Community Funding Project Funds Available

The Sewanee Community Funding Project (SCFP) is again seeking proposals for physical improvements and amenities on the Domain that will enhance the community and improve the quality of life in Sewanee when completed.

The SCFP is funded by the University of the South and is sponsored by the Community Council. The committee is composed of community council representatives and members of the community.

The total funding available this year is $20,000.

The Project Request Forms are available at the Sewanee Post Office, Regions Bank and the Sewanee Community Center.

These forms are due Nov. 1, 2017 and April 1, 2018.

Nonprofit groups, organizations and individuals are encouraged to submit proposals. Organizers anticipate a successful year, but only if you pick up a SCFP Request Form, fill it out and email it <sewaneeecfp@gmail.com> or mail to Pixie Dozier at 133 Carriage Lane, Sewanee, TN 37375.

Sewanee Elementary School joined more than 5,100 schools from around the world on the annual Walk to School Day, Oct. 4. Approximately 163 walkers gathered at the University Book and Supply Store and began their early morning trek down the sidewalk to the elementary school. Students were met at the school by Stripes the Tiger, the school mascot and received a healthy snack before starting their daily activities at school.

Groundbreaking Ceremonies for Tracy City Mountain Goat Trail Project

Official groundbreaking ceremonies will take place on Monday, Oct. 23, for the downtown Tracy City portion of the Mountain Goat Trail.

The ceremonies will begin at 4:30 p.m. in downtown Tracy City, across from the Grundy County Historical Society.

Tracy City Mayor Larry Phipps said, "This will be an exciting day for our town. We're breaking ground not just on the Mountain Goat Trail, but also on another improvement to Tracy City, which will improve our quality of life."

The 1.2-mile section of the Mountain Goat Trail will extend from Tracy City Elementary School to the town city hall. It is the first of three sections of the trail which have been funded for construction, and which will connect Tracy City to Monteagle with a combined 6.2 miles of paved trail.

"The MGTA is grateful for the chance to assist Tracy City with their Mountain Goat Trail project. We look forward to working with the town as we connect Tracy City to Monteagle over the next two years," said Nate Wilson, MGTA board president.

The Mountain Goat Trail project is being funded by a TDOT Transportation Enhancement grant. Governor Haslam visited Grundy County in 2014 to present the town with a check representing the grant amount of $603,569. The town has arranged for a loan to provide the 20 percent cash match for the grant.

The Mountain Goat Trail is a rail to trail community outdoor recreation project to convert an abandoned railroad right-of-way into a multi-use recreational corridor between Grundy and Franklin Counties on the Cumberland Plateau in Middle Tennessee. When finished, the trail will be 35-40 miles in length, climbing from Cowan onto the Cumberland Plateau and passing through the towns of Sewanee, Monteagle, Tracy City, Coalmont, Gruetli-Laager and Palmer.

'Haunted Sewanee' Recounts Spectral Tales

by Kevin Cummings, Messenger Staff Writer

A ghost from the past, a former student who knew Annie Armour when she was University of the South archivist, chats with her at Stirling's Coffee House on a late September afternoon.

The conversation finished, she moves outside to the porch to give an interview about her new book, "Haunted Sewanee," which recounts tales of ghostly encounters on the Domain. Armour, who was archivist for 28 years, says she did not believe in ghosts until writing the book, but now feels there are specters that haunt Sewanee.

"There are a lot of stories in there that could be coincidental and not

GARDENERS' MARKET THANK YOU

To the Editor:

We would like to thank both the vendors and the customers who came out every Saturday this summer to the Gardeners' Market at Hawkins Lane. We have had a great season, and we look forward to seeing you next spring. Thanks again.

Linda and Matt Barry, Sewanee

IOUs SUBMITTED

To the Editor:

At the last Thurmond Library book sale, $48 worth of IOUs were submitted and every bit of those promises have been kept. It is a wonderful life we live in our town! Thank you.

Trudy Cunningham, Sewanee

THANK YOU SEWANEE

To the Editor:

I hope everyone had a wonderful time at the seventh annual AngelFest. It looked as if the kids and adults were basking in the fun. It truly was a memorable day and the Sewanee Business Alliance, along with our sponsors, were thrilled to provide our community the opportunity to celebrate our town. Thank you especially to Joseph and Alyssa Sumpter and the team at Joseph's Remodeling Solutions. They were the title sponsor and put together all of the kids' fun. Thank you to Debbie Blinder for organizing the crafters and farmers, a wonderful addition to AngelFest. Thanks also to all our community members who volunteered to come together and make it happen. Can't wait until our eighth annual AngelFest next year! Sewanee truly is a magical place.

CORRECTION TO COMMUNITY COUNCIL ARTICLE

To the Editor:

Folks at Home is a local grassroots nonprofit that coordinates services to empower individuals to live at home with dignity in the community they love. During 2016, we offered services to our 62 annual subscribing members and provided pro bono services to 68 individuals and 12 organizations. Transportation is coordinated through community volunteers and vetted vendor drivers.

The Sept. 1, 2017 Messenger article from the Community Council provided a good report in need of a minor correction. I did not apply for a grant to bring Uber ridesharing or other transportation services to our community, as the funding guidelines required a statewide impact. I appreciated the inquiries and discussions I had with Council representatives addressing the multiple levels of needs for accessible community transportation. The car-sharing partnership between the University and Zipcar is a fine development (see Sept. 22, 2017 issue).

I believe our community would benefit greatly from additional collaborative transportation efforts through expansion of ridesharing, shuttles and other sustainable models that could benefit all of us.

All Saints' Chapel

Growing in Grace continues Sunday, Oct. 8, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel. The speaker will be the Rev. Katie Pearson, a graduate of the class of 1989 and the School of the Theology, class of 2017, and a Sewanee parent. This informal worship service is designed for students and community members with student-led acoustic music, guest speakers and Holy Communion. This Advent semester, our Growing in Grace speakers will address the times in life in which we are compelled to take "The Long Road." What pushes us to take the more arduous path when a shortcut is readily available? What do we encounter when we take a "scenic route" on our journey? We hope to explore these questions and many more this semester at Growing in Grace. We hope to see you there.

The Catechumenate continues Wednesday, Oct. 11, at 7 p.m. in the Bairnwick Women's Center with desert and coffee. Catechumenate, from a Greek word meaning "learning and exploring," is a place where we explore what it means to be a human being and what it means to be a person of faith in our community. This week we begin talking about Jesus—who he was and who he is to us today. This is a great place to meet new people and build relationships. Food, prayer, questions, and conversation power this process.

