Ian Prunty to Receive Service Award

At the 5 p.m., Wednesday, April 16, Sewanee Civic Association meeting, Ian Prunty will receive the Summa Cum Laude for Community Service Award for his service and work on the Mountain Goat Trail. While in high school, Prunty worked on the first section of the trail.

Prunty and others started the trail through a grant from the Tennessee Department of Transportation. The funding was found through state transportation funds that were "iced," meaning the funds had to be spent on alternative transportation projects or if left unused, the money went back to Washington.

"The idea to start came from discussions with a number of locals about the state of the Mountain Goat and the opportunity to improve its condition," said Prunty.

"This project was in no way tied to my Eagle Scout work. Someone actually suggested the idea to me during Earth Day at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School.

"The critical driver in the whole process was then county mayor Monty Adams, who took time out of his busy schedule to answer the request of someone who was too young to even vote for him. Louise Irwin was also a constant advocate for the project through her position as a county commissioner. Once funding was secured, we raised matching funds locally, as this was a condition for the grant being awarded."

Prunty said he is glad to hear efforts to expand the trail are moving forward. "When working on the trail, one person encouraged me through a Margaret Mead quote: 'Never doubt the ability of a small group of people to change the world, indeed it's the only thing that ever has.' The great work of the current Mountain Goat Trail Alliance continues to prove that statement true."

Ian currently serves as an account executive for Arlington-based software provider Opower, which partners with utilities around the world with the aim of reducing residential energy consumption.

Prior to joining Opower, Ian served in the administration of former Tennessee Governor Phil Bredesen, where he worked on rural development initiatives and assisted in the state's recruitment of international investment.

Ian holds a BA in Political Science and Asian Studies from DePaul University and an MBA from Vanderbilt University. He is a member of St. Ann's parish in East Nashville, where he serves on the church's finance committee.

Ian is the son of Wyatt and Barbara Prunty of Sewanee.

Spring Cleanup April 19

Plan to come out and help make Sewanee sparkle during a community-wide cleanup, 9-11 a.m., Saturday, April 19. Groups and organizations are encouraged to pick an area of the community to clean up or contact organizers to be assigned to an area.

The Sewanee Civic Association has selected the big rock on the right of Highway 41-A on the way to Cowan as its area. SCA members will clean up the trash around the small parking lot and along some of the roadway.

Garbage bags will be available for participants at the Angel Park and in front of the University Book and Supply Store on April 19.

County workers will be notified where groups have cleaned and will pick up the bags of garbage on Monday, April 21.

For more information contact Pamela Byerly, 598-5957.

Downtown, Retirement Planning Updates for Trustees & Community

The future of Sewanee's downtown area and the prospect of a retirement community were the primary items on the agenda at the April 3 town meeting of the University's Trustee Community Relations Committee at the St. Mark's Community Center. Also discussed were plans for a community cleanup day and the issue of paying a "living wage" to University employees.

Leslie Newman, chairwoman of the committee, recognized the Trustees in attendance and then asked everyone in the meeting to introduce themselves.

Frank Gladu, vice president for administrative services at the University, reviewed the history of downtown planning in Sewanee. He described how the consultants at Project for Public Spaces helped with vision planning for the area. Now, Gladu said, the University is working with an architectural firm that has been holding community workshops for conversation about next steps.

"We've been meeting with people from the Community Council, the Sewanee Business Alliance and groups on campus," Gladu said. The next step will be development of an action plan with short-term, medium-range and long-term projects. Housing in the downtown area is among the interests of the University.

The traffic circle (or "roundabout") planned for the intersection of Highway 41-A and University Avenue is proceeding with the Tennessee Department of Transportation.

"I hope we'll start seeing surveyors in the area soon," he said. TDOT has told Gladu that it has the funds available for the construction of the project. Gladu re-emphasized that the roundabout will not require the movement or closure of any buildings at the intersection. Gladu offered to answer questions from any individual who had concerns about the plans.

Sewanee resident and University trustee Louis Rice spoke on behalf of the Sewanee Business Alliance and offered thanks to Gladu and to the University for their support of local businesses.

In response to a question from a community member, Gladu said that parking in the downtown area is one of the issues being addressed by the ongoing planning, as well as walkways, lighting and the potential of additional streets.

Gladu then turned to the issue of a proposed retirement community in Sewanee. ProMatura, a consulting company hired by the University, surveyed a sample of alumni, area residents, and community members about their interest in a retirement community.

"The point of the survey was to learn, 'Is there really a demand for this?'" Gladu said, because the University will need to attract a developer to invest, build and operate such a community. The survey had a 14.7 percent

Trails & Trilliums Festival April 11-13

The 11th "perennial" Trails & Trilliums festival, April 11-13 at the picturesque Monteagle Sunday School Assembly, attracts hikers, gardeners, art lovers, families and all who enjoy an outdoor festival for a worthy cause — the Friends of South Cumberland. More than 60 top artists and vendors will highlight Art for the Park. Guided hikes, music, great food, vendors, workshops, slide programs and children's activities fill out the three-day schedule.

Trails & Trilliums is the main fund-raiser for the Friends of South Cumberland State Park, with proceeds going to protect our unique parklands and to inspire the next generation who will inherit them.

The weekend kicks off Friday evening at 6 p.m. with the Art for the Park Preview Party, a cocktail buffet at the Assembly dining hall and gardens. The event provides first choice for purchase of the selected works in the exhibition. Tickets are still available. Contact Dede Clements, (931) 924-4000, to RSVP.

Saturday and Sunday, the festival continues all day. General admission is $10 but free for children and the adults with them who are attending kids' events Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., including the Teddy Bear Picnic at noon. For $20, attendees receive general admission plus access to all the hikes, programs and workshops for the weekend. Sunday-only admission is $10. Register for events upon arrival. Those who want to hit the trails will find more than 15 options with van transportation provided. Excellent programs are offered, including gardening with native plants, taking top nature photos with your cell phone, Tagalong with Teddy Roosevelt history walks, a slide presentation of the biodiversity of the Plateau by Mary Priestley and more.

The Wine & Wildflowers reception is Saturday from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Assembly Auditorium. Tickets are $10 and may be purchased at the door. No RSVP is necessary. Harry Yeatman will be remembered with a video presentation when the Yeatman Environmental Education Awards are presented to outstanding environmental teachers Cindy Potter and Wanda Bell. The University of the South will be presented with the Trails & Trilliums Tribute Award. The premier Teddy Roosevelt repressor in America, Joe Wiegand, will present a program entitled "A Salute to Conservation and State Parks." The evening includes wine, hors d'oeuvres and live music.

For the full schedule, go to <www.trailsandtrilliums.org>.

At Trails & Trilliums, Art for the Park features more than 60 artists and vendors with high-end homemade crafts all day Saturday and Sunday. All proceeds support the Friends of South Cumberland.

FARMARBOR UPDATE

To the Editor:

I wanted everyone to know how things stand on the renovation of the vegetable arbor at the University Farm. We have raised $7,125 of the $8,760 needed to complete the project.

No work can begin until all the funds are raised.

I am grateful to everyone who has made contributions and hope that others can help us restore this special place.

To make a gift, send it to Gift Records, University of the South, 735 University Ave., Sewanee TN 37383. Please note that the gift is for the Farm Gazebo. Thank you.

FINN IS RETURNED

To the Editor:

How lucky we are to have such a great police department in Sewanee. They met me at the "pound" and cheerfully returned Finn the gallivanting Husky to us. Thanks also to all you kind people that called when they had any information, sightings or concerns.

Dee and Stephen Eichler

WHAT CAN I DO?

