University Gallery Walk Nov. 2

The University of the South will host its ninth annual Campus Gallery Walk on Saturday, Nov. 2, from 10 a.m. to noon. Come and experience “Allegiance” in the University Art Gallery, award-winning artist Diedrick Brackens’ allusive and thoughtful exploration of identity and symbols in woven cotton tapestries. Consider landscape as a place and as an idea, in Mary Stuart Hall’s two-channel video and sound installation “Sympathetic Dissonance” in the Carlos Gallery of the Nabit Art Building. Celebrate the legacy of women at Sewanee with “Skirts and Gowns” in the Museum Gallery, William R. Laurie Archives and Special Collections, curated by Introduction to Museum Studies students, Easter 2019 and catch up with the accomplishments of classmates at the Alumnae Arts Showcase in Spencer Commons. Receptions crafted by Sewanee Dining will respond to the exhibitions, and dance and musical performances inspired by the exhibitions will take place in multiple locations on campus. The event is free and open to the public.

Celebration of 50 Years of Women

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

If we consult tradition, the milestone 50th anniversary is all about gold, but for Jacqueline T. Schaefer, paper reigns supreme and always has. It is what brought her to the Mountain back in 1967, when she became one of the first female professors at the University, and it is what has kept her here since she retired in 2003.

These days, Schaefer, professor emeritus of French and comparative literature, spends most of her time pouring over books and journals, researching for her next project. Every now and then, she breaks to remember how Sewanee has changed over the years. With the celebration of the 50th anniversary of women at Sewanee taking place this weekend, now is one of those times.

Schaefer’s time in Sewanee began a full two years before the first class of women students was admitted, and she said when women were welcomed to campus, the tone changed dramatically.

“It changed the atmosphere for the good of course,” she said. “It became much more serious. The boys made it really a big thing that they didn’t really care all that much, but when the women came in and showed they were eager to learn and perform, the boys woke up because they didn’t like the idea of being outperformed by the women.”

Professor emeritus Gerald Smith, whose first week on the job coincided with the first week the women students were in classes, said the same.

“In general, the mood was pretty upbeat, but it was also kind of a spectacle. As the young women were moving in, there was a group of guys from KA and they were lining both sides of the sidewalk as the women were taking their luggage in. They were hooting and whistling, and making remarks that would get them banished from campus today,” he said. “In class, it was completely different. From day one, it was clear that these women were a force to be reckoned with — they knew they were under the gun, and they were ready.”

One of those students was Judy Ward Lineback. Her older brother had gone to Sewanee, and through visiting him on campus, she fell in love with the Mountain. Fifty years later, that love remains alive.

“I just knew that was where I wanted to go and didn’t care about any other schools. I didn’t even apply anywhere else,” she said.

Woody Register, professor of history and director of the Roberson Project on Slavery, Race, and Reconciliation, said that though the celebration of Sewanee’s women is deserved and overdue, so is the acknowledgement that not all was peachy.

“We’re covering 50 years here, and I know that the most thoughtful of people don’t just sing hymns to Sewanee, even as they cherish and value the education they had here and in many cases the social experience of education here,” he said. “There is no one Sewanee woman who stands for all, just as there is no one Sewanee man who stands for all, although we might imagine that there is. It is important to remember that with the admission of women, for a long time, there lingered still the idea

WUTS: The Voice of Sewanee

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

Long before YouTube and the flooding of the podcast market with daily news round-ups, or the hyper-niche shows about cryptids and antiques, radio was king. Families spent evenings sat around the radio listening to music and evening broadcasts. Though that was far before sophomore Colin Smith’s time, he still sees the appeal today.

Smith works as an assistant manager at WUTS, the student-run radio station on the campus of the University of the South. He is among a group of students who are working to bring radio back into the daily lives of students and Sewaneesians alike.

“I want to make the station something that people love to talk about and come to have a good time,” he said. “That’s what it used to be, and that’s what we want it to go back to.”

Smith, who has been on staff at the station since his freshman year, said being at WUTS — and supporting the different shows — has been one of the highlights of his Sewanee experience. From helping with the production of the weekly conspiracy theory show to hosting his own Fleetwood Mac-themed show, Smith said WUTS has given him a creative outlet.

“The station is my life. I love being in here. The equipment, it’s not new or sleek—a lot of it has remained the same since the 60s or the 70s—and that is just part of the draw,” he said. “Working here has introduced me to so much new music, and I’ve learned a lot about radio in general. When I was growing up, our station was just classic rock. That is it. Here, you can do

It’s Time to Fall Back!

Don’t forget to set your clock back one hour before you go to bed Saturday night, Nov. 2. Daylight saving time officially ends at 2 a.m., Sunday, Nov. 3, which means everyone gets an extra hour of sleep!

The SAS Players present a family comedy “Babka Without Borders.” Performances will be Friday, Nov. 1 and Saturday, Nov. 2, at 7 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 3, at 4 p.m. Tickets are $5 for children, $10 for adults and free for SAS students and staff. They may be reserved online at <<https://www.sasweb.org>> or purchased on the evening of the performance.

Monteagle Addresses Playground Disrepair, Dog Problem

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Oct. 28 Monteagle City Council meeting, Monteagle Mayor David Sampley read a letter from the city’s insurance provider stating the playground equipment at Hannah Picket Park did not meet “the necessary standard of care,” opening the town to liability and a possible lawsuit. The Council also heard from a woman threatened by unrestrained dogs.

“The insurance company wants us to remove the playground equipment because it’s unsafe,” Sampley said.

“I’ve received multiple phone calls about kids getting hurt,” said Alderwoman Jessica Blalock, who oversees Parks and Recreation. “The equipment has been repaired multiple times.”

“We plan to apply for a grant to replace the playground equipment,” said Alderman Ken Gipson.

Residents attending the meeting pointed to possible financial assistance from Marion County

SUCCESSFUL RELAY FOR LIFE

To the Editor:

The opportunity to serve another Relay for Life was concluded this last weekend. Again, we are so proud of the students and their commitment to the cause. In their second year, they have raised more than $41,000, but what is more important, they gave their heart and soul to making it a success. Members of the community, students, faculty and staff supported the effort with hundreds of people attending. This year (due to weather) we moved inside to the Fowler Center, and in so doing, found it to be a more intimate and energy filled venue - we may have found a more permanent home. But what was even more remarkable was the ease with which all made the adjustment. It was a beautifully exercised team effort. Our thanks go out to all that contributed in time, talent, and treasure. A special thanks goes out to our Corporate Sponsors (Citizens Tri-County Bank, Duck River Electric, Woody's Bicycles, SVEC); Raffle contributors (High Point, CVS, Smokehouse, Sewanee Inn, Sewanee Golf), and to Facilities Management at the University; Sewanee Athletics for use of the space and managing the event; the Rotaract Club and its leadership, and the American Cancer Society, and its representative for the event, Marlene Delong. The goal of bringing hope and honor to those impacted by cancer was richly achieved.

A "Relay Angels" fund has been established. Send checks to: American Cancer Society, Attn: Sewanee Relay, Angels Team, 6221 Shallowford Rd., Ste. 102, Chattanooga, TN 37421.

Bill Davis, Rotary Adviser to Rotaract, and John Solomon, Rotary President

ALLL Exploring the Trail of Tears

On Monday, Nov. 4, the Academy of Lifelong Learning will hear a presentation by Debbie Moore, President of the Tennessee Trail of Tears Association. She will present "Exploring the Trail of Tears." The Academy, part of the Sewanee Seminars Series, meets from noon to 1 p.m., in Lower Cravens Hall, 439 Kentucky Ave., Sewanee.

Moore will be presenting a general overview of the Trail of Tears. Moore will describe events leading up to and the processes used to remove nearly 17,000 Cherokee from their homelands in the eastern United States to Indian Territory in the west. Moore is serving her second term as president of the Tennessee Trail of Tears Association. The Association strives to preserve and protect the Trail of Tears National Historic Trail. Membership is open to all who are interested in the history of the Trail of Tears.

Moore is a retired educator and avid historian. She has written numerous family and local history books. Moore's book "Confederate Voices" won a national award from the Daughters of the Confederacy in 2014. She and her late husband, Ron Moore, appeared on a weekly radio history talk show for more than 8 years. They also produced six local award winning history documentaries.

The cost for a single session is $3 and an annual membership is available for $20. Coffee, water and cookies are available, and attendees are invited to bring a sack lunch. For all questions contact John Hille at (814) 599-5768.

