

Music of Joy and Thanksgiving

The Sewanee Chorale will present "Music of Joy and Thanksgiving" at 7:30 p.m., today (Friday), Nov. 3, in All Saints' Chapel. Under the direction of Ruth S. Cobb and Caroline Carson, Assistant Director, there will be guest artists featured including Anna Burklin, C'18, Will Burton-Edwards, C'18, and Caroline Carson, T'19. They will be joined by community members Alyssa Sumpter, flute, and Barbara Carden, cello. Joseph Causby, the music director and organist of St. Mark's Episcopal Church in San Antonio, Texas will accompany the group.

The concert is free and open to the public. Donations will be accepted for the Sewanee Community Chest, from which the Sewanee Chorale is a grateful recipient.

It's Time to Fall Back!

Don't forget to set your clock back one hour before you go to bed Saturday night, Nov. 4. Daylight saving time officially ends at 2 a.m., Sunday, Nov. 5, which means everyone gets an extra hour of sleep!

Halloween festivities at the Sewanee Children's Center were especially spooky and fun thanks to the support of the Sewanee community. The day began with a party at the school organized by parents and teachers, and culminated in a trick-or-treat trip around downtown Sewanee. Many thanks to the organizations and businesses that welcomed the children with treats, decorations, and costumes: Otey Parish (Frieda Hawkins Gipson), CAC (Betty Carpenter and all), The Sewanee Post Office, Sewanee Auto Repair, The Lemon Fair, Shenanigans, Blue Chair, Regions Bank, Beauty by Tabitha, University Realty, and Sewanee Human Resources.

Peace Begins With You: Sewanee Peace Pole's 15th Anniversary

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

The 15th annual Sewanee Elementary School Peace Pole ceremony on Oct. 27 opened with Principal Kim Tucker defining peace—"Peace is when everyone gets along. Peaceful thoughts begin with you." Every peace pole ceremony since the program began in 2002 has underscored that same message.

The SES peace pole, a former telephone pole at the rear of the building, features 31 plaques inscribed with the phrase "May Peace Prevail on Earth," each in a different language. This year SES added Latin to the list of peace pole honorees.

Under the direction of librarian Kathryn Gotko Bruce, students from the fourth-grade class recited the emblematic peace pole phrase in Latin, "Regnet pax omnem per terram." To prepare for the ceremony, the class toured All Saints' Chapel with University professor Chris McDonough looking for examples of Latin text. Student presenters highlighted the Roman Empire's history, the Roman numerals counting system, and the Latin language's influence on the languages of countries conquered by the Romans.

In keeping with the tradition of including music in the ceremony, aide Janet Green led the fifth grade in singing Dona Nobis Pacem, "Grant Us Peace," in Latin, accompanied by students playing string and rhythm instruments.

The first year, 2002, student musicians from the University entertained. The Cumberland Center for Justice and Peace hosted the event under the direction of CCJP volunteer Pat Wiser. Each tier of the SES peace pole accommodates six language plaques, with six languages selected for representation that first year. CCJP contributed English, Arabic and Hebrew plaques—a testimony to the hope for peace in the Middle East. CCJP supporters contributed Spanish. And SES contributed Cherokee and Japanese, the choice of SES students.

"Librarian Cheryl King and I organized a student vote in the library," Wiser said.

In activities leading up to the ceremony, students learned about the people who spoke the languages and talked about the meaning of peace.

"By identifying the country where the language was spoken on a map, students earned a flag sticker," Wiser said, naming a few of the activities. She singled out one as especially important. "Teachers had students write about their wish for peace in their personal life. They're still doing that." (Continued on page 6)

Arcadia Considering 'Green House' Assisted Living

by Kevin Cummings
Messenger Staff Writer

Leaders for a planned assisted living facility in Sewanee are considering various style options, but one particular model has piqued their interest.

The Board of Trustees for Arcadia at Sewanee will not select a design until after it chooses a developer, however, Linda Lankewicz, board president, said the Green House Project is one of the favorite models among board members.

"The Green House Project is an approach that attempts to allow residents to live meaningful lives," she said. "Founded by Dr. Bill Thomas, it has been praised by many, included Dr. Atul Gawande in his book 'Mortal Being.'"

Thomas, a geriatrician, started the Green House Project in 2003, according to the organization's website, and now more than 170 elder-care homes feature the Green House model. The approach aims to make assisted living or nursing homes feel like a home as opposed to a hospital or institutional environment. To promote companionship and a welcoming family atmosphere, usually 10 to 12 residents live in a house, which includes an open layout with a kitchen, hearth and a common dining table.

Lankewicz said people want to be able to smell food cooking and feel like they are at home.

Other perks of the model include individual rooms, which a resident can

Community Council Appoints Weber to Fill Vacancy; Discusses Crosswalk Modification

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

At the Oct. 30 meeting the Sewanee Community Council appointed June Weber to serve as the District 1 representative in keeping with the authority granted by the council's constitution to fill mid-term vacancies.

A realtor with Gooch Beasley, Weber's daughter attended the University prompting her to relocate in the Sewanee area following Hurricane Katrina.

"She's sharp and dependable and would be a great asset to our group," said council representative Flournoy Rogers, who nominated Weber.

Weber will serve until the next election in Nov. 2018.

Revisiting a topic previously discussed, council representative

SES SPO REVERSE PARADE THANK-YOU

To the Editor:

With the Reverse Parade behind us, with only some cobwebs on the bushes and candy in a sack at home to as memories, we'd like to thank the many people who helped to make this event possible.

Thank you to Kim Tucker, principal, for her support, and for leading the parade; to Linda Cockburn, chair of the Reverse Parade Committee, for her many contributions; to Officer Robin for being a steady presence; to the SPD for use of their cones and for closing off the street to keep our children safe; to Vello Virkhaus for being our DJ; to Coach Gilliam for use of his gym and decorations; and to everyone else who brought items, volunteered, or both, including Rita Milner and Jennifer Matthews and most notably the dedicated Leigh Anne Couch and Georgia Hewitt. Thanks, too, go to Chastity Inoubli, who swept up behind us—a clean sweep!

We were glad to welcome families from SES and the community. Thank you, too, for coming out and making the Reverse Parade a sweet success!

Sarah Marhevsky, President of the Sewanee Parent Organization

LEGISLATIVE BONANZA FOR THE SUPER RICH

To the Editor:

The Republican Congress is busy colluding with Trump to undo Obama's legislative protections of human beings and our environment by passing a legislative bonanza for the super rich, at the expense of the rest of us. Congress has now overturned protections for children by rejecting recommendation to ban the pesticide chlorpyrifos linked to developmental problems in children; it has repealed the requirement that companies disclose and fix labor and safety violations; overturned a rule restricting coal companies from dumping mining debris into waterways; the Education Department has delayed requirements that for-profit colleges follow honest and sound education practices; an Executive Order has offered health insurance that does not protect people with pre-existing conditions and will destabilize the Affordable Care Act's marketplaces; Congress has overturned a rule allowing consumers to file class action lawsuits against banks; has repealed requirement that certain employers disclose and fix serious labor and safety violations; changed rules that would limit workers' exposure to beryllium that causes about 100 deaths a year; has repealed an SEC requirement that oil and mining companies disclose payments to foreign governments; repealed regulation barring persons suffering from schizophrenia and other psychotic disorders (about 75,000) from buying a gun, and more. Looking at such greed and aggression toward America and our people is breath-taking. What kind of human beings would deliberately vote against such protections.

CAC Pantry Sunday

Pantry Sunday for the Community Action Committee (CAC) is Sunday, Nov. 5, for participating churches: St. James, Otey, Cumberland Presbyterian and All Saints' Chapel. Please bring your food offerings to Sunday services. The typical bag of groceries includes: rice, beans, pasta, macaroni and cheese, peanut butter, and cans of vegetables, fruit and soup. The cost for a complete bag is less than $15.

The CAC is an outreach ministry of Otey Parish, with generous support from the Sewanee Community Chest and individuals across the Mountain. For more than 42 years, the CAC has provided food, financial assistance and educational support for persons in the greater Sewanee community. For more information contact the CAC at 598-5927.

Curbside Recycling

Residential curbside recycling pickup in Sewanee is on the first and third Friday of each month. Today (Friday), Nov. 3, will be a pickup day.

Recyclable materials must be separated by type and placed in blue bags by the side of the road no later than 7:30 a.m. Please do not put out general household trash on this day. Blue bags may be picked up in the University Lease and Community Relations Office, 400 University Ave. (the Blue House) or at the Physical Plant Services office on Georgia Ave.

Veterans Day Closings

Veterans Day (Observed) is Friday, Nov. 10. Federal, state and local government agency offices are closed; banks and post offices are closed.

