VOL. XXVII No. 16

Friday, April 22, 2011

Published as a public service for the Sewanee community since 1985.

The Blair String Quartet, with guest pianist Craig Nies, will have a free public concert at 7 p.m., Saturday, April 30, at the McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts on the campus of St. Andrew's-Sewanee School. The program will include "Langsam Satz (1905)" by Anton von Webern, Franz Joseph Haydn's "Quartet in G Major, Opus 54" and Brahms' "Quartet in C Minor for Piano, Violin, Viola and Cello, Opus 60."

Sewanee Review Hosts Readings at McGriff Tuesday

The Sewanee Review will host an open house and series of readings at 8 p.m., Tuesday, April 26, in the McGriff Alumni House. Reading selections are still being made, but will include Jay Parini's "A Short Address to the Academy of Silence," Peter Makuck's "Trapping in Foreign Country," verse by David Mason and Robert S. Lancaster, and nonfiction by Wendell Berry.

Robert Benson, a contributor of essays, reviews and verse to the Sewanee Review will read his poem "Spring Rattler," published in the winter 2011 issue. Tennessee Williams Center playwright-in-residence David Roby will perform a selection from one of the dramas published in the Review, and professors Pamela Macfie, George Poe and Bran Potter will read some of their favorite works.

Guests will be eligible to win three DVDs of films based on literary works: Robert Rossen's "All the King's Men," which won the Academy Award for Best Picture in 1950; John Huston's "Wise Blood," based on the novel by Flannery O'Connor, the first chapter of which was originally published by the Sewanee Review under the title "The Train"; and Todd Field's Oscar-nominated "In the Bedroom," inspired by Andre Dubus' story "Killings," originally published by the Review in 1979. Catering will be provided by Julia's.

Household Hazardous Waste Disposal and Electronics Recycling Available Locally

Opportunities for disposing of household hazardous wastes and discarded electronics will happen on the Mountain in the coming weeks.

Franklin County is having its annual Household Hazardous Waste Collection from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., Saturday, April 30, at the county solid waste management center, 487 Joyce Lane, Winchester. There is no charge for this service.

Household hazardous waste is defined as corrosive, flammable, toxic or reactive materials used in homes, cars or trucks, gardens and lawns.

They will accept items such as drain openers, oven cleaners, wood and metal cleaners and polishes, toilet bowl cleaners and disinfectants.

They will also accept house paint (including oil-based paint), wood preservatives, paint thinners and removers, adhesives, fingernail polish remover, pool chemicals, photo processing chemicals, aerosol cans, mercury thermostats and thermometers.

Residents can also dispose of fluorescent light bulbs, lawn and garden herbicides and pesticides, and automotive products such as fuel additives, starter fluid and injector cleaners.

The center always accepts batteries, antifreeze and motor oil.

The following items will not be accepted: medical waste, explosives, ammunition, radioactive waste (including smoke detectors) and any non-household waste. This event is sponsored by Interlocal, <www.iswarecycle.net>. For more information, call 967-1139.

The electronics recycling will take place on Saturday, May 7. Sustain Sewanee is sponsoring e-recycling from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., in the parking lot of the Hair Depot (formerly Steve Green Construction across from the Sewanee Market).

Among the items that will be accepted are microwaves, computers, CRT monitors and flat screens, telephones, fax machines, printers and copy machines, rechargeable and regular batteries (but no car batteries), stereo equipment and gaming systems.

Televisions can be disposed of for a $10 fee. Everything else is free.

By keeping these items out of landfills, dangerous toxins such as mercury are not introduced into groundwater. Another benefit of recycling and re-using copper and other component parts, the amount of precious metal mining is reduced. The firm that is taking the items, CRS, does not send its electronic waste to China or Africa, but shreds or sorts into component parts and sells it to manufacturers.

For more information, contact Helen Stapleton at 598-9731.

Connie Gibson helps a family select items from the CAC's mini-Mobile Food Pantry, held each month on the third Wednesday. See full story on page 7.

Local Growers' Market Opens Saturday

Local growers are ready to begin the season with potted plants, farm fresh eggs, early spring produce, artisan baked goods, and more.

If you are interested in selling something at the market, just show up with your produce, baked goods and jams and jellies, along with a table and chair.

The market is held every Saturday morning from 8 to 10 a.m. in the parking area on Highway 41A between Hawkins Lane and University Avenue in Sewanee.

THE CULPRITS SAY "THANK YOU" To the Editor:

The Culprits would like to say "thank you" to everyone who supported us by voting and sharing the news about the Bonnaroo "Road To Roo" contest. We finished the contest ranked as the second most downloaded band out of nearly 800 other bands from across the nation, and we are now in the final "reviewing stage" of the contest!

