Chanticleer to Perform in October

Called “the world’s reigning male chorus” by the New Yorker, the San Francisco-based GRAMMY® award-winning ensemble Chanticleer has just celebrated the 40th anniversary of its 1978 founding.

Chanticleer will perform in Seawanee on Tuesday, Oct. 29, at 7 p.m. The performance will be in All Saints’ Chapel, and seating will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Praised by the San Francisco Chronicle for its “tonal luxuriance and crisply etched clarity,” Chanticleer is known around the world as “an orchestra of voices” for its seamless blend of 12 male voices ranging from soprano to bass and its original interpretations of vocal literature, from Renaissance to jazz and popular genres, as well as contemporary composition.

Tickets are $20 and can be purchased at the door the evening of the performance or in advance by emailing <hrward@seawanee.edu>.

Preparing for the Relay for Life

by Bailey Basham
Messenger Staff Writer

The University Rotaract Club’s second annual Relay for Life is scheduled for the end of the month, and club president Caroline Sweetin and her team have been working for months to prepare. And prepare they have.

The Rotaract Club, which is an affiliate of the Monteagle-Seawanee Rotary Club, has raised $18,835 as of this printing. With the relay coming up on Saturday, Oct. 26 and a club goal of $50,000, Sweetin said they hope to continue to use the event as a means of raising awareness for the cause as well as funds to support cancer research through the American Cancer Society.

“Right now, we have 35 teams signed up and 144 total participants. Our goal is to have a total of 50 teams,” she said.

“Cancer has directly or indirectly played a role in everyone’s life, and it’s often an incredibly isolating experience. Through Relay for Life, we hope to celebrate and honor those affected while helping to provide the physical resources necessary to help keep life as normal as possible throughout treatment.”

For Sweetin, the cause is personal. Her grandfather passed away after a battle with lung cancer, and her grandmother is a breast cancer survivor.

“Seeing how hard it was for my parents to care for their parents during that time and realizing the impact it had on my family made me recognize the need for better resources and strong relationships throughout the process. As someone who is at high-risk to develop cancer, I’m grateful for the con-

The already-funded extension of the Mountain Goat Trail to the interstate and the proposed I-24 crossing.

Monteagle Owns RR Bridge; Approves MGT Grant

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

Applause and cheers greeted the Monteagle Council’s vote calling for the mayor to sign a letter in support of the town’s application for a grant to extend the Mountain Goat Trail across I-24 via the old railroad bridge. Forty plus residents attended the Oct. 14 special called meeting.

Before the vote, Mountain Goat Trail Alliance Board President Nate Wilson addressed questions raised at the Sept. 30 meeting about who would maintain the bridge since ownership was unclear. Since that meeting, Wilson learned Monteagle acquired the bridge in a 1992 purchase along with the old railroad bed in the downtown area and a gas, water, and sewer easement from Seawanee to Tracy City.

At a subsequent meeting with city attorney Harvey Cameron, Cameron and Wilson agreed it would be in the town’s best interest for the Tennessee Department of Transportation (TDOT) to assume ownership of the bridge. An already approved TDOT grant project will extend the trail from Clifftops subdivision to the interstate. It was in TDOT’s interest to support a project providing safe passage across I-24, Wilson stressed.

For TDOT to assume ownership of the old railroad bridge, Monteagle would need to remove the lead paint and repaint it, Wilson said. He proposed paying for the expense by reducing the amount of the off-bridge trail provided for by the grant. Initially the budget called for the multi-modal path to continue beyond I-24, perhaps as far as Tower Bank.

The letter of support states Monteagle agrees to pay the five percent ($50,000) match required by the $1 million grant proposal and that other grant sources will provide the $50,000. A second letter accompanying the grant application states the MGTA will provide Monteagle with the $50,000 match.

At the September meeting, council representatives also expressed concerns about lacking operating capital to cash flow the fully funded 95 percent portion of the grant, even though the city would be reimbursed for expenses every 30 days. Addressing the concern, city recorder Debbie Taylor said, “If Monteagle receives the grant, we hope we can fit this in next year’s budget. We’ll make a new budget in July.”

The University Child Care Center had some special visitors when the Seawanee Volunteer Fire Department responded to a fire drill with lights and sirens. Then they talked with all the kids about fire prevention and fire safety. Thank you SVFD for keeping us safe!

With the help of Dakota Meeks and William Shealy, Superintendent of Landscape Planning and Operations at the University of the South, the students of Seawanee Elementary planted a new redbud in front of Seawanee Elementary on Oct. 3 as part of Tigers Don’t Leave Tracks! efforts at the school. The planting followed up on Shealy’s talk, “The Community Forest,” highlighting the essential environmental and economic roles of trees, and taught students about caring for trees. Thank you for supporting Tigers Don’t Leave Tracks! Pictured are left to right: Rosalind Thompson, Isabella DiDomenico, Jane Shealy (back to camera), Dagen Tucker and Cabell Thompson.

‘Mine 21’ Documentary Receives National Award

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

The Seawanee-produced documentary “Mine 21” was named a winner of the 2019 Austen Riggs Erikson Prize for Excellence in Mental Health Media.

“I was surprised and not surprised,” said producer Chris McDonough. “It’s a surprise to win any award. However, “Mine 21” receiving the award makes sense. The story deals with profound questions of trauma for individuals and the community.”

In the short documentary, the 1981 Whitwell mining explosion where 13 coal miners lost their lives is unveiled through the eyes of recent Seawanee graduate Kelsey Arbuckle, C’19, and Alexa Shea Fults, C’21, whose pasts are intimately linked to the mines. Videographer and Seawanee alum Stephen Garrett directed the film.

It was not until she was a college sophomore that Arbuckle learned her grandfather died in the Mine 21 explosion. She sought out classics professor McDonough, who had blogged about the disaster. Their discussion jumpstarted McDonough’s interest in making a documentary about “Mine 21.” Arbuckle brought in her classmate Fults, who also had family ties to the local mining industry.

The film was released last October. In March, McDonough, Arbuckle and Fults accepted an invitation to tell the “Mine 21” story to mental health professionals at Yale University and Western New England University. Among the psychiatrists, therapists and counselors attending was the director of the Austen Riggs Center, a therapeutic community, open psychiatric hospital, and institute for education and research.

The Austen Riggs award selection committee included both field psychiatrists and media experts, McDonough said. “Their interest is in media that portrays mental health not in an academic way, but a journalistic or more artistic fashion.” Past award recipients include the Boston Globe Spotlight Team (2017) and NPR’s Hidden Brain (2018).

“I want to deflect attention to Stephen Garrett who worked extremely hard, to Kelsey and Alexa, and to the events themselves,” McDonough said. “Everyone should know this story.”

Halloween Events

Monteagle Halloween Parade

There will be a Halloween Parade in Monteagle, at noon, Saturday, Oct. 26. The parade will lineup at the Monteagle Elementary School parking lot. The parade will end at Harton Park. Everyone is invited to set up a table to hand out candy at the park, or participate in a Trunk and Treat at the school. This event is hosted by the Monteagle Police and Fire Departments.

New Beginnings Church

New Beginnings Church is hosting City on a Hill: Trunk or Treat. The event will be at 6 p.m., Friday, Oct. 25, at 841 W. Main St., Monteagle. There will be fun activities for kids of all ages, plus candy and prizes.

