University Commencement Weekend Events, May 11-13

The University of the South's 2017-18 academic year comes to a close May 11, 12, and 13 with three ceremonies marking graduation weekend on the Mountain. Commencement and Baccalaureate ceremonies will be held for students from the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Letters, and the School of Theology. Honorary degrees will be presented during the School of Theology Commencement and during the Baccalaureate ceremony. Both Commencement ceremonies and the Baccalaureate service will be live-streamed for those unable to attend.

The School of Theology will graduate 29 students and confer three honorary degrees on Friday, May 11, in All Saints' Chapel. The service will begin at 10 a.m. A luncheon for students and their families will follow in McClurg Dining Hall.

Episcopal priest, author, and historian of American religion Randall Balmer and Richard Heitzenrater, the William Kellon Quick Professor Emeritus of Church History and Wesley Studies at Duke Divinity School, will receive honorary degrees. The Rt. Rev. David Mitchell Reed, bishop of the Diocese of West Texas (one of the University's owning dioceses), will also receive an honorary degree. Balmer will preach during the service. A book signing with Balmer and Heitzenrater will be held at 2:30 p.m., Friday, May 11, in Convocation Hall.

Jamaican journalist, playwright, and director Barbara Goodison Gloudon; David Lodge, C'79, Rhodes Scholar and now the Francis J. DiSalvo Director of Cornell University's Atkinson Center for a Sustainable Future; and Condoleezza Rice, U.S. Secretary of State from 2005 to 2009 and a professor at Stanford University, will receive honorary degrees during the Baccalaureate service Saturday, May 12. Rice will give the Baccalaureate address.

On Sunday, May 13, a Convocation for Conferring of Degrees will be held at 10 a.m. in All Saints' Chapel and the Quad for the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Letters (tickets required). More than 400 students will graduate from the College, and 11 will receive master's degrees from the School of Letters. A luncheon honoring the Class of 2018 graduates will follow.

Spring Arts & Crafts Fair

The Sewanee Arts and Crafts Association's May 2018 Fair will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, May 12, at Shoup Park on University Avenue in Sewanee. This event is free and open to the public. Exhibitors will include:

Sandy Gilliam, photography; Burki Gladstone, clay; Mary Beth Green, boxes; Marcus Hilden, hand forged items; Connie Hornsby, fiber art; Kacie Lynn Hodges, textiles; Bryan Jackson, chipped stone; Dennis Jones, jewelry;

Jasper King, wooden bowls; Bill Knight, wooden toys; Marjorie Langston, lamp worked glass; Cheryl Lankhaar, oil paintings; Charles Letson, wooden items; Bill Mauzy, turned bowls; Randy McCurdy, pressed flowers; The Moores, driftwood; Christi Ormsby, clay items; Susan and Art Parry, glass and wood; Amy Rae, soap and yarn;

Baccalaureate Note

Due to interest in Baccalaureate speaker Condoleezza Rice and the other honorary degree recipients, community members have inquired about watching the University of the South's Baccalaureate service on Saturday, May 12. The University asks community members and friends of the University to understand that guest seating for the Baccalaureate service must go first to the family members of our more than 400 graduating seniors. Others are invited to watch the service as it is live-streamed, either online <<http://www.sewanee.edu/commencement/>> or in the Quadrangle on campus, where there will be seating.

Fourth of July Parade Entries Wanted

The 32nd annual Sewanee Fourth of July theme this year is "From Sea to Shining Sea." Parade entries are now being accepted.

The parade begins at 2 p.m., Wednesday, July 4, with line-up on Lake O'Donnell Road starting at noon and ending at 1 p.m. This is when and where the judging will be: trophies for best float, best decorated vehicle, and best horse; and blue ribbons for best decorated bicycle, best banner and best costume.

There are so many creative ways to strut your stuff up University Avenue ranging from traditional and elaborate to simple, elegant, memorable and bizarre.

If you're interested in showing how your organization keeps alive the American spirit of opportunity and hope for all, please fill out an entry form. All entrants must fill out and submit an entry form by June 30. There are two ways to submit your entry form: in the From-Sea-to-Shining-Sea jar at the Blue Chair or by email <leighannecouch@gmail.com>. The entry form is available online <www.sewaneemessenger.com> and on page 7 of this issue.

SAS Class of 2018 Graduates May 20

The student body of St. Andrew's-Sewanee School will celebrate the 2017-18 academic year and its 48 graduating seniors during weekend festivities May 18-20, 2018.

The weekend begins with the Baccalaureate Service on Friday, May 18, at 5:30 p.m. at the school's Outdoor Altar. This year's Baccalaureate speaker will be longtime and beloved SAS college counselor Christine Asmussen who will retire this year. The Baccalaureate Service is followed by a banquet for seniors, their families, and guests in Robinson Dining Hall. The final event of the evening is the senior Lead Out and Annie Presentations in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts. The Annies, an SAS tradition, is an opportunity for each senior to be honored with an original poem written by a faculty member in celebration of that senior. Events will end on Friday night at approximately 9 p.m.

On Saturday, May 19, at 10 a.m. the school community will gather under the tent at the Outdoor Altar for Honors Day, a celebration of student achievements throughout the year and major awards recognizing outstanding leadership, service, and scholarship. Retiring and departing faculty members will also be honored during the ceremony. Honors Day lasts about an hour. Following the program guests are invited to a reception in Simmonds Hall. Student artwork will be on display in the SAS Gallery throughout the weekend.

The weekend, and school year, conclude on Sunday, May 20, with Commencement Eucharist and Commencement Exercises which begin at 10 a.m. under the tent at the Outdoor Altar. The graduation ceremony lasts about one and a half hours. Each senior will be awarded a diploma and receive a parting blessing. Following Commencement Exercises, there will be a reception in the Spencer Room in Langford Hall.

A detailed schedule is available at <www.sasweb.org/commencement>.

The SAS Class of 2018 was recently inducted into the school's Alumni Association with the annual "mugging." The Class of 2018's commencement will be the culminating event in a weekend of festivities celebrating the 2017-18 school year.

Students at Sewanee Elementary completed their annual Mile Run at the University of the South track. Students are encouraged to walk/run the track and finish times are given to students. Several students improved their time from previous years. Shown are Rivers Kelleher and Jaxon Rudder.

