

Beecken Center Hosts Emerging Leaders for Lay Ministries

by Jeannie Babb
Special to the Messenger

Ministry is not just for clergy anymore.

Introducing a series of short talks and café conversations, the Rt. Rev. J. Neil Alexander, dean of the School of Theology, declared that all baptized Christians are called to ministries that evolve over the course of a lifetime. The Beecken Center at the School of Theology is on a mission to equip all people to answer that call.

On April 9–11, dozens of ministers, students and others from 18 Episcopal dioceses and four other denominations gathered in Convocation Hall to share stories and explore ideas related to training opportunities for lay leadership.

Duncan Hilton, program director of the Leadership Development Initiative, asked, “When we take action in the world, it changes us. It changes the world. How do we become freer to act with love in the world?”

The Rev. John Tumwine, director of Theological Education by Extension Center in Kampala, Uganda, told the group how he sold his computer to buy a plane ticket to attend the conference.

“Fr. John was the one who told us we were thinking too small; communities on the other side of the world are longing for the same kinds of training we are beginning to offer. That was not my dream. That was a message that came to us—beyond anything we dared to ask or imagine,” said Courtney Cowart, director of the Beecken Center.

Other presenters included the Rev. Wayne Meisel of the Sewanee Community Chest Meets Goal!

$107,725 Raised for Local Agencies

Because of the generosity of the community and a last minute anonymous donation of $1,200, the Sewanee Community Chest has met its 2013–14 fund raising goal.

“The Sewanee Civic Association is grateful to all who made a commitment to help reach our goal for this year,” said Theresa Shackelford, Community Chest steward. “The support for the 28 local organizations is very much appreciated.”

The Sewanee Civic Association organizes the volunteer-led Community Chest, which raises money yearly for local organizations that support youth sports, outreach, community and educational programs in the tri-county area. Through Community Chest funding, these organizations help those caught in the cycle of poverty, improve lives through outreach and community initiatives, and provide support for children with a variety of programs.

This year, the Community Chest had a goal of $107,725 which will provide support to 28 local organizations. The money raised in the community goes directly to organizations that support the following initiatives: community aid, $39,000; children, $37,300; quality of life, $23,500; and beyond Sewanee, $8,200. Requests to the Community Chest this year totaled approximately $142,250.

“The need to help fund local organizations on a yearly basis is apparent,” said Shackelford.

“If you have not made your gift to the Community Chest this year, it is not too late. Any money that exceeds the goal will be used to support our mission to aid the community with yearly funding, and emergency requests as they arise,” said Shackelford.

Last year, the Community Chest was able to grant an additional $10,000 in emergency funding.

Civic Association Names 2014 Award Winners

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

Community member Barbara Schlichting and Sewanee native Ian Prunty were honored at the April 16 dinner meeting of the Sewanee Civic Association. In the business portion of the meeting, the Civic Association elected officers, received an update on the Community Chest and approved a bylaws revision.

Prunty received the Summa Cum Laude award for being the “galvanizing” force behind the creation of the Mountain Goat Trail. Ten years ago Prunty, then a sophomore at St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School, was inspired to undertake the project by a suggestion made to him at an Earth Day event. Prunty currently lives in Nashville, where he is an account executive for Arlington-based software provider Opower, which partners with utilities around the world with the goal of reducing residential energy consumption.

Barbara Schlichting, who grew up in Sewanee, received the Community Service Award. Throughout her life, Schlichting has been a voice for the community in University and community relations and grass-roots alliances. She is active in the Sewanee Business Alliance and Community Council. She has served as the superintendent of leases since 1989 and was recently tapped to take on the responsibility of community relations for the University.

The Civic Association approved the following slate of officers for 2014–2015: Kiki Beavers, president; Lynn Stubblefield, vice-president; Kim Seavey, secretary; Lisa Rung, treasurer; and Cameron Swallow, member-at-large.

Beavers announced that the Community Chest fund drive reached its goal

Council Considers Reapportioning, Redistricting & Meeting Schedule

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

At its April 21 meeting, the Sewanee Community Council discussed redrawing district boundaries and reapportioning council representation with a view to securing a vital and engaged body of council members to serve the community.

The terms of six elected council representatives and two appointed council representatives expire in December 2014. A candidate for an elected seat must submit a petition signed by at least 10 registered voters who reside within the candidate’s district by Oct. 15. Appointed seats are filled by Vice-Chancellor John McCardell.

Student representative Caitlin-Jean Juricic suggested the vice-chancellor appoint two student representatives instead of only one. Juricic said students wanted to become more active in and better informed about community initiatives. Students are also seeking representation in the Sewanee Business Alliance and Civic Association.

Council representative Theresa Shackelford proposed the districts be redrawn to more accurately reflect the demographics of the community. Council representative John Flynn suggested reducing the number of elected district representatives, currently three per district, to allow for elected at-large representatives.

McCardell supported investigating the feasibility of all three proposals, but said implementing them would require an amendment to the organization’s constitution. Council members interested in further discussions of this issue should notify McCardell or Provost John Swallow.

McCardell suggested “less frequent but more substantive meetings” might make serving on the council more attractive. Council representative David Coe endorsed the suggestion, pointing out that in the past year council meetings were canceled for lack of agenda items. The bylaws say the council shall “normally” meet on the fourth Monday of each month except in July and December.

Council representative Pam Byerly asked community residents to remember to take their garbage cans back to their homes following trash pickup.

Police Chief Marie Eldridge said she would investigate a complaint about trash dumped on Roark’s Cove

Road. If a name is found in the debris, the Police Department will ask the offender to clean up the site. If the individual responsible cannot be identified, Eldridge will look into having the Franklin County road crew address the problem.

On behalf of a constituent, council representative Chet Seigmund asked what steps should be taken when a leaseholder’s lawn was not maintained. Council representative and

SPARKLING SEWANEE

To the Editor:

Many thanks to all of the people who came out and cleaned up around Sewanee on April 19. Thank you so very much, Sewanee Mountain Messenger, for your coverage of the event.

And thank you to the Franklin County Sheriff's Department who came bright and early on April 21 to pick up the bags.

Because of you, Sewanee sparkles.

ATZ HELPS ANIMAL HARBOR

To the Editor:

The Franklin County Humane Society staff and board of directors would like to extend a big thanks to Alpha Tau Zeta (ATZ) sorority at Sewanee for raising $1,390 at its annual Animal Harbor Carnival fund-raiser on April 5. ATZ has raised a total of $2,500 and will name the concrete slab for outdoor dog runs at the new Animal Harbor Shelter.

