McEvoy Receives Peruvian Award

In honor of her contributions to the political and intellectual historiography of Peru, Carmen E. McEvoy, professor of history at the University of the South, was awarded the Gold Medal of the city of Lima, Peru, in a ceremony there on Jan. 18.

McEvoy (pictured below at left) is a native of Peru whose academic work focuses on Peruvian political culture in the 19th century, on the foundation of political parties and on the role of intellectuals in politics. McEvoy's medal was one of three presented by Lima Mayor Susana de la Puente Villarán just after the mayor's inauguration in January. Villarán (pictured below at right) is a longtime human rights activist and is the first democratically elected female mayor of Lima.

"It was very emotional for me," McEvoy said after returning. "Not just receiving the medal, but receiving the medal from Mayor Villarán. She's a social activist who has been fighting for many years for human rights in Lima."

In early January, McEvoy was in Lima conducting research. When she returned to Sewanee on Jan. 15, she walked into her house to find her phone ringing.

It was a call informing her that she would be awarded the Gold Medal. She boarded a plane the next day to return to Lima and attend the ceremony.

The Gold Medal of Lima recognizes a significant body of work contributing to the cultural and political life of Lima. It has been awarded to activists, politicians and scholars, but never before to a female historian.

"I'm very grateful, not just because it's going to open doors for me, but because it will open doors for other historians in my field of study," she said.

McEvoy received a B.A. at University of the Sacred Heart, an M.L.A. from Pontifical Catholic University of Peru, and an M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of California, San Diego.

McEvoy was awarded a John Simon Guggenheim fellowship in 2002. She has been a member of the history faculty at Sewanee since 1995.

Academy of St. Martin in the Fields Chamber in Sewanee on Thursday

The Academy of St. Martin in the Fields Chamber Ensemble will perform at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 10, in Guerry Auditorium.

As the Academy of St. Martin in the Fields grew from its founding 11 members to a full-sized orchestra of international renown, its original intent of performing smaller works without a conductor had to be laid aside.

The chamber ensemble, begun in 1967, took on this mission and today performs repertoire from quintets to octets with the kind of unity and shared musical vision only possible with musicians who work together on a daily basis.

BBC Music magazine described the ensemble as "a reading of compelling grandeur ... masterful." The Academy of St. Martin in the Fields Chamber Ensemble performance is part of the University's 2010-11 Performing Arts Series. Tickets are $25 for adults, $20 for seniors, and $10 for students. Children under 12 are admitted free. For more information, e-mail <performingarts@sewanee.edu> or visit <www.sewanee.edu>.

University Choir Sings Choral Evensong

The monthly service of Choral Evensong, led by the University Choir, will take place at 4 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 6, at All Saints' Chapel. Considered by some as one of the most Anglican services, it is especially powerful when sung in the dark of winter. According to historian Diarmaid MacCulloch, "Anglican evensong has proved such a dignified and compelling approach to the divine that is has brought spiritual consolation way beyond the borders of the Anglican Communion, to Protestant and Roman Catholic alike."

Choral evensong is a major part of the University choir's work and ministry on the Mountain. The choir has made regular tours of England, singing the service of Choral Evensong in 23 cathedrals and abbey churches.

Ten members of the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School high school swim team competed at the middle Tennessee regional meet, where the team had an outstanding showing and four qualified for the state championship. See the full story on page 9.

Cammacks Bring Food, Passion for Community to New Home

When Ward Cammack was running for governor of the state of Tennessee in 2009, his campaign was based on the idea that jobs, health care, education, sustainability and energy policy are all related. Now as the owner of Shenanigans with his wife, Shelley, he finds that this continues to be true, even in the microcosm of Sewanee.

"It all happens right here and is so interconnected," he said. "We have students working here, artists and musicians who are part of this place, local growers providing much of our food. I couldn't ask for a better place to live out what I believe in."

The Cammacks have had a house in Sewanee since 2005, but decided last year to move and make Sewanee their family's permanent home.

"Each time we went back to Nashville," Shelley said, "we thought, 'Wow, we wish we were back in Sewanee.'" After Ward's political race ended in December 2009, they began to seriously consider how to make the move to Sewanee. They purchased Shenanigans in December and are also owners of Sweet CeCe's, the new frozen yogurt shop located next door to the Blue Chair.

