

Anderson Poetry Reading on Thursday

Poet Daniel Anderson will read from his new collection, "The Night Guard at the Wilberforce Hotel" (Johns Hopkins University Press) at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, March 6, in Gailor Auditorium. He will also sign copies during a reception following the reading. The event is presented by the Sewanee Writers' Conference and the department of English.

Anderson's work has appeared in the Kenyon Review, New England Review, the Yale Review, the Hudson Review, Harper's, the New Republic, the Southern Review, the Sewanee Review, the Best American Poetry, Poetry and Southwest Review, among other places. In addition to his new collection from Johns Hopkins University Press, Anderson is the author of two other books of poetry, "Drunk in Sunlight" (Johns Hopkins University Press, 2006) and "January Rain" (Story Line Press, 1997). Anderson also edited "The Selected Poems of Howard Nemerov" (Swallow Press/Ohio University Press, 2003).

His honors include a Pushcart Prize, as well as fellowships from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Bogliasco Foundation. He currently teaches in the creative writing program at the University of Oregon and is a regular faculty member of the Sewanee Writers' Conference and the Sewanee School of Letters. He holds degrees in English and creative writing from the University of Cincinnati and Johns Hopkins University.

This fall, Anderson will be a senior Tennessee Williams fellow and teach a workshop in poetry at the University.

SUD Elects Officers; Reviews Meter Replacement Progress

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

Newly elected commissioners were sworn in, and officers for the coming year appointed at the Feb. 24 meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties. Much of the meeting was devoted to assessing the meter replacement program.

Commissioners Randall Henley and Karen Singer were sworn in at the outset of the meeting. Both Henley and Singer were re-elected in January to serve another four-year term.

The board voted to continue with the same slate of officers for 2014: Cliff Huffman, president; Karen Singer, vice president; Ken Smith, secretary.

SUD is in the process of replacing all its meters to move them to automated meter reading (AMR) technology. With AMR meters, SUD will retrieve customer meter data via a radio transmitter system. SUD manager Ben Beavers said almost one-quarter of SUD's meters were replaced as of Jan. 31. Aging meters typically give false low readings. By replacing aging meters, SUD hopes to see an increase in water sales and a decrease in unaccounted-for water loss (the difference between water produced at the plant and water registering in metered sales).

To date, SUD has not seen an increase in sales, but Beavers said most of the aging meters and largest meters are located in Sewanee, and the meters there had not yet been replaced. Similarly, unaccounted-for water loss has not decreased. Another possible source of unaccounted-for water loss is supply line leaks. To aid in detecting supply line leaks, SUD is in the process of calibrating its zone meters for AMR to more accurately register the amount of water delivered to the various zones of the district.

AMR also aids in detecting leaks on the customer side of the meter. The technology reports hourly consumption for the past 40 days, immediately alerting SUD meter readers to an irregularity. Also, a meter that has not stopped running for 24 hours alerts the system that a leak is likely. For a $100 setup cost and $10 per month fee, customers can monitor their usage via computer and check their water use remotely, such as during vacation.

A customer who receives an unusually high bill due to a water leak may apply for an adjustment. If the adjustment is approved, SUD will reduce the customer's water bill for the month in which the leak occurred by 50 percent. For leaked water that did not enter the sewer system, SUD will reduce the customer's sewer bill for the month in which the leak occurred to a level equal to the previous 12-month average of the customer's sewer bill. At the customer's request, SUD will test the customer's meter for inaccuracy. If the meter tests accurate, the customer is charged a $50 fee.

Beavers said the February month-end reports would reflect numerous customer adjustments resulting from frozen pipe leaks in January. The next meeting of the SUD board is March 25.

Symphony & Classic Guitar Festival

The music department at University of the South will host the Sewanee Guitar Festival, Thursday-Saturday, March 6-8. The festival will feature performances from world-renowned classical guitarists Guido Sanchez and Stanley Yates.

In conjunction with the festival, Maestro César Leal and the Sewanee Symphony Orchestra will present "Steppin' Out: An Evening of Soloists with the Sewanee Symphony Orchestra" at 7:30 p.m., Friday, March 7, in Guerry Auditorium. All events are free and open to the public.

Sanchez will present a concert at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, March 6, at St. Luke's Chapel. He is currently an adjunct lecturer at the Jacobs School of Music in Indiana University, where he teaches courses in Latin American music history and techniques for arranging in Latin styles.

At 7:30 p.m., Saturday, March 8, Stanley Yates will perform in St. Luke's Chapel. Described as "one of an elite breed of guitarists," Yates is professor of music and director of guitar studies at Austin Peay State University.

Soloists on Friday night will be Sewanee faculty members Lucas Finney (guitar) and Abi Coffey (flute), and Sewanee students Carolyn Ramseur (voice) and Huiqi Xu (piano).

The Guitar Festival has been made possible in part by presenting series sponsors KK's Music and Support Local Independent Music. For more information about the festival go to <www.sewaneeguitar.com>.

Abby Mainzer (left), McLain Still and Zaferah Fortune

Mainzer Earns Gold Medal

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School sophomore Abby Mainzer won the gold medal at the state wrestling tournament on Feb. 14-15. Zaferah Fortune, a freshman, placed fourth.

Seth Horton and Hannah Dempsey also represented the Mountain Lions. Both were eliminated after Friday's matches.

Abby had been dominant for most of the season, winning her first tournament and sweeping her competition at the Mountain Top Invitational. In addition to pinning her way through the finals, she had to overcome two competitors who had already beaten her earlier this season. She finished the season with an 11-4 record.

Zaferah, who started the year with back-to-back losses, turned things around, winning her first match at the Mountain Top Invitational. She recorded two pins on her way to the state medal rounds. McLain Still coaches the team.

Recycling Reminder

Franklin County has cardboard recycling dumpsters at various locations around Sewanee. When you recycle cardboard, please break down the boxes so that more can fit in the containers. Some people are not collapsing the boxes or are throwing the cardboard on the ground. This means that county workers, and sometimes even neighbors, have to clean it up.

If the container you wish to use is full, please find another one or take your cardboard to the Franklin County Convenience Center located at 132 Missouri Ave., Sewanee. It is open 1–6 p.m. on Mondays; 3–6 p.m. Tuesdays–Fridays; and 8 a.m.–4 p.m., Saturdays.

SAS WINTERIM THANKS

To the Editor:

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School sponsors Winterim, a week-long period exploring a variety of extra-curricular interests. Among the many topics, one group studied two effects of the Modernist Cuisine movement: sous vide cooking and modern coffee production. A few members of the Sewanee community volunteered to help educate this group, and their participation and efforts are worthy of praise and public thanks.

Paige Schneider and Marianne Tyndall allowed the group to watch them roast coffee for their company, Jumpoff Mountain Java, and they entertained us with a "cupping" experience and answered a slew of questions.