The love and support we have received from the Sewanee community is responsible for much of the success we have seen as a band, and we are incredibly grateful. As of now, we are waiting to hear back from Bonnaroo, as they are currently picking two bands out of the top eight to perform at the festival. Wrapped up in the excitement about a possible Bonnaroo gig, The Culprits have also been booked to open for the Brooklyn-based, pop-rock band Elizabeth and the Catapult at the Nightfall Concert Series in Chattanooga on May 27. The Culprits are also currently featured on the music blog and website <music lunge.com>, with an interview to be posted next week.

Thank you once again for all of your support, and keep your fingers crossed as we wait to hear back from Bonnaroo!

CROW CREEK FUND-RAISER

A SUCCESS

To the Editor:

Crow Creek Valley Community Center in Sherwood would like to thank everyone for helping us make our recent fund-raiser a success.

We would especially like to thank everyone who baked the wonderful cakes and for all the donations we received. Sherwood is a small community but we are so lucky to have help from our friends in surrounding communities. Special thanks to Louise Irwin for helping us get the word out to everyone.

The center is such an important part of our community, and all the support is appreciated. We are planning a fish fry in May. Watch for the date, which will be announced soon. We hope to see everyone there. Again, many thanks.

TRUSTEES COMMUNITY RELATIONS MEETING REPORT

To the Editor:

The Community Relations committee of the Board of Trustees met April 14 and 15 at the EQB. St. Mark's Community Center hosted the community meeting on April 14. Chief White told about the voice siren installation. Jerry Forster presented an update of the campus master plan and the cell tower plans. Nate Wilson addressed the domestic livestock policy. John Goodson spoke on behalf of the Sewanee Business Alliance. Blue skies, sunshine and the lovely greens of spring provided the perfect background for the picnic that followed.

The Community Relations committee serves to consider and report to the Board of Trustees on issues relative to the relationship between the University corporation and the people of the village of Sewanee. It is of concern to the Board of Trustees that it be informed of matters relating to the furnishing of municipal services by the University corporation to Sewanee and the relationship between the University and other political entities on the state and local level.

We apologize that notice of the community meeting may not have reached all interested parties. The committee will meet again when the Board of Trustees convenes in October. Please feel free to contact me or any member of the committee with questions or concerns.

*Leslie Newman, Chair
Community Relations Committee
Trustee, Diocese of Kentucky* ■

[Editor's Note: The Messenger failed to publish the time and date of this important meeting, for which I apologize. -LW]

PRIORITIES FOR OUR STATE?

To the Editor:

In 2010, Republicans won a super majority in the Tennessee House and Senate, partly because of their promises to focus on jobs, jobs, jobs. Instead of jobs, they've been pursuing more urgent business.

House Republicans just passed a virtual poll tax. Only those with a valid state-issued picture I.D. can vote. Coincidentally, people who don't have a driver's license tend to be poor, elderly and urban. They must now get to the DMV and pay for an I.D.

Republicans have stopped implementation of the Voter Confidence Act, which would have required a paper trail on all Tennessee voting machines. Bill Haslam's first act as governor was an executive order closing financial disclosures for himself and his cabinet. Republicans are working to strip teachers of collective bargaining rights. House Republicans have introduced bills to teach creationism in public schools, requiring dogs to wear seat belts, creating a separate currency for Tennessee and banning Shariah law.

Are these your priorities?

Republicans voted down a Democratic-sponsored bill to ban mountaintop removal coal mining when tourism creates more jobs in Tennessee than mining. They have voted down every Democratic-sponsored jobs bill, and, according to Republican House Speaker Beth Harwell, "The role of government is not to create jobs."

If you think that government might have a role to play in creating jobs, increasing transparency, protecting our environment, encouraging free and fair elections, and protecting workers' rights, please vote Democratic in 2012. And don't forget your driver's license.

Sewanee Police Dept. Report

Spring Party Weekend

It was a busy Spring Party Weekend on campus April 14–16, Sewanee Police Chief Robert White said, but there were no serious incidents or accidents. Sewanee police made several arrests in conjunction with the band and party at Lake Cheston Friday night, White said, but most of those were individuals from outside the Sewanee community and the University. A number of Sewanee students were written up for minor infractions, but White said he was glad that the weekend was generally safe and without serious incident.

GCFB Planning Move to New Location

Grundy County Food Bank (GCFB) is moving in late May to the former Sav-A-Lot building in Tracy City, and volunteers are needed to help prepare for the move, said GCFB director Glenn Vanden Bosch. Among the tasks that need to be completed are re-keying locks and patching roof leaks, plumbing work for bathrooms, investigating liability insurance, ensuring that electrical service is adequate for equipment, getting the heating/air conditioning unit operational and replacing broken glass and missing ceiling tiles. Also, volunteers are needed for exterior repairs, parking lot painting and grounds cleanup.