Both Ward and Shelley have had experience in food service. As a student at Tulane University in New Orleans, Ward learned the ropes at Commander's Palace. He worked his way up to the highly prestigious job of waiter. "At Commander's, they treated all their staff like family. People who work there often come from generations of families who have worked at Commander's. I learned so much from my time there and saw how important it was that people be treated fairly and with respect."

And it was at Commander's where he learned how to work hard and love it. "There was an intensity to that experience that I've rarely experienced. You often were doing five things at once and expected to do them all well. In 30 years of business, I've never worked harder than I did there, and nothing I've done ever gave me the same satisfaction."

Until now, he says.

"If you stand behind the counter at Shenanigans all day, you'll see everyone you know, or need to know, in some aspect of the work, whether another employee, a customer, a vendor, an artist," he said. "It is the greatest thing to be here."

Musical Based on Books of Dr. Seuss

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee Players will perform the musical "Seussical," Feb. 4-6 at McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts on the SAS campus. The show is based on the books of Dr. Seuss and debuted on Broadway in 2000.

Much of the plot of the show is taken from "Horton Hears a Who!" and centers on Horton the elephant's attempts to protect the people of Who-ville, who live on a tiny speck of dust. It also features characters and scenarios from other Seuss books. "The Cat in the Hat" is the show's narrator.

More than 40 students are involved in the show as performers, set designers and technical crew. Students and community members also provide live musical accompaniment.

SAS performing arts coordinator Robie Jackson said, "Seussical is a delight for all ages and just the cure we need for overcoming the gloom of this long, tough winter."

Performances will be Friday, Feb. 4, and Saturday, Feb. 5, at 7 p.m. and Sunday, Feb. 6, at 4 p.m. The show is appropriate for all ages. Admission is $5 for children and $7 for adults. Tickets are available at the door. Doors open an hour before the show.

THANK YOUS FROM GERALDINE PICCARD

To the Editor:

I would like to thank the Sewanee Civic Association, the Community Council and University of the South for hosting the reception honoring my retirement as founder and editor of the Sewanee Mountain Messenger. It's hard to believe that we've shared this adventure for a quarter of a century!

The Messenger has been a labor of love and has given my life meaning and purpose. I have not done this work alone.

First, I thank Phoebe Bates and those who worked for 18 years on the Sewanee Siren, the Messenger's predecessor, for establishing the need for a community organ for communication and ensuring a legacy of good will in the community and an advertising base for me to serve.

I thank Tom Watson, Betty Engsberg and Raymond Howe for selecting me to pick up the mantle of the Siren and for giving me this amazing opportunity. I thank Waring McCrady for creating our masthead logo honoring the Siren's legacy—the phoenix rising over the words "Ex Cineribus Sirenis" (out of the ashes of the Siren) 1967–1984.

I thank my daughter, Georgia, for her unending support and for often, in the early years, taking the backseat to my work. I thank my husband, John, for his belief in me and for eating PB&J sandwiches more times than I care to count when I was covering meetings.

So many people have joined me on this journey and helped to make the Messenger what it is today. I thank Phoebe and Scott Bates for lifting our hearts and awakening our spirits with their weekly poetry column, which began in the Siren, and continues today. Naturalists and lifelong teachers Jean and Harry Yeatman have enriched our appreciation for the beauty and magnificence of this place and creation in their weekly Nature Notes column.

Others who have given freely of their time and talents by writing regular columns for the Messenger include: Laura Willis and Ted Stirling, film reviews; Elizabeth N. Chitty, Sewanee's history and traditions; John Bordley, Marcia deBary and Laura Hewitt Whipple, the musical programs and history of the University's treasure, the Leonidas Polk Carillon; Pat Wiser and her book reviews; and sports writers John Shackelford, Ty Wilkinson and Yogi Anderson.

Over the years so many people have had a hand in the production of the paper, beginning with the University Press and the folks there, David Green, Barbara Hart, David Jackson and Jack Sutherland. They held my hand and helped this novice get the paper off the ground. When the press closed, John and Hope Baggenstoss guided our transition to newsprint and the web press.

As I was able to afford assistance, the Messenger production staff grew. I thank Janet Graham, April Minkler, Peg Palisano, Kathy Hamman, Leslie Lytle and Ray Minkler, my most recent team, for their friendship, professionalism and love. Others who have been a part of the Messenger team are: Elizabeth Masters, Bob Jones, Diane Jones, Joan Thomas, Lizzie Duncan, Jeannette Palmer, Jim Jones, Cheri Peters, Leigh Ann Couch, Sherri Bergman, Martha Keeble, Kathy Backlund, Nancy Stafford, Jenny Leonard, Gigi Fenlon, Christi McGinnis, Gary Sanson, Betsy Stalzer, Liza Womack, Susan Hall, Marty Chestnutt and Sally Hubbard. I love you all.