Sewanee Elementary

Sewanee Elementary will have its annual Reverse Parade on Tuesday, Oct. 29. The Dance party in the gym begins at 6 p.m., with parade starting at 7 p.m.

St. James Midway Community Park

Everyone is invited to come out and join St. James Midway Community Park for their annual Trunk or Treat, 5–6:30 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 31. If you are handing out candy we ask that you please park in the grass area with others handing out candy.

Tims Ford

On Oct. 25, Tims Ford will be hosting a Trunk or Treat and Haunted Hike at the Devil's Step boat ramp and Fairview Campground, located at 129 Fairview Campground Rd. The boat ramp will be closed to all boat traffic on Oct. 25. The Trunk or Treat will begin at 5:30 p.m. We will have agency trunks in the Boat Ramp parking lot, and the trunk or treat will continue into the day use area of the campground.

After the day use area, trunk or treaters can continue into the campground to trick-or-treat at campsites. Participating campers will be given an orange glow stick to hang from their site marker, much like in typical trick-or-treating you look for a house with the porch light on. Participation in the Trunk or Treat is free.

Beginning at 6:45 p.m., we will be operating a haunted trail on Devil's Step Island. We will take 20 people per hike, shuttle them by boat to the island where they will have a guided haunted hike, then shuttle them back to shore. Cost for the Haunted Hike is $5 per person, kids under 10 are $2.50. Tickets may be purchased the day of the event on site, and may be purchased for any specific time slot as the shuttles will be leaving every 15 minutes. The hike is expected to last from 20-30 minutes and is rated PG-13.

Tracy City

Tracy City will host a Tricks and Treats Halloween Bash from 4–7 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 31, at the downtown Tracy City Mini-Park. There will be free activities, hot dogs, drinks, games and hayrides.

Community Council Election, District 4

The Sewanee Community Council is holding a special election to fill a District 4 vacant seat. Candidates Mary Priestley and Paul Schutz are running for a term ending December 2022. Voting continues through Friday, Oct. 25, during business hours at the Office of Leases and Community Relations, 400 University Ave. (the Blue House).

Only District 4 residents can vote. To determine your district, check with the Lease Office or visit <<http://www.sewanee.edu/offices/leases/community-council/>>.

TVA Plans Power Outage for Sewanee Area

The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) has scheduled a four-hour planned power outage for DREMC members living in the Sewanee area on Saturday, Oct. 19.

The outage is scheduled from 5 a.m. until approximately 9 a.m. and is necessary for TVA to replace a bad pole. Six of seven bad poles have been changed while energized, but this last pole changeout is too dangerous to complete without de-energizing. These TVA poles support electric transmission lines that serve the Sewanee substation.

This outage will affect approximately 1,600 Duck River EMC consumer-members served out of the Sewanee substation. All members that live along University Avenue, Sewanee Highway, Jump Off Road, Sherwood Road, Midway Road, St. Andrew's-Sewanee, and the surrounding areas will be impacted by this scheduled outage.

Duck River Electric appreciates the cooperation and understanding of its members during this TVA-scheduled outage. In the event of inclement weather, such as a severe thunderstorm, the outage will be rescheduled for a date TBD.

A Week of Kundalini Yoga Sadhana

Kundalini Yoga Sadhana (yoga and meditation in the Kundalini tradition as taught by Yogi Bhajan) will be held each morning starting Monday, Oct. 21 until Friday, Oct. 25, 5-7:30 a.m., at the Sewanee Community Center.

This event is free, open to all and suited to all levels of practice and yoga experience. Participants may attend for the whole week, part of the week or just one morning.

Please direct any questions or concerns to Pippa Browne <pip-pabrowne@hotmail.com>.

All Saints’ Chapel

The Catechumenate will resume on Wednesday, Oct. 23 at 7 p.m.

On Sunday, Oct. 20, we will only celebrate the Eucharist at 8 a.m. Morning and Evening Prayer will also be suspended beginning Thursday morning, Oct. 17, and will resume Monday, Oct. 22.

Morton Memorial UMC

It is hard to imagine the great adventure and tremendous challenge faced by a tribe of stateless people, wandering in the desert since the day they had been liberated, having endured 400 years of cruel oppression. Pastor Jodi McCullah will offer a message based on part of their story, Deuteronomy 26:1-11. The scripture reading relates the time, at journey’s end, when they are poised to enter the Promised Land at last. But first, they receive an invitation to worship the God who freed them, protected them, and would continue to provide for them. The invitation they hear is to take part in organized worship. Jodi will explore why that was critical to the Israelites and is still vital to people on a 21st century spiritual journey.

Morton Memorial UMC is coordinating the second annual Coat Drive. Church members and others on the Plateau are urged to donate gently used coats, vests, or sweaters for a child or adult. Donation boxes can be found, through Friday, Nov. 8, in four locations—the lobbies of Regions Bank in Sewanee and Tower Community Bank in Monteagle during regular business hours; the Fowler Center at the University of the South; and the Fellowship Center of Morton Memorial. Items will be made available for families on Saturday, Nov. 9, in the Fellowship Center. If you have questions, contact Karen Noffsinger at (931) 636-8474.

Otey Parish

This Sunday, Youth meet at 9:45 a.m. in the Hethcock Room in Claiborne Hall for Sunday Service Hour. Infants 6 weeks to children 4 years old are invited to the nursery beginning at 8:30 a.m. There will be nursery for both services and the Sunday School Hour. Children ages 3-11 are invited to join us in the Godly Play 2 room Claiborne Parish House.

Adult Forum—“Stewardship Sunday” with the Stewardship Committee.

Parents Involved in Faith Formation: John Simpson and Otey Parish are offering a class this fall on how we as adults shape and model the kind of faith that our children will carry into adulthood. The class will include reflection, mutual support, education, and exchanging ideas. No books to read, and the only weekly assignment will be to reflect on some part of your own faith formation that was especially important.

We’ll meet in October and November in the St. Paul’s-on-the-Mountain, down the hall from Godly Play.

St. James Book Discussion

St. James will continue its book-discussion of “Learning to Walk in the Dark” by Barbara Brown Taylor. The series will meet each Wednesday through Oct. 30.

Each session will begin with a 5:30 p.m. Evening Prayer in the St. James sanctuary, followed at 6 p.m. by a simple meal of casserole, salad and bread in the Parish Hall.

The discussion will be from 6:30–7:30 p.m., also in the Parish Hall.

St. Agnes’ in Cowan

St. Agnes’ Episcopal Church in Cowan will welcome a pastoral visit from the Bishop of Tennessee on Sunday, Oct. 27. Bishop John Bauerschmidt will lead the 11 a.m. service where he will recognize the 120th anniversary of St. Agnes’ Church and the 125th year of Episcopal ministry in Cowan. Lunch will be served in the parish hall. The Bishop of Tennessee oversees 48 congregations in Middle Tennessee and serves a leading role among the educational institutions on Sewanee Mountain. St. Agnes’ is located in Cowan at 105 East England St. (behind Fiesta Grill). For more information log on to <www.saintagnescowan.org>.

Unitarian Universalist

The Unitarian Universalist Church of Tullahoma’s speaker this Sunday will be Carrie Hawk on “Frida Kahlo: Mexican Artist and Inspiration.” The service begins Sunday at 10 a.m., followed by refreshments and a discussion period. The church is located at 3536 New Manchester Hwy., Tullahoma. For more information call (931) 455-8626, or go to <www.tullahomauu.org>.

