On-Campus Farmers' Market

The South Cumberland Farmers Market (Rooted Here) and Sewanee Dining are jointly sponsoring an On-Campus Farmers' Market 1:30–4:30 p.m., today (Friday), May 12, on the lawn at Stirling's. Customers can expect locally raised beef and pork, homemade pasta, washed and ready to eat salad mix and more—a great shopping opportunity for a graduation weekend feast! Sewanee Dining's commitment to dedicating 30 percent of its budget to locally grown food and SCFM's goal of making locally grown food readily available to consumers dovetail in a shared commitment to support local farmers. For many students, the market will be a rare opportunity to meet the farmers who raise the food they eat and, likewise, for community members who purchase online from SCFM and never have face to face contact with the farmers. All area farmers are invited to participate, not just those affiliated with SCFM.

School Board Votes to Consolidate Middle Schools

by Leslie Lytle Messenger Staff Writer

At the May 8 Franklin County School Board meeting, the board voted 7 to 1 in favor of a resolution requesting the County Commission authorize a $37.5 million bond to fund construction of a consolidated middle school to replace the two aging middle schools currently serving the county. Prior to the vote, Director of Schools Amie Lonas reviewed the proposed 2017–18 budget, projecting expenses would exceed revenue by $2.5 million.

The shortfall would require the school district to draw on the reserve fund balance expected to be $4.9 million at the close of this fiscal year. Lonas recommended the board request additional revenue from the County Commission—"If we keep drawing down the fund balance each year, we'll fall below the minimum required level." By law, the school system must have a fund balance equal to 3 percent of its budget, with that threshold $1.3 million at present.

Depleting the fund balance was among concerns highlighted in the consolidated middle school resolution prepared by Sewanee school board representative Adam Tucker. The resolution pointed to the "significant structural issues" at the two middle schools and argued renovation of the schools "would not be a prudent use of public funds." The resolution also schools "will cost nearly $400,000 per year more than implementing these same programs at a single consolidated middle school."

Board member Linda Jones took issue with not receiving the resolution until just before the meeting and language stating supporting arguments were the opinion of "the majority of the board."

"I don't agree with all of these,"

Tucker apologized for presenting the resolution to the board at the last choose not to accept the resolution or place to call home.

Hanger said he was "struck by the apathy and lack of phone calls from constituents." Other board members expressed similar sentiments.

Runkle to Step Down from St. Mary's Sewanee

The Board of Trustees of St. Mary's Sewanee: The Ayres Center for Spiritual Development announces that after serving St. Mary's Sewanee as Executive Director for four years, the Rev. John Runkle is stepping down, effective June 30. Runkle will continue to live in Sewanee and will resume his practice as a historical architect with a focus on church buildings and other sacred properties. Runkle has devoted much of his ordained life to helping congregations and dioceses care for their places of worship.

"It indeed has been a great privilege to serve the St. Mary's Sewanee community and help further its mission as a center for spiritual development," says Runkle. "Together with our devoted staff, trustees and volunteers, we have accomplished much during the past four years—the quality of programs, the warmth of our hospitality, the efficiency of our operations, the increase in numbers of those who support us financially, and the incredible beauty of our facilities and grounds – all contribute to the growing number of people who come to St. Mary's Sewanee and value it as a special place. I am thankful to have been part of this committed team."

THANK YOU SEWANEE

To the Editor:

How do you express your gratitude to everyone who has hugged me, prayed for me and shown their concern? I want to thank this community for your response to my mom's death. The outpouring of love and condolences has been mind boggling for both my mom and me. This is why I chose to live in Sewanee. The people of this town are hands down, the finest people in the world. Everyone has been asking how they can honor my mom, Mary Hawkins?

My mom was a social person who loved to attend the outdoor music concerts at Angel Park here in Sewanee. The park is located downtown. Friday Nights in the Park, AngelFest, Light Up the Village and all other concerts held in the park, she was there! She attended nearly every one, come rain or shine. Anyone who knew my mom, knew she loved music and loved Angel Park, and she was especially proud that I was involved in helping to get the park built.

