

Alvarez Lectures at SAS

Photojournalist Stephen Alvarez of Sewanee will be the 2016 Bishop Reynolds Forum speaker at St. Andrew's-Sewanee. His talk, which is open to the public, will be at 8 a.m., Wednesday, March 30, in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts.

A 1983 graduate of the school and a current parent, Alvarez spent his life exploring and photographing the world. He is an award-winning National Geographic photographer and filmmaker who produces global stories about exploration, culture, religion, archeology and the aftermath of conflict. He has published more than a dozen feature stories in National Geographic.

Alvarez has produced stories with National Public Radio, including a story on underground Paris that won a 2012 White House News Photographers Association award.

The Bishop Reynolds Forum brings a prominent speaker to campus each year to engage students and the community in a topic of current interest. The Bishop Reynolds Forum was established through an endowment in memory of The Rt. Rev. George Reynolds, the late Bishop of Tennessee and a former SAS trustee and parent. His daughter, Katherine, was a member of the Class of 1988.

Franklin Co. Pre-K and Kindergarten Registration

Registration for kindergarten and pre-kindergarten in Franklin County will be on Thursday, April 7, at the school the child will attend. Pre-K registration is 7:30 a.m.–2:30 p.m. Kindergarten registration is 1–5 p.m.

For the 2016–17 school year, Tennessee students entering kindergarten must be 5 years old by Aug. 15. To enroll in the pre-K program, a child must be 4 years old by Aug. 15.

The following documents are required to register a child for public school: the child's certified birth certificate, the child's Social Security card, the child's immunization record and a completed physician's physical report.

In addition, for registration in the pre-K program, proof of income is required. For more information contact Patti Limbaugh at 967-0626.

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School history teacher Geoffrey Smith (above) was awarded the 2016 Belz-Lipman Holocaust Educator Award sponsored by the Tennessee Holocaust Commission. The award, established by Memphis entrepreneurs and philanthropists Jack A. Belz and Ira Lipman, recognizes outstanding educators who excel in the teaching of the Holocaust. Medieval Colloquium Gathers April 1–2

The 42nd annual Sewanee Medieval Colloquium will meet Friday and Saturday, April 1–2, at the University of the South. The theme of this year's colloquium is "Medieval Natures," and the meeting will include more than 80 papers discussing medieval science, literature, music, art, history, philosophy and religion.

Caroline Walker Bynum (emerita, Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, and Columbia University), will give the Brinley Rhys Memorial Lecture at 5:30 p.m., Saturday, April 2, in Gailor Auditorium. Her topic will be "Nature, Matter and Miracles: Medieval Evidence for the Life of Things." A major figure in medieval history for three decades, Bynum has pioneered the study of gender in medieval history, especially with her books, "Jesus as Mother: Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages" (1984) and "Holy Feast and Holy Fast: The Religious Significance of Food to Medieval Women" (1988).

Carolyn Dinshaw (New York University) will deliver the Edward King plenary lecture at 5:30 p.m., Friday, April 1, in Gailor Auditorium. She will talk about "Black Skin, Green Masks: Medieval Foliate Heads, Racial Trauma and Queer Worldmaking." Dinshaw holds the Julius Silver, Roslyn S. Silver and Enid Silver Winslow Professorship of Social and Cultural Analysis at New York University, and has made a significant contribution to a variety of fields, including

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

"Replacing the altitude valve in the water tank at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School could increase water pressure in the Midway community by six to eight psi," said SUD Manager Ben Beavers at the March 22 meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties.

SUD has budgeted for a pressure-boosting station to address low water pressure in Midway since 2011. Easement difficulties stalled the project. Replacing the altitude valve in the SAS tank could be a far-less-costly and far-easier-to-maintain solution, Beavers said. "There would be no mechanical upkeep."

The system functioned without an altitude valve before the water line from the SAS tank to Sewanee was increased from six inches to 10 inches. The larger line caused a drop in water pressure, making the valve necessary in order for the SAS water tank to fill properly.

In a January inspection of the SAS water tank, SUD learned the altitude valve was faulty. The tank no longer filled to capacity, causing a reduction in water pressure for customers in Midway.

The altitude valve will cost approximately $10,000, compared to $40,000 for the Midway pressure-boosting station, Beavers said. In the event the altitude valve does not remedy the problem of low water pressure in Midway, SUD will continue with the plan to install a pressure-boosting station. Beavers received approval from the state to extend the date of completion called for in the design plan, to avoid further delays if the pressure-boosting station project goes forward.

Looking at finances, Beavers said water sales in February were significantly lower than the same month in 2015, resulting in SUD receiving less revenue than anticipated. Beavers in part attributes the lower water sales to a decrease in water loss from residential leaks. The new automated meter reading technology installed by SUD expedites detection of in-home leaks. Beavers explained, "It's good for customers and for us."

Beavers pointed to a possible source of new revenue from expansion in the Cooley's Rift subdivision. Developer Brian Youngblood recently contacted SUD about plans to install infrastructure in 40 lots in the Franklin County section of Cooley's Rift. Many of the lots in Cooley's Rift receive water from Monteagle. A 1990s lawsuit ruled the lots in Franklin County fell within SUD's service area, regardless of whether or not the lots were within the Monteagle city limits.

The board agreed with Beavers that it was prudent for SUD to serve the new customers created by the expanded development rather than relinquish water service privileges to Monteagle. Beavers will contact Youngblood and invite him to submit a request for water service application.

The SUD board meets next on April 26.

SUPPORT FOR GSAAT FCHS To the Editor:

Sewanee is still what I consider my hometown even though I wasn't born there and don't live there now. Franklin County High School is my alma mater, and I have great memories there, but I was probably complicit in the ignorance encouraged by Franklin County's dominantly rural culture, not knowing friends who struggled with their sexuality or gender identity, as well as societal disapproval.

If the Gay Straight Alliance (GSA), which I only became aware of in my years at the University of the South, had been at FCHS in the early 2000s, the whole school could've been made aware of LGBTQ marginalization and supported their peers against bullying; and my friends could've had a much more enjoyable school life.

The school board seems intent to submit to ignorance and fear spread by both locals and outsider agitators who feel threatened by LGBTQ students and their allies existing in their idyllic world, where pastoral America doesn't change.

But change is not innately evil, especially in positive directions. It enriches our lives to understand and accept people, especially when their differences aren't harmful.

I urge those involved in this decision to not create needless constraints for students under the pretense of parental rights when you're playing into fear tactics of "indoctrination." GSA supporters and opposition can and do coexist.

LGBTQ students are no threat, and their allies are not asking for special treatment, but equality under school policy. Make the right decision and protect the students, because parents are not infallible.

OBAMA IN CUBA?

To the Editor:

Nero fiddled, while Rome burned. Obama played footsie with the Castros, while Belgium was being bombed. Obama said it was an "extraordinary honor" to be in Cuba, "a historic moment."

I am an old lady, and I've seen more than one instance where our foreign policy did reflect our ideals, but Obama's pandering to Castro's evil regime is shameful.