Email Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep at <kayla.deep@sewanee.edu> for directions or more information.

Christ Church Monteagle

On Sunday, Oct. 8, Bishop Millsaps will report on the meeting of Four Synods of Anglican Jurisdictions, which recently met in Atlanta. Over 500 people gathered at the Crown Plaza Hotel Ravennia to pledge to work together for unity among Anglican Traditionalists. Although the Episcopal Missionary Church is not yet part of any anticipated union at this time, in part because it is in communion with The Charismatic Episcopal Church and other smaller bodies which do not claim to be Anglican, Bishop Millsaps was honored to be invited to speak, and to share some of the stories of girls and women being rescued from sex trafficking and slavery and other crisis ministry in which he has been, and is, involved. He announced that his newest mission church in Texas has just given its entire offering for a week for help to those in Puerto Rico who are suffering so much. Bishop Jose Delgado serves in Manati. Delgado had previously gone to Houston to minister to two tiny Puerto Rican missions which were flooded and returned to Puerto Rico only to face the hurricanes there. Christ Church and Bishop Millsaps ask your prayers that Bishop Delgado is safe and can continue his ministry on the island he loves. This is not an appeal for funds, but instead for prayer.

Christ Church had friends visiting in Las Vegas, and attending the concert where last week's attack occurred.

While none of the people we know were killed or injured, we pray for those who have losses. Our prayers are with all who are suffering.

The service at Christ Church begins around 10:30 a.m. Lunch is served at noon and visitors are welcome and expected.

slavery's legacies in the history and day to day life of the University," said Woody Register, a history professor and director of the group.

Register said the group will present principles, guidelines and recommendations by the end of the academic year to lead decisions about "the place and prominence" of memorials, symbols and names related to the antebellum South.

"As an institution of higher education founded in the late 1850s by slaveholders, for the benefit of slaveholders, and to serve and protect a slaveholding society—a civilization based on bondage—our University of the South bears, I think, a distinctive obligation to re-examine its history and reflect on how that history necessitates careful, thoughtful reflection," Register said. "How will that knowledge of our past, shape and guide the kind of a university Sewanee will be today and in the decades to come?"

Register spoke about the project at a packed Gailor Hall on Sept. 28 in the first of a series of public forums. The forum highlighted the Kirby-Smith monument as a talking point, but Register said the working group had no role in the monument's relocation.

Sewanee Vice-Chancellor John McCardell, in an email to the University community the day before the event, announced the monument was being moved after a request from Tom Kirby-Smith, great grandson of the general, that it be removed. The vice chancellor said several stakeholders were consulted before the decision.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy, Kirby-Smith Chapter 327, raised $2,000 for the monument, which was dedicated in May 1940, said Tanner Potts, the working group's research assistant.

Ginger Delius, current president of the Kirby-Smith chapter, declined to comment for this article, stating the group would wait until the state convention later this month to comment on the monument's relocation.

Potts offered information on Kirby-Smith and the memorial during the Sept. 28 forum, where he highlighted the controversial sides of the general, like the fact that he was a slaveholder and opposed giving prisoner of war protection to Union soldiers who were black. He also noted Kirby-Smith's contributions to the Sewanee community.

"Teaching botany and mathematics among other fellow Confederates on the new University faculty, Edmund Kirby-Smith became a beloved member of the community," Potts said. "He served as superintendent of the local Sunday School at St. Paul's on the Mountain, which was a predecessor of Otey Parish. He also served as a mentor to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity."

McCardell, who is also a history professor, noted on Oct. 2 that the context of memorials should be considered.

"I think it is important to keep in mind why a particular individual is being honored or commemorated," he said. "Kirby-Smith is a case in point. He is justly celebrated for his participation in the life of this community and as a member of the faculty. But the memorial in question depicts him as a Confederate and highlights his non-University-related life. That may prove to be one useful line of distinction as we wrestle with this issue."

The state of Florida is also in the process of removing a Kirby-Smith monument. A statue of the general, who was born in St. Augustine, Fla., is one of two statues representing prominent Floridians at the National Statuary Hall in the U.S. Capitol. The Florida legislature voted to replace the statue in 2016, but has yet to decide on a replacement.

The next forum will be at 7 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 17, in Gailor Auditorium.

Public comments

Register noted there are many options available for dealing with symbols of the antebellum South in Sewanee, including leaving things as they are. During the Sept. 28 forum, more than a dozen people shared their thoughts.

One student said he is inspired by the changes to the University and the country that he sees depicted in the historical scenes on the stained glass windows at All Saints' Chapel and he encourages changing the meaning of the monuments.

"Here, when I walk through All Saints', when I read the history, when I know what it's about, it almost creates admiration, just the juxtaposition of a general who fought for me not to be here and I'm walking right there. That's the beauty for me," he said.

The bas-relief and plaques from the General Kirby-Smith Memorial on Texas Avenue will soon be moved to the University Cemetery. Photo by Kevin Cummings History is a gray area, said another student, and even though the past is controversial it should not be erased, but the other side of the picture should be built up, like honoring slaves and workers who took part in constructing the University.

Another student had a similar suggestion, including honoring Kirby-Smith's personal assistant, Alexander Darnes, a slave who went on to become Jacksonville's first black doctor and only the second black doctor in Florida at the time.

A professor in attendance said she views Kirby-Smith as a traitor, a war criminal and murderer and asked if Confederate soldiers should be memorialized given their deeds and the unwelcome message it sends.

Another student said she likes the idea of listening to various opinions, remembering that Confederate soldiers and supporters were humans with many sides, both good and bad, who are worth memorializing and learning from.

The people who should be honored are the professors, the "great men and women" who were part of the Civil Rights Movement, said an alumnus.

The monuments are meant to glorify Confederate soldiers and should be moved to educational areas, like museums, one student said. Another student countered that a college campus is an educational area, and mistakes of the past should not be hidden.

One student asked those in attendance to consider what it was like for a black student from the north to go to the University of the South and the first thing they see is a Confederate monument.

The memorials do not promote the University motto of Ecce Quam Bonum, said another student. EQB comes from the Latin translation of the Psalm "Behold how good and pleasant it is when brothers and sisters live together in unity!"

"If our goal is to make Sewanee a more inclusive place for all people, in the spirit of EQB, we have to look at whether having these memorials works towards or against that goal," she said, "and I think that's pretty clear."

A lifelong resident of Sewanee said Kirby-Smith serves as a reminder that no matter how brilliant and accomplished someone is, they can be fundamentally wrong on an issue.

really a ghost," she says. "But then there are some that just seem so unmistakable."