Meet and Greet for Harwell

The public is invited to a Meet and Greet for Tennessee Governor candidate Beth Harwell. The event will be at 5:30 p.m., Monday, Nov. 6, at Pearl's Fine Dining, 15344 Sewanee Hwy., Sewanee. The event is hosted by Lisa and Brian Beathard, and State Representative Rick Tillis. For more information contact Reid Witchter at (423) 956-0371 or <reid@rachelbarrettco.com>.

Letters to the Editor Policy

Letters to the editor are welcome at the Sewanee Mountain Messenger and are a vital part of our community's conversation. Letters need to be no longer than 250 words and may be edited for space and clarity. We make exceptions from time to time, but these are our general guidelines.

Planned TVA Outage for Sherwood and Anderson

The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) has scheduled a power outage for DREMC members living in the communities of Sherwood and Anderson of Franklin County.

The outage is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 4, from 6 a.m. until approximately noon.

This outage is necessary for TVA to change out poles and will affect all members in the Sherwood and Anderson areas but will not affect members in Sewanee, Cowan and Sinking Cove. In the event of inclement weather, the outage will be rescheduled for Nov. 11.

DREMC appreciates the cooperation and understanding of its members during this planned outage as we strive to improve the reliability of the electric system.

DACA and How We Can Build a More Welcoming Tennessee

Leah Haslinger, Community Relations Manager with the Tennessee Immigration and Refugee Rights Coalition, and Abby Colbert, an immigration lawyer, will speak at the Sewanee Organize and Act meeting at 2 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 12, at the Sewanee Community Center on Ball Park Road. All are invited.

They will present information about DACA and strategies for building a more welcoming Tennessee. The presentation will include an overview of demographic shifts in Tennessee, what's at stake for DACA recipients, and what people can do to advocate for the passage of a clean Dream Act.

The Dream Act, formally known as the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA), is a policy that allows some individuals who entered the country as minors, and had either entered or remained in the country illegally, to receive a renewable two-year period of deferred action from deportation and to be eligible for a work permit. Currently, approximately 800,000 individuals are enrolled in the DACA program. The policy was established by the Obama administration, subsequently rescinded by the Trump administration in September of this year.

Sewanee Organize and Act (SOA), composed of members from Grundy, Franklin, and Marion counties, was formed in January of this year to champion progressive values and resist a governmental agenda that will take the country backwards. SOA follows the Indivisible strategy, which is available at <https://www.indivisibleguide.com> and models the values of inclusion, respect, and fairness. For more information, email <sewaneeorganizeandact@gmail.com>.

Church News

All Saints’ Chapel

Growing in Grace will continue Sunday, Nov. 5, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints’ Chapel. Evans Ousley, a senior in the college and head sacristan will be the speaker. This informal worship service is designed for students and community members with student-led acoustic music, guest speakers, and Holy Communion. Email Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep at <kayla.deep@sewanee.edu> with any questions or for more information. We hope to see you there.

The Catechumenate will continue Wednesday, Nov. 8, at 7 p.m. in the Bairnwick Women’s Center. Dessert and coffee will be provided. Catechumenate, from a Greek word meaning “learning and exploring,” is a place where we explore what it means to be a human being and what it means to be a person of faith in our community. This is a great place to meet new people and build relationships. Food, prayer, questions, and conversation power this process. Email Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep at <kayla.deep@sewanee.edu> for directions or more information.

Chapman’s Chapel Church

Chapman’s Chapel Church at 273 Chapman Chapel Road in Pelham will feature the talents and gifts of several of their teens at the Sunday, Nov. 5 morning worship service. The annual Youth Department Cake and Pie Auction with a free chili lunch will be at noon. The public is invited to join in the blessings, fun, and delicious offerings of the day while supporting the youth department. For more information contact Frieda Sherrill at (931) 467-3491.

Christ Church

On Sunday morning at Christ Church Monteagle, the Christmas Child Shoeboxes to be distributed by Samaritans Purse will be blessed. Children and adults work together in thousands of churches to make this “miracle in a shoebox” happen each year.

We also serve as a courier for shoeboxes for any individual or church in need of a transport to the larger centers and from there to North Carolina, which is the point from which the shoeboxes go out to many lands. However, the shoeboxes need to be brought to Christ Church by Nov. 5. Tracy City and Jasper have become well known for all the churches which work on behalf of Samaritans Purse and they have later cut-off dates, if you need more time to pack one or more.

The festival of All Saints’ Day has an octave. That means that the celebration is not limited to Nov. 1, but is a kind of little season. Remembering those who have gone before us and especially those who have influenced us in our walk of faith is a way of expressing what All Saints’ is about. Many hymns which have come down to us were written for All Saints’ Day. Children’s hymns “I sing a song of the saints of God” to the majestic “For all the saints, who from their labors rest” will be sung at Christ Church on Nov.

5, where the service begins around 10:30 a.m.

Lunch is always served at Christ Church on Sundays, and there is seldom a Sunday where guests and visitors do not appear in time for lunch.

Harrison Chapel Revival

Everyone is invited to join Harrison Chapel Church in a Revival which starts at 7 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 6. Bro. Dennis Rollins and Bro. Charles “Red” Keener will preach. Harrison Chapel Church is located at 254 Otter Falls Rd. in the Midway community between Monteagle and Sewanee. All are welcome.

Otey Parish

In Christian Formation at 10 a.m., Sunday, Nov. 5, the Lectionary Class will explore Sunday’s gospel in the Adult Education Room. Children ages 3–11 are invited to meet their friends for Godly Play. Youth Sunday School will meet in Brooks Hall. Infants 6 weeks to children 4 years old are invited to the nursery beginning at 8:30 a.m. until after the second service.

The Adult Forum at Otey at 10 a.m., Sunday, Nov. 5, will explore the significance of Martin Luther’s Ninety-Five Theses 500 years ago and today. Brown Patterson will present “New Views of the Reformation and the Significance of Protestantism,” and will invite questions and discussion. All are welcome.

Trinity Episcopal Church

On Nov. 5 at 10:30 a.m. join members of Trinity for a festive Holy Communion on All Saints’ Sunday, when we will commemorate the faithful witness of Christians past and present. A potluck luncheon will follow.

On Monday, Nov. 6, local FCHS Spanish teacher Michael Franklin will speak on his 20 years of educational development work in Honduras. Evening Prayer is at 6 p.m., followed by a presentation by Michael who works for an organization called the Alabama Honduras Medical Educational Network. Go to <michaelsmissionsmusings.blogspot.com> for more information.

The Japanese tradition of commemorating events with text inscribed on a vertical pole inspired Japanese philosopher and spiritual leader Masahisa Goi in his quest to promote world peace. Goi created the first peace pole in 1955 with the text "May Peace Prevail on Earth" in Japanese. The idea spread worldwide, with the first peace poles outside Japan appearing in the 1980s.

Peace poles in Boulder, Colo., where Wiser formerly worked as a school librarian, prompted her to propose the peace pole project to the CCJP board. CCJP discussed locating the peace pole in the University Shakespeare Garden, but Wiser's preferred location, SES, won out.

Former SES Principal Mike Maxon and the SES faculty unanimously endorsed the project. With the country in turmoil following the tragic events of Sept. 11, 2001, Maxon wisely suggested not tying the peace pole program to that date. The first ceremony occurred on Sept. 20, 2002, coinciding with the International Day of Peace on Sept. 21.

University students tutored SES students in reciting "May peace prevail on earth" in Arabic and Hebrew. Family members tutored the children who recited the phrase in Cherokee, Japanese, and Spanish, establishing a tradition of family involvement that continued in subsequent years.

Principal Maxon suggested using the out-of-service telephone pole at the rear of the school to display the plaques rather than purchasing a pole.

Wiser pointed to the 2004 ceremony as particularly memorable. "The entire student body silently spoke the words 'May Peace Prevail on Earth' in sign language. Library aide Amy Dye taught every child in school how to sign the phrase."

By 2005, the SES peace pole featured 15 languages, but an unexpected controversy nearly brought the popular program to an end. Two Franklin County School Board members took issue with CCJP hosting the event. The board members cited a publication written by Sewanee theologians examining biblical references to homosexuality, which appeared on the CCJP website. In the aftermath of the dispute, SES librarian Cheryl King assumed responsibility for organizing

The first peace pole ceremony in 2002, which featured the languages Cherokee and Japanese, student choices, as well as Arabic, Hebrew, and Spanish. and coordinating the annual Peace Pole ceremony. Wiser, though, continued to volunteer at the school, and she and her husband Phil Loney donated peace pole plaques for a number of years, as did CCJP supporters Scott and Phoebe Bates.

"I do things a little differently from Cheryl King," said current SES librarian Bruce, who joined the SES staff in 2012. "I select one language and focus on the culture and history of that one country instead of two or three."

Bruce only receives one dollar per student for books and relies on aid from the Sewanee Community Chest to fund the peace pole program. Plaques cost $45 each.

