SAS Theatre Chosen for 2013 Edinburgh Fringe Festival

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School theatre program, under the direction of Performing Arts teachers Robie Jackson, John Holleman and Katherine Anderson, has been selected to perform in the world's largest and most prestigious arts festival in the world, the 2013 Edinburgh Fringe Festival.

Performing artists from all over the world come to Scotland each August to take part in the Edinburgh Fringe Festival. The whole city becomes a stage, and visitors can view performances everywhere from playgrounds to conference rooms to city parks to churches. The Fringe Festival includes more than 1,800 performances of theatre, dance and comedy during its three-week run. St. Andrew's-Sewanee's performance will be showcased at the American High School Theatre Festival (AHSTF) venue in Edinburgh.

This is the second year SAS's theatre program has been nominated for the AHSTF honor and the first time that the school made application. Top high school programs are identified, based on their most recent bodies of work, awards, community involvement, philosophies and recommendations.

"Our community is well aware of the outstanding productions that Robie Jackson and her colleagues have created with and for our students," said the Rev. John Thomas, SAS Head of School. "We are delighted that our students will have the opportunity to take their talents to the next level by performing for an international audience."

SAS Graduation May 20

The baccalaureate speaker will be longtime SAS faculty member Lisa Keith-Lucas. Following the service, seniors and their guests will proceed to the senior banquet in the Robinson Dining Hall. The evening ends with the presentation of the Annies in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts. Civic Association Plans for 2012-2013 Academic Year

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

During the business portion of the May 2 meeting of the Sewanee Civic Association, the membership elected officers, announced meeting dates for the 2012–13 academic year and considered increasing membership dues.

The membership unanimously approved the following slate of officers who will begin serving in September: Theresa Shackelford, president; Susan Holmes, vice-president; Rocky Morris, treasurer; Louise Irwin, secretary. A member-at-large and assistant manager for the Sewanee Classifieds list serve will be elected in the fall.

For the 2012–13 academic year, the Civic Association will meet in September, October, November, January, March and April. Meetings will be on Wednesday evenings at the EQB House.

President Theresa Shackelford circulated a sign-up sheet for volunteers willing to help with accounting, public relations and other functions integral to the Community Chest fund drive. Shackelford said assistance was also needed with membership recruitment, public relations and other Civic Association projects. In the fall, the Civic Association will partner with the Community Center to host a community fair showcasing community groups and organizations.

Elizabeth Clark Duncan said the Civic Association board was considering increasing dues to $30 per person. Currently, dues are $5. Previously, dues were $60, which included meals. Duncan cited the cost of the Sewanee Classifieds list serve ($196/annually) and the need for board liability insurance as the reasons for the dues increase. Suggestions from the membership included charging for subscribing to the Classifieds email list, and an even higher rate of membership dues. Other members expressed concern that raising dues to $30, with the cost of meals in addition to the dues, might discourage membership. According to the by-laws, the board has the power to set the dues and will take the suggestions under advisement.

Louise Irwin announced the theme for the Fourth of July celebration is "A Yankee-Doodle Fourth." Jade Barry will chair the Fourth of July organizing committee.

Marianna Handler announced a program to help raise funds for the local animal shelter, Animal Harbor, by purchasing a $5 debit card for use at Kroger. Animal Harbor receives 4 percent of all transactions billed through the card. For more information, contact Handler at <mariannah@earthlink.net>.

Information about the Civic Association's fall meeting times and dates, as well as programs, will appear in the Messenger in the late summer.

Letters

THANK YOU, EHH

To the Editor:

In March, I spent a week at Emerald-Hodgson Hospital skilled care after a complete knee replacement in Nashville. I was cared for with love, compassion and respect. After my release, the staff in physical therapy worked their magic three times a week for two months. I just received an A+ from my surgeon.

This would not have been possible without the staff at our own Emerald-Hodgson Hospital. When you see me walking my little dog on University Avenue, please wave and know that it was because of your great care that I am up and walking again. Thank you.

Area Hospice Needs Volunteers

Most remember a person who seemed to go out of their way to help during a difficult time in our life: a grandparent, a teacher, even a stranger who became a friend. No where are these faces of caring more common than among the volunteers that are part of Hospice Compassus.

Hospice Compassus is currently looking for compassionate hearts to join its team of volunteers throughout the six counties in which they serve.