To the Editor:

We have recently read "Dispelling Wetiko: Breaking the Curse of Evil" by Paul Levy, which was recommended to us by a trusted friend. It has affected both of us deeply. We wish you would read it, too. It is available in soft cover and also for Kindle and other reading devices. It doesn't cost very much.

Many of you know us and how deeply we are committed to our communities, both local and the wider "human community." For most of our lives we have been looking for a way to further the action toward conscious positive change in an effective way, against what seems a truly unbeatable situation, accelerating now toward what seems a fairly certain catastrophic social and biological breakdown of "civilization" as we have known it. "What can I do?" seemed a question with no pragmatic answer.

Levy's book, based on his own experiences and deep spirituality, seem to us a roadmap, a place to start to affect the current situation starting with ourselves.

RAILS TO TRAILS FUN RUN

To the Editor:

This past Saturday was an amazing example of the supportive and fun community in which we live. More than 200 runners and walkers (plus a hardy group of dogs!) wound their way from Sewanee to Monteagle to support our cause.

I want to thank Mountain Outfitters for hosting such a fantastic event and for all of the hard work it took to make this day happen. David, Marjorie and Haynes Burnette spent countless hours organizing. The result was delightful. A sunny day, a long walk or run, a warm greeting, delicious food, fun prizes and great music were just a few of the ways this day came together to benefit the Mountain Goat Trail.

Donations were made by Woody's Bicycles, Pearl's, Mountain Outfitters, Edgeworth Inn, Blue Chair Tavern, Julia's and Crossroads Cafe. Are we lucky or what?

To all who participated ... thank you. We are thankful for your support.

Janice Thomas
President, Mountain Goat Trail Alliance

HUMANE SOCIETY

THANK YOU

To the Editor:

The Franklin County Humane Society would like to thank the women of the Alpha Tau Zeta sorority for organizing a wonderful fund-raiser for Animal Harbor yesterday. We are grateful to all of the volunteers from several different student groups, to the event sponsors—Woody's Bicycles and Joseph's Remodeling Solutions—and to the community for coming out to participate and enjoy the fun activities.

The pets from Animal Harbor who attended (George, Butterscotch, Celie, Junior and Gingersnap) had a great time getting so much attention. Each month we are a little closer to getting a new shelter to house the cats and dogs waiting for new homes. Thank you all for a lovely afternoon and for your continued support!

Sewanee Police Report

On April 5 the manager of Crust restaurant in Sewanee arrived at the building at approximately 9:40 a.m. and found glass broken out of the rear door of the business, according to Marie Eldridge, Sewanee Police Chief. The manager called Sewanee Police, and an officer came to the scene and checked the building.

After surveying the scene, SPD reports describe that in addition to the broken glass in the rear door, the lock was cut off from the office door inside. The restaurant's surveillance camera wires had been disconnected, so there is no video of the burglary.

Approximately $700 in cash was taken from the restaurant, Eldridge said.

The investigation into this case is continuing. If anyone has information regarding it, please contact the Sewanee Police Department at 598-1111.

Upcoming Meetings

Coffee with the Coach on Monday

Coffee with the Coach, an opportunity to learn more about Sewanee's sports teams, will meet at 9 a.m., Monday, April 14, with track and cross country coach Jeff Heitzenrater. Jeff will provide an update on his teams as they prepare for the conference meets. Gather at the Blue Chair Tavern for free coffee and good conversation.

Sewanee Woman's Club

The Sewanee Woman's Club will meet on Monday, April 14, at the DuBose Conference Center in Monteagle. Dixon Myers will talk about the history and work of the All Saints' Chapel outreach office.

The April menu will be green salad, fancy grilled cheese sandwich, a cup of tomato soup and brownie with ice cream. There is an optional social time at 11:30 a.m. Lunch ($12) is served at noon.

Yes on 1 Information Meeting April 14

Tennessee Right to Life/Yes on 1 will have an informational meeting at 6 p.m., Monday, April 14, in the Franklin County Annex Community Room, 855 Dinah Shore Blvd., Winchester.

On Nov. 4, Tennesseans will have the opportunity to vote on a proposed amendment that adds a new section to Article I of the Constitution of Tennessee to read: "Nothing in this Constitution secures or protects a right to abortion or requires the funding of an abortion. The people retain the right through their elected state representatives and state senators to enact, amend or repeal statutes regarding abortion, including, but not limited to, circumstances of pregnancy resulting from rape or incest or when necessary to save the life of the mother."

Yes on 1 is a community-based outreach effort to raise awareness about this proposed constitutional amendment.

For more information contact Yolande Gottfried at 598-5327 or <ygottfri@sewanee.edu>.

Rotary Club Meetings

The Grundy County Rotary Club meets at 11:30 a.m., Tuesdays, at Dutch Maid Bakery in Tracy City.

The Monteagle/Sewanee Rotary Club meets at the Smoke House Restaurant in Monteagle on Wednesday mornings. Coffee begins at 6:50 a.m. with breakfast and the meeting beginning at 7 a.m. and ending by 8 a.m. On Wednesday, April 16, "Rotary's Campaign to Eradicate Polio: The Final Push" will be the focus.

The Monteagle/Sewanee Rotary Club also hosts a noon lunch hour meeting on Thursday at the Blue Chair Tavern in Sewanee. On April 17, the same theme—"Rotary's Campaign to Eradicate Polio: The Final Push" will be presented. The public is welcome.

Civic Association Will Meet April 16

The final meeting of the Easter semester for the Sewanee Civic Association (SCA) will be on Wednesday, April 16, at the EQB House.

The program will be the presentation of the 31st annual Person of the Year Award and the community service award.

Social time with wine begins at 5 p.m., and dinner follows at 5:30 p.m. The business meeting begins promptly at 6 p.m., followed by a brief program. [Please note that the meeting will begin an hour earlier so guests can attend the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School Spring Concert at 7 p.m. that evening.]

The program portion of the evening is free and open to the public. Dinner is available for $12 per person.

The business portion of the meeting will include the election of officers for 2014-15, the 2014-15 budget, and discussion of amendments to the bylaws. The SCA is also seeking nominations for the 2014-15 Community Chest stewards.

Registration Due for Community Yard Sale

The 2014 Sewanee Community-Wide Yard Sale will be 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday, April 26. Registration is required; the deadline is Wednesday, April 16.

This annual event, sponsored by the Sewanee Community Center, brings together people who are having sales to share publicity and advertising. Participants can either have a sale at their home or join with others at the Community Center. All participants will be listed on the official map and will be in the advertising that appears in area newspapers. There is a $15 fee to be part of the event, which covers advertising, maps and yard signs.

For folks who don't have many items for sale or would rather be in a larger group, they can reserve space inside the center. And if weather permits, additional space will be available outside on the basketball court.

To participate, contact Rachel Petropoulos by email at <rpetropo@sewanee.edu>.

Cemetery Cleanup

Monteagle Cemetery will have its biannual cleanup day at 8 a.m. on Saturday, April 19. For more information, contact Kay Ramsey at <maggiesmom54@gmail.com>.

Sewanee Woman's Book Club Meeting

The Book Club will have its next meeting at 1:30 p.m. on Monday, April 21. Please note that the meeting location for April has been changed to the home of Geri Childress, where Theresa Shackelford will be reviewing "At Home" by Bill Bryson.

For more information or directions email Debbie Racka <deb-bie811@comcast.net> or contact Flournoy Rogers at 598-0733 or email <fsrogers@wildblue.net>. Visitors are always welcome!

Community Council Meeting

The Community Council will meet at 7 p.m., Monday, April 21, in the Senior Citizens' Center.

Fourth of July Planning

In both Monteagle and Sewanee, planning for the Fourth of July is beginning.

