SES 2010-11 Boys' Basketball Team

SES Team Celebrates Great Season

The Sewanee Elementary School boys' basketball team and their families, along with coaches Kirby Henslee (C'11) and Peter Burd (C'11), gathered recently to celebrate the end of a great 2010-11 season. The players presented their coaches with custom basketball shoes autographed by the team to thank them for donating their time and for their commitment to SES basketball. Thanks, Kirby and Peter! Pictured above are from left: (top row) Peter Burd and Kirby Henslee; (second row) Aubrey Black and Blaise Zeitler; (third row) Larson Heitzenrater, John Grammer, Ryan Toomey, Blake Drinen and Sam Green; (front row) J.H. Community Garlic Mustard Pull on Saturday Morning

The Sewanee Garden Club, the Sewanee Herbarium, and the University's physical plant services have teamed up to sponsor a garlic mustard pull Saturday morning, May 14. The invasive exotic was imported in the 1860s as an edible herb.

Meet at the intersection of North Carolina and South Carolina avenues (near the South Carolina entrance to Abbo's Alley) at 8:30 a.m. Wear long pants and bring garden gloves. Participants will identify and pull up plants at that location, then fan out to pull elsewhere on campus or at home. Plants can be piled roadside for PPS to pick up early in the week to take and burn.

Easily pulled from the ground, garlic mustard plants must be removed, taproot and all. Breaking the stems will only prompt them to re-flower. An edible green, the plants can be made into pesto or boiled by the potful.

For more information, please contact Pixie Dozier at <pixie.d@live.com> or Mary Priestley at <marypriestley@bellsouth.net>.

Angel Park Opens With Music

The weather was perfect and the crowd happy May 7 at the first Music Fest in the newly named Angel Park in the Sewanee village. Tamara Brown Williams and George Dick submitted the winning entries in the naming contest, and both will receive $250 bricks as a prize.

Sponsored by the Sewanee Business Alliance, more than 300 people came out for music, food and fun. The event was sponsored by the Sewanee Business Alliance. The permanent pavilion planned for the site has not yet been constructed, so a temporary model was built for the Fest by Patton Watkins, Tyler Cooney, Greg Pond, Clayton Rogers, the students in the University's sustainable structure class, Fred Saussy and David Michaels. The bamboo that created the pavilion was donated by Bran Potter, Katherine Alvarez and Bill Stafford.

The Sewanee Business Alliance created Angel Park as a place where the community can come together, enjoy food and music, and support local businesses. Donations are still being accepted to complete the project. For more information, go to <www.sewanee.biz>.

GOLF TOURNNEY RAISES FUNDS FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

To the Editor:

The Rotary Club of Monteagle held its 24th Annual Scholarship Golf Tournament last Saturday, May 7, at the Sewanee Golf Course, a fundraiser for Grundy County High School scholarships.

Eighteen two-person teams participated in three different flights. The top three teams in each flight received cash awards, and many of the golfers received door prizes for their participation. The club held a meeting before feeding all golfers lunch (donated by Shenanigans), with music provided by Nathan Bowman, a junior at the College.

The success of this tournament could not be realized without many people who we want to thank. The University of the South was the Grand Sponsor.

Door Prize donors were Clements & Cross, Clifftops, Lorena's, Monteagle Florist, Mountain Outfitters, Sewanee Golf Course, "The Masters" and Walmart. Hole sponsors were Allgas, Ben Lomand Telephone Co-op, Inc., Citizens State Bank, Citizens Tri-County Bank, Crust Pizza, Dr. Christopher S. Mathews and University Dental Assoc., PLLC, Darrell's Auto Parts, Eagle Liquors, Emerald Hodgson (Sewanee Clinic),

First Community Financial, Inc., Henley's Electric & Plumbing, Monteagle Diner, Monteagle Sunday School Assembly, Mike's Pharmacy, Mountain Valley Bank, Monteagle-Sewanee Realtors, Sequatchie Valley Electric Co-op, Shenanigans, Street's Auto Parts, Super 8, Sweet CeCe's, the University Book and Supply Store, Village Wine & Spirits, Woody's Bicycles and many generous Rotary Club members.