Wings of Hope

The Wings of Hope Widows Ministry will meet for a Harvest

Feast at noon, Monday, Oct. 21, at the Oaklawn Baptist Church in Winchester. Please bring a side dish to go with turkey and dressing. For more information go to <www.WingsofHopeWidowsMinistry.com>.

Religion and Civil War Workshop

The Community of St. Mary will offer a workshop titled “Religion and the Civil War” on Saturday, Nov. 9, at the Convent. The workshop will explore how American Christianity inspired the abolitionist cause in the North, was used by Southerners to defend their peculiar institution, and advised common soldiers, generals, and the President of the United States. The day will begin with registration at 9 a.m. followed by the first session titled “Ordained by God: The Bible and Slavery.” The second session is called “With God on Our Side: Christianity and the Civil War Soldiers.” Attendees will join the Sisters for Noonday Prayer followed by lunch and the third session of the workshop, “To Be on God’s Side: Abraham Lincoln’s Christian Journey.” Each session will conclude with time for questions and answers from workshop participants. The day will conclude at 2:45 p.m.

Register for the workshop online <https://www.stmary-conventsewanee.org>. The cost of the workshop is $50 and includes lunch. Registration will close on Nov. 3. For more information contact <sisterhoodofstmary@gmail.com> or call (931) 598-0046.

Pursuant to expanding the 15-minute film to fit the standard broadcast length format, the Mine 21 team has interviewed labor historians, community trauma researchers, and mine safety experts. "A 25-minute version is done except for final edits," McDonough said. "We need to power through the unfun stuff such as color correction and sound design."

He is undecided about whether to go to PBS with the final version or to release the film at festivals. Watching a film in a group experience is different, McDonough said.

"The new cut asks harder questions about government regulations, how we heal from community trauma, and how we hold the government responsible if they don't do their job. An individual asking those questions feels overwhelmed by them, but in a group people wonder, 'Are you thinking what I'm thinking?' This is a story that should make people feel energized, not stuck. There are things to do in commemoration of those lives. We remember in order to become better."

In the film, Arbuckle interviews her grandmother Barbara Myers whose husband was killed in the explosion. The segment illustrates McDonough's point.

"When the tragedy happened, Barbara Myers went to the highest level of government to get things addressed. Her actions were heroic and deeply American. She wasn't looking for new laws, just to get the old ones enforced."

McDonough, Garrett, along with Arbuckle and Fults and their families will attend the Nov. 1 awards ceremony in Stockbridge, Mass. Fults, now a junior, is majoring in politics. Arbuckle is pursuing a master's degree in public policy at American University in Washington, D.C.

tinued research and less invasive surgeries that have been developed as a result of contributions to research by the American Cancer Society," she said.

The Relay for Life is scheduled from 4–8 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 26, on Hardee-McGee Field at Harris Stadium, Sewanee.

"This year we have really tried to emphasize the communal aspect of Relay as all of the money that we raise stays in Franklin, Marion, and Grundy counties. Students at The University are only here for 4 years, but we want this event to reach far beyond campus organizations and into the lives of the people who live on and around the mountain long-term," Sweetin said.

Nick's Pizza & Pasta Open

by Bailey Basham
Messenger Staff Writer

If you'd asked Nick Nickelson last fall what he would be doing in a year, opening a pizza joint in downtown Cowan, Tenn., would probably have been the last thing on his mind.

Originally from Murfreesboro, Nickelson and his wife moved to Tullahoma about two years ago. They weren't looking for any new business ventures, but when they saw the old Sernicola's building sitting vacant, the wheels started turning.

In August of this year, Nickelson and his wife opened Nick's Pizza & Pasta.

"We truly feel that the Lord led us to where we are now," he said. "This is the Lord's plan. I was not looking for a restaurant or for work in cooking, but when I walked in the building, and I just knew. It was a hard road to get to it, but it seemed like the Lord opened the doors for us to be able to make this work."

Nick's Pizza & Pasta is open from noon to 8 p.m., Thursday through Saturday. Nickelson said it is his hope that in the coming months, he and his staff are able to be open five days a week.

The restaurant offers a pizza bar as well as pasta and salads.

"We're hoping to be able to give everybody a chance to be able to have a quality meal at a fair price and a space where everybody feels like family," he said. "Anything that we can do beyond that to help the community, we're going to do it."

Nick's Pizza & Pasta is located at 106 Tennessee Ave., Cowan. For more information, call (931) 313-5907 or visit their Facebook page.

Homecoming Events Celebrate 50 Years of Women at Sewanee

In the late 1960s, the University of the South faced a perfect storm of circumstances that prompted a once-and-for-all decision that had been decades in the making. The College's application pools had been growing smaller, so the idea of admitting women was taken up during a 1968 Board of Trustees meeting. Dodging some attempts to delay the discussion, the board successfully passed a resolution to allow women.

When the University of the South first admitted women as fulltime first-year undergraduate students, Judith Ward Lineback was the first to matriculate. She was one of the first women to enter Sewanee in fall 1969, beginning sweeping changes in the College and the community.

The arrival of the first wave of female undergraduates was met with a fair share of pettiness—in the form of editorials in the Purple—but for the most part, women in that first class of 82 female freshmen and 23 female transfer students report that matriculation was relatively trouble-free. Among the more trivial grumblings of returning male students were that women were ruining the tradition of Sewanee's all-male choir and were wearing pants in the dining hall. But women students found ways to make lemonade out of the lemons—and while the infrastructure might have needed some work to catch up with the times, the women hit the ground running.

In 1973, Sewanee had its first female valedictorian (in the first year of their eligibility), and by 1984, women outnumbered men on campus. Sewanee women haven't looked back since. They have claimed six Rhodes Scholarships and countless other academic achievements and campus leadership positions. Academics, athletics, and residential life have all been positively affected by women's arrival on the Mountain.

The School of Theology admitted its first woman into the M.Div. program in September 1971 and she graduated in May 1974. In 1973–74, two women were admitted and in 1974–75, five were admitted. This year The Episcopal Church celebrates 45 years of women being ordained.

While the University is observing the anniversary all year with concerts, plays, and lectures, Homecoming 2019 (Oct. 31–Nov. 3) gives the University an opportunity to celebrate “50 Years of Women at Sewanee” with returning alumnae. Activities have been added to the weekend schedule to recognize the occasion. The community is welcome to attend the presentations, panel discussions, and other events listed:

Thursday, Oct. 31

5 p.m. “Women in Music” talk by Kerry Ginger, professor of voice. Come hear about the role of female characters in opera's standard repertory and contemplate why their stories often culminate in death. Featuring the music of Zaubersflöte, Bohème, Carmen, Salome, and Tosca. Ralston Listening Room, duPont library.

Judith Ward Lineback matriculating in 1969

Friday, Nov. 1

8 a.m. Dedication of a plaque honoring 50 Years of Coeducation at Sewanee. Walsh-Ellett patio in the Quad.

9–10:30 a.m. Coffee and Career Conversations with alumnae and current students. An opportunity to talk with other alumnae in your career field and share stories/strategies of finding your place with today's students. Students can network and learn from graduates about career paths and helpful tips for life after Sewanee. Sponsored by the Career Center. Convocation Hall.