READINGS AT IONA

To the Editor:

Our Sewanee Mountain is enriched by the creativity of many gifted artists who have read, performed, or exhibited in the past. We wish to acknowledge new writers and students as well as newcomers who are surely welcome to share your work, publicly. IONA: Art Sanctuary has contributed to this spreading of the word, and is now seeking creative writers for the 2018 various seasons. All types of creative writing is sought from those good souls wishing to share their work with the general public. If you are willing to offer a 12-15 minute presentation on a late weekday afternoon, please contact Ed Carlos as soon as possible, as the schedules are now being assembled for 1). late June, 2). late July/early August, 3). September, a week after schools begin their fall sessions, and 4). mid-October. You may wish to suggest a preference of month and I will get back to you soon to confirm the date.

In response to when the season is starting, we begin later than hoped, due to the many days of heavy rain, erosion, and other necessary preparations to open the site once again. Thank you all for understanding, and please consider sharing your creativity with others in this manner, contacting me by email at <ecarlos@sewanee.edu>.

COMMENT ON JONES LETTER

To the Editor:

Michael Jones letter rebuking the Honorarium soon to be bestowed on Condoleezza Rice (May 4, 2018 issue) fails to mention the name of her mentor George Herbert Walker Bush. During his vice presidency, he spoke and was awarded a similar Honorarium. I well remember the protesters carrying signs on a small patch of grass in front of Thompson Union. They may have numbered a half dozen so.

Reflecting a rather narrow view of history, Mr. Jones seems to credit Dr. Rice with the turmoil in the Middle East. Unrest in the Middle East predates and postdates Dr. Rice's government service.

Unlike Mr. Jones, I fail to see this as a matter of liberal versus conservative. The implication is that a conservative is not deserving.

I believe it most appropriate that the University of the South honor this daughter of the South.

CARE FOR OUR ELDERS

To the Editor:

Recently we memorialized Professor William T. (Willie) Cocke, longtime member of the English Department who will be remembered for his wonderful humor and storytelling. He is one of many members of this community who have died this winter after spending many years serving the University and building truly wonderful legacies. In the case of Dr. Cocke, and most of the other university luminaries, they had to leave their community to be cared for properly. In fact, as Dr. Cocke's physical conditioned waned, he moved to an assisted living facility in Nashville to be close to his son, Tom. A few weeks before his death, his condition worsened to the point that he could no longer live in the assisted living facility. He and his sons, who grew up in Sewanee, wanted him to come back to Sewanee in his waning days. There was no place to come to, no long term care beds, so they were refused. He traveled to Charlottesville, Va. to be with his son William and died a few days later.

Sewanee is a wonderful place to live, full of activities and intellectual sharing. But it is an incomplete community that fails to care adequately for members when they grow old and infirm. This community lacks housing choices that may enable our elderly to remain in Sewanee, instead of having to leave. Elder friendly housing needs to be a part of the Sewanee Downtown Project. Intergenerational housing should be our goal. We talk endlessly about how good diversity is for a community. What about our elderly? I have come to recognize a latent ageism, manifested by a lack of proper housing for our elderly. The University Trustees' 2012 Strategic Plan, in which diversity was identified as a main goal, should also include the elderly population.

Like Dr. Cocke and his family, many longtime residents of Sewanee have had to leave because we lack the facilities and services to maintain their presence amongst us. Can we not find the collective will to build places for our elderly to live comfortably and safely within the community? I ask you to consider investing in Sewanee intergenerational housing to make our community stronger and complete. Please email me at <tphelps52@gmail.com> or call me at (931) 581-9020.

CONVERGENCE

To the Editor:

Willie Nelson once said that in forming our various groups, we first set out to be different from all the others; then comes the phase of feeling we're better than all the others. Good sooth.

Never in my 70-plus years have I seen more divisions, strife and partisanship than exists today.

The other night on late-night talk radio an author was interviewed; her book detailed her search for family identity through the DNA approach after much travel abroad and records searching. The results were varied, she said. In conclusion, the interviewer asked her to sum up the lessons learned. Her answer was: we need to put aside all the things that divide us one from another, including ancestral differences and learn to just get along with each other. Great sooth.

Messenger Break Ahead

The Messenger will be on break May 21–25. We will be back in the office Tuesday, May 29 and in print on Friday, June 1, for the official start of summer on the Mountain. Deadlines for the June 1 issue are display advertising, Monday, May 28, at 5 p.m.; news/calendar, 5 p.m., Tuesday, May 29; and classified ads, noon, Wednesday, May 30.

During the summer, a number of clubs do not meet and churches often change their schedules. Please let the Messenger know by phone or email before 4 p.m., Tuesday, May 29, if your organization's schedule will differ from the one we publish regularly in our printed and online calendars.

Letters to the Editor Policy

Letters to the editor are welcome at the Sewanee Mountain Messenger and are a vital part of our community's conversation. Letters need to be no longer than 250 words and may be edited for space and clarity. We make exceptions from time to time, but these are our general guidelines.

Letters and/or their author must have some relationship to our community. We do not accept letters on national topics from individuals who live outside our print circulation area. Please include your name, address and a daytime telephone number with your letter. You may mail it to us at Sewanee Mountain Messenger, P.O. Box 296, Sewanee, TN 37375, come by our office, 418 St. Mary's Ln., or send your email to <news@sewaneemessenger.com>. —KB

Sewanee students take a break with Blue Monarch families

Sewanee Students Helping Rebuild Families

Blue Monarch is currently celebrating its 15th year as an organization serving women and children recovering from abuse and addiction. Throughout these 15 years, Sewanee students have invested in Blue Monarch's mission of breaking cycles and rebuilding families. Whether serving as individuals or groups, the students are truly invaluable to this organization and their mission.

According to Kate Cataldo, Director of Community Relations, the students add energy and fresh perspective as well as extra hands and feet to accomplish many needed projects throughout the year. Cataldo says there have been individual students serving weekly with administrative needs, GED tutoring for the mothers, as well as tutoring and afterschool activities with the children. Student groups have also served in childcare for special events, garden projects, and the much anticipated SWECC serve days in the fall and spring with more than 40 Sewanee students in attendance. Theta Pi has also maintained a 14-year partnership in helping raise awareness and support for Blue Monarch through an annual fundraising event.

What began with a few students in 2004 has grown currently into faithful student involvement in the organizations' day-to-day operations, and Sewanee relationships and support that span across the country through alumni and parents. The founder and staff of Blue Monarch express much gratitude to the University of the South students, staff, alumni, and parents for helping them break cycles and rebuild families for more than 700 women and children they have served during the last 15 years.

For more information about Blue Monarch contact Cataldo at (931) 924-8900 or visit <www.blumonarch.org>.