OFFERING THANKS

To the Editor:

I wish to express to all my loved ones and friends, the doctors and nurses, my deepest appreciation for all the love and concern that you have shown me during my recent illness and surgery. You have helped me greatly in my survival and recovery. Thanks to the Lord and all of you, I am recovering well. God is good!

JULIA'S CLOSING

To the Editor:

It is with conflicting emotions that I anticipate closing Julia's on March 31.

In the last year or so, I have given thought to embarking on a new career path. One path I was considering was an advanced degree program in occupational therapy. In the midst of that process, the opportunity arose to apply for the position of manager at Stirling's Coffeehouse. Pending its hiring review process, I have accepted the University's offer to begin on April 1.

Aware that I have catering through the end of May, the University generously has granted me permission to fulfill those commitments.

Had I returned to school, I would have missed two things bringing me great joy over the last 20 years: working with food and working with this wonderful community. If all goes well, I now can continue to do both.

I want to thank everyone who has supported me through my journey—especially my clients and customers over the years. I hope you will continue that support in the years ahead.

With sincere love and gratitude,
Julia Stubblebine

Veteran UN Diplomat to Speak on Global Unrest

Douglas Broderick, the chief of the United Nations' mission to Indonesia, the world's most populous Muslim nation, will visit Sewanee April 11-13.

Broderick will deliver a public lecture at 7 p.m., Wednesday, April 13, on "The Impact of Global Unrest on International Relations and Trade." It will be in duPont Library's Torian Room.

While on campus, he will also meet with students interested in careers in international service.

Broderick's visit as Bryan Viewpoints Speaker and Diplomat-in-Residence is especially timely, coming only months after a major terrorist attack in the central business district of Jakarta, the Indonesian capital. Islamic State claimed responsibility for the attack, according to news reports. The attack left eight dead and has caused Indonesia to undertake revisions in its anti-terrorist policies and laws.

As recently as late February, the Australian government has issued warnings that Indonesia may be faced with another imminent terrorist attack, though the report did not specify the nature of the threat.

Broderick's topic for the lecture combines two of the hottest topics in American public discourse, as the 2016 Presidential campaign heats up, with candidates deeply divided on how best to prevent terrorist attacks in the United States and whether current international trade policies serve or hinder U.S. economic interests. Broderick is known for his occasionally outspoken approach to diplomacy. When he was the UN's representative in Cambodia, the host government threatened to expel him because of his criticism of the country's anti-corruption efforts.

In the course of his career as a diplomat and leader in international humanitarian causes, Broderick has served in Bangladesh, China, North Korea, Rwanda, Eritrea, Armenia, Djibouti, Iraq, the Gaza Strip and Egypt, often during times of acute crisis.

Before joining the United Nations, he worked for Catholic Relief Services, one of the largest international humanitarian organizations. This breadth of experience makes him keenly aware of the economic realities that drive development.

Broderick's visit is co-sponsored by the Babson Center for Global Commerce, the economics department, the department of international and global studies, and the Social Entrepreneurship Education Program. For more information, contact Janna McClain at 598-1921 or <jbmccai@sewanee.edu>.

Cartography at Friends of the Library

Friends of the Library of Sewanee will meet at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, March 31, in the Torian Room of duPont Library for a program by Matt Reynolds, assistant director of Archives and Special Collections at Sewanee. He will talk about "Making Space: Cartographic Selections from University Archives and Special Collections." Reynolds is finishing his first year at Archives.

Maps have long played an essential part of the human experience. From simple scrawls to modern GIS-based masterpieces, they have defined place, established boundaries, guided communities and given historical and cultural insight into the time in which they were produced.

In his presentation Reynolds will talk about an ongoing project to organize the map holdings in the Archives and show some of his favorite pieces found in the collection that showcase locations around the Domain and beyond. For more information go to <libguides.sewanee.edu/FOL>.

St. Mary's Convent Gala Deadline is Tuesday

The "Heaven, Hope and Hurricanes" fund-raising gala to benefit the Organic Prayer Internship program at the St. Mary's Convent will begin at 6 p.m. on Saturday, April 9, at Cravens Hall in Sewanee. It will begin with a reception of wine, hors d'oeuvres and a silent auction, followed by a Cajun dinner buffet and live music. The deadline for reservations is Tuesday, March 29.

Louisiana's Brenda DeKeyser Lowry and Joshua "Bubba" Murrell, who perform as a gospel duo for B&B on the Rock, as well as the core of the blues band Blue Merlot, will mix both traditions for a lively interpretation of "resurrection in the face of the hurricanes of life."

Tickets are $75 each or $135 per couple. To make a reservation call 598-0046.

The Community of St. Mary also welcomes sponsorship of the event. $1,000 sponsorship includes advertising at the event and a complimentary table for eight. Patrons contributing $500 receive four gala tickets; patrons contributing $250 receive two gala tickets.

Church News

All Saints' Chapel

St. Augustine's Flower Guild welcomes people to help decorate All Saints' Chapel beginning at 9 a.m., Saturday, March 26. All levels of skill and talent are needed. Coffee and pastries will be provided.

For more information about All Saints' Chapel call 598-1274.

Christ Church Monteagle

Christ Church Monteagle will celebrate Noonday prayer on Saturday, March 26. The Lighting of the New Fire is at dusk Saturday evening, and the first prayers of Easter will be read in the church. The Easter service begins at 10:30 a.m., Sunday, March 27, followed by lunch and an Easter egg hunt.

Episcopal Church Women

The Rev. Christopher Bryan will be the speaker at the Monday, April 4, meeting of Episcopal Church Women. The lunch meeting begins at noon in St. Marks' Hall at Otey Parish.

Bryan, who is retired professor of New Testament at the School of Theology of the University of the South, will talk about "Women Witnesses of the Resurrection."

Now in semi-retirement, Bryan actively participates in the Sewanee community. He especially enjoys playing classic roles in the University theater department's productions.

Reservations for the $10 catered lunch should be made by 6 p.m., Friday, April 1, by contacting Claudia Porter at 598-9546 or <porter45@bellsouth.net>. An alternate vegetarian plate will be provided, if requested at the time the reservation is made.

Franklin Co. Hazardous Waste Collection

The Franklin County Solid Waste Management facility on Joyce Lane across from the Agricultural Pavilion announced its annual Hazardous Waste Event, 8 a.m.–1 p.m., Saturday, April 2.

Hazardous household waste is defined as corrosive, flammable, toxic or reactive materials used in your home, car or truck, garden and lawn, such as:

Household Cleaners—Drain openers, oven cleaners, wood/metal cleaners and polishes, toilet bowl cleaners, disinfectants;

Automotive Products—fuel additives, grease/rust solvents, air conditioning refrigerants, starter fluids, auto body putty, antifreeze/coolants, carburetor/fuel injector cleaners;

Lawn/Garden Chemicals—fungicides, herbicides and pesticides;

Home Maintenance Chemicals—oil-based paint, paint thinner, wood preservatives, paint strippers/removers, adhesives;

Miscellaneous—batteries, finger-nail polish remover, pool chemicals, photo processing chemicals, medicines/drugs, reactive compounds (aerosols, compressed gasses), TVs and other electronics, mercury thermometers and thermostats, fluorescent light bulbs, computers and accessories.