Essential to the newspaper has been our circulation folks, who never missed getting the Messenger out no matter what the weather: Ray Minkler, Rick Duncan, Theresa White, Nathan Conover (whose mom, Carol, drove him on his delivery route before he was old enough to drive it himself), and Richard Ellis (who hand-delivered the paper weekly to folks on his street who were shut-ins). I especially want to recognize my friend Merissa Tobler and her girls, Maris and Whitney, who, in the early days, came to my rescue and delivered the paper for an exhausted editor before I could afford help.

I thank the University of the South for its continued support in printing the paper; I thank the Civic Association for allotting funds to provide this free paper for our community.

Delayed by the ice storm of 1985, the first issue of the Messenger was published on Valentine's Day—the day we celebrate those we love. How appropriate. I love this place and our people. I thank you ALL for this opportunity for a life of service.

Geraldine Hewitt Piccard

Phoebe Bates and Geraldine Piccard at the Feb. 2 reception honoring Piccard's role as Messenger editor from 1985 through 2010.

Engel is an associate professor of English. After receiving his Ph.D. in English from the University of California, Berkeley, he taught at Vanderbilt and Harvard before joining the Sewanee faculty in 2004. Sewanee Police Reports

Mystery Helicopter

On Wednesday, Jan. 26, an unmarked Chinook helicopter appeared to be having mechanical difficulties in the Lake Dimmick area of Sewanee. Police were called to the scene by residents who said the large, tandem-rotor aircraft nearly crashed into a barn.

The helicopter's pilot safely landed the craft in an open field as officers observed from a distance. No individuals emerged from the helicopter, it did not radio for assistance, and then it lifted off about five minutes later without difficulty.

Chief Robert White said he contacted Arnold Air Force Base for more information, but they had no reports about the helicopter. White said, "it remains a mystery," but since there was no incident, they did not investigate further.

Drug Arrest

A 23-year-old Chattanooga resident was arrested on Saturday, Jan. 22, by Sewanee Police after being stopped for speeding on Highway 41A. During the stop, Officer Trey Rollins saw suspicious materials and searched the vehicle. At that time, he found 284 grams of marijuana. The man was then arrested for felony possession of schedule VI narcotics and taken to the Franklin County Jail.

K2 Illegal in Tennessee

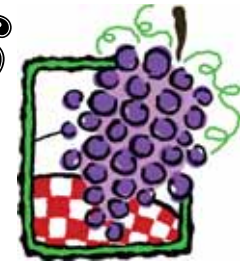

The Sewanee Police Department and the Franklin County Sheriff remind people that K2 is illegal in Tennessee. K2, or Spice, is a lab-made leafy green drug that looks and smells like oregano, with hints of blueberry, citrus and other flavors. The designer drug is showing up at convenience stores, tobacco and head shops, misleadingly labeled as "incense." The labels also inform buyers that the contents are not fit for human consumption, but behind closed doors the "incense" is being puffed as an alternative to marijuana.

Many of the beautiful photographs on the St. Mary's Sewanee website are Bob's work. While participants are invited to bring their cameras, no photographic equipment is required and one need not be a photographer to attend. This retreat will include periods of silence.

Sid Brown, associate professor of religion at Sewanee, will lead a workshop at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 10, on "The 'How' of It: Lovingkindness Meditation for Beginners."

Through short talks, guided meditation and silent meditation, this two-hour workshop teaches some fundamental practices of love.

The cost for this workshop is $25, and space is limited.

On Feb. 11-13, Dr. John Thatamanil of the Vanderbilt Divinity School will present an interfaith dialogue retreat "How to be Faithful to Scripture and Open to Diversity."

AT THE MOVIES

Sewanee Union Theatre This Week

Wednesday, Friday–Sunday, Feb. 9, 11-13, at 7:30 p.m.

Secretariat

116 minutes • PG • Admission $3

Those of us old enough to remember the racehorse Secretariat know what an amazing animal he was. In 1973 he became the first Triple Crown winner in 25 years, winning the Belmont by 31 lengths. For those of you who might be new to this story, the movie “Secretariat” does a beautiful job of describing how great this horse was, and how remarkable the people who cared for him were. Penny Chenery (Diane Lane) refused to sell the young horse, having faith that he was special, as did trainer Lucien Laurin (John Malkovich). Beautifully filmed with great action and acting, this movie is a treat for the whole family. Rated PG for brief mild language.