10:45 a.m. The Office of Civic Engagement hosts a celebration of alumnae and students dedicated to service. Come take a gallery walk of posters where students will describe their projects of community engagement and hear from alumnae (onsite and via video) and current students about their work to make the world a better place. Hear how a Sewanee education has prepared alumnae to have a heart of service. Convocation Hall.

11:30 a.m. Screening of “Mine 21,” an award-winning short documentary about a deadly coal-mine explosion that took place in Whitwell, Tennessee, in 1981. The film follows Kelsey Arbuckle, C'19, and Alexa Fults, C'21, both from Grundy County and students at Sewanee at the time of filming, as they find out more about this event. The disaster took the lives of 13 miners. The effect in Marion and Grundy counties was tragic. The documentary is directed by Sewanee alumnus Stephen Garrett and produced by Professor Chris McDonough.

2:15–3:30 p.m. Sewanee Women Then and Now. Bairnwick Women's Center hosts a panel of current students and alumnae who will offer their thoughts and experiences on what it has been like to be a woman at Sewanee, then and now. Mary Sue Cushman Room, the Women's Center.

3:30 p.m. The Road to the Rhodes and Beyond with alumnae Rhodes Scholars: Ramona Doyle, C'81, Jennifer Michael, C'89, Anne Jones, C'98, and Katharine Wilkinson, C'05. Moderated by Ellen Goldey, C'85, vice president for academic affairs at Centre College, Torian Room, duPont Library.

4:30 p.m. All Saints' Day service. Rt. Rev. Kathryn “Kai” McCrossen Ryan, C'86, recently ordained as 11th bishop suffragan of the Diocese of Texas, will preach. All Saints' Chapel.

8 p.m. 50 Years of Women Concert featuring Grammy-winning artist Amanda Shires, L'17. Guerry Auditorium. An American singer-songwriter and fiddle player, Shires has released six acclaimed solo albums, her most recent To The Sunset in 2018. For alumni, homecoming nametags serve as tickets. Community members should contact <alumni@sewanee.edu> for concert ticket information.

Saturday, Nov. 2

9:30 a.m. Celebrating 50 Years of Women: The Evolution of Support and Wellness, panel discussion. Gailor Auditorium.

10 a.m.–noon Ninth Annual Campus Gallery Walk with performances at each location. Diedrick Brackens' “Allegiance,” University Art Gallery. “Skirts and Gowns,” the history and legacy of women at Sewanee, Museum Gallery, Archives and Special Collections. Alumnae Arts Showcase, Spencer Commons. Mary Stuart Hall's video and sound installation Sympathetic Dissonance, Carlos Gallery of the Nabit Art Building.

11 a.m. Women of the Decades panel moderated by Professor Virginia Craighill, C'82. Reflections from alumnae throughout the years. Panelists include Genye Hawkins, C'74, Mary Hance, C'75, Rose Mary Drake, C'80, Jess Baumhauer Hill, C'81, Ellen Goldey, C'85, Kate Belknap-Burchak, C'83, Charlotte Thomas Riddle, C'91, Rosilyn Rayborn, C'04, La'Toya Slay, C'11, Britany Macon, C'14, and Bronte Goodhue, C'15. Hear the history of women at Sewanee from those who lived it. Gailor Auditorium.

Buntin to Lecture on Lessons in Entrepreneurship, Oct. 23

Frazer Buntin, C'97, a divisional president at Evolent Health, will be the Babson Center's Humphreys Entrepreneur-in-Residence for the 2019 Advent semester. He will share his professional experiences from logistics planner at Dollar General to CEO roles in the digital health industry.

While on campus, Buntin will be a guest lecturer for a business ethics class and business seminar and will deliver a campus presentation, "The Journey from Toilet Paper Buyer to CEO: Lessons in Entrepreneurship," at 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 23, in the Torian Room at duPont Library. All are welcome.

At Sewanee, Buntin was a natural resources major, yet it was an industrial psychology class that had the biggest impact on him. Learning about human behavior as it relates to the workplace, particularly focusing on efficiency, leadership, and professional growth, was the spark for his entrepreneurial development. Buntin said that his time at Sewanee prepared him for a future career by giving him the skills "to analyze a situation, be accountable for my actions, speak my mind with logic and preparation, interact with different types of people, and build a network."

After a brief adventure in New Zealand, Buntin used those skills to land a job at Dollar General where he quickly rose from an entry level position as a logistics planner to an associate buyer (of toilet paper) to a departmental director. Always looking for the next challenge, Buntin completed an M.B.A. program at the Owen School of Management at Vanderbilt University and made a career shift to the health care industry where he created a remarkable career with CEO roles in several companies.

Currently, Buntin is President of Value-Based Services at Evolent Health, a provider of software and consulting services for healthcare providers. The goal of the company is to improve the quality of patient care while cutting medical costs through long-term partnerships with providers and health plans. With health care costs continuing to outpace economic growth and stress the economy, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services predicts that $6 trillion dollars will be spent a year on healthcare by 2027 and make up 40 percent of the federal budget by 2025. Evolent believes that sorting through the data to see which healthcare processes work best will create a more efficient healthcare business for our economy and result in better patient outcomes, financially and clinically.

In addition to his work as an executive, Buntin gives empowering presentations to leadership teams on practical tactics and concepts for professional development. Taking a humorous approach to his experiences, Buntin offers guidance on everything from efficiency in the workplace to career and personal growth strategies.

At Sewanee, Buntin will share his insights with students and classes on career development and reveal how entrepreneurship can relate to everyone. This visit is co-sponsored by the Babson Center for Global Commerce and the Office of Medical and Health Programs. The Humphreys Entrepreneur-in-Residence program is made possible by a generous gift from Debra and David Humphreys, C'79.

For more information about the Babson Center for Global Commerce, please visit <<https://business.sewanee.edu>>.

Zen Buddhism Workshop at St. Mary's Sewanee

St. Mary's Sewanee: The Ayres Center for Spiritual Development is pleased to announce a new one-day workshop, "The Ten Oxherding Pictures," on Saturday, Nov. 16. The workshop will begin at 9 a.m., and includes lunch.

"The Ten Oxherding Pictures" is a way of exploring the Zen training path to enlightenment. In this day-long workshop led by Richard Dubé, participants will explore the history and meaning of this ancient tradition. The sketches are an examination of one's Buddha nature and ego, and how those evolve as people approach enlightenment. Ultimately, Dubé says, the workshop is about uncovering the real person who resides beneath the false self.

As part of this journey of self-discovery, participants will explore a greater understanding of the trinity of self (physical, intellectual and spiritual); the three commitments (doing no harm to yourself and others, engaging in compassionate acts everywhere and accepting the world as it unfolds); what enlightenment looks and feels like; and the practice of Zazen meditation.

For more information about this event, including making reservations, call St. Mary's Sewanee at (931) 598-5342, email <reservations@stmaryssewanee.org>, or go online to <www.stmaryssewanee.org>.

'Immigration and Christian Responsibility'

The Rev. Nancy Frausto, associate rector at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Long Beach, California, will give a public lecture titled "Immigration and Christian Responsibility." Frausto stands at the forefront of The Episcopal Church's ministry to Hispanic and Latino/a communities. She is a founding member of the Diocese of Los Angeles Sanctuary Task Force and a Dreamer (DACA recipient). Her presentation will bring together her personal story, the state of immigration in our country, and our responsibility and action as members of the broader Christian community. Her story illustrates many of the dynamics at play in The Episcopal Church's continued engagement with the changing demographics both in our nation and its parishes. The lecture will take place on Wednesday, Oct. 30, at 7 p.m. in Hamilton Hall's Hargrove Auditorium. All are invited to attend.