About 10 year ago, she started collecting stories of hauntings from people in preparation for a Halloween party. The similarities of some of the tales peaked her interest.

"I just collected so many and then I started getting stories that were the same," she says, "from people of different generations."

For instance, one woman, a custodian, told her in the late 2000s that she used to clean McCrady Hall, a dorm on campus, but refused to go there now because she saw a ghost of a girl in a purple dress.

"I had gotten a story about a girl in a purple dress from someone who lived there in the 70s," Armour says, adding that the custodian had not heard the story.

Armour says many of the people who shared their stories are intelligent and level-headed, not prone to making things up, like an English professor who had an encounter when he was a student living in Hodgson Hall, which used to be a hospital.

"He came up to me and said, 'Have you ever heard the story of a little girl at Hodgson,' and my daughter was with me and she said, 'Yes, was she looking for her doll?'"

"He was like, 'Well, she was rummaging around in my room looking for something and I actually threw a pillow at her.' The story was that there was a little girl there who had scarlet fever and you burned all your belongings if you had scarlet fever, and she was looking for her doll," Armour says.

The building on campus that generates the most stories is Tuckaway Hall, a lot of them from one room in particular, she says, including the tale of a student who was mysteriously locked into a room for several hours despite the best efforts of proctors, locksmiths and the fire department.

His story is not in the book, but Vice-Chancellor John McCardell, has an account of his own. McCardell said there is a tale that "Miss Charlotte" Gailor, daughter of former Vice-

Annie Armour talks about her unexplained experience in this room at the University of the South Archives, where she was putting away books. Armour says something or someone separated her bookshelf keys from her keychain as they lay on the table, even though she was the only one in the room. Photo by Kevin Cummings

Chancellor Thomas Gailor, continues to haunt Chen Hall, where the Gailor house once stood and where the McCardells now live.

"Soon after we moved in, having lost a knob that had been on the top of an antique banjo clock, we asked Leroy McBee to make us a replacement," McCardell recalled. "We returned from travel, saw the new piece on the clock, assumed Leroy had done it. Several days later, he came by the house, saying he wanted to see the clock before he made the replacement piece—we still do not know how the piece that was there got 'back' there and think that Miss Charlotte's ghost is at least one explanation."

There are some stories recounted in Armour's book that actually involve physical contact with a ghost, like a ghoul who pushed someone down the stairs in Johnson Hall, or another where a looming specter appeared ready to attack a student's sleeping roommate, before appearing over her and holding her down as she struggled to breathe.

Another story involves a student whose bed levitated and then there is even one tale of possession. A priest even tried to calm the spirits at Cleveland Hall.

"In Cleveland dorm they actually had a blessing of a room that was haunted; it didn't help," Armour says.

The newest story in "Haunted Sewanee" is from about three years ago, with possibly the oldest tale in the book dating back to the Memorial Cross in the 1950s. Her book also includes stories about the familiar Headless Gownsmen, who is said to haunt campus in various incarnations. She includes a poem about the Gownsmen from the late 1800s.

Writing the book has made her just a little wary of the dark, but she notes that most of the ghost stories occurred during the day. Indeed, Armour had her own strange experiences at the University Archives building. One day she threw her keys on a table and started doing errands a short distance away in the empty room, but when she turned around to get her keys, the bookshelf keys had been separated from her keychain and perfectly aligned on the table.

"I actually looked around and said, 'Ok, I know you're there.'"

Armour will sign copies of her book 1-3 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 7, at the University Book and Supply Store.

University Students and DACA

by Bailey Basham
 Messenger Staff Writer

At three-years-old, Maria Trejo was brought to America from Mexico. She said her parents were quite young when she was born in Mexico City, Mexico, and that her father moved to the states to work to make money for his young family.

After strikes broke out at her mother's school, university officials called for the closing of the school. That is when Trejo was brought across the border. She lived in Mobile, Ala., until moving to Sewanee for college.

Now a sophomore at the University, living in the south is all she has known. She said with Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA), she has been granted the freedom to not be forced to live in the shadows.

"Living a normal life is basically what DACA has meant for me. And it has meant not being afraid anymore," she said.

In a notice to students on Sept. 5, Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean of the College Terry Papillon made clear that the University would stand behind DACA students.

"The University is committed to supporting all of our students and, along with many other institutions, is on record in supporting DACA. Today's announcement did not offer much specific information, and some may feel anxious in this period of uncertainty. There are staff and offices that are ready to assist you if you have concerns or questions as a result of the announcement about the DACA Program," according to the announcement.

Trejo, who said she has always liked psychology and been interested in politics, is able to attend the University under DACA, majoring in psychology and political science. She said she is most worried about those who are younger than her not being afforded the same opportunities.

"Worst-case scenario for me is not being able to get a job after graduating, but my family and I have already started coming up with plans for what we would do if that happened," she said. "I'm not worried for myself because I am able to get an education here at Sewanee, but it's more for the kids who are younger who recently got DACA. They will have it for two years, but then they won't be able to go to college."

Trejo said she is mostly unafraid because of her position at Sewanee, but having to constantly attempt to prove that she is worthy of living where she knows can be tiring.

"We all knew DACA was temporary. Everyone has always had the fear that it would be taken away. But it feels pretty terrible, not just for me. It just pits people against each other. No one should have to argue that they deserve to live in their home," she said.

Eric Benjamin, Director of the Office of Multicultural Student Affairs at the University, said they are keeping up-to-date concerning news around DACA.

"We are monitoring the situation actively. Student energy is focused on raising funds to help with the fees our government charges to reapply for DACA, and we are developing contingency plans in the event the president ends the Dreamers program," he said.

BE SAFE! OBEY THE BICYCLE HELMET LAW

Tennessee law requires all persons under the age of 12 to wear a helmet while riding a bicycle on any state road. University Avenue is a state road and, therefore, subject to the law. The act also contains provisions requiring restraining seats on bicycles for passengers who are children under 40 pounds or who are less than 40" tall.

Bookstore Project Moving Forward

by Kevin Cummings
Messenger Staff Writer

The future bookstore in Sewanee now has a location and planners are seeking input on what the store will entail.

In the monthly SewaneeVillage Plan update meeting at the Blue Chair on Oct. 3, University officials discussed the bookstore with about 20 community members in attendance.

The current Barnes & Noble Store near central campus will close and the new store will be in the Village between the Sewanee Post Office and Tower Community Bank's building. Mike Gardner, the University's vice president for facilities, planning and operations, said an architect will be hired in about two months and he estimated construction could begin in 2018 with completion in early 2019.