Keri Moser at IvyWild spent a couple hours out of her busy schedule to show students how sous vide cooking had affected her menu. She even demonstrated the technique side-by-side with traditional techniques.

Devoting their time, efforts and even personal cost, these experienced professionals were willing to educate our students in the best way possible, by watching and doing.

Thank you Paige, Marianne and Keri.

BLESSED TO LIVE HERE

To the Editor:

A big thank you to everyone involved in last Saturday evening's fundraiser to benefit Animal Harbor, with special thanks to Carolyn Fitz and John Bordley for sponsoring the Sonny and Perley jazz duo concert. We are so blessed to live in a caring community that continually works to improve the lives of those less fortunate—including homeless animals. Please continue supporting Animal Harbor as they build their new no-kill facility in Franklin County.

Otey Shrove Tuesday Celebration at Cravens Hall

Otey Parish's annual Shrove Tuesday Pancake Supper and Entertainment Extravaganza on Tuesday, March 4 will feature great food and funny skits from as far away as London and Hollywood. The event will be at Cravens Hall. Doors open at 5:30 p.m. There will be one skit portraying America's wartime sweethearts with an upbeat patriotic song, according to organizer Peggy Peterson. The University Jazz Band will play as families arrive; Eric Hartman will emcee this year's festivities.

"An added bonus will be the Swallow Family (John, Cameron, Ruth and Sophie) who will entertain us after the skit portion of the show," Peterson said. Register to win two New Orleans Mardi Gras masks to be given away. Join the parade at the close of the evening to "When the Saints Go Marching In."

Shelley Cammack is coordinating volunteers for the evening. Contact her at (615) 289-2453 or email <shelley@wardcammack.com>, or go by Brooks Hall to sign up to help. Chef Gary Sturgis will be supervising the buffet that will include pancakes, sausage, cherry and blueberry compotes, with coffee, milk and water to drink. Tickets are $6 for adults, $2 for children under 5, and everyone 90 years or older is free. Cost for a family of five or more is a flat fee of $25. Costumes of all types are encouraged and enjoyed but not required.

Taizé at St. Luke's

A Taizé service will be at 7 p.m., Friday, March 7, in St. Luke's Chapel on Georgia Avenue. All are welcome.

Taizé offers a space of serenity, especially toward the close of a stressful work week. Diverse sectors of the community come together at this monthly gathering, lasting approximately 45 minutes. Taizé is a form of group meditation that uses repeated, simple chant-like melodies, brief Scripture reading, silence and prayer. The atmosphere is quiet and contemplative, using candlelight and icons as a devotional focus. Taizé in Sewanee is sponsored by All Saints' Chapel.

The Catechumenate will meet at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, March 5, for dinner and discussion of Ash Wednesday. For more information about these events, contact Rob McAlister by email, <rob.mcalister@sewanee.edu>.

Christ Church, Monteagle

Christ Church Monteagle will have a Shrove Tuesday/Mardi Gras supper at 5 p.m., Tuesday, March 4, at the church. A $4 per person donation is requested but not required.

Ash Wednesday services will be at 12 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Christ Church will be open for prayer all day on March 5.

CAC Pantry Sunday March. 2

Pantry Sunday for the Community Action Committee (CAC) is Sunday, March. 2, for participating churches: St. James, Otey, Cumberland Presbyterian and All Saints' Chapel.

This month CAC is collecting peanut butter. Please bring your food offerings to Sunday services. The CAC is an outreach ministry of Otey Parish. For more information contact the CAC at 598-5927.

Cowan Ash Wednesday Community Service

Cowan Ministerial Association will have a community Ash Wednesday service at 7 p.m., March 5, at Cowan Fellowship Church. Rev. L.Z. Johnson will be the speaker. Cowan Ministerial Association is sponsored by Boiling Fork Gospel Church, Cowan Fellowship, Cowan Cumberland Presbyterian, Cowan First Baptist, Cowan First Church of the Nazarene, Goshen Cumberland Presbyterian, New Hope Church of God in Christ, and St. Agnes' Episcopal. For more information log onto <www.cowan-churches.org>.

Otey Memorial Parish Church

Otey Parish's Faith and Film series continues at 6:30 p.m., today (Friday), Feb. 28, when the Rev. Jess Reeves will host a showing of the movie "Amazing Grace" (2006) in Brooks Hall.

Otey continues its series, Lent 4.5, at 10 a.m., Sunday, March 2. Laura Willis will talk about "Food: Buying and Eating are Moral Acts." The Lectionary class, Godly Play and youth will meet in their regular locations. Nursery care is available for infants six weeks to children 5 years old from 8:30 a.m. until after the second service.

Ash Wednesday services will be at 12:25 p.m. and 7 p.m., March 5, at Otey Parish.

Benefit Singing Honors Harbolts

A benefit Gospel singing to honor Grundy County physician Dr. Byron Harbolt; his late wife, Genevieve; and Dr. Harbolt's long-time nurse and secretary, Sue Dyer, for their many years of service.

The event will be at 3 p.m., Sunday, March 23, in the Grundy County High School gymnasium. There is no charge for admission. A collection will be taken for the honorees to assist them with their retirement.

The featured group will be On the Rock, and sound is by Eric Dempsey. Church choirs and singers wishing to sing should call by March 1 to schedule a time.

For more information call (931) 235-6149 or (423) 304-8574.

St. James Episcopal Church

St. James will devote time after the 9 a.m. service on Sunday, March 2, for people to reflect on attitudes and actions to take on or get rid of during Lent. Paper, writing instruments and envelopes are provided to write Lentenitudes, addressing the envelopes to the person writing. Lentenitudes will be placed in a basket in front of the altar as a visual reminder of the Lenten commitment. On Easter Sunday the envelopes are distributed to the authors to be reflected upon and offered up in a bonfire before the Easter Brunch.

The Ash Wednesday service will be at 5:30 p.m., March 4.

A weekly Lenten study of C.S. Lewis' book "The Great Divorce" will begin at 5:30 p.m., Wednesday, March 12. Each session is independent.

St. Mary's Convent

The 8 a.m., Sunday, March 2, Holy Eucharist will be followed by a festive breakfast in thanksgiving for the work and ministry of Willie and Rick Sommer, associates of the Community of St. Mary.

The Sommers will be relocating to Alexian Village on Signal Mountain in mid-March. All are welcome to the festivities.

David Brakke

Brakke to Lecture on Gnosticism

David Brakke, the Joe R. Engle Chair of the History of Christianity and professor of history at Ohio State University, will explore the reasons why the Church did not reject gnosticism. The lecture will be at 7 p.m., Tuesday, March 11 in Hamilton Hall at the School of Theology.