Georgescu-Roegen Lecture

Arun Malik, professor of economics at the George Washington University, will present the Georgescu-Roegen Lecture. He will speak on "Controlling Traffic Congestion and Air Pollution in Developing Countries: Policies and Pitfalls." The lecture will be at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 24, in Gailor Auditorium.

New Sewing Group

A new sewing group is forming to make items for the annual Christmas Bazaar at the Sewanee Senior Center. All ages and skill levels are welcome and all sewing materials will be provided.

Please bring your creativity and ideas and join in a fun group endeavor.

The sewing group will meet for three Fridays, Oct. 18, Nov. 1, and Nov. 15, from 2–4 p.m., at the Sewanee Senior Center, 5 Ball Park Rd. For more information call 931 598 0771.

'The Long Civil Rights Movement'

Professor and author David Frank will speak on "The Long Civil Rights Movement." The event will be at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 24, in the Torian Room of duPont Library. The lecture will be followed by a book signing with light refreshments.

Book Sale at Thurmond

Thurmond Memorial Library will have a Book Sale from 8 a.m.–6 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 2.

Volunteers are needed to help set up and receive donations between 10 a.m.–2 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 30–Friday, Nov. 1.

Thurmond Memorial Library has been providing books to the community since 1887. The library is located at Otey Memorial Parish Hall. To volunteer at the library, email Trudy Cunningham at <tcunning@sewanee.edu>.

International recording artists, Nate and Quinn Williams, brought their Beautiful U Tour to Sewanee Elementary and performed a concert for students. The duo provided musical entertainment as well as touching on issues like bullying, the importance of healthy nutrition, and character education. The concert was sponsored by Coordinated School Health, School Nutrition, and Prevention Coalition. Fuel Up to Play 60, a national health and wellness program founded by the NFL, has awarded SES a grant. The $2,000 will be used to make upgrades to the school playground and also purchase a mobile cart that will be used for Breakfast in the Classroom.

Young Writer Showcase on Oct. 22

Do you know kids who've been bitten by the creative writing bug? Send them to Sewanee Spoken Word, which is hosting Youth Night at 7 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 22, at the Blue Chair Cafe.

The free event will feature short performances by elementary, middle and high school students. It's open to a wide range of genres, including poetry, song, drama, fiction, essay, and memoir. Participants are also welcome to read the work of other writers. To reserve a slot, email co-hosts Naomi Buck Palagi <naomib@yahoo.com> or Brooks Egerton <brooksegerton@yahoo.com>.

Tigers Don't Leave Tracks! at Sewanee Elementary

Tigers Don't Leave Tracks!—a program aimed at educating students about sustainability and helping them reduce their use of single-use plastics, continues at Sewanee Elementary.

The Piggly Wiggly is hosting a draw in support of the project. When you bring your own bags to The Pig, write the name of a teacher or a class on the back of your receipt (grade 2, Mrs. Camp's class, Principal's Choice, etc.) and put it in the Tigers Don't Leave Tracks! jar at the front of the store. Those receipts will be collected periodically and entered in prize draws. The winning classes will receive tools for making sustainable habits easier—sturdy Klean Kanteen water bottles or LunchSkins Reusable Sandwich Bags for everyone.

Local businesses also support Tigers Don't Leave Tracks! Mooney's, the Lemon Fair, Village Wine and Spirits, the Sewanee Market, the Piggly Wiggly, and Joseph's Remodeling Solutions have offered their support to the Tigers Don't Leave Tracks! Reusable Bag project, making donations when you use reusable bags in local stores, and by making possible our student prizes. Please thank them for their support, and bring your reusable bags when you shop.

Collect Box Tops to Help Sewanee Elementary

There is an easy way to support Sewanee Elementary School. Take a few minutes and clip the "Box Tops for Education" from many of the groceries you already buy at the store. You can drop the box tops off at SES or in the box in the entry area of the Sewanee Post Office.

There is a complete list of participating items online at <www.boxtops4education.com/products/participating-products>. For more information visit <www.btfe.com>.

Eventually the Box Tops program will become digital-only. Participating brands are starting to change their packaging from a traditional Box Tops clip to the new Box Top label.

If you see this label, use the new Box Tops app to scan your receipt. Box Tops are still worth 10 cents each for your school. The app will find participating products purchased at any store and instantly add cash to your school's earnings online.

No more clipping. No more sending Box Tops to school. All you need is your phone.

Download the ALL-NEW Box Tops app, shop as you normally would, then simply scan your store receipts within 14 days of purchase to find participating products. The app will automatically credit your school's Box Tops earnings online.

SSO Halloween Concerts

The Sewanee Symphony Orchestra will perform two free concerts on Thursday, Oct. 31, under the direction of their new leader, Visiting Assistant Professor, Mathew L. Ward. The orchestra will perform at 11 a.m. to an audience of school-aged children in a kid-friendly presentation of some spooky classics. The SSO will perform again on Oct. 31, at 7:30 p.m., on the Guerry Auditorium Stage.

'Faces of Sewanee' Open Through May 2020

The Department of Art, Art History and Visual Studies and the duPont Library at University of the South are pleased to present "Faces of Sewanee," a group exhibition of portraits by student artists from the Topics in Contemporary Painting class, under the guidance of Professor Jessica Wohl.

Featuring the work of students in ART 291: Topics in Contemporary Painting, "Faces of Sewanee" will open on Tuesday, Oct. 29, with a reception at 5 p.m. in the Torian Room of the Jessie Ball duPont Library. "Faces of Sewanee" gives Sewanee students a chance to actively engage in the conversation about representation on campus, particularly with regards to tradition, history, legacy and story-telling as understood through portraiture. In considering who they want to represent on the walls of the institution, students selected 18 individuals from a wide variety of social identity groups to celebrate through the painted portrait.

The paintings, which are displayed near eye-level in the student learning commons, compliment the portraits of the institution's Vice Chancellors that currently hang in that space. By displaying these works alongside those of the Vice Chancellors, students, faculty, staff and alumni will be equitably represented, through the painted image, as significant contributors to our campus community.

"This exhibit allows members of our community, some for the first time, to see themselves, or someone like them, on the walls of our institution. The project is part of an important conversation institutions are having nationwide regarding who has been worthy of reverie and representation in the past, and who is worthy of representation in the present and the future. In this exhibition, the portraits celebrate all of us," Wohl said.

At the opening of the exhibition, Wohl will address the origins of the project and outline how this exhibition correlates to broader contexts and conversations about culture and representation in our country. Following this introduction, the student artists will briefly present on each of the portraits they painted, outlining their own stories, those of their subject and the inspiration for the people they choose to portray. For more information, contact Wohl at <jewohl@sewanee.edu>.