A number of people said they would like to see an independent bookstore similar to Parnassus Books in Nashville. Frank Gladu, special assistant to the vice chancellor and project manager for the Village development plan, said the University is leaning toward an independent bookstore.

"Barnes & Noble, who operate our current bookstore, are certainly being consulted and entertained as the operator of the new bookstore," he said. "However, nothing lasts forever and we are hedging that it may be a more independent bookstore going forward."

Gardner noted that he is also meeting with students, seminarians, English department officials, Sewanee Review staff and others to gain input on the new store. At the Oct. 3 community meeting, suggestions included comfortable couches and chairs, knowledgeable staff, amenities for children, extended hours and a wider selection of books, including literary prize-winners.

Gardner talked about the potential for rooms for poetry readings, debates and other events. He also mentioned the possibility of a coffee shop inside.

"We're trying to be sensitive to business entities downtown," he added. "It's also important to note that we just opened up another new café in the duPont Library. If you haven't seen it, come see it."

Gary Sturgis, Blue Chair co-owner and catering manager said a coffee shop in the new bookstore would be detrimental to existing restaurants.

"There's very few places to go in Sewanee," he said. "It wouldn't help us if you put in another eatery, a barista and all that. I understand that fits the contemporary bookstore look, but I don't think it would help downtown businesses."

Gardner noted that there is the possibility the store could be two stories and the property provides 100 feet of frontage on University Avenue and 200-feet of depth. He said the store will not take up that entire space.

Community member Kathleen O'Donohue, who is executive director of Folks at Home across the street from the future site, asked about parking access for the new bookstore.

Officials said there is plenty of parking planned and Gardner said initially access will be from near the Post Office to Highway 41A, with no access from Sartain Road.

As for textbooks in the new store, Gladu and Gardner said there is the potential that textbooks could be housed in a warehouse and delivered to students. Gardner also noted that the planned University Commons in the area of the current bookstore will have a campus store, where most of the University T-shirts and other memorabilia will be sold.

In other business, Gladu said there are five areas of the planning project that should see substantial progress by 2022. Those areas include the narrowing and redesign of the intersection of University Avenue and Highway 41A downtown; the bookstore; the Village Green at the site of Sewanee Market; a new, small grocery store at the site of Hair Depot; and multi-family housing units.

The focus is apartment complexes, like four unit and six unit structures, Gladu said, and not large complexes or single-family houses.

Helen Stapleton, Franklin County commissioner and Sewanee resident, said she is concerned for people who need primary housing.

"Is there anything in place to keep these apartments from becoming second homes in Sewanee?" she asked. "That's my biggest worry, that we're going to build all these nice little apartments and they're going to get snapped up by second home people."

Gladu said there will be an agreement in place with developers that the apartments only be primary residences.

One area slated for apartments is Prince Lane, which features a large and old Tulip Poplar. Gladu said after the meeting that the tree will be protected and preserved.

University of the South

Laying of the Corner Stone, October 10, 1860

The following is from a letter written by John W. Gonce (1849-1943) in 1923.

It was in 1860, I believe, that my grandfather, J.F. Anderson who lived about 12 miles from what is now Sewanee, gathered up all of his numerous family to attend the laying of the Corner Stone of what was intended to be the first building of the University of the South. I, an orphan, without father, mother, sister or brother, lived with my grandfather and was taken along. The trip was made by wagon and horse-back through the mountains, and we camped out one night on the way, I was then about 10 years old, and remember being scared by the screaming of a wildcat during the night. We arrived at the site of the University the next day, and I will never forget the exciting events of that day. There were certainly enough startling events to excite an ignorant country boy, who was then getting his first glance into the means used to open up the vast reservoir of history and knowledge, which had so far been sealed to him.

None of our family had any education much beyond ability to read and write, I then had little information as to the objects of a University, further than the fact that it was to be a big school of some kind where one could learn and grow in knowledge somewhat better than in the country schools I had been attending.

The first thing I noticed was the great throng of country people, more than I had ever seen or have seen since, gathered together there on the mountain top in a nearly unbroken forest. They had come as we had come, on foot, horseback and in wagon, drawn by all sorts of teams, from afar and near, and they had come prepared to enjoy the day, bringing provisions for man and beast; also intoxicating liquor, I might say, also for man and beast, for a large part of the men had a striking resemblance to beasts later in the day. I saw fighting on a large scale when the combatants were so numerous that no one had the least idea what the row was about. I saw fighting, horse-trading, gambling, all conducted openly and vociferously and without the least regard for the ceremonies that were being conducted around the corner stone, not over two hundred yards away, where was assembled also a large throng of better-dressed and more orderly people around church dignitaries dressed in their caps and gowns, who I suppose were calling on God to bless the building to be erected over that stone; for I could not get close enough to hear anything, and I doubt if much was heard by anyone more than a few yards away.

I was more impressed by the caps and gowns worn by the clergy than anything else. I had never seen any of our preachers dressed that way before, and could not understand why a man should dress so much like a woman. I believe I remember seeing that block of marble lying there in the woods, on the mountain top, with nothing around it to even indicate that it was the beginning of anything. I believe there was a railroad track but no station, or any other building of any description. It was then hoped that [the] stone would be the beginning of a great University, but it was not to be, it was destroyed during the Civil War by Union Soldiers.

Philanthropy Internship Grant Awards Announced

South Cumberland Community Fund (SCCF), in partnership with The University of the South, is pleased to announce the recipients of the first ever Philanthropy Internship Program's grant awards. The public is invited to attend the awards presentation on Oct. 11, in Convocation Hall following Becca Stevens's address, "The Power of Love in Justice Work: Advancing Community Impact." Stevens, a CNN Hero and Founder and President of Thistle Farms, will speak at 4:30 p.m., and the awards and reception will follow.

SCCF has conducted an annual grant program on the Plateau since 2012, investing more than $450,000 in local nonprofit organizations. This is the first round of grants made in collaboration with the University's new Philanthropy Internship Program.

The Philanthropy Internship Program, an expansion of the partnership between SCCF and the University of the South, was developed to provide an opportunity for University students to learn firsthand about community-based philanthropy. "We believe this is an excellent way to expand the funds available to our community partners and an opportunity for SCCF to share what it has learned about grant-making on the Plateau," said Marshall Graves, SCCF board chair.