Vanden Bosch also needs volunteers who can make signage for inside and outside the building and people to organize publicity about the move.

On the actual moving date, Wednesday, May 25, GCFB will need major work crews to move the elements of the food bank (including pallets, office furniture, filing cabinets and the walk-in freezer) to its new location. The following day, Thursday, May 26, there will be a trip to the Jasper Walmart to pick up donated food.

"These projects will require volunteers to take initiative and responsibility for their area," Vanden Bosch said. If you have skills in one or more categories, and you would like to help, please e-mail Vanden Bosch, <gcfbtracy@yahoo.com>.

GCFB is a volunteer-run nonprofit organization that feeds over 200 families who live in Grundy, Marion and Franklin counties. They distribute food on the fourth Tuesday of every month. GCFB also supports several other food pantries in the area by donating excess food to them. For more information, call (931) 592-3631

Emerald-Hodgson News

Employee Recognition

Emerald-Hodgson Hospital selected Kathleen Tirado as the employee of the month for March. Kathleen works in the business office and emergency room registration department. She moved to Winchester from Sacramento, Calif., in 2008, and joined the EHH staff a year ago. Her husband, Jeffery, is currently working for a government contractor in Afghanistan. In her free time, Kathleen enjoys visiting family. She was selected for recognition in a drawing among all employees having March birthdays. Her award included use of a close-in parking space for the month and a gift basket with movie tickets and other goodies. Congratulations, Kathleen.

State of the Hospital

Reporting on the utilization of EHH's facilities, Administrator Ralph Underwood reported that observation visits and outpatient visits were up compared to March 2010, with utilization of EHH's outpatient facilities increasing by an impressive 23 percent. General admission and skilled care admissions dropped off compared to last year, while emergency room visits held steady at nearly the same level.

OUR SEWANEE

by Annie Armour

The Beginning

I thought "The Beginning" might be a good heading for the first article in this series. This is a column that will feature stories that highlight the fact that our community is broad and connected. The "Mountain-Valley" community includes Sewanee, Midway, Tickbush, St. Andrew's, Deepwoods, Jump Off, Bobtown, Garnertown, Summit, St. Mary's, Sherwood, Lost Cove, Roark's Cove, Hawkins Cove, Alto, the rest of Franklin, Marion and Grundy counties, and lots of small communities that may or may not be individually recognized anymore. We have always found ways to be neighborly and I hope through this column to connect our history to times when our communities have bonded.

The first land grants of Mountain land around Sewanee were issued in the 1820s, though parts of the Valley and Roark's Cove were already settled. Some people bought huge tracts of land but never lived here, while others settled and farmed, hunted and trapped. The early settlers lived alongside Creek, Cherokee, and Chickamauga Native Americans, sometimes peacefully and sometimes not. Anglo settlers bonded together to build a fort in Roark's Cove to protect themselves against a hostile tribe of Indians. In Lost Cove and on the Mountain, Native American and Anglo families lived peacefully together, and some even intermarried.

Pat Makris, in her book, "The Other Side of Sewanee," says that the "old-timers" have many stories of both violent and civil acts between Native Americans and Anglo settlers. Log on to my blog at <<http://community.rocks.blogspot.com>> to relate stories you know, and to correct or verify me. I always want to learn more about where we live.

People have found arrowheads and markings across the Mountain that prove that Native Americans did more than simply hunt in this area. At least one burial ground has been found near St. Mary's, and a playing field is thought to have existed very close to Stirling's. Archaeology classes have found and documented Native American artifacts dating back as far as 8,000 years ago.

While sitting in on a student presentation about sacred streams and caves, I nearly jumped out of my seat when one of them remarked that Native Americans marked the heads of sacred springs with two intertwined snakes carved in a nearby rock. I had always heard that the Rattlesnake Springs area was named for such a symbol, and that it marks a streambed and trail that leads to Lost Cove. A descendant once came back to find that trail he learned about from stories passed down in his family. More exciting, I found carved snakes in rock on the other side of the mountain (sorry, an undisclosed location) along with pictures and writings on the rock face. Tribes supposedly came up from Lost Cove and went down on the other side, perhaps at that site.

Please leave these archaeological sites undisturbed. These sites tell us so much about the history of this Mountain that historians and anthropologists have not yet pieced together, but their impact is greatly diminished when items are taken from sites.

You can help give the past to the future through this column. Share your knowledge of this community. We were not the first, nor will we be the last, residents of this area.

Annie Armour, C'77, has made Sewanee her home since 1984. She is University Archivist. In her spare time she likes to research and write about Sewanee, hand-bind books and enjoy the many benefits of this community. "Our Sewanee" will appear each month in the Messenger.

St. Mary's Sewanee May Retreats

St. Mary's Sewanee announces its May retreats:

May 8-9—"Poetic Justice: The Art of Composing a Life that Matters in a Changing and Demanding World" with Karen Lee Turner.