In lieu of flowers, we will have a bench in Angel Park inscribed and dedicated in my mom's name. So the goal is to raise $2,000 for a donation to Angel Park for a bench. When you donate, we'll send you an invitation to the dedication in Sewanee (sometime later this year). Anything over the goal will go to new lights in Angel Park. Lighting and safety were always concerns of hers. You can type in the link below on your computer or mail in your donation directly to Angel Park, PO Box 101, Sewanee, TN 37375 (notate that it is for the Hawkins Bench). From the bottom of my heart, thank you again. God Bless my mom and God Bless Sewanee!

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT

To the Editor:

They say it takes a village to raise a child, but it takes a village to raise an elementary school full of children, too! The Sewanee Parent Organization (SPO) would like to thank the community for its continued support of Sewanee Elementary School (SES). Thanks in particular go to the Sewanee Community Chest, the Blue Chair, the Piggly Wiggly, and the South Cumberland Community Fund as well as volunteers from the surrounding communities and the tion. They cannot directly increase University of the South. Your generosity, in the form of funding or time or both, allows us to focus on needed programs and resources for the school, teachers, staff, and students. Your support has allowed the SPO to provide monthly luncheons for the staff, school T-shirts for every child, much-needed art and music supplies, teacher assistants, Book Fair kickoff parties, socials for parents improvements. Instead, all local fundnew to SES, yearly planting and landscaping, outdoor classrooms, school and ing—and any increase in funding via teacher supplies not provided by the county, special school programs such as a tax increase or otherwise—must be the Cadet Program, outdoor education programs, and funds for Field Day. We are grateful for our village!

MIDDLE SCHOOL VOTE

To the Editor:

In October 2015, the Franklin County School Board began evaluating options for the renovation or replacement of the District's two middle schools. This evaluation culminated this past Monday with the Board requesting that the County Commission authorize a $37.5 million bond issue for the design and construction of one new middle school to replace both North and South middle schools. I, along with six of my seven colleagues on the Board, voted to approve this request. As your representative on the School Board, I would like to offer you the following explanation for my

In the months leading up to Monday's vote, the Board considered four different options vis-à-vis the District's middle school facilities: (1) renovating the existing middle schools; (2) replacing the two schools with a single middle school; (3) constructing two new schools concurrently; and (4) building one new school now and a second school at some point in the future. The first three options were developed by a consulting engineer hired by the Board. The fourth option was suggested by members of the community as a way of possibly minimizing the fiscal impact of constructing two schools.

In Tennessee, county school boards cannot appropriate money for educataxes nor can they seek voter approval of a tax increase via a referendum. This is the case whether the money is for funding operations or capital approved by the county commission. Consequently, while a school board can state a preference for a particular building project, that preference cannot become a reality unless the county commission approves the funding for the project. That is the situation in which the School Board found itself.

Information provided by the County's Finance Director and the County's outside financial consultant suggested that the County would be able renovate two schools or construct one school without a tax increase by simply reallocating money from other parts of the County's overall budget. This same information indicated, however, that the County would not be able to fund the concurrent construction of two new schools without an additional $2.0 to $2.5 million per year in revenue, which is roughly the equivalent of increasing the County's property tax rate by $0.25 per $100 of assessed property value. By comparison, the County probably could have funded the sequential construction of two new schools without a tax increase; however, this option would have raised the overall construction costs and required the County to delay building a second school for at least 10 years.

Helen Stapleton and Johnny Hughes, District 5's representatives on the County Commission, are on record as willing to support the construction of two new middle schools, and I thank them for that. Unfortunately, by all accounts, their position is not one shared by the majority of the Commission. In other words, if the School Board had requested funding to build two new schools, the Commission would almost certainly have refused to appropriate the funds necessary for their construction. Moreover, I believe that even if the County had approved funding for two schools, that action would have come at the expense of additional funding for instruction and operations at a time when additional local funding is absolutely necessary. For example, without additional funding, the Board is currently projecting that it will have to deplete its fund balance by more than $2 million next year to cover operational expenses. At the same time, the Director of Schools and the Board are looking to invest more than $1 million per year in programs and staff at Franklin County High School and to expand opportunities in the fine arts, STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math), and CCTE (College, Career, and Technical Education) for students throughout the District. Not only would a lack of additional funding in future years jeopardize these investments in substantive education, it would require the Board to make extensive cuts to current programs