THANKS TO GARDEN CLUB MEMBERS:

To the Editor:

The Sewanee Garden Club board would like to thank its members who volunteered at Trails & Trilliums. The Garden Club had at least six volunteers and maybe more. The volunteers were involved by driving the carts, serving as hostesses at the garden tour and leading hikes, as well as other duties. Many of our members are also members of the Friends of South Cumberland, which sponsored the event. The Sewanee Garden Club is involved in promoting and sponsoring garden-related events in the area and having programs pertaining to various subjects related to gardening. Please join us for next year's programs.

MUSIC FEST A GREAT SUCCESS

To the Editor:

Our new park in the downtown village of Sewanee has a name: Angel Park. Last week's Music Fest was our trial run at bringing more of our community into the downtown area and it was well received. To say we're thrilled would be putting it mildly.

A huge thank-you to musicians Linda Heck, Charles Dawson and Bob Burns, the Pedal Stills from Nashville, Jim and Lucie Carlson (Cricket & Snail), Trapper Haskins, Enrique Madico and Jeremy Mason, and Broad Mountain Brewgrass (Patton Watkins, Adam Carlos, Dave Michaels, Kevin Willis, Peter Keeble and Andy Zabinsky).

Thanks also to Aramark, Sweetwater Brewing Company, Brian McCall of Mid-South Distributing, Dave Cooper and James Rollins, commander of the American Legion, who kindly provided space for us.

The Mountain community has never let us down and we raised $4,000 this weekend. We have total contributions of more than $22,000 to date. The foundation and electricity are already in place for the pavilion, which will be erected once we have another $30,000 in pledges.

We are asking for our neighbors to order bricks, cornerstones, benches or simply make a donation so that we can finish this addition to our village. We will have a table available at the Arts and Crafts Fair this Saturday in Shoup Park. You can also do this online at our website <www.sewanee.biz>. We are currently planning more festivals, fairs and improvements to Sewanee. We want everyone to enjoy this beautiful place we call home.

Thank you again.

President, Sewanee Business Alliance

PHILLIPS OFFERS THANKS

To the Editor:

Thank you for your support, trust and confidence in welcoming Stillpoint and me into the community. I am heartened that Maryellen McCone purchased Stillpoint. I know she will maintain the integrity and safe haven Stillpoint offers.

A particular thank-you to Bude VanDyke, who put his trust in me from day one of my practice here—before Stillpoint was conceived. And to my clients, I'm ever aware of and grateful for the privilege afforded me to walk with you on a particularly difficult leg of your journey. Be well.

Monteagle Honored for New Projects

The town of Monteagle was one of nine communities across the state chosen to receive the John S. Wilder 2011 Rebuild Tennessee Award. The Southeast Tennessee Development District nominated Monteagle in recognition of the downtown infrastructure and downtown revitalization projects. The award was presented to mayor Marilyn Nixon and community leaders on April 20.

Monteagle was highlighted for its efforts to replace its two outdated wastewater treatment plants and sewer system and for revitalizing its downtown and pedestrian facilities. All reflect the town's determination to improve its infrastructure and quality of life. The new wastewater treatment plant is under construction and approximately 70 percent complete.

In addition to the upgrades in the downtown infrastructure, Monteagle's downtown revitalization plan includes building pedestrian facilities between Monteagle and Sewanee, as well as in the downtown district along U.S. Highway 41. A greenway along an abandoned railroad bed between Monteagle and Sewanee and plans for improvements at the city ball park are also underway.

Congratulations to the town of Monteagle and its community leadership team!