SUMMA Student Theological Debate Society Camp

SUMMA Student Theological Debate Society is inviting high school students entering grades nine–12 in the fall of 2018 to apply for SUMMA Debate Camp, held July 17–25 at the University of the South. SUMMA Camp is a unique opportunity for students to explore their faith through intellectual channels, meet lifelong friends, and have a lot of fun on one of the most beautiful college campuses in the country.

At SUMMA Camp, students of all faiths learn valuable skills for debate, public speaking, and theological reflection. No previous debate experience or formal theological study is necessary. Campers have a true collegiate experience, but camp is not all work. There is plenty of time left over to swim, play sports, watch movies, go bowling, and have lots of great, summer fun.

For more information and to apply, visit <summa.sewanee.edu>, or contact recruitment specialist Walker Adams at <hwadams@sewanee.edu>.

New Tree Nursery in Haiti

On May 3, the Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary Club presented a check for $2,500 from the Cajun Supper fundraiser to the University of the South's Haiti Institute. These funds will help with the construction of a new tree nursery for growing seedlings. Dixon Myers received the funds from Rotary President-elect Lee Harmon.

The Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary Club has been involved with the University program to help Haitian farmers develop self-sustaining crops in this mountainous country, which is still struggling from disasters of 2010. Haitian farmers along with University of the South students and staff re-built the old nursery with sturdier PVC pipe and a new shade-cloth covering. The construction methods used were to help prevent livestock, birds and other damaging factors from getting to the vulnerable seedlings. The next step for the farmers is to begin re-stocking the new facility. The original nursery contained 16,000 seedlings.

Local Dogs

A letter dated 1870 documents the presence of dogs in classrooms from the earliest days of the University. There they were to be found for more than 100 years at which time there was an official crackdown on strays and animals in packs. Nevertheless, local dogs continued to range about the campus. Generations of students called them by name, brought them into their dorm rooms, and gave them snacks from the dining hall.

In recent years the situation has changed. Today walkers, joggers, and bikers expect a dog to be under its owner's voice control at all times. Since very few owners can vouch for a dog's obedience in the face of temptation, the effect is now the same as a leash law. People say that the campus is safer with dogs on leashes and that buildings are cleaner than they used to be, but many still remember names from the catalog of Sewanee dogs who for decades received wide publicity and fame abroad as an essential part of the Sewanee tradition. The long list of their names includes Hrothgar, Pearl, Beauregard, Algie, Jessie, Bolter, and Gabrielle's Abbo.

A testament to the extraordinary lives once enjoyed by dogs at the University of the South is the following obituary which appeared on the front page of the New York Times, the New York Herald Tribune, the Nashville Tennessean, the Chattanooga Times, the Houston Chronicle, and the Chicago Tribune in December 1934.

PRIZE CANINE OF SEWANEE'S CAMPUS DIES

Students Mourn as Dog with Charge Account Goes to Reward

Sewanee, Tenn., Dec. 14 (AP). -- After 17 years in college, Fitz, the only dog with a charge account, died Friday. Though he was a friend of all at the University of the South, the big collie was especially fond of Dr. George Baker, dean of the college of arts and sciences, whose classes he had attended since 1922. "He understands French and German as well as he does English," said the dean, who called him mon fils.

Fitz attended Chapel every day and never missed a meeting of the faculty or of the Board of Trustees. The students called him "the champion of Sewanee" and claimed that he averaged a fight a day. His contentious nature landed him in jail one night in 1927 following the Vanderbilt-Sewanee game. He had attacked a pig bearing Vanderbilt's colors.

His favorite delicacy was ice cream. Every day in the school year, Dr. Baker went with him to the University store at 11 a.m. for an ice cream cone. During the summer months when Dr. Baker was not in town, Fitz would go to the store and howl for his cone which was charged to his account. In the fall Dr. Baker returned to campus and paid the bill.

When Fitz died in December, students cancelled their train reservations home for Christmas to remain on campus for the funeral at which there was a singing of the Alma Mater. Fitz's body was placed in a wooden box and buried in the Quadrangle. The sundial near All Saints Chapel is his funerary monument.

Wednesday, July 4, 2018

Parade Start: 2 p.m.
Line-up: Begins at noon on Lake O'Donnell Road -- judging begins at 1 pm. Please ENTER Lake O'Donnell at the end closest to the airport. Bicycles are to be at Woody's Bike Shop at 1:30 pm for judging.

Name of Group: _____
Contact Name: _____
Phone Number(s): _____
Group Size: _____ Number of Animals: _____
Number of Vehicles: _____ Is one of your vehicles a float? Yes No
Will your group be playing music? Yes No
Brief description of your group: _____

THIS YEAR ALL FORMS MUST BE RETURNED by Saturday, June 30, for your group TO BE IN THE PARADE

There are three ways to submit your form

*Drop it off in the "From Sea to Shining Sea" jar by the door at the Blue Chair

*E-mail it to: Leighannecouch@gmail.com

*Mail it to: Leigh Anne Couch, 245 Running Knob Hollow Rd., Sewanee 37375

We appreciate your help in making the parade safe and enjoyable for everyone.

*If you will be throwing candy, please be sure to throw it as close to the curb as you can. We want to keep our little ones as safe as possible by keeping them from running out into the road. I know, not an easy task, but we can try. Also, if you have a horn or other type of loud noise, please turn it off when your entry reaches the Kirby-Smith Monument. There are those who do not like to hear the sirens and they will be seated at or near the hospital. Due to insurance precautions, we will once again be asking that you sign a release form. Someone will be there the day of the parade to take care of this. And last but not least, if you will be riding a motorcycle or 4-wheeler, please wear your helmet and be very cautious in your driving. Remember, there are children all along the parade route. Your help in this will be greatly appreciated.

Rotaract Club of Sewanee Fundraiser

The Rotaract Club of Sewanee is sponsoring an American Cancer Society's Relay for Life as its first community event. Relay for Life represents the hope that those lost to cancer will never be forgotten, that those who face cancer will be supported, and that one day cancer will be eliminated. This event engages the entire community of cancer survivors, caregivers and citizens in uniting to defeat all cancers.

This event will take place from 11 a.m.–9 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 6, at the Hardee-McGee Field at Harris Stadium. The goal for the event is $20,000. For more information on how to donate, form a team or get involved, go to <www.Relayforlife.org/sewaneetn>, or contact Will Murphy at <murphwj@sewanee.edu>, call (781) 336-8262 or email <sewanee.relayforlife@gmail.com>.

