New Dorm to be Named for Pat & Bob Ayres

Regents Approve Other Campus Planning

At its recent meeting, the University of the South board of regents approved a resolution naming the new residence hall being built on Alabama Avenue "Ayres Hall" in recognition of the many contributions that Robert (C'49, H'74) and Patricia (H'98) Ayres have made to the University and the Sewanee community.

Robert Moss Ayres Jr. is a member of Sewanee's class of 1949 and a businessman from San Antonio, Texas. His leadership during a time of fiscal crisis in the mid-1970s and his continued generous support of the school have led many to consider Ayres one of the "modern founders" of the University. As vice-chancellor from 1977 to 1988, Ayres imposed fiscal discipline and erased a $1.2 million deficit in the first five years of his service. Thanks to the success of his Century II Campaign (the University's first capital campaign in 20 years) and careful management, the University's endowment more than tripled during the Ayres years.

In 2011, the St. Mary's Sewanee board of trustees announced the naming of its new campus—the Ayres Center for Spiritual Development—in honor of Bob and Pat Ayres. Together, the remarkable couple have been known for their diligence, faithfulness and generosity, and for nurturing values of service and stewardship in others.

Also during the meeting, the regents reviewed recent progress on the University Avenue study and made several determinations. They approved planning for "phase one" of the Commons project in the area in and around the University Book and Supply Store, including the EQB building. The plans will include some combination of fitness, wellness, the Sewanee Outing Program and related functions in this location. Recommendations for renovation and possible new construction, to be presented in June, will also include plans for relocating print services and at least some of the current bookstore functions and staff.

As part of the discussion of the Commons, the board decided that Fulford Hall will remain where it stands; its long-term use is still to be determined.

Thompson Union and the area from Fulford to and including the Rebel's Rest site will be considered as sites for the next phase of the University Commons. Plans for phase one of the Commons project and the placement of the School of Theology will help clarify the remaining programmatic elements needed in the new University Commons.

Williams Named University Treasurer

Vice-Chancellor John McCardell has announced that E. Douglass (Doug) Williams was elected as treasurer of the University of the South by the board of regents at its recent meeting.

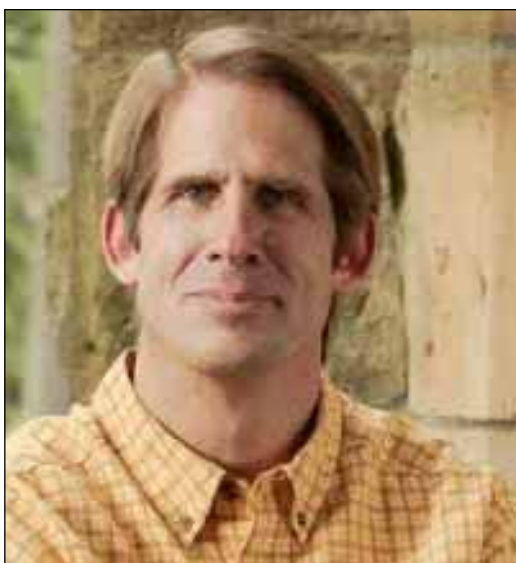

Williams is the Frank W. Wilson Professor of Economics at the University and was appointed interim treasurer last year. As treasurer, Williams serves as chief financial officer of the University and as an officer of the corporation.

"For the past 14 months, Doug has served capably as interim treasurer, and I am delighted that the board accepted my recommendation," said McCardell.

"Doug's leadership of our financial offices during a period of both physical and operational transition has been steady and sure."

Williams is a member of the University's class of 1981 and has been a member of the Sewanee faculty since 1999.

He has served as chair of the economics department and as a member of the board of the Babson Center for Global Commerce. Before returning to Sewanee, he taught at Carleton College and was city economist in Milwaukee, Wis.

"Sewanee Votes: Let Freedom Ring"

This Year's Fourth Theme

The Fourth of July Planning Committee has begun meeting in preparation for this summer's big events. This year's theme will be "Sewanee Votes: Let Freedom Ring."

There are many opportunities to get involved and make this year's Fourth a fabulous celebration. The planning committee welcomes new members; they meet at 5 p.m. at the Senior Center. The next meeting will be on April 18.