University Gallery Walk Nov. 2

The University of the South will host its ninth annual Campus Gallery Walk on Saturday, Nov. 2, from 10 a.m. to noon. Come and experience "Allegiance" in the University Art Gallery, award-winning artist Diedrick Brackens' allusive and thoughtful exploration of identity and symbols in woven cotton tapestries. Consider landscape as a place and as an idea, in Mary Stuart Hall's two-channel video and sound installation "Sympathetic Dissonance" in the Carlos Gallery of the Nabit Art Building. Celebrate the legacy of women at Sewanee with "Skirts and Gowns" in the Museum Gallery, William R. Laurie Archives and Special Collections, curated by Introduction to Museum Studies students, Easter 2019 and catch up with the accomplishments of classmates at the Alumnae Arts Showcase in Spencer Commons. Receptions crafted by Sewanee Dining will respond to the exhibitions, and dance and musical performances inspired by the exhibitions will take place in multiple locations on campus. The event is free and open to the public.

'Nature's Peace' on Display at FC Library

Beersheba Springs resident, Nancy Gaye Woodlee will have her leaf art also known as Nature's Peace on display at the Franklin County Library now through Dec. 3.

Born and raised in rural Irving College, Tenn., Woodlee has studied and worked in several urban areas, including Chattanooga, Nashville and Buffalo, N.Y. It was there in western New York where she studied commercial art.

After working for over three decades in city settings as a graphic artist, she has returned to her rural roots. She may now be found strolling the beautiful countryside of Beersheba Springs, searching for her next great leaf.

Woodlee specializes in forms, shapes, textures and colors that interpret and celebrate the sacred, peaceful aspects of nature.

The Franklin County Library is located at 105 S. Porter Street in Winchester. The library is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday to Friday and from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays. For more information, call (931) 967-3706.

Parental Discretion Advised?

We celebrated National Banned Book Week at the end of September, though “celebrated” is perhaps not the most appropriate term. I confess I don’t really grasp the concept of banning books now that most people walk around with the internet in their back pocket. It’s not like whatever was objectionable can’t just be pulled up online.

Nevertheless, the prevalence of banning books continues frequently enough that we take a week to remind ourselves that it happens.

And this happens to the oddest choices and for the oddest reasons. It’s maybe a no-brainer that someone’s going to ban Harry Potter: J.K. Rowling is obviously promoting witchcraft, right? But the picture book my granddaughter adores, “Brown Bear, Brown Bear, What Do You See?” as well as being charming, it taught her the useful skill of growling like a bear, which served her well on a recent trip to the Smokies when she saw a live one. But one state confused its author with an obscure Marxist, so out it went. “Charlotte’s Web” was banned elsewhere because talking animals are clearly the work of the devil, and Shakespeare’s comedy, “Twelfth Night,” because it promotes cross-dressing.

Then there’s the dictionary, which contains vulgar and even obscene words: not allowed.

The list goes on. And on.

If I believed in banning books—which I don’t—I could find likelier targets. Any do-it-yourself manual that claims its projects can be finished in a single weekend. Diet books which rest on questionable research. And any self-help book that guarantees happiness.

I almost included a series by young adult author Scott Westerfeld. In his dystopian future described in “Uglies” and its sequel, “Pretties,” teens long for their 16th birthday, when they will be surgically transformed from being an “ugly” to a “pretty,” and get to move to a perfect city where they’ll spend their next years partying with perfectly-beautiful others.

I get it that Westerfeld is commenting on our culture’s sick obsession with appearance. What bothers me is that his descriptions of the “uglies” seem to read like everything our culture tries to diet, sculpt, and Photoshop out of existence. “Uglies” are too fat or too skinny, have hair that’s too frizzy, skin that’s not flawlessly smooth. The “pretties” emerge with Barbie-doll bodies. Not only are faces rebuilt to have model-perfect high cheekbones, eyes re-done to be large and appealing, but bodies have baby fat sucked away. To maintain the look, pills are handed out to zap those threatening calories.

Why, I wonder, couldn’t Westerfeld have flipped his descriptions somehow, or even blurred them, rather than confirming any teen’s worst fears that his/her body shape and size or skin and hair texture qualifies him/her as an “ugly?” Why couldn’t the cover art of “Pretties” not portray a face taken straight from any fashion magazine? Why, one young woman asked me, is male Westerfeld defining female “beauty” at all?

What’s the take-away? One wishes it’s Westerfeld’s underlying point—question society’s obsession with superficial appearance. But the only thing another reader remembered was the need for those calorie-zapping pills, hardly a message I’d want a teen in process of growing an adult body to obsess over.

Nonetheless, I wouldn’t ban Westerfeld’s books, or any other. Instead, I’d encourage parents and other adults to read alongside their teens, puzzle through the text together, and discuss what’s troublesome.

Because that’s what books can do: provoke thought. Provoke questioning. Prompt re-examination of our values. Especially when not read in isolation. Books can forge new bonds.

And that’s worth celebrating.

‘The Prophetess’ on Oct. 24

On Thursday, Oct. 24, Courtney World, University assistant professor of dance, will host a yoga workshop in Guerry Auditorium, titled “The Prophetess.”

“The Prophetess” will take you on a musical journey into the afterlife...and beyond. Enjoy our comfortable yoga mats in Guerry Auditorium as we explore fear, desire, love, joy, pain and passion through music and dance. All are welcome, and the event is free to attend. Come prepared for a spiritual adventure! The event will be held from 6–7 p.m. For more information, contact World at <coworld@sewanee.edu>.

St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School presents a family comedy “Babka Without Borders,” Nov. 1–3 at McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts.

SAS Players Present ‘Babka Without Borders’

The weekend of Nov. 1–3, the SAS Players will present “Babka Without Borders” on the stage of McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts on the St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School campus. The family-friendly play is a hysterical, fast-paced farce that’s loaded with physical humor.

The Harmony Café at the center of “Babka Without Borders” could be any quaint eastern European bistro if it weren’t for one thing — an international border runs smack dab through the middle of it. Luckily, the café serves the world’s best babka, but trouble is brewing and babka turns out to be an excellent projectile. This tale of love, espionage and the best babka east of the Danube goes to show there are no boundaries for good taste.

The cast of Babka Without Borders includes more than a dozen SAS middle and upper school students with support from another five students in the school’s Theatre Design and Tech course. It is the first SAS production under the direction of Chelsea Padro, who joined the faculty this fall. In addition to her position at SAS, Padro is Acting Teacher/Director at Admiral Theatre Summer Camp in Bremerton, Wash.

Performances will be Friday, Nov. 1 and Saturday, Nov. 2 at 7 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 3 at 4 p.m. Tickets are $5 for children, $10 for adults and free for SAS students and staff. They may be reserved online at <https://www.sasweb.org> or purchased on the evening of the performance. Doors open 15 minutes before the show. Seating is open. Reservations are non-refundable.

Sewanee Swimming and Diving Teams Open 2019-20 Season with Sweep of Life

The Sewanee swimming and diving teams recorded wins over the weekend in their opening meet of the 2019-20 season over NAIA opponent Life University. Of the 32 events between the men's and women's teams, Sewanee claimed wins in half of the events.

Anthony Carbone won three events for Sewanee: the 100-yard free (49.26), the 200-yard free (1:51.07) and the 200 individual medley (2:02.40).

James Hoyt captured two victories, winning the 500 freestyle (5:03.17) and the 1,000 free (10:45.78).

Freshman Daniel Shrader earned two victories at his first collegiate dual meet. The Dandridge, Tenn. native swam the 50 breaststroke in 30.51 seconds and sprinted to a 23.39-second time in the 50 free.