Organizers send thanks to the 16 energetic people who came out to help with the Litter Blitz on May 5, and to Facilities Management and the Sewanee Police for their support. Pictured are the William Shealy family, Leslie Richardson and Bonnie McCardell. "Several people shared ideas for making next year's event bigger and better," said Mary Priestley. "And yes, Arthur Knoll Memorial Litter Pick-up is a great name for what we hope will become an annual event!"

Kellan Day, T'19, and Hannah Pommersheim, T'19, have been selected as the 2018–19 Gessell Fellows

New 2018-19 Gessell Fellows Selected

Kellan Day, T'19, and Hannah Pommersheim, T'19, have been selected as the 2018–19 Gessell Fellows for their independent research project on "Monuments to Sin: Theology, Commemoration, and Episcopal Parishes."

How are Episcopal Churches confronting the Confederate symbols in their sacred spaces? What theological resources are parishes using in this process? How does a church community tell a comprehensive and truthful history among competing narratives about slavery and commemoration? What best practices already exist?

These are the types of questions that Kellan and Hannah have formulated during the past year as they have served on the working group of the Sewanee Project on Slavery, Race, and Reconciliation. By learning from Sewanee's own history-examining process, Kellan and Hannah seek to apply these lessons to individual Episcopal parishes. They will create a theologically-informed curriculum with the goal of better equipping church leaders to address problematic Confederate symbols in their parishes. They hope to eventually employ this curriculum in a workshop for Episcopal Church leaders.

Kellan and Hannah will present their research to the community in March 2019.

The Gessell Fellowship in Social Ethics, established by John M. "Jack" Gessell in 2006, provides funding for Sewanee students to do an independent research project in social theory or social ethics. The project may be an academic research paper or field experience. Awards alternate yearly between students from the College and the School of Theology. For more information, please contact Career & Leadership Development at (931) 598-1121 or <careers@sewanee.edu>.

SAS Res Opens June 4, Pass Required

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School campus is home to a beautiful man-made lake created decades ago by the monks and students of St. Andrew's School. The "Res," as it is called, is restricted to school use during most of the year. However, for a small portion of the summer (this year June 4 through July 31, 2018) members of the extended SAS community may use the Res if they have a permit.

To be eligible to apply for and purchase a Res pass and parking permit, community members must have an SAS sponsor employed by the school (signature will be required) and be at least 18 years old. Applications are available at <www.sasweb.org/the_res> and must be submitted at the SAS Administrative Offices in Langford Hall between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday–Friday, beginning Friday, May 25. Please note that the office will be closed on Memorial Day, Monday, May 28. Season permits are $75. A one weekend permit may be purchased for $25. SAS alumni and current parents may purchase a season permit for $25. The Res may not be used by permit holders until June 4.

Group rates for those not affiliated with SAS or the University of the South will be $150 per half day for up to 25 individuals. Groups must provide lifeguards and proof of insurance. To apply for group use, contact Andrea Booher at <aboohier@sasweb.org>.

In addition to having a permit and parking pass, all Res users must abide by the regulations below:

No one may swim alone.

Dogs are prohibited.

No rope swings may be installed or used.

Use is permitted only between dawn and dusk each day.

Minor guests must be accompanied by someone over 21.

No glass containers, alcoholic beverages or any illegal substance may be brought to or consumed at the Res.

Fireworks, firearms and other weapons are not permitted.

Smoking and fires are prohibited.

Trash is not to be thrown in the water or left on the grounds.

Conduct befitting a school environment will be displayed at all times.

Res pass holder must have pass with him/her when at the Res and display a Visitor's Parking Permit in the left rear window of their vehicle.

The Res will be patrolled for proper use but lifeguards are not present. Users swim and use the Res at their own risk.

For more information, contact Sarah Lodge at <slodge@sasweb.org> or (931) 463-2163.

Two Sewanee Administrators Selected for National Leadership Development Programs

Sewanee's Terry Papillon, professor of classics as well as vice president for academic affairs and dean of the College, is one of 17 senior-level administrators in higher education nationwide selected by the Council of Independent Colleges (CIC) to participate in the 2018–2019 Executive Leadership Academy (ELA). Scott Wilson, associate dean of global education and professor of politics, was selected by CIC as one of 45 mid-level administrators to participate in the 2018–2019 Senior Leadership Academy (SLA). The selections recognize the potential of both men for highly effective senior leadership.

Papillon will participate in two seminars in Washington, DC, over the next year. He also will engage in readings, webinars, and a mentoring program. The ELA is designed to prepare provosts and other vice presidents to serve as effective college presidents. Papillon will develop and follow an experiential learning plan focused on specific areas of presidential responsibility.

As part of the SLA, Wilson will undertake a mentoring program, work with experts, participate in webinars, and engage in a series of readings and case studies during the academic year. He also will participate in seminars in St. Louis, Mo., in November and June. The SLA is designed to prepare prospective leaders to assume positions as the chief officers in any college or university division.

"Competition for the available places in both programs was intense," said CIC President Richard Ekman. "The review committee found the nomination materials to be most impressive."

Papillon was appointed dean of the College in 2014. Formerly, he was assistant vice provost at Virginia Tech and the director of the University Honors Program, as well as professor of classics.

Wilson has taught at the University of the South since 1994 and chaired the Politics Department for several years before being tapped to lead Office of Global Education in 2016.

The Council of Independent Colleges (CIC) is an association of 769 non-profit independent colleges and universities, state-based councils of independent colleges, and other higher education affiliates, that works to support college and university leadership, advance institutional excellence, and enhance public understanding of independent higher education's contributions to society. CIC is the major national organization that focuses on services to leaders of independent colleges and universities and state-based councils. Founded in 1956, CIC is headquartered in Washington, DC. For more information, visit <www.cic.edu>.

Folks at Home Walk with Ease Program

With the help of a generous grant from SCCF and the hospitality of May Justus Memorial Library, Folks at Home will lead the National Arthritis Foundation's Walk with Ease, a fitness program designed to reduce pain and improve health. The Walk with Ease program includes techniques to create and maintain a safe walking program and will help the participants improve flexibility, stamina, and strength. Walk with Ease will be held Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. beginning June 4 and ending July 13. (No meeting on July 4.) We will begin and end each class at the May Justus Library. For more information or to register, call Folks at Home (931) 598-0303 or email <assistantfolksathome@gmail.com>.

Dr. McFadden Joins Southern Tennessee Regional Health System

Southern Tennessee Regional Health System Winchester/Sewanee (STRHS Winchester/Sewanee) officials announced today that Joseph McFadden, M.D., has joined its staff and will be offering psychiatric services to patients in Sewanee and the surrounding area. Dr. McFadden brings more than 30 years of experience to STRHS Winchester/Sewanee and is one of a number of specialists to join the hospital's medical team this year.

