Shenanigans Upstairs: Landmark Launches New Venue

by Kevin Cummings, Messenger Staff Writer

Shenanigans new upstairs music and event space is open for private and public gatherings, with the promise of live music starting this summer.

The remodeled area, melded into the existing structure of the almost 150-year-old building, features a bar with seating for about 11 people, and will soon include a portable stage, new sound system and concert lighting.

Mechi Ingles, former general manager at Shenanigans, said the space is a piece that Shenanigans was missing.

"The plans for upstairs are absolutely fantastic and kind of mind-blowing for somebody like me who's grown up in Sewanee and seen Shenanigans as it has been for so long," she said. "It's going to be an amazing venue."

With the addition, Shenanigans has also purchased a wine and liquor license. Wine is already pouring there, said Bill Elder, the eatery's co-owner, and liquor will be added "slowly but surely."

The new space will also mean more jobs for catering, bartending and the like, he noted, estimating that he may need to hire up to 15 new people.

Elder and co-owner Nelson Byrd re-opened Shenanigans in February 2014 after it had been closed for almost two years. Elder called it a labor of love to keep the restaurant, which opened in 1974, in existence.

"The universe needs the spicy turkey melt, the bathroom graffiti and the tilted wall," he said.

Shenanigan's has hosted plenty of concerts downstairs, but the flow of the restaurant and space limitations present challenges, he noted. A professional musician who splits time between Sewanee and Nashville, Elder said his inspiration for the upstairs' design comes from d.b.a., a musical hotspot in New Orleans.

The Crescent City native added that Sewanee sits in a sweet spot for touring musicians.

"It makes all the sense in the world for Sewanee, right between Nashville and Atlanta and Memphis and Charlotte; you have all these musicians passing through here...there's no reason we shouldn't be able to have a vibrant and regular, world-class live music presence," he said.

Community Council Establishes Parks Committee

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the April 23 meeting, the Sewanee Community Council voted unanimously to form a Sewanee Parks Committee (SPC) to oversee operation of Sewanee parks designated as "community parks."

Providing background, Sewanee Civic Association (SCA) Parks Chair Stephen Burnett said the SCA oversees the Phil White Dog Park and had recently spearheaded and funded a $68,000 renovation of Elliott Park. The SCA had identified other Sewanee parks needing improvement with the ballpark at the top of the list due to its deplorable condition. The SCA sought the advice of Dixon Myers who led the $75,000 campaign to refurbish the ballpark in 2003.

Burnett and Myers formed a working group that included council representative Cindy Potter, community members, youth sports coordinators, and the University. With the aid of Facilities Management, the group identified four parks as "community parks": the Dog Park, Elliott Park, the Sewanee Community Center Park, and the Sewanee Youth Ballpark (SYB), which hosts both soccer and baseball teams.

"The need for structure in management of all these parks is more than the Civic Association can deliver," Burnett said.

Other Sewanee parks were determined to already have a "constituency" in place which provided oversight or were not widely used, Myers noted.

The council's parks committee will consist of four community members, two members from sports associations, which utilize the SYB, and one council member. The SYB will be the initial priority.

Lengthy discussion of financing preceded the vote authorizing the committee. According to the proposed bylaws, "The SPC does not have the authority to bind the Community Council or the University to financial obligations without express approval from the Community Council or appropriate University official."

Superintendent of Leases Sallie Green said the community services budget included $11,000 for parks.

"That's an itty bitty part of what people pay in lease fees," said council representative Theresa Shackelford.

Myers said he "hoped there would be an annual budget to maintain the ballpark." He pointed out that lack of maintenance resulted in the ballpark's current need for major refurbishing.

Council member Phil White, who spearheaded creation of the dog park, asked if the SPC structure would allow the dog park to collect tax-deductible donations for improvements.

Burnett said that gifts to the Community Chest are tax deductible. Donors could earmark their contributions for the dog park.

Vice-Chancellor John McCardell pointed out donations to the University, likewise a nonprofit, could be designated for the dog park.

In other business, Project Funding Committee chair Pixie Dozier said the committee recommended two additional projects for funding. The council approved awarding $6,194 to the American Legion Hall for renovation of the basement and awarding $2,014 to the joint applicants Folks at Home and the Sewanee Senior Citizens Center for purchase of defibrillators to treat life-threatening instances of arrhythmia.

The council also approved a resolution expressing "unreserved gratitude"

SUD to Retain TUA to Verify Financial Transactions

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

At the April 24 meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties, the board resumed discussion about hiring a third party to verify financial transactions to avoid an audit finding of "inadequate segregation of financial duties."

"That's been on the audit every year since I've been here," Beavers said. The finding is typical of small utilities such as SUD, which only has three office employees counting Beavers. For financial duties to be adequately segregated would require six office employees, Beavers noted. SUD cannot justify hiring three additional employees.

As a possible way of circumventing the criticism, the SUD board investigated employing an independent contractor to verify financial transactions, but just prior to the meeting the board learned from the SUD auditor third party verification would not eliminate the finding.

Commissioner Art Hanson pointed out the comptroller might not agree with the auditor's conclusion in the event SUD showed due diligence by retaining a third party to review finances.

Following much discussion about hiring a local person, the board agreed with Beavers' recommendation to retain Tennessee Utility Assistance (TUA), a firm approved by the Tennessee Association of Utility Districts (TAUD).