The quartet of Carbone, Hoyt, Sharder and Owen Pearson posted a winning time of 1:31.96 in the 200 free relay.

Gabby Acker won two events on Saturday. The Memphis, Tenn. native posted a 33.15-second time in the 50 breaststroke, and later, in the 100, she opened the season with a 1:10.87 mark. The sophomore was an All-SAA First Team selection in the 100 and 200 breaststroke last season.

Kate Mabry swam to a 1:01.87 mark in the 100 butterfly and 1:00.87 in the 100 backstroke to claim wins in both events.

Lucy Rudman swam a 12:09.43 in the 1,000 freestyle to earn the victory in the event.

The Tigers will open the home schedule by hosting the Sewanee Invitational on Oct. 25-26.

SAS rider Libby Neubauer placed second in JV girls competition.

Mountain Biking Race 3 News

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee mountain biking team competed during the weekend of Oct. 5-6 in the third race of the Tennessee High School Cycling League season. The race was held at Shelby Farms Park in Memphis, with more than 300 middle school and high school athletes competing. Seventeen SAS varsity riders and seven middle school riders raced on the flat and fast course covering distances from eight to 20 miles.

In the girls' races, top 10 finishes were earned by Libby Neubauer (second, JV girls), Luciana Mollica (eighth, JV girls), Madeline Sumpter (fifth, ninth grade girls), and Caroline Neubauer (seventh, sixth grade girls). In middle school boys' races, William Schrader finished in seventh place, while first-time racers Eli McLean and Eli McLaurin worked hard to complete their laps in the sixth grade category. Jack Hale, Cameron Crawford, and Elliott Benson rounded out the middle school riders for SAS, with Benson earning a top 20 (17th place) finish out of almost 50 riders in the eighth grade boys' category.

Five SAS riders raced in the competitive boys' JV category, with junior Evan Fox completing all four laps to finish in 13th place. Eli Thompson had his best race of the season as he finished 10th out of 44 racers in the sophomore boys' category. Freshman AJ Clements set a fast pace and achieved his goal of breaking into the top three with a third place finish. Caleb Palmertree also achieved a personal best for the season with his 10th place finish in the freshman boys' category.

All SAS riders are showing improvements in fitness and skills as the season progresses. The team is looking forward to competing in the next race during the weekend of Oct. 19-20 at Panther Creek Park in Morristown, Tenn. Look ahead and mark your calendars to come out and support our mountain biking team at the league championship race which will be held on SAS trails during the weekend of Nov. 2-3.

The SAS varsity and middle school mountain biking program is led by head coach Speed Baranco and assistant coaches Beth Pride Ford and Michael Short, with valuable assistance from volunteers Jill Mollica, Barbara Fox, Sian Baranco, Steve Holt, Alex Durant, Matt Schrader, John Fox, Alex Neubauer, and Pete Mollica. The team and coaches are also grateful for continued support from our SAS middle school and upper school families.

Women's Soccer Cruises to Senior Day Win Over Hendrix

The Sewanee women's soccer team scored early and often on Senior Day to blank the Warriors of Hendrix College, 4-0, Sunday afternoon from Puett Field.

Prior to the match on Sunday, the Tigers recognized its lone senior, Mena Kerrison, for Senior Day.

The offense got going early in the contest. After a Kiera Giacomini corner kick, Nika Gorski found the pass and the ball landed in the back of the net. Sewanee led the contest, 1-0, 50 seconds into the match.

In the eighth minute, Gorski's free kick to Bea Richardson gave the Tigers the 2-0 advantage.

In the 25th minute, Isabel Washko found Addie Roemershauser for her ninth goal of the season to push the Tigers lead to 3-0.

Sewanee added a fourth goal in the 52nd minute off the foot of Roemershauser for her 10th goal of the season.

Addie Roemershauser had two goals on five shots, three were on goal.

Bea Richardson also had a goal on three shots, two on-target.

Hanna Judycki (3-4-2) saved seven shots as she earned the clean sheet.

Men's Soccer Blanks Warriors on Senior Day

The Sewanee men's soccer team wrapped up the home schedule with a 6-0 shutout of Hendrix College in a Southern Athletic Association (SAA) match on Oct. 13, from Puett Field.

Prior to the match, seven seniors were recognized on Senior Day: Zach Birkhead, Johnny McNeill, Marco Randazzo, Alpo Sipilä, Will Thomas, Reid Turner and Ben Vaeth.

It took a little over 25 minutes for the Tigers to dent the scoreboard, but once they did, they could not stop. Thompson Schollaert scored his fourth goal of the season off a Christian Kirk pass.

Four minutes later, Bryan Franklin passed the ball to Zach Shunnarah and, with the help of the crossbar, gave Sewanee the 2-0 advantage.

Going into the locker room with the advantage, the Tigers kept the momentum in their favor. In the 48th minute, Ethan Dutka scored his first goal of 2019 from a Schollaert cross.

Five-plus minutes later, off an Alpo Sipilä free kick, Schollaert finished in the box with his second goal of the contest and his fifth of the season.

In the 61st minute, Reid Turner made it 5-0 in favor of the home team off a backfield pass from Johnny McNeill.

The sixth Sewanee goal came in the 72nd minute. After a Grant Shepherd corner kick, Mencken Camp scored the goal.

The Tigers finished the match with 34 total shots, 19 on-target, while limiting their opponents to six shots, two on goal.

Thompson Schollaert finished seven shots, four on goal, as he recorded five points on two goals and an assist.

Will Thomas and Alpo Sipilä each took four shots.

James Murray (8-3-1) played the full 90 minutes goal for Sewanee.

Women's Golf Ends Fall Schedule at Golfweek Fall Invitational

The Sewanee women's golf team recorded a 12th place finish (968) at the Golfweek Division III Fall Invitational at the Baytowne Golf Club.

Leading the Tigers is Margaret Wentz, who finished in the top-15 at 12th place with a score of 230 (77-77-76). Finishing with six birdies in the 54-hole event, the sophomore averaged 3.20 on par 3s.

Caroline Cole rebounded from an 83 opening round with a 76 second round and a 79 final round to finish 34th with a 238 score.

K.C. Bell carded a 249 (82-85-82), while Nicole Nesbitt scored a 252 (85-84-83). Corinne Parrish rounded out the scoring with a 267 (93-84-90).

Abby Lowe competed as an individualist for Sewanee, scoring a 306.

Field Hockey Roars Back to Down Transy

The Sewanee field hockey team saw its five-game losing streak come to an end on Sunday with a 6-3 victory over the Pioneers of Transylvania Oct. 13, from Puett Field.

After claiming the overtime victory over Sewanee on Saturday, Transy started the scoring early in the contest. In the seventh minute, Tori Coleman scored the opening goal of the game.

The Tigers evened the match at a goal apiece in the 24th minute. After Alex Hornsby's shot was saved by the keeper, Buckley Norman struck for her fourth goal of the season.

Coming out of the intermission, Sewanee's sticks got hot real quick. Hannah Bradley found the pass from Hornsby in the 36th minute, and a little over a minute later, Hornsby found Norman for her second of the contest and fifth of the year.

Transylvania responded with a 41st minute goal. After Anne Cleveland recorded a defensive save, Brianna McCulley scored her second goal of the year to cut the deficit to 3-2.

The fourth quarter saw three goals in the first 2:28 of the period. Ceara Caffrey found Norman's pass for her 11th goal of the season 21 seconds into the final stanza.