Cinema Guild Next Week

Thursday, Feb. 3, at 7:30 p.m.

Rashomon

88 minutes • Unrated • Free Admission

Akira Kurosawa’s 1950 classic, “Rashomon,” offers four accounts of the same event, the rape of a woman and the murder of her husband, and through each account we learn something different. The stories are contradictory, and there is no simple truth. While this is a popular technique in film today, it was revolutionary at the time. Unrated, but intended for mature audiences.

Sewanee Union Theatre Next Week

Wednesday, Friday–Sunday, Feb. 16, 18-20, at 7:30 p.m.

The Social Network

120 minutes • PG-13 • Admission $3

Whether you are hooked on Facebook or not, “The Social Network” is a terrific movie about the way many of us interact. Mark Zuckerberg (Jessie Eisenberg) is an annoying Harvard student who can’t sustain a relationship, but knows how to program a computer and understands what college students want to know about one another. By putting those two skills together, in 2003 he created the first online “Facebook” with photos of college freshman and their interests. In the hands of writer Aaron Sorkin and director David Fincher, “Social Network” moves beyond the story of a single website to examine the broad impact of online social media. Nominated for eight Oscars, the movie is also a sobering view of the college social scene, skirting the edge of an “R” rating. Rated PG-13 for sexual content, drug and alcohol use and language.

Marilyn Nelson Poetry Reading

Marilyn Nelson, a distinguished poet and teacher, will read from her poetry at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 10, in Convocation Hall. This semester’s Brown Foundation fellow and visiting professor of English, Nelson has been honored for her poems that address intimate events from her own family’s history, as well as the broader history of African-Americans.

Nelson is the author or translator of twelve books and three chapbooks. This spring, she is teaching a seminar in the college, along with Jennifer Michael, on “Poetry, Nature and Contemplation.” She will collaborate this spring with David Landon in the theatre department’s production of her translation-adaptation of Euripides’ “Hecuba,” which will open on Wednesday, Feb. 23, at 7:30 p.m.

“Sustaining Views” at River Gallery

“Sustaining Views” opens this weekend at River Gallery in Chattanooga. Artist Nancy Nicholson looks for beauty and humor in her natural surroundings. Using glass, lead, and paint, Nicholson creates stained glass panels that explore the layering of light and color. Painter Matt Welch applies the use of acrylics and oils to capture the beauty of space, water and light.

River Gallery is located at 400 E. Second St. in downtown Chattanooga.

FC Democratic Party Activities

The Franklin County Democratic Party will have its monthly meeting at 9 a.m., Saturday, Feb. 5, at the Franklin County Annex Building, 839 Dinah Shore Blvd., Winchester. Get involved—your energy and ideas are needed!

Beginning on Saturday, Feb. 12, the group invites you to join them at 10 a.m. for coffee and conversation at the San Miguel Coffee Co. on the square in Winchester. For more information call Jack Hastings at 598-0660.

Post Office Changes Drop for Movies

The Sewanee post office has set one of the drop slots inside the building exclusively for Netflix movies because the volume is so great.

Postmistress Charlotte Bondurant said they receive more than 40 of the red envelopes a day.

Last week, she changed the slots from “Sewanee” and “Out of Town” to “Netflix” and “Other Mail.”

Lynn Tran, public relations manager of Netflix, said the Sewanee post office’s solution is unusual, but not unheard of. “We do see this happen when local post offices set up dedicated Netflix slots,” she said.

Bondurant said it would help the staff greatly if customers would bring their Netflix envelopes inside, rather than drop them in the box at the curb.

And the Cammacks have done everything from washing dishes to making sandwiches and baking cakes to paying the bills. “Kiki and Ben Beavers put together an excellent team of employees, and they generously opened things up so I could train here with them for six weeks. I am grateful to them for that time.”

Shelley’s restaurant experience includes working at Houston’s and a passion for cooking. She is baking at Shenanigans, as well as helping at Sweet CeCe’s.

The Cammacks have five daughters, including two still living at home: Wardie, a third-grader at Sewanee Elementary, and Julia, a ninth-grader at St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School.

Their commitment to buying from local growers and offering more organic food has added some new items to the Shenanigans traditional menu, including Falls Mill cheese grits and burgers made from Sequatchie Cove beef.