Loney mounted the plaques for the first few years, but as the display grew taller, the University took over the task. One account lists the 52-foot peace pole in Waynesville, Wisc., as the tallest, but the SES peace pole—exact height unknown—may be a contender for the title. Telephone poles average 45 feet in height.

Worldwide more than 100,000 community, small-group and school sponsored peace poles honor the wisdom underlying Goi's vision—peace begins with you.

Wiser fondly recalls the child who inspired by the program announced, "I'm not going to hit my little brother anymore. I hit him yesterday, but I'm not going to be mean to him tonight."

personalize and bring in their own furniture, according to the Green House Project. Access to the outdoors and a low staff to resident ratio are also part of the design.

Earlier this year, Arcadia board members toured the Green House model employed by St. Martin's in the Pines near Birmingham. St. Martin's Green House homes are for long-term care, not assisted living.

Anica McDonald, director of marketing at St. Martin's, said that facility has three Green House cottages, which opened in 2008. Each cottage has three floors and each floor is referred to as a "house" with 10 residents living in each one, she said. Each floor has a screened in porch that overlooks a courtyard.

"They are very comfortable living there because it is like a home environment," McDonald said. "It's beautiful and the concept is beautiful, but it's a little bit difficult to manage from a long-term care perspective. I don't know how it would work with assisted living, but from a long-term care perspective where people are needing more care, it's a little bit difficult to manage."

For example, she said there are logistical issues with three floors and no nursing station in the halls like at a traditional nursing home. She added that when an activity is at a different house, it can be a "juggling match" to get everybody involved when residents are at different levels of care and mobility.

Arcadia board members are also studying a model called Apartments for Life, a Dutch concept in which residents live in apartments which are age-restricted. For example, only people ages 55 and up may be allowed to live in the apartments. Staff members provide many services, like transportation, help accessing medical and other assistance, as well as organizing social events, but the model emphasizes independence.

As for what level of care and assistance will be offered at Arcadia at Sewanee, those options are also still under consideration.

"We are not at the point of knowing which type of care we would be able to provide, and it is likely that our work will happen in phases," Lankewicz said. "Most of our conversation now is about some form of assisted living (which may be independent living with assistance) as the first step."

The Arcadia board was elected in May 2016 to address the problem of people leaving the Mountain for care as they aged. Lankewicz said local residents have approached her and told her they are "counting on this."

The Arcadia board is now considering two developers for the project, but Lankewicz said there is not a definitive timeline for choosing a developer. She noted that the board has worked with potential developers to help them get to know Sewanee and avoid a "cookie-cutter approach."

The site is also to be determined, however, both developers are interested in building close to downtown Sewanee, Lankewicz said. In addition, feedback from potential residents also indicates a preference for living near the amenities of the Village.

"This quest to find a solution for senior living is a complex process," Lankewicz said. "We continue to learn more and have to explore further."

Sewanee Homecoming Events, Nov. 3–5

Close to 1,300 college alumni and friends are expected to return to the University of the South campus this weekend for Homecoming. In addition to the receptions and gatherings with old friends, this year will offer several special events and opportunities. The full schedule is online <<http://www.sewaneegateway.com/s/1398/index.aspx?sid=1398&gid=1&pgid=414>>.

Educational opportunities will be offered Friday, including a talk at 1 p.m. "From 9/11 to the Miracle on the Hudson: 50 years of managing wildlife in an increasingly crowded world" by Richard Dolbeer, C'67, consultant and advisor to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, in Gailor Auditorium. A hike on the Caldwell Rim Trail, led by favorite professors, also is scheduled Friday afternoon.

Other Friday events include a 1–6 p.m. open house at the Ralston Listening Library, upstairs, duPont Library. Come enjoy some music in this world-class listening facility built in memory of beloved Sewanee professor Father William Ralston, C'51. At 2 p.m., there will be a presentation on "Business at Sewanee" by David Shippis, C'88, director of the Babson Center for Global Commerce. Learn how we prepare our students to be the next generation of leaders in business in Gailor Room 112. A 2 p.m. presentation on The Sewanee Slavery Project by Woody Register, C'82, professor of history, is offered for you to learn about the project that seeks to understand the relation of slavery and slavery's legacies to the university's founding and first century of operation Gailor Auditorium. You don't want to miss the 2–4 p.m. University and Sewanee cemeteries tour "Shoulders We Stand On" led by James Gipson, C'66, Sewanee historian. Meet at the cemetery gate across from Stirling's Coffee House on the corner of Georgia Ave. and Kennerly Lane.

The Saturday morning celebration will honor the following alumni award winners: Jamie Greenawalt, C'03, will receive the Distinguished Young Alumnus Award; J.F. Bryan, C'65, will receive the John R. Crawford Distinguished Service Award; Marty Boal Willis, C'82, will be honored as the Distinguished Alumnus; and Dr. George Poe, Professor Emeritus of French will receive the Distinguished Faculty and Staff Award. There will be a 10 a.m.–noon book signing of "Haunted Sewanee" by Annie Armour, C'77, at the University Book and Supply Store. From 4–6 p.m. there is a gallery talk and opening reception for "Fired Up," a solo exhibition of soft sculptures by New York artist and Sewanee alumna Natalie Baxter, C'07, at the Carlos Gallery in the Nabit Art Building.

The University Memorial Service is on Sunday, Nov. 5, at 9:30 a.m. in St. Augustine's Chapel.

Monteagle Fire Department Improves ISO Rating

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

"The ISO score decrease will mean a decrease in homeowners insurance premiums," Fire Chief Mike Holmes announced at the Oct. 30 Monteagle Town Council meeting, reporting on the results of a recent inspection. The council discussed funding options for the turnout gear needed by the fire department and whether to demolish all or only a portion of the old fire hall. In other business, the council approved deannexation of the section of the Deepwoods development still in the city limits.

"The fire department's ISO (Insurance Service Officer) rating was reduced from six to five," Holmes said. "That's pretty good for a volunteer fire department."

Looking to the future, Holmes stressed the need for turnout gear for the four trainees. "I can't send them to the final practicum in gear with tears and holes. It's not safe for them to go into a fire." The gear cost $3,000 per set: tops, bottoms, helmet and boots.

"The gear isn't in the budget," Mayor David Sampley said.

Vice-Mayor Jessica Blalock suggested sale of the department's 1981 truck, estimated value $8,000-$15,000, would pay for most of the gear. The council approved the sale in February. The department no longer uses the truck, which has pump and tank leaks.

Sampley will consult with Utility Department Supervisor John Condra regarding the department's possible interest in purchasing the truck.

"They've used it in the past," Holmes said.

Turning to the demolition of the old fire hall, Sampley said plans called for tearing down just the condemned structure.

Holmes said the building the city intended to leave in place flooded and had mold problems.

Blalock questioned whether there would be adequate parking for a new fire hall if the city did not tear down both buildings on the lot and argued it would cost less to demolish both buildings at once.

Sampley said the call for bids in the Messenger and Grundy County Herald only received one reply. He asked for prices on tearing the buildings down separately and together. The city will expand the bid search to the Franklin County and Coffee County newspapers.

Reporting on the notification sent to the four businesses in violation of the new ordinance requiring a fence screening any lots with conveyances in a "junked condition," Codes Enforcement Officer Earl Geary said one business removed the conveyances in question, but the other three have not responded. The ordinance requires businesses in violation to begin construction of a fence in 30 days. "I think they're going to fight it," Geary said.

Police Chief Virgil McNeese will issue citations to the three businesses in violation of the ordinance requiring them to appear in court. Whether to impose the $50 per day fine called for by the ordinance will be up to the judge, Geary noted.

Responding to a request from Deepwoods' residents, the council approved on first reading the deannexation of the portion of the development still in the city limits. In February, the council approved a similar request from another group of Deepwoods residents who cited the need for road maintenance. Monteagle does not levy an income tax and lacked funds to maintain the roads.

The council also approved giving Walmart gift cards to all city employees at Thanksgiving and giving fruit baskets to senior citizens. After discussion, the council approved $150 Christmas bonuses for part-time employees and $250 bonuses for full-time employees. In each case, the council raised the amount awarded last year by $50 to cover the taxes assessed on the holiday bonuses.

Updating the council on plans for the Christmas parade scheduled for 4:30 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 9, Blalock said awards would be given for the best decorated float and the float best representing the theme "A Disney Christmas." The city will also give awards for the best decorated business and home. Tower Community Bank will provide refreshments during Santa's visit at Harton Park following the parade.

Cindy Potter said she spoke with Franklin County Highway Commissioner Joe David McBee about the crossing light in front of the Blue Chair "taking up five or six parking spaces."

McBee indicated he was open to making the two downtown crossing lights more compatible with the Sewanee Village Plan, Potter said.

Provost Nancy Berner asked Potter to communicate to McBee "the council would greatly appreciate the lights being modified."

To keep the council abreast of issues concerning the community, Berner provided an overview of agenda items proposed to the council agenda committee, but determined to be best dealt with by other agencies.

