

SAS Commencement Weekend, May 17–19

Class of 2013 to Graduate

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School will graduate the Class of 2013 on Sunday, May 19, at the school's Outdoor Altar.

The year-end festivities begin with the Baccalaureate service at 5:30 p.m., Friday, May 17. The Baccalaureate speaker will be the Rev. Ellis Mayfield, retiring director of athletics and long-time SAS faculty member.

Following the service, seniors and their guests will proceed to the Senior Banquet in the Robinson Dining Hall. The evening ends with the Senior Lead-Out and presentation of the "Annies" in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts. This event is an opportunity for each senior to be recognized with a poem or song written and performed by members of the SAS faculty.

Saturday, May 18, is Honors Day. The Honors Day ceremony will begin at 10 a.m. at the Outdoor Altar (please note that this is a different time than in previous years). A reception sponsored by the Parents' Council will be held in Simmonds Hall after the ceremony. Students' creative work will be on exhibit in the adjacent Art Gallery at that time and throughout the weekend.

The Commencement Eucharist and Exercises begin at 10 a.m. on Sunday morning. Following the service and the official closing of the school year, there will be a reception in the Spencer Room.

The 44 members of the Class of 2013, who have garnered a record $3 million in merit and financial aid, will matriculate in the fall at outstanding colleges and universities across the country, from Colorado State University to Bowdoin College in Maine.

The Rev. Ellis Mayfield will be the SAS Baccalaureate speaker.

University Awards More Than 380 Degrees to Graduates

The University of the South's 2012–13 academic year came to a close May 10–12 with three ceremonies marking graduation weekend on the Mountain. A Convocation for the Conferring of Degrees was held May 10, to recognize the 42 students who completed their studies at the School of Theology. The preacher for this year's commencement service was the Rt. Rev. Robert Christopher Wright from the Diocese of Atlanta.

The second ceremony marking commencement weekend began Saturday morning, as the 331 members of the College class of 2013 followed the University faculty into the Baccalaureate Service in All Saints' Chapel.

Four honorary degrees were presented during the service to David Brooks, David H. Charlton, Jonathan T. Howe, and Lacy H. Hunt II, C'64. Brooks, author and New York Times op-ed columnist, gave the Baccalaureate address and received a standing ovation from students and their families at its conclusion. His talk combined humor, philosophy and appreciation for a liberal education. The talk is available on the University website: <<http://news.sewanee.edu/life/2013/05/13/videos-from-commencement-weekend-now-posted>>.

Academic processions and the sound of bells marked the beginning and the conclusion of the Commencement ceremony on May 12. The procession of graduating seniors was led by valedictorian Jenny Liles of Little Rock, Ark., and salutatorian Tamás Kubik of Budapest, Hungary. Jonathan Brenes Salazar, an Environmental Studies: Policy major from Monteverde, Costa Rica, was recognized with the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medallion for character, leadership, and service to the University and the Sewanee community.

Liles, an English and Biology double major, spoke in her valedictory address of the sense of community on the Mountain, of learning from professors to expect more from themselves, and of the relationships that show her class that they are not alone. By continuing to embrace the ideals of the University and carrying those values forward, then "wherever we land, wherever we live, wherever we love, we will know that we are not alone. We are Sewanee, and that makes us family."

The University's Sewanee School of Letters, which enrolled its first summer master's degree students in 2006 and granted its first degree in 2009, granted eight Master of Fine Arts degrees, and three Master of Arts degrees this year.

The University awarded 331 baccalaureate degrees (265 Bachelor of Arts and 66 Bachelor of Science degrees). Vice-Chancellor John McCardell left the graduates with his prayer that "the education you have received here and the experience here that set you on your life's course will, in the words of our beloved baptismal liturgy, mark you as one of Sewanee's own forever."

The final event in an eventful graduation weekend came to a close with the faculty and guests lining the sidewalks outside the Chapel, allowing the new graduates of the Class of 2013 to pass through and receive applause, cheers and embraces.

Sewanee Woman's Club Honors Gibson

The Sewanee Woman's Club finished up its year of lively programs with Henry Hamman's personal account of the years that he and his wife, Kathy, spent as expatriates. These were years in which they gained the insights of those who stay in place long enough to learn appreciation for the variety of mind-sets encountered in foreign settings—the difference between travel and tourism.