Volunteers are needed to lead organizing of the parade, for the children's games and for the dunking booth.

This is a great way to make new friends, give back to the community and help with this great Sewanee tradition. For more information or to offer to help, email Jade Barry at <jade.mcbee@gmail.com>.

Organizers of the Street Dance on July 3 are looking for a band that would be interested in playing for the event. ## State Park Visitors' Center Hosts Open House

The public is invited to the South Cumberland State Park Visitors' Center from noon to 3 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 27, to view the exhibit spaces being renovated. The new open-concept, brightly painted areas feature a native plant exhibit, an upgraded log cabin to explore, interactive computer displays, a display about the Hike into History Challenge hikes, and more.

Highlights of the day include a chance to visit with Davy Crockett (Park Manager George Shinn) and be part of "Tennessee's 50,000 Trees" event.

Flo Wilson and Mary Priestley, members of the board of Friends of South Cumberland, spearheaded the renovation project, which began last spring. Wilson organized the volunteers, who painted and provided carpentry services. Priestley led a group to update and redesign the exhibits, which had not been changed since the center opened.

"The visitors' center has always been on target in presenting the important themes of the natural and cultural history of this place," Priestley said. "We've built on those themes, tweaked a few things and put a new spin on others. It's the same place, just with a fresh look."

George Shinn, South Cumberland State Park Manager, doubles as Davy Crockett with flint, longbow and a coonskin cap full of yarns. Crockett will be at the Visitors' Center Open House on Feb. 27, when the public is invited to see the renovated area with new exhibits, a log cabin to explore, park videos, maps and more.

"Hike into History" is 2016 FSC Challenge

The Friends of South Cumberland (FSC) announces Hike into History, its third annual hiking challenge, with a kickoff event on Saturday, Feb. 27.

"The Hike into History theme will highlight the interaction of people throughout history with South Cumberland State Park," said Naullain Kendrick, project coordinator. Hike topics include Native American presence, timbering, mining, railroads, pioneers, natural history and more.

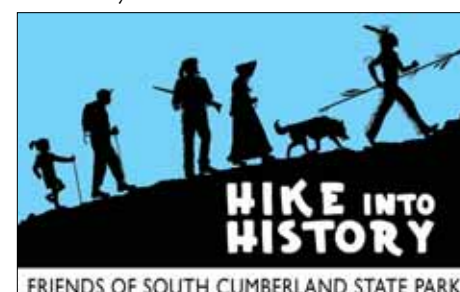

"Hikers can see evidence of pioneer settlements, moonshine stills, narrow-gauge railways, coal mines and logging operations," Kendrick said. The FSC teamed with Ranger Park Greer to plan hikes that focus on the region's rich history and explore many different areas of the sprawling 25,000 acre park, which spans portions of Franklin, Marion, Grundy and Sequatchie counties.

This year, two levels of hikes will be offered: the Discovery Series for typical hikers and the Adventurer Series for those who want a more challenging, "off-trail" experience.

Ranger Greer is leading the Adventurer Series hikes (scheduled monthly, beginning in April), which will include rappelling, caving and archeological exploration. A $25 fee for each hike includes lunch and off-trail equipment, with proceeds benefitting the FSC. Register for any of the Adventurer Series hikes online at <www.meetup.com/Friends-of-South-Cumberland-State-Park>. This website, for the FSC MeetUp group, is free and by joining will ensure that you receive updates about both hike series.

There is no charge for the Discovery hikes, which will be scheduled throughout 2016 and will be led by rangers and FSC volunteers. Self guided information about each hike is posted to the 2016 challenge website at <www.HikeIntoHistory.org> for those who choose to hike on their own.

BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE

To the Editor:

To the beautiful people of Sewanee: Thank you for your outpouring of support for our family during the illness of my mother, Gay Alvarez.

As a person who grew up in Sewanee, but has lived in cities for my adult life, I am humbled by the deliveries of food, cards, pick-me-up presents and calls that my parents, sister and brother have received since July. You all have made an incredibly hard journey much more tolerable.

