification, outdoor recreation, business recruitment, and other quality of life enhancements along with providing a cost blueprint for water and sewer maintenance and replacement.

"We got a lot done," Rodman said. "I say 'we,' because everyone brought their own assets. People worked on projects they cared

CANDIDATE FORUM

To the Editor:

Thanks to the Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary Club and to the Rotary Club of Grundy County for sponsoring the Monteagle Candidate Forum held on the evening of Oct. 5 at the Town of Monteagle Pavilion. The venue was excellent: convenient time, lovely weather, plenty of space, good sound system, TV coverage.

The candidate for Mayor, Marilyn Campbell Rodman, was there. The other mayoral candidate, Tony Gilliam, was absent.

Six of the candidates for the four open Alderman (City Council) positions were there—Jessica Favaloro, Janet Miller-Schmidt, Jeffrey O'Neal, Dorraine Parmley, Ron Terrill, and Nate Wilson. (Listed alphabetically.) Absent were Jessica Blalock, Kenneth Gibson, Kelly Layne, and Jodean Wade.

All of these candidates gave good presentations of their qualifications for office and their individual goals when elected. As a voter, I learned a lot from those candidates who attended, but where were the others? Don't they want us to hear from them? What, indeed, are their qualifications? What, indeed, have they accomplished during their time in office? Why should we vote for any of them if they don't care enough about the voters to attend this public gathering?

Citizens of Monteagle, let's vote for a Mayor and for four Alderman positions. Let's support those who care about us, who care enough to let us meet and hear them.

Lane Mathis Price, M.D., Monteagle

All Saints’ Chapel

All Saints’ Chapel streams its 11 a.m. service each week at <<https://new.sewanee.edu/campus-life/believing/all-saints-chapel/all-saints-chapel-services/online-services/>>.

In addition, All Saints’ can accommodate up to 75 in-person worshipers each Sunday for the 8 a.m., Holy Eucharist Rite I and the 11 a.m., Holy Eucharist Rite II services.

Sunday worship is limited to the immediate campus community—defined as current students; faculty and staff, and their families; and residents of the domain. Visitors must wear a mask, have their temperature checked, be free of COVID related symptoms, and sit 6 feet apart from those outside their immediate family. Communion is distributed in one-kind only, and no congregational singing takes place during worship. At the 11 a.m. service, soloists and small vocal ensembles sing masked and with a minimum of 12 feet of distance between each other and between them and the congregation.

Morton Memorial UMC

Join us to worship outdoors at 11 a.m. as we begin a three-part series on “Finding Rest in a Restless World.” This week we will start by seeking God’s still small voice in 1 Kings 19.

If you are unable to participate in worship on the lawn, you can view the Oct. 11 service any time after noon on Sunday via a link at <Mortonmemorialumc.com>. Past messages are also available. Questions and prayer requests can be sent to <mortonmemorialumc@gmail.com>.

Every second Saturday of each month the food ministry at Morton Memorial Church provides almost 14,000 pounds of food to 150-200 families from the area who are challenged by food insecurity. Distribution will take place from 8 a.m. until 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 10. This service is made possible in large part by support from the Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary Club’s Hunger Walk and the South Cumberland Community Fund, and relies on almost 50 volunteers – church and community. If you would like to help in the future, please contact Morton Memorial UMC at <mortonmemorialumc@gmail.com>. Masks and gloves are required.

Otey Memorial Parish

Sunday worship will continue to be offered online at 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. on the Facebook page, and afterward also on the YouTube channel.

Weather permitting, Otey will have an outdoor service at 11 a.m. in the shaded area in front of Brooks Hall marked off into separate distanced areas for each individual or family. Please bring anything you may need, like chairs or blankets. If it is prudent for you to attend, we hope to see you there.

In the Sunday Forum this week, Greg Maynard will talk about “Bishop Quintard & Otey Memorial Parish Church.” The Forum is currently meeting via Zoom on Sundays, 9:45-10:45 a.m. The topic for the series this year, as Otey Parish celebrates its Sesquicentennial, is “Otey’s Ministry & Witness: Past, Present, & Future.” All are welcome.