If you live in Bedford, Cannon, Coffee, Franklin, Grundy or Moore and would like to learn more about this program, contact Julia Logan-Mayes, volunteer coordinator at (931) 455-9118 or by email <julia.logan-mayes@hospicecom.com>.

September Sunset Serenade

St. Mary's Sewanee: The Ayres Center for Spiritual Development will host its third annual Sunset Serenade, 5-8 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 2.

The Sunset Serenade is a fundraiser and a friend-raiser organized by a dedicated group of volunteers.

"St. Mary's Sewanee offers spiritual hospitality to 4,800 people who visit the center each year coming for rest, reflection and renewal," said Amy Burns, chair of the event. "Since St. Mary's Sewanee is a small nonprofit, each year a group of local volunteers create the Sunset Serenade to raise money for the center's operating budget. We love welcoming new friends."

Guests will be entertained with music throughout the evening provided by Noel Workman and Friends. A catered dinner, silent auction and magnificent sunset over the bluff are also a part of the festivities. While tables and chairs are provided, many guests bring their own blanket to sit outside.

Reservations are required by calling St. Mary's Sewanee at 598-5342. Tickets are $50 per person, a portion of which is tax-deductible.

State Voter ID Requirements

Registered voters in Tennessee must now show government-issued photo identification in order to cast a ballot at the polls. The next election is on Aug. 6. Acceptable forms of ID include: Tennessee driver license with a photo (current or expired); a driver license issued by another state (current or expired); U.S. passport; federal employee ID with photo; state employee ID with photo (including those issued by state universities); U.S. military ID; or gun permit card with a photo. Student ID cards from state universities are NOT acceptable.

The new law requiring a government-issued photo ID to vote applies only to those voting at polling places. It does not apply to those casting absentee ballots under state law, including those age 65 or older who wish to vote absentee or those voting at licensed nursing homes.

Under the new voter ID law, in order to get a photo ID for voting purposes, voters must show the following documentation to a Driver Service Center examiner: proof of citizenship (such as a birth certificate); and two proofs of Tennessee residency (such as a copy of a utility bill, vehicle registration or title, or bank statement).

The Cumberland Center for Justice and Peace (CCJP) is offering free transportation to assist individuals in getting a government photo ID. For assistance from CCJP, residents of Grundy County (except Monteagle), can call (931) 592-6594; Franklin County residents may call 598-0122; and residents of Monteagle or Marion County, please call (931) 924-2253.

Lewis Announces For State Senate District 16

Former State Senator Jim Lewis is joining the race for Tennessee State Senate District 16 as a champion of public education, civil rights and working class families. Called "a committed, strong, loud, clear voice for people" by the late speaker of the senate, John Wilder, Lewis has served the Middle Tennessee community as a pharmacist for the past 42 years, in addition to serving in the state senate from 1982 to 1990.

Lewis's tenure in the state senate is best remembered for his strong opposition to a previous assault on Tennessee teachers and schools, and he vows to continue that fight in his return to public life.

"I oppose the privatization of public schools," said Lewis. "It seems as if those currently in power desire public schools to fail. Their only solution to 'saving public education' is 'public education for a profit.' Tennessee teachers know how to fix public education. We should listen to them rather than renting public schools to private corporations."

In announcing his candidacy, Lewis took issue with the controversial redistricting of Tennessee's state House and senate districts.

"My home, Marion County, has been fortunate to be represented by a great representative, Bill Harmon and a great senator, Andy Berke," Lewis said. "Losing representation of that caliber to gerrymandering is a tragedy. I will do my best to live up to their high standards of excellent representation."

Commenting on the current political situation, Lewis said, "Those currently in control in Nashville are not representing average citizens in Tennessee. Our citizens deserve far better. The rich have enough representation. The average citizen and the poor have almost none. While Tennesseans need jobs, those in control are talking cuts—cuts in civil rights, women's rights, voting rights, workers rights, healthcare and public education. It seems as if those in control of Tennessee believe they have an obligation to punish all Tennesseans."

Lewis is married to Stephanie Maughan Lewis, an English teacher at South Pittsburg High School. He is a 1967 graduate of the University of Tennessee at Knoxville and a 1970 graduate of Samford College of Pharmacy in Birmingham. He is a staff pharmacist at Parkridge Medical Center in Chattanooga and is also the owner of a small business, Poignant Media, located in Kimball.