SCA Honors Marhevsky and Potter; Updates on Community Chest

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

Sewanee Civic Association Secretary Megan Roberts welcomed members and guests to the April 18 Sewanee Civic Association (SCA) awards ceremony dubbing the event "a celebration of 110 years of service and social opportunity."

The SCA accepts nominations for the Community Service Award, with the name of the recipient kept secret until the ceremony. "There were more nominations for Sarah Marhevsky than I've ever seen before," Roberts said. The announcement brought tears to Marhevsky's eyes. Roberts read from nominations praising Marhevsky "for building connections between families and individuals" and for her service on the boards of the Children's Center and Community Center, as chair of the Community Council Project Funding Committee, and as

McGrath Presents Sewanee's Haiti Institute at the Academy

On Thursday, May 3, Deborah McGrath will present at the Academy for Lifelong Learning, a part of Sewanee Seminars' programs. She will share the work of the Sewanee Haiti Institute, including recent research that demonstrates the positive impact of Institute partnerships on rural households.

The Sewanee Haiti Institute was initiated by University Outreach Director Dixon Myers, and professors Pradip Malde (photography) and Deborah McGrath (biology) as a means of providing transformational experiences for Sewanee and Haitian students through the integration of coursework, research and international service trips. Sewanee's longstanding relationship with Haiti is founded in a collaborative partnership with the Haitian non-governmental organizations Partners in Health (Zanmi Lasante), Partners in Agriculture (Zanmi Agrikol) and the Episcopal church. In 2012, "Zanmi Kafé" was launched. This program partners with farmers in their goal of establishing shade coffee-based agroforestry systems in the Central Plateau, a region particularly hard hit by deforestation.

The association began with a group of 40 farmers through the Haitian organization Zanmi Agrikol and its educational affiliate CFFL, the Center for Formation Fritz Lafontant, over seven years ago and continues to be a vibrant partnership. The purpose of the program is to advance the sustainable agro-forestry practices of these farmers.

Coffee was chosen as a target crop because farmers in Bois Jolie desired its reintroduction into upland regions where it once grew. According to McGrath, "By continually monitoring these plants, we are armed with data on tree survival as well as environmental variables, such as soil chemistry and canopy closure. There are many farms in which coffee is doing quite well, along with the other trees planted, but we are also looking for alternatives to coffee for farms on which this tree did not do well."

Related to this work, "Zanmi Foto," a project that helps families tell their own stories through photography was developed.

The Academy meets in Lower Cravens Hall, 435 Kentucky Ave. Parking is available at the Tennessee Williams Center lot. Registration and light refreshments will be available at 11:45 a.m. and the presentation will be from noon–1 p.m. Annual membership in the Academy is $12 per year. Attendees at a single program pay $2.

Please plan to bring an item to use in decorating the hat at your table. Suggestions include fabric, ribbons, feathers, flowers, pins, or other decorative items. The items on the hat will be traded among attendees at the end of the meeting.

Programs begin at 12:30 p.m., with club business following around 1 p.m. Child care is available, and so is a vegetarian option to the lunch. Please request these when making a reservation.

The annual dues are $5. These dues and the proceeds of the club's fundraising events support Thurmond Library and other local charities.

All Saints’ Chapel

Growing in Grace will conclude for the semester Sunday, April 29, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints’ Chapel. Our speakers this semester have addressed significant gathering places in their lives. Christ assures us “where two or three are gathered in my name, I am there among them” (Matthew 18:20, NRSV). We return again and again to certain communities and physical spaces in the hope of also being in the presence of something divine. Where are those places for us? Who are the people we become our purest selves in? How do we experience Christ’s presence when only two or three stand with us? Bea Troxel, Nashville musician (new album: “The Way That It Feels”) and member of the class of 2015, will be with us to ponder these questions. For more information, email Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep at <kayla.deep@sewanee.edu>.

Choral Evensong will be sung on Tuesday, May 1, at 5:15 p.m. in All Saints’ Chapel. This will be the final service of Evensong this semester with the University Choir. The choir will sing pieces by Hassler, Smith, and Wood. Gerry Senechal, C’03, will be the service organist.

WORLD-WIDE LABYRINTH DAY AT ST. MARY’S SEWANEE

May 5 at 1 p.m.

Participants may come walk at any time. This event is weather permitting.

Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties Water Quality Report 2017

Is my drinking water safe?

Yes, our water meets all of EPA’s health standards. We have conducted numerous tests for over 80 contaminants that may be in drinking water. As you’ll see in the chart on the back, we only detected 11 of these contaminants. We found all of these contaminants at safe levels.

What is the source of my water?

Your water, which is surface water, comes from Lakes O’Donnell and Jackson. Our goal is to protect our water from contaminants and we are working with the State to determine the vulnerability of our water source to potential contamination. The Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation (TDEC) has prepared a Source Water Assessment Program (SWAP) Report for the untreated water sources serving this water system. The SWAP Report assesses the susceptibility of untreated water sources to potential contamination. To ensure safe drinking water, all public water systems treat and routinely test their water. Water sources have been rated as reasonably susceptible, moderately susceptible or slightly susceptible based on geologic factors and human activities in the vicinity of the water source. The Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties (SUD) sources rated as slightly susceptible to potential contamination.