The need for sidewalks in the Quintard Hall and School of Theology vicinity was already under review by Facilities Management, according to Berner. The problem of overly long vehicles parked on Tennessee Avenue extending into the street fell to the police department to address, Berner said. Plans are to communicate the problem via email or similar means in the hope of avoiding issuing citations. Berner also noted a group had formed to coordinate maintenance of the ballpark, and she would meet with them in early November to discuss the issues.

Mike Gardner, who oversees Facilities Planning and Operations, said Duck River Electric recently communicated concern about the age and safety of the ballpark lighting. "We're going to have to do something about the lighting system," Gardner stressed.

Build Your Own Business

Please come hear Sewanee professors and summer interns discuss their work in Uganda last summer at a fundraiser for Canon Gideon Byamugisha's Hope Institute, 5 to 8 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 18, at Otey Parish Church. Bazzania and Sewanee Praise! will perform and jambalaya will be served. The project this year is to fund a stipend for a business instructor and three startup enterprise microloans. Tickets are $50, students free, cash or check only. There are no overhead expenses so 100 percent of your donation will benefit students in Uganda. For information and to RSVP contact <sally@hubbard.net>.

Party for Paws 2017

Animal Harbor's annual Party for Paws will take place 6-8:30 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 11, at St Mark's Hall, Otey Parish.

This is one of Animal Harbor's two major annual fundraisers; the proceeds help to provide essential care for the shelter's animals and prepare them for adoption with vaccinations, spay/neuter surgery, and microchipping. The party will feature great food (with vegetarian options) by Old Mill Manor Restaurant and Catering, a full bar, and a silent auction of works by our talented local artists, gift certificates, theater tickets, gift baskets, and other items.

Tickets are $55 per person and must be purchased by Wednesday, Nov. 8. They can be purchased online at <www.animalharbor.org>, from the shelter or Winchester veterinarians, or in Sewanee from Sue Ridyard <srldyard@sewanee.edu> or 598-9260, or Pat Dover <pthompson313@gmail.com>.

Operation Christmas Child

There will be a Packing Party for Operation Christmas Child during the week of Nov. 13–17 in the Hearth Room of the Bishop's Common. Packing will take place Monday–Thursday, from 1–5 p.m. and 7–9 p.m., and from 1–5 p.m. on Friday. Approximately 1,000 boxes will be packed this year and help is needed to pack. Donations are also accepted to cover shipping costs. There is also a need for donations of new soccer balls and small stuffed animals for the boxes.

During the past 6 years, University students and the Sewanee community have packed more than 1,500 shoeboxes for children in more than 100 foreign countries. These boxes are filled with school supplies, hygiene items, shoes, clothing, cups, and toys. Anyone in the Sewanee and surrounding communities are invited to pack shoeboxes and join the University students who will be leading this project. Sewanee Burning Abraham Lincoln was elected president in November 1860. South Carolina seceded from the Union in December followed by the other Southern states. The issue of slavery divided the nation.

"It was the work of white men under the prompting of the spirit of abolitionism."

—Leonidas Polk, Bishop of Louisiana, May 28, 1861

What Bishop Polk was referring to took place six weeks earlier. On April 12, 1861, the homes in Sewanee of Bishop Polk and Bishop Stephen Elliott of Georgia were destroyed by fire. The following are contemporary accounts of the fires. The first is a letter to the Church Intelligencer. The second is from a letter written by Bishop Elliott, and the third is a letter written by Bishop James H. Otey of Tennessee.

TENNESSEE, FRANKLIN CO.

University Place, April 15, 1861

MR. EDITOR:—On the night of Friday the 12th of April, the residences of Bishops Elliott and Polk at this place were entirely destroyed by fire. Bishop Polk's family, consisting of Mrs. Polk and three daughters, were roused by the roaring of the flames over head in time to escape. Scarcely anything but the Bishop's private papers were saved, the roof falling in a few moments after the ladies left the house.

The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary. Bishop Elliott's house being closed, as the family had all left for Savannah. Both houses were fired simultaneously.

Bishop Polk was absent.

Respectfully your ob't servant,

Charles R. Barney,

Superintendent and Engineer of the University of the South

Dear Sir:

Bishop Polk's and my house were fired simultaneously on Friday the 12th of April in the dead of night. My house was empty of everything except the standing furniture, since we did not intend to remain. The fire was placed directly under the spot where my daughter's bed was; the party being evidently ignorant of their removal. The fire at Bishop Polk's was communicated thro' combustibles thrown in on the bed of the company chamber, the window sash having been lifted. In twenty-five minutes it was burned to the ground. Nothing was saved but the portraits of Mrs. Polk's parents and Bishop Polk's private papers.

My Dearest Daughter:

Mrs. Polk...was the first to awaken, being roused by the roaring of the flames. After seeing the situation of affairs, she awoke her daughters and got them out and aroused the servants—secured the Bp's papers and some family heirlooms and then went again into the burning building to save something she valued. Altamone (the Negro carpenter) remonstrated with his mistress, and seeing the imminent danger rushed forward, took her up in his arms and bore her from the burning pile. He had barely escaped thro' the door when the roof fell in. A moment longer and Mrs. Polk would have been lost.

Robert MacSwain

MacSwain at the Tom Watson Memorial Lecture

Friends of the Library of Sewanee: The University of the South invite you to attend a special lecture by the Rev. Robert MacSwain, Associate Professor of Theology at the School of Theology at the University of the South. MacSwain will be the featured speaker for the second annual Tom Watson Memorial Lecture, a lecture series designed to remember and honor the legacy of Tom Watson, University Librarian from 1976-81; 1994-2004. The Friends meeting will be in the Torian Room of Jessie Ball duPont Library at 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 7. A reception will follow the talk.

MacSwain will address Lewis' past and current success in persuasively communicating the basic content of the Christian faith to millions of readers; why he so sharply polarizes his readers; and what, if anything, can be appropriated from Lewis' rhetorical example 50 years after his death.

MacSwain is the author and editor of numerous works, including "The Cambridge Companion to C. S. Lewis" (Cambridge University Press, 2010).

Brad Collett

Sewanee's Water Lecture Series

The last in this semester's series of "Sewanee: The Year of Water" will be at 6 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 8, in Gailor Auditorium. Brad Collett will discuss "Water Quality by Design: Methods, Outcomes and Trajectories of the Tennessee River Project and HydroLIT."

Brad is an Associate Professor in the Department of Plant Sciences with a faculty appointment to the UT School of Landscape Architecture and he will speak about his work and that of his students in developing valuable resources for protecting Tennessee's water quality and the new Tennessee River project. His teaching and research interests include landscape performance, specifically watershed stewardship through operative landscapes and low impact planning, design and development. Through community-engaged coursework, he has published two books focused on water resources in East Tennessee: "Low Impact Development: Opportunities for the PlanET Region," and "HydroLIT: Southeast Tennessee Water Quality Playbook." In partnership with the College of Architecture and Design's Governor's Chair for Energy and Urbanism, he is Director of the Tennessee River Project, a multi-year, watershed-based teaching, research, and outreach initiative launched in fall 2016.

Sewanee's Integrated Program in the Environment and Office of Environmental Stewardship with help from Laurie Fowler (Sewanee's 2017 Brown Fellow) and the Departments of Biology and Earth and Environmental Systems are sponsoring this year-long lecture series to promote water quality and water conservation in our region.

Ayanna Thompson

Phi Beta Kappa Lecture

The public is invited to attend the annual Phi Beta Kappa lecture with Ayanna Thompson on "Shakespeare, Race, and Performance, What We Still Don't Know."

The lecture will take place at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 9, in Gailor Hall Auditorium. A reception will follow at 5:30 p.m.

Ayanna Thompson is a professor of English at George Washington University, specializing in Renaissance drama and issues of race in and as performance. She is the author of "Teaching Shakespeare with Purpose: A Student-Centered Approach," "Passing Strange: Shakespeare, Race, and Contemporary America," and "Performing Race and Torture on the Early Modern Stage."

She wrote the new introduction for the revised Arden Edition of "Othello," and is the editor of "Weyward Macbeth: Intersections of Race and Performance" and "Colorblind Shakespeare: New Perspectives on Race and Performance."

Thompson is currently on the editorial boards of the Shakespeare Quarterly, Renaissance Drama, and Shakespeare Bulletin, she has served as a trustee of the Shakespeare Association of America.

Kiese Laymon Reading

The Common Book Program presents a reading and conversation with Kiese Laymon at 7 p.m., Monday, Nov. 13, in Convocation Hall.

Kiese Laymon was born and raised in Jackson, Miss. Laymon attended Millsaps College and Jackson State University before graduating from Oberlin College. He earned an M.F.A. in fiction from Indiana University. Laymon is currently a professor of English and African American studies at the University of Mississippi and a distinguished visiting professor of nonfiction at the University of Iowa.