My mother often said to me "Someone else is dropping off food today—you would think that people would be tired of this by now!"—and yet, it still comes.

At mom's funeral, hundreds of people were there, including most of my elementary school and high school teachers and my best friends from grade school and high school.

When I called Ken Taylor to thank him for delivering a beautiful arrangement of flowers from a friend, he said "I know what your mom likes."

I am grateful especially to:

Annwn Myers, who not only delivered a beautiful homily, but made it possible for mom to be at peace throughout her journey until the last days.

Julia Stubblebine, who answered my call in June to deliver food for my parents and sister when mom was first admitted to the hospital and we didn't know what was wrong with her.

Sweet, sweet Zorey, who has kept the Lemon Fair open and running flawlessly.

John Shackelford, who compared my father to a train in a beautifully written article that has given us something to chat about.

And I could go on and on and on.....

What a wonderful community of people! I am forever thankful for Sewanee and that communities like this still exist.

Julia Alvarez Ryan
Denver, Colo. ■

GRATITUDE FOR SUPPORT

To the Editor:

As I have contemplated how best to convey my gratitude for the outpouring of support from this wonderful community during my father's death that occurred immediately after my own accident, I can only say thank you. Thank you all for being you and continually doing what you do.

REFLECTION ON SCALIA

To the Editor:

Antonin Scalia arguably was the single most powerful official in government for 30 years. Since his appointment by Reagan in 1986, he led the Supreme Court's Republican majority as they mocked our Constitution and dismantled our systems of democracy.

Scalia proudly laid claim to "originalism" in his interpretation of the Constitution. He presumed that he understood what the Founding Fathers in 1787 meant and could apply it to life in the 21st century. His decisions based on such faulty reasoning yielded disastrous political and social consequences. Since his death, he has been extolled by Republicans as "brilliant." Brilliance suggests insight and depth of thought; it requires originality, flexibility, ability to learn from experience and good judgment, all of which were lacking in Scalia, making him unfit to serve on the Supreme Court. His rationale for ending "one person, one vote" with the Citizens United decision gives a glimpse into his mind and the lack of intellectual acuity there. He wrote, "[In 1787] modern corporations might not qualify for exclusion" [from the class of human beings] "...and would probably have been favored" [for inclusion as human beings] "by most of our enterprising Founders—excluding, perhaps, Thomas Jefferson."

Scalia's view toward the Constitution was like religious originalists or fundamentalists are toward the Bible. For Scalia, the Constitution meant for all, exactly what it meant to him.

Community Funding Project Welcomes Proposals

The Sewanee Community Funding Project Committee invites individuals and groups to submit proposals for projects that enhance the community and improve the quality of life for area residents.

Application forms are available at the Sewanee post office or by sending an email to <SewaneeFundingProject@gmail.com>. The deadline for submissions is March 1. The $10,000 in funds can be used for "practical, functional or educational purposes or somewhere in between," said Sarah Marhevsky, chair of the committee. Applicants submitting proposals can identify new projects, as well as projects that are part of an already existing initiative undertaken by a group or organization.

The application form asks how the project will benefit Sewanee and its residents, the estimated cost and budget, who will be doing the work and who will be accountable for completion.

For more information email <SewaneeFundingProject@gmail.com>.

Survey on Rural Broadband

Thousands of people in rural Tennessee don't have access to broadband internet, and across the state, rural broadband availability is a hope, rather than a reality. The Department of Economic and Community Development wants to find out how many Tennesseans don't have broadband access and the cost of solving this problem.

A statewide online survey is underway through March 15 to gauge household and business access to broadband. Residents can go online to <www.tn.gov/broadband> to take the 20-minute survey or go to local libraries and Tennessee workforce centers.

Area electric cooperatives regularly receive inquiries from members about what role the co-op might play in making broadband internet available. However, electric co-ops in Tennessee are currently prevented under state law from offering internet service.

Engaging Faith Communities in Disasters on March 7 will train participants when and how to communicate and coordinate with faith institutions during emergencies. Volunteer Disaster Chaplaincy Training on March 8–9 will train participants to be disaster chaplains in their own communities or through NDIN's nationwide network of partner organizations.