Connie Gibson received the 2013 Honorary Member award. Her contributions of "astute judgment, good humor, time and energy for the benefit of Emerald-Hodgson Hospital, the Community Action Committee, All Saints' Chapel, Morton Memorial Church, the Sewanee Woman's Club and her unstinting support of the Sewanee girls' basketball team have earned her immense admiration and appreciation."

Since 1930, the SWC members and guests meet on the second Monday of each month for lunch and a lecture, except for the summer months. The Garden Club will be arranging another tour of local gardens in June. The annual Holiday Tour of Homes is staged by the Club to raise funds and to promote awareness of Sewanee's charms.

Each year, grants are made to area organizations. Donations for 2013 will be given to the Sewanee Summer Music Festivals, St. Andrew's-Sewanee Fringe Theater Group, the Community Action Committee, The Grundy County Arts Council, the Mountain Center Food Ministry, and the Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor.

Connie Gibson was selected as this year's Honorary Member. She was presented with a certificate of achievement and gift in recognition of her 38 years of membership. During this time she has been an officer as well as serving on the board in numerous positions. She is currently the recording secretary. Photo by Geri Childress

AMERICAN LEGION WINDOWS To the Editor:

The response to the plea for funds to replace the old windows in the American Legion Building has been well-received. At this point we have about 60 percent of what is needed. We've had generous donations from the Legion Auxiliary, David Sampley, Phillip and Dianne Callicut, John and Bonnie McCardell, Sherwood and Jane Ebey, Tom and Gail Watson, John Corbett, Harry and Jean Yeatman, Henry and Ann Arnold, Eileen Degan, Marie Woods, Vicki Davis, Johnny Hughes, Roy and Ann Millar, Betty Jo Jones and Ina Myers.

We are more than halfway to our goal, and the improvement to this community resource will be enjoyed for years to come. If you are able to donate, please do so. Any amount will be of great help.

*Charley Watkins, adjutant,
American Legion Post 51*

SEWANEE YOUTH SOCCER To the Editor:

The Board of Sewanee Youth Soccer has decided to discontinue its association with American Youth Soccer Association and to merge with the Franklin County Soccer Association.

The merger will mean little to most Sewanee recreational soccer players, as U6 and U8 will still practice and play in Sewanee. The only significant difference with this merger will be at the U10 and U12 level. All games for U10 and U12 teams will be played in Winchester. Practice will be held in Sewanee at the Ball Park Road soccer fields.

To play recreational soccer in Sewanee next fall, you will need to sign up with the Franklin County Soccer Association and note "Sewanee" in the comments section. There is still a need for volunteers. Please be aware that a failure to have volunteer coaches in the Sewanee area will decrease the abilities to have teams that practice in Sewanee. Referees will need to attend training with the Franklin County Soccer Association.

The information about the training will be published as soon as possible next fall, <<http://www.fcsooccer.org>>.

Christ Church, Monteagle

Because of the wet and cold spring which has finally resolved itself, Christ Church will have the fireworks which greet Pentecost. This begins at 8 p.m., Saturday, May 18. There is a brief prayer greeting the great day, but no Vigil in terms of a lengthy service.

Pentecost is a celebration shared by many churches and, in Northern Europe, by whole towns. Some people may not know what they are celebrating, but there is an atmosphere of joy and happy greetings. All churches will welcome you. Once called Whitesunday because people wore their baptismal garments, the day is sometimes called “the birthday of the Church.”

Decherd Mission Church Homecoming

Decherd Mission Church, located next to Swann Equipment on Hwy. 127 in Decherd, will hold homecoming services this Sunday, May 19. Sunday school is at 10 a.m., and the worship service is at 11 a.m. Lunch will be served after the morning service, and after lunch there will be singing, featuring the group A Different Way from Decherd.

Pastor Bill Morgan and the congregation welcome everyone.

Otey Parish

Otey Memorial Parish will celebrate Pentecost with the Holy Eucharist, Rite II, at 8:50 a.m. and 11 a.m.

During the Sunday School hour, adults and youth are invited to the Lectionary Class, led by Pete Trenchi, which will explore Acts 2:1–21, the story of the birth of the church at Pentecost. Nursery care for infants 6 weeks to children 5 years old begins at 8:30 a.m. and continues until after coffee hour, which follows the second service.