Metz Moving to England to be Vicar of Petrockstowe

The Rev. Dr. Susanna Metz, director of Center for Ministry in Small Churches and lecturer in contextual education at the School of Theology, has accepted a position as a member of a ministry team in North Devon, England. Her title will be Vicar of Petrockstowe. Her position at Sewanee will end on June 30. She is also leaving her post as rector at St. John, Battle Creek.

Metz is very familiar with Petrockstowe, as it is an hour northwest of Exeter, where she is currently in pursuit of a Ph.D. part-time through distance reading and visits over summers and Christmas. She became aware of the doctoral program at Exeter when meeting with Michael Winter, professor and Director of the Centre for Rural Policy Research, to explore the possibilities of co-writing a book. Winter suggested either working on a book or getting a Ph.D. and Metz opted for enrolling in the doctorate program under Winter. "When considering the two options it basically came down to a choice between a book and a hat," explained Metz. "I chose the hat!" She hopes to have her doctorate finished this December so she can turn her full attention to her new duties as vicar.

Susanna Metz

In her new position, as a part-time member of the Torrridge Team Ministry, she will be responsible for schools and family ministry. Metz will be working with children in parochial schools. Drawing on her life's work in rural areas, she acknowledges that what rural residents want is a relationship, something Metz is eager to begin to develop.

"I've been teaching rural and small church ministry for so many years, I really am called to this kind of work," Metz said.

"While it has been clear that she loves Sewanee and what she does here, the call to go still deeper in the ministries she has been sharing in England has grown and grown," said William Stafford, dean of the School of Theology. "This is a loss to us of a friend, devoted priest, wise woman, passionate teacher, musical impresario and faithful colleague—the list goes on and on. That being said, I share in her excitement and anticipation of this great step in her ministry."

TINTINNABULATIONS

by John Bordley

The Peal of Bells on the Carillon

When I started my carillon lessons in 2001, my teacher, Laura Hewitt Whipple, taught me the typical carillon peal here at Sewanee. It is a three-octave chromatic scale, down and back up, and then repeated a number of times. While the carillonneur is playing this extended chromatic scale, the only automatic feature of the Sewanee carillon is invoked simultaneously. There is a clapper for the largest bell, the bourdon, in addition to the clapper that one plays from the clavier. This second clapper strikes the bell via the action of an electric motor, and one control allows the bell to sound as if it were swinging: ding, pause, ding, ding, pause, ding, ding, etc. This festive peal is used at the conclusion of convocations, weddings and festive church occasions. I am sure you have heard the sound many times. Laura used to say that the peal was really the main thing brides wanted when they asked for the carillon to be played at their weddings!

There is another kind of peal, a sound that is frequently heard in churches in Europe. I heard it for the first time in America at the tower at the University of Chicago last June during the annual meeting of the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America. It is a more traditional peal and consists of several bells being rung together randomly. It is a joyous sound. Each of three or four bells rings at its own repetition frequency. The highest bell rings the most often and usually starts the peal. Lower bells are added one at a time, and the lowest sounding bell starts last and rings the least often. I have experimented several times recently with this kind of peal, attempting to produce the random ringing entirely manually.

Now there is a possibility that our carillon maintenance man can install the needed strikers, clappers and electronic equipment on our instrument. A big question at the moment is about which bells to add the automated mechanisms to. With the commencements for the School of Theology and the College of Arts and Sciences this weekend, I hope to try out several of the possible four-bell combinations. If you hear a combination that you particularly like (or dislike), please let me know.

News from the Sewanee Review

Spring has officially sprung on the Mountain, and the Sewanee Review's second issue of 2011 is out! The "Literary Lives" issue (available at the University Bookstore) brings together examinations of E. M. Forster, Julian Barnes, Ian McEwan, Hugh Trevor-Roper, Alice Thomas Ellis, Norman Maclean, theater critic Richard Gilman and Tennessee Williams, as well as works by Russell Fraser, Stephen Miller and Sam Pickering. New contributor Elizabeth Hynes offers a story inspired by her childhood in rural Alabama.