Laymon is the author of the novel "Long Division" and a collection of essays, "How to Slowly Kill Yourself and Others in America." He has written essays, stories and reviews for numerous publications including Esquire, the New York Times, ESPN The Magazine, NPR, the Los Angeles Times, and Oxford American. Laymon has two books forthcoming, including "Heavy: An American Memoir" and a novel called "And So On."

The reading is sponsored by the Office of the Dean of the College, Office of the Dean of Students, Student Government Association, Sewanee School of Letters, the Sewanee Review, American Studies, English Department, Sewanee Slavery Project, and Rivendell Writers' Colony.

Books will be available for purchase at the University Book and Supply store and at the event.

Southern Literature Lecture

The public is invited to the "Literary Manhattan, the Modern Press, and Southern Literature" lecture, 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 15, in Gailor Auditorium. Sarah Gardner, Director of The Center for Southern Studies at Mercer University will be the presenter.

Gardner's talk will be based on the decade's worth of research she did while writing her just-published book "Reviewing the South: The Literary Marketplace and the Southern Renaissance, 1920-1941" (Cambridge University Press 2017). The book looks at literary works by Southerners, both famous and obscure, from the unusual perspective of book-reviewing. Her argument is that the books themselves, and especially the reviews that interpreted them for the wider literate world, were engaged in the project of imagining the South and explaining it to the rest of the country. The research is prodigious—Gardner has unearthed fascinating but forgotten novels and tracts, then gone deeper, finding out how daily papers, national magazines like Saturday Review and The New Republic, and niche publications like The Chicago Defender and The Crisis, helped the country understand itself by understanding its most distinctive and troubling region.

Pharmaceutical Drop-off Event, Nov. 11

by Caroline Holmes, special to the Messenger

Residents of the Mountain take pride in and enjoy our clean drinking water. Our reservoirs have served us well. But what about the water that leaves our homes? That is not quite as clean. The Sewanee Utility District's facultative lagoons do an excellent job harnessing the power of microorganisms to treat the water. In June 2016, the Sewanee Wetland Research Station was built at the SUD wastewater treatment facility to see if we can extract even more pollutants out of our wastewater. This wetland is being monitored by students and faculty researching the impact constructed wetlands have on water quality.

An issue that is gaining prominence world-wide is the increase of pharmaceuticals in municipal wastewater. When someone takes a medication, the body is not able to break down the pharmaceutical compounds completely. The remaining compounds leave the body through waste. Trace amounts of these medications are found in the wastewater. Many scientists are studying the impact of these on the animals living in rivers downstream from wastewater treatment plants. Part of the research going on at the Sewanee Wetland Research Station is how effective wetlands are at removing these compounds from the water.

Let's have a pop quiz!

Which is the worst way to dispose of excess medications?: turn medication into police station; flush medication down the drain; take medication to a drop-off event.

You should never flush medications down the drain. Wastewater treatment facilities are not designed with the capability to remove large amounts of pharmaceuticals from the wastewater. Although constructed wetlands may provide this service in the future, there are better and safer ways to dispose of excess medications. That is why there will be a Pharmaceutical Drop-off Event at SUD on Saturday, Nov. 11. There will be a drop-off station in the SUD parking lot with a Sewanee Police Officer present to ensure the proper and safe disposal of the medications. Then join us at the wetlands for a guided tour. You will be the first to see our new signs (recommended by community members at our grand opening in fall 2016) and you can learn about our early monitoring results and the interesting research going on at the wetlands. We'll warm you with coffee or hot chocolate, too.

Sewanee Slavery Project Alumni Forum

The next Slavery, Race and Reconciliation Project forum is at 7 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 7, in Gailor Auditorium. Sewanee alumnus the Rev. Wallace Adams-Riley, former rector of St. Paul's church in Richmond, Va., where both Robert E. Lee and Confederate President Jefferson Davis worshipped, will be speaking. Joining Adams will be fellow Sewanee alumnus Winslow Hastie, whose family owns Magnolia Plantation near Charleston, a popular tourist attraction with a history of slavery.

SVEC Cautions Members to be Aware of Utility Scammers

Sequachee Valley Electric Cooperative (SVEC) has recently been made aware of several attempts to scam SVEC members, primarily locally owned restaurants in Sequatchie, Bledsoe and Marion counties. Under this scam, a customer receives an unsolicited phone call from an individual who falsely claims to be a Sequachee Valley Electric Cooperative representative. The scammer warns that SVEC will disconnect the customer's electric service if the customer fails to make a payment, usually within a short time frame.

Recent scammers have been calling from a 423 area code phone, have duplicated the Sequachee Valley Electric Cooperative customer call center greeting and are using the first name of some of our customer service representatives. When customers call back to phone numbers provided by the scammer, it then sounds like a legitimate SVEC phone number.

In the past, some of these criminals have used caller ID spoofing to replicate SVEC's customer service number or the number of the co-op's after-hours answering and dispatch service, the Cooperative Response Center (CRC). The fake telephone number on the caller ID may look like it is coming from SVEC or CRC; however, when the number is called a recording is often reached stating that the number has been disconnected.

"While the co-op does make courtesy calls to members who are behind on their payments, SVEC would like to remind our members that if you have any doubts about the identity of the caller, hang up and call your local SVEC office to make sure that the caller is really representing the co-op," said Mike Partin, SVEC President/CEO.

"We strongly urge our members to be wary of anyone calling them to demand immediate payment for services from SVEC. The safety and confidence of our members is a number one priority with us. We try to do everything possible to make it easy for you to identify the information you receive from us. If in doubt, do not hesitate to call anytime to verify any suspicious electric utility phone call, email or visitor you may receive. Contact SVEC 24/7 by calling your local office or (888) 421-7832. After hours calls will be answered by the Cooperative Response Center and reported to SVEC. We also ask our members to please share this information with your friends and neighbors," Partin said.

For more information visit <www.svalleyec.com> or follow SVEC on Twitter and Facebook to learn more.

IN OUR BACKYARD

by Harriet Runkle

Jordan Meeks and her leaf project.

Hello kiddos! Now that the leaves have finally started to change, I have heard from many of you about the fun things you are learning about leaves and doing cool things with them. Jordan Meeks (pictured), a second-grader at Sewanee Elementary sent me a picture of her leaf project. She and her grandparents found leaves together and identified as many as they could. Thanks for sending in your picture, Jordan!

Here's the Question of the Week: Do pumpkins change colors like fall leaves do? Carmen Green, second-grader, Sewanee Elementary School.

That's a great question and yes, they do. Just like trees and other plants that stop producing chlorophyll in the fall, pumpkins also go through the same process. The days get shorter so there is not as much light and the temperatures cool down, signaling the pumpkin plant to stop producing chlorophyll, and then you can see the orange, yellow, white and even red pigments show their colors.

Don't throw your pumpkins out just because Halloween is over and please don't throw them in the trash. They are compostable! Check out these interesting experiments and activities that you can do with your pumpkins.

Feed the squirrels! Set your pumpkin out in the yard where squirrels tend to congregate. You may see them eating your pumpkin and you will definitely see the claw and bite marks they've left behind. If you can actually get a photo of your pumpkin being eaten, please send it to me!

Watch your pumpkin decompose! I mentioned that pumpkins are compostable. You can put it in your compost pile of course. But, if you want to actually see it decompose, which is a fancy word for rot, put it where you can see it and watch it decompose right before your eyes. It will turn really funny shapes and if it's a jack 'o lantern, it will make funny faces. Take a photo of your decomposing pumpkin or draw a picture of it and send it to me so we can all enjoy seeing it. Eventually, it will completely decompose into the ground and you won't even have to clean it up.

If your pumpkin still has seeds in it, let it decompose in a garden spot where you would want to grow pumpkins. The seeds will eventually reach the dirt (if they aren't eaten beforehand) and in the right conditions, you may see a new pumpkin growing in its place next spring.

I want to hear from you! Elementary students may send comments, questions, artwork and photos about things you discover outside in nature to P.O. Box 815, Sewanee, TN 37375 or <inourbackyard@gmail.com>. Please include your name, what grade you are in and what school you attend. Who knows? You may see your interesting find in the next In Our Backyard. Deadline is Nov. 17.

Coalmont Elementary Hosts Fall Festival

Chili, cornbread, games and prizes warmed the hearts and tummies of staff, students and community on Oct. 27, as Coalmont Elementary hosted its annual fall festival.

According to Russell Ladd, principal, the school raised funds and "spirits" with faculty and staff sponsored chili and cornbread cookoffs as well as games for both students, guardians and the surrounding community.

"We wanted to open the doors to our school and host a fall festival that welcomed the entire community and invited participation from more than just ourselves," he said. "The chili cookoff and staff cornbread cookoff provided just that opportunity."

Ladd said that weeks before the event, the Parent Involvement Committee, led by Cheryl Smith, fourth-grade teacher, met to discuss ways to invite parent and community involvement in the school.