Dr. McFadden joins STRHS Winchester/Sewanee from his private psychiatry practice in Memphis, Tenn. He obtained his medical degree from Medical University of South Carolina in Charleston, S.C., and he completed his psychiatry residency and an anesthesiology residency from Emory University Hospitals in Atlanta, Ga. Dr. McFadden is Board Certified by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology.

Southern Tennessee Psychiatry in Monteagle is located on 15 South Central Ave., and will be open Tuesday and Thursday each week. To make an appointment call (931) 924-8937.

Eighth Graders Receive Letters About Literature Honorable Mention

The following St. Andrew's–Sewanee School eighth graders received Honorable Mentions in the statewide Letters About Literature contest: Madeline Mundkowsky, Gus Croom, Mac Croom, Tyler Rodgers, Sophia Carlos and Kathleen Perkins.

In informing the school of the awards, Serenity Gerbman, director of the Literature and Languages Program of Humanities Tennessee said of SAS humanities teacher Kinion Pond, "The number and quality of the letters demonstrates your excellence as a teacher."

Letters About Literature is a reading and writing contest for students in grades four–12. Students are asked to read a book, poem, or speech and write to the author (living or dead) about how the book affected them personally. Letters are judged on state and national levels. Tens of thousands of students from across the country enter Letters About Literature each year.

The 2017–18 Letters About Literature contest for young readers is made possible by a generous grant from the Dollar General Literacy Foundation, with additional support from gifts to the Center for the Book in the Library of Congress, which promotes the contest through its affiliate Centers for the Book, state libraries and other organizations.

DAR Supports MES

Monteagle Elementary School is fortunate to have a relationship with the local Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) chapter. Each year, the DAR volunteers at MES and encourages eighth graders to learn and write about their history. Monteagle's local DAR representative, Sarah Zimmerman, presented MES with a portrait of George Washington, specifically a reproduction of one that was saved during the burning of the White House in the War of 1812.

Diplomas Available for Veterans

For any World War II, Korean War- Era or Vietnam Veterans: If you did not receive your high school diploma due to entry into the Armed Forces of the United States, you may now be awarded a high school diploma by your local high school.

Tennessee state law allows for the awarding of high school diplomas to the honorable men and women who stepped forward to serve their country.

Veterans who fall into this category should contact their local school superintendent to register their name and to request the awarding of a high school diploma. You will have to present your military discharge papers.

For assistance, contact Sergeant Major Larry E. Williams at (931) 924-3000 or (931) 224-3226, email at <tennesseans2@blomand.net>.

SAS Names 2018-2019 Ambassadors

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School recently named 40 students to be Ambassadors for the 2018–19 school year. The 2018-2019 Ambassadors represent six states and five countries.

The Ambassadors are a group of student leaders in grades nine–12 chosen to give tours to prospective students and their families and to serve at school functions. Ambassadors are chosen by application and teacher recommendation. It provides a great leadership opportunity for students who are outgoing, friendly, and love to be the first person to tell someone “you belong here.”

New Faces at SAS

J.R. Ankney will be the school's music teacher and musical director. He is an experienced arts administrator, boarding school teacher, and conductor with outstanding successes in the classroom, theatre, and church sanctuary and on the stage. He built successful music programs at several independent day and boarding schools, including Lancaster Country Day School in Lancaster, Pa., St. Anne's-Belfield School in Charlottesville, Va., Verde Valley School in Sedona, Ariz., Shattuck-St. Mary's School in Faribault, Minn., St. Edward's School in Vero Beach, Fla., and Chapel Hill-Chauncey Hall School in Waltham, Mass. He was most recently Director of Music at St. James Episcopal Church in Lancaster, Pa., where he developed a unique Saturday night service with music drawn from popular sources such as U2, Bob Dylan, Johnny Cash, and the Indigo Girls. Mr. Ankney established and conducted a semi-professional ecumenical choir, MiContraFa, which performed little-known a cappella works from the Medieval, Renaissance and Baroque eras. His choirs have toured England, Scotland, Czech Republic, Germany, France, and Poland. He has performed at Carnegie Hall, Riverside Church in New York City and Westminster Abbey. Mr. Ankney holds a bachelor's degree in music education from Berklee College of Music.

Peggy Ankney will teach Advanced Physics and Conceptual Physics. She holds a B.S. in Physics from University of Wisconsin-Parkside, an M.S. in Physics from North Texas State University, and a Ph.D. in Physics from the University of Central Florida. Peggy was most recently a Physics Lecturer at Penn State Harrisburg, where she taught introductory physics and laboratories. She also taught physics at Lancaster Country Day School, Mary Baldwin University in Staunton, Va., Coastal Carolina University in Conway, S.C., Grand Valley State University in Allendale, Mich. Peggy formerly sat on the development committee and as a question leader, table leader, and reader for The College Board, helping to write and review questions for the AP Physics 1 exam as well as scoring the exams and training scorers. She has served as a researcher at the University of Virginia, Pacific Northwest National Laboratory, Saint Andres University, and Argonne National Laboratory. She has received research grants from the American Chemical Society and the National Science Foundation and has six research publications. Her presentations have ranged from high level physics research at the NATO Advanced Studies Institute to making holograms with elementary school children.

St. Andrew's-Sewanee 1996 alumnus Thomas Priestley will return to the school to join the faculty as a teacher of mathematics. Thomas, who grew up in Sewanee, received his B.A. in Philosophy from Davidson College and his M.Ed. in Learning and Instruction with an emphasis on Mathematics from Vanderbilt University. He has 11 years of teaching experience, having taught mathematics, geography, cultural studies, earth science, and creative writing for international schools in China, Slovakia and, most recently, in Malta. He also student taught at Vanderbilt University and led college preparation and citizenship courses for East Nashville High School. Over the years, Thomas has sponsored or coached school activities in study skills, SAT preparation, leadership, badminton, glee club, musical theater, volleyball, and tennis.

Summer Adventures at SCC

The Sewanee Children's Center is offering a summer day camp experience for children ages 4 to 7. Each week, counselors will introduce a new theme such as, “Wonderful World of Water,” “Bugs Galore,” “Plan a Trip,” “How Does the Garden Grow?” and “Exploring Rainbows.” Children will have plenty of opportunities to make discoveries in the SCC's garden and outdoor learning spaces. Because the SCC is a co-op, parents (and grandparents!) will be involved in the weekly adventures, crafts, and field trips. The 2018 Camp will run for eight weeks from June 4 to July 27, from 7:45 a.m.–5 p.m., with program tuition of $1,400. There is a $25 registration fee and a $200 non-refundable deposit (per child) that will be applied to the tuition. And for the first time, scholarships are available for the summer. For an application please contact SCC Director Sandy Glacet at <sewaneechildrenscenter@gmail.com>.