In his lecture, Brakke will introduce the early Christian gnostics and reveal their astonishing beliefs about God, Jesus, sin and salvation. The lecture will also be streamed live.

Daniel Anderson Poetry Reading

The Sewanee Writers' Conference, in conjunction with the Department of English, presents a poetry reading by Daniel Anderson. Anderson will serve as a Senior Tennessee Williams Fellow, teaching a workshop in poetry this fall.

Come celebrate the release of Anderson's new collection, The Night Guard at the Wilberforce Hotel.

"Teaching The Merchant of Venice" (excerpt)

They reek of alcohol and sweat, my Thursday morning students who proclaim, It's party week!
It's only eight a.m.

Imagine my dismay.

*Is it so  easy to forget,
an inner voice inquires,
that you would have been hungover, too, bloodshot (if even here at all,
you self-righteous jerk!)*

Pre-K registration will be from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the school where your child will attend, if accepted.

Kindergarten registration will be from 1 to 5 p.m. at the school where your child will attend.

For pre-K, children must be 4 years old by Aug. 15. For kindergarten, children must be 5 years old by Aug. 15.

The following documents are required for enrollment: certified birth certificate, social security card, Tennessee immunization record and current physician's physical report (both are on the Tennessee Department of Health certificate of immunization form).

In addition, for the pre-K process, parents must also bring proof of residence, proof of income (2013 W-2s or last two pay stubs showing gross income), and documentation for other assistance, such as siblings in the free or reduced-price meal program for the 2013-14 year, EBT, Families First (TANF), social security benefits, alimony or child support.

Applications must be turned in by the child's parent/guardian or other designated person. No faxed or emailed applications will be accepted.

If a family does not have transportation to a school or has limited English proficiency, the parent may complete the registration at the Franklin County Board of Education office on April 3.

For more information, contact Patti Limbaugh at 967-0626.

Challenge Match Made to South Cumberland Community Fund

A challenge match of $50,000 has been presented to the South Cumberland Community Fund for its 2014 capital campaign by Madeline and Howell Adams of Atlanta, who have a home in Beersheba Springs and a longtime passion for this area and its people.

"Philanthropy is not about money," said Adams. "It is about caring for others. I have a huge sense of gratitude for the Community Fund. Now people will be confident in making a gift in a way that they know will make a difference to those who live on the Plateau."

In 2014, the South Cumberland Community Fund seeks to raise $235,000 to fund proposals for innovative change and capacity-building grants to strengthen local nonprofit organizations that build our sense of community, strengthen the economy, develop the potential of area youth, tap the potential of community elders, conserve the past, enlarge the vision of the future and meet basic needs.

The Community Fund recently announced this year's grant round to support these types of initiatives. The deadline for application is May 1; grants will be announced by August 1.

The South Cumberland Community Fund was established in January 2012 to improve the quality of life across the Plateau by increasing philanthropic giving and providing community leadership. The Fund performs work under the notion that the people on the Plateau are the solution if energized and empowered.

Gifts will be made through the nonprofit Community Foundation of Greater Chattanooga, ensuring that all donations are tax deductible. For more information or to make a donation, go to <www.southcumberlandcommunityfund.org>.

Reversing Diabetes Program Starts March 13

A six-week educational program, Reversing Diabetes, will meet 6-7:30 p.m. on Thursdays, beginning March 13 at Monteagle City Hall. The program is intended for anyone who has been diagnosed with diabetes, pre-diabetes, or anyone at high risk for diabetes, such as being overweight.

Each week's meeting will include lectures, food tastings and blood pressure and weight checks. The program is physician-supervised and offers recipes, food plans and exercise plans.

This Reversing Diabetes seminar was offered in Altamont last year, with 23 people attending at least three of the six weeks; 78 percent of those lost weight—a total of 108 pounds. Participants said they were grateful to have learned to understand diabetes and what they could do to stop the disease process.

The program is sponsored by the Grundy County Health Council, the City of Monteagle, Southern Tennessee Medical Center/Emerald-Hodgson Hospital, and the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

For more information, including the required blood work necessary before the program begins, call (931) 592-4191 (leave a message) or email <swickham@blomand.net>.

KD Shamrock Pancake Supper

On Saturday, March 8, the Sewanee chapter of Kappa Delta sorority will host a pancake supper to raise money for Prevent Child Abuse Tennessee (PCAT).

This organization provides help to families and children across the state. The event will begin at 5 p.m., in the Hearth Room of the Bishop's Common.

Tickets will be available at McClurg Dining Hall, Monday-Friday, March 3-7. Advance tickets are $3 per person and $5 at the door.

In addition to pancakes and toppings, there will be music and games, as well as surprise guest pancake flippers from Sewanee's faculty and staff. All proceeds from this event go to PCAT. Last year, Kappa Delta raised $5,000 for this cause. For more information or to make a donation, email <kdhepr@gmail.com>.

MEET YOUR NEIGHBOR

by Kevin Cummings
Messenger Staff Writer

If you are hiking in Sewanee and encounter a mustachioed man spouting quotes from the 26th president, don't panic, it's likely Joe Wiegand, possibly the country's best Teddy Roosevelt impersonator. His bully pulpit is sometimes in the woods when he practices for another big show.

Wiegand has performed in all 50 states, including a show at the White House. In the summer you can find him reprising Teddy in Medora, N.D., a gorgeous tourist town next to Theodore Roosevelt National Park.

But outside of TR, what about Joe Wiegand's "strenuous life?"

"My family life is a wonderful reminder that I'm not Teddy Roosevelt. Doing chores and taking out the trash and being Joe—I'm comfortable doing that."

The Sewanee grad is a former political consultant and local politician from the Chicago area. He and his wife, Jenny, assistant coach for the Sewanee field hockey and lacrosse teams, have one daughter, Sam, a student and soccer player at SAS.

He and Jenny fell in love as students at Sewanee. Wiegand hitchhiked from campus to Pennsylvania during a snowstorm to propose to her. He is a veteran hitchhiker, especially if a demanding show schedule calls for some improvisation.

"Everybody says a crazy person will pick you up and murder you and leave you in a field. Well, we can let the crazy people run this country, or not, and I come down on the camp of not," he says.

One of five children, the conservative Republican is the son of the self-described "last hippie," who goes by the stage name Jim Wiggins. Wiggins, a former writer for George Carlin and David Letterman, is still performing his comedy at age 72.

"When your dad's a hippie comedian and you live in Hollywood, and he's got long hair and an earring and a headband, the only way to be a rebellious teenager is to volunteer for Ronald Reagan, and join the NRA and the Christian Coalition just to really tick him off," Wiegand says.

There are plenty of stories about the hippie dad and the conservative son, including dad running a nuclear disarmament rally in Chicago at the same time son is leading a peace-through-strength counterdemonstration.