In this retreat, participants will explore a kind of counter-cultural "poetic rule of life," asking the daring question: "What would happen if, in today's hectic and demanding world, we became living poems?"

Through writing, reflection, sketching, conversation and engaging with nature, retreatants will try on the idea of "composing" life like a poem in order to help find and follow "our life's voice, our courage for justice, our creative center and our compassion for ourselves and the world."

Turner is a musician, artist, and author of "Feast for the Journey: A Creative Path for Cultivating and Celebrating a Life That Matters." She has been a contributor to the award-winning journal "Weavings" and is a Lilly Endowment Pastoral Leader's Sabbatical grant recipient. She has studied and participated in the ecumenical communities in Taizé, France, and Iona, Scotland. The fee for this retreat is $120.

Other retreats scheduled for May are:

May 22-27—Lectio Divina 6-Day Immersion Retreat, with Mike Potter, Sr. Maria Tasto, OSB, Leslee Terpay and Mike Welch. The residential fee is $525. To learn more about this retreat, go to www.stmaryssewanee.org/programs/2011May22PotterLectio.shtml.

Candlenight Earth Hour Tonight

The University’s environmental residents, along with Japanese exchange student Ririko Kubo, have organized a “Candlenight Earth Hour.”

“Candlenight Earth Hour” will be held from 8:30 to 10 p.m., tonight, April 22, in Guerry Garth. Candlenights are originally from traditional Japanese culture and join an annual worldwide tradition.

The lights of the buildings around Guerry Garth will be turned off, and attendees will have the opportunity to light a candle, with a suggested donation of $1. The funds raised will be donated to the Japan Foundation, which helps people affected in Fukushima, as well as to the American Solar Association, an environmental nonprofit organization.

The Environmental Residents hope this event will foster a sense of community, and invite all to join them this evening. Students and community members, including Jack Nance, Gentlemen Jacks and Elizabeth Walker and Tyler Wright, will perform.

Exchange student Kubo said the recent earthquake has affected the Japanese people’s view toward how they live.

“We need to appreciate energy, nature and our daily lives,” she said. The light of the candles will reflect this message of appreciation and respect for the earth.

Refreshments and snacks will be provided by Julia’s. The rain location will be Convocation Hall. This event is sponsored by Sustain Sewanee and the Living Learning Communities of Residential Life.

Scholar will Discuss Influenza in Sewanee

Dr. Norman Desbiens, Brown Foundation Fellow and visiting professor of biology and philosophy, will present his lecture “A Labor Fit for Hercules: Subduing the Sewanee Influenza,” at 7 p.m., Sunday, May 1, in Gailor Auditorium. A reception at 6:30 p.m. will precede the lecture.

The influenza epidemic that hit Sewanee this semester was particularly virulent. Desbiens will review the biology of this ancient disease, and discuss its risks for students, faculty, staff and the Sewanee community, as well as strategies that might be taken to mitigate its deleterious effects in the future.

Desbiens’ abilities and intellectual interests are broad, extending into biology, ethics, and the history and philosophy of medicine. He is the author of 127 peer-reviewed publications and is often asked to serve on advisory groups and to deliver presentations across the nation and abroad. He has made notable contributions to the study of how statistics can advance research endeavors in medicine and medical ethics. He also has written essays on best physician practices related to end-of-life issues, and has been a principal investigator for what has been called the largest, most significant study of how patients die in hospitals.

Desbiens has held numerous teaching appointments and now serves as a medical consultant to Chattanooga’s Program for All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly.

The presentation is sponsored by the Sewanee Health Professions Society, the How Then Shall We Live? lecture series and the Philosophy Club.

Earth Day at SAS

St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School took a break from regular classes on April 20 for its annual all-school Earth Day Celebration. The event included a film festival, hikes, workshops, all-campus lunch prepared by students, convocation of performances and culminating outdoor celebration.

The celebration kicked off Tuesday night with the Earth Eve Film Festival, which included “Black Diamonds,” “Flow: For the Love of Water,” “For The Bible Tells Me So,” “Story of Stuff,” “Rural Studio” and “WALL-E.”

On Wednesday morning, freshman Marisa Wilson gave a slide lecture on climate change. Wilson is a member of the Climate Project’s Inconvenient Youth. Students then divided up for morning activities, including tours of the University’s Landscape Analysis Lab, solar collection sites, a handmade house, three local farms, and Marugg Company. Other students created a Google Earth tour of the SAS campus, composters, eco-dyed fabrics, a radio show and a slide show to chronicle the day. Some students took hikes, went rock climbing, or learned new skills such as bicycle maintenance, cooking, yoga and water quality monitoring.

In the afternoon, the school gathered in McCrory Hall for a slide show, music and readings.