Faced with these economic and political realities, the decision for me and I believe for most members of the Board—was, therefore, really between renovating the schools or constructing one new school. Initially, I gave serious consideration to renovation. However, after visiting both schools and meeting with the schools' principals, I concluded that spending $35 million on the 50-year old buildings would not be a good investment. Roughly 40% of the renovation costs would go to addressing current maintenance issues by building new gable roofs above the existing dome roofs, replacing the buildings' HVAC, electrical, and plumbing systems, upgrading fire alarms, and sprinkling the buildings. And while the proposed renovations would have also added some additional classrooms and office space, as well as auditoriums, they would not have involved any meaningful reconfiguration of or improvements to the building's existing instructional spaces. In my opinion, the renovations would have made the schools acceptable by current standards. They would not have yielded the types of facilities that will be needed for educating middle school students for the next 50 years.

With respect to consolidation, like many members of the community, I initially had some concerns. Many of these concerns—such as, potential loss of jobs and class size—have been addressed to my satisfaction. With respect to jobs, the Director of Schools has assured the Board that while consolidation may result in the realignment of teaching positions within the middle school and across the District, it will not result in the elimination of any teaching positions. Likewise, consolidation will not have a meaningful effect on class sizes. For example, based on current enrollment and staffing, sixth and seventh grade classes at a consolidated school would be about one student smaller than is now the case at North and about one student larger than at South. I remain concerned, however, about how best to compensate for the possible loss of the "community school" culture and environment described by students and teachers at both middle schools. Indeed, research suggests that smaller schools are often more conducive to learning and social cohesion. Research has also suggested that learning and social cohesion—a sense of belonging to a community—can be achieved in larger buildings by implementing small learning communities and school-within-school structures, both of which create more personalized, smaller units within the larger school. For this reason, the Board, along with requesting the funds to construct one school, stated its commitment to adopting an architectural design and staffing plan for the new middle school facility that is consistent with these teaching and organizational philosophies. Implementing these structures effectively will be essential to both student and teacher engagement and happiness.

I, like I believe every one of my colleagues on the Board, would prefer to replace the existing schools with two new schools. That option, however, is not a realistic one, especially if we want to invest in and improve substantive education throughout the District. As a member of the School Board, I believe it is my job to make the best decision possible for all the students. This decision was not an easy one; however, under the circumstances, I believe the Board's recommendation is the best way to improve the District's middle school facilities while also improving the educational opportunities available to all students in this County regardless of grade level or school.

Adam Tucker, Franklin County School Board Representative, District 5

board were renovating the middle ment, and a $215,000 decrease in schools, cost of $35-$37 million, and building two new middle schools, cost $48-$52 million."

Board Chair Cleijo Walker said the issue has posed "a very difficult decision for me. In a perfect world I'd vote for two schools. But I can't see spending $30 plus million to make the two buildings livable. We want more the board; $275,000 for textbooks, than livable.

An unwavering supporter of two schools, Jones said, "I've talked to administrators, teachers and students. They don't want a big building. They want to keep their communities. The majority of the respondents to the surveys said, 'let the children stay in the middle school they're in now.'" Jones acknowledged, though, response to the surveys was low.

Hanger said he was "struck by the apathy and lack of phone calls from constituents." Other board members expressed similar sentiments.

"I have the same concerns as Adam Tucker," said Lonas. "With a single consolidated school we can offer the programming we're not currently offering. To have students ready for high school, we need to consolidate."

"I'd like to put this off to next month, so I can have time to think about it before voting," Hanger said.

'We'll miss the county commission budget cycle if we postpone the vote," said board member Lance Williams.

In the roll call vote that followed. only Jones voted against the resolu-

Among the highlights of the budget proposed by Lonas was a $650,000 decrease in revenue. This was due largely to a $205,000 decrease in state The other two options before the funding because of a drop in enroll-Special Education and Title programs funding resulting from a new method of calculating economically disadvantaged students.

Under expenses, big ticket items included $330,000 for teachers salaries in keeping with the 2 percent annual raise and step increases approved by which will make Chromebooks available to all students in grades nine through 12; a $207,000 increase in health insurance costs: an additional $220,000 for Special Education; and an additional $130,000 for Career and Technical Education programs.

In related business, the board approved the budget for the summer Extended School Program (ESP) which calls for raising the cost for participating students 10 percent to $80 per week per child. "I think it's a bargain," said Walker, pointing out that in addition to enrichment activities participating students received breakfast, lunch, and a snack. The additional revenue will fund raising the directors' pay from minimum wage to $8 per hour.