Looking ahead, the summer issue will be devoted to the criticism of fiction and includes Dawn Potter on her favorite of Dickens's novels, Robert Ashcom on a hunting trip with William Faulkner and Laura C. Stevenson's essay on the evolution of children's literature in Victorian England. The fall issue will be devoted to the literature of war and will include poems on the siege of the Alamo, a story set amid the Irish Troubles and a glimpse at historian Jill Lepore and the Tea Parties of the 18th and 21st centuries.

School Scoop

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School Commencement May 20-22

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School will graduate the Class of 2011 in the school's outdoor altar on Sunday, May 22.

The year-end festivities will begin with the presentation of the 2011 House Cup in an all-school luncheon at 11:30 a.m. in Robinson Dining Hall on Friday, May 20. SAS's new house contest divided the school community into three teams, or houses, named after founders of the three original institutions—Christabel, Gorgas and Turkington—for friendly competition.

Baccalaureate will be at 5:30 p.m., Friday, May 20, at the outdoor altar on the SAS campus. The speaker will be Jeff Bell, SAS academic dean. Following the service, seniors and their guests will proceed to a banquet in the Robinson dining hall and the presentation of the "Annies" in McCrory Hall. The "Annies" is a tradition where each senior is recognized with a poem or song written and performed by members of the SAS faculty.

At 2 p.m., Saturday, May 21, the school will host its honors day ceremony at the outdoor altar. Saturday evening is the commencement dance for upper-school students and an end-of-year party for middle-school students. The dance is held at Cravens Hall, and the middle school party is held at DuBose Conference Center.

The Commencement Eucharist and exercises begin at 10 a.m., Sunday, May 22, at the outdoor altar. Following the service and the official closing of the school year, there will be a reception in the Robinson dining hall.

Three SAS Students Receive National Merit Honors

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School juniors Blythe Ford of Sewanee, Michael Rudolph of Woodstock, Ga., and Charlie Woodlief of Charlotte, N.C., recently received program recognition from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation for being among the top performers on the PSAT. In September, they will be notified if they have qualified as a recommended student or semifinalist.

Blythe, daughter of Steve and Beth Pride Ford, is an honor student and a member of the Big Brother/Big Sister program. Blythe has served as an acolyte for five years and received the Head Sacristan Award. For the last three years she has participated in a ballet and tap afternoon program at the Sewanee Dance Conservatory. She has received numerous awards in French and English and participated in the Sewanee Young Writer's Conference.

Michael, son of James and Teresa Rudolph, is a Claiborne Scholar and an honor student. He was a cast member in the school's theatre production of "Hamlet" and took an Introduction to Filmmaking class. For three years, Michael has recorded shows for the school's radio station, WMTN-LP 102.5. He received magna cum laude on the National Latin I Exam.

Charlie, son of John and Cindy Woodlief, was a member of the Mountain Lion wrestling team. He participated in the strength and conditioning afternoon program. At his previous school, Charlie was a member of the Latin Honor Society and participated in technical theater. He was a senior patrol leader for his Boy Scout troop.

SAS Seventh-Graders in Duke TIP

The Duke Talent Identification Program's Seventh Grade Talent Search recently recognized two SAS students: Joshua Alvarez and Nicholas Mays.

Talent Search identifies students in sixteen states who have scored in the 95th percentile on a grade-level achievement test. These students are invited to take college-entrance exams (SAT or ACT) to achieve State and/or Grand Recognition.

Both Joshua and Nicholas qualified for State Recognition. They will be honored at a ceremony to be held at Vanderbilt University on May 20. The State Recognition ceremonies honor seventh-graders who have earned scores equal to or better than half the college-bound seniors who took the tests. They are invited to the Academy Summer Programs, intense three-week programs held on college campuses. Academy students have scores in the top 5% of the students who participated in TIP this year.

Spanish Students Earn Medals

Thirty-three students from St. Andrew's-Sewanee School attained national recognition for excellent performance on the 2011 National Spanish Examinations.