Church News

All Saints’ Chapel

Growing in Grace will continue Sunday, Nov. 3, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints’ Chapel. Virginia Craighill, a member of the class of 1982 and a professor of English, will share her story with us. For our semester-long series One Step Before Me, we’re asking each of our speakers to share about another person—from history or from their own life—who has impacted or shaped them. In reflecting on a “personal saint” who made their path clearer, our speakers allow us all the opportunity to experience gratitude for all who have given us strength to wander and learn. Email Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep if you have any questions. We hope to see you there—and bring a friend!

The Catechumenate continues Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 6:30 p.m. in the Bairnwick Women’s Center. A catered meal will be provided. Catechumenate, from a Greek word meaning “learning and exploring,” is a place where we explore what it means to be a human being and what it means to be a person of faith in our community. This is a great place to meet new people and build relationships. Food, prayer, questions, and conversation power this process. This week we will be discussing Jesus and the beatitudes.

Contact Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep for directions or more information <kayla.deep@sewanee.edu>.

Christ Church

Fr. Chris Vinson of Hope Anglican Fellowship in Gallatin, Tenn., will be the celebrant and preacher on Nov. 3, as Christ Church Monteagle keeps the great festival of All Saints’. Many festivals have Octaves, which means that they can be celebrated for eight days. Traditionally, All Saints’ has not been one of those, but with Halloween having become such a major day, as almost dominating the whole month of October, it seems only fair to extend All Saints’ past All Souls and to be able to sing the great hymns and songs written for Nov. 1. “I sing a song of the saints of God” is usually called a “children’s hymn,” but people all ages enjoy singing it. That is true for many of the traditional hymns for All Saints’ which are treasures that we can all share.

Lunch follows the morning service and visitors are always expected and welcomed.

Morton Memorial UMC

Charles Wesley wrote hundreds of hymns and, like his brother John Wesley, was an Anglican priest and a founder of the Methodist Church. He asked in song: What are these arrayed in white, Brighter than the noonday sun? Foremost of the saints in light, Nearest the eternal throne?

This song, is based on Revelation 7:9-17, a passage describing the Saints that have gone before us. John is told that the the Saints he sees are coming out from great suffering. Some could not escape it. Others, however, chose to enter into the suffering of others. In other words, they followed Jesus, the one who went directly to those suffering the most and offered presence, love, hope, and healing where it was needed most. This Sunday, Nov. 3, join us at Morton Memorial UMC in Monteagle, as we celebrate All Saints’ Day, an opportunity to honor the lives of all who have gone on to glory.

The Wesley group is one of seven forms of fellowship at Morton Memorial. They meet at 8:15 a.m. on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month in the Wesley House beside the church. The group is starting discussions of A Hop, Skip and a Jump through the Bible by Ellsworth Kalas, author of more than 20 books. In this study, Kalas highlights the wonders of the Bible for readers and shows how the Bible isn’t just a collection of stories of the past, but rather it is a continuing story of God and God’s relationship with the human race.

Otey Parish

This Sunday, Youth meet at 9:45 a.m. in the Hethcock Room in Claiborne Hall for Sunday Service Hour. Infants 6 weeks to children 4 years old are invited to the nursery beginning at 8:30 a.m. There will be nursery for both services and the Sunday School Hour. Children ages 3-11 are invited to join us in the Godly Play 2 room Claiborne Parish House.

Adult Forum—“Adults in Faith Formation.” New research shows that long-held ideas how young people become Christians needs revisiting. The upshot of it, though, is good news. Parents and the larger congregation have an essential part to play. John Simpson, the presenter, is a senior at the School of Theology and candidate for ordination to the priesthood from the

that women, their concerns, and their interests were here by invitation only. Women at Sewanee were seen as guests at the table, and that was a hard attitude to displace."

Pan Adams-McCaslin was among the first class of women at Sewanee. Through her Sewanee experience, she became the first in her family to graduate from college.

"Sewanee made something more possible for me and opened doors that I would never know," she said. "What I found and continue to find is that the foundation I got at Sewanee, the skills I learned in thinking and processing, the ongoing community of friends that are still sustained through the years — those things serve me to this day."

Adams-McCaslin added that though her time on the Mountain was transformative, there are moments that stand out as in need of closure, for both her and her classmates.

"I appreciate the fact that they are honoring the class because it certainly changed the dynamics of the school for the better," she said. "But it wasn't all wonderful, and to say that it was for the sake of the celebration is not telling the full history. There were women in our classes that continue to make a difference, and we share in that pride, but for many of the women, there is healing that needs to happen. I hope there will be room for that among the celebrating."

To Hayley Shelton, who graduated in 2004, it is partly because of those difficult moments the first class of women had to endure that she is so grateful to those who came before her.

"These women were the ones that took up that mantle and paved the way for us to be able to do fun things, but also to actually have a place in the sciences and on campus to create our own programs and bring in female faculty. These are women who, for whatever reason, have not received equal recognition even though they did everything the guys did, but backwards and in heels," Shelton said. "We truly owe everything to that first class of women, the class after them and the class after them, where we grew in ranks. They made it clear women were not going to be ignored, and women were going to flourish. It is because of them so many women have been able to."

Women of Sewanee

There will be a Women of Sewanee Community Meeting at 3 p.m., Saturday Nov. 2, in the Torian Room of duPont Library.

Our independent 3,100-member online collaborative of Sewanee's women alumni, students, faculty, staff, and community members will gather to discuss future plans. Please join us for lively talk and WoS swag. Then we'll head to McGriff Alumni House to toast 50 years of women students at Sewanee.

pretty much whatever you want. There's so much room to be creative."

KT Pritchard, a sophomore and assistant manager, said the same. Pritchard said the radio station provides an opportunity to learn something new everyday. One thing she has learned since starting at the station is that the station's ghost is most likely a former NBC executive.

"We are 99 percent sure it's Niles Trammell, an alumnus who was the president for NBC. He serves as a guardian for the place mostly, but sometimes he will flick lights on when you talk about him, and sometimes he will shut doors to remind you that he's there," she said. "Niles inspires us to do our best at the station so that we don't upset him. Aside from the ghost, I love the freedom that the DJs have here. Even though we have FCC guidelines to follow, you can pretty much say and play what you want, which allows for creativity and diversity in the shows here."

For students like Pritchard who value the ability to create and explore the different elements of production, Hilary Ward, WUTS faculty advisor and managing director of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival, said she hopes to expand the station's programming into a year-round endeavor.

"As it stands now, we are only operable during the academic year, and we would love to be able to better support the community through advertisements and public announcements for all of the great activities we have going on," Ward said. "The station is fully staffed by students and that is something we are really proud of. I hope we are able to continue with this momentum in semesters and years to come."

Sewanee Council Discusses Non-Resident Fees, Housing Questions

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Oct. 28 meeting, the Sewanee Community Council discussed the option of higher municipal service fees for non-resident leaseholders and how to limit non-residents acquiring leaseholds. The council also heard updates on sidewalks, crosswalk lighting, and parks, and welcomed a new council representative.

Council representative Charles Whitmer revisited the September discussion about how to apportion the $600,000 cost of infrastructure for Domain-wide fiber optic Internet service. Whitmer proposed a 1 percent increase in the municipal service fee paid by all leaseholders would generate $72,000 annually, enough to pay for the infrastructure if spread over a 10-year period. The municipal service fee is based on the appraised value of the home on the leasehold. For a home valued at $200,000, the 1 percent increase would equal $200.

“There’s also an argument for non-resident second-home owners paying more,” Whitmer said. “Those who live here contribute in many ways.”

Council representative Eric Keen questioned whether assigning non-residents a higher percentage of the fiber optic infrastructure cost would mean increasing the percentage non-residents paid for other municipal services.

Superintendent of Leases Sallie Green said non-residents held 25 percent of the leaseholds. The total appraised value of Sewanee homes is $72 million. Green will research what percent of the $72 million represents non-resident homes, and subsequently, how much revenue would be generated by increasing the percentage assessed to non-residents.

Keen asked if there were arguments against treating non-residents differently. Council representative June Weber pointed out non-residents often served as trustees. Sewanee resident Dixon Myers noted many were alumni who made financial contributions.

In the subsequent discussion about the increase in non-resident home ownership, Whitmer pointed to the coincident increase in the cost of Sewanee homes. He cited a recent circumstance where the price increased $10,000 per month in the year the house was on the market.

“Non-residents are in a different pay scale from most of us,” observed council representative Phil White.