The Bible Challenge will meet at 4 p.m. at the church.

Otey Memorial Parish will host an iconographer of international acclaim on Sunday, May 26. Sister Elisea Papacioc, from Romania, will display some of her most recent icons from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the conference room at Brooks Hall (next to Otey Church). She will be available to answer questions and explain her technique for creating these luminous works.

Her icons have been shown and sponsored by the Smithsonian Museum, the John Paul II Cultural Center, and other museums throughout this country and abroad. Otey is privileged to enjoy this Orthodox nun's presence. She will provide an opportunity to commission custom-designed icons to be delivered when she returns to Sewanee next year. For more information contact Sandy and Dennis Kezar at (423) 837-5820.

Forty-Two Graduate from the School of Theology

The University of the South's 2012–13 academic year came to a close with a Convocation for the Conferring of Degrees on May 10, to recognize the 42 students who completed their studies at the School of Theology and to confer three honorary degrees.

The Rt. Rev. Robert Wright, bishop of the Diocese of Atlanta, preached the sermon. He began with greetings from the Diocese of Atlanta and conveyed that he had come to "share his heart" with everyone in All Saints' Chapel, especially the graduates. He likened them to the 70 disciples that Jesus sent out into the world to continue his ministry. Quoting Luke's 10th chapter, he added, "We are reminded that the purpose of the church is to pray, go and say." After covering several aspects of prayer he said, "But prayer is just the beginning. To pray and not go is to frustrate grace." Quoting a variety of sources on the importance of going the great distance for Jesus, Wright asked, "Where are you willing to go for a God this good?" In summary, Wright looked out over the students and offered, "So pray and go and then, for Christ's sake, say something!" The sermon may be viewed in its entirety at <<http://vimeo.com/66168959>>.

Following the sermon, honorary degrees were presented to the Rt. Rev. Gregory Orrin Brewer, the Rt. Rev. William Douglas Hahn, and the Rt. Rev. Robert Christopher Wright in a traditional ceremony. The Rt. Rev. J. Neil Alexander, dean of the School of Theology, introduced the recipients before Vice-chancellor John McCardell asked for approval. The Rt. Rev. Samuel Johnson Howard, chancellor of the University and bishop of the Diocese of Florida, approved and conferred the doctor of divinity degree on each candidate. Full biographies of the honorary degree recipients may be found at <<http://theology.sewanee.edu/news/2013-commencement-will-present-three-honorary-degrees>>.

University Provost John Swallow called each of the graduating students to the front of the chapel to receive their diplomas and hoods. Several of the students graduated with honors for outstanding academic achievement:

The School of Theology Prize in Biblical Studies and The Urban T. Holmes III Prize for Excellence in Preaching were awarded to Lauren Wynn Farrington Flowers, an M.Div. student from the Diocese of Central Gulf Coast.

The School of Theology Prize in Theology and Ethics was awarded to William Outlan Burgess, an M.A. student.

The School of Theology Prize in Historical Studies was awarded to Laurel Rae Mathewson, an M.Div. student from the Diocese of San Diego.

The Bishop Leopoldo Alard Prize for Excellence in Liturgical Reading in Spanish was awarded to Colin James Mathewson, an M.Div. student from the Diocese of San Diego.

The School of Theology Community Service Award was awarded to Grant Anthony Stokes, an M.Div. student from the Diocese of Western North Carolina.

SAS Alumni Weekend Set for May 31–June 2

St. Andrew's-Sewanee expects 400 to attend the school's annual Alumni Weekend May 31–June 2. St. Andrew's-Sewanee, formed by the merger of Sewanee Academy and St. Andrew's School in 1981, welcomes the alumni of its parent schools, including St. Mary's School and the Sewanee Military Academy (SMA). Milestone reunions this year (5th, 10th, 25th, etc.) are from the classes ending in 3s and 8s, but many SAS alumni and their families make this an annual pilgrimage.