College Students Help Blue Monarch's Programs

Blue Monarch has seen a tremendous increase in student volunteers from the University of the South this year. The new energy from students has resulted in exciting growth at Blue Monarch, including the development of the new summer children's program which will be directed by University student Katherine Rogers. Rogers is the recipient of a grant from the Lilly Foundation, and she will be using the funds to create a magical summer camp experience for Blue Monarch children.

University student Katherine Rogers with Blue Monarch resident Katelyn

"The past school year," Rogers said, "I and fellow classmates Elizabeth Walker, Russell Frelinghuysen and Forrest Boylston have spent endless hours developing relationships with these children and their mothers, taking the kids away from their PlayStations and into their 50 acres of fields, ponds and farm animals. This summer, I am directing Blue Monarch's Summer Children's Program similarly to a summer camp, gathering volunteers to work with the children, taking the kids camping, on field trips to Chattanooga, Nashville and Sewanee, and participating in a number of physical, mental and artistic activities daily."

The summer camp will be a special component of Blue Monarch's new Proverbs 22:6 Children's Program, which focuses on the specific needs and challenges of the children who come to the residential recovery program with their mothers.

"We realized we had a priceless opportunity to provide the richest experience possible for the children while we had them, which could possibly impact the rest of their lives," said Susan Binkley, founder and director of Blue Monarch.

Blue Monarch is a residential recovery program for women who are overcoming abuse and addiction, and their children.

Blue Monarch has also had visits from University students Mary Ottley, Gabby Freeman, Taylor Baird and Anna Flock. Ottley will be living in the University Women's Center next year and will be organizing more student outreach efforts, as well as providing additional programming for Blue Monarch residents through the Women's Center. Flock is the Community Service Chair for Theta Pi and will be instrumental in planning the annual SK Turkey Trot, which benefits Blue Monarch.

"It's always exciting to see the students develop relationships with our women and children. Since the women of Blue Monarch are so often the same ages as the students, there are meaningful benefits for both groups," Binkley said.

Blue Monarch is a nonprofit organization designed to serve the abused and addicted women of Tennessee. It accepts women, with their children, who are currently recovering from physical, emotional and/or sexual abuse, alcohol or drug addictions, poverty and severe family issues. Blue Monarch offers each woman a one- to two-year residential program specifically designed to fit her individual needs and eliminate the abuse and oppression within her life.

Blue Monarch residents strive to further their education, break their addictions, become better mothers, obtain a job and gain independence. Their mission is to give women hope for themselves and their children by helping them develop a personal relationship with God and equipping them with the tools they need to become strong, confident and self-sufficient through the experience of God's love.

Members of the University Forestry Club and the Sewanee Herbarium gathered on May 3 with other community members (pictured above) to unveil a plaque at Sewanee's special sycamore, grown from seed carried on the 1971 Apollo 14 moon mission and presented to the University in 1976. The American sycamore is located across from Woods Lab on the greenhouse side.

Sewanee Elementary Activities

Sewanee Elementary School kindergarten students celebrated spring by performing "Garden Hoe Down" (above) at a recent SES gathering. First-graders portrayed flowers and weeds as part of the musical "How Does Your Garden Grow?" Under the direction of music teacher Teresa Brown, students entertained their families, classmates and teachers with songs of spring and the woes of weeds in the garden.

Fourth-grade students at Sewanee Elementary (above) entertained their teachers and classmates by performing various musical selections on recorders. Students who earned their recorder "Black Belt" did a special performance of "Ode to Joy"—Sam Cochran, Lucy Carroll, Tim Nelson, Saje Mangru, Sarah Hobby, Katie Sherrill, Harrison Hartman, Gabriel Pongdee, Evan Fox, Isaac Smith and Thomas Stapleton.

Templeton Foundation Hosts "Celebration Of Spirit"

The John Templeton Foundation, established by Franklin County native John Marks Templeton, will host "A Celebration of Spirit," which will feature a series of events in the Winchester area to focus on the values embraced by Templeton.

"The Winchester area had a profound impact on my dad as he grew up, and we look forward to returning to his hometown for several celebratory events this year," said Jack Templeton, president and chairman of the John Templeton Foundation. "My father always looked to make a difference in the lives of those he encountered, and the Foundation strives to continue that mission."

This year marks the 25th anniversary of the Laws of Life Essay Contest, and in recognition, each event will revolve around principles discussed in those essays.