ATZ was started by a small group of girls who felt there was not yet a Greek organization on campus that suited their quirkiness, brilliance and enthusiasm with the intent of remaining small (fewer than 25 members) in order to establish strong bonds and loyalty between sisters. They maintain this by spending their days encouraging and supporting each other's decisions and standing by them even when things are difficult. They know the Greek system has made them stronger individuals, and they believe that as long as ATZ is at Sewanee, even the most misplaced of women will always find their place on the Domain.

We are grateful for their commitment and dedication to Animal Harbor.

Gail Castle, Development Officer, Franklin County Humane Society ■

VISTASPONSORS

To the Editor:

Thank you for your report in the April 11 issue of the Messenger about the University's acceptance as an AmeriCorps VISTA site (Volunteers in Service to America).

While the University is the contractual sponsor of the South Cumberland Plateau VISTA Project, this program is co-sponsored by the South Cumberland Community Fund.

This project should matter to all of us since it offers significant capacity-building support to local programs and agencies serving low-income individuals and families. The South Cumberland Community Fund's generous support, visionary leadership and commitment to benefit Plateau communities has been central to the success of this grant.

We will offer more information about the program in the coming days. In the meantime, please join me in congratulating the Community Fund.

Please also consider supporting the fund in order to sustain this as well as its other ground-breaking initiatives.

Jim Peterman

*Director of Community Engagement
 The University of the South* ■

TAYLOR FAMILY THANKS

To the Editor:

My mother, Dessie, and I want to thank everyone in the Sewanee community for all they have done and contributed to help make the improvements to my mother's house that were so very badly needed.

With the improvements that have been made, we can already see a huge decrease in her utility bills. What a blessing! The work on her bedroom and bath is a miracle, and she thanks you with all her heart.

This loving community is one of the reasons I never left the Mountain. Sewanee has always been my home. The folks in this community are always willing to lend a hand to anyone in need. I thank God every day for my wonderful surroundings.

Emergency Preparedness Class Tuesday

Grundy County Emergency Management personnel will offer a class on emergency preparedness at 6 p.m., Tuesday, April 29, at the Monteagle Community Center. They will discuss how to respond to tornados, floods, lightning, hurricanes and earthquakes. Participants will learn how to make a plan and a "go bag" in the event of having to leave home in a hurry to go to a shelter. There will also be information on on-site shelters, the community emergency response teams and Neighborhood Watch programs.

All are welcome to attend this free program. This will be a basic class that could be expanded in several areas if there is interest. For more information call (931) 924-5353.

EQB Gathers on Wednesday

The EQB Club will meet for lunch at noon, Wednesday, April 30, at St. Mary's Sewanee. There will be a cameo about small businesses in Sewanee.

Reservations Due May 2 for Woman's Club Meeting

Reservations are due by Friday, May 2, for the next meeting of the Sewanee Woman's Club. The group will meet at 12 p.m., Monday, May 12, at the DuBose Conference Center in Monteagle. Sewanee religion professor Sid Brown will present "Reading the Bible to My Cat: Animal Religion." Her talk will explore some of the intriguing lines of inquiry in the area of religion and animals. May is traditionally "Hat Month," so guests are encouraged to wear a pretty Easter bonnet for the occasion.

The menu for lunch ($12) is: cup of broccoli soup, Caesar salad with grilled chicken breast, hot rolls and dessert. Luncheon reservations can be made by calling Pixie Dozier at 598-5869 or by email to Marianna Handler at <mariannah@earthlink.net>.

There is an optional social hour at 11:30 a.m. Lunch is served at noon. Programs begin at 12:30 p.m., with club business following around 1 p.m. Vegetarian meals and child care are available; please request these when making a reservation.

The club's annual dues are $5. These dues and the proceeds of the club's fund-raising events support Thurmond Library and community projects.

Reservations for May 5 Meeting of ECW Due May 2

The Rev. James Pappas will be the speaker at the Monday, May 5, meeting of the Episcopal Church Women. The group will gather for lunch at noon at St. James Episcopal Church in Midway.

In the final segment of the "Notable Women of Faith" series, Pappas will talk about Saint Clara of Assisi (1194-1253), one of the first followers of St. Francis of Assisi. She founded the Order of Poor Ladies, a monastic religious order for women in the Franciscan tradition.

Reservations for the catered lunch ($10) should be made by 6 p.m., Friday, May 2, by contacting Peggy Lines at 598-5863 or by email to <plines@sewanee.edu>.

Bibb at Academy on May 8

The Academy for Life Long Learning will meet at noon, Thursday, May 8, at St. Mary's Sewanee. Julian Bibb will talk about "Preserving Civil War Battlefields in Middle Tennessee." He was honored in 2013 by the Civil War Trust in Washington for his pro bono work in preserving battlefields by donating over $1 million in equivalent legal fees for this effort.

Guests may order lunch ($10) by emailing Debbie at <reservations@stmaryssewanee.org> in advance. For more information email Stephen Burnett at <burnett4343@bellsouth.net> or Anne Davis at <adavis951@gmail.com>.

Symphony & Chorale Concert

César Leal, will take the baton for the final performance of the season at 7:30 p.m., today (Friday), April 25, in Guerry Auditorium in a collaborative performance by the Sewanee Symphony Orchestra and the Sewanee Chorale, under the direction of Gary Sturgis.

The orchestra and chorale will pay tribute to the "Razzle, Dazzle Sounds of Broadway" and will feature the music of Richard Rogers and Oscar Hammerstein, as well as songs from "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Carousel." Senior soprano Carolyn Ramseur will sing "I Dreamed a Dream" from "Les Misérables."

The Sewanee Jazz Ensemble and barbershop singing will entertain audience members starting at 6 p.m., as they enter the auditorium. The concert is free.

"It has been an absolute pleasure working with César," said Sturgis. "He is a fine musician dedicated to this community and producing innovative and first-class performances."

Summer Family Eucharists Set for Otey Parish

This summer Otey Parish will offer a family Eucharist, followed by a picnic potluck supper one Sunday evening each month. The first gathering will be at 5 p.m., Sunday, May 18. This comes as you are service with a short homily and a few hymns will be followed by a potluck supper. The parish will provide an entree and nonalcoholic beverages. Parishioners are asked to bring a side dish or a dessert. Bring your own beer or wine, if desired.

On May 18, the group will be cooking hamburgers and hot dogs. Please RSVP for supper to Pratt Paterson at <prattpaterson@gmail.com>.

While this is called a "family" Eucharist, the naming of the service is intended to suggest a more casual, child-friendly service, though of course all are welcome.

Subsequent dates will be June 23, July 13 and Aug. 10.

If your church is in our circulation area and would like to be listed here, please send service times, church address and contact information to <news@sewanecemessenger.com> or phone 598-9949.