As part of the Philanthropy Internship, the participating students were introduced to the history and practice of philanthropy through readings, workshops, and local speakers. They then shadowed SCCF's grants committee as it reviewed and evaluated proposals for its 2017 grants awarded in July of this year.

After learning the theory and seeing it in practice with SCCF, the students underwent their own grants process with organizations that had applied for SCCF grants in July. The students reviewed project applications, interviewed applicants, and, after much deliberation, they awarded grants to the following recipients:

Beersheba Springs Medical Clinic was awarded a grant for $5,000 in order to renovate a recently donated house, making it usable for daily operations and thus expanding the medical clinic.

Folks at Home was awarded $4,383 to implement "Walk with Ease," a program that promotes healthy living and exercise to those living in chronic pain.

The Mountain Goat Trail Alliance received $2,200 to fund the boundary surveys and preliminary design planning for a 300-foot section of the planned Mountain Goat Trail.

Pelham Elementary School was awarded $4,890 to enhance the library by adding items like a new selection of books, new shelving, and a new puppet stage.

Swiss Memorial Elementary School received a $5,000 grant for a scanning system, a spine label maker, new shelving, chairs, and tables in order to enhance the school's library.

Tracy City Elementary School was awarded $4,833 to fund the creation of a sensory room with equipment to help develop students' ability to engage and regulate their senses.

The Town of Tracy City was awarded a grant of $2,000 to support community events attached to art displays and the Old Roundhouse Park on Christmas, Easter, and the Fourth of July.

The students awarded total of $28,306 to seven organizations. In addition to expanding the grant-making capacity of SCCF, the program provided the students with meaningful and direct experience in philanthropy. Philanthropy intern James Jurgensen reflected that "the internship allowed me to explore the intricacies of philanthropy and, through that exploration, foster a deeper understanding and appreciation for issues surrounding strategy, outcome measurements, and community agency."

The internship program is directed by Senior Associate Director of Civic Engagement Nicky Hamilton, who holds a joint position with the University and SCCF. The following students participated in the Philanthropy Internship Program: Kelsey Arbuckle (C'19); James Jurgensen (C'18); Clara Kim (C'18); Ashley Krueger (C'18); Anna McClain (C'18); and Hadley Montgomery (C'18).

Monroe Presents at the Next Water Lecture Series

Sewanee's water lecture series continues on Wednesday, Oct. 11, with a talk by Jeremy Monroe, director and filmmaker on "Freshwaters Illustrated - Images and stories of the rivers, streams, wetlands that run through our land and lives." The talk will take place in Gailor Auditorium at 6 p.m., and is free and open to the public.

The southeastern United States, and in particular the rivers of Tennessee and Alabama, are global hotspots of biodiversity. A remarkable young man has captured the attention of audiences ranging from the general public to scientists to politicians through his compelling and award-winning films on our river life (see <hiddenrivers.org> for a preview).

Jeremy lives with his wife and two daughters within canoe-carting distance to Oregon's Willamette River. He says, "My life is shaped by water... touched by the beautiful life that swims in, crawls through, wades in or skates on it... inspired by those who work to understand and protect its wonders. I founded Freshwaters Illustrated to help create and share imagery and stories that demonstrate the diversity and shared values of the rivers, streams, wetland and lake that run through our landscapes and our lives."

Carlisle Reading

The School of Letters and the Lectures Committee presents a reading with author Kelly Grey Carlisle, C'98, from her new memoir, "We Are All Shipwrecks," on Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 4:30 p.m. in Gailor Auditorium. "We Are All Shipwrecks" chronicles Kelly's quest to know the mother who died when she was three weeks old.

Kelly Grey Carlisle holds an M.A. and PhD from the University of Nebraska and teaches creative writing at Trinity University in San Antonio, where she also edits 1966: A Journal of Creative Nonfiction.

Celebrating Wildlife at St. Marys Convent

by Tess Steele, C'18, Special to the Messenger

On Friday, Oct. 13, at 6 p.m., St. Mary's Convent welcomes the community to the Celebrating Wildlife service, part of the Contemplative Prayer Series. The service will pay homage to our extraordinary planet and its beautiful, diverse creatures, address the alarming rate of extinction and endangerment of these animals, and how individuals can positively contribute to sustainable living.

Environmental protection is among the most serious challenges for our planet as we enter the throngs of the sixth mass extinction, caused not by an asteroid or a volcanic eruption, but by us, humankind. This frightening reality is the result of human population growth, poor farming practices, habitat destruction, greenhouse gases, and climate change, among others. While extinction is a natural phenomenon, its rate has dramatically increased between 1,000 and 10,000 times the natural rate in recent decades.

Scientists have estimated that nearly a third of land-based mammal, bird, amphibian and reptile species are suffering high degrees of population decline and territorial loss. The loss of a single species has larger repercussions for ecosystems, whose resilience depends upon wildlife diversity and interspecies relationships.

The Celebrating Wildlife service will address these issues, as well as the irrevocable relationship between man's spirituality and nature. God's creation is not to be exploited, but revered as a source of life, meditation, and spiritual healing. As Walt Whitman said, "Now I see the secret of the making of the best persons; it is to grow in the open air and to eat and sleep with the earth."

Extinction and climate change are daunting issues, but meaningful impacts can be felt at the local level. Educating oneself, practicing mindful consumption, and supporting political platforms that lobby for greater environmental protection are substantial ways everyone can be better citizens of the earth.

To learn more about animal extinction, sustainable living, and ways to adopt an environmentally conscious philosophy, St. Mary's welcomes visitors to the service, free of charge. For more information about St. Mary's services and workshop schedules, visit <http://stmary-conventsewanee.org>.

Utility Payment Scam Hits Area

DREMC members should be on guard for a resurfacing of an electric bill payment scam, which was reported in the Manchester last week.

The people behind this fraud instruct our members to pay their electric bills right then by credit card over the phone, or they will be disconnected within 30 minutes. The scammers have left this number, (931) 572-5620, ext. 1, with our members to call back with their credit card information. Thankfully, most of our members became immediately aware that this was a scam and did not give any payment information to the scammers. However, one such business fell prey to the scam and sent the scammers $350.

"We appreciate our members for calling the Manchester DREMC district office and reporting the scam," says Michael Millraney, Manchester district manager. "This gives us the opportunity to alert members across our entire service area."

"Please remember, if you ever have questions about your bill or a recent payment, call your local DREMC office yourself to ensure that you are talking to an actual DREMC employee working in one of our local offices," advised Millraney.