Live jazz with Herschel Van Dyke '03 and a festive dinner kick the weekend off on Friday. The Classes of 1963 from St. Andrew's, St. Mary's, and SMA will celebrate their 50th reunion and receive their SAS Medallions on Saturday during the special Awards Champagne Brunch. This year's award recipients are photographer Stephen Alvarez '83, receiving the Distinguished Alumni Award, and Doug Campbell of Naples, Fla., from the SMA Class of 1959, who receives the SAS Service Award. The weekend concludes on Sunday morning with a Holy Eucharist service at St. Andrew's Chapel and a farewell brunch.

Stuart Harrod '82 will offer a rolling concert (on the backs of bikes) on the Mountain Goat Trail at 2 p.m., beginning at the SAS end. Harrod is the founder of Folkbike Re-cyclery, a Frankfort, Ky., nonprofit that helps to recycle and redistribute bikes and publicizes its work through moving concerts.

On Sunday, beginning at 9:15 a.m., the Highlander Drum and Pipe Corps from Chattanooga will accompany SMA alumni in the annual re-enactment of their Sunday march, walking from Quintard Hall to All Saints' Chapel. Afterward, back on the SAS campus, starting at 10:30 a.m. will be the second STA Rejoice! Mass, which incorporates rock and folk music into the Holy Eucharist liturgy. The bike ride, Sunday march and church service are free and open to the public.

Internationally recognized photographer Stephen Alvarez, St. Andrew's-Sewanee Class of 1983, will receive the Distinguished Alumni Award during Alumni Weekend.

Humane Society Delivers Books to Area Libraries

In May, members of The Franklin County Humane Society delivered boxes of books to all of the public school libraries, as well as Good Shepherd, Winchester Christian Academy, the Mennonite School and St. Andrew's-Sewanee. The Franklin County Library also received some children's books. Each library received a variety of books with animal themes on different reading levels.

The elementary schools received books including "Tails are not for Pulling," "A Dog's Life: The Autobiography of a Stray," and "Cat Found." The middle schools were given titles for older readers, such as "Nubs: The True Story of a Mutt, a Marine, and a Miracle," "War Horse," and "Saving Audie." The books were purchased with a grant from the Templeton Foundation to help foster the qualities of responsibility and kindness.

The librarians at all of the schools plan to create a special display to show off the new books, although this might be next fall since they have to be catalogued first.

Pat Thompson, president of the Franklin County Humane Society, said, "We are very grateful to the Templeton Foundation for this grant so we could go to the schools with books to encourage children to read and help promote character development."

Blessing of St. Mary's new lavender field.

Thistle Farms Plants Lavender Field with Sisters of St. Mary's

Thistle Farms of Nashville visited and helped plant a lavender field at the Sisters of St. Mary's gardens on May 11. Becca Stevens, Sewanee alumna and founder of Thistle Farms, participated in the planting and blessing of the lavender field, along with others from Thistle Farms, the Sisters of St. Mary's, and the community at large. The lavender field was dedicated to Sister Mary Zita in honor of the 50th anniversary of her vocation.

Thistle Farms is a residential program and social enterprise of women who have survived lives of prostitution, violence and abuse. The women create natural bath and body products by hand that are as good for the earth as they are for the body.

Madeleine Mary, sister-in-charge at the convent, said, "Today was a wonderful experience of truly organic prayer; a gathered community, working and praying with God and each other to renew the earth by making a place of beauty, healing and prayer. We pray that this partnership will foster greater community, will bring beauty and healing into the lives of many through the products that will be made with its soothing oils, and will help create more sustainable systems for Magdalene House, our community, and the earth."

The Sisters of St. Mary's have been developing gardens during the past year as part of The Organic Prayer Project for the purpose of establishing outreach ministries and support for their communal lives. A large field was prepared for the arrival of the ladies from Nashville and the lavender plants. Under the partnership, the Sisters will grow lavender for Thistle Farms; in addition, the Sisters may provide baskets for sale with Thistle Farm products and some of their own hand-crafted items during various times of the year.

For more information on Thistle Farms, visit <www.thistlefarms.org>.

"Don't Meth with Us" Program Kicks Off in Grundy County

The 2013 "Don't Meth with Us" program was presented to all fourth-through seventh-grade Grundy County elementary students. This annual program is provided by the Rotary Club of Grundy County and sponsored by donations from individuals, churches, and businesses in and around Grundy County.