Nancy Berner said homes built on the 13 leaseholds recently released could only be sold to permanent residents, as was likewise the case in the Parson’s Green development. The leaseholds were first offered to University employees. Plans call for offering the unclaimed leaseholds to permanent residents.

Whitmer suggested releasing leaseholds for non-resident alumni to build on might take the pressure off the housing market.

Myers proposed limiting the percentage of non-resident homeowners in a geographic area, a neighborhood for example.

Berner suggested residents within a neighborhood could sign an agreement not to sell to non-residents.

Whitmer asked if homeowners could put a restriction on whom their home could be sold to, similar to a conservation easement.

Sewanee resident Sid Brown said, “As a person who values the full time residents around me and how they make my life better, I’d like help from you [the University].”

White proposed a “tax” on non-resident housing transactions.

Vice-Chancellor John McCarell stressed apportioning the cost of the fiber optic infrastructure and limiting sale of homes to non-residents were “complex issues.” He urged council representatives to seek input from their neighbors and constituents.

The council welcomed newly elected council representative Mary Priestley.

Whitmer will resign at the end of the semester to join his family in Germany. The council is authorized to appoint someone to serve out the remainder of his term.

Associate Vice President for Facilities Planning & Operations Austin Oakes updated the council on plans for a sidewalk on Tennessee Avenue in front of the School of Theology. A donor committed funds to enable the project to move forward.

Oakes also said five crosswalk sites in need of lighting had been identified as priorities.

Updating the council on the Parks Committee’s work, Myers said the soccer pavilion at the Youth Ballpark was recently renovated and the cost of addressing the lighting needs had dropped from $40,000 to $7,650. Henley Electric, the low bidder, would do the work.

Priestley raised a question about tree cutting in conjunction with the fiber optic infrastructure project.

Green explained a 20-foot right-of-way was critical to accommodate the high voltage wires. Trees outside the “safety zone” would be trimmed to conform to height restrictions. Trees would be planted outside the right-of-way to replace cut trees.

Homecoming and ‘50 Years of Women’ Events Include Amanda Shires Concert

The first women admitted to the University of the South as full-time first-year undergraduate students matriculated 50 years ago, in September 1969. It was the beginning of sweeping changes in the College and the community. The anniversary will be celebrated with returning alumnae as “50 Years of Women at Sewanee” events overlap with Homecoming 2019 (Nov. 1–3).

Tickets for the Amanda Shires concert (8 p.m., Friday, Nov. 1, Guerry Auditorium) will be available as follows: University faculty, staff and students can receive a ticket by showing their University ID at the McGriff Alumni House between 1 and 6 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 31, and all day Friday, Nov. 1. Community members can purchase tickets for $20 each, at the same times and location. If any tickets remain, they will be available at the door; faculty, staff, and students must show ID, and community members may purchase tickets.

The community is welcome to attend the presentations, panel discussions, and other events listed:

Friday, Nov. 1

8 a.m. Dedication of a plaque honoring 50 Years of Coeducation at Sewanee. Walsh-Ellett patio in the Quad.

9–10:30 a.m. Coffee and Career Conversations with alumnae and current students. Students can network and learn from graduates about career paths and helpful tips for life after Sewanee. Sponsored by the Career Center. Convocation Hall.

10:45 a.m. The Office of Civic Engagement hosts a celebration of alumnae and students dedicated to service. Come take a gallery walk of posters where students will describe their projects of community engagement and hear from alumnae (onsite and via video) and current students about their work to make the world a better place. Hear how a Sewanee education has prepared alumnae to have a heart of service. Convocation Hall.

11:45 a.m. Screening of “Mine 21,” an award-winning short documentary about a deadly coal-mine explosion that took place in Whitwell, Tenn., in 1981. The film follows Kelsey Arbuckle, C’19, and Alexa Fults, C’21, both from Grundy County, as they find out more about this event that took the lives of 13 miners. The documentary is directed by Sewanee alumnus

Stephen Garrett and produced by Professor Chris McDonough.

2:15–3:30 p.m. Sewanee Women Then and Now. Bairnwick Women’s Center hosts a panel of current students and alumnae who will offer their thoughts and experiences on what it has been like to be a woman at Sewanee, then and now. Mary Sue Cushman Room, the Women’s Center.

3:30 p.m. The Road to the Rhodes and Beyond with alumnae Rhodes Scholars: Ramona Doyle, C’81, Jennifer Michael, C’89, Anne Jones, C’98, and Katharine Wilkinson, C’05. Moderated by Ellen Goldey, C’85, vice president for academic affairs at Centre College. Torian Room, duPont Library.

4:30 p.m. All Saints’ Day service. Rt. Rev. Kathryn “Kai” McCrossen Ryan, C’86, recently ordained as 11th bishop suffragan of the Diocese of Texas, will preach. All Saints’ Chapel.

8 p.m. 50 Years of Women Concert featuring Grammy-winning artist Amanda Shires, L’17. Guerry Auditorium. Singer-songwriter and fiddle player Amanda Shires has released six acclaimed solo albums, her most recent “To The Sunset” in 2018. This fall, the Highwomen—a new collaborative formed by Shires, Brandi Carlile, Maren Morris, and Natalie Hemby—officially launched with a new album.

Saturday, Nov. 2

9:30 a.m. Celebrating 50 Years of Women: The Evolution of Support and Wellness, panel discussion. Gailor Auditorium.

10 a.m.–noon. Ninth Annual Campus Gallery Walk with performances at each location.

Diedrick Brackens’ Allegiance, University Art Gallery.

Skirts and Gowns, the history and legacy of women at Sewanee, Museum Gallery, Archives and Special Collections.

Alumnae Arts Showcase, Spencer Commons.

Mary Stuart Hall’s video and sound installation Sympathetic Dissonance, Carlos Gallery of the Nabit Art Building.

11 a.m. Women of the Decades panel moderated by Professor Virginia Craighill, C’82. Reflections from alumnae throughout the years. Panelists include Genye Hawkins, C’74, Mary Hance, C’75, Jess Baumhauer Hill, C’81, Kate Belknap-Burchak, C’83, Charlotte Thomas Riddle, C’91, Rosilyn Rayborn, C’04, LaToya Slay, C’11, and Brittany Macon, C’14. and grant opportunities from CSX Railroad and the state Local Parks and Recreation Fund.

The daughter of a Monteagle resident addressed the council about needing to defend herself with a baseball bat to protect herself from vicious dogs when visiting her mother in Campbell subdivision. Police Chief Jack Hill said the owner of the dogs has been cited and a court date set for January. Sampley recommended in the meantime police patrol the neighborhood on a regular basis.

The council also heard from Jennifer Lane with Hospice of Chattanooga. The council honored Lane’s request to declare November 2019 National Hospice Month and to support related activities.

The council approved on second reading an ordinance relieving the city of the burden of funding depreciation.

The council also approved Fire Chief Mike Holmes’ request to hire a grant writer, cost $600, to write a grant for turnout gear on the department’s behalf. Holmes praised the grant writer whose successful grant proposal recently earned the department a $99,222 Assistance for Firefighters grant to purchase air packs.

Sampley announced an Open House at City Hall Wednesday, Nov. 27, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The event will feature holiday vendors and free refreshments.

Monteagle will hold its Christmas parade Saturday, Nov. 30, at 4:30 p.m. Participants should line up at The V, the former VFW site, at 3:45 p.m. Trophies will be awarded for the best all-around float and the best representation of the “Grinch” theme.

Tour of University Cemetery

The public is invited to join James Gipson, C’66, for a walking tour of the University Cemetery called, “The Shoulders We Stand On.” The tour will be at 2 p.m., Friday, Nov. 1, at the University Cemetery, located across from Stirling’s Coffee House.

Gipson will be dressed in MacGregor/Buchanan Kilt at the grave of Allen Gipson (1804–1896). The tour is a history of Sewanee and the University. All are welcome.

Pumpkin Fling at the Farm

There will be a Pumpkin Fling at the University Farm from 10:30–11:30 a.m., Saturday, Nov. 2. Help us smash Millsaps with your retired Jack-o-Lantern. There will also be a pile of Jacks if you need one.

Marsh to Present Goodstein Lecture

Historian Margaret Marsh will present the 20th annual Anita S. Goodstein Lecture in Women's History at 7 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 7, in Convocation Hall on the campus of the University of the South.

Marsh's lecture, "Beyond Infertility: Women and Reproductive Technology from Test-Tube Babies to Uterus Transplants," will focus on the impact of these technologies on women.