Students from SAS earned a total of one gold, four silver and seven bronze medals, along with 21 honorable mentions.

"Attaining a medal or honorable mention for any student on the National Spanish Examinations is very prestigious," said Kevin Cessna-Buscemi, national director of the exams, "because the exams are the largest of their kind in the United States, with 140,373 students participating in 2011."

Students from SAS have a long history of high achievement on these exams and were taught by Spanish teachers Steve Rinck, Claudia Rinck and Joe Brew.

The National Spanish Examinations are administered each year in grades 6 through 12, and are sponsored by the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese.

SAS Softball Closes Season

Tallying only one error, the St. Andrew's-Sewanee Lady Mountain Lions played their best defense in the last game of the season. In the region tournament play-in game in Knoxville, Webb School defeated the SAS squad 6-5 in a hard-fought nine-inning game. Kelsey Pearson pitched the entire game and had seven strikeouts. Shortstop Sam Stine and second baseman Britni Nunley had three hits each. Kate Wiley and Rita Parris had two hits each in the competitive contest. Pearson and Parris each had two RBIs each. The game marked the end of the 2011 campaign for the Lady Lions bringing the final season record to 6-10.

Hannah Wimberly was selected to the Div II-A All-Region First Team. She was also voted by her teammates as the most valuable player. Pearson, Wiley and Courtney Clark were selected for the Div II-A All-Region Second Team.

SAS Track and Field Report

Elizabeth Gabaud came from behind on her fourth and final triple jump to capture the State Invitational title at Vanderbilt on May 7. Gabaud's jump of 33'1/2" surpassed her personal best by more than one foot. Donta Oden became the best thrower in SAS history by adding the discus throw school record to his list of achievements with a mark of 129' to place second. He also placed second in the shot put with a throw of 44'1/2," just off his school record.

The girls 4x200 relay team of Belle Mueller, Madison Culpepper, Katelyn Howard and Gabaud came back from the disappointment of a missed exchange in the 4x100 to place third in the 4x200 with a season-best time. Keeley Stewart ran a courageous 1600, battling injury and illness to place fifth. Sarah Beavers placed sixth in the discus throw, and Joan Park placed seventh in the shot put.

SAS Baseball Post-Season Play

Freshman Will Thomas hit a dramatic three-run homer in the bottom of the seventh inning to send the SAS Mountain Lions to a 5-2 victory in the second round of the Division II Class A Regional tournament on May 6. It was a well-played and close contest by both teams.

The drama unfolded in the bottom of the seventh after Sam Howick lined out, Swade Mooney doubled down the left field line, and Evan Morris was intentionally walked. Thomas then followed with a home run that cleared the left field fence to send the team and their fans into a frantic celebration. With the victory, SAS advanced to the second round of the tournament for the first time in school history.

"Will Thomas just continues to come up with big hits, but needless to say, this is one that he and his teammates will always remember," said coach James Barry.

Women's Tennis

The NCAA announced its 2011 Women's Tennis Tournament bracket on May 9 and the No. 18 Sewanee Tigers have earned a bid. In addition to the Tigers' at-large bid, Sewanee will play host to first-, second-, and third-round action Thursday-Saturday, May 12-14.

The Tigers, who finished as runners-up to DePauw University in this year's SCAC Tournament, completed the regular season with a 19-6 overall record.

Equestrian Results and Tiger of the Week

Sewanee senior Lindsay Maxwell nabbed a 12th-place finish in the prestigious Cacchione Cup competition at the IHSA National Championships May 6-8 to wrap up her season. Maxwell represented the Sewanee equestrian team at the National Championships in Lexington, Ky., and finished third in the Open over Fences competition.

Maxwell, a senior captain of the Sewanee equestrian team, was also named Tiger of the Week for her performance the week of May 2-8.

