Fluoride Vote Postponed; Water Bill May Change

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

At the Oct. 22 meeting of the Sewanee Utility District Board of Commissioners, the board decided to postpone the vote on fluoridation of the water supply to the Nov. 19 meeting. The board also discussed simplifying the appearance of water bills, which would alter the categories of reported charges but would not affect the total amount owed.

In August, the board gave notice it would vote in October to discontinue adding fluoride to treated drinking water. Board president Charlie Smith recommended postponing the scheduled vote since board member Art Hanson was absent. Four visitors attended the meeting to voice their opinions on fluoridation.

Retired dentist Dr. Robert Childress provided the board with 30

Rotaract Club Relay for Life

The Rotaract Club of Sewanee is sponsoring an American Cancer Society Relay for Life. Relay for Life represents the hope that those lost to cancer will never be forgotten, that those who face cancer will be supported, and that one day cancer will be eliminated. To date, the relay has raised more than $34,000.

This event will take place from 4–8 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 26. Due to weather concerns, the event has been moved inside to the Fowler Center.

There will be food and drinks available for purchase, a raffle, and luminarias. Other events include a dunk tank, cornhole tournament, and a survivor lap. Set up for this event will begin at 2 p.m.

For more information on how to donate or get involved, go to <www.relayforlife.org/sewaneetn> or email <amasoek0@sewanee.edu>.

Animal Harbor Is Sweet Sixteen

Animal Harbor is hosting a “Keep the Harbor Light Burning” fundraiser to celebrate 16 years of the organization. The event will be at 5 p.m., Nov. 9, at St. Mark’s Hall, Otey Parish Church, 216 University Ave., Sewanee.

The birthday party bash will start with cocktails. Enjoy fabulous food catered by Old Mill Manor Restaurant, followed by a dance. Get your tickets before Nov. 1. Tickets are $60 and can be purchased online at <www.animalharbor.org>, by calling the Animal Harbor at 962-4472 or Susan Rupert at 967-8903.

Two Big Events for the Sewanee Review

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

Sewanee is no stranger to writers—bestselling novelists, margin-scrappers and everyone in between. Sewanee has long been a retreat for writers looking to unearth their stories, and the University of the South has a history of molding experts of language. The Sewanee Review, however, has an even longer history.

Founded in 1892 by teacher and critic William Peterfield Trent, the Sewanee Review is the country’s oldest continuously published literary quarterly.

Next week, the Sewanee Review is hitting the road to host an event in Nashville aimed at making Music City a bit more bookish.

In partnership with the Porch TN, a writing center in Nashville, the Review will host In Conversation with Lisa Taddeo and Stephanie Danler at 6:30 p.m., Monday, Oct. 28, at Bastion Nashville. Tickets are available at <www.eventbrite.com>.

Taddeo is author of the No. 1 New York Times and No. 1 UK bestselling book “Three Women.”

Danler is the author of the bestselling novel “Sweetbitter,” which is now a show on STARZ.

The next day, at 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 29, in Convocation Hall, Taddeo and Danler will join the Sewanee Review staff to celebrate the publication of the Fall Issue.

Editor Adam Ross wrote that the Fall Issue of the Review features fiction that refuses to look away from difficult truths, as well as a tribute to founding director of the Sewanee Writers’ Conference, Wyatt Prunty. As a tribute to Prunty, who will be stepping down from his position, Ross wrote that more than 20 conference faculty and participants contributed pieces to honor his tenure.

Hellen Wainaina, assistant editor at the Review, said next week’s event will serve as an opportunity to see into the mind and process of an author.

“I’m imaging and hoping they’ll talk about what it’s like to be a woman in writing today, but also

Students in Mrs. King’s first-grade class won Klean Kanteen reusable water bottles for the first draw for the Reusable Bag Project supported through the Tigers Don’t Leave Tracks! initiative at SES. Mooney’s, the Lemon Fair, Village Wine and Spirits, the Sewanee Market, Piggly Wiggly, the Frame Gallery, and Joseph’s Remodeling Solutions have offered their support to Tigers Don’t Leave Tracks! by making donations when you use reusable bags in local stores.

Halloween Events

Monteagle Halloween Parade

The parade scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 26, has been canceled due to weather.

Monteagle Elementary

Monteagle Elementary will host a Trunk or Treat 5:30–6:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 29 at the school. At 5 p.m., there will be the annual Literacy in the Library.

New Beginnings Church

New Beginnings Church is hosting City on a Hill: Trunk or Treat. The event will be at 6 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 27, at 841 W. Main St., Monteagle. There will be fun activities for kids of all ages, plus candy and prizes.

Sewanee Elementary

Sewanee Elementary will have its annual Reverse Parade on Tuesday, Oct. 29. The Dance party and Cake Walk begins at 5 p.m., with parade starting at 6 p.m. Children may dress in costume, and bring a container to hold treats. They will parade a short distance from the school up University Avenue and then back down. Everyone is welcome to line the sidewalks to pass out candy or other treats.

Spooky Sustainability

Sustain Sewanee will be hosting the third annual Spooky Sustainability event from 4–6 p.m., Friday, Oct. 25, in Spencer Quad (rain location will be Harris Commons in Spencer Hall). Everyone is invited to this frighteningly fun event. Below are just some of the activities you can expect:

Sustainable Costume Contest—Enter for a chance to win one of three great prizes. We are looking for creative submissions that break the mold of wasteful store-bought costumes, so rummage through your closets and wow us with your resourcefulness!

Fun, Fall-themed Games and Activities—Make your own elder wand and learn about the magic of regenerative agriculture. Pumpkin carving with local pumpkins.

Learn about sustainability, climate change, and simple things you can do to be more green—Vampire load, how electronics suck energy even when not in use. Creepy crawler compost, get up close and personal with the critters helping breakdown food waste and return nutrients back to the Farm. There will be a drop-off location for glass and personal care products. Help us divert common household

SSO Halloween Concerts

The Sewanee Symphony Orchestra (SSO) will perform two free concerts on Thursday, Oct. 31, under the direction of their new leader, Visiting Assistant Professor Mathew L. Ward. The orchestra will perform at 11 a.m. to an audience of school-aged children in a kid-friendly presentation of some spooky classics.

The SSO will perform again on Oct. 31, at 7:30 p.m., on the Guerry Auditorium Stage. Repertoire will include “Night on Bald Mountain,” “Dance Macabre,” and “Swan Lake Suite.”

P.O. Box 296
Sewanee, TN 37375

The Santa tree is ready! Ken and Lynn Taylor, and Evelyn Taylor invite you to the 36th annual Holiday Open House at Taylor’s Mercantile, in downtown Sewanee, Oct. 25–27.

Sewanee Autumn Open House

Merchants in downtown Sewanee are hosting an Autumn Open House. The event will be 10 a.m.–5 p.m., Friday, Oct. 25 and Saturday, Oct. 26. Businesses participating are Taylor’s Mercantile, 1866 Revival, The Lemon Fair, Fine Arts at the Mountain, Locals, Blue Chair, Shenanigans, Frame Gallery, and Big A Marketing in Sewanee, and Mooney’s Market & Emporium in Monteagle. In addition, participating and selling their crafts and homemade goods in the American Legion Hall are Full Circle Candles and Caasi Specialty Cookies. Shoppers will receive a punch card at any of these locations. Visit all of these businesses, and get your card punched to be entered to win a $250 giveaway. Additional door prizes and refreshments will be available at each location.

This event is sponsored by the Sewanee Business Alliance, who encourages everyone to support area businesses by dining and shopping locally. For more information, go to <www.sewaneevillage.com>.

THANKS FROM IONA

To the Editor:

With the IONA: Art Sanctuary's final 2019 seasonal and winter festival of fine arts now concluded, the final evening's performances were beneath a soulful orange-red sunset. The Celestial Sky field constellation project changed from afternoon to evening to dusk and night along with the encroaching darkness. Accompanying this glorious event was an inspiring celebration cosmic sound-musical composition by Linda Heck, with incredible readings by Adam Latham from "The Lizard Man," his novel-in-progress about a couple traveling across the country investigating cryptids, plus Latham's story about Adam and Eve was partnered with poetry about marriage and family and a thought-provoking lovely poem by Naomi Buck Palagi about Adam's creation in the margins of dust which mesmerized the outdoor audience concluding in a lulling lullaby, Night Sky.

On the evening preceding,

William Butler Yeat's "The Second Coming" was sung to instrumental music by Bennett Bridgers-Carlos who with Aaron Bennett-Carlos and myself – a poem Mass Consciousness, set the tone for the final celebration.

Therein Wyatt Prunty stirred all with his poetic gift noted in "The Actuarial Wife." "She clarifies their options for retirement" / "Darling, if one of us dies, / I'm going to live in Paris." Leigh Anne Couch's "The New Moon" offered: "I am warmed by the light you cannot see. / The night before I am new, I am old; / and when new, I am invisible. / I believe like the moon / each of us will sublime."

Reviving the 1775 comedy by Richard Brinsley Sheridan, "The Rivals," Aaron Bridgers-Carlos and Sean Bridgers created a powerful reading showing what brothers-in-law's bonding on stage can create together.

A great week and thanks to all participants for a wonderful heart-felt year.

Ed Carlos, Sewanee

Curbside Recycling

Residential curbside recycling pickup in Sewanee is on the first and third Friday of each month. Friday, Nov. 1, will be a pickup day.

Recyclable materials must be separated by type and placed in blue bags by the side of the road no later than 7:30 a.m. Please do not put out general household trash on this day. Blue bags may be picked up in the University Lease and Community Relations Office, 400 University Ave. (the Blue House) or at the Facilities Management Office on Georgia Avenue.

Coat Drive at MMUMC

Morton Memorial UMC is coordinating the second annual Coat Drive. Church members and others on the Plateau are urged to donate gently used coats, vests, or sweaters for a child or adult. Donation boxes can be found, through Friday, Nov. 8, in four locations—the lobbies of Regions Bank in Sewanee and Tower Community Bank in Monteagle during regular business hours; the Fowler Center at the University of the South; and the Fellowship Center of Morton Memorial. Items will be made available for families on Saturday, Nov. 9, in the Fellowship Center. If you have questions, contact Karen Noffsinger at (931) 636-8474.

Community Funding Application

The Sewanee Community Funding Project Committee in conjunction with the Sewanee Community Council is again seeking proposals for physical improvements and amenities on the Domain. When completed, these improvements should enhance the community and improve the quality of life of residents and possibly visitors.

We welcome projects both big and small from individuals as well as organizations. The total funding available is $20,000.

To access the online application, please email <sewaneecefproject@sewanee.edu> and a link to the form will be emailed to you. Copies can be picked up at various locations in Sewanee. Mail those paper forms to Pixie Dozier at 133 Carriage Lane, Sewanee, TN 37375 by Friday, Nov. 1.

Meeting for Sewanee Woman's Club, Nov. 11

The Sewanee Woman's Club will meet on Monday, Nov. 11. An optional social hour begins at 11:30 a.m. Lunch is served at noon. We will meet at Dubose Conference Center in Monteagle.

The program, "Making Veterans Count" will be presented by Jodi McCullah. She will be speaking on the issues facing military combat veterans and their families after nearly two decades of continuous combat deployments as well as spiritual and religious responses to combat trauma.

Rev. McCullah is an ordained Elder in the United Methodist Church. She is currently serving at Morton Memorial United Methodist Church in Monteagle. A graduate of Vanderbilt Divinity School, she moved here after serving as the campus minister at Austin Peay State University in Clarksville, Tenn., for 11 years. While there, Rev. McCullah founded a nonprofit that continues to provide free counseling to combat veterans and their families stationed at Fort Campbell, Ky. She is a U.S. Army veteran, a published freelance writer, and an experienced grant writer. She spent more than 15 years as a regular visitor and minister at Riverbend Maximum Security Prison. She has two sons and one granddaughter. Her personal interests include yoga, biking, hiking and ballroom dance.

