

Sort Recycling With Care

Curbside recycling will be in Sewanee on Friday, March 1. Joe B. Long reports that residents are not separating materials as carefully as they should. When recycling items are not sorted properly, the items are put in with standard trash, defeating the purpose of recycling. If you participate in the recycling program, Long asks that residents please remember the following guidelines.

All recycled items must be sacked in blue bags, available from the University Lease Office, 110 Carnegie Hall, or at the Physical Plant Services office on Alabama Avenue, or at the PPS warehouse on Georgia Avenue.

Bags should be placed on the side of the road no later than 7:30 a.m. on the morning of pickup. Items to be recycled must be sorted and placed in separate bags. If plastic bottles are mixed in with tin cans, the entire bag goes to the trash.

Aluminum cans: Rinse the cans and store with other aluminum materials such as clean aluminum foil and pie pans. Crushing the cans is optional.

Tin cans: Tin cans need to be rinsed before storing, but the labels do not have to be taken off. The end of the can does not have to be removed. Crushing the cans is optional.

#1 (PET) Plastic: Remove the lid and rinse out the container. This category includes two-liter drink bottles, peanut butter jars and plastics that are stamped with the recycling triangle with the number 1.

#2 (HDPE) Plastic: Remove the lid and rinse. Some examples in this category are milk jugs, detergent bottles and plastics that are stamped with the recycling triangle with the number 2.

Mixed Paper: Flatten paperboard boxes from cereal, crackers and other items.

Among the unacceptable items are plastic shopping bags such as those used at grocery stores and drugstores; cardboard milk or juice cartons; boxes with food products stuck to them; wax-coated cardboard; polystyrene pellets (packing peanuts) and Styrofoam inserts.

St. Mary's Names Parsley First Bishop-in-Residence

St. Mary's Sewanee announces the creation of a Bishop-in-Residence program. The Bishop-in-Residence will assist the center in engaging the Episcopal Church more directly as a resource for spiritual growth and faith formation. This will include periods of residency for one week every quarter, during which the Bishop will offer a Quiet Retreat Day and schedule appointments for spiritual direction. In addition, the Bishop-in-Residence will lead a pre-ordination retreat for transitional deacons, as well as develop opportunities to support and nurture parish priests and serve as an advisor on St. Mary's Sewanee's Program Committee.

The St. Mary's Sewanee board of trustees is pleased to announce that the Right Reverend Henry Nutt Parsley will serve as St. Mary's Sewanee first Bishop-in-Residence for a three-year term beginning in 2013. His first week in residence is March 1-8, and he will offer a Lenten Quiet Day on Friday, March 1. Bishop Parsley is the recently retired 10th Bishop of Alabama and the 22nd Chancellor of the University of the South. Since 2000, Bishop Parsley's retreats frequently utilize his interest and passion for literature as a resource for the spiritual journey.

St. Mary's Sewanee is celebrating its 25th year as a center for spiritual development. It welcomes more than 5,000 guests each year to its retreat center, located on the Cumberland Plateau three miles from the Sewanee Village.

Contact St. Mary's Sewanee to register for the March 1 Lenten Day retreat or to schedule a time for spiritual direction with Bishop Parsley.

MVFD SEEKING DONATIONS To the Editor:

The Monteagle Volunteer Fire Department is accepting items that you have and need out of the way or were planning on giving away. We will take any items—furniture, appliances, clothes, tools, etc. We will be having a rummage sale in April to raise money for equipment and gear for our department. All donations are appreciated, but please keep in mind that if items are broken or damaged, they would not benefit us and only be time-consuming to deal with.

If you have items you would like to donate to the department, you can contact chief Eddie Phillips at (931) 636-6920 or me at (931) 371-2112.

CAC FEEDS THE HUNGRY To the Editor:

Thank you for your continued support for the Community Action Committee. You will be pleased to know that over this last month CAC distributed 2,461 pounds of food to more than 80 households. Most of our food purchases come from Second Harvest Food Bank of Nashville, where for each $1 spent we can purchase $4 worth of food. It does not take long for the shelves to become empty, as we have many in our community who are hungry. Through CAC, we also assisted 29 clients with utility bills and gave assistance to several clients for their medical and dental needs. We at CAC appreciate all of the help from this amazing community and offer our heartfelt thanks.