"More parents were involved in the event such as our chili cookoff and corn hole games" Smith said. "In the future, we plan to sell bricks in the gymnasium that parents, guardians and alumni can paint in memory, honor or to cheer on their favorite players."

Money raised from Friday's event goes to the school's classroom funds. This helps teachers "purchase much needed supplies," Ladd said.

"We appreciate the support of our parents, grandparents, guardians and the community who came to our fall festival on Friday and participated," Ladd said. "Thank you all for everything you do for Coalmont."

Second-grade students at Monteagle Elementary school have studied a unit about fairy tales and all the characteristics and text features involved with fairy tales. They discovered there are more than 1,300 variations of the Cinderella story alone. The students enjoyed dressing up like their favorite fairy tale character and learning about all the different ways that fairy tales have been shared throughout the generations.

The Sewanee Elementary Reverse Parade was sponsored by the Sewanee Parent Organization. The evening began with a dance party in the gym and ended with trick or treaters walking University Avenue and receiving treats from spectators who gathered to see all the creative and spooky costumes. Happy Halloween from SES.

Good Railing. 2017, by Natalie Baxter. Fabric, polyfill & cotton batting, 21 x 33 inches.

‘Fired Up,’ a Solo Exhibition by Natalie Baxter

The Carlos Gallery in the Nabit Art Building at the University of the South is pleased to present “Fired Up,” an exhibition of soft sculptures by New York artist and Sewanee alumna Natalie Baxter. There will be a gallery talk and opening reception 4–6 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 4. The exhibit will be on display through Dec. 16.

“Fired Up” is an exhibition of recent works by Natalie Baxter that showcases an interpretation of the current political landscape in the United States. After Baxter’s series, Warm Gun, a collection of quilted firearms gained press, the work drew inevitable criticism from online commenters and internet trolls. Baxter explores the culture of online hate through sewn wall hangings that depict some of the comments she received, such as those that question her sexuality and her role as a woman. The work focuses on a microcosm of online hate in order to shed light on a larger conversation about the divisive nature of society and masked aggression.

Baxter’s soft sculpture work combines sewing and quilting techniques learned from her grandmother with recognizable American iconography to produce pointed cultural commentary. Her visually inviting sculptures distort male imagery, bringing ‘macho’ phrases and objects into a traditionally feminine sphere while questioning their potency.

Natalie Baxter received her M.F.A. from the University of Kentucky in 2012 and her B.A. in Fine Art from the University of the South in 2007. Her work has been exhibited recently in New York at Mulherin, Spring/Break Art Fair, ArtHelix, Lorimoto, Shiva Gallery at John Jay College, at Institute 193 (Lexington, Kentucky), Appalshop Gallery (Whitesburg, Kentucky), The Cornell Art Museum (DelRay Beach, Florida) and internationally at In Ersten and AA Collections in Vienna, Austria, Alison Milne Gallery in Toronto, Ontario among others. Baxter’s work has been featured in The New York Times, Vice’s The Creator’s Project, Hyperallergic, The Huffington Post, The Guardian, W Magazine and the London Observer. Baxter has been an artist in residence at The Wassai Project and a fellowship recipient at the Vermont Studio Center. She currently works in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Carillon Concert, Nov. 4

Buck Lyon-Vaiden, C’67, will play a Carillon Concert at noon, Saturday, Nov. 4.

Lyon-Vaiden, a member of the Foreign Language Department of McDonogh School, Owings Mills, Md., for 36 years before retiring in 2007, became interested in the carillon while a student at The University of the South. There he began studying under Albert Bonholzer in 1963. He played at the University of the South regularly until his graduation in 1967. Buck continued his studies with Frank DellaPenna after the installation of the McDonogh Carillon.

An associate member of the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America, Lyon-Vaiden has been playing the McDonogh Carillon since its installation in October 1978 for various school events and weddings in the Tagart Memorial Chapel. He has coordinated the McDonogh Summer Carillon Concert Series since its inception in 1979 and continues to serve as School Carillonneur.

The program includes hymn tunes, songs from the 60s, and Stephen Foster melodies. The performance can be viewed on a TV monitor on the walkway to McClurg outside of All Saints’ Chapel.

OF TOWERS AND BELLS

by Ray Gotko

Bells in every age have been used to call people together and to celebrate important events. One of the earliest documented use of change-ringing bells in the UK is from the church warden's accounts in Saffron Walden, Essex (1439-1440). "For rynggyn wanne ye queen was her iijd." In Belgium, the towers in the town squares house carillons to play for enjoyment of those passing through.

This Homecoming weekend, the bells of Sewanee will be ringing in honor of returning alumni, victory in football (we hope), to call the faithful to church at All Saints' on Sunday, and for the enjoyment of the passers by. The Sewanee Guild of Change Ringers will host a tour of Breslin Tower and the Bentley Bells on Saturday at 4 p.m., ring in celebration of victory, and ring before services on Sunday. Tours of Shapard Tower and the Polk Carillon, provided by the Guild of Carillonners, are scheduled for 4 p.m. on Friday and 1:30 p.m. on Sunday afternoon. Saturday at noon, Buck Lyon-Vaiden, C'67, will play a carillon concert that can be viewed from a closed circuit TV on the pathway to McClurg. Sunday the carillon will sound again after the 11 a.m. service at All Saints' continuing the Sunday celebration. In Sewanee, the ancient arts of bell ringing continue their call to gather and celebrate.

"kitchen stories" by Pippa Browne

Cataldo and Browne Exhibit at Tullahoma Fine Art Center

Artists Julie Cataldo and Pippa Browne will have a combined exhibit at the Tullahoma Fine Art Center, 401 South Jackson Street, Tullahoma through Nov. 24. There will be an opening reception to view this work 2–5 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 5. This event is free and open to the public. This exhibition will be available for viewing through Nov. 24. Gallery hours are Wednesday, Thursday, Friday 1–5 p.m., and Saturdays 10 a.m.–2 p.m.

In October, Cataldo moved to Bellbuckle, from Nashville, where she made the decision to leave her doll making partnership to focus on her mixed media paintings. Her pieces are often permeated with featureless, doll-like figures. These figures imbue her work with a vagueness that invites the viewer to reflect on themselves and the degree to which they actually control their worlds.

Browne is showing a retrospective collection of pieces from her shows "Function and Fetish" (an exploration of attitudes about and, experiences of, breastfeeding in contemporary culture) and "Delight 'n the Dark" (a conversation around the concept of darkness and its role in society) as well as work from her latest series titled "Finding in the Flow."

Owen Legrone

Tiger Men Earn Fifth Place in Cross Country

Senior Owen Legrone led the Sewanee Tigers' men's cross country team at the Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Championships with an All-SAA selection. Overall, Sewanee finished fifth at the championships hosted by Oglethorpe University (Ga.) at the Hampton at Nash Farms Battlefield.

Legrone finished in eighth place out of 81 runners at the Championships, posting a time of 27 minutes, 34.50 seconds in the 8K race. With the finish, the Nashville native earned Second Team All-Conference.

Legrone has been named All-SAA in back-to-back seasons, earning Honorable Mention All-SAA honors a year ago.

Sewanee's Ben Murray placed 23rd with a 28:46.03 time, shedding six seconds off his season-best.

Bram Atkins and Jack Barganier came in at 31st and 32nd place, respectively. Atkins finished with a 29:15.59 mark, while Barganier came across at 29:16.99.

Other Sewanee finishes from the SAA Championships include: Ash Midyett, 30:23.42; Henry Fisher, 30:33.00; Rob Mohr, 31:19.24; Daniel Munoz, 31:26.65 (season-best); Rob Ritchie, 32:27.81; Henry Fields, 33:40.03; and Adam Steed, 35:18.75.

The Tigers will compete in the NCAA South/Southeast Regionals on Nov. 11.

Women's Field Hockey Seeded No. 4 in Tourney

The Sewanee field hockey team will take on Concordia Wisconsin in the first round of the Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Field Hockey Tournament, beginning today (Friday).

The fourth-seeded Tigers (7-7, 3-3) will battle with the five-seed, Concordia Wisconsin (5-8, 2-4), at 10 a.m. at Mason Field in Memphis. In their regular season meeting, the Purple and Gold defeated the Falcons 3-0 on Oct. 14.

The winner will take on host Rhodes in the semifinals Nov. 4 at 11 a.m., and the championship game will commence at 1 p.m. on Nov. 5.

Sewanee lost its regular season finale to Transylvania, 4-0, on Oct. 29.

Sewanee Advances in SAA Soccer Tournament

The Sewanee women's soccer team earned a 2-1 home win on Oct. 28 against fifth-seeded Berry College in a quarterfinal match of the Southern Athletic Association Women's Soccer Tournament.

The offense was firing on all cylinders early for fourth-seeded Sewanee (6-8-2), as they scored their only two goals of the match in the first 5:15.