“One of the most important things I learned in the governor’s race was that every person has a story to share, something they want to say,” Ward said. “We’re glad to have Shenanigans and Sweet CeCe’s so that we can learn the stories of people in our new home and we can share some of our own.”

FCHS Raises Funds for Cancer Awareness

In conjunction with FCHS's cancer awareness week, "FCHS Goes Pink," Mr. and Miss Pink were crowned at halftime of the boys' basketball game on Jan. 25. Clubs at FCHS nominated a boy and a girl to represent them as nominees, and students "voted" for their favorite candidates by donating money collected in that students' name. Each penny equaled one vote. The following students were nominated by their respective clubs:

Beta Club/NHS—Brandon Lester and Devon Gunn; Cheerleading—Nick Parks and Maecey Greeson; FBLA—Forrest Derryberry and Rachel Robinson; FCCLA—Amber Smith; FFA—Philip Dixon and Kaitlyn Payne; Interact—T.C. Simmons and Faith Gipson; Key Club—Travis Tomlinson and Megan Tucker; Leo—Tyler Bennett and Tiffany Wooten; Mu Alpha Theta—Kyle Anspach and Katy Housley; P—Cubed—Chris Harvey and Elizabeth Call; Student Council—Hunter Isbell and Hannah Gipson; TSA—Kevin Brown and D.J. Duehmig.

The project raised $1,160.35 for the cancer support organization of the clubs' choice.

Winning the title of Mr. Pink was Travis Tomlinson, representing Key Club, and Maecey Greeson, representing the cheerleaders, was selected as Miss Pink.

Floyd Wins Double Bronze in Fencing

Edward "Rand" Floyd, a University student from Martinez, Ga., took the bronze in both foil and saber in the Music City Open at Vanderbilt on Jan. 29.

In foil, he was first in his first-round pool with a 3-1 record and after a bye, defeated Rachael Kraft of Vanderbilt, 15-3. In the round of eight, he won a close match against Roy Tyler of Western Kentucky, 15-14.

In the semifinals he lost to the dominating Josh Grace of Chattanooga, the eventual winner, taking third place and winning his national E rating.

In saber he was also 3-1 in his pool, losing only to Jameson Herndon, Vanderbilt's premier sabreur, and after a bye defeated Rachael Kraft again by a score of 15-4, before losing a thrilling bout to Herndon, the eventual winner, by 15-14 in the semifinals, taking his second bronze of the day.

Mountain Lion Wrestling Update

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School wrestling team has been on a mission for the last three weeks. After handily winning the Mountain Top Invitational, the grapplers traveled to Boyd-Buchanan on Jan. 20, defeating Boyd (54-12), Brainerd (51-6) and Chattanooga Christian (48-15). Next, Sale Creek traveled to SAS on Jan. 21, where they were beaten by SAS, 58-12. In their most recent action, the Big Cats were fighting for a spot in the TSSAA DII State Dual Invitational against region action at Franklin Road Academy. The Mountain Lions were able to advance by defeating Donelson Christian Academy, 48-36. Outstanding wrestling by captain Trevor Laymance recorded all pins, while Storm Hill and Elijah Cantrell both came away undefeated.

Assistant coach McLain Still commented on the progress of the team this year. "Everyone, even the first-year wrestlers, have found the team spirit to push through when the going got tough. The hard work and dedication of these young men has and will pay off as we enter post-season action."

The Mountain Lions will travel to the Williamson County Agricultural Expo Arena to wrestle in the TSSAA DII Invitational Saturday.

Sewanee Track & Field Season Opens

SES Girls' Basketball Shows Poise

The SES Lady Tigers took on Broadview in elementary basketball action, Thursday, Jan. 27. Broadview had the lead, 15-1, at the half. SES lost the game, 33-9.

Coach Kiki Beavers said, "What the score does not reflect is the effort of this SES team to get the ball up the court, block shots, and hustle back down on defense. SES got steals, rebounds, open shots and tried to break the press. The SES Lady Tigers worked hard to stay in the game."

Blake Collins scored four points, Kate Butler scored three, and Lucy Lancaster had two points. Point guard Blake Collins went down in this game with what is probably a season-ending ankle injury. Coach Beavers said, "Blake is the leader of this team: leading scorer, leading assist maker, leading in steals. After she went down on the court, her teammates rallied, trying to do what they could without the 'Beast.'"

Beavers said, "Most teams would commiserate about 'could have,' 'should have,' or 'would have.' Not this group of girls. They held their heads up high and kept playing as a team."