Update on Sewanee Inn Construction

Now that the old Sewanee Inn has been taken down, crews are preparing the site for construction of a new inn. Before the buildings were demolished, the University's physical plant services removed and repurposed all the materials it was possible to salvage. For example, still-useful light fixtures, equipment and furniture have been redeployed elsewhere on campus; Housing Sewanee removed paneling from the inn to be used in new houses; and beds and mattresses were donated to a nonprofit agency. The stone on the old buildings that was able to be reused has been reclaimed for other campus uses. Once demolition began, the contractor was asked to keep as much as possible out of the landfill.

As is the case with other recent campus construction, the new inn is designed to meet LEED guidelines. In addition to reusing the old materials, new materials for the inn will be sourced regionally where possible. Construction schedules are subject to change, but the new inn is expected to be open for Commencement 2014.

The other current large project on campus—the new residence hall next to Cannon Hall—is scheduled to be completed by late July so that it can be furnished in time for students to move in before August. The construction thus far is following LEED guidelines between the silver and gold levels.

TINTINNABULATIONS

by John Bordley

Tower Tidings

"Tower Tidings" was the name of the Messenger's carillon column when it was written by Laura Hewitt Whipple, my predecessor and teacher. The title seems appropriate today as I mention several timely news items.

The carillon now has a four-bell, automatically played peal. In normal, manual play, there is a direct link between a key (baton) on the keyboard and the corresponding clapper that strikes the inside surface of the bell. Pressing the baton with more or less force causes the sound of the bell to be louder or softer. In automatic play, a striker is activated by an electronic signal. The ball, which is part of the striker, is thrust against the external surface of the bell, always with the same force and thus the same loudness. Such a mechanism has existed for the bourdon, the low Bb on our carillon, for about 25 years. By adjusting a timer, one could choose between a toll (regular interval of the bell being struck) and a sound simulating the sound when the bell used to swing (ding, pause, ding-ding, pause, ding-ding...). Three new strikers were installed on Feb. 14 to the low C, Eb and F bells. The interval between each strike can be controlled for each of the four bells, resulting in a rather pleasant peal sound. The result is something like the sound one hears in European cities on a Sunday morning, when many church bells are rung from different belfries at the same time.

The adjacent photo shows the new striker mechanism. Note that the ball strikes the external surface of the bell. Not too clearly, in the background, you can see the wires that pull clappers to the inside surfaces of other bells.

Traditionally, carillon bells are not rung between Maundy Thursday and Easter, because the bells have all left their belfries and flown to Rome for the pope's blessing. They return in time for the Easter Even celebration. Here at Sewanee, this tradition has been followed by the carillonneurs. Paul Engsborg, former bell master for the change ringing bells in Breslin Tower, interpreted the tradition differently and chose to have the Bentley bells silent during all of Lent. Last year the chaplain of the University opted to have the Engsborg interpretation apply to all bell ringing. Therefore, the Leonidas Polk carillon will not be played at any of its regularly scheduled times (Tuesdays and Thursdays at 12:30 p.m., and after the Sunday service) during Lent of 2013. There may be some occasional practicing, however. And somehow, the bourdon at Sewanee has always made a special trip back from Rome on Good Friday so that it could be tolled during the Stations of the Cross service on University Avenue, from Otey Parish to the Chapel!

I am slowly returning to a mostly normal health. My sense of balance is still not just right, but my goal is to climb the tower steps on Easter morning and to play the carillon after the morning service. Once again I must mention that Ray Gotko has been the primary person in charge of playing the carillon in my absence. Not only has he played, but he has straightened up the studio and, allegedly, the playing cabin! Students Richard Culbertson, Charlene Williamson and Michael Moore have also taken turns playing. Thanks to all of them.

The series on the various outdoor bells in Sewanee WILL continue!

SES Renovations on Schedule

At the Sewanee Elementary School, Mrs. Whaley and Mrs. Betancourt and their students are back in their classrooms, reported principal Mike Maxon on Feb. 16. As part of the school renovation project, sheetrock and new windows have been installed, making the classrooms noticeably warmer. The computer lab should be completed and ready for use in the coming week. Mrs. Brown's music room will be ready soon; until then, she will continue having classes on the cafeteria stage.