No explosive, radioactive, or medical waste materials will be accepted. For more information call 967-1139.

THE VILLAGE IDIOT

by Peter Trenchi

Votecalisation

As we approach that time of year—when, as a child I savagely ripped chocolate ears from a hollow depiction of a rabbit as if I were an emaciated jackal—contemplative behavior is encouraged. Having a robust ability to fidget my way into inattentiveness, I somehow missed precisely what it was we were to contemplate. Our contemplative basis is the Good Friday story of politically motivated murder thinly disguised as a government action. A crowd, with no more self-determination than a school of fish, yells, “Crucify him! We would rather have one more murderer on our streets than this person.” The emaciated jackal of a mob abets the theft of time, by ending the lifetime of their targeted victim.

As the story goes, they did not live to see the actual makings of eternal life promised by this human being who was both revered and feared for being different. Some 2,000 years later, many in our midst, with a similar fear of that which is different, desperately seek shortcuts to this blessed eternity. Religion is the one area of human commerce where one cannot easily prove fraud; well, religion and politics. Perhaps that is why our system of governance presumes to keep the two separate. Perhaps that is why chocolate bunnies are hollow. Too much of a good thing can be sickening.

In the telling of this story, most decent folks find it disturbing that politicians (known then as Scribes and Pharisees) would resort to violence against someone who presents a different viewpoint. These same decent folk are relieved that such is not the case in their lives. Or is it? Robert Kennedy’s assassin was recently denied parole again. In the 1950s, McCarthyism ruined thousands of lives through fear-mongering. Currently, some national politicians encourage supporters to actively and violently suppress persons with differing viewpoints. State-level politicians routinely take similar stances against persons with differing religious beliefs. And, now, local politicians are attempting to wrongly discriminate against school students who have differing gender identity and sexual orientation. Fear-based hatred is the overindulged candy of these leaders. The observer often feels trapped, afraid to take a stand against such blatant bullying, afraid that when the school of fish turns away, they will be left to face the shark alone. The ordinary person is not trained in how to confront the vitriol of hate.

Perhaps they have lost faith in the mechanisms of democracy. Perhaps it is time for them to apply their voice as a vote, as a communication to their elected leaders, as a comfort to those who are being oppressed. Perhaps it is telling that the local school board email mechanism broke down under the load of recent voices. Perhaps the part of our contemplative story where an enemy soldier’s ear was restored means that our voices are to be heard. Before any more time is stolen, may they, by hearing our voices, finally know, “what they are doing.”

Is it a challenge to slow down and listen to your life, to your soul? Do you long for a larger, more purposeful sense of your life?

I invite you take an intentional look at your life’s journey in the private and creative space of spiritual direction.

SCCF Announces Info Sessions for 2016 Grant

In preparation for its 2016 grants cycle, South Cumberland Community Fund (SCCF) invites potential applicants to a series of information sessions to help groups prepare their requests.

All grant applicants must attend one of the information meetings before submitting a proposal. There will be two opportunities: all will take place in the Grundy EMS office in Coalmont, across from the Coalmont Community Center—at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 29, and at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, April 5. The deadline for applications is May 2; final selection of grant recipients will be made by July 31.

The Community Fund was established in 2012 as a collective way for people to support the many nonprofit organizations across the Plateau. SCCF makes grants for projects on the Mountain and provides organizational support to these nonprofit groups, helping them develop stronger administrative structures, clearer missions and integrated strategic plans.

"The Community Fund's grants program is one of the key ways that SCCF helps cultivate leadership and resources across the Plateau," said Margaret Woods, chair of the SCCF board. Since its inception, the Fund has made more than $500,000 in grants to nonprofit organizations in the area. The chair of the 2016 Grants Committee is Bob Willems.

The Community Fund has seven priority areas for its grants: Building Our Sense of Community; Strengthening Our Economy; Developing the Potential of Our Youth; Tapping the Potential of Our Elders; Conserving the Past; Enlarging the Vision of the Future; and Meeting Basic Needs.

medieval Western European culture and literature, feminist studies, sexuality and LGBTQ studies, ecology and ecocriticism, history of cartography, and theories of temporality. Her work, especially "Chaucer's Sexual Poetics" (University of Wisconsin Press, 1990) and "Getting Medieval: Sexualities and Communities, Pre- and Post-modern" (Duke University Press, 1999), made her a powerful voice in Queer Theory, and were instrumental in introducing Queer Theory into Medieval Studies.

Kellie Robertson (University of Maryland) will lead a seminar on "Defining Nature," at 1:30 p.m., Friday, April 1, in University Archives. It will feature papers investigating the boundaries of nature by scholars of various fields. Robertson specializes in the interactions of literature and science in the medieval and the Renaissance; her current book, "Nature Speaks: Medieval Literature and Aristotelian Natural Philosophy" (forthcoming from University of Pennsylvania Press), explores the relationship of late medieval poetry to physics, and the ideations of nature

Finding World War I Ancestors Workshop

The United States waited almost three years before joining the Allied Forces in World War I, but then committed to the war effort in a major way. According to the National Archives, about 2 million Americans served overseas during the conflict, which represented more than one quarter of the country's male population from the ages of 18 to 31.

That means many have ancestors who fought during World War I. An upcoming workshop at the Tennessee State Library and Archives is geared toward helping people learn more about those long-ago relatives.

Gordon Belt, the Library and Archives' director of public services, will lead the workshop from 9:30 a.m. until 11 a.m. on Saturday, April 2. He will use a case study from his own family history to retrace the march of Tennesseans to the war's front lines.

The workshop will be in the Library and Archives auditorium, located at 403 Seventh Avenue North, directly west of the State Capitol building in downtown Nashville.

Although the event is free and open to the public, reservations are required, due to limited seating in the auditorium. To register for the workshop, please visit: <<http://tennesseegreatwar.eventbrite.com>>.

Free parking is available around the Library & Archives building.

Show Support for Electric Linemen

America's electric cooperatives have designated April 11 as National Lineman Appreciation Day. Duck River Electric Membership Corporation (DREMC), will honor the dedicated employees who work to keep the lights on.

"Electric linemen don't always receive the recognition they deserve," said DREMC President/CEO Michael Watson. "They work all hours of the day, often in hazardous conditions, far from their families, going above and beyond to restore power to their communities. Our linemen, as well as linemen from across the nation, truly deserve this special day of recognition."

DREMC members are invited to send cards to our linemen in appreciation for the hard work that they do to keep the lights on. Send cards to DREMC Member Relations Specialist Claire Sellers at P.O. Box 89, Shelbyville, TN 37162. Please put your local DREMC office on the inside of the card. The deadline is March 31. The linemen will open their cards on Lineman Appreciation Day.

A Lineman Appreciation Day Art Contest was held for fourth-graders. Each elementary school in the DREMC service area will have a winner. The art will be displayed in the district offices.