An explanation of Tennessee’s Source Water Assessment Program, the Source Water Assessment summaries, susceptibility scorings and the overall TDEC report to EPA can be viewed online at www.state.tn.us/environment/dws/dwassess.shtml or you may contact the Water System to obtain copies of specific assessments.

Why are there contaminants in my water?

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. Community water systems are required to disclose the detection of contaminants; however, bottled water companies are not required to comply with this regulation. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency’s Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

For more information about your drinking water, please call Water Superintendent James Smartt at 931- 598-5201.

Este informe contiene información muy importante. Tradúscalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

How can I get involved?

Our Board of Commissioners meets on the fourth Tuesday of every month at 5:00 PM at the Utility Office. Please feel free to participate in these meetings. The SUD Board is elected and consists of five members. Each member serves a four year term. Decisions by the Board on customer complaints brought before the Board under the District’s complaint policy may be reviewed by the Utility Management Review Board of the Tennessee Department of Environment of Conservation pursuant to Section 7-82-703 (7) of Tennessee Code Annotated. You can also visit our website www.sewaneeutility.org for more information

Is our water system meeting other rules that govern our operations?

The State and EPA require us to test and report on our water on a regular basis to ensure its safety. We have met all of these requirements. Results of unregulated contaminant analysis are available upon request. We want you to know that we pay attention to all the rules.

Other Information

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water:

- Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.
- Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial, or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses.
- Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.
- Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA and the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation prescribe regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. SUD’s water treatment processes are designed to reduce any such substances to levels well below any health concern. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Due to all water containing dissolved contaminants, occasionally your water may exhibit slight discoloration. We strive to maintain the standards to prevent this. We at SUD work around the clock to provide top quality water to every tap. We ask that all our customers help us protect our water sources, which are the heart of our community, our way of life and our children’s future.

Do I Need To Take Special Precautions?

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have under-gone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about not only their drinking water, but food preparation, personal hygiene, and precautions in handling infants and pets from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Lead in Drinking Water

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. The Sewanee Utility District is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>

Water System Security

Following the events of September 2001, we realize that our customers are concerned about the security of their drinking water. We urge the public to report any suspicious activities at any utility facilities, including treatment plants, pumping stations, tanks, fire hydrants, etc. to 598-5611.

Water Quality Data

What does this chart mean?

- MCLG - Maximum Contaminant Level Goal, or the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
- MCL - Maximum Contaminant Level, or the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology. To understand the possible health effects described for many regulated constituents, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-a-million chance of having the described health effect.
- MRDL: Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level or MRDL: The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for the control of microbial contaminants.
- MRDLG: Maximum residual disinfectant level goal. The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.
- Below Detection Level (BDL) - laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present at a level that can be detected.
- AL - Action Level, or the concentration of a contaminant which, when exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.
- Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/l) – explained as a relation to time and money as one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

- Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter - explained as a relation to time and money as one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.
- Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - nephelometric turbidity unit is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable to the average person.
- TT - Treatment Technique, or a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

During the most recent round of Lead and Copper testing, 0 out of 20 households sampled contained concentrations exceeding the action level.

¹100% of our samples were below the turbidity limit.

²Infants and young children are typically more vulnerable to lead in drinking water than the general population. It is possible that lead levels at your home may be higher than at other homes in the community as a result of materials used in your home’s plumbing. If you are concerned about elevated lead levels in your home’s water, you may wish to have your water tested and flush your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using tap water. Additional information is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (1-800-426-4791).

³Nitrate in drinking water at levels above 10 ppm is a health risk for infants of less than six months of age. High nitrate levels in drinking water can cause blue baby syndrome. Nitrate levels may rise quickly for short periods of time because of rainfall or agricultural activity. If you are caring for an infant you should ask advice from your health care provider.

⁵We have met all treatment technique requirements for Total Organic Carbon removal.

PTO president. Marhevsky has set up meal trains for families in need, and, perhaps most notably, created the Plateau Playgroup, which began as a way for parents to coordinate play dates for their kids and expanded into a weekly newsletter with event and opportunity announcements reaching more than 100 people.

"I came here in 2010 with a three-month-old baby and thought I'd be a stay at home mom," Marhevsky confessed in receiving the award, "but then I began finding people."

The community was clearly grateful she did. Said one nominator in summing up her gratitude, "For a new parent, in a new place, with very little social support structure, Sarah has been a godsend. My quality of life in Sewanee is much better because of the connections and support I found through Sarah. She inspires me to give more and to participate more in community service activities. She makes life better on this mountain."

The SCA has only presented the Summa Cum Laude Award three previous times in the organization's history. The award recognizes the lifetime achievements of individuals for their contributions to the community. The many initiatives embraced by 2018 award recipient Cindy Potter include chairing the Community Action Committee and serving on the Lease Committee, Community Council, and Duck River Electric board of directors. Most endearing, though, is Potter's gift to the community as an educator in a career spanning nearly 40 years. Potter taught at the Sewanee Children's Center, served as the Sewanee Elementary School librarian, taught at SES for 25 years, and then moved to St. Andrew's-Sewanee School to help set up the new sixth grade program. A beloved teacher, Potter inspires young people to generosity of spirit and reflection, guiding students to embrace fund raising activities and tell the stories of the causes they champion. Her "My Spot in the Woods" program urged students to spend quiet time with nature and log their observations.