Marsh is a historian of women whose research is focused on the history of infertility, reproductive medicine and reproductive sexuality.

In collaboration with her sister, Wanda Ronner, M.D., she is the author of three books in this area, most recently "The Pursuit of Parenthood: Reproductive Technology from Test-Tube Babies to Uterus Transplants" (Johns Hopkins University Press, 2019). Research for "The Pursuit of Parenthood" was funded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation through a generous Investigator Award in Health Policy Research to the two authors.

The Anita S. Goodstein Lectureship in Women's History was created in 1998 in recognition of Goodstein's significant contributions as a professor, colleague, and friend. Goodstein and her family were members of the Sewanee community for more than 40 years. Over the last two decades, the nation's leading historians of American women have delivered this annual lectureship, including Alice Kessler-Harris, Jacqueline Hall, Suzanne Lebsack, Laura Wexler, Susan Faludi, Mia Bay, Catherine Clinton, Leslie Reagan, Susan Ware, and many more.

Goodstein arrived in Sewanee in 1955 and began teaching as a history professor in the mid-1960s and continued until her retirement in 1992. By the time women were admitted to the college in 1969, Goodstein was known as a teacher who promoted academic excellence, encouraged intellectual freedom, and inspired personal achievement. Throughout the 1970s, when there were few women faculty and students, Goodstein's presence on campus was instrumental in claiming a place for women and creating a more inclusive academic community.

Over the years, Goodstein's leadership fostered positive changes both in the History Department and in the Sewanee community. Goodstein introduced and developed new courses, including Indians and Blacks in America and, in 1992, Women in American History. As an advocate of civil rights, she taught by example and was instrumental in the struggle to end segregation in Franklin County public schools and commercial establishments.

'Why Study the South? Southern Studies in the 21st Century'

Friends of the Library of The University of the South invites you to attend a special lecture by John Grammer, Professor of English. Grammer will be the featured speaker for the fourth annual Tom Watson Memorial Lecture, a lecture series designed to remember and honor the legacy of Tom Watson, University Librarian from 1976-81; 1994-2004. The Friends meeting will be held in the Torian Room of Jessie Ball duPont Library on Wednesday, Nov. 13, at 4:30 p.m. Taking as its focus the plans for Sewanee's Center for Southern Studies, Grammer's talk will discuss the opportunities and obligations that arise when we study the Southern region – its past and its present – right now.

John Grammer is a professor of English at the University of the South, where he teaches classes American Literature and American Studies. He received his B.A. at Vanderbilt University and his Ph.D. at the University of Virginia. His 1996 book "Pastoral and Politics in the Old South" won the C. Hugh Holman Award as the best book of the year in Southern literary study, and his essays and reviews have appeared in American Literary History, the Oxford American, The Southern Literary Journal, The Sewanee Review and other journals, and in such books as The Dictionary of Literary Biography, The Encyclopedia of Southern Culture, and Blackwell's Guide to the Literature and Culture of the American South. He founded The Sewanee School of Letters and directed it for 12 years. Currently he is leading the effort, supported by a Mellon grant, to establish a Center for Southern Studies at the University of the South.

A reception will follow the talk.

More information about Friends of the Library can be found at their website <<http://libguides.sewanee.edu/FOL>>. If you have questions about the reading or joining the Friends, please contact Tim Garner at (931) 598-1265 or <tegarner@sewanee.edu>.

Author of 'The Shack' to Appear in Sewanee

Wm. Paul Young, best-selling author of "The Shack: Where Tragedy Confronts Eternity," will speak in Sewanee Nov. 15 and 16. "The Shack," a story about a father wrestling with what he calls a "Great Sadness" after the brutal murder of his youngest daughter, found a world-wide audience and was the No. 1 paperback trade fiction seller on the The New York Times Best Seller list from June 2008 to early 2010. It was successfully turned into a feature film starring Sam Worthington, Octavia Spencer, and Tim McGraw in 2017.

Local and regional community members will have the opportunity to explore how "The Shack" relates to faith with the book's author on Friday, Nov. 15, in a lecture open to the public and held in All Saints' Chapel at 7 p.m. Registration for the lecture is encouraged and a "love offering" will be collected to support the event. On Saturday, Nov. 16, Young will lead a workshop titled "Lies We Believe About God," based on his nonfiction book of the same title. Registration and a tuition fee are required for the workshop.

According to Young, books like "The Shack" "give voice to many who want to know a God who is relational and not religious" and speaks to those with "grieving and questioning broken hearts." Young's work, he says, "meets those who are stuck somewhere between edgy and Jesus." As for the workshop, he begins, he says, with "the lie that we are separated from God; then we'll explore how this paper tiger has kept so many in religious bondage and perpetuated religious institutional power."

This visit to Sewanee by Young is one of two events in a series called FaithMatters, a new offering from the Beecken Center of the School of Theology that seeks to bring people to Sewanee who are engaging matters of faith in innovative ways.

For complete details and to register for any of these offerings, visit <beeckencenter.sewanee.edu/events/faithmatters2019> or call 1-800-722-1974.

The Beecken Center of the School of Theology at the University of the South is a lively center of learning and ministry that offers experiences and resources for adult and youth lay theological education, clergy continuing education, hospitality and evangelism ministries, congregational development, and spiritual formation.

'How Immigration Law, Policy, and Practice Affect Women'

Sarah Owings will present the lecture "Backwards and in High Heels: How Immigration Law, Policy, and Practice Affect Women" at 4:30 p.m., Monday, Nov. 11, in Gailor Auditorium.

Sarah Owings is an immigration attorney based in Atlanta, Ga. She represents foreign nationals in removal proceedings before the U.S. immigration courts, helping them to seek relief from deportation. She also works to promote sensible immigration policy reforms while advocating for the rights of migrants in detention and at the U.S. border. Sarah will speak about immigration as an issue affecting women, especially given recent restrictions on asylum for domestic abuse, and she will address the fact that immigration law is a majority female field (along with Sarah, many of the attorneys who travelled to the border in response to the travel ban were women).

As a 2003 graduate of the University of the South, she is eager to share her career path with interested students. She also currently serves on the Board of Governors of the American Immigration Lawyer's Association.

Owings will be sharing her perspective on the crisis in U.S. immigration courts and being a lady lawyer trying to do some good in a deeply flawed system.

This lecture is sponsored by the English department, Women's and Gender Studies, the Office of Global Citizenship, the Humanities program, and the Lectures Committee.

Where Did the Women Come From?

Edward McCrady, Jr. met with a delegation from The University of the South that included Chancellor Bishop R. Bland Mitchell, Regents, Edmund Orgill and Charles Puckett on August 17, 1951 in Cleveland, Tennessee to offer him the position of Acting Vice Chancellor to replace the resigned Boylston Green. Shortly thereafter McCrady accepted the position and was elected on June 6, 1952 as permanent Vice Chancellor. He served for twenty years, the university's longest tenured vice chancellor and one whose diverse talents left significant marks.

During his predecessor's administration the faculty proposed that their daughters attend the university. The vice chancellor endorsed the proposal and requested the regents to approve it. The regents deferred action on the request, appointed a committee, and sought student input. The all male student body voted against the proposal. The regents agreed with the students and the proposal was rejected.

However, a few years before when the GI Bill of Rights brought World War II veterans with wives to the university, the wives of the veterans were allowed to attend classes but were not allowed to earn degrees.

McCrady who had taught biology and physics at the university from 1937 to 1948 when he took a position at Oak Ridge with the Atomic Energy Commission had an extensive family heritage with the university. His great-uncle, Edward McCrady, had served as a trustee in 1883 and 1884. His grandfather John McCrady was the university's first professor of biology in 1877. He died in 1881 but his wife, Sarah Dismukes McCrady, remained in Sewanee where she operated a boardinghouse (McCrady Hall). Their son, Edward McCrady (the vice chancellor's father), attended Sewanee Grammar School, entered the college in 1884 and graduated from the School of Theology in 1892.

McCrady's philosophy for undergraduate education in the college was for an education that prepared one to live an enriching life rather than an education that prepared one to make a living. He addressed incoming students with this notion. Throughout the undergraduate years the environment encouraged students to seek graduate and professional studies upon securing an undergraduate degree.

McCrady considered that religion was a vital element in preparing an undergraduate for life. He saw in the college at Sewanee, a private institution, free from governmental influences, that fused religion into a liberal arts education.

These principles were a part of the fabric that was the extraordinary man that the vice chancellor was but his tenure at The University of the South placed him in an educational culture that was changing. One of these changes related to gender segregated education. Male segregated education in the United States was being challenged with all male campuses initiating the acceptance of women and to a slightly lesser degree all female campuses accepting male students.