PLANNING ON BURNING BRUSH?

Sewanee Children's Center Offers Summer Day Camp

Sewanee Children's Center (SCC) is offering a full-time option for summer fun in Sewanee for children ages 30 months to 8 years old.

The 10-week adventure begins after Memorial Day on May 31 and runs through Aug. 5, from 7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Located in Claiborne Hall at Otey Parish, the newly renovated Children's Center has a sprawling playground and a beautiful fruit and vegetable garden that will be in full swing by late May. Campers will spend as much time as possible outside playing and exploring the natural world through weekly themes such as "The Wonder of Water," "Mad Science," "Let's Talk to the Animals" and "Build It: Forts and Fairy Houses." Activities will include work in the garden, setting up a market at harvest-time, and walking field trips to area parks and trails.

For more information call Harriet Runkle, SCC director, at 598-5928. SCC is committed to meeting the needs of children and families in this and the broader community. The summer day camp addresses the need for year-round childcare and a fun summer opportunity for toddlers through rising third-graders.

United Way-Franklin County Hosts Father-Daughter Date Night

United Way of Franklin's Father-Daughter Date Night will start at 5 p.m. on Saturday, April 2, at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, 200 Second Ave., NW, in Winchester.

Dinner will be served at 6 p.m., and the last dance will be at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $30 per person, and include dinner, dancing, photo booth, a 5x7 formal photo, and gifts and flowers for the young ladies. Reserved seating is available. Attire is Sunday's best. All ages are welcome. Tickets are on sale at Citizens Community Bank, Sanctified Christian Store on the Square, or through United Way, 962-0103.

SAS History Teacher Earns Holocaust Educator Award

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School history teacher Geoffrey Smith was awarded the 2016 Belz-Lipman Holocaust Educator Award sponsored by the Tennessee Holocaust Commission. The award, established by Memphis entrepreneurs and philanthropists Jack A. Belz and Ira Lipman, recognizes outstanding educators who excel in the teaching of the Holocaust.

In addition to teaching World History I, Smith is currently teaching the history elective "Night Will Fall: Advanced Topics in Holocaust and Genocide Studies." Taking a cue from the documentary film by André Singer, "Night Will Fall," the course examines political and moral lessons from the tragedies of the Holocaust (called the Shoah in Hebrew and French) and the mass killings in Armenia, the Balkans, Rwanda and Darfur.

Students in the course appreciate the importance of hearing a more complete history of the Holocaust. Senior Anna Stapleton, whose family was in Poland during World War II, said that before taking the class she would laugh off jokes friends would make about her family's Jewish heritage.

"Now that I know what happened in the Holocaust, it's just hard to tolerate modern anti-Semitism," Stapleton said. Her classmate Anna Petersen hopes that learning about the Holocaust will help us to keep from making the same mistakes again.

Smith said he believes that asking today's students to grapple with the unsettling events of the Holocaust has implications for the future of American foreign policy, science, medicine, interfaith dialogue, and other contemporary political, social and ethical concerns. He measures the success of his teaching through the decisions his students make in confronting acts of prejudice, intolerance, and discrimination.

He will receive a $1,500 scholarship, which can be used to develop new curriculum, purchase resources and attend trainings that will help further engage their students in the study of the Holocaust.

Smith, a graduate of the University of the South with a B.A. in history, joined the SAS faculty as history teacher in 2014. Smith formerly taught at the All Saints' Academy in Winter Haven, Fla., where he was chair of the history department.

For more information on the award winners, go to the Belz-Lipman Awards film at <<http://bit.ly/1pLn1bi>>. Smith is highlighted at 0:51. Students were also interviewed about their teachers. Go to the student film at <<http://bit.ly/1nOcmLm>>. SAS students are highlighted at 2:43.

Free Tax Prep Assistance

The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program is available for low-income, disabled and elderly persons at Holy Comforter Episcopal Church in Monteagle, noon–5 p.m. on Sundays, and 5–7 p.m. on Tuesdays.

The deadline for filing income tax returns is April 15.

The VITA volunteers have received IRS-approved training and will help taxpayers fill out their returns via computer and file them electronically with the IRS. For more information contact Ben Carstarphen at <carstjb0@sewanee.edu> or (704) 675-1025.

SCA Needs Help With Playground

The Sewanee Civic Association is seeking community volunteers to help with maintenance inspection of the Elliott Park Playground.

The high-frequency inspection is a 5–10 minute visual inspection of three main areas of the playground elements and surfaces. The inspection includes: ensuring the area is litter-free and obstacle-free; ensuring protective surfaces are smooth and that fill levels are intact; ensuring play elements show no unusual wear, no dangling or loose swings, and that equipment is not bent, but stable; and completing the inspection notebook.

High-frequency inspections can vary with the observed level of usage. When there are long, cold or rainy periods, the interval should be every two weeks. In nice weather, the inspection should be done weekly.

Training will be provided as necessary. For more information or to volunteer contact Stephen Burnett by email to <fortheparks@gmail.com>.

Diplomas Available for Veterans

For any World War II, Korean War-era or Vietnam veterans: If you did not receive your high school diploma due to entry into the Armed Forces of the United States, you may now be awarded a high school diploma by your local high school.

Tennessee state law allows for the awarding of high school diplomas to the honorable men and women who stepped forward to serve their country.

Veterans who fall into this category should contact their local school superintendent to register their name and to request the awarding of a high school diploma. If a veteran needs assistance, retired Sergeant Major Larry E. Williams has offered his help; reach him at (931) 924-3000 or (931) 224-3226.

MEET YOUR NEIGHBOR

George Dick

by Kevin Cummings
Messenger Staff Writer

George Dick's parents bought him a backpack for Christmas, and it changed his world. He immediately loaded that pack with a few clothes and left Montreal, bound for Florida.

"After two or three days hitchhiking on the road, I get to Jacksonville Beach, where I met some Sewanee kids staying for Christmas holidays," George recalls as we sit at the Blue Chair in Sewanee.

A first- and final-year fine arts student at John Abbott College in Montreal, George partied with the Sewanee students for a few days before they climbed in the van and took the party down to Key West.

Back in Canada, George's childhood was marked by family fighting, where he was sometimes a peacemaker, the middle child of a younger sister and older brother.

"It was turbulent. The 60s came along, and we were teenagers, and there were a lot of drugs going on," he says. "I'd go to my room and close the door and let them duke it out. I hated that stuff; I still do."

The other kids left home when they were young and his stepdad, an electrical engineer, went to work overseas when George was in his late teens. It was a year where he formed a strong bond with his mom, who was a corporate executive secretary.

After his first road trip to Florida, George returned to Canada to finish classes, but the wanderlust was strong.

"The day I got finished with that semester, I got back on the road and hitchhiked to Sewanee," he says. "That was in April 1973, and that started my love affair with Sewanee; it sure did."

George, now 62, spent the next decade exploring the country, living off and on in Key West, Vancouver and Sewanee, with short stops in places like California, Arizona, Texas and Colorado.