“A day full of this much fun and learning requires many hands,” said coordinator Christi Teasley. “We are particularly grateful to community volunteers Sanford McGee, Mary Priestley, Amy Wilson ’00, Jessica Wilson, Chris Van de Ven, Ben Beavers, Martin Knoll and Hadley Morris. Earth Day is a good spring-time reminder of how fortunate we are to live in a place of such beauty and in a community that understands its responsibility to be good stewards of the environment and resources we enjoy.”

The King's Speech

111 minutes • Rated R • Admission $3

One of 2010's finest movies, "The King's Speech" is deserving of all its many accolades, including the Academy Award for best picture, director, original screenplay and actor. King George VI, known to his family as Bertie (Colin Firth), is thrust to the throne after his brother's scandalous abdication. But Bertie never wanted to be king, and his lifelong stammer paralyzes him in front of a microphone. His wife (Helena Bonham Carter) searching for a way to help him, finds eccentric speech therapist Lionel Logue (Geoffrey Rush). Logue and the new king work together in unusual ways to overcome his speech impediment and form a friendship that changes both of their lives. Rush deserved an Oscar, too, for his remarkable performance. Rated R for one scene where Bertie shouts obscenities, but otherwise it would be PG (i.e., take your kids to see this wonderful film).

Cinema Guild Next Week

Thursday, April 28, at 7:30 p.m.

Citizen Kane

119 minutes • R • Not rated

The Cinema Guild brings another classic to the big screen: Orson Welles' masterpiece, "Citizen Kane." Often cited as the best movie ever made (I would agree), this 1941 film has it all: a compelling story, terrific acting and ground-breaking innovations in cinematography. Welles stars as Charles Foster Kane in a thinly veiled depiction of the rise and fall of real-life of publishing tycoon William Randolph Hearst. Welles collaborated with Herman J. Mankiewicz to write the screenplay. There are great performances by Welles and Joseph Cotton. Though many have parodied the opening "Rosebud" sequence, "Citizen Kane" remains a remarkable achievement. Not rated.

Sewanee Union Theatre Next Week

Wednesday, Friday–Sunday, April 27, 29–May 1

The Eagle

114 minutes • Rated PG-13 • Admission $3

"The Eagle" is your basic historical drama-action picture that most critics and audiences found lukewarm. It is adapted from Rosemary Sutcliffe's classic novel, "The Eagle of the Ninth." Set in 140 AD, Marcus Aquila (Channing Tatum) arrives in Britain from Rome, determined to restore the tarnished reputation of his father, Flavius Aquila. One critic wrote, "'The Eagle' makes for an okay parent-and-young-son film outing. But you'll want to get your youngster the Sutcliffe paperback." Rated PG-13 for battle sequences and some disturbing images. —LW

Student, Professor Honored for Public Service

Sewanee student Carrie Ryan, C'12, and professor Gerald Smith are the recipients of 2011 Harold Love Outstanding Community Service Awards presented by the Tennessee Higher Education Commission to recognize demonstrated effectiveness in public service. Five college students and five faculty/staff members are honored statewide each year.

Ryan was nominated for her active role in serving the community, especially in promoting education and in responding to the needs of the elderly. Ryan has worked with students at Grundy County High School and has recruited other Sewanee students to join her—approximately 25 University students serve at GCHS every week. She has also organized and led programs and classes that connect University students with the elderly. Her interest in serving the elderly led her to two research opportunities—one at the Davis School of Gerontology at the University of Southern California and the other in Visakhapatnam, India.

In his letter nominating Ryan, Vice-Chancellor John McCardell said, "Certainly Carrie has been successful in her own right—she herself has made a difference—but again, what is more impressive is how Carrie has brought others along in the process ... Carrie is not one woman hoping to improve the lives of others; she is a woman leading the charge of many who are indeed improving the lives of others."

Smith, who holds the Robert Ayres Distinguished Chair in the department of religion and is marshal of the University faculties, was nominated for the range and depth of his contributions to the common good. In addition to his work at the University, Smith is also special deputy in the Franklin County Sheriff's office and created the public safety weather monitoring service that serves the area. Over the years, Smith has served as Cub Scout leader, as safety consultant for the Franklin County Board of Education, as volunteer firefighter, as security advisor to the Franklin County Mayor, as advisor to the Franklin County Chamber of Commerce for map design and photography, and as a hunter safety instructor for the Tennessee Wildlife Resource Agency.

In Smith's nomination letter, McCardell stated, "In his capacity as much-admired instructor of religion, Gerald Smith has led the way in exposing undergraduates to the life of communities in Tennessee beyond the gates of our campus. His legendary courses on rural religion and other topics draw students into the field to help them learn not only about regional landforms but also about cemeteries, barns, churches, dwellings and the people who inhabit them. It is fair to say, then, that no faculty member at Sewanee has worked longer or more effectively than Gerald Smith to wed 'town and gown'."