DREMC mails late notices if your bill is past due, and the notices include a scheduled disconnection date. There also are a variety of ways to pay bills, including in the local offices, by phone talking to a DREMC representative on lines manned 24/7, online at <www.dremc.com> and by using our free and secure mobile app download.

Safety Tips for Driving in the Mountain Fog

With the prediction of cooler, wet weather in the coming days, the Mountain's infamous dense fog is likely to return. And with fog comes greater concerns about traffic safety. Traffic accidents increase in the fog, whether it is because of deer in the roadways that are hard to see or vehicle collisions.

Tennessee state law requires that car headlights be turned on for rain, fog or precipitation. When visibility is limited, turn off any music, roll down your car window and listen for traffic you cannot see.

Stay on the roadway by following the white stripe adjacent to the right shoulder of the road. This is easier to see than the middle stripes in dense fog, and oncoming headlights are not in your eyes.

Remember that other drivers have a limited sight distance and fog can leave roadways slick. Use your turn signals, and when you use your brakes, don't stomp on them.

If an accident occurs, pull as far off the road as possible and turn on your flashing emergency lights. If there is no safe place to stand, stay inside your car.

Before getting in to drive, make sure your car is defrosted and the interior windows are defogged.

When in doubt, turn on your car lights, but make sure your high beams are not on. High beams direct light up into the fog, making it difficult for you to see. Low beams direct light down onto the road and help other drivers see you.

Reserve Your Spot Today for the DREMC DIY Workshops

Have you ever wanted to learn how to make your home more energy efficient by caulking, weather stripping or applying foam insulation?

DREMC, in conjunction with TVA, will be offering Do-It-Yourself workshops offering hands-on training to members who want to lower their energy use. Led by DREMC Energy Advisor Pat Garrett, these workshops will offer participants an opportunity to not only learn about, but to actually practice using various energy-saving tools.

The goal of these workshops is to arm our members with the knowledge and necessary tools to make small changes that can help make their homes more energy efficient. Free energy kits will be distributed to the participants (limited to one per household).

All workshops begin at 6 p.m. and will last approximately one and a half hours with light refreshments being served. The workshops are free, but space is limited. Participants must register by calling (931) 680-5883 or emailing <hblanton@dremc.com>.

Scheduled workshops include:

Sewanee to Host Symposium: 'Enfranchising Equality: How History Matters to the Future of Voting Rights'

The University of the South will host a symposium Thursday, Oct. 12 and Friday, Oct. 13, in anticipation of the 150th anniversary of the Fifteenth Amendment's voting rights guarantees. "Enfranchising Equality: How History Matters to the Future of Voting Rights" will bring together some of the nation's leading historians, constitutional scholars, lawyers, and judges to explore the rich and complicated history of the Fifteenth Amendment and to reflect on the Amendment's future in light of its past. All events will be at the Sewanee Inn.

Eric Foner, DeWitt Clinton Professor of History at Columbia University, will give the keynote lecture at 7 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 12. Foner's talk, "Enfranchising Equality: History, Law, and the Fifteenth Amendment," will be followed by a reception and book signing. A celebrated historian of the Reconstruction era, Foner's published works include "Forever Free: The Story of Emancipation and Reconstruction," and "The Fiery Trial: Abraham Lincoln and American Slavery," which won the Pulitzer, Bancroft and Lincoln prizes for 2011.

Distinguished presenters at the symposium include: Tracy Campbell, a professor of 20th-century U.S. social and political history at the University of Kentucky; Richard Hasen, who teaches on election law and campaign finance regulations as professor of law and political science at the University of California, Irvine School of Law; and Michael Klarman, the Kirkland and Ellis Professor of Law at Harvard Law School. Other notable presenters are Pulitzer Prize-winning author Hank Klivanoff, director of the Journalism Program at Emory University and former managing editor of the Atlanta Journal-Constitution; William Francis Kuntz, District Court Judge for the Eastern District of New York; and Gloria Browne-Marshall, associate professor of constitutional law at John Jay College of Criminal Justice (City University of New York).

Particularly at a time when the right to vote has never been more open but access to the ballot is increasingly restricted, this symposium will offer needed conversation on suffrage in light of the hopes and realities of American identity and governance.

Please see the symposium website <<http://www.sewanee.edu/law-symposium15/>> for the full schedule, presenter information and registration. The University is offering a special registration rate of $100 for members of the Sewanee community. Contact Tanner Potts at (931) 598-1934 for details.

SAS Admission Open House, Oct. 8

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School welcomes families seeking better educational options to its annual fall Admission Open House at 2 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 8. Families with children in grades four–11 can take part in campus tours, information sessions, mini-classes, and an introduction to the admission and financial aid application process.

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School provides outstanding college and life preparation for day and boarding students in grades six-12. Students spend significant time outdoors each day walking the historic campus and enjoying outdoor learning and recreation opportunities. Playing as the Mountain Lions, the school fields 32 teams in 12 sports, including a varsity mountain biking program, one of the first in the state. SAS is also known for its rich visual and performing arts programs.

With around 260 students on campus, SAS students have small classes, personalized instruction, and the opportunity to participate in a wide range of activities regardless of their prior level of experience. The school's Learning Resource Center provides academic support for students needing additional attention. Students seeking more challenge may take college courses for free and for credit at the nearby University of the South.

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's Episcopal heritage is central to its mission, but the school welcomes students of all faiths. To provide educational opportunities for those students for whom such experiences might not otherwise be available, the school will award $2.3 million in financial aid this year.

Registration for the event is encouraged. Go to <www.sasweb.org> for more information.

Collect Box Tops to Help Sewanee Elementary

There is an easy way to support Sewanee Elementary School. Take a few minutes and clip the "Box Tops for Education" from many of the groceries you already buy at the store. Please remember Box Tops do expire.

Last year the school earned almost $1,000 through the Box Tops program, money that went directly to SES to support teachers and education.

Please keep clipping! You can drop the box tops off at SES or in the box in the entry area of the Sewanee Post Office.

There is a complete list of participating items online at <www.boxtops4education.com/products/participating-products>. For more information visit <www.btfce.com>.

Diplomas Available for Veterans

For any World War II, Korean War-Era or Vietnam Veterans: If you did not receive your high school diploma due to entry into the Armed Forces of the United States, you may now be awarded a high school diploma by your local high school.

Tennessee state law allows for the awarding of high school diplomas to the honorable men and women who stepped forward to serve their country.

Veterans who fall into this category should contact their local school superintendent to register their name and to request the awarding of a high school diploma. You will have to present your military discharge papers.