"I was never too afraid when I was hitchhiking — maybe a couple of times. I probably looked scarier than the people who picked me up," he says.

Amy Hanna, a Blue Chair employee, stops to look at pictures of George in his younger days.

"You were so handsome. You look like Jesus," she says. "You were a hottie, George."

"I still am," he replies with a laugh.

During one of his stints in Key West, George had a playful run-in with Tennessee Williams. At Claire's restaurant on Duval Street, George shucked oysters and made burgers, but on this sunny day, he was waiting tables, and the famous playwright was having dinner.

"He was flirty with me. He pinched my butt."

George laughs at the memory, and we talk about how George's own boyfriend handled the flirtation—he thought it was funny. George and that boyfriend at one time ran a Coca-Cola route in the lower bayou area. Romance went along with being a wanderer.

"There was always a romance; you can't travel around the country without that. But the real romance was with Sewanee. That's never ebbed, actually," he says.

George bought his home in Sewanee almost 30 years ago. He started going to Otey Parish when he moved here, and the church is still an integral part of his life.

"My church family and my community family have helped make me who I am these last three decades," he says. "I may have drifted from my own family, so you have to gather family along the way."

Fortunately, George was able to reconnect with his brother after 35 years apart. His brother, a Christian missionary, was living with his family in Taiwan when George visited him before he died from cancer two weeks into George's visit.

"I ended up having to bury my brother and be there for the family," he says. "It was a very traumatic time, but it was a miracle that I got to see my brother. It was such a big gift."

As he sits at the table, there is a flake of green paint under a fingernail of his right hand and green paint on his arm. Painting houses is how George makes a living; some of his Sewanee customers go back 40 years.

"I love painting and the interaction with customers," he says. "I like that they trust me in their home. I feel comfortable going in and they feel comfortable with me being there."

George is a fairly laid-back person and describes himself as curious and dedicated. He also doesn't own a TV, computer or cell phone.

"I have no use for them, and I like to keep my life simple," he says. "I see how it ties people down. It bothers me to no end to see people texting all the time. That's not my business whether they do it or not, but they can leave me out of it."

The yellow T-shirt he is wearing is spattered with paint. His paint-spattered shirts are actually part of a new business venture. "The Blue Sky Collection by George Dick" is made up of his paint-spattered T-shirts, prints and note cards featuring cutouts of his shirts. He's already sold one of the T-shirts.

"Some people have told me my shirts look like Jackson Pollack paintings. This is sort of a natural progression from what I've been doing here all these years," he says. "It's a homegrown idea from my own community, and it's slowly started percolating. I couldn't be more thrilled."

The name of the collection comes from one of his constant traveling companions, Blue Sky, a Sheltie mix who died in 1986.

"So her name lives on," he says. "After all these years, my new business is named after my dog. I love it — Blue Sky lives on."

When the interview is over, George climbs into his dark purple truck with a painting ladder in back. It's a short drive home.

THE INSATIABLE CRITIC

by Elizabeth Ellis

Stars are so overused, and there's nothing on the planet more critical than cats, so one feature each week is rated from one to five Tobys. The more Tobys there are, the better it is!

Sir Toby

The Revenant

7:30 p.m. • Friday–Sunday • March 25–27

2015 • Rated R • 156 minutes

Considering Easter is right around the corner, this story of survival and resurrection—which is quite literally the meaning of the film title—seems very apropos. Leonardo DiCaprio plays Hugh Glass, a frontiersman in the 1800s whom, after being injured by a bear, is left for dead by his hunting party. Glass finds ways to survive, fueled equally by his desire to return to his family and vengeance toward those who abandoned him. Based on the folklore and legends surrounding the true historical character, visionary director Alejandro G. Inarritu spared no expense in capturing a truly authentic experience of survival, sometimes driving for more than 12 hours to film 90 minutes. Filming locations included Canada, Argentina, Mexico and Arizona. What adds to the aesthetic quality of the great, wide wilderness is the director's preference to record entirely in natural light, a choice that has been praised by both critics and audiences alike in creating an authentic and singular viewing experience. Though the making of "The Revenant" garnered many of its own tales of survival amongst the cast and crew, it paid off significantly, sweeping up three Oscars for Best Actor (DiCaprio), Best Director and Best Cinematography. Rated R, the subject matter naturally lends itself to a mature audience, but it is definitely not one to miss seeing on the big screen, despite some intense moments of violence and disturbing scenes of survival.

Hell Town

7:30 p.m. • Wednesday, March 30

2015 • Unrated • 89 minutes

If you're in the mood for an old-fashioned campy slasher flick, this is the film for you. Based somewhere in small town America, this independent feature broken up into a series of three "episodes" is directed by Sewanee alumni Elizabeth Spear and Steve Balderson, who will be present at the screening for a Q&A session afterwards. Featuring plenty of gore, high tension and your selection of high school jocks, cheerleaders and nerds, the film was shot in Balderson's hometown of Wamego, Kan., in just two months last year. While "Hell Town" features plenty of gore to go around, it is essentially a send-up of the horror genre, with characters and situations so over-the-top it never takes itself too seriously. However, due to the sexual references, situations and violence, this feature is definitely for older teens and adults only.

Star Wars Episode VII: The Force Awakens

NOTE SPECIAL TIMES:

7:30 p.m. • Thursday–Saturday, March 31–April 2

2 p.m. • Saturday and Sunday • April 2–3

9:30 p.m. • Sunday, April 3

2015 • Rated PG-13 • 135 minutes

The unstoppable galactic "Force" known as the Star Wars franchise is back, this time with a better plot and new, intriguing characters to enliven old friends like R2-D2 and Chewbacca. Taking place 30 years after the defeat of the Empire, the galaxy is still seeing its share of unrest, as new agents of the Dark Side emerge, calling themselves the First Order (an allusion to Hitler's Nazi Army). Harrison Ford and Carrie Fisher reprise their roles as Han Solo and Princess Leia, separated by sorrow and anger after their son, Ben, turned to the Dark Side to become Kylo Ren and continue his grandfather Darth Vader's evil legacy. Luke Skywalker has gone into exile, and all seems lost until two very different characters cross paths on the desolate desert planet Jakku: a loveable droid called BB-8 carrying a critical piece of information to Luke's whereabouts, and Rey (Daisy Ridley), a scavenger and mechanic barely scraping by. Joined by Finn (John Boyega), a Storm Trooper gone rogue, this trio may be able to pull the galaxy from the brink of desolation. J.J. Abrams, a self-professed "fan boy" of Star Wars, directs the latest installment of this space epic with high-paced action balanced with witty and meaningful dialogue, making it a treat visually and cerebrally. Abrams opted to steer clear of glutting the screen with computer-generated graphics (for instance building a real, remote-controlled BB-8 robot), creating a sense of authenticity to the original trilogy. There are plenty of "Easter Egg" references sprinkled throughout to satisfy the most die-hard of fans, but it is accessible enough so the uninitiated can follow along without the context of the previous films. Though rated PG-13 for violence, the film remains enjoyable for families of young children, as well as adults. The zeal of newcomers Boyega and Ridley ushers in a new era for this most venerable of American sci-fi film series.