Church News

All Saints' Chapel

Growing in Grace will meet for the final time this semester at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, April 27. Hagi Bradley, assistant dean of students for student organizations at Sewanee, will be the speaker. Contact lay chaplain Rob McAlister, <rob.mcalister@sewanee.edu>, for more information.

Christ Church, Monteagle

Christ Church will celebrate the first Sunday after Easter at 10:30 a.m., Sunday, April 27, about which Bp. William Millsaps said: "This day has been known by many names. Some calendars actually have 'Low Sunday' as a title. This probably had to do with the 'lower' or simpler ceremony on this day as compared to Easter day. Another theory is that it came from an Introit in Latin which began with the word 'laud,' which translated into English means 'praise.'"

Otey Memorial Parish Church

Otey Parish will have a special 10 a.m. service on Sunday, April 27, in honor of the visit of the Right Rev. John Bauerschmidt. The bishop will be celebrating and preaching (there will be no 8:50 a.m. or 11 a.m. services). The service will include confirmation and reaffirmation of candidates.

After the service, there will be a brief forum with the bishop in the church followed by a reception in Brooks Hall to celebrate the new confirmands and to welcome Bp. Bauerschmidt back to the Mountain. The undesignated offering on this day will be for the Bishop's Discretionary Fund. Also on April 27, there will be an in-gathering of the "Two Cents" containers at the 10 a.m. service.

Sisters of St. Mary on Retreat

The Sisters of St. Mary will be in silent retreat on Monday, April 28, through Saturday, May 3. The convent will be closed. The only worship services during this week will be at 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Tuesday–Saturday. All are welcome to come to worship at those times. The Sunday schedule (April 27 and May 4) is not changed; Eucharist with hymns at 8 a.m., followed by breakfast and 5 p.m. Evensong.

Unitarian Universalist, Tullahoma

Six Blue Monarch Women to Graduate

Friends and supporters of Blue Monarch are invited to a graduation ceremony for six women who have completed the challenging Blue Monarch curriculum. The special event will be at 3 p.m., Sunday, April 27, at the Madeline and Howell Adams Blue Monarch Campus. All six graduates will participate in the ceremony, and two of the women will share their touching stories of recovery.

Blue Monarch is a local Christian nonprofit and residential program for women and their children who are recovering from abuse and addictions. Founded in 2003, the organization has served more than 500 women and children from across the state of Tennessee.

"The women of Blue Monarch are the most courageous women I've ever met," said Susan Binkley, founder and executive director. "Our program requires changing practically every aspect of one's life—how you parent your children, the foods you choose to eat, how you spend your time and money, the way you conduct yourself in the workplace and basically, how you see the world. It takes tremendous determination and courage."

Graduation is defined by successfully completing the Blue Monarch curriculum, which includes a variety of classes and activities that address the recovery of mind, body and spirit. This process may take a year for some, and longer for others. Hands-on parenting coaching is a large focus area of the program, giving women the tools to effectively parent their children, many of whom may have previously lost custody.

"We recognized a long time ago that trying to parent a child sober for the first time could easily become the greatest trigger for relapse," said Binkley. "So we began focusing much more on parenting instruction so women would be better prepared to care for their children when they left our program and were on their own as a single parent."

The women who will be graduating this Sunday are Whitney Alexander, Brittany Bushart, Lou Ann Cantrell, Justina Coffey, Jennifer Coppinger, and Donaree Masters. For information or directions email <Alicia@bluemonarch.org> or call (931) 924-8900.

New Name for Emerald-Hodgson Hospital

Beginning on May 1, Emerald-Hodgson Hospital will be renamed to become Southern Tennessee Regional Health System Sewanee. This is the final step in the process of joining Southern Tennessee Regional Health System (STRHS).

"We believe this name change will benefit each hospital in the system," said Phil Young, president of STRHS. "The change will highlight the fact that each hospital is part of a larger health system that brings strength to our hospitals and benefits the communities we serve."

STRHS' other campuses will change their names on May 1, as well: Southern Tennessee Regional Health System Pulaski (formerly Hillside Hospital); Southern Tennessee Regional Health System Lawrenceburg (formerly Crockett Hospital); and Southern Tennessee Regional Health System Winchester (formerly Southern Tennessee Medical Center). Ralph Underwood is the hospital Administrator in Sewanee.

"As affiliates of LifePoint Hospitals since the company's founding in 1999, our four hospitals have benefited from shared services such as information technology, best practices in quality care and patient safety, and access to capital for ongoing investments in facilities and equipment," said Young.

The four hospitals joined forces in October 2013 to share best practices in the southern middle Tennessee region. The combined system has 382 licensed beds, more than 300 affiliated physicians, 1,250 employees, and serves more than 160,000 people.

Each campus will have an official sign unveiling ceremony on May 1 beginning in Sewanee at 8 a.m., Winchester at 10 a.m., Pulaski at 1 p.m. and Lawrenceburg at 3 p.m.

Appalachian Women's Guild Seeks Donations for Thrift Store

As folks begin to clean out those corners and cubbyholes and closets, the Appalachian Women's Guild (AWG) offers these reminders about its program.

AWG would be happy to take donated clothing and household goods to sell in its Thrift Store in Tracy City. Donations may be dropped off throughout the week, or call ahead to schedule a pickup of very large items.

The AWG is located at 492 Main St., and is open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

AWG's mission is to act as an agent of change in the community in which it lives and breathes. Through interaction and faith, it strives to empower the small, still voice that says, "I can."

Center for Faith and Service at McCormick Seminary; Joy Anderson of the Criterion Institute; the Rev. Kammy Young, director of contextual education at the School of Theology, presented "Be the Change Alabama," a partnership that couples seminary training with community organizing; the Rev. Chris Keller, director of SUMMA debate camp; Karen Meridith and the Rev. John de Beer of Education for Ministry presented a preview of the new post-grad EfM curriculum "Essential Practices of Christian Disciples"; Jim Goodman, director of VocationCARE; and Courtney Cowart, director of the Beecken Center, previewed "Living in the Green."

Participants also included Church Publishing, Wild Goose Festival, Society for the Increase of Ministry, Episcopal Relief and Development, The Godly Play Foundation, DuBose Conference Center, Living Compass, Mountain T.O.P., Youth Ministry Architects and Otey Parish. Robin Gottfried, Nora Vinas, Dixon Myers and Jim Peterman represented the University.

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School students Lachlan Hassman and Colburn Hassman, Kilmarnock, Va.; Vanessa Moss, Sylva, N.C.; Katie Mobley, Lexington, Tenn.; Meghan McPherson, Nashville, Tenn.; and Cooper Nickels, Manchester, Tenn., were also part of the gathering.

Anne Chenoweth, director of admissions and financial aid at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, selected the students because of their leadership qualities and their interest in outreach.