SES will face this Broadview team again in the first round of the county tournament.

"I look at my 11 young ladies and see that they will not give in. They will look for opportunities. They will step up and try even harder. Sometimes opportunities are all you can ever ask for," Beavers said.

Double Overtime for SES Boys

The Sewanee Elementary boys' basketball team hit another milestone this season in last Thursday's game by going into double overtime. The Tigers were tied against Broadview, 20-20, at the half. Both teams traded baskets and ended the first overtime tied up at 22. Broadview managed to pull out a last-second win in the second overtime with a score of 22-24.

High scorers for Sewanee were Ryan Toomey (seven points), A.J. Mullin (seven points) and Blaise Zeitler (six points). Toomey and Zeitler also dominated the boards for a combined 19 rebounds. Sam Green continues to be a strong presence at point with his quickness and intensity on the court.

Sewanee Basketball Recap

Lady Tigers

The Sewanee women's basketball team finished the weekend the way it started it, still looking for their first conference win. The Tigers dropped a pair of SCAC games to visiting Hendrix on Friday evening and to Millsaps on Sunday afternoon. Sewanee trailed by just two at halftime against Hendrix, but the Warriors used a 22-7 run in the second half to pull away and take home an 80-65 victory. Dana Middleton and Logan Miller led the Tigers with 18 points apiece. As a team, Sewanee shot just 34% from the field and was 10 of 27 from the 3-point line. Against Millsaps on Sunday, the Tigers faced the same fate. Millsaps held a 10-point edge heading into intermission but they used a 20-5 run to start the second half and pull away for the 59-43 win. Middleton led Sewanee in the loss with 15 points and three steals. Claire Elliott added 10 points, while Dani Kabbes grabbed 10 boards for the Tigers. Sewanee went 17 of 63 from the field and 6 of 28 from 3-point land in the effort. With the two losses, the Tigers fall to 2-16 overall and 0-11 in SCAC play. Sewanee will host Birmingham-Southern and Rhodes College this weekend.

Men's Team

The Sewanee men's basketball team split their weekend SCAC contests, dropping a 78-66 decision to Hendrix College Friday evening before topping Millsaps 55-51 on Sunday. On Friday, the Warriors set the tone early, going eight of eight from the 3-point line in the first half, on their way to the win. The Tigers just couldn't keep up with the Warriors hot touch, struggling at the 3-point and free-throw line all evening. Tyler Brown led the Sewanee effort, tallying 14 points for the Tigers in the loss. Anvil Nelson added 13 points and four rebounds. On Sunday, Sewanee managed to overcome a slow start and a furious Millsaps' comeback effort to take home a four-point win. The Tigers, who led by as many as 12 late in the game, managed to hit their free throws in the end and put the Majors away. Valentino Bryant led all scorers with 21 points in the win, while Lewis Affronti added 10. Brown chipped in nine points and eight rebounds. The Tigers will host Birmingham-Southern and Rhodes College in an SCAC doubleheader this weekend.

SAS Middle School Swimmers Place at Championships

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee middle school team swam in the Middle School Championships at the Baylor School in Chattanooga on Saturday, Jan. 22. Ethan Evans swam his first ever 100 butterfly with a time of 1:14.38, which placed him in the evening finals session. Evans dropped an additional three seconds in the finals (1:11.71), which earned him 10th place in the meet. Evans also swam the 500 freestyle. He dropped 20 seconds off his original time, finishing with a 6:10.38, giving him the eighth-place finish in the meet. Erin Berner-Coe swam the 100 freestyle and dropped three seconds off her original best time (1:15.38). Claire Reynolds swam the 100 breaststroke and dropped seven seconds off her original best time (1:30.72).

Ten SAS Swimmers Make Regionals, Four Continue to State

Ten members of the St. Andrew's-Sewanee swim team competed at the Middle Tennessee High School Athletic Association meet, competing against 47 teams. The boys' team placed 17th overall and all four swimmers—Jimmie Joe Boone, Will Evans, Zachary Blount and Sidney Durant—will continue on to the state meet. A young girls' team did not make the team board but recorded a slew of season and personal best times.