"This is an effort by NDIN and the Beecken Center to build a network of first-responder chaplains and spiritual care workers across Sewanee's owning dioceses and the larger Episcopal Church," said James Goodmann, associate director of the Beecken Center.

Participants are required to provide an endorsement from the leader of their diocese, parish, or faith community, or, in the case of secular participants, the senior executive to whom they report.

TINTINNABULATIONS

by John Bordley

Mystery Solved

In previous columns I have mentioned two things: 1) There are many photographs of former carillon students, some with identification and some not. 2) About a year ago, we moved from an office and a studio to a combined office-studio. Rebecca Salustri, my work-study student, and I have been trying to clean up and order our new, combined space and to identify the people in the photographs. The photograph (right) has been a particular problem.

Who is this young man? From his clothes, glasses and hairstyle, it is obvious that the time is the late 60s. For a while, I thought he might have been a physics student, but Frank Hart assured me that he did not know the fellow.

Part of the cleanup project has involved emptying the contents of a large filing cabinet that Albert Bonholzer (University carillonneur, 1958–84) had maintained. Bonholzer had placed all sorts of memorabilia into marked, alphabetized manila folders. Six boxes of items pertaining to carillons and bells are being sent to the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America's archives at Bok Tower in Lake Wales, Fla. Two boxes of items pertaining to nearby Episcopal churches, the diocese of Tennessee and "Sewanee people" are going to the University's archives. Some things will remain in the studio.

One of the thickest folders belongs in the "Sewanee people" category and is labeled Stephen Sanders. In that folder are additional copies of the photo of the mystery person. These copies, however, are marked clearly with Stephen Sanders' name. Rebecca read through many of the items in the folder and extracted these facts:

- Sanders was a student in the Sewanee Summer Music Center from 1965 to 1967 and performed at the Center in the summer of 1972. In 1966 he was voted "outstanding student" for "musicianship, cooperation, leadership, character and personality" by the Music Center.

- He attended Ramsey High School in Birmingham and was a drum major for three years, and he played timpani with the Birmingham Symphony Orchestra.

- He attended Samford University as a pre-medical student and graduated with a degree in chemistry from Birmingham-Southern College.

- While at Samford, Sanders played carillon concerts often and would, in turn, often complain to Bonholzer about the poor quality of the lower bells, which did not measure up to the Leonidas K. Polk carillon.

- By 1972, Sanders was a regular carillonneur for the University, particularly in the summertime, when he played a carillon concert every Sunday at 2 p.m. He first began playing concerts at Sewanee in 1968, and he played the carillon for the University's convocation on June 4, 1972.

- He later attended Tulane School of Medicine in New Orleans. While studying at Tulane, he maintained a dutiful correspondence with Albert Bonholzer, often at 2 a.m., when Sanders was studying for exams.

I traced Stephen down with Google's help and talked with him on the phone recently. He is a practicing radiologist in Haleyville, Ala. Interestingly, he had just been thinking about Sewanee the last two evenings as he was doing some genealogical work on Bonholzer's family.

And guess what? On Tuesday I looked at a photo in the studio that included Stephen and his dates at the SSMF. Since he was a little older and had a different hairstyle, I hadn't recognized him as the mystery man.

Small world.

VEGAN THURSDAYS at Jim Oliver's Smoke House Restaurant, Monteagle

Betsy Oliver has been researching for new menu ideas and has come up with a selection of delicious treats that are totally vegan, or at least vegetarian (because of butter use), and gluten free; dishes are seasoned with vegetable stock. So, we have decided to offer "VEGAN/VEGETARIAN THURSDAYS." Beginning on January 21st, we started putting Vegan and vegetarian dishes on the buffet at the Smoke House, which has garnered a great reception by customers! The vegan/vegetarian buffet is offered from 11am to 8pm on Thursdays for the next several weeks; price for the buffet/salad bar/soup is $9.95.