"I wanted the wisdom of St. Andrew's-Sewanee School students in the room. I believed it would vastly enrich everyone's experience," Cowart said.

"I loved the conversations," said Nickels, a ninth-grade day student at SAS. "I met many interesting people, one of whom was Father John from Uganda."

In closing, Regan Schutz of the Godly Play Foundation offered worship through a Godly Play session, encouraging participants to begin processing new ways of thinking introduced by the conference. However, the program did not end there.

Ripples from the conference continued to multiply, as ministry innovators shared ideas and synced with like minds. For Tumwine, this included new relationships with leaders at the School of Theology, Education for Ministry and the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge.

Tumwine's new friends hosted a party in his honor, where children handed him a wrapped gift. Inside was a new laptop. But the Ugandan priest did not tear off the gold wrapping paper. Instead, he looked slowly from face to face, and he began to sing,

O Jesus, I have promised
To serve Thee to the end;
Be Thou forever near me,
My Master and my Friend....
(John E. Bode, 1868)

of $108,000. This year 107 new donors stepped up to support the Community Chest, which sponsors 28 organizations and groups whose work makes a marked difference in quality of life on the Cumberland Plateau.

The Civic Association is seeking two stewards to chair the 2014-15 fund drive. This year's stewards, Kiki Beavers and Theresa Shackelford, spoke briefly about the role. The Community Chest stewards' core responsibilities are marketing and launching a public relations campaign, including overseeing mailings and record-keeping.

The Civic Association approved a bylaws revision that takes into account new initiatives undertaken by the organization, including the Sewanee Classifieds email list and the parks and investments committees. The updated bylaws will be submitted to the IRS in conjunction with a request to restore the tax-exempt status of the Civic Association. The nonprofit charter of the Civic Association lapsed in 1988 when the annual renewal process was not completed. The Community Chest is chartered separately and no laps in nonprofit status have occurred.

Jade McBee Barry, chair of the July 4 committee, announced that this year's theme is "A Razzle Dazzle Fourth of July." The committee is $700 short in funds since donations last year were lower than expected.

In response to a question about the Sewanee Community Center, Sewanee Business Alliance representative John Goodson said plans for a new community center were a "high priority" in the downtown renovation planning process, and a survey would be circulated via Sewanee Classifieds and Announcements to invite community input.

Superintendent of Leases Barbara Schlichting said her office should be notified in such cases, and she would investigate the complaint.

Council representative Coe called attention to two incidences of unsightly logging done at a time when visitors would be present on campus and asked that in the future the University take into account aesthetics and timing.

Frank Gladu, the University's vice president of administrative services, announced that there will be an open house at the new Sewanee Inn in early May [specific details will be in next week's Messenger]. Gladu also announced a mid-May focus group session to discuss the draft action plan for the downtown area produced by the architectural firm Ayers Saint Gross. The council's next meeting is on May 19.

Lectures

Scholarship Sewanee

As part of Scholarship Sewanee, professor Paul Bartrop will give the McCrady lecture at 1 p.m., today (Friday), April 25, in Blackman Auditorium. Bartrop teaches at Florida Gulf Coast University and will discuss "Goodness during the Holocaust."

Scholarship Sewanee also includes talks by students and faculty in biology, chemistry, politics, economics, history, international and global studies (and more), as well as a poster session involving presentations from a variety of disciplines.

Details are at <http://research.sewanee.edu/events/scholarship-sewanee-2014>.

Father Jones Lecture in Cowan

"Plantation to Pulpit: The Life and Ministry of Father Jones," will be the topic of a lecture at 4 p.m. on Sunday, April 27, at Cowan Center for the Arts. John Lynch, a local historian, will tell stories of Father Jones, a priest who chose to live and work in Sherwood, during one of the nation's hardest economic times. The lecture is free, and refreshments are served. This year's lecture series, "Characters of the County," is provided in partnership with the Franklin County Historical Society.

Abuse Prevention Talk Monday

Charlotte Brandin, executive director of World Childhood Foundation USA, will give a talk at 4:30 p.m., Monday, April 28, in Gailor Auditorium. She will discuss the foundation's work to raise awareness of and intervene in the sexual abuse and exploitation of children. The event is free and open to the public. The talk is co-sponsored by the University of the South Center for Community Engagement, the Grundy County family collaborative Discover Together and the University Lectures Committee. For additional information contact Jim Peterman at 598-1482.

SAS Students to Present at Junior Academy of Sciences

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School students Sam Smith, Kyra Wilson and Christian Taylor have been selected to present their research at the Tennessee Junior Academy of Sciences (TJAS) annual meeting on April 25 at Belmont University.

Their work, conducted as part of the SAS freshmen conceptual physics course, was one of roughly 23 papers selected by the reading committee from research conducted by high school students across Tennessee.

Smith, Wilson and Taylor will present their research, "Voltage Measured Relative to Angle of Solar Panel," to be evaluated by three university professors. If theirs is judged to be one of the top six papers, the entire paper will be published in the Handbook and Proceedings of the Tennessee Junior Academy of Sciences 2014. They will also receive a cash prize if their paper is selected for publication. Regardless of the outcome, their abstract will be published.

SAS physics teacher Luke Diamond said, "This is a particularly remarkable achievement in that they are a freshmen team competing against upperclassmen."

Two additional SAS student research papers were selected for abstract publication in the 2014 TJAS Handbook: "The Effect of Added Weight on Draft" by Cooper Nickels and Sam Thomas and "The Effect of Angle on the Efficiency of an Inclined Plane" by Crawford Emory and Ashton Milford.

The Tennessee Junior Academy of Science (TJAS) is designed to further the cause of science education in high schools by providing an annual program of scientific atmosphere and stimulation for capable students. It is comparable to scientific meetings of adult scientists. The Junior Academy supplements other efforts in the encouragement of able students of science by providing an avenue of stimulation and expression.

The Hobbit: The Desolation of Smaug

Rated PG-13 • 161 minutes

Martin Freeman and Ian McKellen return to the Tolkien classic “The Hobbit” in this second of three parts of director Peter Jackson’s trilogy based on the beloved book. If you love Bilbo Baggins and Gandalf, you’ll be right at home in this long and winding story. Benedict Cumberbatch is the wonderfully scary voice of Smaug. Rated PG-13 for extended sequences of intense fantasy action violence and frightening images. —LW

War and Peace

Rated PG • 208 minutes

Come see an all-star cast in this 1956 adaptation of Tolstoy’s novel, and enjoy an old-fashioned epic film. Acclaimed director King Vidor offers a sweeping version of this long novel. One of the most expensive pictures of its time, it is often praised for the panoramic battle scenes that look incredibly realistic (and this was before CGI). Starring Audry Hepburn, Henry Fonda and Mel Ferrer. Rated PG for violence.