Convent's Virtual Program Series Continues

The Sisters of St. Mary have offered inspiring virtual programs each month since July. In October, the series continues with "Scurvy, She Wrote!" presented by Sarah Ash, Ph.D. The discovery of many of the vitamins reads like a murder mystery, complete with multiple suspects, red herrings, twists and turns leading to dead ends and key clues, and dogged detectives who sometimes had to put their own lives in jeopardy to uncover the truth. Hear the fascinating stories of how cultural and agricultural factors conspired to create single nutrient deficiencies that killed by the thousands around the world, and what it took for scientists to identify the culprits, who weren't even at the scene of the crime.

The virtual event will take place on Saturday, Oct. 24 from 10-11:30 a.m. Following the presentation, there will be time for questions. The cost of the session is $20, and participants can register at <www.communityofstmarysouth.org>.

St. Mary's Sewanee Online Programming

St. Mary's Sewanee has announced a full slate of programming for the remainder of 2020.

On Thursdays at noon, join via Zoom for a "spiritual lunch break." Bring your lunch, log in via Zoom, and enjoy a brief talk about spirituality and everyday life. The lunch break speakers are ordinary folks, who apply spiritual principles and practices in their lives. They share their personal stories and practical application of a spiritual way of life.

St. Mary's Sewanee hosts two Zoom-based Centering Prayer support groups. We invite all to participate with us and share the silence in a new way. The Tuesday group gathers at 3:30 p.m. (Central Time) each week. The Wednesday group meets at 3:30 p.m. (Central Time) each week. This is an opportunity for new and experienced practitioners to share time together, both in quiet conversation and in silence. We gather online, offer brief introductions/check-ins, listen to a Psalm, and then have a 30-minute sit. For log-in information and other details, please email <admin@stmaryssewanee.org>.

The Rev. Tom Ward and Rebecca Paluzzi are offering a full day of quiet, lectio divina, and worship on Oct. 24.

Rabbi Rami Shapiro brings One River Wisdom to us again on Oct. 24 when he will explore The Heart of Spiritual Living — One Teaching: Perennial Wisdom; One Practice: Be a Blessing. Using a blend of conversation and contemplation, this promises to be a session full of insights.

Spend a day with Gordon Peerman and explore The Body Knows the Way: Effortless Mindfulness during a day of quiet contemplation. On Nov. 14, Peerman will explore how simple shifts of attention into an easy awareness can open the way to emotional healing and spiritual connection.

For more information on ongoing opportunities for prayer and meditation, and upcoming retreats, go to <https://www.stmaryssewanee.org/>.

Tennessee Pledge Updates

In accordance with the current scientific understanding of COVID-19, Tennessee's Economic Recovery Group issued updated guidance for businesses and other activities under the Tennessee Pledge. The updates follow guidelines from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and maintain emphasis on key preventative measures such as mask wearing, social distancing and frequent disinfection. The update follows executive orders signed by Tennessee Governor Bill Lee earlier this week.

The updated and streamlined guidance aligns with recent amendments to state-issued Executive Orders and enable Tennessee businesses to operate with more flexibility where social distancing protocols remain in place. Full guidelines can be found at <TNpledge.com>.

Marhevsky referenced the increasing challenge in recruiting teachers and the importance of diversity in educators and administrators. "It would be helpful to look at the overall culture of the district and what we want to be and how we can attract people who can be role models for all the students. The message the mascot sends is important for us to consider in this discussion."

The board is expected to vote on the mascot question at the Oct. 12 meeting.

Taking up the five-year plan, the board reviewed suggested revisions to the 2015-2020 plan. Marhevsky presented a five-year plan with detailed action steps, and STREAM coordinator Leah Harrel presented a five-year STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math) plan.

Guess noted the importance of students receiving technical college credit for advance high school Career and Technical Education classes. Bean recommended including the STEM objectives as a fourth goal.

Board member Christine Hopkins praised the emphasis on Social and Emotional Learning in Marhevsky plan, which called for increasing the number of social workers and teacher SEL training. Bean observed some of Marhevsky's proposals were budget issues.