SAS Names Proctors for 2018–19

Twelve students have been elected proctor at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School. Chosen in the spring of their junior year by a rigorous application, interview, and election process, the Proctors serve through their senior year, offering support in the school's residential houses and during evenings and weekends. Proctors receive leadership training and engage in activities designed to strengthen the group's connections to one another. They help to plan and execute weekend activities, monitor the Owen Student Union on the weekends, assist the Teacher-in-Charge with student checkouts, supervise students studying in Simmonds Hall on weeknights, and run the new student retreat.

Proctors for the 2018–19 school year are Kathryn Bridgers, Kate Butler, Sophia Hartman, Larson Heitzenrater, Sarah Jane Kemmer, Alexander Milford, Sophia Patterson, Randy Paul, Reagan Rhoton, Bella Sun, Jalen Tillman and Seth Walker.

CURBSIDE RECYCLING

Residential curbside recycling pickup in Sewanee is on the first and third Friday of each month. Recyclable materials must be separated by type and placed in blue bags by the side of the road no later than 7:30 a.m. Please do not put out general household trash on this day. Blue bags may be picked up in the University Lease and Community Relations Office, 400 University Ave. (the Blue House) or at the Facilities Management office on Georgia Avenue.

Two Celebrations at the Artisan Depot

On today (Friday), May 11, the Artisan Depot is hosting two big celebrations. Everyone is invited to attend.

The Student Gallery Opening Reception is from 3–5 p.m. Nearly 300 artworks by Franklin County students were submitted for the Spring Winchester Wriggle. Margie Gallagher, the Gallery Coordinator, and Anna Kathryn Anderson, one of the long-standing members, helped the Wriggle committee determine the best pieces in several categories. The winners and honorable mentions are to be the inaugural display in the new Student Gallery.

A reception Honoring Members will be 5–7 p.m. Following the student-focused reception, there will be an adult celebration where we will be honoring former and current members of the Franklin County Arts Guild.

Activities include:

Recognition of 33 years of higher education scholarships and the announcement of the first recipient of the newly endowed Franklin County Arts Guild scholarships.

Opening of Spring Garden and recognition of the Tennessee Arts Commission Creative Place-Making public sculpture by Guild member Ken Gould.

All current and former members of the Guild are encouraged to attend this reception and to invite friends and community members.

While enjoying refreshments, attendees are encouraged to peruse the other two shows currently on display in the gallery. Member Joy Sneed's show, "Angels and Animals," is a playful approach to both subjects.

Also on display is a Community Show, "Magical Thinking," a diverse collection of pieces in a variety of media. Hand-made gift items for graduates and moms round out the offerings.

The Artisan Depot is operated by the Franklin County Arts Guild and is located at 204 Cumberland St. East, Cowan. Gallery hours are noon to 5 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Sunday, and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday. For more information go to <<http://franklincoarts.weebly.com>> or contact Diana Lamb at (931) 308-4130.

FOODFOR THOUGHT

South Cumberland Farmers' Market

Reforming our Food System: Why not look to natives?

by Emily Heid

In recent years, our modern agriculture system has shifted heavily toward a limited number of monoculture annuals (corn, soy, cotton, and wheat). This has contributed to lower biodiversity, which can lead to limited insurance in the case of severe weather or changing climates that could wipe out entire crops. These genetically modified crops require and promote a strongly human-dependent agricultural system, as traits are selected for high performance with modern agricultural technology and production of large yields. The secondary traits that can prove to be useful in resisting a specific pest or problem do not exist in many genetically modified varieties, making for seemingly efficient but extremely vulnerable crops. In addition, this system perpetuates the use of heavy inputs with vast negative impacts on surrounding ecosystems, such as fertilizers, herbicides and pesticides, to compensate for the lack of healthy soils and the plants' inability to compete with natural (or unnatural) predators.

However, in a changing world we need to be enhancing biodiversity. Limiting the gene pool removes traits that may be useful and needed in the future, even if we don't see a need for them right now.

One possible alternative is to localize agricultural systems and to shift toward cultivating native and landrace variety plants, which are naturally well-suited to the areas in which they are found. Natives and landrace varieties differ in the fact that landrace varieties are the native, wild types that have been domesticated for agricultural use and selected for traits that make them well-adapted to the region in which they're grown and used. Native and landrace plants offer many benefits, including higher resilience to local predators, diseases and pests, support of local pollinator populations (some of which may be predators of invasive pests), and limited need for soil amendment. Native and landrace perennials offer a whole additional set of benefits. Limited need for tilling encourages healthy soil microbiology and protects against erosion as large root systems anchor the soil. Their substantial root systems also provide carbon sequestration (removal of carbon from the atmosphere) as large masses of atmospheric carbon-rich plant matter expand underground. In addition, problems that require heavy input remedies, like fertilizers, pesticides, and herbicides, can be minimized as perennial crop plants grow into larger, healthier plants with better access to the water and nutrients in the earth.

The intensive philosophy that governs our conventional agricultural system is lacking because it compartmentalizes problems, distancing them from the larger ecological network. The rewards (large harvests) are immediate, although the long-term negative impacts are profound and widespread.

With an extensive agricultural philosophy, one cannot justify negative impacts in some areas for temporary benefits in other areas, because the philosophy rides on the truth that hurting the system somewhere hurts the system everywhere. This requires a holistic view of the world and an understanding that rewards are often seen after many years, as opposed to within one season.

So, how can this extensive agricultural philosophy be integrated within our modern system? At The Land Institute, new cultivars of perennial wheat and oil crops are being developed to provide an alternative to annual wheat and soy cultivation. Incorporating perennial crops like these on a large scale would greatly increase the sustainability of our national agricultural system. We can also challenge ourselves to refine the ways we eat to focus more heavily on native and landrace crops. In addition to planting spinach, grow native greens like lambsquarters or violets in part of your garden, or simply try cooking them to see if you enjoy the taste. If you do, share some with a friend and spread the word that there is hope for the future of modern agriculture.

To learn more about the work that The Land Institute is doing, visit them at <<https://landinstitute.org>>.

Moss Named a Planet Forward Storyfest Winner

Vanessa Moss, C'20, of Sewanee, is one of seven student winners for Storyfest, the fourth annual storytelling contest held by Planet Forward, a project of the George Washington University's School of Media and Public Affairs.