During the presentation, Sandy Spies, past president of the Rotary Club and president of S Double A Ranch, described the poisonous ingredients of methamphetamines and the life-threatening dangers involved in manufacturing it. Pictures and demonstrations are real attention-getters for the young students, who were surprised to learn common, everyday ingredients are used to manufacture the mind- and body-altering substances. Spies cautioned that a new form of crystal meth is being given to young boys and girls in a form that looks like candy in order to hook them on meth.

Students were given a "Don't Meth with Us" T-shirt, wrist band and Rotary key chain. They were also presented with a pledge card encouraging them to stay away from meth and other illegal drugs.

ANGEL WITH AN ATTITUDE

by Virginia Craighill

Dear Angel,

This morning Sewanee Elementary School had Field Day at McGee Field; this afternoon I walked past and saw the field was being systematically torn up. Has Sewanee finally decided to get rid of its football team in favor of more legitimate sports like synchronized swimming or dwarf tossing? What's going on?

Football Fan

Dear Fan,

When the University vowed to "go green," they mainly meant the color of the Astroturf the Mighty Tigers will be playing on next fall. They'll also be playing under the bright lights. To qualify, there will be new lights as well as artificial turf, and the Tigers will play under the lights, but they won't be on because all the games will still be played in the daytime.

The question remains, if they are going to pimp out our field with intimidating but useless floodlights and plastic grass, can a real Marching Band, a Dome with a retractable roof, and VIP boxes be too far behind? With this kind of facility upgrade, you can bet we will be hosting the Crimson Tide for Homecoming.

One practical thing to remember, however, is that your dog can no longer use the new turf for his personal pit stops; the evidence will not wash away.

Dear Angel,

If there is already a summer housing shortage, what is going to happen when 500 and some-odd freshmen appear on campus this August looking for a room?

Cramping My Style

Dear Cramped,

I am sure you did not mean to imply that some of those 500 freshmen will be "odd," but even if they are, they still need a place to live, and it's not at all clear that there are enough dorm rooms to go around. Still this excess of the dorm-less might work to your advantage. In Sewanee days of yore, students lived in boarding houses around campus. If you have any extra rooms in your home, why not consider renting them out to students for a little above the going Room & Board rate of the University? You could even market it as "Service Learning" and make the students scrub your toilets and clean your refrigerator as part of their "community engagement." The benefits of having a few able-bodied students living in your crawl space are not to be dismissed, and they will be grateful for the experience, given that the alternative will be living in a tent city on the football field's artificial turf.

Virginia Craighill invites your questions and queries on matters of etiquette, style and ethics. Send them confidentially to <news@sewanee-messenger.com>.

This big rock will eventually be a welcome/directional sign entering Sewanee from Cowan on highway 41A.

Summer Music Festival Announces 2013 Season

The schedule for the 57th season of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival has been announced and includes a blend of traditional activities and new events and venues, including an event at the new golf course. More than 30 concerts, 13 of which will be free to the public, will be presented by 200 students, 25 faculty artists and five guest artists in over seven venues around the Cumberland Plateau.

The season will commence with the Opening Night Gala on June 22, when the Festival Orchestra, an ensemble comprised of the 2013 faculty artists and guest artists, will perform under the baton of Maestro Más-Arocas works by Mason Bates and others.

Traditional concerts include the Faculty Artist Series, Saturdays in the Garth and Symphony Sundays that will highlight unique modern and traditional repertoire combinations such as "The Rite of Spring," Symphonie fantastique and Shostakovich Symphony No. 5. A world premiere of an orchestral piece named "Entre Dos Luces (Solea por Bulerias)" by SSMF double bass professor Sidney King will also be performed on July 7 by the Cumberland Orchestra. The SSMF will host world-renowned conductors, including Cristian Macelaru, Carl St. Clair, Christopher Warren-Green, Katherine Kilburn and the newly appointed SSMF Conductor-in-Residence, Octavio Más-Arocas. Full details of the season and ticketing information can be found at <ssmf.inticketing.com>.

The second Hike to a Concert will take place on the bluff-view hole of the new Sewanee golf course on July 3. A hike, led by the Sewanee Outing Program, will occur before the concert, ending directly at the golf course for concert time. In addition, a bike ride, led by Woody Deutsch from Woody's Bicycles, will also start before the concert and will take participants around the Sewanee campus to key highlights, including the Cross, Green's View, the Chapel of the Apostles and others, before ending at the golf course. Reservations are required for these events.