Sewanee's Fourth of July planning committee invites volunteers from across the community to help plan this year's celebration. The group will begin its regular meetings on Tuesday, April 15. All meetings will begin at 5:30 p.m., in the Sewanee Senior Center. Future meetings will be on May 20, June 3, June 10, June 17, June 24 and July 1. This is a great way to make new friends, give back to the community, and help with this great Sewanee tradition.

The Town of Monteagle announces plans for its Annual Fourth of July Parade. Lineup will be at 9 a.m., Friday, July 4, with the parade beginning at 10 a.m. This year's theme is "Hats off to America."

Local musicians and food vendors interested in participating in the Monteagle events may call (931) 924-5353 or email <mmtncchamber@blomand.net>.

SAS Spring Concert on April 16

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee middle school and upper school choirs and the Chamber Ensemble will offer a spring concert at 7 p.m., Wednesday, April 16, in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts.

The choirs will perform a variety of pop standards and show tunes. The Chamber Ensemble will perform classical pieces. Musical instruction and performance at SAS are under the direction of Katherine Anderson.

Raised Bed Program and Tour

The University of Tennessee (UT) Extension Office in Coalmont offers an opportunity to learn more about raised bed gardening.

On Monday, April 21, a group will travel to the UT Education Center in Crossville for an educational program and tour of the facility. Cost is $20 per person with transportation provided, or $15 per person to drive separately.

The agenda includes a stop for lunch (not included in the price) in Sparta. A minimum of 10 people is required before this trip will be complete. Full payment is required by Thursday, April 17.

Please contact the UT Extension Office at (931) 592-3971 or email Extension agent Craig Kimbro, <ckimbro@utk.edu>, for information.

response rate, considered very good by ProMatura. "We learned that there is demand for about 77 units per year," Gladu said. This number confirmed that there is demand for this idea. He said independent and assisted living are likely to be part of any Phase I development; nursing/skilled care and dementia care would be considered later. "We are talking to developers and operators now to gauge their interest in our project," he said.

Community Council member Pam Byerly announced the Sewanee cleanup event scheduled for Saturday, April 19. Garbage bags will be provided and the county will pick up all the trash on the following Monday. (See page 1 for more details.)

The Rev. Joe Porter of Sewanee raised the issue of paying a living wage to University employees. He reminded the group that the General Convention of the Episcopal Church had passed a resolution in 1994 that all of its institutions and affiliates pay a living wage. Porter said he hoped the University would follow this directive.

"We are way behind in how we take care of the foundational employees of this place, the hourly employees," Porter said. "They see all these capital projects going on around campus, and they feel that they are at the bottom of the priority list." Porter praised Vice-Chancellor John McCardell and his administration for the many good things it has accomplished. However, he said, "This is a Gospel issue, and I want to see if we can't do what we are called to do as Christians."

Donna Pierce, University counsel, offered a response to Porter, describing how the University had made substantial progress in this area in the last four years. While the federal minimum wage is currently $7.25 per hour, the University's minimum wage is $9.15 per hour for regular employees.

"The University is very concerned about these issues," Pierce said. "And we are concerned about compensation as a whole. An additional one-third of an individual's compensation goes toward benefits." She described the University's direct payment to employee retirement plans and the 60 percent of health insurance premiums paid by the University, as well as the disability, sick and family leave provided.

McCardell also spoke in response to Porter's concerns. "In our strategic plan, improving compensation is one of our highest priorities," he said. "We haven't made as much progress as we'd like, but we continue with this commitment."

Steve Burnett, a Trustee and member of the Sewanee Civic Association, gave an update to the group about SCA's work on parks and playgrounds. He described how the Phil White Dog Park offered an opportunity for the University and SCA to establish model guidelines about collaborative park projects and their governance.

After surveying the community about its interests and concerns, he and committee co-chair Emily Puckette determined that the first park to be addressed is Elliott Park, adjacent to the University Book Store. Following that, the parks/playgrounds where attention will be focused are the Sewanee Community Center, Woodlands, the soccer and baseball park, and St. Mark's Center.

Burnett also reported that the Sewanee Community Chest is only $1,450 short of its goal for the year.

After the meeting was adjourned, participants shared a picnic at the Angel Park and the American Legion Hall.

Saturday Hours at duPont to Change April 12

Due to popular demand, Saturday hours at duPont Library will change from 9 a.m.–6 p.m. to new hours, 12–9 p.m.

Typically, the library does not begin to fill up with patrons (students and community members alike) until after lunchtime. These new hours will accommodate those who need later hours for quiet study and research on the weekend.

This change will go into effect Saturday, April 12, and will continue through the remainder of the academic year. During the summer, response to the new hours will be re-evaluated, though most likely, the new hours will continue when the new school year begins in August.

Animal Alliance Reaches New Milestone

In March Animal Alliance-South Cumberland (AASC) spayed or neutered 102 animals on the Mountain. AASC began its animal sterilization transport program in 2008 and has completed 2,604 surgeries since then.

"What AASC has done is save people on the mountain thousands of dollars in spay and neuter costs," said AASC president Kathy Bouldin, "not to mention saving the health and welfare of all those animals."

"You can help AASC celebrate this new month's milestone with a thank-you gift of $10 or more," said Bouldin, "or you could donate your time to our organization. The need for AASC's work will not end, although that would be our ultimate wish—that there be no unwanted puppies or kittens anywhere—but that will take a lot more work from us, and more money, so help if you can."

Visit AASC's website at <www.animalalliance.com> or send donations to AASC, P.O. Box 627, Tracy City, TN 37387, or call (931) 235-9006 for more information.

Spring Plant Sale Set

The Laurel Lake Garden Club of Monteagle is hosting a Spring Plant Sale from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, April 26, at the Monteagle Pavilion behind Monteagle City Hall.

"The plants are from our gardens," said garden club member Bunny Woods, "so we know they will do well here." All proceeds will benefit Harton Garden Park. For more information call Bunny Woods at (931) 924-2520.

The Town of Monteagle, Monteagle Community Center and local businesses will host the first annual Monteagle Easter Egg Hunt, at 10 a.m. tomorrow, Saturday, April 12, at Harton Park in Monteagle. All are welcome.

Winchester Easter Egg Hunt

WZYX Radio will host its third annual Easter Egg Hunt on Saturday, April 12, at the Winchester City Park. This event is free and open to children age 12 and under. More than 1,000 children are expected to participate this year.

This is a huge undertaking, and WZYX needs community support such as gifts and candy to stuff in the 12,000 eggs. For more information call 967-7471 or 967-7472.

May Justus Bake Sale

May Justus Memorial Library is having a bake sale from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Friday, April 18, at the Piggly Wiggly in Monteagle.

Any donations of home-baked goods for the sale would be appreciated. For more information call Debbie Layne at (931) 924-2740.

SCCF Benefit Auction

Monteagle Inn owners Lee and Jim Harmon will host an auction to benefit the South Cumberland Community Fund (SCCF) on Saturday, April 26. Online bidding will open a week before the event. With an emphasis on items of hospitality such as special group dinners and packages for bed-and-breakfast stays around the state, the auction promises to offer items attractive to those from the area and beyond. Tickets are $10 per person.

Friends of the Library Features Stoney

Friends of the Library of Sewanee: The University of the South invites you to attend a lecture by Dr. William S. Stoney, C'50. The Friends meeting will be held at 4:30 p.m. on Thursday, April 24 in the Torian Room in the duPont Library.

Dr. Stoney has a long and distinguished career as a cardiac surgeon and will talk about his journey in the cardiovascular field of medicine. He graduated from The University of the South in 1950 and then completed medical school at Vanderbilt University in 1954. He was in private practice for many years at St. Thomas Hospital in Nashville.