In receiving the award, Potter thanked the Civic Association, noting the Community Chest paid for her "to serve as the SES librarian all those long years ago." She also thanked "the people who live here who give Sewanee the unique spirit that makes this place home." "Most of all, though," Potter said, "I want to thank the children and families that have been in my life. What a gift to have a life that focuses on children pursuing endless wonder. They've challenged me and taught me to pursue the same goals within myself that I wanted for them."

During the business portion of the meeting, Roberts appealed to the community to donate to the Sewanee Community Chest. The fund raising campaign is $31,000 short of reaching its goal. Community Chest gifts support Sewanee area initiatives and organizations that make the quality of life richer in Sewanee and the surrounding vicinity by providing food, books, child care, promoting animal welfare and so much more.

"If we don't raise $31,000 by May 1, the Community Chest will need to reassess the goal," Roberts conceded. She urged those who hadn't yet contributed this year to make a donation, as well as reaching out to those who already gave—"If you can send an extra $10 bucks this year, we'd really appreciate it."

Make a donation with PayPal by visiting sewaneeccivic.wordpress.com/ or mail donations to P.O. Box 99, Sewanee, TN 37375.

The SCA elected the following slate of officers to serve in 2018-19: Theresa Shackelford, president; Brandon Berry, vice-president; Diane Fielding, treasurer; Jesse Bornemann, secretary; and Jade Barry and Stephen Burnett, co-members at large.

The SCA also welcomed newly appointed Director of Classifieds Remington Loose.

The first musical event upstairs is tentatively slated for June 23, a fundraiser for Folks at Home, Ingles said. Her significant other, Mabus Jackson, is a musician and music promoter.

Previous owners have used the upstairs for storage, housing, art studios, a Masonic lodge clubroom, and office space. One wild rumor is that John Wilkes Booth lived there when he fled to Sewanee after he escaped his reported death in a fiery barn in Virginia.

Elder said the past six owners put their own touches on Shenanigans, and the new addition with its garage door opening onto the upper deck and views of the Sewanee Village, is his touch.

"I consider people who owned Shenanigans as stewards of this iconic building and really important community landmark," he said. "Each one has kind of put their signature on it as far as structurally, menu-wise... any number of things. For me, it's upstairs, that's my contribution as a Shenanigans steward."

Samuel C. Hoge and John Miller first built the building that now houses the eatery around 1870, according to research from former Sewanee student Hallie Ragsdale.

Hoge and Miller opened a general store, which also served as post office for a short time, according to Ragsdale's research. In June 1897, Hoge sold the store to George D. Gipson. In 1907, it became Sewanee Lodge No. 544 of the Independent Order of the Odd Fellows.

L.C. Winn eventually reinvented the structure as Winn's General Store in 1934. During World War II, the University rented the building for use as a laundry service. There are also stories that there was once a roller skating rink inside the building, Ragsdale wrote. Sometime around 1964, a cobbler shop also functioned as part of Winn's store. Raymond Winn eventually sold the building to Richard Riddell, and Shenanigans opened in 1974.

"The comptroller would more likely be satisfied with the TAUD recommended person," Commissioner Randall Henley said in support of Beavers suggestion.

The board voted to engage TUA for six months and revisit the decision if the rate increases. Engaging TUA will cost $500 for the first two months and $300 per month after that.

In other business, Beavers updated the board on plans to replace deteriorating cast iron waterlines on South Carolina and Florida avenues. In keeping with the University's request, SUD will also include Clara's Point Road in the rehab project. Replacing the cast iron pipe will reduce water loss and increase the flow to fire hydrants. Beavers hopes to have bids for the job by mid-June.

Addressing landowners concerns about possible tree removal, Beavers said landscaping would be "returned to acceptable according to the determination of the Domain Manager."

"The University has been very helpful and wants to stay engaged," Beavers noted.

The board revisited the discussion about SUD's Cross Connection Policy, which requires backflow prevention devices to prevent SUD drinking water from contamination by fluid from outside sources. Beavers said he and another SUD employee would attend a certification class in June and recommend updates to the 10-year-old policy consistent with state requirements.

Although not widely known, circumstances requiring backflow devices include drink machines and sprinkler and irrigation systems.

Beavers said he would also compile a list of customers who would be in violation under the new rules. Before recommending penalties and the time frame for compliance, he wants "to get input from people who will be affected."

Turning to the long anticipated Midway pressure boosting station, Beavers said the system was expected to go live in the very near future and customers would be notified of the exact day and time. Pressure increases of 15-20 psi or greater are anticipated and leaks could result.

The board elected the following slate of officers to serve in 2018: Charlie Smith, president; Randall Henley, vice-president; Art Hanson, secretary.

to Franklin County Highway Commissioner Joe David McBee for initiating the relocation of two crosswalks from downtown Sewanee to dangerous crossing sites on the Mountain Goat Trail.

Sewanee resident Mary Priestley addressed the council about the need for trash pickup on Alto Road, Sherwood Road, Highway 56 in the Jump Off vicinity, Hwy. 41A from the gates to St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, and Hwy. 41A from downtown to the gates on the Cowan side. The council agreed with Priestley's suggestion to reintroduce the past practice of an annual community litter pickup day. Set for May 5, the event will target the five sections of highway identified by Priestley. Facilities Management has agreed to collect filled bags, Priestley said, and an anonymous donor would reward the first 25 people to fill bags with a stainless steel water bottle.