Anchorman 2: The Legend Continues

Rated R • 119 minutes

Ron Burgandy (Will Ferrell) is back with his gang of nitwit television broadcasters: weatherman Brick (Steve Carell), roving reporter Brian Fantana (Paul Rudd) and sportscaster Champ (David Koechner). This time, they are in New York City for the birth of a new 24-hour news network. If you liked the first “Anchorman,” you’ll be amused by this one. Some of the jokes are tired, and it feels like Ferrell and friends gathered to have a good time and make a movie in the process. This sequel simply doesn’t have the punch of the first one. Stay classy, Sewanee. You can decide for yourself. Rated R for language, drug use, sexual material and references.

HEARING HEALTH NEWS

by Debbie Gamache,
M.S. CCC-A Audiologist

HEAR AND NOW

As the hearing instrument industry enters an era of improvements inspired by advances in digital developments and wireless technologies, the hearing-impaired public has more reason than ever to take advantage of devices that will help them to hear better.

For 21 million Americans, hearing the world around them is a daily challenge. Some have faced hearing loss since childhood, and others have had their hearing affected by illness of prolonged exposure to noise. For many, however, hearing loss is a reflection of passing time. Is your hearing less than it used to be? Debbie Gamache’s The Hearing Center LLC is located at 705 NW Atlantic St., Suite B, in Tullahoma and invites your call at (931) 393-2051 for complete hearing services from a licensed, certified audiologist. Cornbread Festival Celebrates 18th Year

The 18th annual National Cornbread Festival, Saturday and Sunday, April 26 and 27, in downtown South Pittsburg offers cornbread cook-offs, arts and crafts vendors, food vendors, all-day entertainment, a children’s corner, a historic tour of homes via a double-decker bus, tours of the Lodge Foundry and a full midway-style carnival.

On Saturday, a 5K Road Race will kick off the festival at 7 a.m. The 4-H cook-off competitions follow at 9:30 a.m., with the National Cornbread Cook-off beginning at 1 p.m. in the competition area on 2nd Street.

Weekend-long activities include singers, dancers, buttermilk chugs, dry cornbread-eating and ice cream-eating contests at Citizens Park Stage on 4th Street and in the newly renovated Princess Theater.

The festival will be open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., on Saturday, April 26, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday. Admission is $5 per person each day; preschool children are admitted free.

For more information, including the daily schedule and parking information, go to <www.nationalcornbread.com>.

“On the Verge” at Williams Center

Theatre/Sewanee will present “On the Verge,” a comedy by Eric Overmyer, at 7:30 p.m., today (Friday) and Saturday, April 25–26, with a 2 p.m. Sunday matinee on April 27 in the Tennessee Williams Center. Admission is free.

The play is directed by senior theatre major Beckett Scott, with scenery and lighting by senior theatre major Andy Philpo and costumes by senior history major Derek Williams. Mary Morrison is the production stage manager, with John Marshall as technical director.

In “On the Verge,” three Victorian lady explorers, played by Elise Anderson, Sarah High and Pagie Wilson, set out on an adventure that takes them to darkest Africa, highest Himalaya and Terra Incognita, where they encounter a number of fascinating chimera and alarming characters, all played by Hyatt Pyle and Cody Snead. Heroines to their heart, the explorers can accommodate themselves to any emergency, natural or manmade.

Recitals & Concerts

Assistant University Organist Recital

Assistant University organist Parks Greene will present an organ recital at 4:45 p.m., today (Friday), April 25, in All Saints’ Chapel. The program will include music spanning from the 18th century to the present, with works by Dieterich Buxtehude, Johann Ludwig Krebs, Leo Sowerby, Ad Wammes and Richard Greene. The program is free and open to the public.

Sewanee Praise Spring Concert

Sewanee Praise, the University gospel choir, will give its spring concert at 6:30 p.m., Saturday, April 26, in St. Luke’s Chapel. There will be a reception after the concert in the Bishop’s Common Hearth Room. Sewanee Praise is directed by visiting professor of music Prakash Wright.

Sewanee Folk Music Collective

The Sewanee Folk Music Collective will have its spring concert at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 1, in St. Luke’s Chapel. The group will perform Czech, Celtic and French folk music. The concert is free and open to the public.

In-Town Gallery May Show

“New Work—Year 40” is the new exhibition at In-Town Gallery in May. Midway through its 40th anniversary year, four new artist-members are being introduced: Denice Bizot, metal sculptor; Eugenia Johnston, painter; Eric Davidson, stone sculptor; and Irene Catlin, fiber arts. The entire gallery will be ‘refreshed’ with all new work from the 30 established regional artists. The opening reception from 5 to 8 p.m. EDT on Friday, May 2, is an opportunity to meet the new artists and see all their work for the ‘first’ time.

A selection of pieces from the three different 3-D works and one 2-D will make an interesting front-wall display at the gallery. Denice Bizot creates intricate pierced designs in found scraps of metal and cast-off garden tools. Her “Shovelization” collection of oxidized steel shovel heads are signature pieces exhibiting a variety of openwork patterns. Working as a professional sculptor for 14 years, Bizot has exhibited in fine art galleries across the U.S.

Painter Eugenia Johnston produces vibrantly colored subjects in a contemporary style. Educated in a variety of media, she currently concentrates on acrylics. Her work is in private, academic and corporate collections around the Southeast.

Eric Davidson discovered he had a talent for carving stone when he built a flagstone patio at his home and received some limestone pieces from a friend. He created a gargoyle stone bird bath, carved a 3-D frog and a 2-D relief of a hummingbird with a flagstone plaque to decorate his new patio. Davidson’s training toward a planned career as a firefighter and achieving professional status in white-water kayaking got him in the physical shape required to handle these heavy materials.

The specialized “art of the loom” is Irene Catlin’s area of expertise. She has two main looms—a 26” wide eight-harness Schacht Baby Wolf and a 36” wide four-harness Schacht Mighty Wolf. Both are jackknife-type floor looms which she partially assembled and taught herself to use.

In-Town Gallery is one of the oldest cooperative galleries in the nation. It presents the original work of more than 30 regional studio artists. It is located at 26A Frazier Ave., in Chattanooga.

Make Wine for Bonnaroo at Beans Creek

Beans Creek Winery will offer a Wine Blending class and competition at 2 p.m., Thursday, May 10. The winning blend will be the blend for Bonnaroo white wine.

Josh Brown will describe how participants can combine wines. Each person will create his or her own blend.

Tom Brown and Josh Brown, the Beans Creek winemakers, will judge the blends and choose the winner for the Bonnaroo wine. The name of the winner will appear on Beans Creek Winery's website, menus, marketing materials and social media.