The lunch menu for November is chili with cheese and sour cream on the side, hot dogs, coleslaw, and apple pie for dessert. Vegetarian chili and veggie hot dogs will also be available.

In honor of Veteran's Day, please invite a woman veteran to join us for lunch. Please remember to include your guest when making your reservation.

Reservations are required. Please make them no later than Nov. 1, at noon. To make a reservation you may contact Janet Miller-Schmidt by email <jrims2777@gmail.com>, by cell phone (504) 858-5221, or Susan Peek by email <susan.peek@gmail.com> or by phone (615) 504-5404.

ALLL Exploring the Trail of Tears

On Monday, Nov. 4, the Academy of Lifelong Learning will hear a presentation by Debbie Moore, President of the Tennessee Trail of Tears Association. She will present "Exploring the Trail of Tears." The Academy, part of the Sewanee Seminars Series, meets from noon to 1 p.m., in Lower Cravens Hall, 439 Kentucky Ave., Sewanee.

Moore will be presenting a general overview of the Trail of Tears. Moore will describe events leading up to and the processes used to remove nearly 17,000 Cherokee from their homelands in the eastern United States to Indian Territory in the west. Moore is serving her second term as president of the Tennessee Trail of Tears Association. The Association strives to preserve and protect the Trail of Tears National Historic Trail. Membership is open to all who are interested in the history of the Trail of Tears.

Debbie Moore is a native of Bradley County, Tennessee. She is a retired educator and avid historian. She has written numerous family and local history books. Moore's book Confederate Voices won a national award from the Daughters of the Confederacy in 2014. She and her late husband, Ron Moore, appeared on a weekly radio history talk show for more than 8 years. They also produced six local award winning history documentaries.

There is ample parking in the parking lot adjacent to Cravens. Sewanee parking regulations require that the vehicle's rear bumper be visible from the parking lot aisles, so attendees are advised to avoid backing into a space or pulling through.

The cost for a single session is $3 and an annual membership is available for $20. Coffee, water and cookies are available, and attendees are invited to bring a sack lunch. For all questions contact John Hille at (814) 599-5768.

Church News

All Saints' Chapel

Growing in Grace will resume Sunday, Oct. 27, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel. Emily Stone, a senior in the college, will share her story with us. For our semester-long series One Step Before Me, we're asking each of our speakers to share about another person—from history or from their own life—who has impacted or shaped them. In reflecting on a "personal saint" who made their path clearer, our speakers allow us all the opportunity to experience gratitude for all who have given us strength to wander and learn. Email Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep if you have any questions. We hope to see you there—and bring a friend!

The Catechumenate continues this Wednesday, Oct. 30, at 7 p.m. in the Bairnwick Women's Center. Catechumenate, from a Greek word meaning "learning and exploring," is a place where we explore what it means to be a human being and what it means to be a person of faith in our community. This is a great place to meet new people and build relationships. Food, prayer, questions, and conversation power this process. This week we will be discussing the saints. Contact Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep for directions or more information.

Christ Church

At Christ Church Monteagle, we have already packed some of the Christmas Child shoeboxes for Samaritans Purse and had a special service of blessings. Bishop William Millsaps recounted the story of the late Bob Pierce, the founder of both World Vision and Samaritans Purse. Beginning with one truck load, this ministry later passed the torch to Franklin Graham, who has helped it grow to a worldwide ministry of both rescue and hope.

On this Sunday, The Rev. Vic Minish will be the celebrant and preacher. In late October, the Church looks toward All Hallows, which is the older name for All Saints Day.

Diocesan Prayer Vigil

This event will serve two purposes in our diocese: the first is to pray for what is just and right in our community and in the world around us; the second is to unite us as a common body of Christians in middle Tennessee. The vigil will be from 9 a.m.–noon, at St. Mary's Sewanee. Rain location is Otey Memorial Parish Church.

Morton Memorial UMC

Jesus' parables in Luke are important lessons and serve a moral purpose; they often have a "go and do likewise" quality that teaches proper Christian behavior. The parable of the Pharisee and the Tax Collector in Luke 18 is such a story, although it also says something significant about God. Join us Sunday, Oct. 28, at 11 a.m. at Morton Memorial United Methodist Church in Monteagle and find out what.

Again this year, MMUMC will sponsor a trunk or treat event at Monteagle Elementary School. All church members and friends of the church are invited to dress up in their favorite Halloween costumes and participate in this event at the MES parking lot at 5 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 29. Halloween goodie bags have been prepared and will be distributed to MES students.

Otey Parish

This Sunday, Youth meet at 9:45 a.m. in the Hethcock Room in Claiborne Hall for Sunday Service Hour. Infants 6 weeks to children 4 years old are invited to the nursery beginning at 8:30 a.m. There will be nursery for both services and the Sunday School Hour. Children ages 3-11 are invited to join us in the Godly Play 2 room Claiborne Parish House.

Adult Forum: Susannah Larry will present "Divine Impassivity? Reclaiming Prophetic Emotion for Justice." Larry is a Ph.D. candidate in Hebrew Bible at Vanderbilt University and visiting instructor at the School of Theology. She is married to Will, a mental health therapist, with whom she shares two young daughters.

Parents Involved in Faith Formation: John Simpson and Otey Parish are offering a class this fall on how we as adults shape and model the kind of faith that our children will carry into adulthood. # Obituaries

Ann Kelly Allin

Ann Kelly Allin, age 93, wife of The Rt. Rev. John (Jack) Maury Allin Sr., died on Oct. 19, 2019, at St. Catherine's Village in Madison, Miss. She was born in Helena, Ark., to Thaddeus Robertson Kelly, Sr. and Ariadne Wood Kelly. For all of her adult life, Ann was steadfast in her service to the wider Episcopal Church family. Prior to her husband's tenure as the 23rd Presiding Bishop, his "Lady Ann" supported him across the southern dioceses of Arkansas, Louisiana, and Mississippi. Retirement brought seasonal parish life in Jupiter Island, Fla. and St. Ann's Kennebunkport, Maine.

A Eucharist will be celebrated at 11 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 26, at St. Andrew's Episcopal Cathedral, with committal later at The University of the South in Sewanee. For complete obituary go to <www.sebrellfuneralhome.com>.

Aileen Fitzgerald O'Brien

Aileen Fitzgerald O'Brien, age 88 of Monteagle, died on Oct. 14, 2019, in her home in the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly. She was born on May 24, 1931, in Huntington, Long Island, New York, to Ethel and Frank Fitzgerald of Roselle, N.J. She moved to the Monteagle Assembly in 1976, and the 43 years there were the happiest of her life. She became very involved with Assembly organizations including Membership and Landscaping for which she received the President's Award. She was most proud of her development of "Moses Rock" and its Waterfall which were given in memory of Wayne Jervis. She started the Wildflower Bed at the Ball Field and planted more than 4,000 daffodil and buttercup bulbs along Juanita Creek. In keeping with her love of flowers she did the floral arrangements for multiple weddings, taught seminars, and sold her dried flower creations at the Assembly.

She is survived by her daughter, Cindy (Mike) Huston of Atlanta; her son, Kevin O'Brien of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; five grandchildren; one great-grandson; and the many Assembly Members who knew her as "The Flower Lady" and cherished the years of her friendship.

A Memorial Service will be held at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 26, in Warren Chapel, in the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly. A reception to celebrate her life will follow the service at The Edgeworth Inn. An interment will be held in the Monteagle Assembly Cemetery during the Summer of 2020. In lieu of flowers please consider a donation to the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly or to Animal Harbor of Winchester. For complete obituary go to <www.cumberlandfuneralhome.net>.

St. James Midway Community Park

Everyone is invited to come out and join St. James Midway Community Park for their annual Trunk or Treat, 5-6:30 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 31. If you are handing out candy we ask that you please park in the grass area with others handing out candy.

Stirling's Coffe House

Stirling's Coffee House will be hosting the annual HULLA-BOO-LOO on Thursday, Oct. 31, at 3:30 p.m., and will run events until 4:45 p.m. Participants will then go to the Community Engagement House (Alabama Avenue) at 4:45 p.m. for the costume contest, which will start at 5 p.m. The Hogwarts Halloween dinner at McClurg will follow. At 7 p.m., for anyone interested in returning to Stirling's, Gerald Smith will be leading a cemetery tour telling spooky, funny, and scary stories of Sewanee.

Tims Ford

On Oct. 25, Tims Ford will be hosting a Trunk or Treat and Haunted Hike at the Devil's Step boat ramp and Fairview Campground, located at 129 Fairview Campground Rd. The boat ramp will be closed to all boat traffic on Oct. 25. The Trunk or Treat will begin at 5:30 p.m. There will be agency trunks in the Boat Ramp parking lot, and the trunk or treat will continue into the day use area of the campground.

Participating campers will be given an orange glow stick to hang from their site marker. Participation in the Trunk or Treat is free.

Beginning at 6:45 p.m., we will be operating a haunted trail on Devil's Step Island. We will take 20 people per hike, shuttle them by boat to the island where they will have a guided haunted hike, then shuttle them back to shore. Cost for the Haunted Hike is $5 per person, kids under 10 are $2.50. Tickets may be purchased the day of the event on site, and may be purchased for any specific time slot as the shuttles will be leaving every 15 minutes. The hike is expected to last from 20-30 minutes and is rated PG-13.

Tracy City

Tracy City will host a Tricks and Treats Halloween Bash from 4-7 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 31, at the downtown Tracy City Mini-Park. There will be free activities, hot dogs, drinks, games and hayrides.

James Stephens is the recipient of the 2019 Tennessee Department of Children's Service Cindy McAfee Award. This state-wide award recognizes Stephens' advocacy on behalf of abused and neglected children. Stephens practiced law in Tracy City and Sewanee prior to joining DCS 13 years ago.

how their projects come to fruition," she said.

Taddeo's "Three Women" has been called a "portrait of longing that exposes the fragility, complexity and inequality of female desire with unprecedented depth and emotional power." Taddeo's book has been in progress for the last eight years.

"To hear about the genesis of that project, what it's like to work on it for so long and what she's discovered about contemporary women and desire will be incredible," Wainaina said. "And Stephanie, she's in this interesting middle ground where she's an incredible author and a vibrant non-fiction writer, who is also working on the TV show. There's so much she's tethering in terms of what we might think of high literature, but it will be interesting to learn of the challenges of navigating those two worlds."

Wainaina said her hope for the event is to modernize the conversation about literature in a way that reinvigorates it.

"To have these two writers who are very high up in American letters, who push us as readers to broaden our scope of who we are writing or reading or teaching about, is great. There are students who are familiar with some of these writers, and it is such a wonderful opportunity to encourage curiosity among the students. It's also an affirmation to young writers that it's actually possible to do this kind of work," Wainaina said. "It's so powerful when you can meet someone you've read and someone you admire that you feel is speaking to who and where you are in life."

The Sewanee Review Fall Open House will be at 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 29, in Convocation Hall. A live stream is available at <https://vimeo.com/event/16329>.

pages of documentation supporting continuing fluoridation, along with letters of support from retired pediatric physician Dr. William Altemeier and retired dentist Dr. Bruce Baird.

When water supply fluoridation began 50 years ago, studies showed it reduced tooth decay by 40 percent, Childers said. Current data shows water supply fluoridation reduces tooth decay by 25 percent.

"There are other ways people can get fluoride," said Sewanee resident Jane Flynn. "The dentist can apply it." Currently 50 percent of U.S. communities do not add fluoride to the drinking water, Flynn stressed. "There are thousands of studies showing problems with fluoride."

Dr. Robert Ashby, Dental Director for the Southeast Region of the Tennessee Department of Health, said, "We very much support fluoridation."

"We should rely on the available data to inform our decisions," said Sewanee resident and professor of psychology Jordan Troisi.