Jeremy Denk

Pianist Jeremy Denk in Concert

Jeremy Denk has established himself as one of America's most thought-provoking, multifaceted and compelling artists.

The winner of a 2013 MacArthur Genius Fellowship, the 2014 Avery Fisher Prize, and Musical America's 2014 Instrumentalist of the Year award, Denk will perform in Sewanee at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, April 7, in Guerry Auditorium. The concert is part of the University's Performing Arts Series.

Denk has appeared as soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic, the Philadelphia Orchestra and the symphony orchestras of Boston, Chicago, San Francisco and London. The Washington Post observes that he is "one of the most interesting pianists around," and he is also known for his original and insightful writing on music, which has appeared in the New Yorker, the New Republic and New York Times Book Review.

In the past year, Denk launched a four-season tenure as an artistic partner of the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra; made his debuts with the Cleveland Orchestra and the New York Philharmonic; appeared as a soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic and San Francisco Symphony; and performed Bach concertos with the Academy of St. Martin-in-the-Fields in London.

Performing Arts Series tickets are $25 for adults, $20 for seniors, $10 for students, and are available at the door. Sewanee students, faculty and staff are admitted free with an ID.

Trails & Trilliums Invites Student Artists

The 2016 Trails and Trilliums student art exhibition invites student artists in grades pre-kindergarten through eighth grade to participate in the event.

This year's theme is "Natural Wonders of the South Cumberland Plateau."

Finished work is due the first week of April. Trails and Trilliums will provide heavy multimedia paper for each young artist. The paper is suitable for all wet and dry materials.

The student art exhibition will be held in conjunction with the children's choir concert on April 15 in the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly Auditorium. A reception honoring student artists, performers and their families will be held immediately after the concert.

For more information or for classroom paper packs or individual paper, contact Christi Teasley at <ctesley@sasweb.org> or (931) 636-0251.

Trails and Trilliums is an annual three-day festival, April 15-17, featuring guided hikes on many of the South Cumberland's most scenic trails, programs and workshops, a native plant sale and the works of guest artists participating in "Art for the Park." Proceeds from the event benefit Friends of the South Cumberland.

The Trails and Trilliums children's choir opens the weekend by performing a concert of traditional southern mountain music.

For more information go to <trailsandtrilliums.org>.

Perpetual Motion March 31–April 2

Perpetual Motion is a student-led performing dance company started in 1989 designed to give students an opportunity to perform for the Sewanee community in many forms and styles of dance.

Perpetual Motion's 2016 performances will be at 7 p.m., Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 31–April 2, in Guerry Auditorium, and will feature 21 pieces of original student choreography, with styles ranging from Afro-Caribbean to Irish to ballroom.

Performances will include more than 60 university student dancers and dancers from St. Andrew's-Sewanee School. The public is invited, and the three nights of performances are free.

Lehman Leaving SSMF, Appointed Bowdoin Festival Director

Katherine Lehman, director of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival (SSMF) and instructor in music at the University of the South, has announced her plans to leave Sewanee this spring to become the executive director of the Bowdoin International Music Festival in Brunswick, Maine.

Evelyn Loehrlein, assistant director for operations and admissions for SSMF, will take on the role of acting director this summer to guide the 2016 Festival through its 60th anniversary celebrations.

Loehrlein has worked with Lehman the past three years and is grateful for the opportunity to have served with her.

"During my years with the Festival, I have seen lives transformed by the Sewanee experience. It is an honor to work in this expanded capacity with the Artistic Advisory Committee—Paul York, Patricia George and Chad Burrow—and the rest of our dedicated artist-faculty, and all my friends at the University of the South," Loehrlein said.

The outgoing director has been a member of Sewanee's Music Department since 1995 and has chaired the Sewanee Performing Arts Series since 2006. In 2010, Lehman assumed directorship of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival. Indicative of Sewanee's collaborative spirit, Lehman developed the Artistic Advisory Committee of dedicated SSMF faculty to provide artistic guidance for the program.

Patricia George, who has taught flute at the Festival since 1998 and first met Lehman 17 years ago, said, "I treasure the hours we spent developing the curriculum and exploring recruiting strategies."

The Bowdoin festival began in 1964. It operates independently of Bowdoin College, but uses its classrooms and performance spaces.

MIT Tops Tigers in Lacrosse

A quick start pushed visiting Massachusetts Institute of Technology to a 17-5 win over the Sewanee women's lacrosse team on March 21. The Engineers jumped out to a 13-3 lead by halftime and then outscored the Tigers 4-2 in the final 30 minutes. Sewanee led, 1-0, when freshman Meredith Sackett scored an unassisted goal with less than two minutes off the clock.

After six straight MIT goals, freshman Catherine Crigler netted a goal from Molly Elkins that cut the Engineers' lead to 6-2.

MIT responded with four straight goals, which pushed its lead to 10-2. Elkins then scored a goal with 9:08 left in the first half. The Engineers then closed the half on a 3-0 run.

The final two Tigers goals, both in the second half, came from senior Katie Riddle and Sackett.

Overall, MIT led in draws and shots. Sewanee did manage to have more ground balls.

Individually, Sackett led Sewanee with two goals, three shots, three draws and two ground balls. Additionally, Crigler added a goal, five ground balls and two caused turnovers.

Sewanee returns to action with a noon match on April 2 against Sweet Briar.

Sewanee Lacrosse Nets Goal Record with 27

The Sewanee men's lacrosse team scored early and often on March 19, as the Tigers set a new school record for most goals in a single game in a 27-1 win over Oglethorpe at home. The previous record was set in 2011 when Sewanee defeated Millsaps 26-2 on April 10. Sewanee scored seven goals in the first, 11 in the second, five in the third and four in the fourth.

Leading the offense was Tyler Calnan, Hayden Hunt, Tal Wharton, George Pratt, Conley Street, Pat DiMento, Robbie Berndt and Jimmy Parker, who all scored two goals. Additionally, Cotter Brown, Peter Brown, David Kasten, Hayden Byrd, Matt McJunkin, Brooks Young, Will Pratt, Tristan Robinson, Thomas Lynde, Ian Marr and Bryce Womack all added a goal.

Overall, Sewanee dominated the statistics, which included a new school-record 85 shots, 27 faceoff wins, and 67 ground balls. The Tigers also forced Oglethorpe into 32 turnovers. The Tigers return to action at Millsaps today (Friday), March 25.

Mountain Goat Trail Run & Walk is April 2

Runners and walkers can test their mettle or just have fun on April 2 in the third annual Mountain Goat Trail Run and Walk.

Prizes will be awarded for the fastest men's and women's finisher, and for best runner or walker costume. There will also be drawings for outdoor gear after the race.

The five-mile run will begin at 10 a.m. in downtown Sewanee; a two-mile walk will begin at 10 a.m. at Pearl's Foggy Mountain Café. Both will finish at Mountain Outfitters in Monteagle.