The first and largest event is "Spirit on the Square," and will be in downtown Winchester on Saturday, June 23. The main stage will feature national and local musical acts and performers, along with entertainment for the whole family. The event will also showcase nonprofit organizations in Franklin County, inviting them to decorate booths that highlight their mission and exemplify the values of Templeton's Laws of Life. The booth and decorations will be judged, and cash prizes will be awarded for the top entries. The 2012 Laws of Life Booth contest applications and guidelines can be found at www.acelebrationofspirit.org.

A new essay contest for Franklin

County citizens, sponsored by the Garden Association, will also be conducted, with cash prizes in three categories: ages 14 and younger, $50 to $2,000; ages 15–18, $100 to $4,000; and ages 18 and older, $300 to $5,000. An application and guidelines for the Franklin County Citizens' Laws of Life Essay Contest can be found at www.acelebrationofspirit.org.

"The Human Spirit," a one-day invitation-only conference, will take place on Monday, June 25, at Cravens Hall at the University of the South. Experts will discuss the expanding research on the topics of love, happiness, gratitude, forgiveness, perseverance, and health and well-being, particularly in the areas of developmental science and organizational studies.

John Marks Templeton was born in Winchester on Nov. 29, 1912. He attended Yale University for his undergraduate studies and Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar, earning an M.A. degree in law. Templeton began his investment and financial career in 1937 and provided advice for investing worldwide when Americans rarely considered foreign investment. Templeton sought to answer life's "big questions" in the fields of finance, faith and spiritual matters throughout his life and was named a Knight Bachelor by Queen Elizabeth II in 1987. A lifelong philanthropist, writer and investor, Templeton died in 2008.

For more information about the events, go to www.acelebrationofspirit.org.

"I Can't Live with Excruciating Foot And Leg Pain" Announcing A New High Tech Method For The Treatment of Peripheral Neuropathy and Type II Diabetes Symptoms...

"Doc, I can't live with this excruciating foot and leg pain!"

When you hear this from a patient it gets your attention. Typically, I get the worst of the worst pain patients but when I recently heard this exclamation, my attention was particularly peaked. Let's call this patient Bob. Bob is 62 years old with neuropathy in his hands and feet. He had poorly controlled Type II Diabetes and his life was literally as he described it "a living hell." Clearly he was coming to the end of his rope. The nerves in his legs and feet were damaged and he was in HORRIBLE CONSTANT PAIN

"I Can't Sleep at Night!"

He complained to me, "I can't sleep at night because my legs feel like they are being eaten by little bugs or chewed on by small animals."

During the day, he could hardly walk and every step sent shooting pain like lightning from his toes and up his legs up almost to his knees. He had numbness in his feet and couldn't feel his feet very well and had terrible balance problems. He was worried he might fall and injure himself.

He told me that he could not go on living with this constant, debilitating pain that had made every day a tragedy.

I had to help this man!

I recently was fortunate enough to accidentally discover a new non-invasive and non-drug treatment for severe and constant foot and leg pain caused by neuropathy.

I learned about a new type of non-surgical and painless laser-like high tech treatment that was working wonders with severe, constant chronic pain, including pain caused by Neuropathy.

It had the ability to quickly increase circulation to an area (much needed in a neuropathy patient). It could reduce and/or eliminate pain in as little as a few treatments and was changing the lives of patients with severe debilitating pain in offices across the nation.

Based on the research about this new type of technology and because of the almost immediate type of pain relief, I had to have one of these deep tissue treatments in my facility no matter what the cost.

I invested and implemented this new treatment that utilizes cold laser healing and pain relieving therapies.

I traveled to another state and enrolled in extensive training. My staff and I witnessed some amazing reductions and eliminations of some of the worst pain syndromes I had ever seen... And it was FAST! After just a few minutes of treatment on patients with extreme and chronic pain of the worst kind, including neuropathy of the feet and legs, we had patients telling us how their pain levels had decreased and they were shocked. Some of them had their pain even alleviated after only one treatment.

We were able to reduce or even eliminate neuropathy pain of the worst kind.

Using the latest and most recent tech-nologies, I now offer a non-invasive, non surgical and painless neuropathy pain treatment. I help patients reduce or even eliminate their neuropathy pain using nutritional therapies, deep tissue super-pulsed cold laser treatments, combined with specific non-surgical, non-invasive, relaxing re-integration and stimulation treatments of peripheral nerves using whole body vibration to increase their function quickly.