Dr. Stoney's book, "Pioneers of Cardiac Surgery," is a fascinating overview of the history of cardiac surgery. Heart operations today are quite common and relatively low-risk, but in the beginning it was just the opposite. Cardiac operations were reserved for desperately ill patients. Dr. Stoney documents this dramatic transition with profiles of 38 surgeons who were active between 1940 and 1985. The profiles are edited transcripts of interviews videotaped between 1996 and 2004. They tell of the development of new techniques such as the "blue baby operation," the first heart-lung machine, the first artificial heart valve, and the first coronary bypass operation. A particularly valuable part of the book is the author's brief history of cardiac surgery, designed to orient the reader for reading the profiles that follow.

A reception will follow the talk.

Pianist Jeremy Denk in Concert

Jeremy Denk has established himself as one of America's most thought-provoking, multi-faceted and compelling pianists. He is the recipient of the 2014 Avery Fisher Award, a 2013 MacArthur "genius" fellowship, and has been named Musical America's 2014 Instrumentalist of the Year. His visit to Sewanee next week will include two public events, a Performing Arts Series concert on April 15 and "A Conversation with Jeremy Denk" on April 16.

Denk will perform at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, April 15, in Guerry Auditorium as part of the University of the South's Performing Arts Series. Denk's program will feature works by Schubert and Janacek in the first half, followed by Schumann's "Carnival."

"A Conversation with Jeremy Denk," co-sponsored by Performing Arts and the School of Letters, will be held at 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, April 16, in Gailor Auditorium. Everyone is invited to join Denk as he speaks with John Gatta, dean of the College, and Cesar Leal, conductor of the Sewanee Symphony Orchestra, about topics including his blog, "Think Denk," his upcoming opera (Mozart, Haydn, and Beethoven are playing Scrabble...), and his thoughts on our musical future. A reception will follow.

Tickets for the April 15 concert are $25 for adults, $20 for seniors, $10 for students. More information is available at <performingarts.sewanee.edu/>.

During the second week of Sewanee Elementary's Friday School, students participated in the "Let's Get Crafty" class.

Sustainable Agriculture

Josh Slotnick will share his poetry and give a talk on sustainable agriculture and the student farm movement.

Slotnick is a lecturer in environmental studies at the University of Montana. He is a co-founder of the nonprofit Garden City Harvest and the PEAS Farm, a partnership between UM environmental studies and Garden City Harvest.

He will read some of his work from "Home Farm" at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, April 16, at the GreenHouse on Alabama Avenue.

On Thursday, April 17 Slotnick will give a talk at 4:30 p.m. on the Spencer Quad, weather permitting. The rain location will be the Mary C. Cushman Room in Bairnwick Women's Center.

Stirling's Coffee House is exhibiting a selection of photographs from Chandler Sowden called "On the Verge."

Sowden's photographs, taken during a three-year period between sophomore and senior year of college, seek to explore, what she calls a "temporary reality" found during this time. Sowden feels she is "on the way to leaving behind [her] college experience." This forces us to leave "behind something we are supposed to live through but not continue with," but "photographs allow us to continue with what we lived through."

Sowden is a senior at the University. She is pursuing a major in anthropology and studies documentary photography. "On the Verge" is a culmination of a large portion of her documentary photographic work while studying here at Sewanee. Currently, along with professor Pradip Malde and sophomore Brooke Irvine, she collaborates on Viewfinder—a photographic and discussion-based effort to build resilience and start conversations in communities—in Cange, Haiti.

Stirling's will have a reception to honor the artist from 4 to 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, April 24. Refreshments will be served.

"On the Verge"

Theatre/Sewanee will present "On the Verge," a comedy by Eric Overmyer, at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday through Saturday, April 23-26, with a 2 p.m. Sunday matinee on April 27 in the Tennessee Williams Center. Admission is free.

The play is directed by senior theatre major Beckett Scott with scenery and lighting by senior theatre major Andy Philpo and costumes by senior history major Derek Williams. Mary Morrison is the production stage manager with John Marshall as technical director.

In "On the Verge," three Victorian lady explorers, played by Elise Anderson, Sarah High, and Pagie Wilson, set out on an adventure that takes them to darkest Africa, highest Himalaya and Terra Incognita where they encounter a number of fascinating chimera and alarming characters, all played by Hyatt Pyle and Cody Snead. Heroines to their heart, the explorers can accommodate themselves to any emergency, natural or man-made.

Spring Concert Announced

The Sewanee Chorale and the Sewanee Symphony, under the direction of Gary Sturgis and César Leal, will perform a joint concert at 7:30 p.m., Friday, April 25, in Guerry Auditorium.

The Symphony and the Chorale have been an ongoing part of Sewanee's rich musical history for years and are a dedicated group of talented musicians on the mountain.

This concert will feature the sounds of Broadway. Save the date and plan on enjoying a free evening out to some first-class musical entertainment.

Monteagle Mountain Market

The Monteagle Mountain Chamber of Commerce is looking for art, craft and food vendors for the 55th Annual Monteagle Mountain Market for Arts & Crafts, set for July 26 and 27. All crafts and artwork must be handmade and the application will go through a jury process. For more information call (931) 924-5353 or e-mail <mmtn-chamber@blomand.net>. Applications can be found online at <www.monteaglechamber.com/2014a&c.pdf>.

LIKETO WATCH

by Kiki Beavers

For my second annual 49th and holding birthday, I bought myself a present. Sure Mr. Beavers could have gone down the aisle to choose any DVD TV series set and I would have liked it. I just saved him the trouble of having to decide what I wanted to watch.

My gift to myself was the DVD set of "China Beach." "China Beach" aired from 1988 to 1991. This series told the stories of doctors, nurses, soldiers, USO workers, Red Cross volunteers and the people that lived in Vietnam. While very similar in theme to the great TV series "M*A*S*H," the stories in "China Beach" mainly focused on women and their role in taking care of others.

When this show first aired, Ben and I lived in a split-level house in Knoxville with the beginnings of a family that included two dogs and one cat. On Wednesday nights, we would eat dinner in front of the TV and watch this show. The characters were endearing despite the horrible, terrible things they had to go through. Storylines included everything from "Dear John" letters, death, heroin use and abortion. They also included friendships, births and the ever present "just looking for a patch of peace."

There were some well-known actors on this show. Dana Delany was Nurse Coleen McMurphy, too busy taking care of everyone that she did not have time to care of herself. Michael Boatman was Samuel Beckett, assigned to the graves registry unit to take care of "his men." Brian Wimmer co-starred as Boonie, an Army corporal with too many unseen scars, escaping to run the JetSet Club at night and life-guarding on the beach during the day. Marg Helgenberger played K.C., doing whatever it takes to make a buck. Jeff Kober played Sergeant Dodger Wilson, a soldier that has seen too much but continues to go out on missions to ensure the safety of his men.

I got back together in the lives of these old, albeit imaginary friends living in my fifth and probably last house with my family that includes two children, three dogs, and two cats. I popped in my birthday DVD, saw the opening scene, listened to Diana Ross and the Supremes sing "Reflections," and went way back in time.

It is a Wednesday and I am home from my job, going to work in my garden, and then sitting on the couch to watch my show.

These characters and their images replay in my mind's eye. I find comfort being with them. I know their stories and where life on the TV set is going to take them. I know the good and the bad that is going to happen to them in that world. Their lives are intertwined with mine. This part of that friendship remains a constant.

Reuniting with old friends has been a common theme recently in my life. Last weekend I celebrated with some old friends during the grand reopening of Shenanigans, which happened to coincide with a friend's engagement party. George brought a box containing photos—15 years of images of all of us being together. Snapshots of friends at birthday parties, random acts of silliness, celebrating, dancing, singing and laughing. We gathered around the L-Bar and went way back in time.