The construction company plans to finish the outside walls to the primary wing with a stucco-like material called an exterior insulation finishing system, Maxon said. Also, in the coming weeks, the outside staircase to the library will be torn down. The time to replace it is expected to be around three weeks. He said Mrs. Bruce is prepared to travel from room-to-room, so children do not miss any of the academics taught in her class and to make sure library books will be available. The construction company will replace the other deteriorating staircases, Maxon reported, and install a new roof.

Work began last week on rerouting the drainage away from the primary wing to the playground where the rainwater will be recycled.

The parking lot in the far corner will also be shored up, he said.

Maxon said he appreciates the help of the teachers, the support staff and the maintenance department in assisting with the transitions and minimizing loss of instructional time.

"Your support and understanding during this time of renovation is invaluable as we maneuver through the obstacles in front of us successfully," Maxon said. "This is your community school."

HEARING HEALTH NEWS

by Debbie Gamache,
M.S. CCC-A Audiologist

EXPECT REPLACEMENTS

Expect that you will need to purchase new hearing aids about every five years. This may come as a surprise, especially if you have just purchased your first set of hearing aids. Manufacturer statistics, however, show that on average most people need to replace their hearing aids about every 5 years. In some cases some people may keep the same pair of hearing aids for as many as 10 years, particularly if their hearing loss remains stable over time and they do a great job with maintenance and care of their hearing aids. For most people, however, the combination of change in hearing loss and improvements in hearing aid technology find most people replacing their hearing aids approximately every 5 years.

You don't have to be on a schedule to replace your hearing aids. However, if you are interested in newer technologies or just want to be informed as to what is going on in hearing aid technology please feel free to contact us at the Hearing Center, LLC. We would be happy to answer your questions. We are located at 705B NW Atlantic Street in Tullahoma. You can reach us at (931) 393-2051 or toll-free at (888) 303-2051. Blythe Joins New Gallery in Chattanooga, Graffiti

Graffiti, a Hill City art joint, announces that Fennel Blythe has joined Graffiti as a principal artist. Employing both her training as a biologist and as an artist, Blythe uses a unique combination of ink, water and salt to create abstract art that reflects her encounters with the natural world.

"I am very excited to know that there is such an enthusiastic venue for non-representational art in Chattanooga, and I am extremely pleased to join Graffiti as a principal artist," said Blythe.

Blythe's art was shown at the Dogwood Regional Fine Arts Exhibition in Knoxville, and she received a Top 10 Artist Award in the 2012 International Abstract Art Contest. She is the daughter of Betty Barton and Jimmy Blythe of Sewanee. Her website is at <www.fennelblythe.com>.

Graffiti, located at 629 Spears Ave., Chattanooga, is a boutique gallery with a focus on contemporary art for urban spaces. A House That is All Over the Community

I am writing in the first person for this column because I need your help. The building that originally stood on the corner of North Carolina and University avenues first served as a boarding house for eight students. Josiah Gorgas built it in 1873. It burned that same year and was rebuilt with $1,200 in insurance money. In 1874 the newspaper touted it as "a model of comfort and convenience."

A Rev. Thomas Frank Gailor boarded in that house when he came to teach at the seminary in 1882 (before he was married). Josiah Gorgas left and sold the property to Vice Chancellor Hodgson. Gailor and Hodgson had known each other in seminary in New York and were friends, so Hodgson offered to sell the part of his lease with that house on it to Gailor.

That house remained in the Gailor family until they sold it to the University in the 1980s; thus it became known as "The Gailor House." The house underwent so many additions and revisions that it scarcely resembled its original shape by then. Charlotte Gailor, who lived there for most of her life, said that whenever the roof leaked, her parents would add a room instead of having the old roof repaired. The house saw the installation of electricity, water closets, bathrooms and a chapel, and many reconfigurations of the living room, bedrooms, kitchen, parlor and even a billiard room. By the mid-1980s the back additions made you want to put your hands up as if to support the walls.

When the University took the structure over, it was declared that the house was practically devoid of load-bearing walls and would need to be rebuilt to keep any semblance of the original cottage. It was decided that the house would be taken down to put a new larger house in its place. Clement Chen Hall, the Vice Chancellor's residence, is in that location now.

This is the part where you come in. At some point before the bulldozers came, people began going to the house to take things. The house really was "taken down" and not razed. A beautiful mantelpiece, the tongue-and-groove walls and ceiling, the windows, the decorated bannister, the bathroom fixtures and even the kitchenware and other household articles left behind found new homes all over the Mountain. I have heard a claw-foot bathtub from it adorns a fraternity house (I have no idea if that was ever true). Even the Archives got a share, with two stained glass windows from the deconsecrated chapel and some moldy but interesting papers from the basement.