Smith noted, "less than one percent of the drinking water SUD treats is used for human consumption. Only a very small population receives any benefits from the added fluoride."

Commissioner Ronnie Hoosier pointed to statistics documenting the large amount of bottled water Americans drink.

SUD manager Ben Beavers estimated the cost of adding fluoride at 50 cents per customer per year.

"It's not just the cost of adding fluoride," said Commissioner Paul Evans. "Fluoride eats our equipment up."

Beavers explained the vent tube was the source for the external corrosion of the fluoride feed equipment. He compared the corrosive effect to 16.5 percent bleach solution and estimated the cost of replacing the equipment at $6,000-$7,000.

Turning to the 2020 draft budget, Beavers said the big-ticket capital improvement items were leak detection ($35,000), replacing the aging tractor at the Wastewater Treatment Plant ($25,000), and equipping pump motors with Variable Frequency Drives to reduce power consumption ($30,000).

"There are no significant changes in income or operating expenses in the 2020 draft budget," Beavers said. He noted, however, he has not yet received figures on health care costs.

The board is considering a 0.5 to 1 percent rate increase, according to Smith.

The proposed bill simplification would remove the charge categorized as "water and sewer repair and replacement" and include that amount in the charge for gallons used. The charge for "water and sewer repair and replacement" is based on gallons used. Only the appearance of the bill would change, not the amount owed.

The board meets next on Tuesday, Nov. 19, a week earlier than usual.

Homecoming and “50 Years of Women” Events Include Amanda Shires Concert

The first women admitted to the University of the South as full-time first-year undergraduate students matriculated 50 years ago, in September 1969. It was the beginning of sweeping changes in the College and the community. The anniversary will be celebrated with returning alumnae as “50 Years of Women at Sewanee” events overlap with Homecoming 2019 (Oct. 31-Nov. 3).

Tickets for the Amanda Shires concert (8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 1, Guerry Auditorium) will be available as follows: University faculty, staff and students can receive a ticket by showing their University ID at the McGriff Alumni House between 1 and 6 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 31, and all day Friday, Nov. 1. Community members can purchase tickets for $20 each, at the same times and location. If any tickets remain, they will be available at the door; faculty, staff, and students must show ID, and community members may purchase tickets.

The community is welcome to attend the presentations, panel discussions, and other events listed:

Thursday, Oct. 31

5 p.m. “Women in Music” talk by Kerry Ginger, professor of voice. Come hear about the role of female characters in opera’s standard repertory and contemplate why their stories often culminate in death. Featuring the music of Zaubberflöte, Bohème, Carmen, Salome, and Tosca. Ralston Listening Room, duPont library.

Friday, Nov. 1

8 a.m. Dedication of a plaque honoring 50 Years of Coeducation at Sewanee. Walsh-Ellett patio in the Quad.

9–10:30 a.m. Coffee and Career Conversations with alumnae and current students. Students can network and learn from graduates about career paths and helpful tips for life after Sewanee. Sponsored by the Career Center. Convocation Hall.

10:45 a.m. The Office of Civic Engagement hosts a celebration of alumnae and students dedicated to service. Come take a gallery walk of posters where students will describe their projects of community engagement and hear from alumnae (onsite and via video) and current students about their work to make the world a better place. Hear how a Sewanee education has prepared alumnae to have a heart of service. Convocation Hall.

11:45 a.m. Screening of “Mine 21,” an award-winning short documentary about a deadly coal-mine explosion that took place in Whitwell, Tenn., in 1981. The film follows Kelsey Arbuckle, C’19, and Alexa Fults, C’21, both from Grundy County, as they find out more about this event that took the lives of 13 miners. The documentary is directed by Sewanee alumnus Stephen Garrett and produced by Professor Chris McDonough.

2:15–3:30 p.m. Sewanee Women Then and Now. Bairnick Women’s Center hosts a panel of current students and alumnae who will offer their thoughts and experiences on what it has been like to be a woman at Sewanee, then and now. Mary Sue Cushman Room, the Women’s Center.

3:30 p.m. The Road to the Rhodes and Beyond with alumnae Rhodes Scholars: Ramona Doyle, C’81, Jennifer Michael, C’89, Anne Jones, C’98, and Katharine Wilkinson, C’05. Moderated by Ellen Goldey, C’85, vice president for academic affairs at Centre College. Torian Room, duPont Library.

4:30 p.m. All Saints’ Day service. Rt. Rev. Kathryn “Kai” McCrossen Ryan, C’86, recently ordained as 11th bishop suffragan of the Diocese of Texas, will preach. All Saints’ Chapel.

8 p.m. 50 Years of Women Concert featuring Grammy-winning artist Amanda Shires, L’17. Guerry Auditorium. Singer-songwriter and fiddle player Amanda Shires has released six acclaimed solo albums, her most recent “To The Sunset” in 2018. This fall, the Highwomen—a new collaborative formed by Shires, Brandi Carlile, Maren Morris, and Natalie Hemby—officially launched with a new album.

Saturday, Nov. 2

9:30 a.m. Celebrating 50 Years of Women: The Evolution of Support and Wellness, panel discussion. Gailor Auditorium.

New Sewing Group

A new sewing group is forming to make items for the annual Christmas Bazaar at the Sewanee Senior Center. All ages and skill levels are welcome and all sewing materials will be provided.

The sewing group will meet Friday, Nov. 1, and Nov. 15, from 2–4 p.m., at the Sewanee Senior Center, 5 Ball Park Rd. For more information call 931 598 0771.

Author of ‘The Shack’ to Appear in Sewanee

Wm. Paul Young, best-selling author of “The Shack: Where Tragedy Confronts Eternity,” will speak in Sewanee Nov. 15 and 16. The Shack, a story about a father wrestling with what he calls a “Great Sadness” after the brutal murder of his youngest daughter, found a world-wide audience and was the No. 1 paperback trade fiction seller on the The New York Times Best Seller list from June 2008 to early 2010. It was successfully turned into a feature film starring Sam Worthington, Octavia Spencer, and Tim McGraw in 2017.

Local and regional community members will have the opportunity to explore how The Shack relates to faith with the book’s author on Nov. 15 in a lecture open to the public and held in All Saints’ Chapel on the campus of the University of the South at 7 p.m. Registration for the lecture is encouraged and a “love offering” will be collected to support the event. On Saturday, Nov. 16, Young will lead a workshop titled “Lies We Believe About God,” based on his non-fiction book of the same title. Registration and a tuition fee are required for the workshop.

According to Young, books like “The Shack” “give voice to many who want to know a God who is relational and not religious” and speaks to those with “grieving and questioning broken hearts.” Young’s work, he says, “meets those who are stuck somewhere between edgy and Jesus.” As for the workshop, he begins, he says, with “the lie that we are separated from God; then we’ll explore how this paper tiger has kept so many in religious bondage and perpetuated religious institutional power.”

This visit to Sewanee by Young is one of two events in a series called FaithMatters, a new offering from the Beecken Center of the School of Theology that seeks to bring people to Sewanee who are engaging matters of faith in innovative ways. “At a time when cultural and political division is so painful, we believe that people are hungry to explore faith, spirituality, and meaning,” notes Sheri D. Kling, executive director of the Beecken Center. “Reading the news, it’s easy to feel discouraged or despairing. Welcoming Wm. Paul Young in November to talk about faith and ‘The Shack,’ and then Episcopal Bishop Jake Owensby in March of 2020 to talk about ‘Living a Resurrection-Shaped Life’ is a way that the Beecken Center can bring something hopeful to the community.”

For complete details and to register for any of these offerings, visit <beeckencenter.sewanee.edu/events/faithmatters2019> or call 1-800-722-1974.

The Beecken Center of the School of Theology at the University of the South is a lively center of learning and ministry that offers experiences and resources for adult and youth lay theological education, clergy continuing education, hospitality and evangelism ministries, congregational development, and spiritual formation. The Beecken Center may be contacted at (800) 722-1974 or at <beeckencenter.sewanee.edu>.

‘Immigration and Christian Responsibility’

The Rev. Nancy Frausto, associate rector at St. Luke’s Episcopal Church, Long Beach, California, will give a public lecture titled “Immigration and Christian Responsibility.” Frausto stands at the forefront of The Episcopal Church’s ministry to Hispanic and Latino/a communities. She is a founding member of the Diocese of Los Angeles Sanctuary Task Force and a Dreamer (DACA recipient). Her presentation will bring together her personal story, the state of immigration in our country, and our responsibility and action as members of the broader Christian community. Her story illustrates many of the dynamics at play in The Episcopal Church’s continued engagement with the changing demographics both in our nation and its parishes. The lecture will take place at 7 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 30, in Hamilton Hall’s Hargrove Auditorium. All are invited to attend.

Trail of Tears Walk

The Tennessee Trail of Tears Association and the Franklin County Historical Society are sponsoring the second annual Trail of Tears Commemorative Walk on Saturday, Oct. 26. The walk will begin by 11:45 a.m., starting at the Old Cowan Road City Park, 200 Wilson St., Winchester. The walk will follow 0.7 miles of the original Bell Route and end at the Franklin County Library. There will be a program from 1-4 p.m. of Native American crafts demonstrations, an exhibit from Russell Cave National Monument, a frybread and Indian taco booth, and a talk on the Trail of Tears by historian and author Vicki Rozema. For more information contact Floyd Ayers at <wfyayers@comcast.net>.

This event is sponsored by TN-TOTA (Tennessee Trail of Tears Association), the Franklin County Historical Society and the Franklin County Library.

Book Sale at Thurmond

Thurmond Memorial Library will have a Book Sale from 8 a.m.-6 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 2. There will be early bird sales on Friday, Nov. 1.

Volunteers are needed to help set up and receive donations between 10 a.m.-2 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 30-Friday, Nov. 1.

Thurmond Memorial Library has been providing books to the community since 1887. The library is located at Orey Memorial Parish Hall. To volunteer at the library, email Trudy Cunningham at <tcunning@sewanee.edu>.

Campaign for Balance Dancing Classes for Elders

As the final episode in the 2019 Campaign for Balance, Folks at Home is offering Ball Room Dance Classes in October and November. Classes will be led by Valerie Lorenz at the Sewanee Community Center on Tuesday and Friday evenings from 6:30-7:30 p.m. Classes begin on Oct. 29 and run through Nov. 29. There is no charge for this class and it is open to anyone in our service area (Sewanee to Monteagle) regardless of membership. All are welcome but space is limited. To sign up email <assistantfolksathome@gmail.com> or call (931) 598-0303.

Prizes Needed for MARC Bingo Night

Marion Animal Resource Council (MARC) has been playing Bingo on the second Saturday of each month to raise money to help them obtain a building of their own, a MARC Resource Center. You are invited to join them to improve the lives of animals in Marion County and its surrounding areas i.e., Sewanee, Tracy City, Palmer, Gruetli Laager, Dunlap, bordering areas of Alabama and Georgia.

Prizes are given to the bingo winners and you are welcome to donate items to be those prizes.

If you own a business or an internet-run goods business and want to donate a prize ($25 value) your business will be announced when someone wins your donation.

Many individual people donate gift cards and themed gift baskets (i.e., movie night or hair care). Be creative.

If you want to donate, please contact Beth Jordan at <Beth.jordan@yahoo.com>. You could deliver your donations to Beth's place of work at Jasper Medical Center, 4665 Main St., Jasper.

Zen Buddhism Workshop at St. Mary's Sewanee

St. Mary's Sewanee: The Ayres Center for Spiritual Development is pleased to announce a new one-day workshop, "The Ten Oxherding Pictures," on Saturday, Nov. 16. The workshop will begin at 9 a.m., and includes lunch.

"The Ten Oxherding Pictures" is a way of exploring the Zen training path to enlightenment. In this day-long workshop led by Richard Dubé, participants will explore the history and meaning of this ancient tradition. The sketches are an examination of one's Buddha nature and ego, and how those evolve as people approach enlightenment. Ultimately, Dubé says, the workshop is about uncovering the real person who resides beneath the false self.