There is a picture of Stacey posing in her Mrs. Claus suit from a Christmas party. She is now a doctor. Jett is dancing with a joy and abandon that only comes from being young and not worried about any one thing. She is happily married now, but dealing with some bad news about her mom's health. In Jennifer's photo, she is shyly sitting next to a boy. They are going to be married in September. Katherine is singing with her arms outstretched towards the ceiling. She gave birth to her first child on Sunday.

As the newest owner of the Club, Nelson hangs up some of these images on the cooler, including his from a 1999 concert, the old friends laughed and joked and reminisced. We bought each other a round of beer and ate each other's French fries. We talked of books, work and babies. Mostly we talked of where we used to be and more importantly where we are going. As we sang out loud to Elton John's "Rocket Man," it did not matter that we know the bad and we know the good about each and everyone of us. This was a reminder to keep friends close.

Mitchell's photo goes back up on the wall, arms around two of his buddies with a smile that could light up all of Mississippi. I can almost hear him say, "We love those who know the worst of us and don't turn their faces away (Walker Percy)." Then the conversation around the L-Bar picks up right where we left off.

Watching these sets of friends have a place in my life is something I like. Time and distance do not matter; these people will always be part of my family. They make me happy.

"Anonymous People"

"The Anonymous People," a feature-length documentary film about Americans living in long-term recovery from alcohol and other drug addiction, will be shown at 6 p.m. on Saturday, April 12, and at 3 p.m. on Sunday, April 13, at Mountain Works, 1045 W. Main St., Monteagle. Admission is free.

The moving story of "The Anonymous People" is told through the faces and voices of citizens, leaders, volunteers, corporate executives, public figures and celebrities who are coming forward in hope of saving the lives of others in similar circumstances.

Deeply entrenched social stigma has kept recovery voices silent and faces hidden for decades. The vacuum left is filled with stereotypical depictions of people with addictions that perpetuate ignorance about what can be preventable and treatable health conditions.

The grass-roots social justice movement that is emerging for people in recovery, as it did for women with breast cancer and for people with HIV/AIDS, is being made possible by courageous addiction recovery advocates who are speaking up to end discrimination and move toward recovery-based solutions.

This passionate new public recovery movement aims to transform public opinion, engage communities and elected officials, and finally shift problematic policy toward lasting solutions.

AT THE MOVIES

Cinema Guild

Wednesday, April 16, 7:30 p.m.

Jesus Christ Superstar

Unrated • 108 minutes

The Andrew Lloyd Webber/Tim Rice Broadway collaboration gets the Hollywood treatment from director Norman Jewison. In this version, a traveling troupe performs the rock opera in the Israeli desert. It tells of the final six days of Jesus Christ through the eyes of Judas Iscariot. Critic Roger Ebert said "The premise of the movie is that Christ was the first superstar—the first man with a hyperthyroid charisma. The ordinary people around him begin to get a little worried after a while; they like him and don't want him to get in trouble with the Romans. Most worried of all is Judas, who advises Christ to maintain a low profile." Parents are cautioned as there is violence (the Crucifixion, hanging), profanity and smoking. I will be the one in the back singing along.

SEWANEE UNION THEATRE

Thursday–Sunday April 17–20, 7:30 p.m.

Saving Mr. Banks

Rated PG-13 • 92 minutes

Starring Emma Thompson and Tom Hanks, this movie is the untold story of bringing "Mary Poppins" to life. Thompson as author P.L. Travers reflects on her childhood with an alcoholic father, as Walt Disney (Hanks) tries to woo her for 20 years to adapt "Mary Poppins" for the screen. Only when Disney opens up to Travers about his own childhood does she agree to grant him the film rights. Go see it to relive the magic that is Disney, but stay for the portrayal by Colin Farrell as the father. Man, he is good.

Rated PG-13 for thematic elements including some unsettling images.

Rogers and Toomey Recognized for Letters About Literature

Each year in the eighth grade, St. Andrew's-Sewanee students participate in the Letters About Literature contest sponsored by Humanities Tennessee. The assignment invites students to write a letter to the author of a book that has left a significant impression on the reader and has changed the way that he or she sees the world.

This year, two SAS students were recognized with Honorable Mention: Genevieve Rogers, for her letter to Rainbow Rowell, author of "Fangirl," and Ryan Toomey, for his letter to J. R. R. Tolkien, author of "The Hobbit."

These students' compositions will advance to the next round for state judging.

Genevieve is the daughter of Clayton Rogers and Linda Heck of Sewanee. Ryan Toomey is the son of Mitch and Sarah Toomey of Monteagle.

Monteagle Elementary Make-up Days

Monteagle Elementary School (MES) still has one day to make up due to bad weather during January and February. The school was closed an extra day for repairs from flood damage.

The decision was made to add 30 minutes onto each school day for 14 consecutive school days to make up for the seven-hour school day missed.

Beginning April 7, students are staying until 3:20 p.m. each school day until April 25.

On Monday, April 28, the regular departure time of 2:30 will resume.

There will be no classes for MES students on Good Friday, April 18.

Astronomy Students Spot "Lost" Comet

After a cloudy start to the semester, the skies finally cleared in Sewanee, and professor Doug Durig's astronomy students took advantage of the change to complete observations of asteroids, comets and Near Earth Objects (NEOs).

The most important observation was the recovery of the lost comet P/2008 J2, also called periodic Comet Beshore. This comet was discovered in May 2008 but had not been observed yet during this orbit. It was apparently in an unusually bright outburst when it was discovered in 2008; the object Durig and his students observed was more than 100 times dimmer than predicted.

The comet has made a trip to the outer solar system and is returning for a rendezvous with the sun in August 2014. When the Minor Planet Center was alerted to the Sewanee observations, it contacted professional observers at Mount Lemmon Observatory outside Tucson, Ariz., who reviewed images taken in January to find previous images of the comet when it was even dimmer.

The discovery was announced as a Central Bureau Electronic Telegram, and its corrected orbit was published. The students involved with the observations were Meg Lebow, Fletcher North, Alex Kops and Barrett Goodson. Durig and his students previously have found fragments of other known comets and regularly confirm the cometary appearance of other newly discovered objects.

The recent observations produced six publications, five co-authored by students. Eighteen of the 21 current astronomy students were involved with the publication of the bimonthly "Observations and Orbits of Comets," published as a Minor Planet Electronic Circular.

Three new NEOs were also observed. The observations from Sewanee helped determine the initial orbits for the new objects 2014 DV22, 2014 DE23, and 2014 AB55. Two of these three observations also had student co-authors in Minor Planet Electronic Circular: Britta Carlson and Carlyn Augustine on MPEC 2014 D55; and Enze Gong, Kops and Goodson on MPEC 2014 E02.

None of these objects comes close to Earth, the closest being 2014 DE23 at 6 million kilometers (or 20 times the moon's average distance).

Pearl Harbor Survivor Speaks at Area Schools

Pearl Harbor survivor Durward Swanson spoke to the eighth grade humanities class at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School and the fifth grade at Sewanee Elementary School this week. Swanson was a staff sergeant in charge of military police at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack. By the Battle of Midway he had been promoted to tech sergeant and was a radio operator on a B-17E.

The SES students recently completed a social studies unit on World War II. Ms. Pond's class at SAS did research on Pearl Harbor prior to Mr. Swanson's visit so that they would have thoughtful questions prepared.

Jeremy Rios Awarded Fulbright Grant

Jeremy Rios, a senior Russian major from Philadelphia, Pa., has been selected for a 2014-15 Fulbright Award for an English teaching assistantship in Andorra. He will represent the U.S. as a cultural ambassador while overseas, helping to enhance mutual understanding between Americans and the people in Andorra.