Beans Creek Winery located in Manchester releases Bonnaroo White Wine every year in June before the Bonnaroo Festival. This year, Bonnaroo starts on June 12.

Tickets for class and competition are $25 per person ($20 for wine club members). For more information or to register call (931) 723-2294.

Call for Sales Gallery Exhibitors

The Cumberland Farmers Market (CFM) will host a sales gallery exhibit featuring the work of area artists in conjunction with Taste of the Market, 12-4 p.m., Saturday, June 28, at the Sewanee Community Center. The CFM is seeking exhibitors to display their work.

Taste of the Market is an opportunity for the community to sample the Market's products and to meet the CFM growers and producers who will be on hand to answer questions about what goes on behind the scenes at their farms and home kitchens. The event is free and open to the public.

To register as an exhibitor contact Art in the Market coordinator Leslie Lytle, <sllytle@blomand.net> or (931) 592-6594. Deadline for registration is June 14.

Local Business Takes Recycling Efforts to the Next Level

Tyler Hankins has taken his part-time job as the recycling coordinator for a local remodeling company and turned it into his passion, including his Eagle Scout Project.

Tyler is a 17-year-old home-schooled high school senior who works part-time for Joseph's Remodeling Solutions (JRS) during the school year, and full-time during summers since 2012. He has various responsibilities working with JRS, one being the recycling coordinator, and he often shares his passion for recycling with people he meets at the Sewanee Convenience Center and in other places around town.

As the recycling coordinator for JRS, Tyler collects recyclable materials and reports what and how much is recycled at monthly company meetings. From late-January until mid-April, Tyler reported that JRS recycled items that filled 50 gallon trash bins: 11 cardboard bins, two plastic bins and four metal bins. He takes copper wire and pipe, brass fittings, aluminum (usually from gutters and flashing), saw blades, screws, door handles, knobs and hinges to PPSI Iron & Metal scrap yard in Pelham. On March 5, Tyler carried 457 pounds of scrap metal to PPSI, which brought $94. The money was split: $32 went for breakfast for JRS team members, $10 was reimbursement to Tyler for gas, and $52 was donated to Tyler's church youth group at First United Methodist Church in Winchester.

Beyond recyclable materials and scrap metals, JRS repurposes other building materials whenever possible. Creative minds and excellent building skills have turned old-growth framing lumber into a headboard and built-in night stands, as well as wainscoting for a music room, and a beautiful, built-in

Last month Tyler completed his Eagle Scout project building duck boxes out of repurposed redwood paneling and salvaged hinges. The boxes have been placed around local ponds and lakes to restore the local wood duck population.

"On so many levels our recycling program is a success," said JRS owner Joseph Sumpter, "from minimizing landfill waste, to contributing to a young man's Eagle Scout project, to educating and improving our company culture, to supporting a local church youth group, to building something new out of something old, to helping encourage the repopulation of wood ducks. I am very proud of my team and the work they are doing."

Rotary's 26th Annual Golf Tourney

The Monteagle/Sewanee Rotary Club and Citizens State Bank are hosting the 26th Annual Golf Tournament on Friday, May 2, at the Course in Sewanee. Registration and lunch begins at 11:30 a.m., with a shotgun start at 1 p.m. Proper golf attire is required.

This is the Rotary Club's major fund-raiser that provides scholarships to Grundy County students. The club offers two one-time awards of $1,000 scholarships to students at the college of their choice. In addition, the proceeds will continue building an endowed scholarship fund at the University of the South to help support a student from Grundy County through his or her four years at Sewanee.

Tournament participants will enjoy a barbecue lunch provided by Phat Boy BBQ and beverages courtesy of the Blue Chair Tavern.

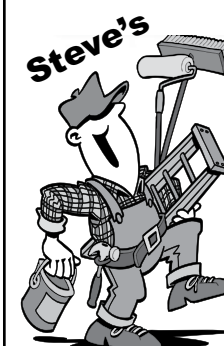

Adding to the day's excitement is the chance to make a hole-in-one and win a 2014 Chevrolet Cruze from Russell Barnett Chevrolet.

The event will include a 4-person scramble, practice range and player gifts.

SAS Drops Doubleheaders

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee baseball team dropped a doubleheader to Mt. Juliet Christian Academy by scores of 6-0 and 8-0 on April 14.

In the first game, pitcher Casey Willis took the loss, allowing only one earned run in five innings of work. Willis allowed five hits and two bases on balls, while striking out nine MJCA batters. Neither team was able to tally a run in the first two innings. MJCA broke the scoreless game in the third inning, as the host team scored three unearned runs on several misplayed balls and errors. SAS was able to mount a rally of their own in the sixth inning as they loaded the bases, but were unable to get a timely hit, and the threat ended with MJCA holding a 4-0 lead.

Sam Thomas relieved Willis on the mound and after allowing one out single, MJCA's shortstop unloaded a two-run home run for the final score of 6-0.

Levi Higgins and Willis led the Mountain Lions in hitting with two hits each. JR Clay also stroked a solid single and continued to play superb defense at first base. Garrison Thompson continued his good work at the plate by going 1-2 in the contest.

In the second game of the day, MJCA jumped out to a 4-0 lead in the first inning against starting pitcher Riley Rhoton. Rhoton settled in to shut the host team out until the defense faltered in the third inning to allow four unearned runs after two outs to extend the lead to 8-0. Rhoton and relief pitcher Higgins held MJCA scoreless after the third inning. SAS could only muster singles by Higgins and Christian Hanger to go along with a base on balls earned by Rhoton in the second game.

SAS dropped a doubleheader to Ezell Harding Christian Academy by scores of 14-4 and 10-0 on April 17.

In the first game of the doubleheader, Ezell jumped out to a 4-0 lead in the first inning, as starting pitcher Rhoton struggled with his control, walking three Eagles in the first inning.

SAS countered by scoring four runs in their half of the third inning to tie the contest at 4-4. Thomas Kim opened the inning with a solid single, and Casey Willis was hit by a pitch to put runners at first and second with no outs. After one out, Higgins walked to load the bases before Jake Berman singled home a run. Hanger reached on an error to score the second run, and Clay doubled to tie the contest.

Ezell countered in their half of the third inning, scoring seven runs to extend the lead to 11-4, as the Mountain Lions defense opened the door for the host team by allowing a couple of catchable balls to drop, and a couple of errors allowed Ezell to essentially put the game away. Rhoton held Ezell scoreless and was relieved in the seventh inning, as Ezell closed out the contest.

Thomas broke out of a mini slump by going 2-3 in the contest to lead SAS at the plate. Higgins, Berman and Thomas Kim also contributed singles, and Clay doubled in three plate appearances.