The event is co-sponsored by Mountain Outfitters and the Mountain Goat Trail Alliance. Additional sponsors include Road ID, Mountain Medical Clinic, The North Face, Salewa, CamelBak, Swiftwick Socks and Kavu.

Registration is $15 for students. For non-students, the fee is $25 for early registration or $30 the day of the race. Registration forms are available at Mountain Outfitters, Woody's Bicycles and online at <mountaingoattrail.org>.

For more information call Mountain Outfitters at (931) 924-4100 or email <outfitters@gmail.com> or <info@mountaingoattrail.org>.

Rachel Hoffman

Hoffman Named Player of the Week

Sewanee softball player Rachel Hoffman has been named the Southern Athletic Association Softball Player of the Week.

Hoffman led Sewanee to its best week in years, as the Tigers posted a 5-2 record with wins over Trinity (D.C.), Christendom and Sweet Briar.

Hoffman finished with a .583 average and had a .643 on-base percentage and slugged .833. She had six doubles, 14 hits, 10 runs and 10 RBIs.

Additionally, Sewanee set a new school and conference record for runs and doubles in a game in the 34-22 win on March 19 at Sweet Briar.

Dear Sewanee Community,

It is with conflicting emotions that I anticipate closing Julia's on March 31st.

In the last year or so, I have given thought to embarking on a new career—a new path, if you will. One path would have taken me to an advanced degree program in occupational therapy. In the midst of my thinking, the opportunity arose to apply for the position of manager at Stirling's Coffeehouse. Pending its hiring review process, I have accepted the University's offer to begin on April 1st.

Aware that I have catering through the end of May, the University has generously granted me permission to fulfill those commitments.

Had I returned to university, I would have missed two things that have brought me great joy over the last 20 years: working with food and working with this the wonderful Sewanee community. If all goes well, I now can continue to do both.

I want to thank everyone who has supported me through my journey—especially my clients and customers over the years. I hope you will continue that support in the years ahead.

With sincere love and gratitude,
Julia

Sport Notes

Shackelford Victorious

Sadie Shackelford of Sewanee earned a win with her doubles partner on March 19, as the seventh-ranked Middlebury College women's tennis team prevailed 7-2 over No. 8-ranked Wesleyan College.

Middlebury junior Lily Bondy (Brooklyn, N.Y.) and Shackelford, a senior, gave the host team a 2-1 lead via a 9-7 triumph against Victoria Yu and Nicole McCann.

Trail Run for MARC

A 3.8-mile or 7.6-mile trail run on the Little Cedar Mountain Trail, Nickajack/TVA Road in Jasper, will start at 8 a.m. on Saturday, April 9, and will benefit the Marion Animal Resource Connection (MARC). Registration begins at 7:15 a.m.

Tickets are $25; register at <www.active.com>. Local sponsors for the event include Tower Community Bank, Tenacity Fitness, Jim Oliver's Smoke House, Mountain Outfitters, Maximum Fitness and several other businesses and individuals. For more information call Barry Allen at (615) 788-1888.

Sewanee Riding Camps

The Sewanee equestrian program will host four separate riding camps this summer. Each camp is $400 per week and includes horse boarding. The camps, open to ages 6 to 18, will take place June 13-17; June 20-24; July 5-9; and July 11-15. For more information, email <kmgordy@sewanee.edu>.

The Sewanee women's golf team.

Women's Golf Moves to Fourth in Country

After winning the prestigious Jekyll Island Women's Collegiate, the Sewanee women's golf team moved up to fourth place in the latest Golfstat.com rankings.

The Tigers were previously ranked seventh before finishing ahead of 14 other nationally ranked teams in Georgia.

Wittenberg continues to be the top-ranked team in the nation, while Southern Athletic Association rival Rhodes is second. George Fox is ranked third, while Williams rounds out the top five behind Sewanee.

Overall, Sewanee is 22-3-0 head-to-head against top 25 teams.

Individually, Sewanee placed five student-athletes in the top 100. Senior Emily Javadi leads the way with a No. 7 national ranking. The Chattanooga native continues to rank first in the region.

Javadi has finished no worse than second place in four fall tournaments. She tied for medalist honors at the Dan Quayle Collegiate Classic, MCC Women's Intercollegiate and the Jekyll Island Women's Collegiate.

Along with Javadi, senior Alison Eleey (50th), along with freshmen Meghan Symonds (68th), Sophia Morrill (72nd) and Sarah Battye (95th) are also ranked, respectively.

13 Tigers named to the IHSA All-Academic Team

After doing well in the arena, the Sewanee equestrian team showed its strength in the classroom as 13 riders were recently named to the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association All-Academic Team.

To qualify, riders had to show in at least two IHSA Regional events and have the qualifying grade point average.

Abigail Bray, Megan Hopson, April Kosakoff, and Lindsay Stevenson were all honored with IHSA All-Academic First-Team honors (3.8 GPA or higher).

Additionally, Margaret Dupree, Leslie Goodman, Iris Harrison, Aelin Hill, Megan Hopson, Rosemary McMaster, Kathryn Miller, Sophie Streiwieser and Caroline White were all members of the IHSA All-Academic Second-Team (3.5 GPA or higher).

SAS Middle Track and Field Opens Season

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee middle school track and field team traveled to Girls Preparatory School in Chattanooga on March 21 to open their season against GPS, McCallie, East Lake and Heritage Middle School.

Seventh-graders Sarah Grace Burns (Sewanee) and Caroline Hiers (Sewanee) made a strong showing for SAS in the 100-meter hurdles against tough competition. Hiers earned a second-place finish, and Burns took a close third.

Sarah Beth Hobby, an eighth-grader from South Pittsburg, jumped to third place in the long jump with a distance of 12 feet, 7 inches, and ran in the 800m run with a time of 2 minutes, 56 seconds, earning second place in that event.

First-time competitors on the SAS team, Riley Burnette (Monteagle), Noah Mendlewski (Sewanee) and Elijah Seavey (Monteagle), also did well in their debut.

The Mountain Lions' next meet is April 2 at the University School of Nashville.

Sewanee Softball Sets Run Record, Wins Five Games

The Sewanee softball team set a new school and conference record for runs scored, as the Tigers outlasted Sweet Briar 34-22 on March 19 in Virginia. The win was the Tigers' fifth straight, which improved Sewanee's record to 5-11 overall.

Along with a new record for runs scored, Sewanee also set new marks for doubles in a game, RBIs and total walks. In fact, both teams combined for 56 runs, which was four away from tying the all-time NCAA Division III total of 60 runs scored in a game.

After being down 8-0 after two innings, Sewanee did not quit. The Tigers scored four runs in the third and three in the fourth. Sewanee followed with nine runs in each of the next three innings.

Individually, Rachel Hoffman led the offense, going an incredible 5-for-7 with three RBIs and five runs scored. She, along with Charley Shirey and Caroline Holmes, all had two doubles on the day. Shirey finished 2-for-4 with four RBIs, four walks and four runs scored.

Holmes added four hits, five RBIs, five runs scored and two drawn walks.

Additionally, Courtney Saunders set a new school record for RBIs in a game, with seven. Saunders had four hits and also scored two runs.