If you have a Gailor house remnant in your home or out in your field, or you had one and gave it away, please let me know so I can make a comprehensive list. Stories would be welcomed, as well. I'll keep you informed on the "progress" of this project. Sewanee will have a true "community house."

TRUST Film and Talk on Saturday

There will be a free screening of the award-winning documentary "TRUST: Second Acts in Young Lives," at 4 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 23, in the Bairnick Women's Center. The 78-minute film follows Marlin, an 18-year-old Hondureña who has survived rape, incest, a harrowing immigration journey and substance abuse. Nancy Kelly, one of the producers of the film, will lead a discussion after the viewing.

In a rare, behind-the-scenes glimpse of intimate encounters, the young actors of the Chicago's Albany Park Theater Project create a safe place for Marlin to tell her story and transform that story into a play, which helps Marlin to reclaim power over her story and her life.

The film was produced by Kelly and Kenji Yamamoto. "TRUST" is the third in a thematic trilogy of films about the transformative power of art by Kelly and Yamamoto. Their other two films are "Downside UP" and "SMITTEN."

This screening is sponsored by the University Education Program and theater department, Women's and Gender Studies Program, the Women's Center, the Hispanic Organization for Latino Awareness, the Green House, the Cumberland Center for Justice and Peace and St. Andrew's-Sewanee School Performing Arts.

The International Tenors (above) will perform at 7:30 p.m., Friday, March 1, at the South Jackson Civic Association's Performing Arts Series in Tullahoma. The show is billed as showcasing the best of opera, musical theater, operetta and pop. There will be a welcoming reception at 6:45 p.m., and artist Ann Ford will have several pieces of her art on display. Tickets are $25 for adults and $15 for students. Season tickets include this performance, which is partially funded by the Tennessee Arts Commission. For reservations or more information call (931) 455-5321.

Step Show at Guerry

Sewanee will host the 19th annual Step Show at 7 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 23, in Guerry Auditorium.

This free event is one of the most highly anticipated evenings on campus.

Teams from Sewanee, the University of Georgia, University of Tennessee at Chattanooga and Montclair State University, will battle it out on stage for a cash prize. There will also be a chance for a lucky audience member with dancing ability to go home a few dollars richer.

The Step Show is sponsored by the African-American Alliance and the Office of Multicultural Affairs.

New Student-Directed Plays Open Feb. 28

Theatre/Sewanee will present "A National Conference On Youth," a collection of four short plays, at 7:30 p.m., Thursday-Saturday, Feb. 28-March 2, in the studio theatre at the Tennessee Williams Center. Admission is free.

"A National Conference On Youth," directed and designed by theatre students, examines different perspectives of youth's "sweetness and light."

"Cannibals" by Heather Dundas, directed by Chase Brantley, is a hilarious and touching story of a young mother attempting to control a morning carpool of four children.

"Hold For Three" by Sherry Kramer, directed by Mary Morrison, is a light-hearted comedy in which two girls convince their friend to hold his breath as the moon rises.

In "The Battle Of Bull Run Always Makes Me Cry" by Carole Real, directed by Megan Quick, three young women meet for dinner to recap a "first date" with a history buff.

The concluding play, "The Janitor" by August Wilson, directed by Michael Caskey, features Sam, a janitor at a conference center who gives a profound speech on his thoughts about youth.

"A National Conference On Youth" features an ensemble of student actors, including Elise Anderson, Mary Morrison, Aaron Browning, Charlotte La Nasa, Adreyauna Lewers, Ruth Isabel Guerra, Hyatt Pyle and Carter Stough.

Born's Basket Seals Sewanee Win in OT

A late 3-pointer in overtime by Leo Born lifted the Sewanee men's basketball team past rival Hendrix, 73-69, on Feb. 17. With both teams tied 63-63 at the end of regulation, the Warriors quickly took the lead in the extra frame after back-to-back jumpers. During the next two minutes, Sewanee responded when Keshonn Carter made a pair of free throws and Brett Bouldin hit a layup with 2:19 left. The Tigers then took their first lead in overtime when Carter hit the front end of a pair of free throws with 1:44 to play. On the ensuing possession Hendrix retook the lead, 69-68.