School of the Good Shepherd Hosts Poetry Night

The School of the Good Shepherd in Winchester hosted a Poetry Night recently with students reciting poems in the cafeteria, which was decorated to look like a coffeehouse.

The entire student body wore black tops, and in the tradition of coffeehouses, when students exited the stage area, they snapped their fingers. Each class recited a poem together, and then each student recited a self-written poem. Following the poetry performance, the audience enjoyed coffee, punch, and refreshments. Among the students participating in the event were Lynnaya Hamby and Julian Bardi of Sewanee.

AEDC Hosts Boat Safety Class

Tennessee law requires everyone born after Jan. 1, 1989, to pass a boating safety class presented by the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency (TWRA) before operating a vessel on state waterways.

Area residents can take that course on Saturday, May 14, at Arnold Engineering Development Center's (AEDC) Gossick Leadership Center. The course will begin at 9 a.m. and last about six hours. Participants must pass an exam at the conclusion of the course.

"It's an opportunity for the base and local area communities to get their young operators qualified to operate a boat," Lt. Charles Cook, APD Training officer and resource protection program manager, said. "You can register on TWRA's website <www.tn.gov/twra/boatmain.html>, and it's open to anybody from the geographical area."

Interested individuals must be at least 11 years old. You can also register by calling (615) 387-6013 or e-mail <Debbie.powell@tn.gov>. The only cost is a $10 Type 600 exam permit from the TWRA, which must be brought to the class.

University Program with SES Promotes Community Engagement

Well-Directed Curiosity, a program to strengthen ties between college students at Sewanee and community children, provides outdoor expeditions for schoolchildren in third, fourth and fifth grades at Sewanee Elementary School. Now in its third year, student coordinator Lizzie McCleskey said recently, "Things have only improved since it started."

The program originated from the University's Canale Internship Program, which funds student ideas for community service projects. The success of Well-Directed Curiosity has kept it as a top-priority program for funding from the Canale program.

Student mentors direct weekly expeditions, whether a hike on part of the Perimeter Trail, a game of capture-the-flag at Lake Cheston, or going to the climbing wall at the Fowler Center on a rainy day. The student leaders gather ideas from the children for each week's event and then send informational flyers home to parents.

Jay Morgan, C'12, a coordinator for the three boys' groups, and McCleskey, C'11, a coordinator for the three girls' groups, organized the weekly events and also led groups themselves. They began this year by giving a talk about the program to the children at Sewanee Elementary.

"The fact that the college students are willing to engage the children in such a positive experience is both generous and thoughtful," said Kim Heitzenrater, whose son has participated in the program this year.

Well-Directed Curiosity has established a continuity of leadership that allows the program to carry on even after mentors and coordinators graduate, and funding ensures participation every year. Both Morgan and McCleskey were drawn to the program by friends who were already involved with it.

"The program is a nice community builder," Heitzenrater said. "Parents who have children at the school but no connection to the university at large get a chance to know the students."

SAS Student Plays with All-State Orchestra in Nashville

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School sophomore Joel Lee played with the All-State Orchestra on April 8. He auditioned earlier this year and was selected second cello for the Mid-State Orchestra. This selection earned him admittance into the All State Orchestra. Joel and SAS performing arts coordinator Robie Jackson attended the three-day event at Opryland Hotel. Joel is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Lee of LaVergne, Tenn.

Joel is a tenth-grade boarding student who recently received a highly coveted invitation to the Tennessee Governor's School for the Arts. An accomplished cellist, Joel is a member of the SAS Orchestral Ensemble and participates in the University of the South Symphony Orchestra. His cello teacher is Eric Reed, principal cellist of the Chattanooga Symphony Orchestra (CSO) and cellist of the CSO String Quintet.

SAS Players Raise Funds for Charity

Four St. Andrew's-Sewanee middle school basketball players recently raised $538 to participate in the Vanderbilt Commodores' 'Dores for Nets 3-on-3 tournament. The money raised went to the Nothing but Nets campaign to purchase malaria nets for people in affected areas.

Kyle Fuller was the Vanderbilt player the students "drafted" as their coach. The amount the boys raised was the fourth highest donation amount of all of the teams represented, giving the SAS team fourth choice in the "draft" of Vanderbilt players who served as coaches.

The largest amount raised was more than $1,000 by the team from North Middle School in Decherd.

Nothing But Nets is a global, grass-roots campaign to save lives by preventing malaria, a leading killer of children in Africa.

Inspired by sports columnist Rick Reilly, hundreds of thousands of supporters have joined the campaign that was created by the United Nations Foundation in 2006.

Sophomore Molly Arnold paced the Tigers with six goals and one assist, while Sewanee goalie Amy Nusbaum finished the game with 11 stops and led the team with four ground balls. The Tigers are 11-5 overall and undefeated in conference play going into the SCAC tournament in Birmingham. Their first game is on Saturday, April 23.