Provost Nancy Berner announced a group working on locating a second cell tower in Sewanee had identified an area behind the football field as the preferred site. The central campus location would greatly enhance coverage and help ensure the safety of students who used trails in that area, Berner said. The tower would accommodate Verizon and other cell service providers.

The council meets next on May 21.

The Community Council is sponsoring a litter pick-up event Saturday, May 5, 9 a.m. to noon. Meet at the Mountain Goat trailhead at the intersection of Hawkins Lane and Highway 41A to fan out and pick up litter on the major roads coming in and out of town: Jumpoff Road, Sherwood Road, Roark's Cove Road, and portions of Highway 41A. Participants who fill one garbage bag with litter and return it to the trailhead will receive a reusable water bottle, while supplies last. Let's put trash in its place and start the summer on a clean note.

Ben Lomand Applying for Broadband Grant

Ben Lomand is applying for a Community Connect Grant with the United States Department of Agriculture. This program helps fund broadband deployment into rural communities where it is not yet economically viable for private sector providers to deliver service.

An eligible area for the grant includes rural areas that lack any existing broadband speed of at least 10 Mbps downstream and 1 Mbps upstream. The grant service area being addressed with this particular grant includes parts of Sherwood, Midway and Jump Off roads. Eligible households were notified with a letter from Ben Lomand earlier in the month.

"After receiving two grants for underserved areas in Grundy County and Coffee County, we received several calls about Jump Off, Sherwood, and Midway," said Tania Curtis, Tracy City District Manager. "We went to each address, and if the broadband speed was over 10 Mbps, that address was taken out of this grant service area. We can go back later and add new address once the grant has been awarded."

Community support in the grant application process is an important factor. Letters of support on why you need broadband in this area may include economics, educational challenges, healthcare needs and public safety issues. Students Receive Prestigious Travel Opportunities

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School students Mariel Rinck and Chloe Fontenelle will spend the 2018-2019 academic year studying abroad. Mariel will spend her senior year in Germany. Chloe will spend her junior year in Thailand.

Chloe, daughter of Kate Gundersen of Monteagle, will participate in the U.S. Department of State's Kennedy-Lugar Youth Exchange and Study Abroad (YES Abroad) program. The program provides 65 merit-based full scholarships for U.S. citizens in secondary school (age 15-18.5) to study for one academic year in select countries with significant Muslim populations. Chloe received her first choice country of Thailand. Other qualified countries included Bosnia and Herzegovina, Bulgaria, Ghana, India, Indonesia, Jordan, Macedonia, Malaysia, Morocco, Philippines, and Senegal. Chloe will live with a host family, attend a local high school, acquire leadership skills, and engage in activities to learn about the host country's society and values. The YES Abroad scholarship covers travel costs and living expenses, plus a modest stipend.

Mariel, daughter of SAS Spanish teachers Steve and Claudia Rinck, has been chosen to participate in the Congress-Bundestag Youth Exchange (CBYX). Initiated in 1983, the exchange was created to strengthen ties between Germany and the United States through citizen diplomacy. The program was founded in celebration of the 300th year anniversary of the first German immigration to the United States. CBYX is jointly funded by the U.S. Congress and the German Bundestag, and in the U.S. is overseen by the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs. The program covers travel, tuition, cultural excursions, living expenses, and more. Mariel will live with a host family and attend a German high school.

SAS Students Recognized by Duke TIP

Isabel Patterson, a seventh-grade student at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, received state-level recognition in the Duke University Talent Identification Program's Seventh Grade Talent Search. The recognition ceremony will take place at Belmont University on May 7. Isabel is the daughter of Neil and Amy Patterson of Sewanee, Tenn.

Each year, Duke TIP identifies a group of students in the United States based on standardized test scores. Those who score at or above the 95th percentile qualify. Those students are invited to participate in the Grade Talent Search and to take the ACT or SAT, which are designed for college-bound 11th and 12th graders. Participants in the 7th Grade Talent Search receive a variety of support services and gain access to research and other information about using their academic abilities more effectively.

Isabel and classmates Emily Bailey (Sewanee), Samantha Lu (Winchester), and Libby Neubauer (Belvidere) were invited to participate in Duke's Academy for Summer Studies, Center for Summer Studies, and/or eStudies programs.

Lunch Audit at SES

The Tigers Don't Leave Tracks! program has been encouraging students at Sewanee Elementary to think about the choices they make about food packaging at mealtimes. On April 17, the school held its second Litterless Lunch Audit of the year. At the end of the meal, students tallied the remains of their lunches by categories: Reusables, Recyclables, Compost, and Waste. Ten of 11 classes improved their results in comparison with the previous audit, and reduced their numbers in the Waste category. The results have earned a visit from the Tennessee Aquarium in Chattanooga for the whole school.

HEARING HEALTH NEWS

by Debbie Gamache,
M.S. CCC-A Audiologist

LISTENING HARDER, HEARING LESS?