Williams said the five-year plan was the "1,000-foot view" with many details left open ended to be implemented by Bean and according to individual school needs. Bean will incorporate suggestions and present the revised plan to the board.

Sewanee Village Q&A

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

The October Sewanee Village update meeting took the form of a Zoom question and answer session. The Sewanee Village Plan is tasked with revisioning and revitalizing the downtown area, focusing on five priority projects: the new bookstore, narrowing Highway 41A, housing, a mixed-use food market building, and a village green. Frank Gladu, who heads up the Sewanee Village Plan, took questions from the 12 Zoom participants about the new bookstore, downtown Wi-Fi, and narrowing Highway 41A.

"The newest, latest, greatest thing happening downtown is the new bookstore," Gladu said. He reported comments about the bookstore being a positive addition that fit in well with downtown architecture. Asked about students' willingness to make the trek to downtown to visit the bookstore, Gladu replied that from his base of operation at the Lease Office, he frequented the porch during the pandemic and had observed a marked increase in bike and foot traffic.

Business owner Ed Hawkins observed, "We need to get the community back to the village. Since the students came back, the community has stayed away." Hawkins thanked Matt Costello for his guidance to Sewanee businesses. A 1984 Sewanee grad, Costello followed a career in business. His advice to Sewanee businesses about navigating government grants and fundraising proved invaluable during the pandemic slowdown, Hawkins said.

Asked if the Ben Lomand fiber project would provide downtown with Wi-Fi, Gladu said downtown and the area south of Highway 41 were in Phase 3 of the Ben Lomand fiber project. He noted it would be up to individuals and businesses to avail themselves of the fiber connection. Ben Lomand installed Wi-Fi for public use in Angel Park a year ago, Gladu said.

Taking a question about whether it was worthwhile slowing the traffic on Highway 41A when it would be an inconvenience to many and there was so little on the south side of the highway, Gladu underscored the long-range benefit of narrowing the highway to slow traffic. "The point of the road project is to make the south side of the highway a more connected spot for future development," Gladu stressed. "In a sense it's a 'which came first the chicken or the egg' question. The south side needs to be connected to make it attractive to developers." He gave the example of the proposed food market, a priority project in the Village Plan.

Regarding the road project's cost to the Sewanee Utility District and the possibility of a rate increase, Gladu said, "It was not known until after the road was designed that water and sewer would be impacted to such a large extent." SUD worked with the Tennessee Department of Transportation to adjust the infrastructure changes needed and reduced the cost by one-third, according to Gladu. He gave the current estimated cost to SUD as $280,000. "It's still a big ticket for a small utility," Gladu acknowledged. "The University will work out a partnership with SUD to sidestep a rate increase. The University is a big SUD customer," he pointed out. "I don't have specific numbers on the University's contribution, but there is a general verbal agreement between the University and SUD." Final figures on the cost to SUD will not be available until the bid process is completed.

about." She credits her vice mayor Lexi Orr for business expertise and leading the way on water, sewer, and road projects. Under the guidance of Nate Wilson, grant money completed the Mountain Goat Trail from Monteagle to Sewanee. Harry Parmley spearheaded the Movies in the Park event and purchase of a projector and screen for just $4,000. The Car Show became a regular happening, and the city installed bike lanes on Main Street.

Looking to the future, Rodman is "100 percent" in favor of more recycling, although she insists, "Recycling needs to be safe, realistic, and not at the expense of the town." As mayor, she proposed and the city adopted metal recycling, with the recycled metal sold as a revenue source for the city.

Asked about her thoughts on the controversial travel center proposed for I-24 exit 135, Rodman said, "You do the right thing. Do I know what the right thing is, no, because I'm not in a position to talk with the attorneys." She added that, although her husband managed the existing travel center at exit 135, she did not know if he had been offered a position at the proposed travel center. "I'm by no means involved," she said.