"Lindsay wrapped up her collegiate career in tremendous fashion," said head coach Megan Taylor. "To finish third in the nation in her fences class is really amazing and her 12th-place finish in the Cacchione Cup competition is something that the entire Sewanee equestrian program is extremely proud of. Lindsay worked very hard to get to where she is and has been a consistent competitor in her four years at Sewanee. She has definitely earned her success."

SCAC Honors Sewanee Athletes

Baseball

Sewanee baseball players Taylor Irwin and Joe Reilly have been selected First Team All-Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference for the 2011 season. Irwin, a four-time SCAC pick, wraps up his outstanding Sewanee career with a .384 career batting average, while pounding out 179 hits during his four years on the Mountain.

Reilly, a first-time All-SCAC pick, led the Tigers in hitting with a .425 average, which was good for second in the SCAC. His team-leading 51 hits tied him for eighth in the SCAC and his .489 on base percentage was fifth best in the conference.

"I'm glad to see these two great young men be rewarded for all the work they have put in over the past four years," said Scott Baker, head baseball coach.

Softball

Sophomore softball player Dana Middleton has been named All-Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference Second Team in balloting by the league's softball coaches.

Middleton, playing her first season in a Sewanee uniform, led the team in almost every offensive statistical category while her team-leading .435 batting average was good for fourth in the SCAC. She also led the Tigers in hits, runs scored, doubles, slugging percentage and on-base percentage, as well as being successful on 12 of 15 base-stealing attempts.

"Dana proved to be an instant lift for us offensively," said Sewanee head softball coach Amber George.

Men's Lacrosse

Sewanee freshman Davis Brown has been named the SCAC's Men's Lacrosse Newcomer-of-the-Year, while Jack Thomasson, Brandon Barrett, and Jeb Leva were honored as All-SCAC selections. Brown earned a spot on the All-SCAC Men's Lacrosse First Team as Thomasson, Barrett, and Leva were selected to the Second Team.

Brown finished the season with 42 points on 30 goals and 12 assists. His 42 points led the team, while his 30 goals were second on the team. He also ranked ninth in the SCAC in goals per game with 2.0 per game and 10th in points per game with 2.80. This marks the second straight year that a Tiger has been named Newcomer-of-the-Year.

OVERTIME

by John Shackelford

In HBO's drama "The Wire" (2002-08), there was a scene in which former-cop-turned-teacher Roland Przybylewski was watching a football game on television. The show was set in inner-city Baltimore and in this episode, "Pryzbo" is saddened by the plight of his students and those he used to police. His wife comes in and asks who is winning the game. He looks at her and says, "No one wins in this game. One side just loses more slowly."

It is easy to see what he is talking about while watching a long tennis match or any sport, really. Often our games are a collection of unforced errors or turnovers. Out on the court, we sometimes are in the business of simply limiting our mistakes and trying to "lose more slowly."

As we send our graduates out into the world this week, all of us should consider ourselves very lucky not to be facing the hardships and challenges that were portrayed in "The Wire" (which is a great, well-written inner-city crime drama). When they receive their diplomas on Sunday, I don't think of it as losing friends, but gaining faithful alumni. I don't see Sewanee losing 10 percent of its revenue from tuition this year, but gaining an incredibly talented and growing freshman class. We gained a leadership role among liberal arts colleges in this country on the discussion of how tuition is decided upon and how merit-based aid is awarded. These are all good things.

As I wrote last week, May is a time of reflection for our coaching staff. It is not hard when examining seasons gone by to focus on those contests that got away. One more shot, one more touchdown, one more goal, one less turnover might have changed everything for a team. When I arrived here in January 1986, the tennis team didn't have enough players to play a match. My first recruiting call was on campus to the winner of the 1985 intramural tennis competition, hoping I could get one more player. And in that call, I gained a good lifelong friend.

When I told this first group of men that we would one day win a national championship, they thought I was crazy. Those same guys plus a few additions finished tenth in the country three seasons later and seventh in 1989. This September, that group of men will be recognized in Sewanee's Athletic Hall of Fame.