If a veteran needs assistance, contact Sergeant Major Larry E. Williams at (931) 924-3000 or (931) 224-3226, email at <tennesseans2@blomand.net>.

'Anton in Show Business' Opens Tonight

Theatre/Sewanee will present "Anton In Show Business," a comedy by Jane Martin, Oct. 6–7, and 12–14, at 7:30 p.m., with a Sunday matinee on Oct. 8 at 2 p.m. in the Tennessee Williams Center.

"Anton in Show Business" is a madcap comedy which follows three actresses across the footlights, down the rabbit hole and into a strangely familiar wonderland that looks a lot like the American theatre. In the tradition of great backstage comedies, Anton conveys the joys, pains and absurdities of producing Chekhov's "The Three Sisters" in Texas.

Kalynn Harrington, Lydia Klaus and Kate Schumaker play the three actresses. They are joined by Marion Givhan, Alena Kochinski, Emily Riedlinger, Sarah Mixon, Will Burton-Edwards, Nick Govindan, Cameron Noel, Jonathan Herring, David Provost, Jack Riordan and Jim Crawford.

"Anton In Show Business" is directed by Peter Smith, with scenery designed by Elijah Brooks-Davis and Dan Backlund; costumes designed by Jennifer Matthews; and lighting designed by Liam Corley and Backlund. John Marshall is technical director, assisted by Chynna Bradford. Krystal Fowler is production stage manager. Admission is free and reservations are available at <eventbrite.com>.

SAS Mountain Bikers Hit the Trail at Lock 4

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School mountain biking team raced in the Tennessee High School Cycling League's second event of the season at the Lock 4 trail in Gallatin on Sept. 23.

There were 156 high school riders and 97 middle school riders representing 19 teams from across the state and competing in multiple race categories.

The Lock 4 trail is one of the most technically difficult courses of the race series with short, steep climbs and a rock garden section to navigate. Lap lengths were approximately 4.5 miles, with riders completing 1-4 laps depending upon race categories. Riding conditions on race day were challenging due to very hot and humid weather.

Fourteen riders competed for SAS in middle school categories. Riley Burnette worked hard to earn a sixth-place finish out of 18 riders in the middle school girls' category.

Several SAS middle school boys experienced mechanical problems and crashes on the course, but finished their races in good spirits. Gus Croom earned 10th place out of 28 riders in

Mountain Lions Lose First Game of the Season

The St. Andrews-Sewanee Mountain Lion football team lost its first game of the 2017 campaign on Sept. 22, as Franklin Christian Academy exploded on offense to win 61-44.

The loss dropped SAS to 4-1 on the season.

Franklin raced out to a 20-0 lead with 9:34 remaining in the first half. Three touchdown runs of nine, two, and 11 yards and one two point conversion put the Mountain Lions on their heels and they couldn't recover.

SAS's Dustin Stensby managed a 31-yard scoring strike to Steven Zhu in the second quarter at the 6:37 mark and Gabriel Stevens added the point after before Franklin posted two more scores and a seemingly insurmountable lead of 33-7 at intermission.

The Mountain Lions would not quit as they outscored the visitors from 37-28 in the second half, but the first half deficit was too much to overcome. Stensby added two more scoring strikes in the second half. He hit Blaise Zeitler on a 40-yard touchdown and Bailey McLean on a 39-yard pass for a TD. Stensby also ran for two scores from seven and 12 yards.

Emmanuel Thombs added a 14-yard touchdown jaunt. Stevens connected on all four PAT boots, while Stensby added a pair of two-point conversion runs. Offensively, Stensby carried the ball 16 times for 162 yards and was 9-14 through the air for 189 yards. He ran for two touchdowns and threw for three more.

Thombs had six carries for 34 yards and a rushing touchdown. Zhu caught three passes for 46 yards and a score.

Girls' Soccer Earns Third Place in District

On Sept. 30, the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School varsity girls' soccer team defeated Grace Baptist Academy 1-0, to secure third place in the district.

The only score in the game happened early. Three minutes in, Anna Post played a ball through to Mariel Rinck, who finished the play. There were some close calls on either end but nothing else found the back of the net.

The team was scheduled to face Silverdale Baptist Academy in the district quarterfinals at SAS on Oct. 5.

On Sept. 26, the SAS varsity girls' soccer team defeated Boyd Buchanan 3-2. Boyd took an early lead to make the halftime score 1-0.

After the break, SAS came out and put a quality attack together and netted three goals. Rinck scored all three. The first goal was assisted by Anna Post after a great through ball from Sarah Grace Burns. The second goal was from a penalty kick and the third was a beautiful first time finish from Kate Butler's cross.

Sewanee Stumbles at Wittenberg

The Sewanee field hockey team fell 6-1 to Wittenberg on Oct. 1 in Springfield, Ohio.

Sewanee (4-3) started the scoring with a Ceara Caffrey shot from Jo Jo Young for her seventh goal of the year in the 12th minute.

However, Wittenberg (7-3) would respond with six goals, two in the first half and four in the second.

Katya Waters (3-3) saved six shots in the defeat for the Tigers in goal.

Hendrix Slips Past Tigers

The Sewanee football team used a big second half rally to get the deficit from 27 to six points late in the fourth quarter, but the rally fell short, as the Hendrix Warriors downed the Tigers 48-42 at Hardee-McGee Field on Sept. 30.

Sewanee drove the ball all the way to 11-yard line needing a touchdown to tie the game late, but turned the ball over on downs.

Sewanee quarterback Alex Darras set a new career mark in pass completions and yards, going 24-for-45 for 353 yards and two touchdowns and two interceptions.

Sewanee's Mikey Plancher ran the ball 13 times for 53 yards, scoring twice, while Warren Holland ran six times for 27 yards and a score.

Sewanee's 486 total offensive yards is the most this season, surpassing 476 against Washington & Lee in week two. On defense, Conoly Koontz led the contest with 12 tackles, 10 solo, and two tackles for loss. Lee Menefee had eight tackles, 2.5 for loss and a forced fumble.

On Sept. 27, St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's middle school soccer team fell to Westwood Middle School, 3-0, at SAS, in the first round of the Central Tennessee Conference Tournament.

The Mountain Lions ended their season with a 3-4-1 record. For eighth graders Riley Burnette, Sophia Carlos, Shyanne Cleek and Cecilia Schutz, this was their last middle school match.

"We made a few mistakes that enabled Westwood to go up early," said coach Margot Burns. "However, I am proud of this group of young players. Many of them were new to the game and showed tremendous progress throughout the season. It has been a privilege to work with them and I look forward to their continued growth both on and off the field in years to come."