Wiegand says his family "survived and escaped" their stint in L.A., but it was in California where his guidance counselor, a Sewanee alum, steered Joe toward the University of the South. After finishing high school in Pallatine, Ill., he left for Sewanee on a Greyhound, having never seen the campus.

The bus "came up the mountain road and just at dawn, I saw the cross lit up and from that time on, it was just a wonderful, magical experience here," he says.

Wiegand excelled at Sewanee, and Time magazine selected him as one of the top 100 college students in the country.

In his 30s, while working in the political arena, the former ultra-marathoner began to take the physical shape of Teddy. While entertaining Republicans as a Father Guido Sarducci knockoff at an annual Lincoln Day Dinner in Illinois, Wiegand added some Roosevelt into his act. By 2007 his career was boffo.

"There's meat on (Roosevelt performances), there's inspiration, there's substance and along the way there is humor, as well," Wiegand says.

He identifies deeply with Roosevelt and says the demand for Teddy is fertile soil. He hopes to help cultivate the careers of other TR impersonators. Wiegand himself has upcoming performances in Amsterdam, Holland and the Panama Canal. In 2016 he will tour to celebrate the centennial of the National Park Service.

"I'm living the dream in that I've got a wife and daughter who love me and support me and support this crazy life of being Teddy Roosevelt for the people of the country," he says.

Wiegand is also chapter advisor for the Beta Theta Pi chapter in Sewanee, and is working with Brown Patterson, a founder of the Beta chapter, on fundraising for a library at the Beta House.

An Invitation to Join a Bible Study

A Bible Study Group is being formed by the Cowan Fellowship Church for its members and anyone else in the community who would like to participate in a Lenten Bible study.

The theme of the study is "Hosanna: A Spiritual Journey through Holy Week." We will study the story of Holy Week—from the entry of Jesus into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday through the Resurrection on Easter Sunday. We will use the Biblical record from all four gospels, from the writings of Paul, and from two selections from the Old Testament.

The study group will meet from 6:30 to 8 p.m. on the six Thursday evenings from March 6 to April 10, meeting at the Fellowship Church, located on East Cumberland Street in Cowan.

The study leader will be Sherwood Ebey, who is a Commissioned Lay Pastor in the Presbyterian Church and a retired professor of the University of the South.

If you wish to accept this invitation to participate in this Thursday evening Bible Study Group, please contact Sherwood Ebey (at 598-5883 or sebey@cafes.net).

UPCOMING LECTURES

Banks' Role in Financial Well-Being on Tuesday

William H. Rogers Jr., chairman and chief executive officer of SunTrust Banks Inc., will lecture at 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 4, in Gailor Auditorium. He will discuss "Purpose-Driven Leadership: Banking's Role in Building Financial Well-Being." Rogers is the Babson Center for Global Commerce's Easter Semester Bryan Viewpoints Speaker. Rogers joined SunTrust in 1980 and was named chief executive officer in 2011. He is a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta. The event is free and open to the public.

Leader Against Sexual Violence to Speak Thursday

Katie Koestner, founder and executive director of Campus Outreach Services and the Take Back the Night Foundation, will speak at Sewanee at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, March 6, in Guerry Auditorium. Koestner was the first survivor of date rape to speak out publicly and appeared on the cover of Time Magazine in 1991.

Koestner will give her "No-Yes" presentation, where she shares her survivor story. This talk has been called emotionally gripping and transformative. Koestner has turned her experience as a sexual assault victim into leadership in the movement to end sexual violence.

The talk was organized by Her Campus Sewanee and is sponsored by the Cornerstone Initiative and the University Lectures Committee. It is open to the entire community.

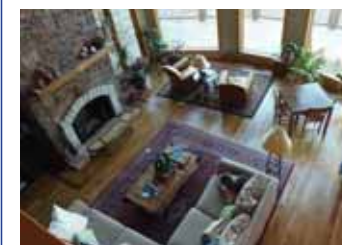

Katie Koestner

ODK Lecture on Government Service Thursday

Marcel Lettre, C'94, will talk about "Courage of Conviction: Observations on Serving in Our Nation's Government," at 5 p.m., Thursday, March 6, in the Mary Sue Cushman room of Bairnwick Women's Center. This event is sponsored by the local chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa.

Lettre is the Principal Deputy Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence; he was nominated by President Obama and unanimously confirmed by the United States Senate on Oct. 31, 2013. Lettre is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. After graduating from Sewanee, he earned a master's degree from Harvard's Kennedy School of Government.

OUTSIDEIN

by Patrick Dean

Some time in the late '90s, I said to Susan, "Okay. I want to live in a small Southern college town where I can do the outdoor thing."

That eventually led to our move to the Mountain, where we were lucky enough to find teaching jobs, friends and a great community. And lots of the outdoor thing.

Looking back on the times since then, I realize that the Perimeter Trail has become a focus for most of the outdoor stuff I've done here. Bouldering, climbing, dog walking, mountain biking, stream hopping, sightseeing, wildflower hunting—it's all on the PT.

Only once in that time have I covered the entire trail in one go. A few years back, my friend Pratt and I decided to see whether we could do the 20 miles in under seven hours. We started in downtown Sewanee, took a counterclockwise route so we'd be going down the Shakerag section instead of up, and finished in 6 hours and 45 minutes. Burgers at She-nanigans were our reward.

A few years before that, Pratt and I and our friend Mark left St. Andrew's-Sewanee School one December day planning to camp on the trail. We clomped past the Sewanee Market with full backpacks and made it to the Forestry Cabin before dark. Inside, we kept a fire going as big and hot as possible and had to rotate in relation to the flames as we played cards. The temperature inside the cabin the next morning, after we stoked the fire all night, was 36°.

Taking students to the Perimeter Trail often led to cool adventures and discoveries. Once, near Bridal Veil Falls, we discovered a huge logjam 20 feet up among the boulders of a steep stream. The logjam created a crystal-clear pool that could have held a dozen people, an ephemeral wonder.

Another year, a winter hike took us past the Equestrian Center to Cedar Creek Lake, where a hard sheen of ice covered the surface. One of us skipped a rock across it, creating a loud, crazy descending pew-pew-pew sound as it went out over deeper water. We spent a good half-hour playing the ice, experimenting with naturally created sound.

Two rock-climbing routes at Morgan's Steep, within view of the parking area, have introduced hundreds of young people to the terror and elation of making one's way up a rock face. Total elapsed time from getting out of the vehicle to climbing: about 10 minutes. More than once, while setting up, I have remembered the pre-dawn, four-hour drives that we took from Mississippi to northern Alabama in order to climb.