An example of some of the dishes offered are as follows, however, Betsy will add to the selection as the weeks go on: Vegetarian Shepherd's Pie (Hot Casserole) – Carrots, celery, onions, garlic, thyme, Italian seasoning, red wine and topped with mashed potatoes; this dish has butter added to the potatoes, so it is considered vegetarian. Baked Butternut Squash w/kale and toasted pecans (Hot), Country-Style Turnip Greens (Hot), Candied Sweet Potatoes (Hot), "Hopping John" Black-Eyed Peas w/tomatoes (Hot), Green Beans (Hot), Fresh Kale Salad with fresh apple slices, carrots and toasted pecans (Cold) and Cabbage Cole Slaw, no sugar added (Cold). Fresh salad bar items include uncooked items such as broccoli, tomatoes, red onions, green peppers, carrots, romaine and iceberg lettuce, fresh cut fruit salad, vinegar and low calorie dressings and other items and garnishes. The buffet also has a selection of meats, soups, breads and other items, which are part of the everyday offering, but not on the vegan/vegetarian list.

Also, on Thursday nights, 6:30pm to 8:00pm, a special series of free classes are offered at the Smoke House dining room detailing the benefits of eating and living well, and better ways of living with diabetes, which includes food choices, menu, diet, exercise, and general wellness; free to anyone who wants to attend, average attendance has been about 40 people. The class is called "Reversing Diabetes" taught by Stephen & Karen Wickham. Vegan/Vegetarian menu sampling is offered during the class.

Several SAS eighth-graders tour one of the last remaining "cattle cars" from the Nazi era, used to transport Jews and others to concentration camps, at the Children's Holocaust Memorial in Whitwell, Tenn.

SAS Students Visit Whitwell Holocaust Memorial

St. Andrew's-Sewanee's eighth-grade students recently visited the Children's Holocaust Memorial in Whitwell, Tenn. During a powerful and moving visit to the museum, the students read and analyzed letters from survivors, relatives, friends and supporters, and visited the library and artifact room.

The SAS eighth-graders have been learning about the Paper Clips Project, an assignment created by students at Whitwell Middle School (WMS) in 1998. The SAS students use this focus, not only as a way to learn about a particular period in history, but also as a basis for meaningful discussion, writing and their own potential projects.

The Paper Clips Project at WMS extended over several years and in 2001 the school dedicated a Children's Holocaust Memorial, which includes an authentic German railcar. This railcar is filled with 11 million paper clips, a portion of the paper clips collected from around the world to represent and remember those who lost their lives in Nazi-era Germany.

Students at WMS chose the paper clip when they learned that members of the Norwegian resistance wore them to symbolize their opposition to Hitler.

The museum houses more than 30 million paper clips and has the largest collection of literature about the Holocaust in the Southeast.

For more information about the museum and the Paper Clips Project, go online to www.whitwellmiddle.org.

THE INSATIABLE CRITIC

by Elizabeth Ellis

Every good critic needs a good rating system, and there's nothing on the planet more critical than cats, so one feature each week is rated from one to five Tobys. The more Tobys there are, the better it is!

The Wiz Live!

7:30 p.m. • Thursday–Sunday, Feb. 18–21
2015 • Rated G • 111 minutes

In December, NBC re-booted this 70s classic with new music and one heck of a (female!) Wiz, proving it truly is "A Brand New Day." It worked (drawing 11.5 million viewers), and audiences responded with critical acclaim, lighting up the social media scene with positive comments and revitalizing the struggling holiday "live" musical tradition of the network. In the most dramatic departure from the original stage and film version, Queen Latifah replaces the traditionally male role of The Wiz, with a sweeping emerald getup and wild white hair. While the stage sets aren't nearly as lavish as the original film, the raw talent and excitement that comes from live entertainment and the witty dialogue (courtesy of stage veteran Harvey Fierstein) more than makes up for it. Breakout actress Shanice Williams as Dorothy proves she has the pipes to shoot her way to stardom, and her moving rendition of the classic number from the show, "Home," leaves not a dry eye in the place. Wholly appropriate for families to enjoy together.