As part of this journey of self-discovery, participants will explore a greater understanding of the trinity of self (physical, intellectual and spiritual); the three commitments (doing no harm to yourself and others, engaging in compassionate acts everywhere and accepting the world as it unfolds); what enlightenment looks and feels like; and the practice of Zazen meditation.

It's Time to Fall Back!

Don't forget to set your clock back one hour before you go to bed Saturday night, Nov. 2. Daylight saving time officially ends at 2 a.m., Sunday, Nov. 3, which means everyone gets an extra hour of sleep!

SENIOR CENTER NEWS

The Sewanee Senior Center serves lunch at noon Monday through Friday. The suggested donation is $4, regardless of your age. Please call 598-0771 by 9 a.m. to order lunch. Menus follow:

Monday, Oct. 28: Philly steak sandwich, chips, dessert.

Tuesday, Oct. 29: Chicken, mac/cheese, green beans, roll, dessert.

Wednesday, Oct. 30: Kraut/sausage, pinto beans, cornbread, dessert.

Thursday, Oct. 31: BLT soup, grilled cheese sandwich, dessert.

Friday, Nov. 1: Chef salad, crackers, dessert.

Menus may vary. For information call the center at 598-0771.

Regular Activity Schedule

Chair exercises, Mondays and Wednesdays, 10:30-11:15 a.m.; Tuesdays at 10:30 a.m., the group plays bingo, with prizes; Wednesdays at 10 a.m., the writing group gathers at 212 Sherwood Rd.; Fridays at 10 a.m. is game time.

Volunteers who are willing to deliver lunches on Wednesday through Friday are needed at the Sewanee Senior Center. This takes about one hour to accomplish and someone will show any new volunteers what is involved. Call the Senior Center at 598-0771 or Connie Kelley at 598-0915 for more information.

The Sewanee Senior Center does not charge any membership fee. All persons 50 or older who take part in any of the activities are considered members.

Promotions and Tenure Approved for Faculty Members

At its summer meeting, the University of the South Board of Regents formally approved promotion and tenure decisions for seven faculty members. Six newly tenured faculty members—Kristen Cecala (biology), Aaron Elrod (economics), Ross Macdonald (English), Shana Minkin (international and global studies), Courtney Thompson (American studies and women's and gender studies) and Courtney World (dance)—now hold the title of associate professor, effective July 1, 2019. Betsy Sandlin (Spanish) has been promoted to full professor, and she now holds the title professor of Spanish. Congratulations to all seven.

Kristen Cecala arrived at Sewanee in 2013. Her research and teaching interests focus on the ecology of freshwaters and the organisms that inhabit them. She offers courses in freshwater biology and conservation, ecology, and herpetology. Through extensive undergraduate collaboration, her research program seeks to understand the mechanisms through which amphibians and reptiles respond to human-driven changes including land-use and climate change. In 2016, she was awarded the inaugural Raymond D. Semlitsch Award for Early Career Excellence from the Herpetologists' League. She serves as an editor for the publications of three professional societies, and at Sewanee she serves on numerous committees supporting scholarship by undergraduate students and faculty, as well as those dedicated to improving campus climate.

Aaron Elrod also came to Sewanee in 2013. Along with introductory courses in economics, he teaches environmental economics, energy economics, econometrics, microeconomic theory, and a senior research seminar. His research examines the effect of environmental regulation on various aspects of firm behavior, as well as factors that affect monitoring and enforcement of U.S. federal environmental regulation, with a particular emphasis on the Clean Water Act. His research has appeared in such journals as Journal of Environmental Economics and Management and Environmental Economics and Policy Studies. In addition, he is heavily involved in the Environment & Sustainability major at Sewanee, serving as a member of the E&S Steering Committee since 2014.

A member of the Sewanee English Department since 2013, Ross Macdonald offers courses on Milton, Shakespeare, Renaissance literature, and English drama to 1642. His essays have appeared in Studies in Philology, Spenser Studies, and Ben Jonson Journal, as well as within the edited collections Forms of Faith: Literary Form and Religious Conflict in Early Modern England (2017) and Scholarly Milton (2019). In recent years, he has also taught regularly in the college's interdisciplinary Humanities program and in the Sewanee School of Letters.

Shana Minkin arrived at Sewanee in 2015 to join the International and Global Studies Department. In addition to introductory and upper-level courses on globalization theory, Minkin teaches classes on oil, foreigners, cities, and current events in the Middle East. Her research focuses broadly on death rituals and the building of empire, and her first book, Imperial Bodies: Empire and Death in Alexandria, Egypt, will be published in November 2019. At Sewanee, Minkin is the co-chair of the International and Global Studies Department and is a faculty fellow of the Center for Speaking and Listening this academic year.

Courtney L. Thompson joined the American Studies Program and Women's and Gender Studies Program at the University of the South in 2015. Her current research examines political discourse in Black women's writings, specifically the relationship between Black women's progressive politics in the United States and democratic reform. Her work has been published in Palimpsest: A Journal on Women, Gender, and the Black International; Women, Gender, and Families of Color; and Africology: The Journal of Pan African Studies. At Sewanee, she teaches courses on Black women writers, Black masculinity, and representations of Africa.

Courtney World arrived in Sewanee in 2013. She teaches all of the dance courses in the Theatre and Dance Department, developed the curriculum for the minor in dance, and was the 2015-2017 recipient of the James D. Kennedy III Endowed Faculty Fellowship. Her creative research as a performer and choreographer of tap dance and contemporary modern dance explores the many facets of rhythm, from biological rhythms, to planetary rhythms, to musical rhythms. As a former member of Bill Evans Dance Company, Bill Evans Rhythm Tap Company, and a Certified Evans Teacher, she helped create the Evans Somatic Dance Institute and is working to archive and pass on the artistic legacy and teaching of choreographer and educator Bill Evans. World serves on the board of directors of Tennessee Association of Dance.

Betsy Sandlin arrived in Sewanee in 2004. She teaches courses in Spanish language and Latin American literature and Latinx literature in the United States. Her current research focuses on inclusive teaching practices, faculty development and leadership, and identity in contemporary Latinx literary texts. She is co-director of the annual Summer Teaching & Learning Workshop for the Associated Colleges of the South, a consortium of 16 liberal arts colleges. She served as co-director of the Center for Teaching at Sewanee for four years and is currently interim associate dean for faculty development and inclusion.

Whitmer Awarded Research Fellowship

Associate Professor of History Kelly Whitmer has been awarded a research fellowship from the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation.

Beginning next April, Whitmer will spend a year as a scholar-in-residence at the Georg-August-Universität in Göttingen. With her hosts, Professor Margarete Vöhringer, an expert on the material culture of scientific knowledge, and the Göttingen Institute for Advanced Study, she will pursue a collaborative project focused on pedagogies of objects and collections in the history of science and technology. She will also complete a book manuscript tentatively titled "Useful Science, Youth and the Pedagogies of Innovation in the Early Modern World."

Whitmer's ongoing research project is engaged with the history of education and youth culture. She offers two courses at Sewanee that grow out of that expertise: "Children and Childhood in History" and "Youth and Social Networks in the Early Modern World." With the fellowship, she will continue to study how changing expectations about the capacities of young people informed new efforts to create a culture of innovation through educational reform in the early modern period (c. 1500-1800).

Her research considers how instructional manuals, project sketches, pedagogical techniques, collecting strategies, and accounts of young geniuses or prodigies were used by various professional groups, including political economists, to develop new future-focused technologies.

Founded and funded by the German government, the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation furthers international collaboration between leading scholars in Germany and around the world. Alexander von Humboldt fellowships and awards are highly competitive and among the most highly sought after in Germany. The Foundation's alumni network includes 50 Nobel laureates.

Register for Lifelong Learning Courses

The Center of Lifelong Learning at the University of the South is excited to announce our new courses. Contact Dan Backlund at <lifelong@sewanee.edu> for further information and to register before the classes are full. The enrollment fee for each course is only $60 and includes six hours of formal learning time.

Secret Messages: Old and New Methods of Encryption—This course will look at simple and complex substitution cyphers (think of Poe's "The Gold Bug") and then spend time exploring how computers encode text. After realizing that messages on a computer are just a string of zeros and ones, students will spend just enough time with some mathematics to be able to understand modern encryption techniques. At the end, the course will examine potential encryption techniques which might be used when much more powerful computers are available. Instructor: Laurence Alvarez, Professor Emeritus of Mathematics, Tuesdays, Oct. 29, Nov. 5, 12, and 19, from 1–3 p.m.

Feuding Couples in Theatre and Film (the Comic Version)—Comedy is a particularly powerful means of exploring relationship anxieties, which is why some of our great comedies use the battle of the sexes for their structuring tension. In this course we will apply different theories of laughter and of the comic. Instructor: Robin Bates, Professor Emeritus of English, Mondays, Oct. 28, Nov. 4, 11, and 18, from 2–4 p.m.

Matthew Arnold (1822-1888): A Man For Our Season—Among all of the major Victorian poets and cultural critics, Matthew Arnold was especially attuned to the unique contours and problems of industrial society and capitalist global economy. His poetic voice and stance anticipate many of the major themes and techniques of 20th and 21st century poetry. His capacity to "see life steadily and to see it whole" especially recommend him to readers of our age. In this brief course we will begin in the first of four sessions by considering an Arnoldian essay (The Study Of Poetry) in which he makes his claims for the role of poetry in the modern life; then we will read and discuss Arnold's major poems that address the human condition in the context of the modern landscape. Text: Victorian Prose and Poetry (the Oxford Anthology Of English Literature); eds. Lionel Trilling and Harold Bloom; ISBN 0-19-501616-5; paperback edition. (This is the same text used in the previous Robert Browning Course offered in the winter of 2018.) Instructor: John Reishman, Professor Emeritus of English, Wednesdays, Oct. 30, Nov. 6, 13, and 20, from 9–11 a.m.

New Classical Music: Learning from the classics while experiencing the modern—This class will explore the differentiation between classical music in differing time periods while also exploring new compositions and how to understand them as a listener. We love the "classic" aspect of classical music, but what is it that makes it so classic? And, what about modern classical music? Just like we exercise our palates with cuisine, this class will strengthen your palate within classical music. Instructor: Hilary Dow Ward, Thursdays, Oct. 31, Nov. 7, and Nov. 21, from 2–4 p.m.

Sewanee's Worst Enemy Claims Another Victim

Main Barracks of the Sewanee Military Academy Goes Up in Flames. Estimated Loss Placed at $120,000 with Insurance Covering Only Fifty Per Cent. School Furloughed Till January the Third.

Quintard Memorial Hall, the main building of the Sewanee Military Academy was destroyed by fire Tuesday night, October 28.

This superb structure of Cumberland sandstone was erected in 1901, in memory of the late Bishop Quintard of Tennessee, by his brother, Mr. George Quintard of New York, and Mr. J.P. Morgan of the same city, the former donated $40,000 and the latter $15,000. The building was remodeled in 1914. Quintard Hall was 225 feet long and about 35 feet wide. It was approached by gigantic steps in the front. The architecture was Gothic, and this building was the pride of Sewanee. There were three floors and basement, in which were located the dining hall and pantries, and the attic, which had recently been converted into an arsenal and trunk room. The building contained forty rooms and furnished ample accommodations for about 120 cadets.

Tuesday night, taps sounded as usual at ten o'clock. About ten minutes later, the blaze was accidentally discovered by a cadet. The fire began on the top floor, apparently in an unoccupied hall, between the arsenal and the trunk room. Unfortunately there was no access to the top floor except by one narrow flight of stairs. Consequently only a few cadets could fight the flames at a time. Although they worked heroically, the fire soon defied control. All efforts of the faculty, officers and cadets to check the conflagration were in vain. The stone walls with the fire within resembled a gigantic furnace. The enthusiasm of the fire fighters was somewhat chilled by the stores of ammunition on the top floor which soon began to crack forth with machine-gun rapidity. The arsenal also contained clothing and equipment for two hundred cadets. Trunks, rifles and overcoats added fuel to the flames. The cadets rushed forth with their personal belongings, strewing the campus with books and articles of clothing.