In the second game of the doubleheader, SAS could only muster three hits, as Ezell Harding scored three runs in the first inning and four runs in the third inning against starting pitcher Higgins before closing out the scoring with three runs in the sixth inning. Willis, Rhoton and Thompson contributed one hit each. Rhoton, Sam Thomas and Seth Horton also coaxed walks from the host team to reach base in the contest. Berman, Clay and Thomas turned in a couple of defensive gems to allow SAS to stay within striking distance.

SAS Earns Points in Chattanooga Meets

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee track and field team competed in two Chattanooga meets. On April 8, the team traveled to Girls Preparatory School, where several athletes earned points for SAS in their events. Amelie Ohler won third place in the long jump, followed closely by captain Katie Mobley, who earned fourth. Fellow captains Sarah Beavers and James Beasley also had very strong showings in their respective events. Beavers earned third place in the shot put and second place in discus. Beasley came in third in the 110m high hurdles and won the 300m intermediate hurdles with a final time of 43.5 seconds.

On April 10, the SAS boys' 4x400m relay team of Eric Baynard, Beasley, Burton Dorough and Lucas Lu ran a 3:44.4 (within a second of the school record) to put on the best show for SAS at the Baylor meet.

Lacrosse Advances to Semifinals

The Sewanee women's lacrosse team opened the 2014 conference tournament with a 19-2 quarterfinal win over Hendrix on April 19.

Sewanee opened the match quickly, scoring three goals in less than three minutes. That helped Sewanee take a commanding 11-1 lead into halftime. The Tigers would then add another eight goals to Hendrix's one in the second half.

Mallory Grimm and Katie Riddle each finished with a match-high three goals. Brita Brudvig, Emily Hylton, Ella Richardson and Sally Anne Greenwood added two goals each. In goal Crawford Horan finished with five saves for her 11th win. Also on defense, Greenwood caused five turnovers.

W&L Holds on for Tennis Win

No. 24 Washington & Lee held on for a 5-4 win over the Sewanee men's tennis team on April 18.

The Tigers dropped their overall record to 11-6 and also snapped a seven-match winning streak.

Sewanee earned its first point, as Avery Schober and Connor Winkler defeated Sam Borowsky and Christopher Hu, 8-5, at No. 2.

W&L then won at the No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4 positions. Sewanee did fight back as Schober defeated Taylor Shamshiri at No. 1, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3. Sean Laughlin rallied back from a set down to win at No. 5, 4-6, 6-0, 6-4. Scott Gallimore won at No. 6 over Borowsky by a score of 3-6, 6-4, 10-7.

SAS Varsity Soccer Update

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee varsity boys' soccer team had a home match on April 15 against district rival Donelson Christian Academy. SAS controlled the game from the kickoff and created multiple chances on goal, but couldn't find the finishing touch. The breakthrough came toward the end of the half, when Sam Smith made a great run through the back line and finished calmly in the corner. The Mountain Lions second goal came right after halftime, when Andrew Heitzenrater pounced on a loose ball after some confusion in the DCA defense and slotted the ball into the side netting with the outside of his right boot. Takumi Morozumi sent a beautiful curling ball into the box for Smith, who added his second goal of the night. Morozumi completed the scoring by cutting onto his favored left foot after a great run into the box and curled the ball into the net. The game ended 4-0.

SAS hosted Webb Knox in a district match-up on April 19. Webb controlled most of the game, forcing SAS to be on the defense. SAS defended well, and the game was tied until late in the second half. Off a Webb corner, the ball bounced around in the box, was cleared off the line and then pounced on by a Webb striker, who put it away. The game ended 1-0.

SAS Softball

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee softball team traveled to Nashville for a doubleheader with Donelson Christian Academy on April 16. Donelson took both games by scores of 17-0 and 16-1.

Pitcher Michiah Posey pitched both, giving up four earned runs in game one and five in game two. The highlight for SAS was a towering home run by shortstop Rita Parris in the second inning of the second game. The blast was the first career homer for Parris, and it cleared the fence by a good 10 feet. Second baseman Ashley Barry had the only other hit for SAS, with a single to right field. On defense, third baseman Aly Barry turned a double play with an unassisted force at third and nailed a runner going to home with a perfect throw to catcher Abbie Mainzer in the third inning of the second game.

Top Performances at Mountain Laurel Meet

The Sewanee men's and women's track and field teams had a number of outstanding performances on April 18 at the their annual Mountain Laurel Twilight Invitational.

In the women's events, Amy Lee kicked things off with a sixth-place finish in the 800-meter run. Her time of 2:27.30 earned the Tigers three points. Lee then finished fourth in the 1500 meters with a mark of 4:59.05.

Amy Nelson placed second in the discus throw with a final toss of 35.43m. Nelson then finished second in the women's hammer throw with a toss of 45.84m.

In the men's events, sprinter Cortez Brown took the bronze in the 100-meter dash. Brown's time of 11.28 seconds was the second fastest NCAA Division III performance in the race. Brown then earned another top-10 with a sixth place finish in the 200-meter dash.

In the 400-meter dash Will Merrell finished third with a time of 53.28 seconds. Amiel Emerson finished sixth in the 800-meter run with a mark of 1:57.90.

The Tigers then dominated the men's 3000 meters. Sewanee had four runners finish in the top 10, led by Logan Stockton. Stockton's time of 9:20.02 just edged out teammates Jason Grimes (sixth, 9:30.43), Mark McAlister (seventh, 9:32.41), and Jourdan Redden (10th, 9:41.59).

Josh Hirakawa finished second in the men's 110 hurdles with a time of 15.83 seconds. Hirakawa would go on and add a second-place finish in the high jump with a height of 1.80m.

The Tigers also won the 4x100 and 4x400 relays.

Lonnie Scott placed fourth in the men's shot put with a distance of 11.50m.

Hendrix Wins Baseball Series

Despite opening the day with a strong 4-0 win, the Sewanee baseball team fell just short of its first conference series win on April 19, as Hendrix rallied late in the final game to split a doubleheader.

After the first game win, Sewanee dropped the nightcap, 6-4.

In the opener, starter Charles Warren was outstanding. Warren tossed a six-hit complete game shutout, while striking out two. Warren also walked only two batters and limited the Warriors to no extra base hits.

In the nightcap, Hendrix opened with one run in the first and two in the second inning.

Despite its 3-0 deficit, Sewanee rallied back in the bottom of the fourth. Sewanee sent nine batters to the plate and scored four runs on three hits.

Hendrix responded back with an RBI single in the top of the fifth.

The score would remain knotted at 4-4 until the top of the seventh. Despite looking like the Tigers would get out of the inning undamaged, two bases loaded walks allowed Hendrix to take the lead for good.