Thirty seconds later, Molly Uhls struck for her first goal of the season to make it 4-3 in favor of the Tigers.

In the 48th minute, Caffrey and

Norman came together again for the fifth goal of the contest.

The Tigers added an insurance goal off a penalty corner in the 57th minute. After Caroline Sugar inserted the corner, Cleveland picked up the pass and found Caffrey for her third goal of the quarter and her 13th of the year.

Betsy Grant reports “I was eating lunch at the Cross today and looked down and had a lichen walking up my pants leg. I looked it up when I got back and discovered it was a walking lichen. Every time I turned him over to see his bottom side, he flipped himself back over. I deposited him back on the bench. I gather they are quite common, but probably usually hard to see.”

Robin Gottfried had a similar experience on another occasion. “I was walking in the woods the other day practicing noticing, and as I gazed on the bark of an oak tree covered here and there in mosses and lichens I saw a small, round white lump of lichen move. Now, I had never seen that happen before – plants generally haven’t moved in my presence. I touched the lichen and it was soft – and no longer moved. So, I waited a while, trying to be patient, and it wiggled! Well, that did it. I gently picked it up and put it in my hand, and after awhile it started walking around. I tried to turn it over to see if it had legs, but no matter how hard I tried I either never got it in the right position or it never chose to let me see its feet. So, when it started moving around on my hand I put my hand at eye level and peeked as best I could under the lichen, and there I spied tiny little legs. How many I couldn’t tell, but legs nevertheless. The surprise and delight of that day still stays with me. I saw something wondrous and unexpected.”

This creature is the camouflaged larva of the brown lacewing, which is a relative of the ant lion or doodlebug. Like the ant lion, it preys on other insects, notably aphids, giving it the name “Aphid Wolf.” It can also cover itself with matter other than lichens.

Burn Permits Required Burn Ban in Effect for Marion County

A burn permit is required to start an open air fire within 500 feet of any forest, grassland or woodland. Permits will be issued by phone or through the online system, if conditions allow. Check local restrictions in your area prior to conducting any burning activity. Go to <http://burnsafetn.org> for more information.

To report illegal burning, please call toll-free 1-888-891-TDEC.

A burn ban is in effect for Marion, Sequatchie, and Van Buren counties. The burn ban is effective immediately and will remain in place until further notice.

The ban applies to all open-air burning including leaf and woody debris and construction burning, campfires, outdoor grills and other fire activity in areas outside of municipalities where local ordinances apply.

Counties not listed under the ban require a safe debris burning permit now through May 15, 2020 from the Tennessee Department of Agriculture (TDA) Division of Forestry (exceptions: Davidson, Knox, Madison and Shelby, which never allow debris burning). Permits will only be issued where and when it is determined to be safe to do so.

A violation of a burn ban issued by the Commissioner is considered reckless burning and is punishable as a Class A misdemeanor which carries a fine of $2,500 and/or up to 11 months 29 days in jail.

Samoa

Prue Halliwell

Pets of the Week Meet Samoa & Prue Halliwell

Samoa is a one-year-old sable and tan small chihuahua mix with the funniest personality. Given the prior circumstances of Samoa's life, we feel she deserves only the absolute best in a forever family. Samoa is very playful and quirky once she gets to know you, but it is going to take the right person to have the patience to connect with her. She has become very frightened with strangers since being at the shelter, so continuous visits with her will be necessary to have her warm up to you. She loves running and playing with a smile then finding a soft place to land, and that would be right in her human's lap! Samoa, unfortunately, gets very stressed around children, so we would love for her to go into a home with adults or young adults/teenagers only. Samoa is up-to-date on vaccines, heartworm-negative, spayed, and microchipped. I would say she is more than prepared to go home! Will she be your new addition? Lifetime companion? Light of your life? Come see this sweetie and see where it may go!

Prue Halliwell is a 15-week-old precious tortoiseshell kitten with two matching sisters whose story is one of survival and love. Named after the sitcom “Charmed,” they are sure to charm their way into your heart. Found abandoned in a cardboard box and left to die, they were brought in to Animal Harbor for a second chance at life by a caring citizen. After being medically quarantined for several weeks upon arrival, we are so excited to say they moved into a cat community room where they are finally getting to live like happy, playful kittens. They are becoming more comfortable around people and would love to live the rest of their lives in a home where they are truly valued and appreciated as the wonderful cats they are! Prue is FIV/FelV negative, up-to-date on age-appropriate vaccinations, and awaiting her spay and microchip implantation. Come see this adorable kitten-for she is sure to charm you and steal your heart.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at www.animalharbor.org. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Pumpkin Carving ($7/person; please register online in advance)—Join the Rangers at 10 a.m. at the SCSP Visitors' Center, 11745 U.S. Hwy. 41, Monteagle, for some outdoor pumpkin carving! Meet outside at the picnic area and carve pumpkins under our beautiful oak trees. All pumpkins, stencils, and carving tools will be provided by the park. You may bring additional tools or printouts if you wish. Wear clothes you don't mind getting a little messy in, and bring a warm jacket or sweater in case the weather is chilly. If it rains, we will move our pumpkin carving indoors. All ages are welcome! The event is projected to last about two hours, but you can stay as long or as short a time as you like.

Saturday, Oct. 26

Beginner Rock Climbing Class ($15/person) (Please make sure to register on the Tennessee State Park web page; registration button is in green on the upper right hand side of the screen)—Join Seasonal Ranger Justine and Ranger Jason at 1 p.m. at the bottom of Foster Falls, by the beginning of the climbing wall area, 498 Foster Falls Rd., Sequatchie, for a beginners' rock climbing class. All climbing gear except climbing shoes, will be provided by the park. All skill levels and ages are welcome! This class will be beginner-oriented, and we will spend a bit of time going over the basics and getting participants familiar with the equipment and techniques needed. Climbing shoes are optional. It is perfectly acceptable to wear tennis shoes, but climbing shoes will make it easier for you to make it up the rock wall. Climbing shoes can normally be rented or purchased from your local outdoor equipment store. Things you should bring: water, and snacks. Please keep an eye on your email and the weather after registering. If rain is in the forecast, we may have to reschedule, as wet rock faces are not ideal to climb on. Class size will be limited to 10 people, so register soon to avoid the class being sold out! Class will be taught from 1–5 p.m., but you are welcome to leave sooner if you need to. Please call the South Cumberland State Park visitor's center if you have any questions. We hope to see you there!

New Moon Stone Door Night Hike ($10) (limited to the first 10 people to register)—Join Ranger Spencer Baxter at 7 p.m. at Stone Door Ranger Station, 1183 Stone Door Rd., Beersheba Springs, for a 2-mile night hike to Stone Door overlook plus several others to experience the night sky in beautiful Savage Gulf. Bring your own headlamp, sturdy hiking boots, warm clothing, and the spirit of adventure. Please meet the ranger about 15 minutes before the start of the hike to check in.

by Phoebe Bates

We watch the show
From our kitchen window—

Our maple tree's
Annual striptease.

She shimmies
In the autumn breeze.

Everything glows
In the golden sun,

Everything goes
Till the dance is done—

Every leaf
Of her lamé sheath,

Every veil
In the woodwind's wail,

Until she's bare
In the whistling air

Her arms held high
To the rocking sky

As slender
In her Giacometti splendor