Selection for the Fulbright Student Program emphasizes leadership potential, academic and professional excellence, and commitment to mutual understanding.

Three other seniors and a recent alumna were named Fulbright finalists earlier this year and are awaiting notification. Recipients of the awards will continue to be notified over the course of the spring.

The Fulbright Program is the flagship international educational exchange program sponsored by the U.S. government and is designed to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries.

Sewanee Physics Major Wins Prestigious Goldwater Scholarship

Sewanee sophomore physics major Taylor Morris has been named as a 2014 Goldwater Scholar. The 283 Goldwater Scholars were selected on the basis of academic merit from a field of 1,166 mathematics, science and engineering students nominated by the faculties of colleges and universities nationwide.

As part of his application, Morris proposed an innovative spectroscopic study of exoplanets to be carried out using the telescopes in the Cordell-Lorentz Observatory under the mentorship of Douglas Durig, chair of the physics department and director of the observatory. This project builds on work he has carried out with Durig during the past year, which has already led to presentations at regional and national meetings such as the American Astronomical Society and the Tennessee Academy of Science, where his work was awarded first place in the physics posters category.

In addition to his major in physics, Morris has wide and varied interests. He plans to pursue minors in mathematics, chemistry and film studies. These interests are also apparent in his diverse career as a researcher.

As an alumnus of the Sewanee Bridge Program, Morris was invited to join professor Nancy Berner's laboratory in the summer prior to his matriculation at Sewanee. Working with Berner, Morris has investigated the seasonal acclimation of the Eastern red-spotted newt using a variety of biological and biochemical techniques. His work with Berner was recognized for excellence at the 2103 Scholarship Sewanee poster session, winning a McCrady prize. This summer, as part of a National Science Foundation Research Experiences for Undergraduates program, he will participate in a theoretical physics project under the guidance of David Chernoff at Cornell University.

Sewanee Faculty Tapped for New Duties

Betsy Sandlin, associate professor of Spanish, and Jon Evans, assistant provost for environmental stewardship and sustainability, have recently been tapped for additional responsibilities away from Sewanee, in addition to their roles here. Sandlin was named director of the Associated Colleges of the South (ACS) Summer Teaching and Learning Workshop. Evans has been appointed as a science advisor for an Open Space Institute (OSI) initiative focused on wildlife adaptation to climate change.

Sandlin will begin as director of the summer program this coming July. She attended the Summer Teaching and Learning Workshop as a participant in 2005 and has served as a facilitator at the workshop for eight years. This intensive one-week experience is for faculty at all ACS colleges interested in honing their teaching practices and sharing ideas with colleagues from different institutions and disciplines. Each summer approximately 30 faculty members at all stages of their careers participate in "microteaching" workshops and plenary sessions. The workshop has been running continuously for more than 20 years.

Sixteen national liberal arts colleges and universities—including Sewanee—across 12 southern states make up the Associated Colleges of the South.

Evans will be working with OSI's Resilient Landscapes Initiative, which was launched last year in the Northeast and now is extending into the Southeast with a focus on potential land protection projects in nine southern states. Evans will join other scientists as they offer their expertise in the science screening of these lands, helping to identify the places that provide the greatest climatic options for the greatest number of species.

The initiative helps decision-makers ensure that the places they conserve today will support a diversity of plants and animals tomorrow, within the context of a changing climate. It was launched with a grant from The Doris Duke Charitable Foundation.

A leader in environmental conservation, the OSI was founded in 1974 to protect significant landscapes in New York State, and has now been a partner in the protection of nearly 2.2 million acres across North America.

Track and Field Opens with a Bang

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee track and field team is off to a great start this season. On April 1 the team opened their season at home with a victory over Franklin County and South Pittsburg on the girls' side, and a victory over South Pittsburg by the boys' team, narrowly missing the overall win by just a few points. On April 5 the team traveled to McCallie School for the Mid-South Classic meet, which boasted an attendance of 26 different schools.

At each meet there were several standouts. Sarah Beavers achieved personal records at both of the first two meets in shot put and at the home meet, she won both the shot put and discus. James Beasley had a standout performance at the McCallie meet by breaking the school record in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles, placing sixth out of 28 hurdlers.

Several middle school athletes participated in the April 1 home meet, showing that they were willing and able to compete against high school students. Ty Klekotta had a standout performance in the 100-meter high hurdles, coming in third. Ben Mathews threw down the gauntlet for all future middle school runners by establishing a 400-meter school record on the boys' side. Sarah Beth Hobby showed her competitive spirit by establishing middle school records in both the 300-meter hurdles and the triple jump, as well as obliterating the 1600 record and winning first overall in that event.

SAS Varsity Soccer Update

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee varsity boys' soccer team welcomed Friendship Christian on April 3 for its second district match of the season. Both teams possessed the ball well and ended the first half in a deadlock. In the second half Friendship Christian scored off a cross and added another late in the half. The game ended with a loss, 2-0.

On April 5 the Mountain Lions hosted Grace Christian in a non-district matchup. SAS came out strong and dominated possession. The breakthrough came midway through the first half when Sam Smith made a buccaneering run down the right flank before firing home a powerful shot. Not long into the second half, Takumi Morozumi added another goal when he cut inside to his favored left foot and buried the ball in the back of the net. The goals continued to pour in for SAS. Andrew Heitzenrater beat the defensive line and placed it by the keeper before Smith added two more to make him the hat-trick hero. The game ended with a win, 5-0.

SAS Tennis News

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee varsity boys' and girls' tennis teams opened the season on a positive note on March 28 with shutout wins against region opponent Mt. Juliet Christian Academy. On the girls' side, Katja Sievert, Mason Goodson, Julia Cammack, Lucy Howick and Kelly Hsu all won their singles and doubles matches. In addition, Fey Shen and Stella Qin won exhibition matches. On the boys' side, Joshua Bramwell-Butcher, Yudong Yin, Licheng Shen, Ronnie Zhang and Jason Shao earned both singles and doubles wins. The next day, SAS boys and girls topped Zion Christian Academy by forfeit. SAS teams met a challenge against a sound Tullahoma High School team. The girls and boys both dropped that match 1-6. Despite the loss, strong play was seen from the No. 1 boys' doubles team of Till Liesner and Joshua Bramwell-Butcher, who battled to a 9-8, 6-4 win, and from No. 5 girls' singles player Kelly Hsu, who shut out her opponent 8-0.

On April 1, SAS hosted rival Webb-Bell Buckle. The boy's team was unable to put together points for the win, losing 0-7. The girls' team began the match with excellent doubles play, winning both No. 1 (Sievert/Goodson) and No. 2 (Cammack/Howick) doubles. In singles matches, Goodson (No. 2), Cammack (No. 3) and Hsu (No. 5) each added one to the win column to secure the 5-2 victory. Shen earned exhibition wins at No. 6 singles and No. 3 doubles with Hsu.

SAS faced Webb Knoxville on April 3 and lost, 0-7, against this more experienced team. SAS closed out the week against Donelson Christian Academy on April 4. The boys' team lost 0-7, but saw outstanding effort from Liesner at No. 1 singles, who took his opponent to three sets, and from girls' player Cammack at No. 3 singles, who battled in an extremely close match to finally defeat her opponent 7-6, 9-7, 6-2. The boys' record is 2-4, and the girls are 3-3.

Baseball Loses to Webb

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee baseball team fell to Webb-Bell Buckle by a score of 7-3 on April 8. Losing pitcher Casey Willis pitched five strong innings, allowing five hits while striking out six. After retiring the side to start the contest, SAS missed a chance to take the lead in their half of the first inning, as Levi Higgins led off with a double but was left stranded as opposing pitcher Bravson Popp struck out the next three Mountain Lions. Webb took a 1-0 lead in the second inning with a one-out single, and a stolen base by Rio Russell was followed by an RBI single by Deion Nickson. SAS countered with a single run in the third inning as again, Levi Higgins tripled with two outs and scored on a wild pitch to tie the contest at 1-1.