After a turnover by the Tigers, Hendrix had a chance to put the game away. Fortunately, Born grabbed a key defensive rebound off a missed jumper by Hendrix. On the next play, guard Valentino Bryant found Born outside the 3-point line, which set up the game-winning shot. Hendrix had one last attempt to tie the game, however Born grabbed another defensive board and then hit both ensuing free throws.

Sewanee made 42.4 percent of its shots while scoring the third most points in one of their conference games this season. Born finished with a career-high 14 points and eight rebounds. Carter pitched in 11 points, while Bryant added 10.

Sewanee Baseball Wins Doubleheader

The Sewanee baseball team opened its 2013 season with a pair of victories over Johnson University on Feb. 16.

The Tigers won the opening game, 5-1, and took a 4-1 victory in the nightcap.

The Tigers broke through first when Ben Clune drove in Jack Rogers with a single in the bottom of the fifth. After a passed ball, Jack Whaley pushed another run across the board when his ground out brought Colin Barrera home. Sewanee would go on and add three more runs in the sixth.

Rogers led the offense after he finished 2-of-2 at the plate. Blake Williams finished 2-of-3.

On the mound, starter Jacob Simpson picked up the win after he held Johnson scoreless on five hits, while striking out two. Sewanee won 5-1.

Charles Warren threw well in the nightcap. Warren earned the win after he allowed one run (unearned) on four hits, while striking out two in four innings of work. Reliever Jimmy Roberts also pitched well when he held Johnson scoreless in three innings.

With two outs, Clune got a single. Sewanee loaded the bases after Johnson had an error and hit Walker. That series of events set up a two RBI single by Waley. The Tigers added one more run in the fifth. Snover led the offense with a three RBI effort after he went 1-of-2 at the plate.

Tigers Place Second and Third at SAA Swim Meet

Despite a courageous performance, the Sewanee men's swimming and diving team fell just short of winning the first-ever Southern Athletic Association Men's Swimming and Diving Championship on Feb. 16.

After the Tigers and rival Centre traded the lead multiple times on the final day, Sewanee missed the top honor by a mere one-half point.

Centre won the meet with 854.50 points, while the Tigers finished second with an 854 total.

Jackson Cromer earned 20 points when he won the men's 200 backstroke with a time of 1:53.27.

Brian Glatt continued his outstanding three days, winning the men's 100-free in a quick 46.33 seconds.

Phillip Link placed second in the men's 200 breaststroke with a strong time of 2:04.38.

Edward Dennis closed out a strong meet, when he placed second in the men's 200 fly.

In the women's final standings, Sewanee finished in third place, 118 points behind winner Centre.

Sara Neil won the 200 fly with a time of 2:07.33. Astrid Escobar took the top honor in the 200 breaststroke (2:21.39).

On the diving board, Grace Cobbs finished in second place on the 3-meter board. Cobbs closed with an 11-dive total of 236 points.

Indoor Track and Field Meet Results

Led by Sally Warm and Amy Nelson, the Sewanee track and field team wrapped up the Sewanee Indoor Invitational on Feb. 16 with a number of strong finishes.

Warm continued her strong season with a second-place finish in the long jump with a leap of 5.30m. Warm also placed third in the women's high jump with a mark of 1.55m.

In the field events, Nelson placed eighth in the women's shot put with a throw of 8.83m. In the other throwing event, Nelson finished fourth in the women's weight throw after she topped her seed mark by almost a full meter.

In the men's one-mile run, distance specialist Clay Bond finished fourth with a time of 4:43.71. Tyler Wilcox finished sixth with a mark of 5:02.08.

In the women's 800-meters, Caroline Brooks (2:45.94) and Delisha Duran (2:49.42) finished in fourth and fifth place for the Tigers.

Highlights included top 10 finishes by Quentin Jones in the men's 55-meter dash, Zach Abeles in the men's 800-meters and Wilson Delaney in the men's 200-meters.

Tiger Lacrosse Opens Season with Win

The Sewanee men's lacrosse team opened the season with a strong 14-5 win over Fontbonne on Feb. 16.

In the first period, Sewanee jumped out quickly when Davis Brown and Cotter Brown added scores.