One thing which impressed everyone was the splendid discipline and morale shown by the cadets. After the flames were beyond control, and when the danger of the exploding ammunition became evident, they were lined up in military formation, the roll was called and after every one was accounted for, they were marched to the safety of the nearby woods.

The band then gave a ragtime concert which added to the picturesque spectacle.

In a short time the fire penetrated the whole structure. The heat became so intense that the spectators were forced to move back. Floors, furniture and stairways went crashing down into the burning ruin, causing the flames to shoot heavenward. The air was red with flying sparks. The eyes of the spectators were filled with drifting sand, thrown off the hot stone. By morning nothing but walls and a smoldering ruin was left of the once magnificent Quintard Hall.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The building was covered by $60,000 insurance. The loss is estimated at about $120,000.

The students passed the night at various places around the mountain and were given their meals at the dormitories on Wednesday.

Nearly all the students left Thursday, on furlough extending to January 3rd.

As yet no plans have been formulated for carrying on the year's work. It will not be possible to erect anything other than temporary quarters by January 3rd. It is probable that this will be done. It is also rumored that the Academy may be moved to Florida for the year. If this project is effected, it will not only mean that the winter will be less severe on the students, but also more time will be gained for the building of barracks.

Local Documentary "Mine 21" Wins National Award

The Sewanee-produced documentary "Mine 21" was named a winner of the 2019 Austen Riggs Erikson Prize for Excellence in Mental Health Media. The short film, directed by University of the South alumnus Stephen Garrett, C'01, and produced by Sewanee Classics Professor Chris McDonough, tells the story of a deadly 1981 coal-mine explosion in Whitwell, Tennessee, by following two Sewanee students—Kelsey Arbuckle, C'19, and Alexa Fults, C'21—as they learn more about the disaster. The award ceremony will be held in Massachusetts next month.

The documentary film recognizes, shares, and preserves some of the stories of Mine 21—a local event with national resonance and policy implications. Watch the trailer here: <https://mine21.com/>

Arbuckle and Fults, both politics majors from Grundy County, worked to uncover information about a coal mine disaster that was personal for both of them, even though it occurred long before they were born. During her sophomore year at Sewanee, Arbuckle read a newspaper story about the mine explosion and realized that her grandfather had been one of the victims.

Austen Riggs Center Medical Director Eric Plakun said, "Mine 21" artfully illustrates how a catastrophe can impact an entire community." The other 2019 Austen Riggs Erikson Prize winner is Heavy, a memoir by Kiese Laymon, who spoke at the University of the South in 2017 and returned to Sewanee as writer-in-residence in 2018.

"We are thrilled to have won this award for 'Mine 21' from the Austen Riggs Center, and to be sharing a platform with Kiese Laymon. Most importantly, though, we feel privileged to share what we have learned about the explosion in 1981 and its aftermath, all of which had such a profound impact on our neighboring communities," said McDonough. "It is a local story, of course, but the recognition by the Austen Riggs Center shows how significant it is for people across the nation whose own communities may have suffered from traumatic events. We are grateful for the opportunity to share this story of courage and hope in Marion and Grundy Counties."

"How to Return" by Diedrick Brackens, whose exhibit "Allegiance" opens Oct. 25, at the University Art Gallery

Diedrick Brackens: 'Allegiance' Opens Today

The University Art Gallery is honored to present "Allegiance," a quiet and intimate exhibition of complex and beautiful woven textiles by Los Angeles-based artist Diedrick Brackens, on view from Oct. 25 through Dec. 13.

In "Allegiance," Brackens plays with our expectations and associations, turning symbols, lyrics and materials to new purposes. He refashions American and Confederate flags; he quotes and recasts the lyrics to the minstrel song Dixie and to the hymn Holy, Holy, Holy; he makes the language of advertising both sentimental and subversive; and he — an African American whose antecedents picked cotton in Texas — self-consciously transforms that fraught material into beautiful textiles.

Richly allusive, many of the pieces on view in "Allegiance" meditate on flags, their uses and their dense networks of associations with Americana, heartland, heritage and freedom. The symbolism of flags is disrupted, teased and softened, and these abstracted flags are seen as if through a veil. We are invited to adopt a personal, thoughtful, and emotional point of view, and to meditate on the negotiation of belonging. We are invited to inhabit an intimate perspective, and to quietly imagine alternative ways of being and of relating to one another.

Brackens seeks to explore the liberating, redemptive potential of an intersectional perspective and a queer visual language — what possibilities might such a point of view and such a visual language offer all of us?

Diedrick Brackens will speak about his work at 5 p.m., Nov. 8, in Convocation Hall. Reception to follow.

Brackens was awarded the prestigious Joyce Alexander Wein Prize by the Studio Museum in Harlem in 2018, an award honoring individual African American artists who demonstrate great innovation, promise and creativity.

Brackens' work was recently featured in the Hammer Museum biennial exhibition Made in L.A. 2018, and in Ear to the Ground: Earth and Element in Contemporary Art at the New Orleans Museum of Art, also in 2018. He was in residence at the Joan Mitchell Center Artist in Residence Program, New Orleans, LA in 2016.

This exhibition and its associated events have been made possible by Art, Art History and Visual Studies, Humanities, The Roberson Project on Slavery, Race, and Reconciliation, the University Lectures Committee, the Friends, Patrons, and Benefactors of the University Art Gallery and by Various Small Fires, Los Angeles and Seoul.

University Gallery Walk Nov. 2

The University of the South will host its ninth annual Campus Gallery Walk on Saturday, Nov. 2, from 10 a.m. to noon. Come and experience "Allegiance" in the University Art Gallery, award-winning artist Diedrick Brackens' allusive and thoughtful exploration of identity and symbols in woven cotton tapestries. Consider landscape as a place and as an idea, in Mary Stuart Hall's two-channel video and sound installation "Sympathetic Dissonance" in the Carlos Gallery of the Nabit Art Building. Celebrate the legacy of women at Sewanee with "Skirts and Gowns" in the Museum Gallery, William R. Laurie Archives and Special Collections, curated by Introduction to Museum Studies students, Easter 2019 and catch up with the accomplishments of classmates at the Alumnae Arts Showcase in Spencer Commons. Receptions crafted by Sewanee Dining will respond to the exhibitions, and dance and musical performances inspired by the exhibitions will take place in multiple locations on campus. The event is free and open to the public.

Chanticleer to Perform in October

Called "the world's reigning male chorus" by the New Yorker, the San Francisco-based GRAMMY® award-winning ensemble Chanticleer has just celebrated the 40th anniversary of its 1978 founding.

Chanticleer will perform in Sewanee on Tuesday, Oct. 29, at 7 p.m. The performance will be in All Saints' Chapel, and seating will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Praised by the San Francisco Chronicle for its "tonal luxuriance and crisply etched clarity," Chanticleer is known around the world as "an orchestra of voices" for its seamless blend of 12 male voices ranging from soprano to bass and its original interpretations of vocal literature, from Renaissance to jazz and popular genres, as well as contemporary composition.

Tickets are $20 and can be purchased at the door the evening of the performance or in advance by emailing <hrward@sewanee.edu>.

Shin-Young Lee Solo Recital

Award-winning pianist and organist Shin-Young Lee will perform as part of the celebration of 50 Years of Women in Sewanee on Monday, Nov. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel. Hailing from Seoul, Korea, Lee began her musical studies on the piano at the age of four and on the organ at the age of seventeen. She received a Bachelor of Music degree from Yonsei University, Seoul, under the direction of Dr. Tong-Soon Kwak.

In France, Lee continued her studies at the Schola Cantorum of Paris with Jean-Paul Imbert. She was awarded the first "Prix de Virtuosité" in 2002, and the first "Diplôme de concert à l'unanimité avec félicitations du jury" in 2003.

In September of the same year, Lee entered the organ class at the Paris Conservatoire National Supérieur Musique (CNSMDP) and received the Diplôme de Formation Supérieure in 2007 with Michel Bouvard and Olivier Latty. She then attended the post-graduate class ("cycle de perfectionnement") until June 2009.

Lee won the first prize at the Organ Competition of St. François de Lyon (2007) and she was laureate of the 2nd International Jordan International Organ Competition in Columbus, USA (2009).

She performed at the Berlin Philharmonie, Lathi Festival, Walt Disney hall of Los Angeles, Monaco Festival, Haarlem Festival, as well as the opening concert of the new organ at Radio France de Paris.

In addition to concerts and teaching, Lee has made her mark through recordings on the BNL label: Stravinsky ("The Rite of Spring", duet with Olivier Latty) and "Transprovisations", featuring the new organ of the Michaelskirche in Munich.

With great thanks to a charitable trust, this concert is free and open to the public.

'Nature's Peace' on Display at FC Library

Beersheba Springs resident, Nancy Gaye Woodlee will have her leaf art, also known as Nature's Peace, on display at the Franklin County Library through Dec. 3.

Born and raised in rural Irving College, Tenn., Woodlee has studied and worked in several urban areas, including Chattanooga, Nashville and Buffalo, N.Y. It was there in western New York where she studied commercial art.

After working for over three decades in city settings as a graphic artist, she has returned to her rural roots. She may now be found strolling the beautiful countryside of Beersheba Springs, searching for her next great leaf.

Woodlee specializes in forms, shapes, textures and colors that interpret and celebrate the sacred, peaceful aspects of nature.

The Franklin County Library is located at 105 S. Porter St., in Winchester. The library is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday to Friday and from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays. For more information, call (931) 967-3706.

'Faces of Sewanee' Open Through May 2020

The Department of Art, Art History and Visual Studies and the duPont Library at University of the South are pleased to present "Faces of Sewanee," a group exhibition of portraits by student artists from the Topics in Contemporary Painting class, under the guidance of Professor Jessica Wohl.

Featuring the work of students in ART 291: Topics in Contemporary Painting, "Faces of Sewanee" will open on Tuesday, Oct. 29, with a reception at 5 p.m. in the Torian Room of the Jessie Ball duPont Library.

"Faces of Sewanee" gives Sewanee students a chance to actively engage in the conversation about representation on campus, particularly with regards to tradition, history, legacy and story-telling as understood through portraiture. In considering who they want to represent, students selected individuals from a variety of social groups.

The paintings, which are displayed near eye-level in the student learning commons, compliment the portraits of the institution's Vice Chancellors that currently hang in that space. By displaying these works alongside those of the Vice Chancellors, students, faculty, staff and alumni will be equitably represented, through the painted image, as significant contributors to our campus community.

"This exhibit allows members of our community, some for the first time, to see themselves, or someone like them, on the walls of our institution. The project is part of an important conversation institutions are having nationwide regarding who has been worthy of reverie and representation in the past, and who is worthy of representation in the present and the future. In this exhibition, the portraits celebrate all of us," Wohl said.

At the opening of the exhibition, Wohl will address the origins of the project and outline how this exhibition correlates to broader contexts and conversations about culture and representation in our country. Following this introduction, the student artists will briefly present on each of the portraits they painted, outlining their own stories, those of their subject and the inspiration for the people they choose to portray. For more information, contact Wohl at <jewohl@sewanee.edu>.

Apprentice Program with Tennessee Craft

Tennessee Craft, in partnership with the Tennessee Arts Commission, announces the opening of the 2020 Master Artist/Apprentice Program (MAAP) application process. This mentoring program offers emerging artists a unique opportunity to learn traditional and contemporary craft skills firsthand from master craft artists.

All artists in the program choose challenging goals that will advance their skills and knowledge as craft artists. The MAAP was created to boost artists to the next level of their professional development during an intensive six-month one-on-one mentorship, not typically available in most learning environments.