There's so much more to the Perimeter Trail: the old homestead sites on the western side, the wooden bridges over trickling streams, and the overlooks at Dotson, KA, and Otey Points ... not to mention the occasional weird sight (how did those two cars end up down there? ...) We are really fortunate to have this resource so close to town, so accessible, so abundant with opportunity.

Harlem Ambassadors Coming to Grundy County

Basketball and fun will come to Coalmont when the Grundy County All-Stars take on the Harlem Ambassadors in a comedy basketball show, 7 p.m., Friday, March 7, at Grundy County High School.

SAS Teacher Chosen for Middlebury Program

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School Chinese teacher JoJo Lu was selected to participate in a Middlebury College's Summer Master's Program with a focus on Teaching Chinese as a Foreign Language.

JoJo will pursue her degree during four summers on the Middlebury, Vt., campus. The program is designed to enhance linguistic facility and build knowledge of pedagogical theory. JoJo will study within a living laboratory that allows her to prepare curriculum and use it in the classroom. Middlebury is noted for some of the world's leading academic language professionals.

JoJo joined the SAS faculty as a Chinese teacher in 2011. While at SAS she helped organized performances of Chinese culture and martial arts in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts. She initiated a tradition of having videotaped New Year's greetings from families of Chinese students attending SAS. JoJo also helped organize a nine-day tour of China during spring break in 2013 for SAS students. The trip was a great opportunity for SAS students to practice Chinese and meet the parents of Chinese students attending SAS.

Gravity

Rated PG-13 • 91 minutes

Director Alfonso Cuarón has created perhaps the most beautiful and poetic movie in decades with “Gravity.” You’ve no doubt seen the heart-pounding ads with Sandra Bullock and George Clooney floating through space. Yes, part of the movie is a nail-biting action picture, but at its heart it is a deeply moving, quiet contemplation of relationships and death, “a fusion of faith and science,” as one critic wrote. Rated PG-13 for intense perilous sequences, some disturbing images and brief strong language. —LW

Good Will Hunting

Rated R • 126 minutes • Free

This is the movie that launched the careers of childhood friends Matt Damon and Ben Affleck. Damon stars as Will Hunting, a brilliant but troubled young man, who is a gifted mathematician. Robin Williams plays it straight as the psychologist who helps him find his way. Directed by Gus Van Sant. Rated R for strong language, including some sex-related dialogue.

12 Years a Slave

Rated R • 134 minutes

Full of actors you’ve barely seen before and offering a powerful depiction of slavery in the 19th century, “12 Years a Slave” will be one of the best movies of our generation. Much like “Schindler’s List,” it tells a story that is hard to witness, but is beautifully made. Director Steve McQueen takes an unflinching look at the true story of Solomon Northup, a free black man from upstate New York who is abducted and sold into slavery. A historian I know said it was the most accurate movie about the topic he’d ever seen. Another historian said, “Americans like their history movies to be uplifting and redemptive. ‘12 Years a Slave’ is neither, but it is important for all Americans to see.” I found the violence very difficult to watch, but I think that’s what McQueen intended. Rated R for violence and cruelty, some nudity and brief sexuality. —LW

Brahms Sonatas at St. Luke’s on March 10

Violinist Ching-Yi Lin and pianist Kevin Class will present a recital at 7:30 p.m., Monday, March 10, in St. Luke’s Chapel. They will perform the complete Brahms sonatas for violin and piano.

Lin is an assistant professor of violin and director of the Pre-College Strings Program at Western Kentucky University. She was the teaching assistant to Mauricio Fuks at Indiana University, and had worked closely with mentors Mimi Zweig and Brenda Brenner at the IU String Academy. Her passion for mentoring young aspiring musicians has earned her the prestigious Jefferson Award for Public Service, recognizing her work in bringing music into the lives of young people throughout her community.

Class is the director of collaborative piano and music and conductor of the Opera Theatre at the University of Tennessee. He has given recitals and master classes many times in East Asia, including China, Taiwan, Korea and the Philippines, and was recently appointed as the music director for the Emerging Artists program for Oberlin in Italy.

The concert is free and open to public.

Last Call for Trails & Trilliums Arts Entries

Applications for Art for the Park, part of Trails and Trilliums, is 5 p.m., Monday, March 3.

Art for the Park celebrates fine art and regional crafts at a beautiful indoor venue and a tented outdoor exhibition space.

Friends of South Cumberland (FSC) invites regional fine artists, photographers and craft artists to participate in the exhibition and sale, held during Trails and Trilliums on April 11–13 at the Monteagle Assembly.

The 11th Annual Trails and Trilliums is a three-day environmental festival, featuring guided hikes, a native plant sale, workshops, children’s nature activities, vendors and music. A weekend of outdoor fun, as well as art and garden treasure hunting!

Applicants’ artwork may be framed or mounted paintings in oil, watercolor or mixed media; original prints, photographs, textiles and sculpture. Accepted artworks, with a limit of three per artist, will be highlighted at a preview party on Friday, April 11, with the sale continuing on Saturday and Sunday.

Artists receive 60 percent of the sale price, with 40 percent going to support the Friends of South Cumberland.

Complete details, as well as artist applications, are available on the Trails and Trilliums website, <www.trailsandtrilliums.org>.

For more information about the art exhibition contact Betty Barton Blythe at <bblythe43@gmail.com> or (423) 837-4515.

Seeking Band for Fourth of July Dance

The Fourth of July Street Dance planning committee is starting to look for a band to play at the 2014 event.

Interested bands should be able to play a variety of music, have played at other venues before and have their own equipment, according to Valerie Parker, chair of the street dance.

To submit a band for consideration, send a music sample via email (with a link to see or hear the band, such as on YouTube) or send a CD (with the band name clearly marked on it and the type of music).

March 15 is the deadline to be considered for this year’s street dance.

Parker can be reached by email, <vennyleal_21@hotmail.com>, or 10092 Scenic Highway, Lookout Mountain, GA 30750.

Hughes Book Reading & Signing

Local artist and author Barbara Hughes will read from her new book, “Enfolded in Silence: A Story in Art of Healing from Sexual Trauma in Childhood,” 4–6 p.m., Sunday, March 9, at the Bairnwick Women’s Center.

She will also sign books, which will be available for purchase at the event.

Hughes will discuss the issue of child sexual abuse. She will display some of her sculpture and paintings related to this, including a 7 foot by 4 foot cross that contains original paintings that are in the book.

Woodworking Exhibit in Tullahoma

The Tennessee Valley Woodworkers, representing more than 150 active members, will present a woodworking exhibition titled "In the Spirit of Fine Woodworking," at South Jackson Civic Center in Tullahoma. The show opens Sunday, March 2, and will continue through Sunday, March 9.

Local artist Geoff Roehm will be among the contributors to the exhibit.