Winners will travel to Alaska for an eight-day voyage between Sitka and Juneau with Lindblad Expeditions aboard the National Geographic Sea Lion with Lindblad-National Geographic photo instructors, naturalists, and scientists to explore Alaska's coastal wilderness.

"The Planet Forward Storyfest winners brought together commitment, information, and storytelling to spark our imaginations and inspire us," said Frank Sesno, director of the School of Media and Public Affairs at George Washington University, and chief executive at Planet Forward. "They are already moving the planet forward."

Moss won in the best scalable innovation category for "From waste to wetlands: A small town solution to water scarcity" <<https://www.planetforward.org/idea/from-waste-to-wetlands-a-small-town-solution-to-water-scarcity>>. Her story focuses on the constructed wetland established here as a collaborative research project between the University of Georgia and the University of the South to explore whether small-scale wetlands are effective at removing contaminants from wastewater.

Boys' Soccer Falls to Shelbyville

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School boys' varsity soccer team lost to Shelbyville Central High School, 6-3, at home on April 30.

"We couldn't keep possession in the midfield (in the first half)," said SAS head coach Harrison Camp.

Shelbyville got on the scoreboard early with a strong strike and followed it up quickly with a second goal after sloppy play inside the box. The Golden Eagles tucked away two more goals before halftime, capitalizing on a breakaway and finishing a shot inside the near post.

In the second half, Will Bongard, a senior boarding student from Bloomington, Ind., converted a penalty kick to get the Mountain Lions on the scoreboard. Shelbyville responded with two more goals.

Porter Neubauer, a ninth-grade student from Belvidere, headed the ball into the net for SAS from a cross by Steven Zhu, a senior boarding student from Shanghai, China. Zhu also placed a ball inside the far post for a third goal for the Mountain Lions.

For SAS, three players (all from Sewanee) saw time in goal, including junior Larson Heitzenrater and sophomores Cailan McLain and Aidan Smith. Smith also saw action as center back.

Mountain Lions Play in Tennis Regionals

St. Andrew's-Sewanee tennis sent one singles player and two doubles teams to the Division IIA East Region Individual Tournament on May 3-4 at the University of the South courts.

Senior Ester Yang from China, St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's No. 1 girl player and top finisher in the District 2 tournament, won her first match against the No. 4 player in District 1 from Christian Academy of Knoxville.

In the semifinal round, Yang lost in three sets to the No. 2 singles player in District 1 from Webb School of Knoxville. In the playoff for third and fourth, Yang lost again in three sets, to the No. 3 player in District 1 from Christian Academy of Knoxville.

"She has had a brilliant career at SAS, playing at an elite level of tennis against the best in the state," said head coach Kenneth Alexander. "She is easily one of the greatest players in SAS history, and the most talented player I have ever coached."

The doubles team of senior Aubrey Black of Sewanee and freshman Nathan King of Sewanee, No. 1 doubles team for SAS and No. 4 team in District 2, lost to the No. 1 doubles team in District 1 from Webb School of Knoxville; this team also went on to win the tournament.

The doubles team of sophomores Anna Post of Monteagle and Carla Hof of Germany, No. 2 doubles team for SAS and No. 3 team in District 2, lost to the No. 2 doubles team in District 1 from Webb School of Knoxville.

"The SAS doubles teams were outstanding, fought hard, and represented SAS proudly," Alexander said.

Sewanee to Host NCAA Women's Tennis Tourney

The NCAA recently announced that the Sewanee women's tennis program is one of eight teams that have earned the right to host the first, second and third rounds of the 2018 NCAA Division III Women's Tennis Championships, May 11-13.

Sewanee will welcome the following teams to the domain: Webster (Mo.) from the St. Louis Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, Hanover (Ind.) from the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference and Emory (Ga.) and Washington University in St. Louis (Mo.) from the University Athletic Association.

The opening round of the championships will begin today (Friday) at 10 a.m. with a first round matchup between Webster (12-5) and Hanover (15-5). The winner will take on Emory (13-4) on Saturday, May 12, at 11 a.m. in the second round.

The other second round match will be between Washington-St. Louis (13-7) and host Sewanee (21-4) on May 12, at 2 p.m.

The winners of the second round will play in the third round on Sunday, May 13. If Sewanee advances, they will play at 2:30 p.m.

This is the 25th selection to the NCAA Championships in Sewanee's 45-year history of women's tennis, tied for the sixth-most in NCAA history with Williams (Mass.). The six-time Southern Athletic Association Tournament Champions have finished in the top-five twice: fourth in 1990 and third in 2007. The Tigers are 17-25 in NCAA Tournament contests.

The 49 teams announced to the Championships will play a single-elimination tournament with the first, second and third rounds played at regional sites, Friday-Sunday, May 11-13. Claremont McKenna-Harvey Mudd Scripps Colleges will host the team championships finals, which will be May 21-23 at Bizzantz Tennis Center in Claremont, California.

The Tigers will open play in the second round of the Championships against the Battling Bishops of N.C. Wesleyan on May 12.

Sewanee is 4-15 in NCAA Tournament matches, earning wins in 1989, 2001, 2014 and 2016.

First, second and third rounds are played at regional sites and Claremont Mudd-Scripps will host the team championship finals, which will be May 21-26 at The Bizzantz Family Tennis Center in Claremont, Calif.

Emory Regional schedule:

First Round, May 11: Washington & Lee (12-6) vs. Thomas More (13-3).

Second Round, May 12: Winner of Washington & Lee/Thomas More vs. Emory (16-4).

N.C. Wesleyan (18-3) vs. Sewanee (21-5).

Third Round, May 13: Winners from Round Two.

Oliver Semifinalist for Nicklaus Award

The Golf Coaches Association of America recently named Sewanee's Tommy Oliver as a semifinalist for the NCAA Division III Jack Nicklaus National Player of the Year, presented by Barbasol.

Named the Co-Player of the Year in the Southern Athletic Association, the Sewanee native fired a 223 (74-73-76), good for a sixth place tie, in the SAA Championships on April 20-22 in Dickson, Tenn.

Playing in 20 rounds in 2017-18, Oliver is averaging 73.25 strokes per round, and he has recorded his season-low score of 71 twice this season.

Division III finalists will be announced May 15 and Nicklaus Award recipients will be announced May 31.

In addition to receiving the award, the five recipients will compete in the Barbasol Shootout for an exemption into the PGA Tour's Barbasol Championship, July 16-22, at the Champions at Keene Trace in Lexington, Ky.