As we grow older, many people begin to experience a gradual change in hearing. It is often confusing as the voice can be heard but there is difficulty in understanding what is said. This is because while most of the volume in speech is contained in the vowel sounds, the bass frequencies, the information required to distinguish one word from another or understand is supplied by the consonants, sounds located in the higher frequencies. As a result, it seems as if everyone is mumbling or not speaking clearly.

If you have hearing loss, you are missing more than just the understanding of words. Hearing keeps you in touch with the world, lets you respond to family and friends, and reassures you of changing surroundings. If you are listening harder and hearing less, a medical diagnostic hearing test should be conducted by a licensed certified audiologist. Debbie Gamache's The Hearing Center LLC offers comprehensive hearing services by Debbie Gamache, MS CCCA, FAAA, a licensed certified audiologist at 705 NW Atlantic St. Suite B, Tullahoma. ‘A Tear in the Veil:’ 2018 Senior Art Major Exhibition

The University Art Gallery proudly presents “A Tear in the Veil,” an exhibition of work by the University of the South’s graduating senior art majors: Aidan Bliss, Caney Hummon, Rely King, Maria Monterde, Charles Pappas, Hunter Swenson and Brook Vann.

With “A Tear in the Veil,” the University of the South’s graduating senior art majors ask viewers to look beyond the immediacy of surface appearances and first encounters to consider broader implications and deeper truths. Their work, from multimedia portraits to photographs, questions meaning and how it is made. The power and associations of different media and materials are questioned, as are the meanings given to repeating forms.

Please join us for artist talks on Friday, April 27, from 9 to 11 a.m. and 11:30 to 1:30 p.m. in Convocation Hall, and a Baccalaureate reception on Saturday, May 12, from 1 to 3 p.m., celebrating the graduating artists and the close of a successful exhibition season.

Sewanee’s University Art Gallery is located on Georgia Avenue. The gallery is free, accessible, and open to the public. Hours are 10 a.m.–5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and noon–4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Note that the UAG is closed during academic breaks. Call (931) 598-1968 for more information, go to <gallery.sewanee.edu>, or follow us on Facebook.

VILLAGEREPORT

by Frank X. Gladu

Well if the saying is true, we are bound to have plentiful flowers next month!

This month’s report will focus on the topic of housing. Updates on the four other priority projects of the road design, the mixed-use grocery store, the Village Green and the new Bookstore will be provided next month.

Creating living spaces in Sewanee is a high priority for the Village project. We are looking forward to the Provost’s response to the Housing Study Group’s March report and recommendations. This information will assist in defining the priorities and next steps specific to housing. In addition to this information, a Housing market analysis report is due from our development economist by the end of April. This report is expected to shed light on the potential demand for housing and what types will be supported by either renting or for purchase. These two studies will frame an approach to moving forward on housing in Sewanee. In anticipation of these reports and priorities, several living spaces are in the works for consideration. Allow me to briefly describe them:

Apartments—a variety of units ranging from studio to multi-bedroom units are being considered. Some of these units could be located on upper floors of mixed use buildings as well as stand-alone buildings.

Townhomes or row houses—These units would have shared walls, private entrances and typically be two stories.

Duplexes—Homes, typically two stories, that would have one shared wall with private entrances.

Multi-Family—These buildings would be comprised of 4-12 units each and would provide a variety of layouts and bedroom configurations.

Single Family—These buildings would be a typical home with a yard in a single or 2 story configuration. These homes could be built by individuals or by developers. A developer would be involved if more than 1 house was being built for sale. Styles would range from bungalow type homes facing inward around a central green space as in a Cottage Court or individual street facing homes.

We are working with several developers who are considering building both rental units and homes for sale. As soon as we can determine the right mix of units to build, we will pursue arrangements with developers for the building of some of these units. Then the demand will dictate additional building.

A specific project that has been previously identified in the Village plan is the Cottage Court located off of Prince Lane. Over the past year or so several evaluations have taken place to better understand and to fully evaluate what is appropriate for this specific 2.2-acre site. Activities included:

the thinning of vegetation to more clearly examine the contour and water movement on the property;

consultation with individuals from the Department of Forestry to identify the best way to preserve and protect the giant Tulip Poplar and other trees on the property;

a site assessment conducted by a civil engineering firm to evaluate the site for development and to provide site recommendations and suggested modifications in order to develop the site;

a hydrology evaluation performed to determine the water flow and depression located on the property; and consultation with the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation to determine how best to proceed.

Factoring all the information obtained from these evaluations has resulted in a modification of the plan. We will no longer consider this site for a Cottage Court. Instead, we are pursuing working with a developer to build homes toward the rear of the property where the elevation is higher. It is also an area where a house existed in the 70s along with a barn and other buildings. Siting homes in this section of the property will also allow for the creation of green space in the lower lying area. We may even be able to incorporate the natural intermittent water run-off and pooling as part of the development. All in all, we have come a long way in evaluating and then modifying the plan to be in harmony with the site.

The next Village update meeting will be on Tuesday, May 1, at 10 a.m. at the Blue Chair. The featured topic will once again be Housing, identifying potential locations and unit types. We may also be able to review the reports from the Housing Study Group and the Development Economist.

Bring on the May flowers!