Webb scored five runs in the fourth inning, as they tallied four hits to go along with two SAS errors to gain a comfortable lead of 5-1. Webb added another run in the fifth to extend the lead to 6-1 before SAS mounted a rally in their half of the fifth inning. Jake Berman lined a pitch to left field to reach base. JR Clay followed with a solid double down the left-field line to put runners at second and third. After one out, Pablo Ramos hit a sacrifice fly to right field to cut the score to 6-2. Higgins walked with two outs and on a steal attempt, an errant throw by the opposing catcher allowed Clay to score and Higgins to advance to third to make the score 6-3. Christian Hanger then coaxed a walk before Willis was retired on a long fly to center field.

Sam Thomas relieved Willis as pitcher and allowed a single unearned run in the sixth inning. SAS did not go quietly as Blaise Zeitler was hit by a pitch in the seventh inning but was left stranded as the contest ended.

26th Annual Rotary Golf Tournament

The Monteagle/Sewanee Rotary Club and Citizens State Bank announce the 26th Annual Golf Tournament will be held on Friday, May 2, at the Course at the University of the South in Sewanee.

This is the club's major fund-raiser to provide scholarships to Grundy County students, offering two one-time awards of $1,000 to Grundy County students at the schools of their choice. The proceeds will also continue building an endowed scholarship at the University of the South to help support a student from Grundy County through his or her four years at the University.

Tournament participants in the four-person scramble will enjoy a barbeque lunch provided by Phat Boy's BBQ and beverages courtesy of the Blue Chair Tavern. There is a chance to make a hole-in-one on hole three to win a 2014 Chevrolet Cruze from Russell Barnett Chevrolet. Registration and lunch begin at 11:30 a.m., with a shotgun start at 1 p.m. Proper golf attire is required.

TigerSharks Set Dates

Pre-swim starts April 14 and runs through May 15, Monday–Thursday. These are not swimming lessons but pre-season practice for team members. Registration begins on April 14 at the Fowler Center.

Rookies meet 3:15–4 p.m. (Must be able to swim at least 15 feet on their own and swim freestyle and backstroke.) This class is for beginning swimmers, not a learn-how-to-swim class. Primary ages are 4–7 years. Cost is $160.

Silver meets 4–4:45 p.m. (Can swim a length of the pool easily.) Teaching will focus on learning butterfly and breaststroke and conditioning to increase strength. Primary ages are 5–10 years. Cost is $160.

Gold meets 4:45–6 p.m. Focus will be on training and further stroke development. Primary ages are 7–18 years. Cost is $130.

The TigerSharks summer swim team will practice May 19–July 12. This program is designed to be a developmental progression for a competitive swimmer, ages 4–18. There will be five swim meets during the summer and a championship meet on July 12.

Practice times: May 19–May 30, to be announced; June 2–July 11, Silver (ages 4–10): 8–9 a.m., emphasis on teaching swimming skills; Gold (ages 9–18): 9–10:40 a.m., emphasis on swim training.

The cost is $175 for the first child in the family and $145 for each additional child. Evening practices are offered 5–6 p.m., Monday through Wednesday. (Must be able to swim three strokes, one length each.)

Summer swim lessons will be held at the Fowler Center June 2–12 and June 15–26. Specific times, levels and costs will be announced soon.

Sewanee Takes Command of SAA Standings

Led by Michael Morris, the Sewanee men's lacrosse team took command of the Southern Athletic Association (SAA) standings with an impressive 15-7 win over rival Berry on April 5.

For the second straight match, Morris tied his career high with six goals on 11 shots. Morris now has 29 goals and 30 assists on the season.

In a rematch of the 2013 SAA Championship, Sewanee took an early lead as Morris and Reed Daniel put the Tigers ahead 2-1 at the end of the first period.

In the second, Berry would take its only lead of the contest as Bryan Byers scored, which gave the Vikings a 3-2 advantage.

Sewanee would rally from there. After Morris tied the match, Tyler Calnan pushed the Tigers back in front with a shot, with 11:41 left in the first half.

Cotter Brown, Morris, Baylor Koch and Davis Brown followed with goals to close out the second period.

Ahead 8-4 to start the third, Sewanee took control with three straight scores. Davis and Cotter Brown again found the back of the net and then Morris scored with 8:11 left.

After two Berry goals, Koch closed the period with an unassisted goal with 43 seconds remaining.

The Tigers then closed the match, as Morris and Hayden Byrd helped Sewanee outscore Berry 3-1 in the fourth.

As a team the Tigers outshot the Vikings, 42-29. Sewanee also finished with an advantage in ground balls and face-offs.

Along with Morris, Cotter Brown, Davis Brown, and Koch all finished with two goals. Additionally, Hal Smith won 15-of-23 face-offs while Jake Rubenstein finished with two caused turnovers and two ground balls.

In goal Tommy Healy continued to play well. Healy made a season-high 15 saves for his third straight victory.

Nelson and Emerson Led the Way at Hilltop Twilight Classic

Led by a new school-record throw by Amy Nelson, the Sewanee track and field teams wrapped up the Hilltop Twilight Classic on April 5.

Nelson's third toss of 40.67m in the women's hammer throw set the record and gave her a second-place finish behind Alexis Guice of Millsaps. Nelson also finished sixth in the discus. Nelson's first throw of 32.38m was her best.

In the women's 1500 meters, Caroline Brooks finished fourth with a time of 5:17.11. Caroline Roberts finished second in the 3000 steeplechase with a mark of 12:30.34.

In the men's events Cortez Brown finished third, just ahead of Josh Hirakawa in the 100 meters. In the 800 meters, Amiel Emerson improved on his time with a third-place finish. Emerson's time of 1:57.87 is now the second fastest among all SAA runners this season.

In the men's 1500 meters, Alec Hill placed fourth with a time of 4:22.63, while Thomas Walters finished fourth in the pole vault (3.65m).

Sewanee Wins at Transy

Behind a strong offense, the Sewanee women's lacrosse team earned an 18-8 win at Transylvania on April 6.

The Tigers now have four straight contests and have not lost since their match at Redlands on March 20.

Sewanee netted 14 goals in the first half and four more in the second.

The Tigers outshot the Pioneers 32-24 and had a 39-28 advantage in ground balls.

Brita Brudvig, Melanie Matthews, Emily Hylton, Mallory Grimm, Katie Riddle, Wittney Reed, Ella Richardson, Sally Anne Greenwood and Dori Wilson all fired in shots.

In goal Crawford Horan earned her ninth win with 13 saves.

OVERTIME

by John Shackelford

When a team begins to arrive at practice each day, the coach usually hears about how difficult Dr. Reishman's class was just a few hours earlier, perhaps about a long paper due the next week or about a nagging muscle pull that will surely prohibit that particular athlete from any conditioning drills during the workout. Conchie and I have one very special young lady who comes each day with a big smile on her face. It is like she has a secret that the rest of us haven't quite figured out just yet. It is not that Annie loves to practice so much or that tennis is the sole reason for her happiness. There is something else in her easy stride that looks like a dancer on stage listening to her own music.