"This first exhibit since May 2009 promises to be one of the best yet," said member Phil Myers, "from heirloom-quality furniture and lathe-turned wooden bowls and vases, to intricate hand-carved figures." Many of the artists will be available for conversation about the show.

The exhibition is free and open to the public. Show hours are 2–5 p.m. on Sunday, and 11 a.m.–7 p.m., Monday–Saturday. There will be a reception as part of the Sunday, March 2, activities.

Door prizes handmade by members will be awarded daily. More details are available on the group's website, <www.tnvalleywoodclub.org>.

South Jackson Civic Center is located at 404 South Jackson St. in Tullahoma.

Reception for Camp Discover Photographers

Stirling's Coffee House is hosting a reception to celebrate the exhibit "Photographs by the Children of Camp Discover 2013," 4:30–6:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 4. The children who participated will be in attendance with their families.

The show contains photographs and stories by the children who were in the 2013 summer program.

Camp Discover is a two-week program for Tracy City Elementary School students in grades 1–3 designed to foster resilience by helping children and families feel connected to each other, their community and the world. With an emphasis on exploring, sharing and celebrating the community's stories and heritage, children also participate in literacy-based activities such as read-alouds, song-writing, photographing and journaling.

Sewanee professor Pradip Malde helped integrate the idea of storytelling through photographs across the two-week Camp Discover program. Tracy City Elementary School teachers Jan Roberts and Sherry Guyer direct this project. Children used photography as a way of learning and speaking about their immediate community, and to foster a sense of place in the broader community. Stirling's is located at 241 Georgia Ave. in Sewanee.

The Bells at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School

In 1918, Episcopal women in New Jersey gave money to St. Andrew's School to buy three bells. The women, who had sent chocolate to American soldiers during World War I, had money remaining from their project and found out that the relatively new chapel had no bells. The women asked that the bells be named Michael, Raphael and Uriel, and that they be rung every Armistice Day, 11/11, at 11:11 for 11 minutes. The tradition of ringing the "Chocolate Bells" was kept alive by former SAS faculty member Sarah Carlos during her long tenure at SAS and continues to this day under the leadership of Lizzie Duncan.

The McShane Bell Foundry Company of Baltimore cast the St. Andrew's Chapel bells in 1920. My friend Rick Watson included the following information in a letter to SAS concerning a bid to refurbish the bells and their mechanisms. Watson measured the diameters of the bells in the SAS Chapel tower and then looked in early McShane catalogs that his company possesses to determine the corresponding approximate pitches and casting weights.

The largest bell, #1 (pitch of approximately an A, diameter of 34-3/4 inches, and a weight of 900 pounds) has the inscription: "I ring to the glory of God and in honor of St. Michael the Archangel in memory of the soldiers and sailors who gave their lives for our country in the Great War." This bell is not currently operable.

The medium bell, #2 (pitch of approximately a C#, diameter 28-1/4 inches, and a weight of 450 pounds) is inscribed: "I ring to the glory of God and in honor of St. Raphael in whose intercession we trust." Although there is some deterioration of the wooden support beams and a section of the bell is broken and missing, this bell is operable. Watson notes, "There is some ring to the bell, which is somewhat surprising, with [a large part] of it gone, but of course the tone is quite faulty"

The smallest bell, #3 (pitch of approximately an E, diameter 24-5/8 inches, and a weight of 250 pounds) has the inscription: "I ring to the glory of God and in honor of St. Uriel. Kings with their armies did flee." Although the bell is not in great condition, Hamman reports that it is in use. Watson adds, "This bell has quite a steady tone and a good ring; it sounds very normal for this maker and vintage."

As suggested above, the belfry and the bells are in need of care and restoration. Their condition is partly due to the design of the tower that is open to the elements. Water and weather have played havoc with the stucco, warped and split the wooden support beams and wheels, and created rust on the iron supports. According to Henry Hamman, renovation of the belfry and repair of the bells will be included in the campaign to renew St. Andrew's Chapel and will be named in memory of the Rt. Rev. Robert G. Tharp.

Finally, the Fall 2013 St. Andrew's-Sewanee magazine announced the existence of a new campus bell. The class of 1993 donated and dedicated the bell in memory of several of their classmates. The bell sits on a mountain sandstone base at Varsity Field and is rung for scoring during games and meets. The inscription is:

Dedicated with thanksgiving to God and in loving memory of our class mates who have passed on before us.

They shall not grow old, as we that are left grow old;
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We will remember them.

Sewanee Loses to Wittenberg

A strong first half helped Wittenberg to a 13-7 win against the Sewanee men's lacrosse team on Feb. 22.

Wittenberg used its attack to power past Sewanee in the opening 30 minutes. The Tigers led 7-0 at halftime.

In the third period, Sewanee finally got on the board when George Bukawyn scored off an assist from Michael Morris.

Wittenberg scored six additional goals in the third to lead 12-1 with 1:05 remaining.

Matthew Stiefel finally sparked a Sewanee scoring run with a goal to end the third.

The Tigers then opened the fourth with goals by Bukawyn, Stiefel and two by Morris, to pull to within five with 6:55 remaining.

Moments later, it looked like Sewanee scored again, however Morris's attempt was not ruled a goal, despite it looking like it went through the top of the net.

On the ensuing ground ball, Wittenberg responded with a goal.

Bukawyn finished with three goals on seven shots. Morris and Stiefel added two goals and at least one assist.

Late Shot Lifts Hendrix Past Sewanee

A jumper with 27 seconds left helped conference rival Hendrix to a 58-55 win over the Sewanee women's basketball team on Feb. 23.

Sewanee opened the game with a 10-4 run. Hendrix battled back during the next three possessions before Kayla Sewell pushed the Tiger lead to three, halfway through the opening 20 minutes.

Sewanee then scored four straight points from Jamie Chauvin and Casey Hassett.

Out of the locker room, Sewell made the score 36-28 in favor of Sewanee with a jumper.

Down the stretch, the score stayed close. Neither team would lead by more than four points over the final four minutes. With the score 55-54 and the clock running, Hendrix made the game-winning shot.

Sewanee tried to answer back on its next possession; however, Hassett's shot missed. Hendrix then used two free throws to seal the win.

In her final home game, Paige Lowe led the Tigers with 12 points. Sewell and Chauvin also played well with 11 points each. Sewell also finished with 16 rebounds, three assists, four steals and two blocks.

Touchdown!

Girls in fourth and fifth grade from Cowan, Clark Memorial, Broadview, North Lake and Sewanee Elementary schools played in Powder Puff football games on Feb. 22 from 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The elementary school resource officers organized the game as a way for girls going to middle school to meet girls from other schools and to get active. Coke and Sundrop donated the drinks. The sheriff's department paid for pizzas for lunch. The Franklin County Prevention Coalition provided the snacks, chips and bottled water. Clark Memorial School's team won the championship game.