OVERTIME

by John Shackelford

One of my favorite activities of the year is the two weeks I spend sitting on a beach chair, cheap paperback novel in hand, watching the waves lap against the shore in North Carolina. With each attack the wave loses its battle against the land and retreats into the sea, taking with it a few grains of sand from its ancient adversary. When coaching, parenting or simply navigating through the events of the day, I am reminded of those waves as I watch the conflict between new-age ideas and old-school values. Those of us who grew up in the 1960s or 70s have first-hand knowledge of the experiments that led to the notion of not simply wanting Johnny to follow the rule as much as we wanted him to understand it. That seemed like a great idea to me as an eight-year-old. "Mom, I don't really need to sit in the corner. Could you just explain to me the concept of why I should have done my homework on time? And could you give me a trophy afterward when I do complete my work?" We didn't want kids to become robots who simply did their homework because it was the rule. We wanted them to have the desire to do their homework because they enjoyed the learning experience, and the intrinsic reward was a strong sense of self-worth.

Fifty years later I can see how much of the sand has eroded into the ocean. College students and the athletes I coach today have instant access to the entire world at the touch of their fingertips. That also seemed like a great idea at first glance, but there is no waiting, no delay in gratification. Now Johnny can sit in the corner, research the reason he is required to be there on Google, send a photo of himself chained to the chair to all of his friends through Instagram or Snapchat, and elicit enough "likes" of the photo to properly build his self-esteem throughout this trying ordeal.

One of the old-school words I did grow up with was "sacrifice." An athlete had to choose between giving his time to his team every day, which might result in missing out on other fun events that his friends were participating in during the weekend. People now talk or text when they drive because they don't want to miss out on wherever they are going in the car, while being denied the immediacy of a conversation back at home or on the beach with our friend who isn't headed in the same direction. We are raising a generation that doesn't understand sacrifice. Why spend hours in the library reading a book when the answer to every question is only a few finger-taps away on my phone? In fact, if we take our young troublemaker's chair out to the beach, he can sit in the corner next to a shade tree while doing his homework on his iPad, texting his friends back home, while having a FaceTime conversation with his therapist explaining to him why he must sit in that awful chair. We don't have to sacrifice or miss out on anything. Today we can have it all. Why decipher Shakespeare for hours when Cliff's Notes can provide the short version while sitting leisurely in Starbucks with a Grande Skinny Mocha Latte and grilled eggplant panini?

In 1971 my family was offered some tickets to watch the U.S. Davis Cup matches against Ilie Nastase and his Romanian team in Charlotte, N.C. I was told that we could not accept the tickets because my parents had a previous commitment to teach Sunday school that weekend. I was stunned. "Why couldn't you just find a substitute?" I asked. My mother explained that when you made a commitment, you didn't break your word. Those are old-school values, impenetrable rocks on the shore; my-word-is-my-bond type of sacrifice.

I sometimes struggle these days with my student-athletes' busy schedules. They need to fit practice into a life of fraternity and sorority meetings, beach formals, Netflix viewings and class meetings held in Stirling's. The old-school handwritten "note from a doctor" has been replaced with a last-minute text message informing a coach of an impending test that the student did not have time to study for over the weekend due to several important social engagements that simply couldn't be missed. Sacrifice is being washed out to sea like so many grains of sand.

The truth is I am more often than not impressed with how active, busy and successful most of our students are these days. They excel in the classroom, the court and are able to recycle their latte cups while walking (not driving) to class. Perhaps it is just that I am an old man eroding into the Atlantic one new-age idea at a time, or maybe it is just that time of year when I need to go sit in a sunny spot with a cheap paperback in hand, listening to the waves coming for me.

NATURENOTES

By Jean Yeatman

Life cycle of the Luna Moth

Easter Beauty

"Easter morning," Jean Yeatman reports, "I looked out at my feeding area, and thought that 'the Bunny' had brought me all blue eggs! There were seven Blue Jays and three brilliant, almost iridescent, blue Indigo Buntings. The jays are quite handsome, but when they go around in flocks like this in the spring, they can be destructive to other birds' nests, as they will eat the eggs or the baby birds.

"Next," she continued, "I looked on my deck and there was a beautiful green Luna Moth sitting on the window. The Luna Moth is in the Giant Silkworm Moth family. The green wings with their long tails have margins edged in pink to purple in the spring brood. In the summer brood, the wings have a yellow margin.

"The larvae feed mainly on sweet gum, hickory, walnut or persimmon," she concluded. "The pupa is active in its papery cocoon, which is usually spun on the ground."

Pets of the Week

Meet Kitzu and Tortuga

Kitzu

Tortuga

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Kitzu is a darling 10-pound fluff ball with soft, smooth hair who looks like a Pekingese mix. She is a joyful little dog who wants to be petted and adored. Kitzu is up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Beautiful Tortuga is a Tortoiseshell cat with captivating green/gold eyes. She is shy at first, but once she warms up, she's a purring machine! She would love to be adopted by an older person or couple with a quiet home. Tortuga is negative for FeL and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>. Please help the Humane Society continue to save abandoned pets by sending donations to the Franklin County Humane Society, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Barbara Hart celebrates pulling a bag full of garlic mustard plants.

Garlic Mustard Pull

Five people came out to Morgan's Steep on April 19 to pull garlic mustard, an aggressive, invasive plant that is spreading through some of the local forests. It is in bloom now, with clusters of small four-petaled white flowers at the tips of 12- to 18-inch high plants. Further down the stem, long thin fruits, loaded with tiny mustard seeds, are forming.

In June, the seedpods will dry, burst open, and scatter seeds by the hundreds. Deer don't eat garlic mustard, which produces chemicals that interfere with the development of mycorrhizae, a type of fungi that help many plants thrive. Garlic mustard is a biennial, and the seeds can remain viable for up to five years.

Please help by pulling it up where you see it. The plant is easy to pull; you can get an arm load in a few minutes. Picking doesn't help, however, because the plants will grow back if the root is left in the ground.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

He dug so deeply into her sentiments that in search of interest he found love, because by trying to make her love him he ended up falling in love with her. Petra Cotes, for her part, loved him more and more as she felt his love increasing, and that was how in the ripeness of autumn she began to believe once more in the youthful superstition that poverty was the servitude of love. Both looked back then on the wild revelry, the gaudy wealth, and the unbridled fornication as an annoyance and they lamented that it had cost them so much of their lives to find the paradise of shared solitude. Madly in love after so many years of sterile complicity, they enjoyed the miracle of loving each other as much at the table as in bed, and they grew to be so happy that even when there were two worn-out people they kept on blooming like little children and playing together like dogs."

—From "One Hundred Years of Solitude" by Gabriel Garcia Márquez (1927–2014)