Highlights of the girls' regional action included: The girls' 200 medley relay of Helen Wilson (back), Marisa Wilson (breast), Katie Craighill (fly) and Christiana True (free) placed 18th with a best time of 2:14.56. Craighill swam the 100 fly and had an amazing time drop of 3.80. The girls' 200 free relay of Sophie Register, Marisa Wilson, Eliza McNair and True swam another best time. In the 100 back, Helen Wilson swam her best time, dropping 3.32 seconds. The last individual event was the 100 breast with Marisa Wilson. She outdid everyone's time drops, with a 3.88 off her best time. The last relay of the day was the girls' 400 free relay (Helen Wilson, Register, McNair and Craighill) which placed 17th.

Highlights of the boys' day included: Boone (back), Evans (breast), Blount (fly) and Durant (free) placed 14th in the boys' 200 medley. Blount placed 11th in the 200 IM and recorded the largest time drop, with 2.53 seconds. The 100 fly was swam by Evans placing 16th and dropping 2.16 seconds. The boys' 200 free relay placed 20th and dropped more than three seconds with Blount, Boone, Durant and Evans all contributing to the drop in time. In the 100 breast, Blount placed 9th, with a 2.36 time drop, and Evans placed 18th. Hoping to build off of this, all four boys will continue on to the 2011 Tennessee State High School Championships.

Equestrian Team Competes

The Sewanee equestrian team competed in the prestigious 2011 Tournament of Champions Winter Classic Horse Show on Saturday and brought home several top-ten individual finishes. The Tigers, who are currently leading their region (Zone 5, Region 1) as a team, finished 15th in a field of 21 of the top teams in the country.

Lillibet Motion grabbed the Tigers' top finish on Saturday, finishing second in intermediate fences. Senior captain Lindsay Maxwell earned two top-ten finishes for the team, finishing fourth in the open fences class and sixth in open flat. Head Coach Megan Taylor was pleased with the team's effort. "Each Sewanee rider made an effort today. Some saw results of their effort in placings, and some experienced challenges that resulted in not placing. Intercollegiate riding is a combination of ability, the horse drawn and the opinion of the judge on the rider's performance."

The Tigers will be back in action on Feb. 5 and 6, when they compete in the IHSA Hunter Seat Show in Murfreesboro.

Overtime with Coach Shack

By John Shackelford

How good is it to be Blaise Zeitler this week? I see Blaise on most weekday mornings scrambling into Sewanee Elementary School trying to get to his fifth-grade class before the 8 a.m. bell rings. He doesn't give the impression that his mother, Courtney, spent the night before ironing a pastel button-down and hanging it up in preparation for the next school day. Instead, I can imagine Blaise rolling out of bed, surveying the damage, and then scanning the floor for the first thing he sees that is green and gold with a Packer logo on it before heading out the door. I really have no idea what he eats for breakfast, but I like to think he may have had time to grab a quick bite of sauerkraut, a bratwurst or two, and maybe some Wisconsin cheddar to balance out the food groups. Blaise and I share the fact that both of us have our paternal roots in the Badger state. The whole Zeitler clan is made up of avid Packer fans that bleed green and gold. Blaise wears the team colors whether it is in the middle of the summer or in this sacred Super Bowl week of February when suddenly 100 million other people are tuning in to see his team play on sport's biggest stage.

Green Bay is professional sport's smallest city. The team is not owned by some hotshot millionaire hoping to win a championship from his luxury box, but by the city's residents as a publicly traded company. The guy who sweeps the parking lot at Lambeau Field after Packer games can own part of the Green Bay franchise. This year's Super Bowl will be played at Texas Stadium, home of the Dallas Cowboys. Cowboy's owner Jerry Jones erected the stadium in typical Texas fashion. It is bigger and better than any stadium since the Roman emperors built coliseums and fed guys who missed field goals to the lions. At Texas Stadium, the roof can be open or closed, the field is soft like a luxury carpet, there is an art studio in the complex, and a pizza at the concession stand reportedly goes for $90. Both the Green Bay Packers and the Pittsburgh Steelers may be lost in Dallas. These guys are used to playing in sub-zero conditions on a field made of frozen dirt and the last few blades of grass that the dairy cattle didn't polish off for dinner. Allen High School, a suburb a stone's throw from Dallas, just built a $60 million high school football stadium that seats 18,000 rabid and well-heeled football fans. By contrast, Pittsburgh Steeler fans aren't really that different from my friend Blaise. They are working people with roots in western Pennsylvania or West Virginia. They know what it means to carry a lunch pail and wear a hard hat to the game on Sunday. Their thermal underwear doesn't come in pastel colors, and no one presses it for game days, either.