Awarded apprentices receive a $1,800 stipend to work with their chosen master from Dec. 1, 2019 to June 15, 2020. Deadline for applications is Nov. 1. For more information, email <info@tennesseecraft.org>.

Annual Craft Fair

The Franklin County Senior Citizens, Inc. will be holding their annual craft fair from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 26, at the Franklin County Annex Building in Winchester. For more information, call (931) 967-9853 or email <fdirector@fscs.Comcastbiz.Net>.

7th Annual Holiday Market

The seventh annual Holiday Market will be held on Friday, Nov. 1 and Saturday, Nov. 2, at the Franklin County Annex Building, Winchester. A few booth spaces are still available. Vendor applications are available online along with the current booth layout at <www.SouthernTnLadies.com> or contact Sandi Mackey at <stlsHolidayMarket@gmail.com> or (570) 656-6118.

This is an all-indoor event with more than 50 booths that range in price from $ 50 to $ 75. STLS is looking for vendors that offer homemade items suitable for the gift-giving season. It is not a juried event.

Last year the event offered items such as wreaths, ornaments, jewelry, quilts, custom embroidery, wooden signs, seasonal décor, T-shirts, soaps and candles, pottery and an array of artistic items. All proceeds from this event benefit the Southern TN Ladies' Society Scholarship Foundation.

ALOOKBACK

from the pages of the Sewanee Mountain Messenger

Sewanee Now and Then

by Elizabeth N. Chitty

Anniversaries from the Sept. 19, 1986 issue.

Thursday, Sept. 18, marked the 118th anniversary of the opening of the University in 1868, when nine students and four professors marched into a nearly-completed St. Augustine's Chapel (the site is south of All Saints' Chapel marked by a stone). Bishop Charles T. Quintard was Vice-Chancellor and Bishop William Mercer Green, Chancellor. The professors were Josiah Gorgas, Robert E. Lee's chief of ordinance, a West Point graduate who would teach engineering, physics and geology during his years here while he also served as Vice-Chancellor from 1872; Robert Dabney, a graduate in law of the University of Virginia, who was professor of English Literature and metaphysics, as philosophy was then called; G. Berkeley Green, son of the Chancellor, who taught mathematics for that year; and the Rev. Franklin L. Knight, a graduate of Bowdoin College, who had come with Tennessee theological students to the Domain in 1867, and who was professor of Greek and acting chaplain. The nine students included a son of Knight, Charles M. Fairbanks, whose home was Rebel's Rest, three boys from Milton, Fla., and one each from Nashville, Clarksville, Albany, Ga., and New Orleans. They ranged in age from 12 to 19, but their presence was enough to validate the Sewanee Mining Company's gift of 5,000 acres of land in 1858 which required an opening of school by Sept. 25, 1868. Rather a close call! And Sept. 18 was Founders' Day for many years.

Today Founders' Day is celebrated on Oct. 10, memorializing the 1860 occasion when a great crowd came to a ceremonial laying of the cornerstone in Louisiana Circle (the site is now marked by a stone bearing that date but no building ever rose there).

The School of Theology observed its centennial in 1978, though classes in theology had been taught for several years before and the actual opening of St. Luke's Hall was 1879. In 1984 the seminary moved to Hamilton Hall.

The Medical School and Law Department had relatively short lives, from 1892 and 1893 to 1909, and Thompson Hall is no longer an academic building several stories in height.

In 1908 the preparatory department, known from 1869 as the Sewanee Grammar School, became the Sewanee Military Academy, a name it kept through 1971 when it dropped the military, finally to be merged in 1981 with St. Andrew's School.

It was 1969 before the first women were admitted to the College as candidates for baccalaureate degrees and 1974 before the School of Theology gave an earned degree to a woman.

It is now nearly 130 years since there has been an organization known as the University of the South. The Domain and the diocesan sponsorship is intact, though the curriculum has not yet reached the elaborate range envisioned by the Founders, whom we remember on a series of days each new academic year.

SAS Players Present 'Babka Without Borders'

The weekend of Nov. 1-3, the SAS Players will present "Babka Without Borders" on the stage of McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts on the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School campus. The family-friendly play is a hysterical, fast-paced farce that's loaded with physical humor.

The Harmony Café at the center of "Babka Without Borders" could be any quaint eastern European bistro if it weren't for one thing — an international border runs smack dab through the middle of it. Luckily, the café serves the world's best babka, but trouble is brewing and babka turns out to be an excellent projectile. This tale of love, espionage and the best babka east of the Danube goes to show there are no boundaries for good taste.

The cast of "Babka Without Borders" includes more than a dozen SAS middle and upper school students with support from another five students in the school's Theatre Design and Tech course. It is the first SAS production under the direction of Chelsea Padro, who joined the faculty this fall. In addition to her position at SAS, Padro is Acting Teacher/Director at Admiral Theatre Summer Camp in Bremerton, Wash.

Performances will be Friday, Nov. 1 and Saturday, Nov. 2 at 7 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 3 at 4 p.m. Tickets are $5 for children, $10 for adults and free for SAS students and staff. They may be reserved online at <<https://www.sasweb.org>> or purchased on the evening of the performance.

60th Annual Lessons and Carols at Sewanee

The 60th annual Festival of Lessons and Carols at the University of the South will be celebrated at three services, two on Dec. 7 (4 p.m. and 7 p.m.), and one on Dec. 8 (4 p.m.).

As part of the University mission and the program of education and formation of All Saints' Chapel, the Festival Service of Lessons and Carols offers students, faculty, and staff in the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Theology the opportunity to experience one of the oldest traditions of Anglican music and Advent expectation. As part of the University's outreach to others, the Chapel is pleased to welcome the public by offering any available places in the service for reservation. Based on last year's experience, however, the University expects that after accommodating students, faculty, staff, and their families, the number of places available to the public for reservation may be severely limited.

In our continuing effort to ensure open communication, below are our plans for the reservation system this year. Some highlights:

The University will determine by Nov. 14, 2019, whether there will be places available to the general public for reservation.

If so, online reservations for the public will be available on Nov. 20, 2019.

Guests will be able to reserve a specific seat.

All tickets will be available for pick-up at Convocation Hall prior to the service.

Unused tickets, if any, will be made available to walk-up guests (guests without a reservation) before each service.

If you have questions that are not answered here, please contact the Lessons and Carols office at (931) 598-3247 or via email at <lessonsandcarols@sewanee.edu>.

Ralston Listening Events

Fall-Focused Watercolor Workshop Oct. 26

Durinda Cheek will lead a one-day workshop on Saturday, Oct. 26, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The cost for the workshop is $85. This workshop is designed for painters with some experience in watercolor or other media.

Put your watercolor techniques to work to create the fall landscape in a variety of subjects. We will be painting wet-in-wet as well as glazing. We will create textures with salt, alcohol, and dry brush. Learn how to tame those garish fall colors by color mixing.

Supplies are available from the instructor for $15 and includes watercolor paper, paints, and a brush. You can also bring your own brushes and buy paper and paints for the day for $10.

Participants must pre-register as class size is limited.

After registration, a recommended supply list is provided. Register online at <www.franklincoarts.org>.

Art Wednesdays at Artisan Depot

The Franklin County Arts Guild invites community members interested in the visual arts to come to the Artisan Depot Gallery & Gift Shop for Art Wednesdays. Anyone can participate. Age and skill level do not matter.

The group meets every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Everyone brings their own art supplies and projects. Sometimes everyone works on individual projects and sometimes we get one of the members to do a mini-workshop for anyone interested. Art Wednesday is a great place to seek advice on technique, supplies, and get input on projects from the group. There are no fees. Artisan Depot Gallery is located at 204 Cumberland St. E., Cowan.

Hall of Fame Class Announced

The Class of 2019 of the Sewanee Athletics Hall of Fame has been announced. Five individuals and two teams make up the class, which will be inducted as a part of Homecoming Weekend, Nov. 2-3.

The committee will introduce George Barker C'26, Gabriela Carvalho C'08, Bill Huyck, Mike Knickelbine C'68 and Katy Morrissey C'90, in addition to the 1993 Men's Tennis Team and the 1997 Men's Basketball Team.

George Barker, C'26—Men's Basketball, Football, Men's Golf. Born in Falling Water, Tenn. north of metro Chattanooga in 1901, Barker attended the University of the South in the fall of 1922 thanks to the influence of Alexander Guerry. He earned two varsity letters each with the men's basketball and the men's golf team in 1924 and 1925. With the football team, he earned three varsity letters in 1923-25 as a quarterback. He was named team captain of the team in 1925, where he also won the Porter Cup, which was given to the university's outstanding athlete.

He was a member of the 1924 team that earned the Thanksgiving Day win over Vanderbilt, defeating the Commodores, 16-0. After losing four straight games without scoring a point, the Tigers went on to win the final three games, outscoring opponents, 47-0.

After graduation, he went back to his high school alma mater, The Baylor School in Chattanooga to teach. During World War II, Barker served in Hawaii in the Army.

After serving his country, Barker returned to the Domain and worked in the treasurer's office until his retirement in 1966.

Because of his athletic achievements in the State of Tennessee, Barker, also known as "Zaney", was inducted into the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame in 1983.

He passed away on April 23, 1986 in Sewanee.

Gabriela Carvalho, C'08—Women's Tennis. Carvalho, a four-time NCAA All-American, holds the sixth-most wins in Sewanee program history in singles play with 71. She was a member of the 2007 program that was inducted into the Sewanee Athletics Hall of Fame in 2017 that finished in third place at the NCAA Championships, the highest finish ever for the program and in Sewanee Athletics history.

Posting a 6-4 record at the NCAA Singles Championships, she was a back-to-back quarterfinalist in 2006 and 2007. Following her sophomore season, she finished fourth in the national singles rankings, the highest mark of her career.

A four-time All-Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference (SCAC) selection, she was named the Player of the Year in the conference her senior season.

Thanks to her success, the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) named her the National Senior Player of the Year in 2008.

Bill Huyck, Athletic Director (1984-1995)—Huyck served as Sewanee's Director of Athletics for 12 years. In his time on the Domain, he was instrumental in the creation of the Robert Dobbs Fowler Athletic Center.

He was also influential in a conference change, as Sewanee joined the Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference (SCAC) for both men's and women's sports for the 1991-92 season.

Huyck served as the head coach of the men's cross country team and the men's track and field team along with his many duties as Athletic Director.

During his tenure, the Athletic Department earned 17 conference championships for Sewanee Athletics with the College Athletic Conference (CAC), the Women's Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (WIAC) and the SCAC.

Graduating from Carleton College in 1953, Huyck was inducted into the Minnesota Track & Field Hall of Fame in 2010.

Mike Knickelbine, C'68—Football. Knickelbine was a two-time First Team All-College Athletic Conference (CAC) selection in 1966 and 1967, where he was the "heart and soul" of those teams, especially for his blocking in Coach Shirley Majors' single wing offense. During his junior season, he was named an All-Conference selection at both offensive end and defensive end. Named team captain for the 1967 season, he was a part of 20 wins during his career, including an 8-1 record in 1964 and a 7-1 record in 1965. Off campus, he was a captain of the Sewanee Volunteer Fire Department.

Katy Morrissey, C'90—Women's Tennis. Morrissey was a two-time All-American in doubles play in 1989 and 1990 by the Intercollegiate Tennis Coaches Association (now called the Intercollegiate Tennis Association). She has totaled 57 career doubles wins.

Morrissey helped lead the Tigers to its first two NCAA Tournament appearances in 1989 and 1990. The Tigers finished as a quarterfinalist in 1989 and fourth place in 1990.

She joins her doubles partner Ellen Gray-Maybank (Hogan), who was inducted into the Sewanee Athletics Hall of Fame in 2007. The duo finished the 1989 season ranked eighth in the country and fifth at the conclusion of the 1990 campaign.