Up 2-0 to start the second, the Tigers continued to roll. Scores by James Millard and another goal by D. Brown pushed the lead to 4-0 with 3:01 left in the half. Pierce Leonard added his first goal of the season with 25 seconds left.

Sewanee would add six additional goals, including four straight to close the third period.

However, after their lead was cut to just six, 11-5, the Tigers responded. Michael Morris, C. Brown and Hal Smith closed the game with three straight goals during the final five minutes.

D. Brown and Leonard led the attack with three goals each. Morris and C. Brown finished with two scores.

Defensively, goalkeeper Tommy Healy earned his first win of the season after he finished with six saves and three ground balls.

OVERTIME

by John Shackelford

What a great story Oscar Pistorious was for us all last summer during the Olympic games, sprinting around the track on his two carbon-fiber prosthetic legs. How could you help but cheer for the double amputee from South Africa, known as the Blade Runner? A perfect example of a man who ignored his handicap and reached the highest level of competition. The news broke this week that he shot and killed his beautiful model girlfriend, Reeva Steenkamp, in their home in Pretoria. My personal opposition to guns is well documented in this space, and I understand how many disagree with me on this sensitive issue, but this is just one more example of another gun being used in someone's home to a very sad end. Country music star Mindy McCready also ended her life this week with one more self-inflicted gunshot wound. Three out of every five deaths involving guns are suicides.

Gun ownership is an important issue in this country and one I hope we will soon decide how to address. But the other issue before us is violence against women. In Pakistan the Taliban shot 14-year-old Malala Yousafai in the head for writing about every girl's right to an education. In New Delhi a young university student named Nirbhaya was gang-raped on a bus and later died from her injuries. This past week students and faculty members on Sewanee's campus, led by the Perpetual Motion dance troop, participated in One Billion Rising, a night of dancing designed to bring attention to this plague of violence.

Sports are violent. We teach aggression. We coach the idea that the strongest survive in a world where both sides want what only one side can have. Between those lines where we play our games and run our races, those ideas are valuable and can be educational for our athletes. But we aren't keeping score in the real world, and men and women aren't on separate teams. Being strongest doesn't grant rights off the field or after the whistle blows. But in this country three women are killed every day by their husbands or boyfriends, and one out of every five is a victim of rape. Violence is a product of our lack of understanding, our inability to communicate effectively, our fear from individual differences and our need to control. Perhaps our handicap is not so easily seen as a pair of missing legs. Maybe it is in fear of our own weakness. Strength is not measured only in our ability to overcome but in our capacity to withstand our own selfish desires. Strength must be seen in our potential to listen, to learn, to give in to the needs of others and to lift up rather than to put down.

Thousands cheered Pistorious as he rounded the Olympic track in London, bouncing on his man-made legs. When will we cheer as loudly for the man who gives up his gun, walks away from a fight with someone weaker, refuses to harm someone with different beliefs, or one who dances as an equal? Better, stronger, faster. That is how we once remade Steve Austin, the Six-Million-Dollar man. Perhaps now we need to remake ourselves—better, kinder and wiser.

Women's Tennis Team Wins

The No. 18-ranked Sewanee women's tennis team rolled past NAIA-ranked No. 22 Martin Methodist, 9-0, on Feb. 16.

The Lady Tigers jumped out to a quick 3-0 lead after Tegan Flynn and Kate Johnston, Lindsey Liles and Jenny Liles, and Bronte Goodhue and Anne Garland all won in doubles.

As singles play began, the Lady Tigers continued to win as L. Liles defeated Callie Thomas, 6-1, 6-0, at the No. 3.

Annie Veron won in straight sets at the No. 4 position when she defeated Laura Ariza, 6-1, 6-2. Goodhue dropped Maria Charrys at No. 1, 6-1, 6-2.

Sewanee added three more wins as Garland, Mary Taylor Tepper and J. Liles did not drop a set.

NATURENOTES

By Harry and Jean Yeatman

Fox Squirrel

Jean Yeatman reports that on Feb. 6, she and Harry visited the Jackson County, Ala., Wildlife Refuge, which borders the Tennessee River, and where many area fields have been planted with food for birds and vegetation for deer. They saw a man pull a nice crappie from the river. On their way out they spied a huge Fox Squirrel walking down the road in front of them. The Fox Squirrel is the largest of the tree squirrels, and is colored like a gray fox. The upper parts are rusty brown, the tail is edged with buffy-brown, and the nose, underparts and feet are a rusty orange.