Nostalgia for the Light

7:30 p.m. • Tuesday, Feb. 23
2011 • Unrated • 90 minutes

Since the beginning of our existence, humans have been drawn to the heavens for answers—about our lives, a higher being, life beyond our planet. In the third feature of the "About The Body" World Film Series sponsored by the Sewanee Mellon Globalization Forum, this compelling documentary juxtaposes the search for life and death in the Atacama Desert, a brown patch of earth located in Chile. During the reign of the notorious Augusto Pinochet, president of Chile from 1974 to 1990, thousands of bodies of political prisoners were dumped into unmarked graves in this desolate place. As scientists use the huge telescopes set there to peer into the cosmos, the documentary peers into the hearts of those searching for their loved ones in the wasteland and lovingly merges science, politics and humanity into a storyline that sheds light on a sorrowful chapter of South American history. This showing will feature an introduction and Q&A session with Dr. Arturo Marquez-Gomez from the Sewanee Spanish department. Shown in Spanish with English subtitles, parents should take caution with young children, due to the intense subject matter of this feature.

Porco Rosso

7:30 p.m. • Wednesday, Feb. 24
1992 • Rated PG • 94 minutes

From the inventive mind of acclaimed Japanese animator Hayao Miyazaki comes a high-flying adventure about an Italian WWI veteran who has the unfortunate curse of being turned into an anthropomorphic pig. One of Miyazaki's lesser-known works, it still proves to be a true gem of a film that revolves around the main theme of learning to be true to one's self—no matter the difficult circumstances. The timeless beauty of the painstakingly detailed and lush animation, along with plucky characters including a tenacious female mechanic, make for a delightful feature the whole family can enjoy.

Creed

7:30 p.m. • Thursday–Sunday, Feb. 25–28
2015 • Rated PG-13 • 133 minutes

After almost 10 years, Rocky is back! What could've been a rehash of the past takes on new life, as Rocky steps out of the ring and into the role of trainer for his former friend and opponent Apollo Creed's troubled son, Adonis Johnson. Rocky fans will appreciate walking the familiar back alleys of Philadelphia and the words of wisdom of the character that Sylvester Stallone has created and nurtured for four decades. Making a surprising comeback with a 94 percent fresh rating on <RottenTomatoes.com> and Stallone even picking up an Oscar nomination in this year's race for Best Supporting Actor, "Creed" proves that despite the march of time, a good underdog tale of redemption never goes out of style. Rated PG-13 for violence, language and some sensuality, it is most suitable for older children and families, as well as teens and adults.

"King Lear" on Stage Feb. 24–27

Theatre/Sewanee will present William Shakespeare's "King Lear" at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday–Saturday, February 24–27, and at 2 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 28, in the Tennessee Williams Center. Critics have labeled King Lear "a theatrical masterpiece."

The production will feature David Landon, fresh from his commanding portrayal of Lear in the Nashville Shakespeare Festival production.

Lear's three daughters will be played by Elise Anderson (Goneril), Lily Davenport (Regan), and Tia Strickland (Cordelia). They will be joined by Robert Walker as Kent, Max Hagan as Cornwall, Will Johannsson as Albany and Charlotte LaNasa as the Fool.

Christopher Bryan will take the role of the Earl of Gloucester, with Audrey Tchoukoua and Huntre Woolwine as his sons, Edmund and Edgar. Jack Russell will portray the Duke of Burgundy, and John Mark Lampley, the King of France.

Will Burton-Edwards will appear as Oswald, and Levi Higgins as Curan.

The large cast will also include Balazs Borosi, Quang Tran, Alena Kochinsky, Tori Hinshaw, Madison Jones, Marion Givhan, Lydia Klaus and Krystal Fowler.

"King Lear" is directed by Peter Smith, with scenery and lighting designed by Dan Backlund, and costumes designed by Jennifer Matthews.

Fight director is David Wilkerson. John Marshall is technical director, and Kalynn Harrington is production stage manager.

Admission is free, but reservations are suggested by emailing <mcook@sewanee.edu>.

Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center to Perform in Sewanee

In collaboration with String Theory, the innovative chamber music series hosted by Lee University and the Hunter Museum of American Art in Chattanooga, the Sewanee Performing Arts Series presents five musicians of the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center: Gloria Chien, piano; Kristin Lee and Sean Lee, violin; Richard O'Neill, viola; and Mihai Marica, cello. They will perform at 7:30 p.m., Friday, Feb. 26, in Guerry Auditorium.