Here's what some patients have said about the treatments:

"I was on 14 medications and my doctors had told me I may need to have my foot amputated. I hadn't been able to wear shoes other than sandals for years because of my swollen and painful feet. After going through this program I've lost weight and my foot pain is gone. I can now wear normal shoes." Patient, N.S., Age 58

Camp SAS

Camp SAS, a day camp for rising first through seventh graders, incorporates the fun of the outdoors, the creativity of the arts and the excitement of tribal competition. The camp will run June 4-8.

Each day will incorporate camp spirit through tribe activities, nature appreciation, outdoor games and exploration and craft-making to support the connection between tribe and the outdoors. Come prepared to get dirty, get loud and have fun. The fee is $225 per camper and includes supplies and lunch. Camp runs from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

To ensure a low camper-to-counselor ratio, there will be only 55 slots available for summer 2012. Spots fill up quickly and there is often a waiting list for enrollment.

Contact Andrea Fisher for more information <afisher@sasweb.org>.

All dressed up with somewhere to go.

On Our Way Rejoicing

I like it when events and ideas overlap, i.e., that there is some common bond. Today's article is a case in point.

Several years ago I decided to play a particular hymn for the School of Theology Crossing and Commencement ceremony. The hymn was "On our way rejoicing." I thought the words were particularly appropriate for new seminary graduates, and the tune is sprightly and catchy. After the service, I asked several of the new graduates what they thought about the piece. Dead silence. No one knew the hymn. It had appeared in the Hymnal 1940 but not in the 'new' hymnal of 1982, and apparently none of the seminarians had been involved with the Episcopal Church before the 1980s. Just last week I thought about the hymn again and decided that maybe I would try it again this year.

On Sunday, May 6, Sr. Lucy Shetters preached the sermon at the St. Mary's 8 a.m. service. She tied together the three lessons that had been read, but she particularly commented on the first lesson. The lesson, Acts of the Apostles 8:32-40, is about the Ethiopian eunuch who is returning home from Jerusalem. Philip encounters the man and baptizes him. "When they came up out of the water the Spirit snatched Philip away, and the eunuch saw no more of him, but went happily on his way." Sr. Lucy mentioned that the hymn "On our way rejoicing" referred to the eunuch's going happily on his way. She recited one of the verses and even had the congregation (who all knew the 1940 hymnal!) sing the verses.

On our way rejoicing, as we homeward move,
hearken to our praises, O thou God of love!
Is there grief or sadness? Thou our joy shalt be;
is our sky beclouded? Clouds are not from thee.

Refrain:

On our way rejoicing, as we onward move,
hearken to our praises, O thou God of love!

On our way rejoicing gladly let us go;
conquered hath our Leader, vanquished is our foe!
Christ without, our safety, Christ within, our joy;
who, if we be faithful, can our hope destroy?

Refrain

Sales Tax Rate On Food To Decrease July 1

The Tennessee legislature approved House Bill 3761/Senate Bill 3763 on April 27, that provides for a reduction in the state sales and use tax rate on sales of food and food ingredients. Effective July 1, 2012, the state sales and use tax rate on sales of food and food ingredients will be reduced from 5.5 percent to 5.25 percent.

With the change, food and food ingredients will be subject to a reduced state sales and use tax rate of 5.25 percent, plus the applicable local sales and use tax rate.

Prepared food, dietary supplements, candy, alcoholic beverages and tobacco continue to be subject to the general state sales and use tax rate of 7 percent, plus the applicable local sales and use tax rate.

Existing laws defining which items are considered food and food ingredients remain unchanged by the new legislation.

New Student Firefighters and EMTs Named After Tryouts

The Sewanee Volunteer Fire Department and Sewanee Emergency Medical Services recently held tryouts for students interested in making this commitment to the community. Five first-year students were accepted as EMTs (Sydney Philpot, Nate Foster, Andy Streiff, Nakeirah Christie and Seth Burns), and five more joined the ranks of firefighters (Thomas Walters, Rory Devine, Penn Jenks, Sloan Taylor and Ben Yunker).