McCrady was a disciple of Bishops James Otey, Leonidas Polk, and the other university founders who sought a European model for the development of the university. This envisioned multiple colleges under a university umbrella such as Oxford and Cambridge in England. This might have been accomplished through expanded enrollment with a division of the students into separate colleges.

McCrady, however, chose to accomplish a second undergraduate college through a separate women's college. He laid out a section of the domain through which a road named New College Drive traversed. A dormitory was constructed to house the first women undergraduates. This plan failed to take into account the cultural changes that were occurring relative to gender segregated institutions.

In 1968 the trustees rejected McCrady's plans for a second college and instead voted to admit women the next year into the existing college. McCrady's notion of a separate women's college in 1968 bucked a trend among American universities that had established women's colleges such as Harvard with Radcliffe and Brown with Pembroke to assimilate the women with the men into less segregated educational plans.

The act by the Trustees brought women to the campus as co-eds and ended the notion that the university would develop separate semi independent colleges under an over arching university framework. This action followed the cultural trend among American colleges and universities. Predictably, many of the traditions of the all male The University of the South began to fade and Americanization of the university has taken place.

This article was authored by Oliver W. Jervis. He attended The University of the South where in 1957 he was awarded a Bachelor of Arts in History. He continued his education at University of Chicago where he received a Doctor of Law in 1960. He is president of Grundy County Historical Society and director of its Heritage Center.

Readers are invited to visit the Heritage Center Monday through Friday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Saturday 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Community Chest Sets 2019-20 Fundraising Goal

The Sewanee Civic Association (SCA) has officially launched its 2019-20 fundraising campaign, with the aim of raising $105,140 for the Sewanee Community Chest. Reaching this goal will enable the SCA to fully cover the grant funding requests of 25 local nonprofit organizations and programs, including the Sewanee Parent Organization, Folks at Home, and the Sewanee Fourth of July Celebration, among others.

Since 1943, the SCA has overseen the Sewanee Community Chest, which has given more than $1 million to organizations in Franklin, Marion, and Grundy counties over the last decade. Though Sewanee Community Chest funds are largely designated for Sewanee-based outreach, funding has historically been provided to organizations beyond Sewanee whose projects directly benefit the local community.

This year's 25 grantees serve multiple demographics across Sewanee, from students to senior citizens. As in past years, a large number of the funded organizations affect Sewanee's youth.

The Sewanee Community Chest is made possible by contributions from community members across the Plateau. All donations are tax deductible. Donations can be made by credit, debit, or PayPal, either one-time or recurring. Checks may be mailed to Sewanee Community Chest, P.O. Box 99, Sewanee, TN 37375. For more information, go to <www.sewaneeccivic.org>.

The following list includes organizations and programs that the Sewanee Community Chest aims to fund in 2019-20, along with grant amounts provided:

Arts Inside, $350	Sewanee Fourth of July Celebration, $3,000
Blue Monarch, $1,250	Sewanee Angel Park, $1,000

Tigers Don't Leave Tracks! at Sewanee Elementary

Tigers Don't Leave Tracks!—a program aimed at educating students about sustainability and helping them reduce their use of single-use plastics, continues at Sewanee Elementary.

The Piggly Wiggly is hosting a draw in support of the project. When you bring your own bags to The Pig, write the name of a teacher or a class on the back of your receipt (grade 2, Mrs. Camp's class, Principal's Choice, etc.) and put it in the Tigers Don't Leave Tracks! jar at the front of the store. Those receipts will be collected periodically and entered in prize draws. The winning classes will receive tools for making sustainable habits easier—sturdy Klean Kanteen water bottles or LunchSkins Reusable Sandwich Bags for everyone.

Local businesses also support Tigers Don't Leave Tracks! Mooney's, the Lemon Fair, Village Wine and Spirits, the Sewanee Market, the Piggly Wiggly, and Joseph's Remodeling Solutions have offered their support to the Tigers Don't Leave Tracks! Reusable Bag project, making donations when you use reusable bags in local stores, and by making possible our student prizes. Please thank them for their support, and bring your reusable bags when you shop.

Collect Box Tops to Help Sewanee Elementary

There is an easy way to support Sewanee Elementary School. Take a few minutes and clip the "Box Tops for Education" from many of the groceries you already buy at the store. You can drop the box tops off at SES or in the box in the entry area of the Sewanee Post Office.

There is a complete list of participating items online at <www.boxtops4education.com/products/participating-products>. For more information visit <www.btfe.com>.

Eventually the Box Tops program will become digital-only. Participating brands are starting to change their packaging from a traditional Box Tops clip to the new Box Top label.

If you see this label, use the new Box Tops app to scan your receipt. Box Tops are still worth 10 cents each for your school. The app will find participating products purchased at any store and instantly add cash to your school's earnings online.

No more clipping. No more sending Box Tops to school. All you need is your phone. Download the ALL-NEW Box Tops app, shop as you normally would, then simply scan your store receipts within 14 days of purchase to find participating products. The app will automatically credit your school's Box Tops earnings online.

Animal Harbor Is Sweet 16

Animal Harbor is hosting a "Keep the Harbor Light Burning" fundraiser to celebrate 16 years of the organization. The event will be at 5 p.m., Nov. 9, at St. Mark's Hall, Otey Parish Church, 216 University Ave., Sewanee.

The birthday party bash will start with cocktails. Enjoy fabulous food catered by Old Mill Manor Restaurant, followed by a dance. Get your tickets before Nov. 1. Tickets are $60 and can be purchased online at <www.animalharbor.org>, by calling the Animal Harbor at 962-4472 or Susan Rupert at 967-8903.

Car Show and Barbecue Benefit Nov. 9

Jackson's Thrift Store in Decherd, which exists to assist veterans' and emergency personnel's needs, will have a benefit event on Saturday, Nov. 9, beginning at 10 a.m.

Prizes will be awarded in the Car Show with Trophies for first through fifth places.

Barbecue plates (barbecue, baked beans, potato salad, dessert and drink, $10) will be available, with proceeds from the event being used to assist special projects. The event is sponsored by Emergency Services for Community outreach and Local Veterans.

The Thrift Store, located at 1002 East Main St., Decherd (the former site of the Lanier Factory) is in need of winter clothing for men, women and children. Items can be dropped off at 1002 East Main St., or call Mark Bassett, (931) 636-5597, for more information or to arrange pickup.

Prizes Needed for MARC Bingo Night

Marion Animal Resource Council (MARC) has been playing Bingo on the second Saturday of each month to raise money to help them obtain a building of their own, a MARC Resource Center. You are invited to join them to improve the lives of animals in Marion County and its surrounding areas.

If you own a business or an internet-run goods business and want to donate a prize ($25 value) your business will be announced when someone wins your donation. Many individual people donate gift cards and themed gift baskets.

If you want to donate, please contact Beth Jordan at <Beth.jordan@yahoo.com>. You could deliver your donations to Beth's place of work at Jasper Medical Center, 4665 Main St., Jasper.

Limited-Edition Sewanee Fog Candle – Celebrating 50 Years Of Women At Sewanee

In recognition of Sewanee's 50 Years of Women celebration, alum-owned The Riley/Land Collection has created a limited-edition version of their Sewanee Fog candle. The candle's label features photography from Erin Hanni Cassell, C'98, and is produced by Joseph Riley Land, C'98. The limited-edition candle will be available for online purchase <www.riley-land.com> through Nov. 15, 2019. Riley/Land Collection will donate $5 per candle sold during that timeframe to the Bairnwick Women's Center at Sewanee.

Currently, Land is securing a matching donation to Bairnwick for the candles. The donation will be made on Tiger Tuesday, when there is traditionally another matching donation. The potential is for a $20 donation per candle.

The Sewanee Fog candle is hand-poured in Nashville, using all-natural soy wax, essential oils and a lead-free double wick. Each one is housed in a small purple canvas bag, making them ideal for gift-giving. The scent is reminiscent of the dampness that hangs in the air after a rainfall. There's an earthiness, mixed with a lilt of pine, some woody notes, musk, citrus, amber and oakmoss.

The Riley/Land Collection is a lifestyle brand based in Nashville, Tennessee, offering small batch foods, handmade wooden kitchenware, linens, leather goods and hand-poured candles.