At the 3:01 mark, Sewanee's Kiley Ezzell netted her third goal of the year off an Elizabeth "Clay" McKnight assist. A short time later, it was Mary "Sissy" Frank who scored her fifth goal of the year off a free kick.

Berry (4-9-1) made it a 2-1 contest off a goal by Hannah Eddins. After Berry narrowed the gap, the Tigers held strong for the final 84 minutes. The back line allowed 11 shots in the second half.

Savannah Williams (4-3-1) earned the win in goal, saving six shots. The Tigers travel to play top-seed Centre in the semifinals today (Friday).

Sewanee cross country runners, from left, Elizabeth Haberstroh, Ann Chapman Haynes and Tricia Murphy compete in a race earlier this season.

Women's XC Finishes Sixth at SAA Championships

The Sewanee women's cross country team earned sixth place on Oct. 28 at the Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Cross Country Championships, hosted by Oglethorpe University (Ga.) at the Hampton at Nash Farms Battlefield.

Tricia Murphy paced the Tigers with a personal-best of 25 minutes, 37.6 seconds in the 6K race, finishing 24th out of 80 runners.

Elizabeth Haberstroh posted a season-best time in a 6K with a 26:15.9 mark, finishing in 32nd place.

The Tigers' Ann Chapman Haynes was next to cross the finish line, posting a new season-best of 26:19.6.

Sarah Carlton finished with a 26:34.72 time, good for 36th place.

Other Sewanee finishes from the SAA Championships included: Evans Ousley, 27:47.51 (season-best); Ellie Herron, 28:04.14 (season-best); Adriana Hibarra, 28:19.04; Alexandra Sherwood, 28:43.79; Lexy Rouse, 28:58.76; Maren Czura, 29:06.98; and Elizabeth Chandler, 29:39.89.

The Tigers will next compete in the NCAA South/Southeast Regionals on Nov. 11.

Millsaps Ousts Sewanee

On a chilly and windy afternoon in Sewanee on Oct. 28, the Millsaps Majors defeated the Sewanee men's soccer team, 4-1, in the quarterfinals of the Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Men's Soccer Tournament.

Millsaps (7-7-2) started the scoring with a goal by Tore Schutt off an Alex Bourland assist. His fifth goal of the year came in the 11th minute.

The Majors would tack on two more goals in the first half. In the 37th minute, Brent Judd found Schutt's pass for the 2-0 lead. Four minutes, 20 seconds later, Johannes Tonneson netted his first goal of the season and the lead was 3-0 in favor of the six-seeded visitors.

Sewanee (8-8-0) would not go away quietly. In the 57th minute, Kyle Johnston found the pass from Andrew Turk for his eighth goal of the year to make it 3-1. However, in the 61st minute, the Majors got an insurance goal off the foot of Luca Kistner.

Will Merriman (8-8) saved three shots in 65:25 in goal. The three-seeded Tigers, for the first time in three seasons, finished the season at .500 or better. Tony Pacella, in his fourth year at the helm of the program, now has a career record of 26-38-6.

Sewanee Men's Basketball Schedule

The Sewanee men's basketball team has announced the 2017-18 schedule, which will feature 12 home contests.

The Tigers will open the schedule with Emory & Henry at Juhan Gymnasium. The teams will tip off the season at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 15.

The weekend of Nov. 18 and 19 will be the Lon Varnell Classic. Joining Sewanee for the Classic will be Methodist, Washington & Lee and Oglethorpe. The Generals and Tigers will square off on Saturday, Nov. 18, at 6 p.m.

The Lon Varnell Classic concludes with Methodist at 3 p.m. on Nov. 19.

Prior to Thanksgiving break, Sewanee will make a trip to play Maryville on Nov. 21 at 6 p.m.

Following Thanksgiving, the Tigers will have another three-game homestand, beginning with Piedmont at 6 p.m. on Nov. 29.

The Southern Athletic Association (SAA) portion of the schedule will open on Dec. 2, when Sewanee hosts Centre at 3 p.m.

The final game of the homestand will be against rival Covenant on Tuesday, Dec. 5, at 7 p.m. Sewanee will travel to Huntingdon on Dec. 9 before final exams commence.

During the Christmas break, the Tigers will travel to Westminster (Mo.) on Dec. 29 and MacMurray on Dec. 30.

As the calendar shifts to 2018, the Tigers return to Juhan Gymnasium to resume SAA play with Millsaps (Jan. 5) and Birmingham-Southern (Jan. 7).

Following that weekend, the Tigers will hit the road for the next five games. Sewanee will step out of SAA play one final time in 2017-18 to take on Boyce on Jan. 9. Then, the Tigers will resume SAA play at Oglethorpe (Jan. 12), at Berry (Jan. 14), at Rhodes (Jan. 19) and at Hendrix (Jan. 21).

After two weeks away from the Domain, the Purple and Gold return home to play Rhodes on Jan. 26 and Hendrix on Jan. 28. In February, Sewanee will travel to Millsaps and Birmingham-Southern on Feb. 2 and Feb. 4, respectively.

The home portion of the regular season will conclude on the weekend of Feb. 9.

SAS Cross Country Competes in Regionals

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School cross country team traveled to Knoxville for the Division II-A Regional meet on Oct. 26. The race was the last of the season and both the girls' and boys' teams ran their best race.

In the girls' race, Carla Hof (20th place) led the way and was followed by Sophia Patterson (29th), Jules French (30th), Winnie Fang (36th) and Hannah Warmbrod (37th). The girls' team finished seventh in the region.

Seth Walker (23rd) led the boys' team. He was followed by Eli Andrews (24th), George Zou (29th), Michael Vaughan (43rd), Richard Du (53rd), Alvin Wong (59th) and Ryan Val (60th).

The boys' team also finished seventh in the region.

The SAS football team (shown here Oct. 20) defeated Lighthouse Christian Academy 53-36 in a Middle Tennessee Athletic Conference (MTAC) "bowl game" on Oct. 27.

Despite finishing in a three-way tie for first place in their division, the Mountain Lions (8-1) missed the playoffs following a coin-flip with the other two teams. Only two teams advance to the playoffs in the division and Webb School ended up being the No. 1 seed and Franklin Christian Academy was the No. 2 seed. Look for a recap of the win over Lighthouse in next week's Messenger. Photo by St. Andrew's-Sewanee

Senior Matthew Mollica placed fourth.

SAS at State Mountain Biking Championship

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee mountain biking team concluded its fall season during the weekend of Oct. 28-29 in the state championship race for the Tennessee High School Cycling League. SAS hosted the race on its campus trails, with almost 250 high school and middle school riders competing. Athletes raced distances ranging from 5 to 20 miles depending on race category. The course was physically and mentally demanding, with technical rock sections and several climbs, plus a slick bridge and deep mud on the last half-mile of each lap. The weather was also a challenging factor during the weekend, with very cold temperatures during the pre-ride and Halloween-themed relay event on Saturday and for the race on Sunday.

SAS seniors Matthew Mollica, Zhaoqi Zhang and Jack Gu finished out their biking careers with strong rides on their home course, with Mollica earning fourth place (and fourth for overall race series) in the varsity category and Zhang riding to an 11th place finish out of 50 riders (and 15th for overall race series) in the competitive JV category. Freshman Aidan Smith also rode his best race of the season in the JV category, earning a fourth place finish (and fifth for overall race series). Evan Fox improved over the season, from 13th place in the first race to eighth place in the State Championship race for sophomore boys, while Zolon Knoll posted his best finish of the season at seventh in the freshman boys' category.

The SAS middle school program was well-represented at the championship race with 13 riders participating. Riley Burnette blazed through the course, finishing in fourth place for eighth-grade girls, while Madeline Sumpter earned second place in seventh-grade girls. First-time racer Namtso Norbu completed a lap with spirit and determination. Gus Croom and Eli Thompson rode well in the eighth-grade boys' group, while Huxley Hume-Allingham, Caleb Palmertree and Spears Askew finished close together in the seventh-grade group.

SAS coaches Speed Baranco and Beth Pride Ford are very proud of all SAS riders for representing the school and biking program with hard work and good sportsmanship throughout the season. They especially recognize and express their appreciation for volunteer coaches Jill Mollica, Robin Mainzer, Michael Short, Alex Krongard, Rob Bachman, John Fox, and Pete Mollica, in addition to team families, the Sewanee community, SAS faculty and staff, and Woody's Bicycles.

Because of efforts by the National Interscholastic Cycling Association (NICA), mountain biking is becoming a popular sport across the country for kids in middle school and high school. Future growth for interscholastic mountain biking will require community awareness and participation, trail accessibility, and financial support from individuals and businesses. More information about how to support interscholastic mountain biking can be found on the national website <www.nationalmtb.org>. Community members and local businesses interested in sponsoring the Tennessee league may also find information at <www.tennesseemtb.org>.