1993 Men's Tennis Team—The 1993 men's tennis team won its first Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference (SCAC) Championship under head coach John Shackelford after finishing as a tournament finalist in the inaugural year of the championship. The team finished the campaign with a 19-6 record, the second-most at the time behind the 24 wins by the 1988 team, also inducted into the Hall in 2011.

The Tigers, in San Antonio, Texas, defeated the host, Trinity University, 5-4, to claim their first conference tournament championship. With the win, the program earned its third trip to the NCAA Tournament after its last appearance in 1989.

That season, three players, Brian Morrow, Lee Hamilton and Stephen Jackson were named to the All-Conference Singles Team. In doubles, the Tigers swept the All-Conference awards, taking all three flights. K.C. Horne and Jackson won at No. 1, as the duo went on to each become an All-American by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA).

Morrow and Matthew Harris won the No. 2. Jay Jones and Lanny Lewis took home All-Conference honors at the No. 3 flight.

On a national level, Horne was also named the Rookie of the Year by the ITA.

Finishing ninth in the NCAA Championships, the SCAC listed the moment at the 10th-best moment of the conference's Top-20 Moments in 2011.

1997 Men's Basketball Team—Under head coach Joe Thoni, the 1997 men's basketball team recorded a 19-7 record en route to the team's first conference title in the Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference (SCAC) and the program's fifth conference championship.

The program earned its first conference title since the team won back-to-back in 1975 and 1976.

From a stretch from Jan. 10 to Feb. 9, the Tigers won eight of 10 conference games as they finished with an 11-3 mark in league play, three games ahead of Southwestern University (Texas), to win the conference title.

The program earned the automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament, as the team finished in the second round.

Hosting the first two rounds in Juhan Gymnasium, the Tigers defeated Rust College (Miss.), 68-61, in the opening round on March 6 to earn the program's first NCAA Tournament win.

Ryan Harrigan led the conference in scoring that season with 488 points, averaging 18.8 points per contest. Additionally, he led the league in field goals made (197) and field goal percentage (61.6).

Peter Jones took the top honors in the SCAC in assists with 128, posting 4.9 per game, while Turner Emery drained 70 shots from beyond the arc.

The Tigers led the way in three-point field goals, making 193 that season, averaging 7.42 per game.

Harrigan, who was named Player of the Year in the league, and Emery were both selected as First Team All-Conference. Mike Eddy was a Second Team recipient, while head coach Thoni was named the SCAC Coach of the Year.

Mountain Biking Championships at SAS

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School will be hosting the seventh annual Tennessee Interscholastic Cycling League Championships for high school and middle school on Sunday, Nov. 3. The state championship race is the last of a five-race series for the NICA Tennessee League's 2019 event schedule. Weekend activities for the riders include a course pre-ride Saturday afternoon concluding with an all-team dinner and senior slide show in the evening. Category races for middle school, girls, varsity, and junior varsity will begin on Sunday morning. The individual and team award ceremony will take place at the conclusion of the races.

Many volunteers are needed to support the race championships. Opportunities to help on Saturday with course setup and on Sunday with various jobs are open for sign up on the league website <<http://www.tennesseemtb.org>>.

SAS coaches Speed Baranco, Beth Pride Ford, and Michael Short coach a team of 31 middle and high school riders with the assistance of parent and community volunteers Jill Mollica, Karen Singer, Barbara Fox, Sian Baranco, Steve Holt, Alex Krongard, John Fox, Alex Neubauer, and Pete Mollica.

St. Andrew's-Sewanee offers a comprehensive mountain biking program for students in grades six through 12. The SAS mountain biking program is designed to provide a wide range of riding experiences for boys and girls of all ages and abilities. The coaches are committed to creating a positive environment that fosters respect, support, inclusiveness, fairness, safety, enthusiasm, and work ethic.

Field Hockey Tripped Up by Centre

The Sewanee field hockey team played the Colonels of Centre College on Sunday, as the hosts downed the Tigers, 7-0, Sunday afternoon from the South Turf Field.

The Colonels started the scoring in the first quarter with three goals in the 10th, 12th and 15th minutes.

Centre made it a 4-0 lead into the locker room on an 18th minute goal.

The home team scored three more times in the second half to seal the victory.

Controlling the contest from the start, the Colonels took 22 shots while allowing the Tigers one, which came on goal in the seventh minute by Buckley Norman.

Centre is ranked 16th in the latest National Field Hockey Coaches Association poll.

Buckley Norman recorded the lone shot for the Tigers.

Barbara Canty (3-9) saved 10 shots in 60 minutes.

Cross Country Concludes Regular Season

The Sewanee cross country teams concluded the regular season on Saturday with the Berry Invitational.

Of the 10 runners competing in Saturday's 6K race, nine either set season bests or personal bests.

Molly Joseph improved her 6K time by almost a minute with a 24:19.0 mark, good for 24th out of 120 runners.

Ann Chapman Haynes ran to a 31st place finish of 24:47.8 for a new season best. The junior improved the mark by over a minute, and she missed her personal best time by five seconds of 24:42.8.

Ellie Herron recorded a 34th place time of 25:05.1 as the senior improved her personal best by 30 seconds.

Janie Schmitt ran a 25:40.9, while Patricia Hammett crossed the finish line at 26:57.3.

Other finishers include Perry Gresham (27:15.2), Mary Ackery (28:19.4), Madison Sellers (28:25.5), Haley Hubert (30:53.9) and Jean Tankard (31:15.7).

Sewanee finished fourth overall at the meet, third among Division III schools, and second among Southern Athletic Association (SAA) teams behind Berry.

On the men's side, Ash Midyett finished 13th overall, seventh among Division III runners with a 26:18.0. The senior improved his season best from the Louisville Classic two weeks ago by 1.4 seconds.

Jack Barganier posted a 27:00 mark in the 8K race on Saturday, finishing in 38th place.

Bram Atkins and Sam Kearley finished with a 27:53.3 and 27:55.5 time, respectively.

Wesley Cusack posted a personal best of 28:27.4 in Saturday's race.

Other finishers include Ian Boer (29:42.4), Rob Mohr (30:01.9), Patrick Rodriguez (30:14.1), Rob Ritchie (30:48.5) and Joseph Brown (31:19.5).

The men's team finished eighth overall out of 15 teams in the 8K race. The Tigers finished sixth among Division III runners.

With her 11th and 12th goals of the year, freshman Addie Roemershauser (No. 24, shown playing against Hendrix on Oct. 13) helped Sewanee's women fix their position in the SAA firmly at second, beating Millsaps and Birmingham-Southern over the weekend. ## Women's Soccer in Second Place

With Sewanee and Birmingham-Southern entering Sunday's match tied for second place in the Southern Athletic Association (SAA) standings with 10 points each, this was a crucial match for both teams with the conference tournament looming. Thanks to two second half goals, the Tigers defeated the Panthers, 3-1, Oct. 20, from Goldfarb Field.

The Panthers struck first in the match on a corner kick in the 30th minute, as Sydney Barrow netted her ninth goal of the season.

Over a minute later, Chloe Thompson found Nika Gorski for her fourth goal of the season to even the match at a goal apiece.

As the contest shifted to the second half, the Tigers scored twice in a five-minute span. In the 52nd minute, Maggie Gall scored her first goal of the season to give the visitors the 2-1 lead.

In the 58th minute, Addie Roemershauser netted her 12th goal of 2019 to give Sewanee a key insurance goal.

In the final 30 minutes, the Panthers were limited to just three shots.

Addie Roemershauser scored once on six total shots, two on goal.

Chloe Thompson recorded an assist as she took four shots, one on goal.

Mimi Davis had three shots, as the Tigers out-shot the Panthers, 21-11 and 13-4 in the second half.

Hanna Judycki (5-4-2) saved two shots in full time, as she allowed her second goal in six conference matches this season.

The sophomore is second in the league with a 1.05 goals-against average. Additionally, she has allowed two goals in 560 minutes in league play, averaging 0.32 goals-against per match, both good for second-most in the SAA.

HEARING HEALTH NEWS
by Debbie Gamache,
M.S. CCC-A Audiologist

TYPES OF HEARING LOSS

There are two general types of hearing loss.

1. Conductive hearing loss, a medically treatable condition that involves a problem in the ear canal or middle ear that prevents sound from getting to the inner ear (such as ear infections and wax build up).
2. Sensorineural hearing loss, a general term used to describe conditions that result from damage to the hair cells of the inner ear or the nerves that supply it. Persons with this type of hearing loss can be helped with properly selected and custom fitted digital hearing technology.

Your ability to hear is as unique as your fingerprints. No two people have the exact same impairment. Age, family history, medical conditions, childhood and adult illness, and noise exposure can combine to produce different kinds of hearing losses in different people. We recommend the services of the audiologist at Debbie Gamache's The Hearing Center LLC, when you need help with your hearing. We are located at 705 NW Atlantic St. Suite B, Tullahoma. ## Tigers Sputter Against the 'Roos

The Sewanee football team made some noise late in the contest, but it was the Kangaroos of Austin College who edged out a 21-14 win on Oct. 19, from a rainy and windy Hardee-McGee Field at Harris Stadium.

The Tigers defense was able to get the Kangaroos to punt on their first drive of the game, but on the team's first offensive drive, the hosts went three-and-out.

The 'Roos were able to score on their next possession. Aaron Rideaux opening the scoring with a 21-yard pass from Colt Collins.

After another punt by Sewanee, despite starting from their seven-yard-line, Austin stormed down the field and scored. The drive was capped by a 47-yard run by Bo Garner with 13:42 left in the first half to give the Kangaroos the 14-0 lead.

With 6:35 left in the second stanza, Austin was driving down the field looking to make its lead three touchdowns. However, with less than two minutes left in the half at the Sewanee 33, Collins was looking deep, but instead, he found Wesley Porter for his fourth interception of the season at the four-yard-line.

With 1:47 at their own 23-yard-line, the Tigers were able to score before the clock expired as Sam Everette rushed the one yard needed for the score. The Tigers used nine plays and 77 yards to go into the locker room with a 14-7 lead.

Sewanee, who had the ball to start the second half, was unable to muster a deep drive, as the team was forced to punt on its first possession.

On their first possession of the half, the 'Roos used three plays and 77 yards, capped by a 72-yard run by Evan Powell, to make it 21-7 in favor of the visitors.

Austin had two chances to put the game away in the fourth quarter. With 10 minutes left in regulation, the 'Roos drive was halted at the Sewanee 14 on a fourth down incompleteness.

Sewanee took over on downs, and at the Austin 40, they gave the ball back to the visitors with 6:29 left after a missed fourth down conversion.

Austin's second attempt to put the game away came up short, as Matthew Smith missed a 25-yard field goal with 3:02 left in regulation.

From their own 20-yard-line, the Tigers used 1:08 off the clock in eight plays, as Jacob Viccari caught a 43-yard pass from Alex Darras to cut the deficit to 21-14 with 1:54 left.

On the on-side attempt, the Tigers recovered the ball at the Sewanee 43-yard-line as Daniel May picked up the football.

However, the Tigers were stopped on their last drive for the second straight week, as the 'Roos used two sacks to seal the contest.

Jacob Viccari recorded a touchdown on three receptions and 64 yards, and Colin May added 79 yards on eight catches.

Alex Darras threw for 207 yards on 19-of-43 passing. Serving as the punter for six of the eight punts, the senior averaged 41 yards per boot, totaling 246 yards.

Wesley Porter recorded 12 tackles, one for a loss and recorded a 19-yard interception late in the first half that sparked the touchdown as the clock expired.

Volleyball Sweeps Majors

The Sewanee volleyball team recorded a 3-0 victory over the Majors of Millsaps on Oct. 20. With the win, the Tigers sweep the Southern Athletic Association (SAA) regular season series after Sewanee swept Millsaps at home on Oct. 5.