Sewanee Emergency Medical Services is Tennessee's only student-run, volunteer EMS service. Becoming a Sewanee EMT is a year-long endeavor, beginning with an application to take the Tennessee-accredited EMT course (eight hours weekly for two semesters). The tryouts held recently occur halfway through the course's second semester. Once accepted as a member of the Sewanee EMS team, EMTs must become officially certified by taking a National Registry Exam. Upon successful completion of this exam, freshmen EMTs are fully able to serve the Sewanee community. Next year, Sewanee EMS will have 12 members.

It is not uncommon for colleges to have students who serve as first responders, but few schools have a fully-functioning EMS service like Sewanee's. Sewanee EMTs handle calls ranging from broken bones to cardiac arrests. Many of the current EMTs have an interest in medicine or the sciences, but a desire to pursue medicine after graduating is not required. Students often try out for the program because of their desire to serve the community. Senior EMT Joyce Kuik says that being an EMT has wonderfully supplemented her Sewanee education.

The Sewanee Volunteer Fire Department tryout process marks the conclusion of a six-week training course open to all interested freshmen and taught by the SVFD's student training officer. During this course, freshmen men and women are prepared to serve the community by learning about fire and fire protection. Following the grueling interview and tryout process, students selected to be firemen make a three-year commitment to serve Sewanee. They are subject to being on-call every day, with the exception of one weekend night.

Firefighters are responsible for fire protection in Sewanee and the surrounding area, and they also provide mutual aid to neighboring towns. In addition, student and community firemen conduct high angle rescues, land searches, and vehicle extrications. Because the fire department includes 18 students and many more community members, the experience allows students to work with their community instead of for their community. One senior firefighter explained, "I have an investment in Sewanee, and I'm that much more interested in seeing how it grows and develops."

Friday Night Live In The Park

The Sewanee Business Alliance and Southern Community Bank announce a special summer series of music to be performed in the new Sewanee Angel Park each Friday night for six weeks starting at the end of June until July 27. Co-sponsors already signed are Duck River Electric, Woody's Bicycles, Myers Point and St. Andrew's-Sewanee School.

The series will kick off with a street festival in the village on Friday, June 22. University Avenue will be closed to traffic, and there will be local vendors selling food and refreshments, as well as live music, from 5 to 7 p.m.

Every Friday night thereafter will feature local artists performing under the new pavilion in Angel Park. These events are being planned for the entire family.

Among the performers announced already for the series are Men of Soul, Broad Mountain Band, Sewanee Summer Music Festival members and the Sewanee Chorale.

A reception for Sewanee's graduating art majors will be 1-3 p.m., Saturday, May 12, in the University Art Gallery. This event will close the gallery's 2011-12 exhibition season.

The exhibition's title, "Portmanteau," refers to the merging of two seemingly disparate things to create something new. A word that combines the sounds and meanings of other words, a "portmanteau" compensates for the limitations of standardized language by creating unexpected hybrid forms. Similarly, art, in various media, combines forms and concepts in an attempt to describe the previously indescribable. By examining and expressing individual experience through art, and by juxtaposing the results, one may arrive at awareness of a greater, shared experience.

The artists in this show have built upon each other's ideas in formulating their work. "Portmanteau" explores relationships, boundaries, estrangement and impermanence. The photography of Dylan Orlady, Lizzie Butler, Compton Fields and Katherine Rogers addresses these themes, as does Jordan Rose's sculpture, drawing and collage, Elizabeth Tworck's drawing and painting, Patrick Berger's drawing and sculptural installations, Maggie Lines's sculpture, Katie Hudson's video and sculpture, and Anna Marchetti's video, sculpture and painting.

This multimedia exhibition straddles gaps between media, and between contradictory interpretations of one's place within the world.

Portmanteau represents the work of ten young artists at the culmination of their academic careers at the University of the South, as they look 'beyond the gates' to new venues and fields of endeavor.

The gallery is located on Georgia Avenue. For more information call 598-1223.

SAS Varsity Track and Field Places Fifth

The SAS varsity boys' track and field squad placed fifth out of 11 teams at the TSSAA Division IIA State Invitational Meet at Franklin Road Academy, May 5.

Entering the 4x400 relay in sixth place, the boys needed a fifth-place finish or better to overtake Ezell-Harding, while holding off University School of Jackson. Eric Baynard, Moe Hunt, Preston Nephew and Jacob Schott finished in third, securing an outstanding team showing for the boys.

Donta Oden broke his own school shot put record and placed third in the event. Oden also finished in fifth place in the discus.