Born and raised on the Plateau, Rodman has lived in Monteagle 24 years. She has three daughters and five grandchildren. Founder and longtime editor and publisher of the community newspaper The Cumberland View, Rodman in part credits her educational background for her success. She holds a degree in business with an emphasis on marketing, organizational development and communications. But she insists her main qualification for serving as mayor is "I love Monteagle, and I love the people."

"Being mayor is about working behind the scenes because you care. You learn what it takes to get the job done, and you find the people to do it. Monteagle is the gateway to other Plateau communities, and we can offer so much if we utilize the strengths and resources we have and work together."

SVEC Senior Expos to be Virtual This Year

For more than 20 years, Sequachee Valley Electric Cooperative (SVEC) has celebrated October as Cooperative Month by hosting the Senior Expo health and information fairs in each of our four counties. However, this year in consideration of the health and safety of the members and employees SVEC will not be holding the 22nd annual series of Senior Expos in person. This year SVEC will be hosting virtual Senior Expos. The purpose of the events has always been to bring needed information to the seniors and to support the local businesses and organizations through the vendor fair. An additional goal was to have seniors, their caregivers and vendors gather in a social setting that allowed them to receive valuable health screenings, socialize with friends and neighbors, hear from informational speakers and enjoy a meal.

In this year of social distancing when a social setting is not possible, SVEC is partnering with our cooperative neighbor, Bledsoe Telephone Cooperative/BTC Fiber to bring a series of Senior Expo educational videos to fill the void. The videos will feature a number of speakers from local agencies and businesses with helpful information on topics such as avoiding scams, staying active while staying at home, reducing stress and helpful services available from a number of local agencies. The videos will be aired on the local access television station in each county – BTC Fiber's Channel 18 in Bledsoe and Sequatchie Counties, Ben Lomand Connect's BLTV Channel 6 in Grundy County and WEPG the River 104.9's Charter (Spectrum) Channel 197 in Marion County. The videos will also be available on SVEC's Facebook page and Youtube channel and at <www.svalleyec.com>. A new video will be released each week in October. Watch for ads in the local newspaper and on SVEC's social media and website in the upcoming weeks for more details on air times.

In addition, SVEC will also be distributing copies of the Chattanooga Area Senior Directory, the number one resource for seniors, caregivers, and senior care professionals in the SVEC area. SVEC will include a more localized directory in the packet with the Senior Directory as well as additional information from some of our regular vendors. These packets will be available at the local senior nutrition sites/senior centers and food banks and while supplies last at the local SVEC offices. There will also be a local directory in the October Tennessee Magazine's SVEC section. For more information visit <www.svalleyec.com>.

SAS senior Tania Gonzalez Horstmann busts through the defense as she heads to goal for the Mountain Lions.

SAS Girls' Soccer Completes Condensed Season 2-1-1

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's girls' varsity soccer team had a very condensed season due to strict COVID-19 protocols put in place by the school to protect the SAS community. The team finished 2-1-1. SAS COVID-19 protocols preclude the team from participating in the district tournament as many of the other teams and schools are not abiding by as stringent precautions. To date, the SAS protocols seem to be working. So far, the school has not had an on-campus student or employee test positive.

Below is a summary of the girls' varsity soccer season:

SAS at Middle Tennessee Christian School, 1-1

Senior Sarah Grace Burns scored the one goal for the SAS Mountain Lions on Sept. 3. Although the SAS team dominated the game outshooting MTCS 15 to 2, the Mountain Lions allowed the other team to score off a free kick in the first half on their one breakaway. SAS came back and tied up the match in the second half but struggled to find the game winning goal despite dominating play.

SAS at Silverdale Baptist, 1-5

On Sept. 17, Silverdale dominated play in the first half scoring all five of their goals, two of which, unfortunately, were with the assistance of SAS players. SAS learned from their mistakes and came out much more organized in the second half. The Mountain Lions held Silverdale scoreless in the second half and senior Lily Garner scored her first goal as an SAS Mountain Lion.

SAS at Webb, 5-0

Burns scored the Mountain Lions' first goal with 15 minutes remaining in the first half on Oct. 1. The Mountain Lions dominated play in the first half but had a hard time finding the back of the net. The second half was more even but SAS dominated scoring with two goals by Burns, one assisted by senior Tania Gonzalez Horstmann. Gonzalez Horstmann also had an unassisted goal as she went one-on-one with the goalkeeper. Garner and eighth grader Elisabeth Perkins also scored. This was Perkins first varsity goal.