Tiger Swimmers Earn Second Place in Invitational

The Sewanee swimming and diving teams earned second place finishes in the men's and women's division at the 17th annual Sewanee Invitational at the Fowler Center Pool, Oct. 27-28.

In women's action, The Tigers were edged by Emmanuel College, 919 to 875.5, as the Purple and Gold collected second place out of seven teams.

Noel Whitlock's score of 223.7 tied her with Sewanee teammate Paisley Simmons for first place in the one-meter dive. Whitlock also finished first in the three-meter dive.

Sewanee's Olivia Baker posted a time of 31.87 seconds in the 50-yard breaststroke, good enough for third place out of 25 swimmers. With a time 1:04.91, she finished third out of 20 swimmers in the 100-meter individual medley. Baker also finished fourth out of 18 swimmers in the 100-yard breaststroke and fourth out of 15 swimmers in the 200-yard breaststroke.

Abby Rapuano was fourth in the 50-yard backstroke and sixth in the 50-yard freestyle.

Sewanee Heads to SAA Volleyball Tourney

The fifth-seeded Sewanee Tigers (13-13, 5-9) will square off with four-seed Millsaps (15-13, 7-7) in the quarterfinals of the Southern Athletic Association Volleyball Tournament today (Friday) at 2 p.m. Berry College is hosting the single-elimination tournament, which runs Nov. 3-5.

This is the second time in program history that the Sewanee volleyball team has been a five-seed, which matches the highest seeding for the volleyball program in the SAA era. They were also the five-seed at the 2012 tournament.

Sewanee cruised to a 3-0 win over Berea College (3-20) at home on Oct. 27 to conclude the regular season. The Tigers won 25-11, 25-19 and 25-9 thanks in large part to a .347 attack percentage (43-10-95) for the match.

The Purple and Gold started out on fire with a .314 attack (15-4-35), but in the second set, they cooled down a bit to a .235 percentage (13-5-34). However, in the clinching set, Sewanee only committed one error on 26 attacks with 15 kills to seal the match.

Destiny Stewart and Olivia Nichols led the Tigers with double-digit kill performances. Stewart racked up 11 kills and 10 digs for her 12th double-double of the season. The freshman had 17 total attacks for the match with only one error committed to finish with a .588 attack percentage, her highest mark this season.

Nichols posted 10 kills and six digs, as well as a block.

Sewanee's Peyton Parent dug out 12 attacks and recorded eight assists, while Claire Crow added 18 assists and eight digs.

Sewanee's Olivia Nichols (center) clears the net in the Tigers' win over Berea College to end the regular season. Sewanee will meet Millsaps in the SAA Tournament. Photo by Lyn Hutchinson

Sewanee quarterback Sam Hearn

Rhodes Defeats Tigers, 28-10

The Sewanee football team was unable to slow Rhodes' hot start on offense, as the Tigers lost 28-10 on Oct. 28 in the 64th meeting for the Edmund Orgill Trophy.

At home in Memphis, Rhodes (3-5, 2-4) vaulted to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter. The Lynx added another seven points midway through the second quarter.

Sewanee (3-6, 2-5) broke the shut-out with 10:01 left in the third quarter. The drive started after Glenn Ireland recovered a fumble on the second play from scrimmage in the half.

Starting at their own 42-yard-line, the Tigers were able to march down to the red zone. The Tigers were in a position to put six on the board after a huge third down conversion on a 14-yard rush by Sam Hearn to put the ball at the Rhodes' two-yard-line. The Lynx defense held and Michael Jacobs booted a 19-yard field goal to make the score 21-3.

After Rhodes scored a touchdown in the fourth quarter, Sewanee took advantage of Wesley Porter's interception. Starting at their opponent's 20-yard-line, Hearn found Allan Puri for a 20-yard touchdown reception to finish the scoring at 28-10.

Hearn went 20-for-42 with 205 yards and a touchdown in the contest. Puri caught six of Hearn's completions for 71 yards and a score. On the ground, Warren Holland had 13 rushes for 52 yards.

Joining Holland on the interception front was John Cleveland, who picked off the Rhodes quarterback and returned the ball for 12 yards. He also made nine tackles. Jo Jo Matlock had 1.5 sacks for 11 yards, while Lee Meneff made 10 tackles to lead all tacklers.

Hummingbird

Last week in Nature Notes, Freddy Tucker reported his last sighting of a hummingbird at his feeder this fall. They are now on their way to their winter grounds in Mexico, the Caribbean, or Central America. To prepare for this incredible migration, crossing the 500 miles of the Gulf of Mexico non-stop, they have doubled their body weight feeding on nectar (or sugar water at feeders). They also eat any insects small enough for them to manage, such as gnats, fruit flies, aphids, and small spiders. Males leave first, as early as mid-July in some cases, followed by the females and then the young birds making their first migration.

Hummingbirds are native only to the New World. The early European observers were amazed by them. At first they thought they were a cross between an insect and a bird. They hover in mid-air and can even fly backwards. They met Aztec kings who wore cloaks made entirely of hummingbird skins. In the latter part of the 19th century, hundreds of thousands of hummingbird skins were shipped from South America to Europe for use in the millinery trade, for collections, and for other uses. It is hard to imagine bales of hummingbird skins, or how they survived to be among us still after such a slaughter.

Bear

Emma

Pets of the Week

Meet Bear & Emma

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Fuzzy Wuzzy is.....a gorgeous five-month-old male domestic long-hair kitten named Bear. He will keep you warm as he loves to cuddle, and melt your heart with his big yellow eyes. He also loves playing with other cats and kittens. Bear is FeLV negative, up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Meet Emma! This nine-month-old female Terrier mix is looking for her forever home! She is good with children, cats, and other dogs, but she prefers the love and companionship of a human as she is very loyal and will follow you everywhere. Emma is heartworm-negative, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

"Fall in love" specials: Adoption fees for hounds are reduced to $65 and fees for all cats and kittens are reduced to $55 or two for $100 for twice the fun!

Animal Harbor offers substantial adoption fee discounts for veterans and seniors. Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than four-months-old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at (931) 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <animalharbor.org>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Herbarium Events

A Place on the Domain—First in a Series of "Plant Presentations"—Wednesday, Nov. 8, 7 p.m., Jon Evans. This presentation will trace the complex natural and cultural history of a 30-acre tract known as the King Farm on the Domain. This site was the location of one of the first homesteads in the Sewanee area in the early 1800's and the talk will reveal a 200-year progression of different land uses that occurred at this improbable, remote place and how this unique land use history shaped the forest that we see there today. Meet in Spencer 172 (building entrance across from duPont Library, then first hallway on the left).

Botanical Watercolor Workshop—Saturday, Nov. 11, 9 a.m., Jack Baggenstoss. Meet at the Sewanee Herbarium for a morning of watercolor painting indoors with this accomplished artist whose work may be seen at the South Cumberland State Park Visitors' Center among other places. The workshop is free and open to people of any experience level and participants are encouraged to take more or less instruction as they choose. Bring your own materials.

Nature Journaling—A group meets for nature journaling on Thursdays, 9-11 a.m. Come try it out and stick with it if you like. Bring an unlined journal (or a few sheets of unlined paper) and a pen or pencil. No experience needed. As the seasons transition, we gather in different places, so email <marypriestley@bellsouth.net> for information on the meeting place.

Explore Sherwood Forest

The public is invited to join local SIERRA Club members to explore Sherwood Forest, the latest addition to South Cumberland State Park, at 2 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 5. There will be a short walk to the site's natural bridge with Bill Moll, a member of the Cherokee Group, and talk about the issues in Tennessee that the Sierra Club is or should be acting on. Directions: from Highway 41A, turn onto Highway 156 (South Pittsburg Mountain Road). Go 8.3 miles and turn right on Old CCC Road, which dead ends at the trailhead.

On Oct. 20, the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation (TDEC) gathered with other state conservation leaders to dedicate Sherwood Forest, a nearly 4,000 acre natural area in Franklin County acquired by the state in November 2016. Pictured from left are: Mary Jennings, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service; David Withers, TDEC Division of Natural Areas; Liz Edsall McLaurin, president and CEO of The Land Trust for Tennessee; Joel Houser, Open Space Institute; Brock Hill, TDEC deputy commissioner; George Shinn, park manager, South Cumberland State Park; Roger McCoy, TDEC Division of Natural Areas; Latham Davis, Friends of South Cumberland State Park; Jason Reynolds, park ranger, South Cumberland State Park.

BARDTOVERSE

College Homecoming

Ye cliffs that to Sewanee rise,
Unchanged ye tower, so far and fair
Ye stars that fill Sewanee's skies
Ye shine the same and I not there.
It breaks my heart who must depart
Unto a world more grey and cold
That thou unchanged, Sewanee, art
Forever young, though I grow old.

—Louis Tucker, Acad., C'92 (B.A., M.A.), T'23 (D.D.)