NATURENOTES

Orb web.

Orb Weavers

From the Sept. 26, 2002 issue—When driving along the Jump Off Road these foggy mornings, Harry and Jean Yeatman are seeing many mist covered orb webs of spiders suspended between wires on the electric and telephone poles. These webs are made by the Orange Shamrock Spider that has a large round abdomen and rather short legs. It gets to these high wires, porches, etc., by riding on web “parachutes” that they spin out to catch the winds. The orb web consists of radiating “spokes” and concentric web circles, increasing in diameter from the center to the supporting structures.

Spiders locate prey by vibrations of the web threads. The first two pair of legs rapidly turns the prey, while the fourth pair pull silk out of the spinnerets in a sheet that wraps the victim. After feasting, anything inedible is dropped from the web.

Female orb-weavers are much larger than the males, and their long pedipalps look like short legs. Males have bulb-like ends to their pedipalps. Sperm are released into a web and sucked up by these bulbs for use in fertilizing the female in the ventral abdominal region. Eggs are laid and wrapped up into a ball-shaped “cocoon.” When young orb-weavers are hatched, they are not cared for by the female, as are the webless Wolf spiders that carry young on top of the abdomen for several days.

Besides the Shamrock Spider, Sewanee has several kinds of orb-weavers. The large black and gold Garden Spider spins its web with a zigzag thread down the big web. Its web is between shrubs and small trees, where it catches many grasshoppers and katydids. The long-jawed Tetrogona spiders build their webs on docks and small trees around lakes and ponds. The spiny-abdomen Micrathena usually suspends its web across paths and trails in woods, and the Meta menardi spider uses caves and wells.

Orb-weavers are sometimes used in testing drugs by scientists injecting the drugs into a fly, which is placed in a web for the spider to consume. If the spider spins an abnormal web, we know that the drug is unsafe or to be used with caution by humans.

State Park Offerings

Please note: To confirm that these events will occur as listed go to <<http://tnstateparks.com/parks/events/southcumberland/#/?park=south-cumberland>> or call (931) 924-2980.

Sunday, Oct. 8

Savage Falls Hike—The destination is Savage Falls for this 4-mile round-trip hike. The 30-foot waterfall marks the head of Savage Creek Gulf. This is a relatively flat, easy hike. Meet Ranger Gheesling at Savage Ranger Station at 2 p.m.

Sunday, Oct. 8

Trail Run, BCR/Laurel Trails—Come out and stretch your legs this autumn, and join Ranger Aaron at the Stone Door parking lot at 8 a.m., for a moderate 7-mile trail run. We will run past the Great Stone Door and many other overlooks on the Big Creek Rim trail. Runners must be able to keep at least a 12 minute per mile pace. Wear trail shoes and bring a water bottle.

The South Cumberland State Park Visitors' Center is located on Highway 41 South between Monteagle and Tracy City and is open 8 a.m.–4:30 p.m. seven days a week. For more information call (931) 924-2980.

Herbarium Events

Abbo's Alley, Saturday, Oct. 7, 2:30 p.m., with Mary Priestley and Yolande Gottfried—A Family Weekend tradition! (But note change in meeting time.) Meet at the corner of University and Georgia Avenues (at the flashing light) near the arboretum kiosk for this one-hour easy walk in the Abbott Cotten Martin Ravine Garden. The Garden is a lovely mix of native and cultivated plants, and the ravine is steeped in Sewanee history. There are a surprising number of things to see and learn on this familiar trail. All are welcome to join in the walk.

Nature Journaling—A group meets for nature journaling on Thursdays, 9-11 a.m. Come try it out – stick with it if you like. Bring an unlined journal (or a few sheets of unlined paper) and a pen or pencil. No experience needed. As the seasons transition, we gather in different places, so email <marypriestley@bellsouth.net> for information on the meeting place.

Pets of the Week

Meet Cosmo & Shelia

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Looking for a kitty that's out of this world?! Meet Cosmo! She is a five-month-old Calico who loves to play with her feline friends and enjoys plenty of treats and toys! Cosmo is FeLV negative, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Shelia is a young Labrador-Boxer mix who is very sweet. This pretty girl is good with other friends, human and furry alike! Shelia is heartworm-negative, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Animal Harbor offers substantial adoption fee discounts for veterans and seniors. Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than four-months-old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at (931) 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <animalharbor.org>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Register for the Goldenrod Gala by Oct. 10

The Goldenrod Gala, a first-of-its-kind event for the Friends of South Cumberland State Park (SCSP), has only a handful of seats still available, and is expected to be a sell-out. The Saturday, Oct. 21 fundraiser, in support of Tennessee's largest state park, will take place in a ballroom tent overlooking Lost Cove and the newly-dedicated 4,000-acre Sherwood Forest area of the Park. The evening features a gourmet dinner, prepared on-site by Chef Alex Belew; artisan-crafted cocktails and wines, and after-dinner dancing to the South Jackson Street Big Band and Orchestra. A limited number of individual seats are still available. Visit <GoldenrodGala.org> to learn more, and to reserve seats for yourself, family, friends and business associates. Reservations are due Tuesday, Oct. 10.

The Gala also will feature an “Adventure Auction,” offering three unique and incredible expeditions into areas of the Park not normally accessible to the public. Tennessee State Naturalist Randy Hedgepath and SCSP Ranger Park Greer will lead 10 winning bidders into the Werner Old Growth Forest in Savage Gulf to see the largest remaining tract of uncut timber in the region; Professor Jan Simek and SCSP ranger Jason Reynolds will take four winning bidders to the new Sherwood Forest area of the Park to see some of the Native American pictographs (cliff drawings) in that area; and Professor David Haskell, the Gala's Honorary Chair, will provide his 10 winning bidders with autographed copies of his new book, “The Songs of Trees: Stories from Nature's Great Connectors” and join them and SCSP ranger Jessie McNeel for a unique experience in the Fiery Gizzard area of the Park. These adventures will be auctioned at the Gala event; you must be present to bid and win.

For more information go to <GoldenrodGala.org>.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

“O hushed October morning mild,
Thy leaves have ripened to the fall;
Tomorrow’s wind, if it be wild,
Should waste them all.
The crows above the forest call;
Tomorrow they may form and go.
O hushed October morning mild,
Begin the hours of this day slow.
Make the day seem to us less brief.
Hearts not averse to being beguiled,
Beguile us in the way you know.
Release one leaf at break of day;
At noon release another leaf;
One from our trees, one far away.”
—Robert Frost, October