Finally, Katie Roth, Emily Taylor and Miranda Townsend each had two RBIs, while Sara Burklin finished with three hits, three RBIs and a run scored.

First baseman Kayla Dooms led Sweet Briar with five hits and eight RBIs.

Sewanee scored an incredible 77 runs and won five games on its spring break trip. The Tigers' next home series is a three-game set April 2-3 against Birmingham-Southern College.

Saguaro Cactus

Recently we were in the Sonoran Desert in the Tucson area. The saguaro cactus is everywhere, even growing up the sides of hills and mountains to the top, and it only grows here in the U.S. and in one other state, California. A female digger bee pollinates the ratany.

We were not so fortunate to see “aspect dominance,” when the whole desert bursts into colorful bloom, but the brittlebush, a characteristic shrub, is covered with yellow flowers. The Sonoran Desert is the most species-rich North American desert. Creosote bush is the most prevalent plant and provides the iconic smell that precedes rain.

Another typical plant is the palo verde, with chlorophyll in the green bark, allowing it to photosynthesize without leaves in desert conditions. The Ocotillo flowers this time of year, independent of rainfall amounts, providing a reliable source of nectar in its red flowers for hummingbirds, of which there are more species here than any other area of the United States. At the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum we saw them building nests and an Anna’s hummingbird feeding a just-hatched chick. We also saw a Gila woodpecker entering the hole in the saguaro where it nests and numerous cactus wrens, our largest wren.

We also had the privilege of visiting the Desert Station Preserve with Bob Smith. Sewanee residents may remember him from his visits on several occasions, once with his donkey, Catalana (who is in good health and spirits). In addition to glorious vistas, we did see some desert color from Arroyo Lupine (blue), Globe Mallow (orange), Arizona Poppy (orange-yellow) and a few true California Poppies (bright yellow), among others.

An especially interesting shrub was also in flower (red-purple), the ratany or purple Heather (not a true heather). It is unique in producing oil rather than nectar to attract pollinators, and only a certain one has the special adaptation to “squeeze” the oil produced on modified petals.

Eastern Red Cedar

In the Sewanee area we are familiar with the eastern red cedar, more properly called juniper, a native evergreen growing in old fields, along roadsides and in other disturbed areas, or wherever it is spread from seed by birds.

It also grows in special habitats known as cedar barrens. Where we have been traveling in the West, there are other species of juniper that, though also native, are posing problems. Near Austin, Texas, Ashe juniper becomes overgrown in ranches and vital watersheds, pumping water out of the soil through evapotranspiration that is needed for other purposes. Control by fire, as would be natural, is less feasible, as human dwellings take over much of the surrounding area.

Near Bend, Ore., there is a similar situation with Western juniper. The population and area covered have increased significantly in the last several decades, out-competing other plants for scarce water resources and contributing to greater fire hazards.

Roark’s Cove Walk is April 3

The Sewanee Herbarium will offer an easy-to-moderate walk on private property at the base of the plateau in Roark’s Cove at 2 p.m. on Sunday, April 3. Yolande Gottfried will lead the excursion.

Wildflower species not commonly seen on the upper plateau, such as Virginia bluebells (Mertensia virginica) and possibly shooting stars (Dodecatheon meadia), as well as trilliums and many others, should be blooming.

Meet at the Sewanee tennis court parking lot on Green’s View Road (behind the Sewanee Inn) to carpool or caravan. For more information on this or other Herbarium events, contact Gottfried at (931) 598-3346 or <ygottfri@sewanee.edu>.

Peaches (right) and Bojangles

Pets of the Week

Meet Peaches and Bojangles

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Peaches and Bojangles are as thick as thieves, and these two will steal your heart. They are a tag team at winning new friends. First Bojangles “attacks” you with face rubs and purrs, while Peaches hangs back and observes. Once you have been wrapped around his paw, they switch it up on you, and Peaches will gently lean against you and allow you to give her all of your petting and head scratches.

Together they are an unstoppable force, so you may as well accept it and come on in to adopt your two new furry family members. Peaches and Bojangles are negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and altered.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets over 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is now in its new shelter at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information, and check out their other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Please help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Generator Safety Tips

As we prepare for spring storm and tornado season, it is a good time to review the basics of portable generator safety. Sequachee Valley Electric Cooperative and Safe Electricity have the following tips to use generators safely. Contact a qualified vendor or electrician to help you determine what generator is best-suited to your needs.

- If you are installing a permanent generator, it must have a transfer switch. The transfer switch prevents energy from leaving your generator and going back into power lines where it could harm a lineman, a process known as “back-feed.” A qualified electrician should install your generator and transfer switch.
- If you have a portable generator, operate it outdoors in an area with plenty of ventilation. Never run a generator in a home or garage. Generators give off deadly carbon monoxide.

- Do not plug a generator into the wall, and be sure the generator is turned off and cool before fueling it.

- Turn off or disconnect all appliances and lights before you begin operating the portable generator. Once the generator is running, turn your appliances and lights on one at a time to avoid overloading the unit. Remember, generators are for temporary usage; prioritize your needs.

- Generators pose electrical risks, especially when operated in wet conditions. Use a generator only when necessary when the weather creates wet or moist conditions. Protect the generator by operating it under an open, canopy-like structure on a dry surface where water cannot form puddles or drain under it. Always ensure that your hands are dry before touching the generator.

HEARING HEALTH NEWS
 by Debbie Gamache,
 M.S. CCC-A Audiologist
Hearing Aids and Hearing Ads

You can't avoid them these days—Newspaper and mail advertisements offering hearing aids at "discount prices." With all the choices today, it can be confusing. What's the right style for you, what does "digital" really mean, where should you get hearing aids and how much should they cost? Your most important decision is where to receive your hearing healthcare. Good hearing healthcare includes:

1. A complete audiological evaluation of your hearing loss and hearing needs.
2. A comprehensive review of available hearing aids by style, technology, and cost.
3. Follow up visits to ensure that you're hearing as well as possible.
4. An explanation of other sources of help, such as assistive listening devices for telephone, movies or television.
5. Regular hearing check-ups to monitor your hearing and your hearing aids.

Remember, you're not just choosing hearing aids; you're choosing your hearing healthcare provider. We value the confidence you place in us at Debbie Gamache's The Hearing Center LLC. Call us at 931-393-2051. We are located at 705 NW Atlantic St. Suite B, Tullahoma. You can visit our website at <www.thehearingcenterllc.com>.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Lord, who createdst man in wealth and store,
Though foolishly he lost the same,
Decaying more and more,
Till he became
Most poore:
With thee
O let me rise
As larks, harmoniously,
And sing this day thy victories:
Then shall the fall further the flight in me.

My tender age in sorrow did beginne
And still with sicknesses and shame.
Thou didst so punish sinne,
That I became
Most thinne.
With thee
Let me combine,
And feel thy victorie:
For, if I imp my wing on thine,
Affliction shall advance the flight in me.

— "Easter Wings" by George Herbert from "The Temple" (1633)