They live on forest borders, feeding on acorns, fruits, seed and corn. They prefer open woodlands, especially oak, pine, gum and cypresses at swamp edges. They can have two litters a year, of two to six young. The winter nest is usually in a tree cavity lined with vegetation. The summer nests are quite large stick-and-leaf structures built in the crook of a tree. Females born in spring first breed late the following winter; those born in summer breed the following spring or summer.

The Eastern Fox Squirrel is a low, deliberate walker and somewhat clumsy as a climber. The one we watched ran across the ground and peeked at us from behind tree trunks. In this area Fox Squirrels are mostly found in the valley.

Hepatica Hunt Successful

The hunt for the first hepatica in Shakerag Hollow on Feb. 16 was a success! One hepatica was found in bloom, with many, many harbinger-of-spring (or pepper-and-salt) in full bloom, quite a few toadshade (little sweet Betsy) trilliums up and in bud, toothwort in bud and one open, and even some bloodroot in bud that are probably open by now. A lovely afternoon on the trail!

Sewanee Herbarium Events

The Sewanee Herbarium will take a walk to Sewanee's H Tree with George Ramseur at 1 p.m., Saturday, Mar. 2. This unusual tree is really two trees that appear as an "H" because of a natural graft between two white oaks about 15 feet above the ground (see the spring 2004 issue of The Plant Press). These trees may not both remain in good health for much longer, so this is a good opportunity to see this phenomenon. Meet at the War Memorial Cross for about a half-mile walk down the Old Cowan Road.

Nature journaling continues each Thursday at 9 a.m. in the herbarium. At this informal gathering, participants share observations and writing, and sketch plants or other natural objects. All are welcome.

For more information contact Yolande Gottfried at 598-3346 or <ygottfri@sewanee.edu>. More information is also available on the Herbarium website <lal.sewanee.edu/herbarium/>.

Pets of the Week

Meet Taylor and C.J.

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Taylor is a sweet 3-month-old kitten who wants a warm sofa and someone to pamper and pet her. She is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

C. J. is a darling mini Rat Terrier who is about 5 years old. Quite a little gentleman, he has good house manners. C. J. is up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Animal Harbor is now featuring a "My Furry Valentine" special. For a limited time, cat adoption fees will be reduced by $20.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor! On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets over 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Please help the Humane Society continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to the Franklin County Humane Society, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Ways to Lower Energy Bills

Sequachee Valley Electric Cooperative suggests seven free ways to lower energy bills in the winter.

1. Clean the clothes dryer's lint trap every time you load the machine. A lint-free trap allows for better air circulation, which could mean your clothes will dry quicker.

2. When it's sunny outside, open the curtains, even in the winter. Let the sun warm your room and add enough light that you won't need lamps until sundown. At night and on cloudy days, keep the windows covered and more cold air will stay outside.

3. Wash clothes in cold water; you'll not only save energy, but you'll save water, too. And turn off the "heated dry" function on your dishwasher. Let the dishes air-dry instead.

4. If your refrigerator sits near a window or door, move it to another spot, if there is room. When sun rays and heat from the outdoors touch the fridge, it has to work harder – and use more electricity - to keep food cold.

5. Unplug appliances when they are not in use, even small ones like phone chargers. All electronic devices use a little bit of electricity when they are plugged in, even when they are turned off. If you can't turn them off, switch them to "sleep" mode so they draw less energy.

6. Remove window air conditioner units once the weather cools off. Store them away until summer.

7. Get rid of the extra refrigerator in the garage. Chances are, it's an old one that you moved there after you got a new energy-efficient model. The old one is an energy hog, made worse by keeping it in an uninsulated garage.

For more information on saving energy and lowering energy bills, go to <www.svalleyec.com>.

BARDTOVERSE

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

I am the fairy-tale, the lovely lie, the brighter-than-truth
The mirror of transformation, the face of youth
Answering the eye of age with "I Am You, and cloudier mirrors lie!"

I am Olympus with the last mist rolled away:
Gods-in-your image moving in a brighter day.
Watch Venus Anadyomene: she will whitely rise
From seas of arc-lights; these are moons that were her eyes
And sun that was her hair: for this is She,
Helen and Beatrice, Laura, La Belle Dame Sans Merci!