Back then, Sewanee's field hockey coach also coached the women's tennis team, with women's tennis as her "extra" duty. Suzie Steele was a tennis player then, borrowed from the basketball team where she was a star. Suzie is known to most of you now as Susan Askew, director of alumni affairs. I think Suze would tell you that the 1986 tennis team needed to stop "losing more slowly." So I went to Bill Huyck, our director of athletics at the time, and told him that I was married to someone who might be able to help the women's team.

This week, for the 21st time since he made that decision to hire Conchie, our women's tennis team was selected for the 2011 NCAA Championships. They are ranked 18th nationally out of more than 300 Division III schools. In 1988, the first year Sewanee's women were chosen for the NCAA tournament, only 10 teams were picked nationwide. Like this season, it was going to be a close call as to which teams would be selected. In those days we had to wait by the telephone in the office for the official word. After a couple of hours of waiting, I shared the good news with our team by honking my car horn as I drove up to their practice.

This year Conchie and I got the word of Sewanee's selection by text message while on a Sunday night walk. I forwarded the message to our team by the magic of an iPhone and two minutes later, as we walked into our house, our daughters already had the news via Facebook. The span between those two seasons has passed quickly, much like the speed with which news is now communicated electronically. I don't remember the ones that got away as much as I think of the kids who made all this possible. Every team in the NCAA tournament will be trying to win a national championship this week. Some will lose quickly, others more slowly.

I will watch our graduates with pride this week as they have gained one of life's great experiences. I will watch the incoming class of 2015 with excitement about what the next four years will hold for them. And I look forward to reconnecting with those alums from 1989 and remembering when it was their time for all of these endings and beginnings.

It was their time to win.

Nature Notes

Purple Martin Colony in Midway

For many years, retired Sewanee Chief of Police Wayne McBee has been raising gourds, cleaning, painting and hanging them for Purple Martins, according to Harry and Jean Yeatman. This year there are over 200 birds nesting in the gourds in his Midway yard. These birds are a delight to watch, going into and out of the nesting homes provided by Wayne. We are grateful for all the flying insects that they eat, to our advantage.

Martins are pretty birds. The male is a bluish-black and the female has dingy brown and white underparts. The male sings a low-pitched gurgling song, and the female sings a short whistling chirp.

The nest is of straw and twigs in gourds or nest lofts arranged in colonies. From four to five white eggs are laid. Most Purple Martins winter in Brazil and fly to the Eastern United States in spring. Look for the colonies in Sewanee in spring and summer, wherever well-prepared gourds are hanging.

Trio

Gabrielle

Pets of the Week: Trio & Gabrielle

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Trio is a playful young Beagle-Terrier mix whose owners moved off and left her in the vacant house. She was rescued by neighbors and brought to Animal Harbor. This darling little girl has only three legs, but that doesn't bother her. Trio gets around fine, and she wants to be a lapdog anyway. She is up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Beautiful Gabrielle and her kitten, Sashimi, qualify for the May special. Adopt them together, and Gabrielle's adoption fee will be waived. They are very attached to each other and want to go to their forever home together. Gabrielle and Sashimi are negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out their other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets! Please help the Humane Society continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to the Franklin County Humane Society, P. O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

From Bard to Verse

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

..Behold a race of young ones...a race
Of real children; not too wise,
Too learned or too good; but wanton, fresh,
And bandied up and down by love and hate;
Not unresentful where self-justified;
Fierce, moody, patient, venturous, modest, shy;
Mad at their sports like withered leaves in winds;
Though doing wrong and suffering, and full oft
Bending beneath our life's mysterious weight
Of pain, and doubt, and fear, yet yielding not
In happiness to the happiest upon earth.
Simplicity in habits, truth in speech,
Be these the daily strengtheners of their minds;
May books and Nature be their early joy!
And knowledge, rightly honored with that name—
Knowledge not purchased by the loss of power! ...