Also scoring points for the boys' team were: Lucas Lu, third in triple jump, seventh in long jump, and eighth in high jump; Nephew, third in 300 hurdles, and fifth in triple jump; Mitchell Foster, eighth in the 3200; Daniel Chung, seventh in the 200 and eighth in the 100; Hunt, seventh in the 400; and Baynard, fourth in the 300 hurdles. Jake Mallory, James Beasley and Tony Jin also helped 4x100 and 4x200 relays to fifth-place finishes.

Seven members of the boys' team are freshman, and they contributed 34 of the 53 SAS points in the meet.

The SAS varsity girls' team of Sarah Beavers and Joan Park also scored in points. Beavers had a seventh-place finish in the discus, and Park had a seventh-place finish in the shot put.

SAS Soccer Playoff

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School varsity boys' soccer team lost in the opening round of the soccer playoffs May 4 against Mt. Juliet Christian Academy.

In the first half, SAS kept MJCA at a distance from goal. Captain Nick Fletcher and Tinashe Zimbwa kept MJCA's defense under constant pressure. Dubin Nam hustled for every ball in the midfield. Going into halftime, the score was tied 0-0.

SAS came out in the second half playing with heart and grit. Defenders Mpilo Ngomane, Mitchell Hazard and Michael Ross, along with captain Zachary Blount, worked well on the back line. Goalkeeper Ethan Brand performed like a pro in net with 14 saves.

As the minutes dwindled down, SAS and MJCA went back and forth. With a mere five minutes left in the match, MJCA took a perfect shot from the top of the box to give them the edge. Playing scrappy and with intensity, SAS left it all on the field but were unable to equalize.

"I could not have asked them for more," said head coach Andrea Fisher.

Goodhue was 3-0 during the tournament at the No. 2 singles spot for the 16th-ranked Tigers, who fell in the championship match to 14th-ranked Trinity University. She won all three of her matches in straight sets, dropping only five games in the six sets that she played.

Cooper's 3-0 record at the No. 4 singles spot helped lead the Tigers to a fourth-place finish at the tournament.

Squire, Amy Nusbaum, Olivia Vietor and Sally Anne Greenwood were honored as All-SCAC Second-Team members.

Welton led the conference in goals (64), free position goals (19) and points (85). Welton was second in the league in draw controls (78) while ranking inside the top 10 in four other statistical categories. Welton notched 227 career goals and holds the Tiger career and single-season records for goals, shots, shots-on-goal and draw controls.

Palmer Finishes Fifth in the Cacchione Cup

Sewanee equestrian rider Allan Palmer closed out his outstanding season with a fifth-place finish in the Cacchione Cup at the IHSA National Horse Show on May 7.

"Allan's consistent riding throughout the year and willingness to continue to learn and improve really paid off at the National Horse Show," said Sewanee Director of Riding Megan Taylor. "Finishing so high in the Cacchione Cup is a remarkable achievement, given that the 36 riders in that class were the best of the best."

After Palmer finished the individual Open Fences event, he placed third in the Over Fences phase, with 85 points.

Palmer and 23 other riders were then split into a pair of groups for the flat competition. After another solid performance, Palmer's score dropped him to fifth, which was the highest a Sewanee rider has finished since 1996.

"Allan understands what it takes to be competitive at this level and already has his sights set on the 2013 IHSA National Horse Show," stated Taylor. "It has been an honor to be a part of the accomplishments that Allan has had in the IHSA ring this year. I look forward to the next two years."

OVERTIME

by John Shackelford

Coaches have a habit of putting motivational sayings and inspirational messages on bulletin boards and locker room walls. (Secretly, we are having a contest with the pastors and ministers and the clever messages they post in front on their church signs). During a recent stop to the University training room, I noticed such a message on the door of head trainer Ray Knight's office:

"Do you know the importance of time?"

The message was brought home more clearly to me by the photographs of his two children, Sarah and Addie, surrounding this sign. Ray and his fellow trainers, Dani Green and Meagan Bevins, do not have the luxury of working a 40-hour week. If the lacrosse team needs to practice at 6 a.m., then our trainers are there. If the football team has a night practice that begins after the student-athletes finish their afternoon labs, then our trainers are present under the lights and until the last athlete has been iced down after practice. Ray and his staff need students to show up when scheduled and put in the time to recover from their injuries. His time is valuable, and he would like to have a little left over to spend with his girls.