Tigers Hold on Against Hendrix

The Sewanee basketball team closed out its regular season with a 54-51 win over conference rival Hendrix on Feb. 23.

Sewanee led by as much as 11, 23-12, with 5:05 left in the first half. The Tigers eventually settled for an eight-point advantage, 25-17, at halftime.

Out of the locker room, Sewanee kept rolling. A jumper by Keshonn Carter and four straight points from Jordan Williams pushed the Tiger lead to 31-17 with 18:20 left.

Hendrix responded by scoring 20 of the next 27 points. With the score tied 37-37, Carter kept Sewanee in front with a jumper with 7:56 to play.

Down the stretch, both teams continued to trade scores. With 3:32 to play, Hendrix pulled to within one.

Sewanee responded on its next possession, as Leo Born stepped back behind the 3-point arc and hit an outside jumper.

Hendrix would again make it a one-possession game with 1:07 left.

After a free throw by Seth Brown, the Warriors had one final chance to tie the score, however, a shot with two seconds remaining missed.

Williams led Sewanee with 18 points and three assists. Carter also played well with 13 points and nine rebounds.

Jordan Williams scored 22 points in Sewanee's big basketball win over Rhodes on Feb. 21 and 18 more points in the Feb. 23 close win over Hendrix College. Photo by Lyn Hutchinson

Sewanee Tennis Swings Past Case Western Reserve

The Sewanee women's tennis team earned an impressive 6-3 win over Case Western Reserve on Feb. 23.

The Tigers opened by winning two doubles matches. At No. 1, Bronte Goodhue and Lindsey Liles stayed unbeaten with a quick 8-1 win.

After Case Western won at No. 2, Mary Taylor Tepper and Annie Veron won at No. 3 by a score of 8-5.

In singles, Goodhue and Veron won at No. 1 and No. 2 in tough three-set contests.

At No. 4, Tepper won the deciding point when she topped Surya Khadilkar with a 6-4, 6-7, 6-2 victory.

At the No. 3 position, Liles earned the Tigers' final win of the day with a 6-3, 2-6, 6-4 victory.

Reed Leads Tigers

Five goals by Wittney Reed helped the Sewanee women's lacrosse team to a 17-7 win over Huntingdon on Feb. 22.

The Tigers scored 12 goals in the first half and five after the break.

Off an assist from Reed, Katie Riddle opened the scoring with the first goal of the match. Reed followed two minutes later, before Huntingdon finally got on the board with a shot.

During the next 15 minutes, Sewanee had goals from Reed, Ellie Murphy, Mallory Grimm, Ella Richardson and Brita Brudvig.

In the second half, things stayed the same. On the attack, the Tigers scored four goals in a four-minute stretch early in the half. During that time Sally Anne Greenwood, Murphy, Riddle and Chelsea Staunton all found the back of the net.

After two goals by Huntingdon, Brudvig finalized the Sewanee points with a goal with 3:58 left.

On defense, Crawford Horan earned her third win this season with nine saves.

Baseball Season Opens Strong

Behind an offensive performance that included 21 hits, the Sewanee baseball team improved to 5-1 on the season with a 16-8 win over Johnson University on Feb. 25.

Catcher Nate Barnett, who finished 4-for-4 with three RBIs, led the Tigers at the plate. Fellow infielder Grant Goodson also swung the bat well with four hits, while Zack Sutton added three RBIs. Jack Whaley finished with multiple hits.

On the mound, Alex Mockett won his second game this season after he allowed only five hits while striking out three in six innings of work.

HEARING HEALTH NEWS

by Debbie Gamache,
M.S. CCC-A Audiologist

EXPECT REPAIRS

Hearing aids are very sophisticated electronic devices inserted into the ear canal where moisture and ear wax can cause difficulties. They are also prone to being dropped or fumbled onto hard surfaces, where the outside casing could be cracked or the tiny wires of the microphone and receiver can be jarred loose. However, it has been shown that regular and careful maintenance of your hearing aids is a good preventative step in reducing the number of repairs. Your Audiologist should inform you on how to use and care for your hearing aids in order to prevent chronic repairs due to moisture and wax. There are also specific devices that are designed to help eliminate moisture buildup in hearing aids. It is helpful for your Audiologist to discuss these with you if moisture is a chronic problem. However, not all repairs can be avoided, and you should expect that at sometime during the life of your hearing aids, they will need repairs.

At The Hearing Center LLC, we repair hearing aids, as well as providing batteries and assistive listening devices. If you have a problem with your current hearing aid and need to have it cleaned or check or repaired, please feel free to contact us. We are located at 705B NW Atlantic St. in Tullahoma, or you can call us (931) 393-2051 or toll-free at (888) 303-2015. You can also visit our website at <www.thehearingcenterllc.com>. We are here to help you.

LIKETO WATCH

by Kiki Beavers

I was one of the estimated 112.2 million Americans who watched the Super Bowl. I was also among the half of the viewing audience who chose to watch only for the advertisements. In America, Super Bowl ads and the game go hand-in-hand, just like Mom and apple pie.

More American adults prefer to watch the Super Bowl commercials than the game itself, according to AdWeek. Forbes reported Super Bowl advertisements have become a cultural phenomenon, complete with Twitter, Facebook and YouTube accounts. Time magazine reported one Budweiser ad got 37 million YouTube hits even before the spot aired. The ads are discussed in traditional media and replayed on social media, all of which can help product sales. Not bad PR for a $4 million, 30-second spot.

This year, I watched some controversial "Made in America" theme ads from Coke (some people said too diverse and unpatriotic), Chrysler ("We will build your car") and the almost banned SodaStream (evidently you can't 'dis' the other American carbonated beverages).

There were some weird ads from Butterfinger and Dannon Oikos. I got verklempt when the Microsoft ad "how technology changes our lives" aired. There was an ad about nothing (with a Seinfeld cast reunion) to get me to watch the online show "Comedians in Cars Getting Coffee." KIA challenged me "to think about the luxury I know" with what it looks and sounds like to ride along with Laurence Fishburne lip-syncing to "Nessun dorma."

All these ads are designed to get me engaged, get my toes tapping, laugh, get a heart tug, watch on digital, social and traditional media, follow with a # (hashtag)—whatever it takes for me to go out and buy the product. It's an over-the-top used car salesman pitch, "What's it going to take to put you in this car?"

Jaguar hands-down answered that question with its first Super Bowl appearance #GoodToBeBad. Sir Ben Kingsley, Tom Hiddleston and Mark Strong compare elegant British movie villain characteristics to the car as they drive to a villain meeting. If one of those three came with the car, I might consider buying one. #BuyMe.

My other top-watched ads on all sorts of media included T-Mobile, with Tim Tebow saying he has more freedom without a contract, and the "We killed the long-term contract" ad on a pink screen accompanied by Roger Miller's "Whistle Stop."