Shakerag Workshops Opening in June

In June, Shakerag Workshops will begin its 15th season of arts workshops for adults on the mountain. Taking place on the campus of St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, Shakerag will welcome a record number of 250 artists from across the United States for classes in a variety of arts media. This year a Knitting Getaway weekend was added to the program June 7-10, and the regular week-long sessions run June 10-16 and June 17-23.

Shakerag's week-long classes in June include felted jewelry, natural dyeing, pottery, painting, photography, collage, sewing, post-digital printmaking, and wood carving. Local artist Ben Potter is among the group of Shakerag teachers this year: he is returning to Sewanee to teach a class using non-traditional materials in making art. Other new classes include portrait photography, with instructor Claudia Lopez who has traveled extensively through Afghanistan capturing images of local residents there, and a bird carving class, with Maine instructor Steven Valleau, assisted by local resident Tom Macfie. Additionally Shakerag Workshops will collaborate with The 4th Floor and The Open Press in Chattanooga for Paul Catanese's "Post-Digital Printmaking" workshop: we will begin the workshop in the St. Andrew's-Sewanee Tech Studio and then head to Chattanooga to work with these partners for final workdays. Participants will be using the new laser cutter at The 4th Floor Maker-space of The Chattanooga Public Library and then move over to the letterpress studio at The Open Press.

"It has been exciting to watch Shakerag Workshops grow over the years," says director Claire Reishman, "and this year we are eager to begin our Knitting Getaway program which sold out immediately. It is a weekend devoted entirely to knitting, led by Ann Shayne and Kay Gardiner of the Mason Dixon Knitters. We have more than 100 knitters from all across the country and Canada joining us to knit, and we are excited to be adding this weekend to our regular sessions."

Shakerag Workshops attracts a diverse group of artists who enjoy the gourmet meals and social gatherings surrounding the classes almost as much as they enjoy the workshops themselves. Most classes are open to a wide range of participants, and beginners and professionals take classes together. The inclusive atmosphere of Shakerag is one of the hallmarks of the program, and teachers through the years have commented on the vitality of classes which include students with a range of experience. "Though the program has grown over the years," says Reishman, "we work each session to retain the sense of closeness among faculty and students that we had as a smaller program, and those who have attended classes say that they leave Shakerag feeling refreshed and energized to continue developing their artistic interests."

The general public is welcome to join workshop participants for faculty artists' talks each evening at 7:15 in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts on the St. Andrew's-Sewanee campus. Everyone is welcome to a 15th Anniversary Reception and Exhibition of Shakerag faculty work in the SAS Gallery on Wednesday evenings, June 13 and June 20. The SAS Gallery is located in the Simmonds Building, a short walk from McCrory Hall.

The Shakerag Workshops website <www.shakerag.org> has more information about Shakerag classes, a more detailed description of the program, and application forms. Though several classes and the Knitting Getaway weekend are full, Director Claire Reishman is still accepting applications for some classes this June, and both local applicants and Tennessee Craft members may receive a discount in tuition.

For more information, contact Claire Reishman at (931) 463-2123, or email <info@shakerag.org>.

Records Fall at SAA Track and Field Championships

Host Sewanee broke several school and personal records during the Southern Athletic Association Track and Field Championships April 20-21.

In the 200-meter dash, after running a 26.82-second race in the preliminaries on April 20, Meredith Stuber improved her mark by 0.6 seconds for a new school record of 26.22 seconds, breaking Faith Spencer's 2012 mark of 26.39 seconds set in 2012. Stuber, a junior, finished in fifth place in the finals.

In the javelin, Karagan Day recorded three personal-best throws in her six attempts, finishing with a second place throw of 40.62 meters, a career-best for the senior. She is ranked 13th nationally.

In the 4x400 relay event, another school record fell as the quartet of Kelsie Schiavone, Elizabeth Shackelford, Tricia Murphy and Stuber ran to a third place finish with a 4:11.23 time, breaking the school record of 4:12.13 set in 1997.

On the men's side, Ash Midyett recorded a career-best 1:55.44 in the 800 meters for a second place finish. Earning All-Conference in the event for the second straight year, the sophomore is seventh in the South/Southeast regional.

In the 4x400 relay, Sewanee's Carter Pettus, Dillon Spann, Letherio Jones and Midyett ran to a third place finish and season-best time of 3:25.

Overall, both the Sewanee men's and women's teams finished eighth of eight teams in the conference meet.

On April 21, SAS went to McCallie to compete against 22 schools for the Mid-South Track Classic. SAS worked hard and took 13th place overall for girls' varsity and 17th place overall for boys' varsity.

Tillman earned fourth place in shot put.

SAS earned medals in the following girls' events: triple jump, second, Hobby; long jump, third, Hobby; and discus, fourth, Gordy.

"I've never been so impressed as I was watching these athletes run," said head coach Sam Montgomery. "They fight through adversity and never give up."

Middle School Boys' Soccer Earns Runner-Up in Conference

On April 19, the St. Andrew's-Sewanee boys' middle school soccer team upset Cascade Middle School, 2-1, in the semifinals of the Central Tennessee Conference Tournament but fell in a penalty kick shootout in the championship.

Cascade entered the tournament as the second seed and had defeated the Mountain Lions twice during the regular season. This time SAS took Cascade into overtime to claim a victory.

The first half of the game went scoreless despite both teams creating scoring opportunities. In the second half, the Mountain Lions struck first off a cross from Raulston Barnett to Gus Croom, who ricocheted a shot off a Cascade player.