A new feature this year is the inclusion of the Blue Chair Tavern as a concert venue. All Wednesday night concerts will be streamed live at the Blue Chair Tavern on the big screen TV, where patrons can enjoy a refreshing beverage, along with world-class music. A special thanks to this year's corporate sponsors: Joseph's Remodeling, Myers Point, Locals, the Blue Chair and the Sewanee Business Alliance, along with all of the individual donors and supporters who make this unique musical experience possible.

Friday Night Live in Angel Park

The Sewanee Business Alliance is excited to announce a special summer series of music to be performed in the new Sewanee Angel Park each Friday night for six weeks during the period of June 21-July 26.

RC-Moon Pie Festival in Historic Bell Buckle

The 18th annual RC-Moon Pie Festival will be held June 15 in downtown Bell Buckle.

Festivities kick off with the RC-Moon Pie 10-mile run, where more than 1,000 runners will compete on the scenic but challenging course and then will be rewarded with a full breakfast at the finish line.

RC's and Moon Pies are celebrated in every way possible with a parade, bluegrass music, dancing, the coronation of the king and queen and games featuring the two classics in every way imaginable.

Speakeasy, a rock 'n roll band, will perform and delight festival-goers. The festival will culminate with the cutting of the World's Largest Moon Pie, where everyone gets a taste of the gooey treat for free.

Healing Arts Project Show Continues at Artisan Depot

An art show curated by Pat Underwood and the Healing Arts Project, Inc. (HAPI) is now on display at Artisan Depot in Cowan. HAPI, which is based in Nashville, provides an avenue for persons in mental health and addiction recovery to express their creativity through a wide range of artistic endeavors. In this way awareness is raised in the community that helps combat stigma about these disorders and promotes understanding, acceptance and success. HAPI has been supporting the creative arts for persons in mental health and addiction recovery since 2004.

In this area, HAPI holds art classes at ReConnect Tullahoma and ReConnect Shelbyville. Franklin County Arts Guild member Denise Miller teaches at these centers, and she and Underwood have been instrumental in bringing the students' artwork to the Artisan Depot for exhibit.

The Artisan Depot is located at 201 E. Cumberland St., Cowan. The show continues through June 15. For more information call 962-2356 or go to <www.fcaguild.wordpress.com>.

HAPI art classes provide a creative outlet for over 300 individuals in mental health and addiction recovery in Middle Tennessee.

A VIEW FROM THE DUMP

by Francis Walter

From the Oxford English Dictionary:

Crap: In modern French the word has taken the sense of dirt, filth and grease of a millstone. 1. The husk of grain, chaff.

Dust: 3.d. as the type of that which is worthless ...

Filth: 1. The quality ... of being foul ...

Garbage: The offal of an animal used for food ...

Junk: 1.d. ... discarded or waste material that can be put to some use.

Midden: 1. A dunghill, manure-heap, refuse-heap.

Offal: That which falls off ... as in chips in dressing wood ... the part which in any process, is allowed to fall off, or neglected as valueless ... 5. fig. ... offscourings, dregs, scum.

Refuse: B. sc. 1. That which is cast aside as worthless ... The rejected or rubbishy part of anything.

Rubbish: 1. Waste ... material, in early use ... such as results from the ... repair of buildings, debris, litter ... 2.b. worthless, nonsensical ... discourse or writing.

Waste: ... unserviceable material remaining over from any process of manufacture ...

Dreary, negative words, no? That’s why our dump is named the Franklin County Convenience Center, not the Franklin County Filth Center. Probably from prehistory on, when we have discarded something, we have always bad-mouthed it. Today we must change. We have to package smart; reclaim, reuse, refurbish, redeem, in order to honor these once- despised goods, and in so doing, honor the earth. In my Oxford English Dictionary published in 1980, the word recycle does not even appear. However, Webster’s New World College Dictionary, 2000, records: “re-cycle 3. a. to treat or process in order to use again (recycle aluminum cans). b. to gather up (empty bottles ... etc.) to be so treated or processed.”