SAS vs Chattanooga Arts and Science, Senior Day at Home, 3-2

On Oct. 3, after a scoreless first half, CSAS found the back of the net within 10 minutes of the second half. Gonzalez Horstmann then scored two goals with Garner assisting on one of them to give SAS the lead. With about 10 minutes remaining in the match CSAS scored the equalizer. However, SAS quickly answered when sophomore Verena Pate split the CSAS defense with a through pass to freshman Hadlee Hale who went right to goal but was taken down in the goal box from behind. This led to a penalty kick that Burns nailed for the game winning goal.

The SAS varsity girls' soccer team is coached by head coach Margot Burns and assistant coach Jana Barnett.

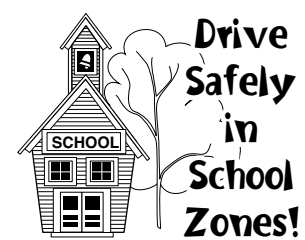

Sewanee to Host Ecological Conference

The Center for Religion and Environment at the University of the South will host a virtual conference to be held Oct. 23-24, 2020, beginning at 7 p.m. Eastern time. Titled "Deep Green Faith: Earth-Hearted Hope Amid Crisis," the event will feature the Rev. Dr. Margaret Bullitt-Jonas as keynote speaker.

Bullitt-Jonas, co-editor of Rooted and Rising: Voices of Courage in a Time of Climate Crisis (2019) and a noted activist and retreat leader, notes that we are each called "to stabilize the climate and re-weave the web of life. To be healers and justice-makers, we need to be emotionally and spiritually resilient. We need to take care of our inner lives." She will be joined by presenters the Rev. Walter Brownridge, an Episcopal priest in Grosse Pointe, Mich., Collin Cornell, Ph.D., visiting instructor at the School of Theology, Amy Patterson, Ph.D., professor of international affairs at the University of the South, and John Gatta, Ph.D. and Robin Gottfried, Ph.D., professors emeriti of the University. Conference activities will include presentations, contemplation, and worship.

The event will explore the question: What grounds for hope, faith, and perseverance might we find to sustain us during this troubling period, when an accelerating climate crisis, together with a global pandemic and renewed challenges to racial justice in the U.S. have left many engulfed in what's been called "a tsunami of sadness?" According to Gatta, many people are now wondering "how we might embrace an earth-hearted hope that includes our nonhuman neighbors? Scripture urges us to seek 'a reason for the hope' that is within us (1 Peter 3:15)," he writes, "but if we believe that Christian hope amounts to something more than temperamental optimism or wishful thinking, just how might we now look to discover and cultivate it?"

Virtual Art Show at UAG

The University Art Gallery is delighted to present "This is Where I Live," a participatory photography project led by acclaimed photographer Wendy Ewald. By means of a collection of approximately 400 photographs, "This is Where I Live" represents experiences and lives from several distinct communities in Israel and the West Bank. The exhibition will be on view through Nov. 20.

To protect the health of those on and off our campus, in-person visits to the exhibition are reserved for students, faculty, and staff of the University already on campus. The University Art Gallery has an additional opportunity to explore "This is Where I Live" remotely, with slideshows of the individual photographs from each of the 14 communities now accessible on the UAG website <<https://new.sewanee.edu/university-art-gallery/current-exhibition-2/>>.

Ewald does far more than photograph her subjects. Instead, believing that people know their own lives and communities best, she collaborates with groups of people over several months, giving those who want to participate their own cameras. Together they consider images, study the cameras and basics of photography, talk about the photographs taken and the choices made and why, and tell stories. The process is one of learning and exchange, and the results are cumulative and cooperative: collective portraits made up of multiple individual perspectives, and bodies of work created not by one photographer but by many people working together.