Ray's question is perhaps a little deeper than your average tennis coach can think about in a single day. But his point is brought home clearly during this week of graduation for the University and next week, for our local high school students. There will not be a single graduate or parent who won't ask the question this week, "Where did the time go?" They will look back at photographs and keepsakes and remark, "That seems like just yesterday." Back when summer seemed so endless as a child, it was because those years were but a fraction of our lifetime. For a college student, a year is 1/20th of the life they know and for an old codger like me it is now just beyond... well you understand the math. Our perception of time comes from the ratio of the length of our lives and the time spent in an event.

Time flies, and we have no means of stopping it. It seems the more important question is "What did I do with it?" Rudyard Kipling instructed us to "Fill the unforgiving minute with sixty seconds worth of distance run."

As we stand back and observe these students walking toward their futures, we are left with the memories of both the time and the accomplishments they shared with us. As coaches, we ask for a sacrifice from our athletes by offering the clichés of "Leave it all on the field" or "Give me 110 percent," but that is often easier said than truly lived.

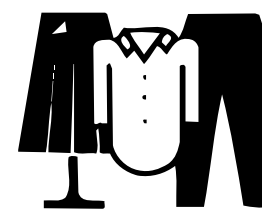

The lone senior on the women's tennis team graduating this weekend will be Michelle Flume of San Antonio, Texas. If I fed Michelle a steady diet of steroids and Angus beef from her native state, I still don't think I could get her up to 90 pounds. Yet she won more than 80 percent of her tennis matches during the past four years. In other words, she didn't overpower her opponents as much as she outlasted them. There is no time clock in our sport, so Michelle has been known to advise her opponent to pack a lunch and plan on staying on the court for a while. She knows the value of time and understands that it is on her side. In her final contest during the finals of the SCAC championships last week, Michelle was in a spot where victory was not possible for the team, unless she and three of her other teammates still on the court all won their singles matches.

Temperatures were in the mid-80s and we were in the fifth hour of competition when Michelle and her opponent finally reached the third and deciding set. Michelle was cramping badly, and trainers were on the court massaging her legs furiously during changeovers and filling her with electrolytes and fluids. Needing just one final game, Michelle reached a point where both hips were cramping so badly she could barely walk between points. Miraculously she battled throughout each point and limped feebly between them. Michelle won her match, but sadly, her efforts were not enough for the entire team. Not enough overall, but a victory of spirit nonetheless. This was another great example of a senior truly leaving it all on the court as she walks away from competition. There is no limp in her graduation walk this week. There is only pride in knowing that although time cannot be purchased, it can be well spent.

It is almost summer time. Go get some baby back ribs and cook them as slow as you can. Smoke them all day long and appreciate the time it takes to do something right. If you have an appointment with Ray, please show up on time and do your work well so he can go home and spend his in the most valuable of ways: watching Sarah and Addie move far too quickly toward their futures.

Cedar Waxwings

Jean and Harry Yeatman watched a dozen or more Cedar Waxwings swoop down into a sarvisberry shrub that was covered in red fruit. They were very fast in going from branch to branch stripping off the ripe berries. There were some males with the red wax on their wings and females without, and also, some young birds with a bit of down on their feathers.

Blossum

King Tut

Pets of the Week

Meet Blossum and King Tut

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers two delightful pets for adoption.

Blossum is a fun-loving little Shih Tzu/Dachshund-mix puppy. She is an affectionate, feisty little lapdog who wants to play, then snuggle. Blossum is up-to-date on shots and spayed. King Tut is a playful kitten who is very people-oriented. He has received lots of attention during his brief life, and he will be happiest in a home with people around most of the time. King Tut is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. Adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than four months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out their other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Please help the Humane Society continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to the Franklin County Humane Society, P. O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

BARDTOVERSE

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

Now the bright morning star, Day's harbinger,
Comes dancing from the East, and leads with her
The flowery May, who from her green lap throws
The yellow cowslip and the pale primrose.
Hail, bounteous May, that dost inspire
Mirth, and youth, and warm desire!
Woods and groves are of thy dressing;
Hill and dale doth boast thy blessing.
Thus we salute thee with our early song,
And welcome thee, and wish thee long.

—“Song on May Morning” by John Milton

A little Madness in the Spring
Is wholesome even for the King,
But God be with the Clown—
Who ponders this tremendous scene—
This whole Experiment of Green—
As if it were his own!

—by Emily Dickinson