With two minutes remaining in regulation play, Cascade found the equalizing goal. Then in overtime, Tyler Rodgers was taken down in the box, setting up a penalty kick for Mac Croom, who scored the game winning goal.

SAS advanced to the championship game against Westwood Middle School on April 20. This too was a hard-fought battle with both teams going scoreless in regulation and overtime play. Westwood came out on top in the game-deciding penalty kick shootout.

"I could not have asked for harder work and better play out of my players," said head coach Margot Burns. "It was the best soccer I'd seen us play all season. I'm proud of what we have accomplished and am honored to have been their coach."

Mountain Lions Down Grace Baptist

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School boys' varsity soccer team defeated Grace Baptist Academy, 4-2, in Chattanooga on April 19.

The second consecutive district win moved the Mountain Lions' season's record to 5-5.

Shortly after subbing in, Ivan Akiri, a senior boarding student from Nairobi, Kenya, got SAS on the scoreboard with service from Joe McDonough, a senior holding midfielder from Sewanee.

Gabe Stevens, a sophomore midfielder from Jacmel, Haiti, struck a hard, low ball from outside the box to the back of the net for a second goal for the Mountain Lions.

Before halftime, Stevens delivered a cross to McDonough, who finished, and SAS led the Golden Eagles, 3-0.

In the second half, Grace benefitted from some repositioning, improved defending and a penalty kick. After converting a penalty kick into a goal, the Golden Eagles capitalized off a cross for a second goal.

Porter Neubauer, a ninth-grade forward from Belvidere, Tenn., added a goal for SAS, with an assist by Laurenz Schumacher, a sophomore boarding student from Cologne, Germany.

Cailan McLean, a sophomore from Sewanee, was in goal. Aidan Smith, a fellow sophomore from Sewanee, and Myers Gorrell, a ninth-grade student from Sewanee, were reliable center backs for the Mountain Lions.

Note: SAS's home game against Shelbyville Central High School has been rescheduled for Monday, April 30, at 5:30 p.m. The school will honor its seniors during the contest.

Shakerag Hollow

The Sewanee Herbarium celebrated the weekend of Earth Day by scheduling a couple of walks in Shakerag Hollow. On Saturday's walk, almost three dozen species were seen in bloom or bud, about a dozen more than on the walk of March 17 reported on in Nature Notes. The true spring ephemerals, such as trout lily, spring beauty, and Dutchman's breeches, were past blooming and their foliage was beginning to fade. The earliest trillium, Little Sweet Betsy, was also fading, though its leaves will persist through the summer. Some of the large-flowered white trilliums were turning pink, as they aged, but the southern red trillium was at its peak.

The "flower of the hour" was definitely the purple or fernleaf phacelia, in great masses covering much of the forest floor and the tops of some boulders. This plant is a biennial, blooming in its second year, so some years seem more outstanding than others, and this is one of them. Also outstanding were the number and variety of violets: sweet white, Canada white, early blue, downy yellow, and long-spur, as well as the eastern green-violet (Hybanthus concolor). A special treat was seeing paw-paw in bloom, the three-lobed fleshy maroon flowers hanging overhead in a "paw-paw patch." The paw-paw is our only representative of a tropical family of plants, the custard-apples. It is the foodplant of the zebra swallowtail butterfly larva. We didn't see one of those, but we did see a male falcate orangetip, flitting above the flowers. One of its foodplants is toothworts, an early-blooming part of our spring flora. Most of our walk was through a wonderland of spring flowers carpeting the forest floor—dwarf larkspur, wild geranium, wild blue phlox, and so many more.

Debbe Lane reports she had a hummingbird around the posts where she hangs her feeders each year, Tuesday, April 18. "Guess I'll put out a feeder," said Lane.

Sewanee Boy Scout Troop 14 is selling locally sourced, premium worm castings for the troop's annual fundraiser. The Scouts are working hard to help fund a National High Adventure Camp at Sea Base in Florida, in December 2018. Worm castings are extremely rich in organic matter and make an excellent soil amendment for vegetable gardens and flower beds as well as container plants. Each bag is 1 cubic foot and weighs approximately 25-28 pounds. Bags are priced at $15 each. A cubic yard is priced at $200, with a 1 yard minimum purchase, although half yard increments above the minimum purchase are welcome. Bulk price is approximately half the cost of the bagged equivalent, and the troop is also offering bulk delivery this year. Please call Alex Neubauer at (931) 308-9343, email tanagherhill@gmail.com, or contact a Scout to place orders and arrange pick-up.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Exams

End of term, will a six-pack do us
While we speed-read Upton Sinclair Lewis?
So far behind, can we possibly ever
Catch up on E.A. Robinson Jeffers?
Who said it was going to be multiple choice
On the later work of O. Henry James Joyce?
What's the plot of The Rise of Silas Marner? Who Remembers the Swiss Family Robinson Cru-
Soe? Midnight late: one o'clock, tardy--
Was Laurence Sterne? Was Thomas Hardy?
Exposé: Was John Gay?
Oh God, let's have a break and all get mellow,
Take our chances on Henry Wordsworth Longfellow,
And maybe later give a lick and a promise
To the earlier lyrics of Bob Dylan Thomas.