NATURENOTES

Jim Poteet reports seeing a black-headed grosbeak at his feeders last week, along with the rose-breasted grosbeaks that he and numerous others have been seeing in the past week or two. Jim says the rose-breasted usually show up around May 1, which is before the trees are fully leafed out. They do not breed here (as I understand) but are migrating through. Rose-breasted grosbeaks are birds of eastern North America and black-headed grosbeaks, of western North America. There are many similarities between the two: song, which is said to be like that of a robin that has taken voice lessons; habitat, deciduous woods near open areas; diet, seeds (opened with that stout beak) and insects, including potato beetles; female plumage, with striped heads and sides and/or breasts. In fact, they may interbreed, where their ranges overlap, and produce hybrids. The males of both species share incubation with the females, despite their bright plumage. However, the bright colors are on their breasts and would be hidden while on the nest.

John and Ruth Wendling report on May 5 that a male Scarlet Tanager came within 10 ft of their side porch. "He was 'watching' our regular variety of birds at a feeder," said John. "Then 20 minutes later a male and two female Indigo Bunting were observed gleaning grass seeds in our yard. Wow, two somewhat rare birds species seen in one hour! The next day we saw a male Summer Tanager. First one we've ever seen. We've seen female Summer Tanagers infrequently in previous years."

Time to Pull Garlic Mustard

What's that plant with heart-shaped leaves, one- to three-foot stems, topped with clusters of small white flowers? It's garlic mustard, one of our most troublesome weeds. Aggressively invasive, it is among the very few weeds that can march from roadsides right into the forest, where within a few years it can dominate the herbaceous layer. Infestations are particularly bad around and below Morgan's Steep, and a population that started on Roark's Cove Road is threatening Shakerag Hollow.

According to scientists at Penn State, "Tree seedlings (especially oaks) and many wildflowers (including spring beauty, trout lily, wild ginger, bloodroot, Dutchman's breeches, hepatica, toothwort, and trillium) cannot survive the explosive growth and spread of garlic mustard. In addition, invertebrates and other consumers that rely on these natural plant species for food are harmed by the spread of this invasive 'weed.' Garlic mustard also produces root exudates that inhibit the growth of important soil fungi and leaf chemicals that kill native butterfly larvae that feed on the plant."

Pulling garlic mustard plants up by the roots and burning the pulled plants is the best way to get rid of them. And pulling them is easy and satisfying work. A gentle but firm pull will bring an entire plant out of the ground. But then the plant must be disposed of correctly – preferably bagged then burned – or its seeds will continue to develop, even on uprooted plants. Composting does not produce enough heat to kill the seeds. Garlic mustard is a biennial – this year's seeds will develop into plants that will flower and go to seed their second year and then die. An average plant produces 600 tiny seeds, each of which can remain viable up to five years.

Eradication of this weed is probably impossible. But take heart: control is within reach. Each plant pulled means 600 fewer plants in two years; 100 pulled plants mean 60,000 fewer seeds. Pull 1,700 plants, and you've prevented the germination of a million seeds. The native plants that comprise our forests can use our help.

Pets of the Week

Meet Skunk & Edward

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Skunk is a 3-year-old, 14-pound, neutered bobtail male. He is an adorable cat looking for his forever family. Skunk loves children, and is very clean and neat. He would make a fantastic addition to any home. He is up-to-date on shots, FIV/FeLV negative and microchipped.

Edward is a 2.5-year-old, neutered male. He has a sweet disposition and loves everyone. Edward is leash trained and knows a few commands. He is fully grown at 38 pounds. Edward's tail is always wagging, wanting to play. He is heartworm-negative, microchipped and up-to-date on shots.

Animal Harbor offers substantial adoption fee discounts for seniors and veterans. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at (931) 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <animalharbor.org>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Worm Casting Fundraiser

Sewanee Boy Scout Troop 14 is selling locally sourced, premium worm castings for the troop's annual fundraiser. The Scouts are working to help fund a National High Adventure Camp at Sea Base in Florida, in December 2018.

Worm castings are extremely rich in organic matter and make an excellent soil amendment for vegetable gardens and flower beds as well as container plants. Each bag is 1 cubic foot and weighs approximately 25-28 pounds. Bags are priced at $15 each. A cubic yard is priced at $200, with a 1 yard minimum purchase, although half yard increments above the minimum purchase are welcome. Please call Alex Neubauer at (931) 308-9343, email <tanagherhill@gmail.com>, or contact a Scout to place orders and arrange pick-up.

Tell them you saw it here.

TENNESSEE ONLINE VOTER REGISTRATION
#GoVoteTN

ARE YOU REGISTERED TO VOTE?
Register to vote online from your computer, tablet or mobile device. Tennessee's online voter registration system offers a convenient way for people to easily register to vote or change their address if they move. The system allows U.S. citizens with a driver's license or photo ID issued by the Tennessee Department of Safety and Homeland Security to register online.

You can also download a Tennessee voter registration application and submit it to your county election commission.

Tennesseans must still register online or use a paper form at least 30 days before an election to vote.

You can also check your status or learn more about the registration process.

Go to <http://www.govotetn.com> for more information.

Tennessee ranks at the bottom in the nation for voter turnout. Tennessee ranks 40th in the nation for voter registration. More than 838,000 Tennesseans are not registered to vote, and 60 percent are under the age of 45!

Graduation

may the tide that is centering even now the lip of our understanding carry you our understanding carry you out
beyond the face of fear may you kiss
the wind then turn from it certain that it will love your back may you open your eyes to water
water waving forever and may yoyo in your innocence sail through this to that

BEGINNER PILATES CLASSES

Starting May 29 at the Fowler Center in Sewanee

The class will start by educating you about the fundamentals of healthy movement that align and protect your bones and joints and improve the balance. Stretching and facial release techniques are taught at the beginning of each class to help you achieve a more optimal alignment and better body awareness. The Pilates principals are then taught step by step, carefully building into the Pilates Mat exercises. Modifications and corrections are provided as needed so that you will achieve optimum strength and correct form. You will look and feel like a new person!!

Beginner Classes will meet 9 am on Tuesday/ Thursday.

Intermediate Classes meet 9 am on Monday/Wednesday or 12 noon on Tuesday/Thursday.

Private and Duet sessions on Pilates Equipment available by appointment Monday through Friday.

Spinal Spa and Fascial Release Class at noon on Friday. Classes are $12 per single class, $10 if purchased in monthly blocks. Discounts for attending 4 or more classes per week.