When National Guard Captain Andrew Lane returned from Afghanistan to his parish church, St. Gregory’s, Athens, Ga. <stgregoriathens.org>, he took on a new mission: recycling. Since 2010, the church has realized more than $4,800 from recycling. It is linked with a remarkable nonprofit, TerraCycle <terracycle.com> which pays for trash and sells the new products from the material it collects. It takes items few recycle centers will accept.

According to Episcopal News Service of Oct. 10, 2012 (go to ENS, recent posts), UPS delivers at no charge recyclable materials to TerraCycle from approved collection points.

Some church or other group in Sewanee might want to investigate this. This is not an investigative column.

Tracy City Hosts Camp Discover

Camp Discover: Me, My Community, My World, will offer two age-appropriate programs June 3–14: Camp Discover for grades 1–3 and Senior Camp Discover for grades 4–6. Both camps will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The camps are part of a community outreach project of Scholastic, the University and Yale Child Study Center. They are designed to link the school and local community, and further engage students by developing a deeper sense of pride and understanding of the area.

Students in grades 1–3 will follow the Mountain Goat Railroad to the Palmer Coal Miners' Museum, visit the original Swiss settlement and hike to the Great Stone Door. Through trips that celebrate community, games, songs and books, the programs are designed to celebrate the community's stories and heritage.

The senior camp for grades 4–6 will feature many of the same trips and also an in-depth study of the Fiery Gizzard and the natural environment. Students will share in activities to become junior rangers, while learning more about the area park. This program is generously supported by the Friends of the South Cumberland, Sewanee's Environmental Studies Program, and the South Cumberland State Park, which is integrating its junior ranger program into the daily program.

Bus transportation, breakfast and lunch are included. Mountain TOP, Morton Memorial Methodist Church in Monteagle and Sewanee Dining are partnering to provide nutritious meals to all participants. For more information, contact Emily Partin at (931) 592-4372.

Progress in Sewanee in 1872

In June 1872, The University Record newspaper Vol. 1, #1 stated: "The growth of Sewanee is a surprise even to its own inhabitants."

"On the street leading to the village, Mr. H. N. Caldwell has built a very neat business house for the University pharmacy and book-store [the "blue" house occupied by the Sewanee Historic Trust group].

On the lot adjoining Mr. Caldwell, Dr. Buchanan has put up a large and commodious house, and on the same street Mrs. Smith and Mr. G. W. Smith have erected substantial residences (their houses were built exactly alike and are now the residences of Mrs. Engsborg and the Deans).

Mr. Bork has completed a very nice cottage, and Mr. Barbot, the University tailor, has a substantial and neat residence (Willie Cocke's house).

In Sewanee village Messrs. Hoge and Miller have put up a handsome business house. The interior fittings are especially noticeable for their beauty, being finished in black walnut and chestnut, oiled. The post office, in the same building, is very neatly fitted up.

Across the street, Mr. W. A. Gibson has erected a substantial business house, occupied by him as grocery and general supply store.

On Broadway, Mr. S. Rowe has put up a good market house, and Mr. Charles Wadhams is now erecting a building as a bakery, confectionery, etc.

Messrs. Gipson, Parks, Harrison, Arnold, Statum, Short, Pratt, and Kennedy have put up dwelling houses in or near the village during the past few months.

Sewanee Depot village has now four dry goods and grocery houses, with large stocks of goods, two confectioners, one hardware and tin ware store, two shoemakers, two butchers, one painter, one blacksmith, one cabinet-maker, two barbers, several carpenters, etc. The business house of Tomlinson and Co. is probably the largest and best stocked in the county.

Mr. H. O. Judd's new laundry, situated near Hayes mill, is now in successful operation.

Mr. Hayes, among his many other valuable enterprises, put up last winter two icehouses and filled them with an excellent quality of pond ice.

The swimming tank is in great requisition, and is a perfect success. Its dimensions are 76 feet by 15, with a depth of nearly six feet. A full supply of water is brought from the outlet of Polk and Otey Springs, which together form a considerable stream, which passes through the tank, keeping the water fresh and cool.