Men's Lacrosse

The men's lacrosse team dropped a SCAC game to Birmingham-Southern April 19 by a score of 16-10. Junior Jack Thomasson paced the Tigers with three goals and one assist, while freshman Michael Morris added three goals. Freshman Davis Brown, sophomore Drew Lincoln, senior Hank Gerity, and junior David Shelton finished with one goal apiece. Sophomore James Millard picked up a team-high five ground balls for the Tigers, and Sewanee goalie Tommy Healy had 18 stops on the night.

This was the final game at Puett Field for Sewanee seniors Mike Boller, Travis Brannon, Jeb Leva, Hank Gerity, Will Grimes and Teddy Peterson. The Tigers are now 6-7 overall and 5-2 in conference. They are in third place going into the inaugural SCAC tournament in Colorado Springs, Colo. They will get a rematch with Birmingham-Southern on Saturday, April 23.

Women's Tennis

The women's tennis team took to the courts April 13 and grabbed an 8-1 victory over visiting Covenant College. The No. 21 Tigers picked up wins in two of the three doubles matches before sweeping the singles matches on their way to win No. 16 of the season. Sewanee's Anne Garland and Michelle Flume teamed up at No. 1 doubles and took out Covenant's Casey Cochran and Lauren Redberg, 8-2. Kelsey Whitted topped Ashley Macon and Mary Katherine Horne, 8-6. In singles play, Sewanee's Julia Wood earned a 6-3, 6-0 win over Hyatt in the No. 1 spot. Sewanee moves to 16-5 on the season. They will wrap up the regular season today, April 22, when they host Huntingdon at 2 p.m.

Men's Tennis

The men's tennis team won four of six singles matches and picked up a pair of doubles wins to earn a 6-3 win over visiting Covenant College April 13. The win moves the Tigers to 12-5 on the year.

Track and Field

Competing in a field of Division I and Division II schools, the Sewanee men's and women's track teams traveled to Western Carolina University Friday and took home 10 top-five finishes. Highlighting the Tiger effort was Clay Bond's second-place finish in the men's 1500-meter run and a season-best performance by the women's 4x100-meter relay team, as the foursome turned in the second-best finish in school history.

Jourdan Cooney, La' Toyia Slay, Faith Spencer and Danielle McIntyre teamed up in the 4x100 relay to take home fifth place with a time of 51.52 seconds.

Slay, coming off her record-breaking performance in the women's 200-meter dash last weekend, picked up a pair of fifth-place finishes in the sprints. Slay earned fifth place in the 100-meter dash with a time of 12.73 seconds, just 0.07 seconds ahead of teammate Spencer. The WCU Invitational wraps up the regular season for the Tiger track and field teams. They will head to Memphis April 22-23 for the 2011 SCAC Championships.

Baseball

Sewanee closed out the season last week with a non-conference loss to Emory on April 13 and a trio of conference losses to rival Rhodes College over the weekend. Against Emory, the Tigers tallied 15 hits, but it wasn't enough as they fell 18-6. In the first game of a three-game SCAC series over the weekend, the Lynx squeaked by Sewanee with a 2-1 win, before winning 15-1 in the second game. Jacob Simpson and Lee Schurknight picked up the losses on the mound. Jack Rogers drove in Sewanee's only run in game one with a one-out single in the second, while Alan Komorowski stole home plate to earn the Tigers' only run in game two. In their season finale, Sewanee held a 6-2 lead after four innings, but Rhodes erupted for 19 unanswered runs over the last three innings to propel the Lynx to a 21-6 win. The Tigers ended the 2011 season with a 10-21 overall record and a 0-11 mark in SCAC play.

Softball

The Sewanee softball team closed out the regular season with a pair of wins over visiting Fisk University on April 13 before dropping four games to SCAC rival Rhodes College. Against Fisk, freshman Michelle Thibodeaux picked up both wins in the circle and turned in a 4-for-7 effort at the plate to lead the Tigers to a sweep of the Bulldogs, winning 14-2 in game one and 16-0 in game two. But the Tigers struggled against Rhodes, dropping a pair of games each on April 16 and 17 to the Lynx. Rhodes earned 17-0 and 20-1 wins on April 16, as Thibodeaux was charged with both losses on the mound. In game two, Kali Ousley was 2-for-2 at the plate to lead the six-hit Tiger offensive attack. On April 17, the Tigers wrapped up the 2011 season by dropping both games to the Lynx, 24-1 in game one and 18-0 in game two. The Tigers closed out the season 4-16 overall and 0-14 in SCAC play.