Free Legal Help Clinic

Legal Aid Society of Middle Tennessee and the Cumberland will be offering a free legal help clinic on the morning of Saturday, Nov. 2, 2019, at the Grundy County Housing Authority, located at 187 Raulston Ave., Monteagle. People who want to meet with a lawyer should come anytime from 9:30 a.m. until noon.

The Grundy County Legal Help Clinic is supported by the Office of Civic Engagement of the University of the South, the law firm Burr & Foreman LLP, and local lawyers. The clinic will assist with many civil legal issues: powers of attorney, advance healthcare directives, landlord/tenant issues, employment, debt collection, bankruptcy and public benefits (such as TennCare, SNAP and Families First).

Clients need to bring any paperwork that they would like an attorney to look over, the name and address of the person who they would like to be their power of attorney (if applicable), as well as proof of their own identity. Clients should arrive before 11:30 a.m. to ensure they can meet with an attorney.

For more information about the clinic, call Legal Aid Society of Middle Tennessee and the Cumberland at (931) 455-7000.

'A Taste of Italy' Fundraiser

The Knights of Columbus present "A Taste of Italy" spaghetti dinner. The dinner will benefit Kevin Frye, who has muscular dystrophy and needs a bigger wheelchair and a stronger ramp for his family's van.

The event will be on Saturday, Nov. 9. Doors open at 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Tickets are $10 for adults, and children under 12, $5. Donations are welcomed. The event will be at Good Shepherd Parish Center, 2037 Decherd Blvd., Decherd.

VILLAGE REPORT

by Frank X. Gladu

This month's report will highlight the progress of the five priority projects and focus on the conceptual design of the Village Green. First the projects. The Tennessee Department of Transportation continues to work on the narrowing of Hwy. 41A with a completion of design expected in the spring of 2020. Design and site work on the food market building with apartments on the upper floor is close to being completed. The Bookstore continues to take shape on University Avenue with an expected completion and opening in early 2020. Efforts to include additional housing options continue to be explored focusing on the possibilities and affordability.

Now to focus on the Village Green. This space is envisioned to be a park like civic space. It is located on the site currently occupied by the Sewanee Market. It is an area of approximately half an acre and is bordered by Lake O'Donnell Road, Ball Park Road, Hwy. 41A and a new road located to the west, connecting Hwy. 41A and Ball Park Road. The purpose of this space is to provide both a gathering space for a variety of events and activities as well as a place to just enjoy sitting outside in the park. The kinds of events could range from farmer's markets to craft fairs to art displays and so on. It is envisioned to be alive with activity in the heart of downtown Sewanee.

The first step in the creation of such a space is its design. Through a generous gift, we have the opportunity to begin the process with an experienced firm by the name of Design Works from Charleston, S.C. They will begin the process of formulating the layout of this space when they visit Sewanee next week. They will be meeting with a variety of folks to best understand how the space might be utilized. These meetings will include time with our Town Planner, Brian Wright, William Shealy, Superintendent of Landscape Planning and Operations for the University, the consultant from Horsley Witten that developed the Village stormwater plan, our development partner, BP Construction and the Sewanee Parks Committee. The product of this design exercise will produce a conceptual layout and design for us to consider.

There will also be an opportunity for you to participate in the process on Tuesday, Nov. 5, at the monthly Village Update meeting at the Blue Chair from 10–11 a.m. and again from 4:30–5:30 p.m. Design Works will be there to hear what the community would like to see and how the Green may contribute positively to Sewanee. So plan to join us for this special meeting that will focus on a significant priority project for the Sewanee Village.

Hope to see you there.

Frank

60th Annual Lessons and Carols at Sewanee

The 60th annual Festival of Lessons and Carols at the University of the South will be celebrated at three services, two on Dec. 7 (4 p.m. and 7 p.m.), and one on Dec. 8 (4 p.m.).

As part of the University mission and the program of education and formation of All Saints' Chapel, the Festival Service of Lessons and Carols offers students, faculty, and staff in the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Theology the opportunity to experience one of the oldest traditions of Anglican music and Advent expectation. As part of the University's outreach to others, the Chapel is pleased to welcome the public by offering any available places in the service for reservation. Based on last year's experience, however, the University expects that after accommodating students, faculty, staff, and their families, the number of places available to the public for reservation may be severely limited.

In our continuing effort to ensure open communication, below are our plans for the reservation system this year. Some highlights:

The University will determine by Nov. 14, 2019, whether there will be places available to the general public for reservation.

If so, online reservations for the public will be available on Nov. 20, 2019.

Guests will be able to reserve a specific seat.

All tickets will be available for pick-up at Convocation Hall prior to the service.

Unused tickets, if any, will be made available to walk-up guests (guests without a reservation) before each service.

If you have questions that are not answered here, please contact the Lessons and Carols office at (931) 598-3247 or via email at <lessonsandcarols@sewanee.edu>.

Art Wednesdays at Artisan Depot

The Franklin County Arts Guild invites community members interested in the visual arts to come to the Artisan Depot Gallery & Gift Shop for Art Wednesdays. Anyone can participate. Age and skill level do not matter.

The group meets every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Everyone brings their own art supplies and projects. Sometimes everyone works on individual projects and sometimes we get one of the members to do a mini-workshop for anyone interested. Art Wednesday is a great place to seek advice on technique, supplies, and get input on projects from the group. There are no fees. Artisan Depot Gallery is located at 204 Cumberland St. E., Cowan.

'Faces of Sewanee' Open Through May 2020

The Department of Art, Art History and Visual Studies and the duPont Library at University of the South are pleased to present "Faces of Sewanee," a group exhibition of portraits by student artists from the Topics in Contemporary Painting class, under the guidance of Professor Jessica Wohl.

Featuring the work of students in ART 291: Topics in Contemporary Painting, "Faces of Sewanee" will run through May 2020.

"Faces of Sewanee" gives Sewanee students a chance to actively engage in the conversation about representation on campus, particularly with regards to tradition, history, legacy and story-telling as understood through portraiture. In considering who they want to represent, students selected individuals from a variety of social groups.

The paintings, which are displayed near eye-level in the student learning commons, compliment the portraits of the institution's Vice Chancellors that currently hang in that space. By displaying these works alongside those of the Vice Chancellors, students, faculty, staff and alumni will be equitably represented, through the painted image, as significant contributors to our campus community.

"This exhibit allows members of our community, some for the first time, to see themselves, or someone like them, on the walls of our institution. The project is part of an important conversation institutions are having nationwide regarding who has been worthy of reverie and representation in the past, and who is worthy of representation in the present and the future. In this exhibition, the portraits celebrate all of us," Wohl said.

For more information, contact Wohl at <jewohl@sewanee.edu>.

'Allegiance' at UAG

The University Art Gallery is honored to present "Allegiance," a quiet and intimate exhibition of complex and beautiful woven textiles by Los Angeles-based artist Diedrick Brackens, on view through Dec. 13.

In "Allegiance," Brackens plays with our expectations and associations, turning symbols, lyrics and materials to new purposes. He re-fashions American and Confederate flags; he quotes and recasts the lyrics to the minstrel song Dixie and to the hymn Holy, Holy, Holy; he makes the language of advertising both sentimental and subversive; and he, an African-American whose antecedents picked cotton in Texas, self-consciously transforms that fraught material into beautiful textiles.

Richly allusive, many of the pieces on view in "Allegiance" meditate on flags, their uses and their dense networks of associations with Americana, heartland, heritage and freedom. The symbolism of flags is disrupted, teased and softened, and these abstracted flags are seen as if through a veil. We are invited to adopt a personal, thoughtful, and emotional point of view, and to meditate on the negotiation of belonging.

Brackens will speak about his work at 5 p.m., Friday, Nov. 8, in Convocation Hall. Reception to follow.

J.D. Warren and the Rudiments at Ayres Center

On Saturday, Nov. 2, from 9:30 p.m. to midnight, J.D. Warren and the Rudiments, featuring class of 2003 vocalist Dermel Warren, will perform at the Ayres Multi-Cultural Center, located at 14 Willie Six Rd.

The Rudiment is a NYC based jazz group led by husband and wife duo, Jeremy & Dermel Warren. We are pleased to welcome Dermel Warren, C'03, back to campus as the lead vocalist.

The Rudiment, formed in 2015, has performed in top venues in New York and vicinities, including the Blue Note, Minton's Harlem Club Bonafide, and the Cornelia Street Café. They placed third in the highly competitive "Made in New York Jazz Competition."

Drummer Jeremy Warren composes and arranges for the group while Dermel handles the lyrical compositions. They both were born and raised in the South, (Memphis and Little Rock,) and bring their deep soul and gospel influence to create their own unique style of jazz.