Annie Veron is a sophomore from San Antonio. When Annie was just 5 years old, her family traveled to Colorado for a summer vacation in the mountains. Her mother pulled the car up to the rental house to sign the paperwork, leaving Annie, her 7-year-old sister, and 2-year-old brother buckled in safely in the back seat. Most of us know that feeling. It happens when you begin to step away from your car, your house, your stroller, and you get that sense of checking your pocket for the key, or looking back one more time to be sure everyone is safe. Just at that moment the Veron family car lurched forward out of gear and began to roll toward a tree that would surely stop the children's unplanned escape. The steering wheel veered when the wheels hit a bump and the rapidly rolling vehicle headed straight toward a steep cliff. Joy Veron did what any mother would do. She raced ahead and placed her 110-pound frame in front of the vehicle in an attempt at bench-pressing the SUV and saving her three children. A mother's love is a powerful tool, but 3,000 pounds of a moving four-wheel-drive vehicle is no easy task. The car won, and Joy Veron rolled underneath, as her children watched from inside, breaking her spine at the T11 vertebrae and paralyzing her from the waist down. Annie's grandfather dove through the passenger side door and yanked up the emergency brake, saving the lives of all involved.

That was 15 years ago, and now Joy Veron drives a car with hand controls back in Texas and gets up to Sewanee once or twice a year to watch Annie play tennis, negotiating our campus seamlessly in a wheelchair that is invisible to anyone who knows her. Her oldest daughter, Chloe, is a student at Harvard and her son, Elliot, is a high school student at the Geneva School in Boerne, Texas. When Joy was in elementary school, a young Texan named Matthew McConaughey tried to give this cute little girl her first kiss. She brushed him off because he wasn't her type. She knew, even at that young age, that better things lay ahead in this life.

When I hear about a player with a nagging toothache or one who got a B- on a test in which they surely deserved at least a B+, I look over at Annie to be sure that smile is still there. I am not lying when I tell you it is omnipresent. It grows up from the inside and simply cannot be denied when it arrives on her face. All of us have had some tough times along the road, but I have never had a 3,000-pound car roll over me. Life in a wheelchair is no vacation walk through the Colorado Mountains, but I suppose that knowing your three children are alive, well, and thriving in the classroom, behind the piano and on the tennis court can bring a smile every day.

This weekend our teams will celebrate Tennis Family Weekend with many family members in attendance to support the Tigers on the tennis court. Joy will not be in Sewanee with Annie and her dad. She is back in the hospital in San Antonio dealing with a persistent infection caused by life in a chair. Annie will win her matches. (She always does.) There is a secret she knows that the rest of us have yet to figure out. The opponent on the other side of the net may be tough, but thanks to a loving mom, a courageous grandfather and an incredible family, Annie is out there in the sun with the only thing she needs. Something her mother once gave her. A chance.

The girls' 2012 Mother's Day present to Joy can be seen at <www.youtube.com/watch?v=-KA8pL64W1I>.

NATURENOTES

By Jean Yeatman

Goldfinches

Jean Yeatman, quoting poet Henry Van Dyke, told us, “The thistle birds have changed their dun, For yellow coats, to match the sun.

“Goldfinches are called thistle birds by some people, because they like to eat thistle seeds,” according to Jean. “In the fall the males molt their beautiful golden feathers and look like the female, a dun or dull greenish or brownish yellow. Then in the spring the ends of the dull feathers rub off, and you see the gold or canary-yellow body, black and white wings and tail, and jaunty black cap pulled down on the forehead. These birds are with us all year, and in the winter are mistaken by some for sparrows. They travel in flocks, and come to bird feeders in great numbers. They are easy to recognize in flight, as they fly in a bobbing pattern, not a straight line.

“They have a buoyant, joyous nature,” she continued, “and in their wavy flight as they bound through the air, they call ‘per-chic-o-ree, per-chic-o-ree,’ which some children interpret as ‘wait-for-me, wait-for-me.’ At times they sing in the fall and winter. They nest late in the summer, as they are waiting for the flower seeds to ripen—dandelion, garden flowers, coreopsis, sunflowers, thistles, goldenrod, asters, etc.

“The nest is built by the female,” she concluded, “and is usually about 15 feet above the ground in a small tree or shrub. It is compact and woven of grasses and strips of bark, and lined with down from cattails or thistles. There are four to six bluish-white eggs laid. The male helps raise the young.”

“Monteagle Steps”

Only steps from the Assembly North Gate lie four 1+ acre lots elegantly dressed in virgin timber that reach high into the clouds from a blanket of mountain laurel, dogwoods, redbuds and sugar maples. Listen quietly to the spring-fed creek as it meanders through the property until it crashes over the falls into the stone-lined swimming hole that cooled Unaka campers from 1911 to 1936. The old stone steps are still there, welcoming all to its cool respite from the summer heat. Interior bluff views, beautiful rock formations, privacy, security and convenience are but a few of the features of this unique property located near the end of Central Avenue.

This unique property, once the heart of historic Camp Unaka, offers a private retreat for those Assembly families whose children and grandchildren have simply outgrown their cottage. There is now a way to enjoy our beloved mountain during all seasons in a new home that blends into the woods, is just a few steps from the Assembly but has all of the modern comforts of home. Sewanee grads might want to secure their place on the mountain for the future.

This unique property is offered by Dr. and Mrs. George B. Elder, whose family has summered in the Assembly for seven generations. You are invited to call George or Suzanne and schedule a leisurely stroll or golf cart ride through this rare and inviting property.

Liberty

Butterscotch

Pets of the Week

Meet Liberty and Butterscotch

The Franklin County Humane Society’s Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Liberty is a sweet young Beagle mix who is around 5 months old. She is loving, playful and feisty. Liberty is up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Butterscotch is a beautiful young buff-colored kitty with gold eyes. She loves to make new human friends, and she especially loves the children who visit Animal Harbor. Butterscotch is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>. Please help the Humane Society continue to save abandoned pets by sending donations to the Franklin County Humane Society, P. O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Herbarium Events

The Sewanee Herbarium offers the following opportunities to get closer to Nature in the coming days:

Meet Yolande Gottfried at 1:30 p.m., today, April 11, at Green’s View parking lot to hike to Shakerag Hollow, Sewanee’s wildflower “Mecca.” This is a moderate to strenuous two-mile walk, with one fairly challenging incline. Wear sturdy shoes and bring water.

If you’re up for making a day of it, meet Mary Priestley at 8:15 a.m. on Sunday, April 13, at Citizens State Bank in front of Monteagle Assembly to carpool, or meet at Collins West trailhead in Gruetli-Laager at 9 a.m. for a six-mile, moderate to strenuous “Wildflowers and Waterfalls” hike with a 600-ft. elevation change. You’ll need sturdy footwear, and to pack lunch, water and your camera. For directions to Collins West trailhead, contact South Cumberland State Park Visitors’ Center at (931) 924-2980.

Next Saturday, April 19, starting at 9 a.m., Mary Priestley will head up an attempt to control an invasive exotic plant, garlic mustard, which is threatening to take over some sensitive areas of our forest. It is easy to pull up, and no equipment is needed, but gloves would be good. Meet at Morgan’s Steep.

For more information, contact Yolande Gottfried at (931) 598-3346, or by email, <ygottfri@sewane.edu>.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

An Ode to Spring

How can April be the cruellest month?
When crocuses—purple, white, gold, cream, lavender—
And daffodils—‘Ice Follies,’ ‘Mama Clark,’ to name just two—
Are showing off and showing promise;
When ‘Fujino Pink’ spirea dazzles in the breeze;
When leaf and bloom buds are swelling—
On forsythia, lilac, mountain honeysuckle, spice bush.
Alabama croton, and Alabama snow wreath;
When liver-lobed hepatica is blooming;
When Virginia’s Valentine camellia is blushing;
When daylily foliage is pushing up green and true;
When foliage of ‘Blue Fortune’ hyssop and coneflower
Is true to perennial lineage;
When bloom buds on ‘Appalachian Spring’ dogwoods
Promise a dazzling white Appalachian spring.
Ah! Spring, Thou great elixir of joy and promise.