Equestrian Team at National Meet

The Sewanee equestrian team took to the ring at the Ronald C. Waranch Equestrian Center in Hardeeville, S.C., recently for a weekend full of national competition. Competing in the American National Riding Commission's (ANRC) National Collegiate Championship Horse Show, the Tigers took home fifth place in the Novice Division Overall Team competition and seventh place in the National Division Overall Team competition. Six riders represented Sewanee at the event hosted by Savannah College of Art and Design.

Three Sewanee riders competed in the National Division, including Caroline Willis (riding her horse, Footing), Allan Palmer (riding his horse, All In), Chandler Snowden (riding her horse, Eternity). Representing Sewanee in the Novice Division were Lillibet Motion (riding Sewanee-owned Reward), Caroline Minchew (riding her horse, Purr), and Linnea Carver (riding Sewanee-owned Churchill).

In the Novice Division Overall Team competition, Sewanee took home fifth place as a team. The Tigers earned fifth place in both the Hunter Seat Medal Phase and Hunter Trials Phase. They also earned seventh place in Dressage Sportif and ninth place in the Written Phase. Midway College was the overall champion, while Virginia Intermont College finished second.

In the National Division, Sewanee picked up a seventh place overall finish as a team. Host Savannah College of Art and Design earned top team honors for the seventh time in nine years. Centenary College was second, while Virginia Intermont picked up third-place honors.

Senior Caroline Willis led the way with an eighth-place finish in the Medal Phase.

According to Head Coach Megan Taylor, the four-day event was "an educational and enlightening experience. For Caroline Willis, equestrian team co-captain and lone senior to compete at ANRC, her leadership and experience at this competition were invaluable in her third year of competition at the National Championships."

Nature Notes

Red Buckeye in Bloom

The Red Buckeye (aesculus pavia) is now in bloom in Harry and Jean Yeatman's yard and the upper end of Abbo's Alley. This beautiful small tree is not native to Sewanee, but has spread from plants sent from the Gulf states, Florida and Texas. The Yeatman population was given to them by Claude de Pamphilis, when he was getting his PhD at the University of Georgia a few years ago. In addition to beautiful blooms, hummingbirds find nectar and small insects such as thrips on the flowers. Jean watched three of these tiny male birds fighting over the plant. This bird's bill is inserted into the flowers and its long tongue pulls in the food. The large Yellow Buckeye (aesculus flava) is our common Sewanee buckeye. The European Horse Chestnut (aesculus hippocastanum) also is found in Sewanee in several locations such as Shoup Park and South Carolina Avenue between Fulford Hall and Cannon Hall.

Invasive Garlic Mustard Overrunning Area

Garlic Mustard, imported in the 1860s as an edible herb, is getting a toehold in the Sewanee area, according to Mary Priestley, curator of the Sewanee Herbarium.

Unlike most other exotics, once this invasive plant gets established on roadsides and in disturbed sites, it marches right into the woods, where it out-competes native wildflowers. In some forests, it has become the dominant herbaceous species.

Now blooming, the plant has closely-packed, four-petaled white flowers and triangular leaves that have a distinct garlic odor. If allowed to go to seed, each plant produces hundreds of tiny seeds that can be thrown several yards from the plant when the dry seedpod explodes.

Easily pulled from the ground, garlic mustard plants must be removed, taproot and all. Breaking the stems will only prompt them to re-flower.

Pulled plants should be bagged and sent to a landfill. Or, if you are hungry, you can make them into pesto or cook them up by the potful.

The Sewanee Garden Club and Sewanee Herbarium are co-sponsoring a Garlic Mustard Pull on Saturday, May 14, time and place TBA. If you know of areas that are badly infested, please contact Pixie Dozier at <pixie.d@live.com> or Priestley at <marypriestley@bellsouth.net>.

Pets of the Week Meet Herby and Mr. Big

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Herby is a sweet, happy boy cat who loves all the attention he can get. He has lots of energy and would like a home where he could have a playmate. Herby is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Mr. Big is a tiny senior Chihuahua who is meant to be a lapdog. He will jump into your arms and wiggle his way into your heart. Mr. Big needs an adults-only home. He is up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out their other pets at www.animalharbor.com. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets! Please help the Humane Society continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to The Franklin County Humane Society, P. O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

From Bard to Verse

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

A COCK CROWING IN A POULTERER'S SHOP

He will not see the East catch fire again,
Nor watch the darkening of the drowsy West,
Nor sniff the morning air with joyous zest,
Nor lead his wives along the grassy lane.

Cooped in a crate, he claps his wings in vain,
Then hangs his crimson head upon his breast;
Tomorrow's sun will see him plucked and dressed,
One of a ghastly row of feathered slain.

O chanticleer, I cannot bear it more;
That crow of anguish, pitiful and stark
Makes my flesh quail at thy unhappy lot—
The selfsame cry with which thine ancestor
Emptied his soul into the tragic dark
The night that Peter said, "I know Him not."