For "This is Where I Live," Ewald worked with 14 disparate groups of people in Israel and the West Bank, from Palestinian Arab women elders in East Jerusalem to Jewish Israeli sixth grade students from the Kfar Giladi Kibbutz, Upper Galilee, from Palestinian Arab sixth grade students at the Bir El Amir School in Nazareth to Jewish Israeli stall owners from the Mahane Yehuda market, Jerusalem. "This is Where I Live" presents "a kind of narrative atlas," in which people from a deeply and impossibly divided region share their experiences, and all the places they live, in photographs.

Tennessee Craft Announces Inaugural Virtual Craft Fair

Tennessee Craft announces their inaugural virtual fair, Oct. 9-31, 2020.

"We have combined our 2020 spring and fall fairs to bring together artists from across the Southeast and around the country," said Fair Director Kim Waag. "You will be able to browse and shop unique, finely crafted artwork directly from these juried, award-winning artists in their virtual booths, artists that you would have visited at the 2020 in person craft fairs. And you can do it all from the comfort of your home." Visit <tennesseecraft.org/2020virtualfair> beginning Oct. 9 to participate in this new craft fair experience.

In addition to the array of high-quality craft, there will be fun hands-on activities in the virtual Kids' Tent. Visit <tennesseecraft.org/2020kidstent> for video interviews with 10 Tennessee artists, as well as craft activity demonstrations and a link to order your own craft kit to do these activities at home. See what's in the craft kit at <youtu.be/mujZxADvPnI>.

Visit the virtual Demonstration Tent at <tennesseecraft.org/2020demonstrations> to watch Tennessee artists showcase a variety of techniques, including woodturning, blacksmithing, lampwork with glass, and raku firing at night.

A popular feature of the in-person fairs is always the puppet show by the Nashville Public Library's Puppet Truck. This year, Tennessee Craft is excited to present "Lorraine: The Girl Who Sang the Storm Away," an original puppet show based on the children's book written by Ketch Secor, founder and lead singer of Old Crow Medicine Show, and illustrated by Nashville artist Higgins Bond. The puppet show, narrated by Ketch, will air Saturday, Oct. 10 and Sunday, Oct. 11, at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. each day on <tennesseecraft.org/2020virtualfair>, and will be followed immediately by an interview with Higgins. Ketch also serves as the Honorary Chair of Tennessee Craft Week, a collection of craft events across the state, of which the virtual craft fair is a part. Visit <tennesseecraft.org/tennessee-craft-week> for more information.

Tennessee Craft is a nonprofit organization that champions the local fine craft movement by supporting growth and creative expression for all artists, building a platform for high-quality craftsmanship and reinforcing the importance of fine craft for the entire community.

NATURENOTES

Iris blooming by Besty Grant

Beautyberry by Yolande Gottfried

Fall Delights

Betsy Grant reported some more unseasonal blooms last Saturday. "Much to my delight, I found an iris blooming today. There is also a bud about ready to open. Later in the day, I found a clematis blooming. What a surprise on this pretty fall day!"

Walking the Sherwood Forest Loop Trail last Saturday, we were also delighted by multiple sightings of Beautyberry, loaded with brightly purple fruits. We encountered a clump of deciduous holly shrubs covered with dangling red holly berries. The understory was full in many places of plants still in bloom. There was much goldenrod, mostly Blue-Stemmed or Wreath Goldenrod and Erect Goldenrod. All three of the "leafcup" group were there-Bear's Foot (Yellow Leafcup) was already past flowering but White-Flowered Leafcup and the less-common Tennessee Leafcup were both in bloom. Horse Balm, a late-blooming mint of rich woods, is so-named because it was reportedly used to treat sores on the backs of horses. Rising above all these were the long, thin fruiting stems of Virginia Knotweed, the plant whose basal leaves with a purple "thumbprint" are often observed in the spring. Its common name, Jumpseed, comes from the way the fruits "jump" from the stem when one runs one's fingers up along it toward the tip-fun!

Clay Yeatman reports Rose-breasted Grosbeaks are visiting his feeder on their way south for the winter. "We haven't seen them since spring."