Most people thought the New England Patriots would be playing this week. It is too easy to cheer for those guys. They wear red, white and blue, Quarterback Tom Brady is married to a Victoria's Secret supermodel who is taller than his favorite wide receiver and was once engaged to a beautiful actress. Brady is so good looking that I'd go out with him.

The Packers are built around guys like John Kuhn, a fullback that played Division II football for Shippensburg University. When he has the football, he looks like a beer keg rolling down a Milwaukee bowling alley. The Packers also have B.J. Raji, a 337-pound defensive lineman who scored a touchdown last week on his first ever interception. Raji appears to enjoy the cheddar, brats and Wiener Schnitzel in his newly adopted state. When the Packers won the first Super Bowl 44 years ago, their largest player weighed 260 pounds. This year they have 13 guys that tip the scales on the Canadian side of the 300-pound border.

The Rooney family has owned the Steelers since their founding in 1933 and they change coaches about as often as steel workers go to the Pittsburgh Ballet on Sunday afternoons. They have linebackers that never heard of touch football and a quarterback that looks like a grizzly bear someone just woke from hibernation. The Pittsburgh Steelers are 14-4 so far this season and have won more Super Bowls than any other team. They seem to have everything they need to win on Sunday, but I can promise they won't have Blaise Zeitler cheering for them. And he won't be wearing a freshly pressed, spotless, lime green button-down while watching the game with his dad. Neither will I. I'll be the one with the Styrofoam block of cheese on my head.

Nature Notes

Cooper's Hawk

Last week, Harry and Jean Yeatman were driving near Christ Church Montegale when a Cooper's Hawk appeared in front of their car, flying low and at a great speed. It landed on the ground and came up with a vole. Its prey could be identified by its very short tail and thick head. This was a good catch, because voles eat the roots of our plants, sometimes pulling the plant underground. Our common root-eater in Sewanee is the Pine Vole, quite different from the mole, which eats earthworms and insect larvae. This prey was seen by the hawk from a long distance, but it wasted no time in flying to catch it. The Cooper's Hawk has a dark back and rusty-barred breast. The tail is slender, long and round-ended. It and its relative the Sharp-shinned Hawk are mainly bird-eaters, but also eat small mammals. Its flight consists of several beats and then a glide. Its eyesight is excellent, much better than humans'. Young Cooper's Hawks have a black-streaked breast for about a year. The nest is built high in trees, often pine and other evergreen trees. The female is much larger than the male, that catches small prey for the young while the female protects the young, and later, catches larger prey, such as pigeons, squirrels, rabbits and blackbirds.

Hunt for the First Hepatica

At 1:30 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 19, take a walk with Yolande Gottfried to see what might be out early in Shakerag. If flowers are scarce on the ground, the group will look at mosses, liverworts, lichens, clubmosses and even some ferns, which are not fazed by winter weather. Meet at Green's View for this moderate-to-strenuous two-mile walk that may include a steep rocky section of the trail. Come prepared for muddy, wet and/or rocky conditions.

Wear appropriate shoes on all of these walks. Risks involved in hiking include physical exertion, rough terrain, forces of nature, and other hazards not present in everyday life. Picking flowers and digging plants are prohibited in all of the above-mentioned natural areas.

For more information on this or other Sewanee Herbarium events, please contact Gottfried at 598-3346 or by e-mail at <ygottfri@sewanee.edu>.

Pets of the Week: Meet Lily & Nettles

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Lily is a beautiful white cat with aqua eyes. Very affectionate, she loves nothing more than melting into laps and taking in all the attention she can get.

Nettles is a lovely Maine Coon mix with striking Tabby markings and a fluffy coat. She is a very tolerant cat and has a calm nature, so she would be a good pet for children. Both Nettles and Lily are negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out their other pets at www.animalharbor.com. Please help The Humane Society continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to The Franklin County Humane Society, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

February: Black History Month

When it is finally ours, this freedom, this liberty, this beautiful and terrible thing, needful to man as air, usable as the earth; when it belongs at last to our children,
when it is truly instinct, brainmatter, diastole, systole, reflex action; when it is finally won; when it is more than the gaudy mumbo jumbo of politicians:
this man, this Douglass, this former slave, this Negro beaten to his knees, exiled, visioning a world where none is lonely, none hunted, alien, this man, superb in love and logic, this man shall be remembered—oh, not with statues' rhetoric, not with legends and poems and wreaths of bronze alone, but with the lives grown out of his life, the lives fleshing his dream of the needful beautiful thing.

—“Frederick Douglass” by Robert E. Hayden