The event is free and open to the public. Coffee, tea and pastries will be served. For information, contact <ebenjami@sewanee.edu>.

SAS Mountain Biking Places in Top 20

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee mountain biking team competed during the weekend of Oct. 19-20 in the fourth race of the Tennessee High School Cycling League season. The race was held at Panther Creek State Park in Morristown, with more than 300 middle school and high school athletes competing. Thirteen SAS riders raced on the challenging course with hills, tight turns, and grassy areas, covering distances from four to 17 miles depending on race category.

SAS had a large group of riders finish in the top 20 of their respective race categories. The Neubauer sisters enjoyed a successful weekend together, with Libby Neubauer standing on the podium with a third place finish in the competitive JV girls' category, and Caroline Neubauer earning eighth place in the sixth-grade girls' category. Senior Evan Fox achieved his highest finish for the season, earning sixth place out of more than 50 riders in the JV boys' category. Eli Thompson and Caleb Palmertree also competed hard for SAS, with Thompson earning 14th place in the sophomore boys' category and Palmertree earning 12th place in the freshman boys' category. William Schrader and Eli McLean each earned top 20 spots in the sixth-grade boys' race, with Schrader finishing in seventh place and McLean coming in nineteenth. Justus Averbek, Jack Tse, Ivan Stoyanchev, Rhys Fricker, Jon Wert, Isaac Pauley, and Kenneth Simmons also competed for SAS during the weekend.

Coaches Speed Baranco, Beth Pride Ford, and Michael Short are proud of the progress all SAS riders have made throughout the season in fitness, riding skills, and in achieving personal goals for race performance. The SAS team is looking forward to a home course advantage at Tennessee Interscholastic Cycling League state championship race which will be held on SAS trails during the weekend of Nov. 2-3.

The SAS varsity and middle school mountain biking program is led by head coach Speed Baranco and assistant coaches Beth Pride Ford and Michael Short, with valuable assistance from volunteers Jill Mollica, Barbara Fox, Sian Baranco, Steve Holt, Alex Durant, Matt Schrader, John Fox, Alex Neubauer, and Pete Mollica. The team and coaches are also grateful for continued support from our SAS middle school and upper school families.

SAS Middle School Boys' Basketball Goes 4-2

The Swiss Wildcats escaped the Mountain Lion den on Oct. 24, in triple overtime, 36-33. Down at the half 17-10, the SAS squad worked their way back into contention by game's end. Cecil Rodgers ran the offense well and Raulston Barnett sparked the comeback with three treys in the fourth quarter. Isaac Simmons had six points, Cecil Rodgers five, and Samuel Goodpaster three in the losing effort. For the Wildcats, Dylan Sanders chipped in 26.

The Mountain Lions cruised to a win at home Oct. 28, against the Pelham Tigers, 42-25. Starters Cecil Rodgers and Ethan Allen established dominance in the first quarter with a 12-2 rout, and the SAS bench contributed for the rest of the win against the Tigers. Rodgers ended up with a game-high 13 points, Allen 11, while Robbie Johnston chipped in six, Isaac Simmons four, Raulston Barnett and Samuel Goodpaster three each and Hatch McNabb two. The SAS boys are now 4-2 in league play, and next week they face tough match-ups with Monteagle, Coalmont and North.

NMS Cross Country Turkey Trot

Tigers to Host Soccer Quarterfinals

Announced by the Southern Athletic Association (SAA), the 2019 SAA Men's and Women's Soccer Tournament brackets are announced. Both Sewanee men's and women's soccer teams earned a three-seed in the tournament and will host a quarterfinal match on the campus of The University of the South on Saturday, Nov. 2 and Sunday, Nov. 3.

Men's Soccer

Sewanee will take on No. 6 Millsaps in the quarterfinals of the men's tournament Saturday, Nov. 2, at 4:30 p.m.

The Tigers finished the regular season with an 11-4-1 overall record, 5-2 in league play. One of the team's victories came against the Majors (6-9, 2-5) in Jackson, Miss., 2-1, on Oct. 18.

Entering Saturday's match, the Tigers are 27-10-2 all-time versus the Majors. This will be the fourth meeting in the young conference's history, as the Tigers will look to earn their first win over the Mississippi institution in postseason play.

Women's Soccer

The Tigers will host the six-seeded Warriors of Hendrix College in the quarterfinals of the women's tournament on Sunday, Nov. 3, at noon.

Sewanee, who finished 7-6-2 in the regular season and 4-2-1 in SAA play, defeated the Warriors (7-7-5, 2-4-1) in Sewanee on Oct. 13, 4-0.

Sewanee holds a 24-4-2 record all-time in the series, and the Tigers snapped a four-match winless streak to the Warriors with the Oct. 13 victory. This will be the fourth time the two teams will square off in the quarterfinals of the SAA Tournament, including the second straight year they will do battle. The Warriors defeated the Tigers, 4-1, in the 2018 quarterfinal match in Conway, Ark.

5K MGT Parkrun

The Mountain Goat Trail Parkrun is a free, weekly, timed 5K event. The fun starts on Saturdays at 9 a.m. at Pearl's in Sewanee.

All skill levels are welcome and participants can walk, jog or run. Register at <parkrun.us/register>, print out the bar code and join the fun.

HEAVEN ON EARTH... NOW AVAILABLE IN SEWANEE

MYERS POINT at Sewanee offers a rare opportunity to enjoy a private community that celebrates American architecture, lifestyle, protected forests, cultivated lakes and panoramic views on Middle Tennessee's Cumberland Plateau. If you want to live surrounded by nature, history, beauty, quality and serenity, you'll want to call it home.

Sewanee Swimming and Diving Opens Season at Invitational

The Sewanee swimming and diving teams opened the home portion of the 2019-20 schedule this past weekend with the Sewanee Invitational. The women's team placed second, with the men's team placing third.

The quartet of Isabell Loy, Gabby Acker, Kate Mabry and Anna Hawkins Dulaney scored second place finishes in the 100 medley relay (53.05) and the 200 medley relay (1:55.92).

Acker finished second in the 50-yard breaststroke with a 31.69-second finish. She set a new personal best in the 100 individual medley with a 1:04.31, improving her time by 1.21 seconds. The sophomore also swam in the 200 breaststroke (2:31.71), the 200 IM (2:26.64) and the 400 IM (5:08.47).

Mabry won the 100 backstroke with a 1:00.80 mark. The sophomore also competed in the 200 back (2:15.27), the 200 IM (2:23.03) and the 50 butterfly (28.58). Additionally, she tied with Acker for fourth place in the 100 individual medley with a 1:04.31 finish.

On the boards, Noel Whitlock and Paisley Simmons split the top spots in the one- and three-meter dives. Whitlock edged teammate Olivia Duffee by 0.65 points with a 216.35-point performance. Simmons won the three meters with 217.45 points, beating Whitlock by 1.65 points.

Anthony Carbone posted a season-best in the 200 freestyle with a third place time of 1:45.47. He set a new personal best in the 100 individual medley with a winning time of 56.33 seconds. The sophomore also posted finishes in the 50 breast (28.30), 200 IM (2:04.20) and the 500 free (5:10.43).

James Hoyt earned a second place finish in the 200 butterfly with a 2:05.90 time. The junior also added results in the 50 backstroke (26.56), 1,650 free (17:15.46), 400 individual medley (4:33.17) and the 100 butterfly (56.27).

Jed Henrichsen posted victories on the one-meter (174.25) and three-meter (135.25) dives.

Sewanee will next host Berry in a dual meet on Saturday, Nov. 9.

Equestrian Earns High Point Team Honors over Maryville Weekend

The Sewanee equestrian team saw strong success at the Maryville Seat Show last weekend, as the Tigers claimed High Point Team Honors after Saturday's action. Additionally, three riders qualified for regionals after the weekend meet. The Tigers have totaled four student-athletes qualified for regionals in two meets this fall.

Siena London posted High Point Rider honors after winning the Intermediate Fences and Flat classes.

Sarah Buchholz earned a second place finish in the Limit Fences, as she earned a spot in the regional championships. The sophomore also finished second in the Intermediate Flat.

Allison Bernardino recorded a fourth place finish in the Novice Flat, however, the junior qualified for regional championship competition in the event.

Liza Shoaf earned second place in the open fences, while Annalee Atkinson posted top honors in the Novice Flat.

Olivia Harmon finished third in Limit Fences, while Abby Walker took second place in her intro class.