In Budweiser's "Puppy Love," a puppy keeps trying to get back to his Clydesdale friend, with Passenger singing "Let Her Go." No sight of a Budweiser product anywhere. Am I now supposed to adopt another dog or buy a horse to complement the dogs I already have?

The Super Bowl ad winner, IMHO, was the David Beckham H&M underwear commercial. Huffington Post called this the hottest underwear ad ever. I could argue that point, since they probably forgot about the Calvin Klein underwear commercial with Brad Johnson, which was popular back in the 80s, just like Radio Shack (#InWithTheNew).

In the ad, Beckham is at a photo shoot, gets bored and goes outside to get a breath of fresh air in his skivvies. I almost wanted to scream, "It's a trap!" as he gets locked out. He then runs across and scales down roofs in order to find an open door. He snags his underpants and ... you know. Before Super Bowl time, there was an online contest where people could vote for either a #covered or an #uncovered version to be aired. Why was that question even part of the equation? #NoTightyWhities.

The joy was not watching a professional soccer player traversing rooftops because his underwear allowed him the freedom to do so. The joy was rediscovering the song "Nobody But Me" by the Human Beinz. I was singing out loud for a week while watching the YouTube video.

The lyrics are simple enough, and if you have ever been with a petulant two-year-old, you already know how it goes. "No" is sung at least 100 times. But the message "nobody can do it like me" is about freedom to express who you are. Maybe in between leaping from tall buildings, Beckham should have been doing all the dances mentioned in the song. Then I could say he really rocked an underwear ad.

The ad also contained a first in the advertising world. If I had a Samsung smart TV, I could have purchased the H&M featured product right then with my remote. This brave new world is called T-commerce and brings new meaning to buying products "as seen on TV."

Not really that far-flung of an idea. I can already buy products online with my computer and mobile devices, so why not with my TV remote? I may never again get dressed and leave the house to go shopping.

Freedom to watch and buy what I want. Freedom to choose how I watch, and how I buy products. #BraveNewWorld'Merica.

NATURENOTES

By Jean Yeatman

White-winged scoter

White-winged Scoter

Jean Yeatman reports, "On Feb. 23, I traveled to Woods Reservoir with Jim and Cheri Peters to see what waterfowl were about. We saw great numbers of ducks and gulls; the most interesting duck was the White-winged Scoter, of which we saw a flock of 17.

"The White-winged Scoter is a northern duck that usually winters on the Great Lakes, but as the lakes are frozen over, they have left those locations and stopped at inland bodies of water where they are not usually found this time of year. These are large—21 inches in length—black-feathered ducks. When swimming, they show a patch of white feathers near the tail and a crescent-shaped white patch below the eye, which is also white."

Jean also said, "My across-the-cove neighbors, Chris and Howard Lotti, had a Sandhill Crane walking around their yard. And then Claire Reischman found a 16-inch-long iguana dead in her horse pasture. I wonder what other strange happenings we are going to have during this unusual weather?"

Bald Eagle

James Stephens reports sighting a bald eagle on Feb. 23 in the fields of Roark's Cove below Green's View. "Looking like a hawk on steroids, it startled as I drove past and flew up from something it was inspecting in a field, revealing a snow-white head and tail feathers. It lighted in a tree about 300 yards away, allowing this indistinct photo—which is as good as any ever taken of Big Foot or Elvis' spaceship! (It's the object in the center of the photo—the black upright rectangle with the white cap.)

DREMC Members Can Help Beat the Peak

Beat the Peak, a voluntary residential demand-response program launched by Duck River Electric Membership Corporation, is still accepting registrations. This group has grown to more than 12,000 members who receive peak alerts by email or text and then take steps to reduce electricity use during peak hours.

In January 2014, the DREMC Beat the Peak group shaved more than 1 megawatt from the peak demand during one of the coldest hours of the winter.

DREMC's electricity is generated by the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA). Peak demand periods drive up the cost of wholesale power because TVA must operate expensive backup generators or purchase power on the market when it is the most expensive.

This means the wholesale cost of electricity can rocket from 8 cents per kilowatt-hour (kWh) to an astounding $9.50 per kWh when efforts are not made to reduce demand. In the winter months, critical periods are usually in the mornings, from 6 to 9 a.m., when folks are getting ready for work and school.

Alerts are issued by email and text message the afternoon and evening prior to a forecasted morning peak event.

In order to Beat the Peak and keep the wholesale cost of electricity from rising, DREMC invites participating members to take a few simple steps to cut back on power use during high demand hours. Here are things you can do to lower your own bill and lower the entire system demand:

Dial down the heat: If you normally set the thermostat at 68 degrees, turn it back to 65 before the peak event. Also, make sure your heating system's filter is clean. Filters clogged with dust and debris can cause your system to operate inefficiently, wasting energy. Fireplace dampers should be closed so heated air inside the home doesn't go up the chimney. Turn off portable electric space heaters which can use a lot of power.

Delay use of appliances: Postpone certain household chores that involve major appliances such as washing machines, clothes dryers and dishwashers. Wait until after the peak period before doing laundry or washing dishes. Electric water heaters use a lot of power. Avoid taking showers and baths when a peak alert has been issued. Cooking on the electric stove or oven also can increase household demand.

Flip the switch: Turn off lights in rooms that are not occupied or being used. Because lighting is responsible for about 11 percent of a household's energy bill, it is a wise conservation practice to flip the switch, especially when peak demand looms. And if you haven't installed energy-saving compact fluorescent light (CFL) or light-emitting diode (LED) bulbs, this would be a great way to help.

For more information on Beat the Peak and to register, go to www.dremc.com. You can also sign up at any DREMC office.

Pets of the Week

Meet Tippy & George

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Tippy is a sweet little 1-year-old Dachshund/Jack Russell mix. She might play "hard to get" when you first meet her, but it won't take long before she has a firm place in your heart. Tippy is up-to-date on shots and spayed.

George is a 6-month-old kitten with medium-length hair. Everyone who passes by his kitty condo is an instant friend. He's as joyful as a puppy when anyone plays with him. George is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Donations may be sent to the Franklin County Humane Society, P. O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Academy Awards Night, March 2

Because the dead are not particularly noisy
And bodies buried are no longer seen
Silence at the show is like the graveyard
With tides of souls swaying toward the screen.

In black and white and technicolor,
The young Apollo moves them unawares,
Pursues Olympian beauty detached and beautiful
And doesn't see the hidden gum on chairs.

Here lies the mind, defunct in the afternoon;
Here eyes lie in their sockets, unmindful of the day
Where movies take their cues from other movies
And men are gods and gibberish and gray.

—“Matinee at the Regent” by Scott Bates