If one were to draw a line through classical, romantic and 20th-century compositions, the straightest of lines would go from Mozart through Beethoven to Korngold. Each consecutive composer could not have written what he did without the former's example, each building on the newly laid foundations of his predecessor.

This program—Mozart's "Trio for Piano, Violin and Cello in E Major, K. 542," Beethoven's "Sonata for Violin and Piano in A major, Op. 47 - 'Kreutzer,'" and Korngold's "Quintet in E Major for Piano, Two Violins, Viola and Cello, Op. 15"—captures each composer at his creative best. Mozart's E Major Trio is a confident, bright work that belies the troubled circumstance under which it was written. Beethoven's Kreutzer sonata is a major statement that pushed the boundaries of what a violin sonata could be. And Korngold, with his massively inventive piano quintet, creates a rich sonic world that he would later expand to symphonic scope, defining the sound of film for generations to come.

Performing Arts Series tickets are $25 for adults, $20 for seniors, and $10 for students, and are available at the door. Sewanee students, faculty and staff are admitted free with ID.

SAS Boys Clipped in District Tourney

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee boys' varsity basketball team lost to Mt. Juliet Christian Academy, 43-34, in the first round of the TSSAA Division II-A District Tournament.

The two teams exchanged leads throughout the game, before Mt. Juliet hit some key three-point shots in the third quarter to pull away for good.

Dustin Stensby led SAS with 11 points; Kenneth Thomas had eight points; Deonte Swain added six points and five rebounds; Blaise Zeitler scored six points; and Burton Dorrough chimed in with three points.

The Mountain Lions finished the season with a 3-15 record. Blaise Zeitler was selected to the Division II-A East/Middle All-District Team.

"I could not be more proud of how this group of young men continued to improve throughout the season," said head coach Rob Zeitler. "We were in so many close games. I asked these guys to compete and do their best, and that is exactly what they did."

Sewanee Opens Lacrosse Season with Blowout

The Sewanee men's lacrosse team opened its 2016 season in dominant fashion, as the host Tigers hammered NCAA Division II regional-rival University of Alabama-Huntsville, 17-2, on Feb. 13 at Hardee-McGee Field at Harris Stadium.

The Tigers scored five goals in each of the first three quarters before adding two more goals in the fourth. The visiting Chargers were playing their first-ever match in program history.

Sophomore Robbie Berndt scored five goals on seven shots. Senior Cotter Brown also played well with three goals, four assists, a ground ball and a caused turnover.

Additionally, newcomer Pat DiMento added two goals and two assists, while Thomas Lynde finished with a pair of goals. Also scoring for the Tigers were Peter Brown, George Pratt, Brooks Young, Will Pratt and Tristan Robinson. Brown also finished with three assists.

Six Tigers Earn SAA Honors

With the completion of the 2016 Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Swimming and Diving Championships, six Sewanee athletes were named All-SAA.

To be placed on the All-SAA First Team, a swimmer or diver must have placed first at the SAA Championships. A second-place finish at the Championships earned a student-athlete an All-SAA Second Team honor, while a third-place finish landed them on the Honorable Mention Team.

The winners from Sewanee are: Meghan Mulhern, All-SAA First Team; Courtney Moore and Mallory Graves, All-SAA Second Team; Emily Gay, Ashley Krueger and Carolyn Rice, All-SAA Honorable Mention Team.

OUTSIDE IN

by Patrick Dean

At the end of Green's View Road, with its northwest-facing vista across the farms and fields, you can take a right and follow the steep, rooty trail until it offers the choice of the Perimeter Trail proper, descending abruptly to your left, or the Beckwith Loop, up and to your right.

You'll also see new signs for the trail system. The new markers are small vertical posts, with several icons—some white, some yellow (the ones alerting users to danger) and the ones on top, purple, bearing the ubiquitous Sewanee Gothic "S."

Inevitably, there will be people who think the signs are too garish, compared to the previous dark-brown wooden ones. I can imagine that some will feel that their outdoor experience has been lessened by the presence of such "unnatural" shapes and colors on the Perimeter Trail.