Leading 13-10, the Tigers went on an 11-5 run to secure set point, 24-15. The Majors did not go away quietly, scoring the next four points before Ellie Pedersen recorded the kill to win, 25-19.

The visitors went on a 12-4 run in the second set after Millsaps won the first two points. After a Majors timeout, they would go on to score the next three points to make it 12-9, Sewanee. However, the Tigers secured the second set with an 8-1 run en route to a 25-16 victory to take a 2-0 match lead.

In the third set, the Majors started on a 10-2 run, including winning seven points in a row. Sewanee would rebound to even the set at 20 points apiece. The Majors scored four of the next five points to claim the set point, but the Tigers scored four straight points, thanks to back-to-back blocks by the Sewanee defense, to win the match in straight sets.

Destiny Stewart led the Tigers with 10 kills and added six digs and two block assists.

Ellie Pedersen added eight kills, while Sydney White had 12 digs.

Stephanie Price recorded a .545 attack percentage with six kills on 11 attacks and no errors. The senior added six blocks.

For the match, Sewanee had a .264 attack percentage (34-10-91).

Men's Soccer Routs Panthers

The Sewanee men's soccer team, for the first time since Birmingham-Southern joined NCAA Division III, defeated the Panthers, 4-0, to spoil Senior Day on Goldfarb Field.

In the 11th minute, Severin Velasco found Thompson Schollaert for the first goal of the contest and his seventh goal of the season.

The Tigers added a second goal with less than five minutes left in the half. In the 41st minute, Tashinga Vhumisai found Velasco outside the box and he scored his second goal in as many matches.

Nearly a minute after entering the contest in, Ben Vaeth found Schollaert's pass for his third goal of the season in the 65th minute.

Sewanee added a fourth goal in the 79th minute by Christian Turk, his second goal of the year, from Andrew Turk's pass.

Sewanee posted 24 shots in the match, 18 coming in the second half. BSC was held to 10 shots in the match.

Sewanee earned its first victory over Birmingham-Southern for the first time since a 1-0 victory on Sept. 13, 1989, also in Birmingham.

Severin Velasco took four shots, three on-target, to lead Sewanee. The junior added a goal and an assist.

Thompson Schollaert and Alpo Sipilä each added three shots.

NATURENOTES

by Yolande Gottfried

Flowers at Fowler

The shrubs in the Fowler Center parking lot are in bloom! These are the late-flowering witch hazel, with four long, narrow, twisted yellow petals. These particular shrubs are most likely cultivars of our native witch hazel, Hamamelis virginiana, which can be found along streams and the sides of ravines, probably blooming later in the season. The genus name, Hamamelis, comes from the Greek name of a plant that flowers and fruits at the same time. These shrubs bear the seed capsules from the previous year, which wait to release their seed until the shrub blooms again at this time. When conditions are just right, these capsules burst open with a force that shoots the seeds some distance and makes a popping sound—something I would love to witness. This gives the shrub another of its common names—snapping alder. The closest relative to witch hazel in our flora is sweet gum, a tree which also has distinctive fruits. Blooming so late in the season, witch hazel must look for insect pollinators that may still be active on warmer days and so stays in bloom for a long period of time. These may include small gnats, wasps, and flies—something else to look for on warm fall days. I saw a hornet on the ones at the Fowler Center. This plant is indeed the source of the witch hazel lotion sold in drugstores, distilled mainly from the twigs and mildly astringent, containing tannic and gallic acid. Its forked branches were also used for “water witching.” The common name comes from the Anglo-Saxon word “wych,” meaning bending, which may refer to the usual growth form, with several stems that may lean and branch crookedly. So, look for witch hazel brightening the woods on walks on these late fall days—and listen for the exploding fruits. Let us know if you hear them!

Following up on last week’s note concerning “walking lichen,” Bill Mauzy sent in images of a small but scary creature crawling on his window, a bit of “fuzz” with pincer-like mouth parts. These may be the larvae of the green lacewing, which camouflage themselves with bits of debris.

Hummer Update: Freddy Tucker of Sewanee reports he had a hummer at his feeder (he thinks a male due to its dark coloration) just before the storm the other day. It took a big drink and then headed off in the direction of the airport.

Deryl Walker of Alto reports that she still has multiple hummers hitting her feeders and the many flowers in her yard.

State Park Offerings

Please note: To confirm that these events will occur as listed go to <http://tnstateparks.com/parks/events/southcumberland/#/?park=southcumberland> or call (931) 924-2980.

Wednesday, Oct. 30

Foster Falls to Small Wilds Hike (free)—Join in with other South Cumberland trail blazers at 2 p.m. at Sherwood Forest Parking lot 9. Take Jump Off Road to old CCC Camp Road, go just past Coyote Cove Lane, to help continue refining this brand new loop trail at the park. Please be prepared with sturdy footwear and plenty of water/snacks. If you have favorite trail-building tools or pairs of gloves, feel free to bring them. Note: You can only access Old CCC Road from Jump Off Road, not from Sherwood Road.

Sunday, Nov. 3

Evening Hike to Rattlesnake Point ($10) (Please preregister. Registration closes at midnight the day before the event. All times are Central)—Join Ranger Mark Greenwood at 3:30 p.m. at Savage Gulf Ranger Station, 3157 SR 399, Palmer, for an approximately 4-mile roundtrip hike to the Rattlesnake Point Overlook. With any luck, we can see the sunset over Savage Gulf. Be sure to bring along water, and quick bite to eat in case you get hungry on the trail. Wear sturdy shoes. Weather permitting. The areas around overlooks can be treacherous in terms of keeping your footing. The potential to slip and fall exists, and extreme care is needed. Flashlights are a must, as it will likely be well after dark before our return. Cancellations must be made no later than 48 hours prior to the program’s scheduled conclusion in order to receive a refund.

Monday, Nov. 4

Savage Gulf Trail Work—Meet at Savage Gulf Ranger Station, 3157 SR 399, Palmer, at 8:15 a.m. to help the Rangers with needed trail repair and maintenance at the Savage Gulf State Natural Area. Bring work clothes, sturdy footwear, gloves, plenty of water, and food for the trail. Work implements (hand tools only) will be provided, but you may bring your own, if desired. Weather permitting.

The South Cumberland State Park Visitors’ Center is located on Highway 41 South between Monteagle and Tracy City and is open 8 a.m.—4:30 p.m. seven days a week. For more information call (931) 924-2980.

Sewanee

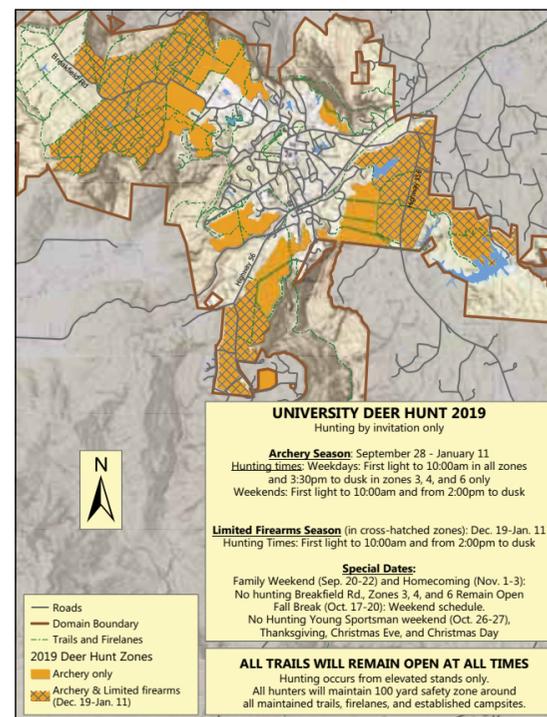

Griffin

Pets of the Week Meet Sewanee & Griffin

Sewanee is a one-year-old tri color medium mixed breed that was found abandoned at the Sewanee cross. Sewanee is such a love bug, and would do well in a variety of homes including homes with children or other pets. Sewanee is full of playful energy, and does not meet a stranger. We are very hopeful that this young, loving dog finds the perfect loving home in which she can thrive and live out the rest of her life never to be abandoned again. She is up-to-date on vaccinations, heartworm-negative, spayed and microchipped.

Griffin is a five-month-old absolutely adorable brown tabby kitten with perfectly white socks. Griffin and his litter mates rule the roost in their cat community room where they eat, play hard, and cat nap all day long. Griffin has a very fun personality and is very social with people. He particularly loves to perch on the high shelving in the cat room. Get ready to bring this guy home to a fresh cat tree, where he will feel king of the house and provide years of unconditional love to your family. He is up-to-date on vaccinations, FIV/FelV negative, neutered, and microchipped.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at www.animalharbor.org. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Sewanee Deer Hunt 2019-20

The 2019 hunting season in Sewanee runs discontinuously until Jan. 11, 2020.

This year there are minor changes to the hunting areas. Areas on both sides of the water tower trail have been reopened to full season hunting after being limited for the last two years. As was the case last year, limited hunting will be allowed during Homecoming in zones away from heavy recreational activity. There will be no hunting on Breakfield Road during Homecoming to ensure ample hiking opportunities for guests. As always, all trails and firelanes remain open to recreational use during the season and hunters maintain a 100-yard safety zone around all recreational trails.

This invitation only hunt is open to all approved University faculty and staff, as well as their direct relatives. The hunt is also open to approved students. All participants must complete the Tennessee Bowhunter Safety Course (or other state equivalent), undergo a background check by the Sewanee Police Department, and participate in all mandatory meetings. All hunters are required to possess a valid TN hunting license and follow all TWRA rules and regulations at all times.

As in previous years, there may be a surplus of animals available for local families. If you are interested in picking up a field-dressed deer for processing, please email domain@sewanee.edu. For more information on the University hunting program and specific rules and times, go to <http://sustain.sewanee.edu/domain/ecosystem-management/deer-hunting/>.

Halloween

Little Orphant Annie's come to our house to stay,
An' wash the cups an' saucers up, an' brush the crumbs away,
An' shoo the chickens off the porch, an' dust the hearth, an' sweep,
An' make the fire, an' bake the bread, an' earn her board-an'-keep;
An' all us other children, when the supper-things is done,
We set around the kitchen fire an' has the mostest fun
A-list'nin' to the witch-tales 'at Annie tells about,
An' the Gobble-uns 'at gits you

Ef you
Don't
Watch
Out!

Wunst they wuz a little boy wouldn't say his prayers,--
An' when he went to bed at night, away up-stairs,
His Mammy heerd him holler, an' his Daddy heerd him bawl,
An' when they turn't the kivvers down, he wuzn't there at all!
An' they seeked him in the rafter-room, an' cubby-hole, an' press,
An' seeked him up the chimby-flue, an' ever'-wheres, I guess;
But all they ever found wuz thist his pants an' roundabout:--
An' the Gobble-uns 'll git you

Ef you
Don't
Watch
Out!

An' one time a little girl 'ud allus laugh an' grin,
An' make fun of ever' one, an' all her blood-an'-kin;
An' wunst, when they was "company," an' ole folks wuz there,
She mocked 'em an' shocked 'em, an' said she didn't care!
An' thist as she kicked her heels, an' turn't to run an' hide,
They wuz two great big Black Things a-standin' by her side,
An' they snatched her through the ceilin' 'fore she knowed what she's about!

An' the Gobble-uns 'll git you
Ef you
Don't
Watch
Out!

An' little Orphant Annie says, when the blaze is blue,
An' the lamp-wick sputters, an' the wind goes woo-oo!
An' you hear the crickets quit, an' the moon is gray,
An' the lightnin'-bugs in dew is all quenched away,--
You better mind yer parunts, an' yer teachurs fond an' dear,
An' churish them 'at loves you, an' dry the orphan's tear,
An' he'p the pore an' needy ones 'at clusters all about,
Er the Gobble-uns 'll git you

Ef you
Don't
Watch
Out!