Ron Weasley

Lulu

Pets of the Week

Meet Ron Weasley & Lulu

Ron Weasley is a five-month-old beautiful orange (more deep auburn) tabby cat with a unique swirl pattern deep golden eyes. Ron is very magical, just like the Harry Potter character who he gets his name from. Ron is very affectionate with people and loves a good long pet down! Ron does not prefer the company of dogs or other cats, so he will likely do best in a single pet home, but he is guaranteed to fill your heart with joy and love. Ron is also very playful and has a feisty personality to match. Ron is up-to-date on vaccinations, FIV/FeLV negative, neutered, and microchipped.

Hello, My name is Lulu. I am an 11-month-old ball of energy, and boy would I love a family who is active. I do need some work on my manners, because no one ever took the time to teach me any. The ladies at the shelter are helping me become more dignified! I would be an amazing running partner for someone who wants an athletic dog, or I may make a good playful doggie sibling for another young dog. The shelter staff are currently naming dogs after the restaurants in town. I got the name Lulu. This is the name of a southern, home cooked restaurant. I am so ready for a nice home where I can be myself and grow into a true good girl. I would not be good for a home that has children under 13, for I may knock a small child down. If you would like a dog like me, go put an application in and tell them Lulu sent you.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>.

Dog Control Policy

Dogs have long been welcome members of the Sewanee community, and we have been fortunate to have, for the most part, well behaved dogs. As the community has grown, and as legal requirements have changed, the Community Council and the University have revised the Dog Control Policy to meet these changes. Individuals are urged to notify a dog's owner of any complaints regarding a particular dog prior to involving the Sewanee Police Department or other University Offices.

A. All dogs must be under obvious and effective control of their owners at all times while on the Domain. Owners or caretakers must remain with their dogs while enjoying the Phil White Dog Park and must follow the rules posted at the park. While on all other property of the Domain, obvious and effective control normally means that an owner must be within immediate sight and sound of their dog at all times. Effective control means that a dog will respond to a command given by the owner, including but not limited to "come," "down," "off," or similar commands. If a dog cannot be quickly and effectively recalled by its owner with a verbal command, the dog must be on a leash or otherwise physically restrained while on the Domain. Sewanee Police Department may issue a warning or a citation for a dog running at large. Multiple warnings or citations may result in referral to Franklin County Animal Control.

B. No dogs other than service dogs are allowed in University buildings, and the Sewanee Police Department may pick up and hold all non-service dogs found in University buildings. Service dogs are dogs trained to perform a specific task or tasks necessary to assist a person with a disability. Emotional support animals, (animals that provide comfort to a person with a disability, but are not service dogs), are not permitted in University buildings except for residential buildings and then only when a student has an approved accommodation for the emotional support animal.

C. If a dog is causing a public hazard or nuisance, the Sewanee Police Department may issue a warning or a citation to the owner of the dog. Additionally, Franklin County Animal Control may be called and the dog may be impounded. Examples include dogs snapping at, biting, or otherwise threatening walkers, joggers, bike-riders, other animals, destruction of property, etc. Any person who is threatened or attacked should (1) inform the dog's owner, if known; (2) notify the Sewanee Police Department; and/or (3) notify Franklin County Animal Control.

D. Fees and Fines: An owner who is issued a citation for a dog running at large or for a dog creating a public nuisance or hazard may be subject to fine in accordance with Tennessee law.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Leif Erikson Day (Oct. 9)

Serene adventurer, lover of distance divine,
Pursuing thy love forever though never thine,
O sun-tanned king with thy blue eyes over the sea,
Who dares to sing, and live, the praise of thee?
Not they that safe in a haven of certainty, steer
From mooring to mooring with faith and with fear,
And pray for a map of the universe, pointer, and plan,
When all the blue waves of the ocean the courage of man
Challenge to venture, not they are the praisers of thee!...
Sailors, unreefed, and high-masted, and wet, and free,
Who sail in the love of the billows, whose port is the sea—
They sing thee, O Leif the Lucky, they sing thee sublime,
And launch with thee, glad as with God, on the ocean of time!

--excerpted from Max Eastman, Leif Ericson