Four schools will serve as ESP sites—Clark Memorial Elementary, Decherd Elementary, North Lake Elementary and Sewanee Elementary with transportation offered from other elementary schools to the ESP

If you will be throwing candy, please be sure to throw it as close to the curb as you can. We want to keep our little ones as safe as possible by keeping them from running out into the road. I know, not an easy task, but we can try. Also, if you have a horn or other type of loud noise, please turn it off when your entry reaches the Kirby-Smith Monument. There are those who do not like to hear the sirens and they will be seated at or near the hospital. Due to insurance precautions, we will once again be asking that you sign a release form. Someone will be there the day of the parade to take care of this. And last but not least, if you will be riding a motorcycle or 4-wheeler, please wear your helmet and be very cautious in your driving. Remember, there are children all along the parade route. Your help in this will be greatly appreciated. May the 4th be with you!

"Lake Suzanne"

Only steps from the Assembly North Gate lie four, 1+ acres lots elegantly dressed in virgin timber that reach high into the clouds from a blanket of mountain laurel, dogwoods, redbuds and sugar maples. All four lots enjoy generous frontage on the rippling waters of Lake Suzanne. A magnificent property of 6.9+ acres including a private 2.5+ acre lake that has beckoned anglers from generations of Assembly dwellers. Stories of 10+ lb large mouth bass have long echoed from the shore line of this beautiful lake lined with shade trees reaching out over the water for the sunshine and silhouetted in the water itself. Water fowl and bass play happily together on and in this amazing spring fed lake often observed only by a pair of strolling deer delighting in a sparkling sip or two. Close your eyes and imagine finding a clear piece of heaven right across the street from the historical "Assembly Grounds" and less than one half a mile from Montegle's main street yet quiet and secluded as any haven in the deep woods.

The property has both a front and a rear entrance and is surrounded by woods on all sides. What a place to build your summer home, your winter retreat or your weekend getaway. How about developing a compound with old friends or classmates from Sewanee or St. Andrews? Privacy, security and convenience are but a few of the features of this unique property located a stone's throw from the Assembly on Central Avenue. This property is the last large space available across the street from the Assembly. Secure your place on the mountain for the future before it is all gone.

This unique property is offered by Dr. George and Mrs. Suzanne Elder, whose family has summered in the Assembly for 7 generations. You are invited to call George or Suzanne and schedule a leisurely stroll or golf cart ride through this rare and inviting property.

Jones said one of the people became homeless after an extended illness, another lost a job, and in a third situation, a woman moved into area shelters following a divorce. He said a major misconception is that homelessness is the direct result of bad choices, but there are many reasons someone can be homeless.

"If it wasn't for God's grace, it could be any one of us," he said. "We've all been sick; we've all been in need; we've all needed help, maybe not financially, but no man is an island and we all need each other."

Jean Baptiste works on the foundation of his home in Haiti. Students from St. Andrew's-Sewanee School recently raised money to help the Baptistes' to build their house.

SAS Haiti Funds Help Family in Need

Students at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School sold Coca-Cola products earlier this spring to raise money to support a family in Haiti. The fundraiser, which raised $300, was conducted in conjunction with Jan Williams Stevens '95, an SAS alumna and current parent who is working with orphans in Haiti.

The funds were distributed to Jean Baptiste, a 35-year old. Baptiste is married and has a daughter. His parents died when he was young, and Baptiste became a restavek, a child in Haiti who is sent to work for a host household as a domestic critical environments in the Galapagos servant because the parents lack the resources required to support the child. (The term comes from the French language rester avec, "to stay with".) As an adult, Baptiste has broken the cycle of poverty to become a mason and security guard.

Stevens explained, "Jean B was forced to move from his home. Family jealousy and other factors caused his things to be burned, stolen, and destroyed. We have raised money to buy land and start a foundation for a new home. This is huge to a Haitian to have land and a home. It's really a lifeline. Daily wage for a Haitian is $4.50 per day. This makes it hard to save money with little income." The $300from SAS will help the Baptiste family to complete a room on their house and work towards completion.