Where does this reaction come from? The Perimeter Trail sees regular users throughout the year—hikers, runners and mountain bikers. It passes within sight of homes and power lines. It crosses Roarks Cove Road and Highway 41A. Wilderness it ain't.

It's as though we need to fool ourselves, to be able to believe that we're in a wilder place than we are. We want to pretend like kids hiding in a cardboard fort, or making a backyard thicket in the jungles of Africa. And manmade objects—especially newly appeared ones—can get in the way of our creating that head space.

All of which makes me think that it's all about perception and the illusion of separateness, of wildness. Does a painted stick affect the physical relationship between a person and the woods? Why is a brown piece of wood okay, but a white and purple one not?

Not far from the new signposts, the Beckwith trail skirts the edge of the Sewanee golf course. Is that more or less disruptive to one's feeling of being in nature? Why?

Climbers' huts in the Alps are perched right on the dizzying edges of mountains, offering bunk beds, stoves, even meals. Some are old stone, some modernistic steel cubes. Does their presence make the Alps any less magnificent, the climbs less challenging?

The outdoor-wear company Patagonia once published an article in its catalog defending bright colors of their clothing, quoting Flaubert in arguing that rainshells didn't have to be mud-brown or olive-green. Why is the brilliance of sumacs in fall okay, but that of a red fleece layer not?

Of course there are, and should be, locales where there are no signs of humans. Some parts of our national parks fit the bill, as do certain other wilderness areas, national monuments and national forests. Everywhere else, though, the balancing of access and beauty, safety and enjoyment, has to be constantly worked on and lived with.

I am told that there are University students, less experienced at being outside away from well-delineated paths, who are much more comfortable being on the Perimeter Trail with the new signs. To me, that makes the signs worth it.

NATURENOTES

Photos by Yolande Gottfried

We Found It!

On Feb. 14, Olde Groundhog Day, in Shakerag Hollow, the ground was frozen hard and still had snow cover, icicles hung from the rock face, and the temperature hovered around freezing. Nevertheless, two stalwart hikers, Teesha and Victor Tiller, joined Yolande Gottfried on a Sewanee Herbarium-sponsored walk to hunt for the first hepatica. Or rather, the second hepatica, since a sighting had already been reported here in December.

To their delight, they did find one hepatica in bloom. The star or giant chickweed was in bud, but seemed to be waiting for things to warm up a little. Victor Tiller was the first to spot another member of the early spring "flora," the Scarlet Cup fungus, which grows on fallen hardwood branches in wet places. It is one of the first mushrooms to appear in the spring and is easy to spot among the leaf litter when searching for spring wildflowers. The fungi, though, are classified in a separate kingdom from the plants.

Hepatica is also known as liverwort, due to the shape and color of the three-lobed leaves that were indeed a reddish-brown, liver-like color this time of the year, having persisted all through the winter. These evergreen leaves help the plant store more energy, allowing it to bloom so early in the season, and may also help protect the plant through the winter and help the ground around it warm up in the spring.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Lift every voice and sing
Till earth and heaven ring
Ring with the harmonies of Liberty;
Let our rejoicing rise
High as the listening skies,
Let it resound loud as the rolling sea.
Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us,
Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us.
Facing the rising sun of our new day begun,
Let us march on till victory is won.
Stony the road we trod,
Bitter the chastening rod,
Felt in the days when hope unborn had died;
Yet with a steady beat,
Have not our weary feet
Come to the place for which our fathers sighed?
We have come over a way that with tears has been watered,
We have come, treading our path through the blood of the slaughtered,
Out from the gloomy past,
Till now we stand at last
Where the white gleam of our bright star is cast.

God of our weary years,
God of our silent tears,
Thou who hast brought us thus far on the way;
Thou who hast by Thy might
Led us into the light,
Keep us forever in the path, we pray.
Lest our feet stray from the places, our God, where we met Thee,
Lest, our hearts drunk with the wine of the world, we forget Thee;
Shadowed beneath Thy hand,
May we forever stand.
True to our God,
True to our native land.

—“Lift Every Voice and Sing” by James Weldon Johnson