Sewanee collected high point honors after the competition on Saturday.

On Sunday, Sarah Buchholz won the Intermediate Flat event, as she earned another spot at the regionals later this spring.

Liza Shoaf and Catherine Bratton earned third place in the Open Fences and Novice Flat classes, respectively.

Annalee Atkinson won the Novice Flat on Sunday, while Alexandra Simonin took second place in the Pre-Novice class.

Abby Walker earned a third place finish in the Intro class.

The Tigers finished as the third place team overall after Sunday's competition.

The Tigers will resume action in the spring.

Field Hockey Clips Falcons in Shootout to Complete Weekend Sweep

The Sewanee field hockey team, after 80 minutes and five rounds of a shootout, were forced to a sudden victory situation. In the final two rounds, Sewanee scored twice to secure the 3-2 victory Sunday afternoon from Tomasini Stadium.

In the first few minutes of the contest, the Falcons got on the board with a Megan McPike goal from a Callie Neumann assist.

Sewanee was able to even the contest at a goal apiece in the 24th minute as Buckley Norman recorded her sixth goal of the campaign.

In the third quarter, Concordia Wisconsin reclaimed the lead on a penalty corner. Kelsey Fulton scored the goal off assists from Sam Dunn and Lorri Pitock.

Sewanee, who out-shot the hosts 8-1 in the final 30 minutes of regulation, evened the score once again for her 16th goal of the season off a Norman assist from a penalty corner.

Each team had their opportunities in the final minutes of regulation, but the contest was forced to overtime.

CUW had two shot opportunities in the first extra period, but one was saved by Barbara Canty and the contest was forced into a second overtime.

The Tigers responded with six shot attempts in the second overtime, but neither team could find the back of the cage after 80 minutes of play and the contest was forced to a shootout.

In the opening round, after Caffrey missed the shot to start the shootout, McPike of CUW gave the hosts the 1-0 lead.

In the second round, Norman and Lorri Pitock each scored on their try to keep the lead in favor of the Falcons.

After each side missed in the third round, Caroline Sugar tied the shootout at two apiece with her goal. Sam Dunn missed her attempt to go to the fifth round.

Jo Jo Young gave Sewanee the 3-2 shootout advantage in the shootout, but Kelsey Fulton evened it to three goals apiece after five rounds. Based on the rules, after five rounds of the shootout, a sudden victory will be applied to decide a winner.

In the sixth round, Norman and McPike each scored to force a seventh round.

In the seventh round, CUW's Fulton missed her shot, and that gave Sewanee an opportunity to win the marathon. Sugar took the attempt and converted the winning stroke to win the shootout, 5-4.

Ceara Caffrey posted eight shots, six on goal, as she scored the game-tying goal in the 51st minute.

Alex Hornsby posted four shots in the contest.

Barbara Canty (5-9) stopped five shots in 80 minutes.

Cotton, Coyotes, and Cobalt Blue

The cotton harvest is underway in our area, so a brief note on the botany of cotton seems timely. Cotton is in the family Malvaceae, the Hibiscus or Mallow family, along with Rose-of-Sharon (which is a hibiscus), the cola nut, cacao, okra, marshmallow, and, oddly, American Basswood. These all seem very different from each other but DNA analysis groups them together. Most of the cotton grown, including in our area, is Upland Cotton, Gossypium hirsutum, a species native to Mesoamerica and the Caribbean. It has been cultivated and modified for thousands of years, resulting in the numerous varieties that exist today. It is grown for cottonseed as well as fiber.

Kate Gooch reported hearing “a great chorus of coyotes right at sunset Thursday (Oct. 24). Sopranos in Champion Cove. Altos/tenors chimed in from Lost Cove.”

Teesha Tiller reports finding a remarkable fungus: “When picking up sticks in the afternoon, I found this! (see photo) I think it is cobalt crust fungi, Terana caerulea. It is beautiful!”

Temporary Trail Closing

There will be an event at the University farm during homecoming that will necessitate temporary, short-term closure of the Water Tower Trail between Breakfield Road and the Perimeter Trail.

The first closure will be at some point Friday afternoon and should last no more than an hour, and the second closure will be Saturday morning from 10:30-11:30 a.m.

Barricades and signs will be in place during both closures.

Skye Marie & Evalis

Mon Cheri

Pets of the Week

Meet Skye Marie, Evalis & Mon Cheri

Skye Marie and Evalis are two hound-mix puppies that were dumped at Sewanee Natural Bridge. Luckily, a very sweet couple stumbled across them on a hike and reached out to us for help. At the time, we were very fortunate to have a single kennel open up for them to reside. Since being with us at the shelter, we have discovered these two sisters are the most loving, sweet, and friendly puppies you will ever meet. We feel they deserve the absolute best life after being tossed to the side by humans previously. Both Skye and Evalis are up-to-date on vaccinations, spayed, and microchipped. Will your home be their final forever home? Will you rescue them from the shelter and provide them a loving home for them to live out the rest of their puppy months and beyond?

Mon Cheri is a five-month-old medium haired black and white kitten with a zest for life. Mon Cheri's young life started out with challenges due to being found underneath a car hood trapped in the car's motor. This injury required a back leg amputation. Town and Country Veterinary Hospital graciously provided this sweet kitten a second chance at life by performing this life changing operation. Now it is Animal Harbor's turn to help find a forever home for Mon Cheri. Mon Cheri had to spend her first couple months in isolation to assure she healed successfully. During this time, she became best friends with orphaned Phoenix, who we let play with her in her kennel under supervision. Each day Mon Cheri looked forward to her playdates with Phoenix, and you would never believe this spunky kitten was missing a leg. Fast forward to the present and Mon Cheri is doing great in her kitten community room, and patiently awaiting the perfect human to come in and take her to a loving home! Mon Cheri is up to date on vaccinations, FIV/FelV negative, and spayed and microchipped. Come meet this lovely kitten and let her sweep you off your feet with her loving presence. Also, ask about her buddy Phoenix, for they would love to go into a home together!

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Sewanee Deer Hunt 2019-20

The 2019-20 hunting season in Sewanee runs discontinuously until Jan. 11, 2020.

Areas on both sides of the water tower trail have been reopened to full season hunting. Limited hunting will be allowed during Homecoming in zones away from heavy recreational activity. There will be no hunting on Breakfield Road during Homecoming. All trails and firelanes remain open to recreational use during the season and hunters maintain a 100-yard safety zone around all recreational trails.

This is an invitation only hunt. If you are interested in picking up a field-dressed deer for processing, please email <domain@sewanee.edu>. For more information on the University hunting program and specific rules and times, go to <http://sustain.sewanee.edu/domain/ecosystem-management/deer-hunting/>.

Make Your Own Flour From Scratch ($5.99/person)—Meet Seasonal Ranger Justine Adams-Bates at 10 a.m. on the Meadow Trail beside the South Cumberland State Park main visitor's center. 11745 US 41, Monteagle. Ever wondered where flour comes from, or what exactly you're getting when you buy flour from the grocery store? Wonder no more! We will be diving into subjects such as what makes good flour, how to make high-quality flour at home, and what to look for when purchasing your own wheat berries. We will also be hand grinding our own flour with a manual action flour grinder. This is a perfect activity as the holidays draw near, and you want to bake some high-quality goods for your loved ones, or maybe you'd like to gift your hand-made flour to someone you cherish!

Campfire Bread ($4/person)—Meet Seasonal Ranger Justine Adams-Bates at 1:30 p.m. on the Meadow Trail beside the South Cumberland State Park main visitor's center. 11745 US 41, Monteagle. The hike in is an easy 1/4 mile in a meadow and through some woods. The campfire will be set up at the newly-built fire pit at the end of the trail. A fire will be set up and Seasonal Ranger Justine will teach you how to make campfire bread, which is an unleavened bread that is cooked over the coals of a campfire. You can register for this program at <https://tnstateparks.com/parks/>.

The South Cumberland State Park Visitors' Center is located on Highway 41 South, and is open 8 a.m.—4:30 p.m. seven days a week. For more information call (931) 924-2980.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

All Saints' Day

When these graven lines you see,
Traveler, do not pity me;
Though I be among the dead,
Let no mournful word be said.

Children that I leave behind,
And their children, all were kind;
Near to them and to my wife,
I was happy all my life.

My three sons I married right,
And their sons I rocked at night;
Death nor sorrow never brought
Cause for one unhappy thought.

Now, and with no need of tears,
Here they leave me, full of years,--
Leave me to my quiet rest
In the region of the blest.