"In America, when we have trouble paying for power, water, mortgage, or activities for our kids, many of us have family to help," Stevens added. "If we will increase scientists' understanding of this keystone species. In the rainforest, ever had a fire that ruined our house we'd have insurance and our church, family, the group will experience the country's incredible plant and animal life through and friends that would come together to help us. In Haiti, there is no insurance daylight and nighttime hikes with naturalist guides. and your friends and church family are struggling to survive just like you. Being able to come alongside a wonderful family, like the Baptistes, and let God show off his love and use others to help a family in need is just amazing!

NATURENOTES

Woodchuck Incident

Woodchuck, also known as a groundhog.

We had an interesting wildlife incident right outside our window on Tuesday—a standoff between a woodchuck and one of our cats. I haven't ever seen a woodchuck on our property. They are supposed to stay near their burrows, but I don't think there was a burrow anywhere around the house. The cat and the woodchuck were close to the same size (a young woodchuck?), but of course the woodchuck was a lot heftier. The cat just stayed still and stared at the woodchuck. The woodchuck kept lowering its head and may have been bristling its fur-we couldn't hear if it was making any sound. We think it was afraid to turn its back on the cat, but eventually it backed away and made a run for the pond, with the cat following at a safe distance. Then, to our surprise, it swam across the pond and kept on going on the other side. A little research showed that swimming and even climbing trees are not unusual behaviors. We will be just as glad if it does not return and take up residence.

CARDIO 911 Most people are aware that cardiovascular disease is the number one killer of both men and women. Sadly we hear of someone all too often that is affected by heart disease. THERE IS HOPE against the #1 Killer in America ... Heart Disease! Cardio 911 is a nutritional supplement that I recommend to my patients because it helps to support a healthy cardiovascular system.

The key ingredient of Cardio 911 is L-Arginine. Research by three scientists in 1998 were awarded the Nobel Prize in Medicine for their research in heart disease and how when L-Arginine changes into Nitrie Oxide ( a powerful neurotransmitter inside the body signals blood vessels to relax and improves circulation).

Some evidence shows that Arginine has the many health benefits to be used to help improve blood flow in the arteries of the heart which in turn improves symptoms of elogged arteries, chest pain or angina, blood pressure, improved walking distance in patients with intermittent leg cramping and weakness known as intermittent claudication, 1025 S. College St. erectile dysfunction, and coronary artery disease. This information is powerful for the more than 64 million Americans who suffer from some form of cardiovascular disease. Cardio 911 is not intended to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any disease.

Graduation

Graduation was awful. When I handed Johilie her diploma, that idiotic, oversized black mortarboard slid down my forehead & covered my eyes and out in the stands everyone started to laugh and if that wasn't mortifying enough, at the reception a colleague ladling himself another cupful of punch, mentioned in passing that final-grade rosters were due the next morning at ten I was seething: it meant two more hours of work & it was Friday evening & no way in hell was I coming back Saturday morning at eight, which is why, when that damn graduation was done & the last cars had driven out of the lot, I made my way back through the dark to my office, disgruntled & sullen-& that's when I saw them: two huge skunks in the doorway, sipping the water I leave out for the stray cats who roam the campus by day, & just there left their three diminutive tykes nibbling away at the bowl of kibble; a family of five skunks surviving the way the despised & ill-starred often do, by desperation & stealth, hiding by day to slink out & scavenge at night I stood in the shadows grinning, taking them in--wide assed & bandy-legged, snouts to the bowls-till at last having slurped & eaten their fill, that whole miraculous, heartbreaking crew waddled contentedly off on their stubby little legs, single file, like school kids, their glistening rumps high in the air like low riders, the stripes down their backs thick and white magnificent tails sweeping the grass in their wake. I watched till they were lost in the dark & even then I kept watching, cheering them on. I could hardly bear seeing them go. Like the students I teach year after year, who clutch their diplomas & vanish, their fates were out of my hands Which is when it came to me that in my cantankerous mood I'd missed the whole celebratrion: that solemn procession, the gown, the ceremonial feast, & those immigrant families whooping it up in the stands when Yasmin & Gail Lin & Juan Carlos stepped to the stage had, in truth, been sweet all around me & that understood, I see myself yet again for that flummoxed buffoon in the old Zen tale who, when the Master points to the rising moon of unawakened mind, stares instead stupidly at the Roshi's finger. Office key in my hand, I take a deep breath & look up & notice at last those unbelievable millions of stars & low in the east an exquisite, sumptuous moon, three-quarters full.