Perhaps the most valuable of the many improvements ... has been the erection by J. W. Hayes, Esq. of a most complete and valuable steam saw mill, with its various appendages. The engine is of about 50 horsepower, tubular flue boiler, self-setting saw carriage, 48-inch circular saw, with cut-off saw attached. This power is also used to run a planer, tongue and groove, and lath machine. Besides this, a shingle machine, which will cut one to two thousand shingles per hour, is run in the same place. In the second story there is machinery for the manufacture of doors, blinds, sash, brackets, mortising, and tenon work, and moldings of all kinds. On the third floor, power is applied to a grist mill."

New Summer Messenger Intern

The Sewanee Mountain Messenger welcomes Sarah Beavers as its newest summer intern. She will be working in the Messenger office one day a week, editing copy and also gathering information for The Mountain Now website. She will be writing stories for the paper. This summer she will attend the Sewanee Young Writers' Conference in Creative Non-Fiction and the Tennessee Young Writers' Workshop.

Beavers is a rising senior at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School. She hopes to study Chinese and maybe economics in college the following year. At SAS, Beavers is an Honors Student, Proctor, a member of SAS Theatre, and is on the varsity track and field team. She has received SAS Chinese academic honors.

She is the daughter of Kiki and Ben Beavers of Sewanee.

School Board Meets in Regular Session

The Franklin County school board met in regular session on May 13 to discuss volunteer award recognition, a historical marker and changes to teacher evaluations.

Sewanee resident Karen Keele was nominated for a school volunteer recognition award, sponsored by The Tennessee School Boards Association. Keele was nominated for her volunteer program at Sewanee Elementary School. Keele organizes a tutorial-enrichment program matching retired citizens with students who need extra academic help.

The Sewanee Civic Association has requested to be allowed to proceed with the application for a Tennessee historical marker at Sewanee Elementary School since the SES school property is deeded to Franklin County. The historical marker will commemorate the 50th anniversary of the desegregation of Sewanee Public School.

During the Tennessee General

Assembly, a few changes were made to the teacher and principal evaluation process. Teachers who do not have an individual growth score will continue to use the preselected school-wide growth score. The student growth measure will now be weighted at 25 percent; observation of classroom will be 60 percent; and student achievement will be 15 percent. There is no change for teachers who have an individual growth score. Local education agencies can allow teachers with individual growth scores of "4" or "5" to use those scores for 100 percent of their overall level of effectiveness. Special education students will now be included in the calculation of individual growth scores. This bill is not yet signed into law.

The next school board meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m., Monday, June 3, at the board office, 215 S. College St., Winchester.

OVERTIME

by John Shackelford

How do you tell a story when there are so many moving parts? When there is not one climax but more ups and downs than my recent diets? When there are a host of heroes and plenty of villains? When the ending is simply a new beginning? When losing is a time to discover what victory really is?

Nine Sewanee women sat exhausted on the Emory tennis courts in the fading light Sunday afternoon. Conchie and I asked them to take a deep breath and soak in the moment and relish what they had just been through over the previous 36 hours, and then on second thought, maybe consider what they had endured over the entire preceding week. They needed to take a breath and realize that a better, stronger, more talented Emory team had just beaten them in the third round of the NCAA championships. There was victory in that moment. Victory of balance. Victory of perseverance. Victory of spirit.

Let's back up to Friday at 1 p.m. Conchie left campus in a van headed for Atlanta with only half of the women's tennis team aboard for the most important tournament of the season, the national championship. With our blessing, her seniors remained behind to enjoy graduation events with friends and family on this special campus. The following morning our team was scheduled to compete against rival Washington and Lee University, which was ranked 16th nationally. We had barely edged them out three weeks earlier on these same courts in a six-hour marathon by a 5-4 score. Around midnight Eastern Time, the Sewanee seniors and I arrive at the hotel. Wake-up calls are scheduled for 6 a.m.

As the match begins, Sewanee's seven days of intense doubles practice throughout exam week begins to pay off as the team improbably sweeps the W&L team for a 3-0 lead. As we begin singles play, 3-0 quickly turns into 3-1, 3-2, 3-3, 3-4, as our singles players were overmatched by a very talented and hungry team determined for revenge. Freshman Annie Veron breaks through with a straight sets win to tie the score at 4-4. Only one match remains on the court and it is fellow freshman Lindsey Liles. In a tiebreaker, it is the first player to reach seven points and you must win by at least two. When you reach that moment, no matter how much preparation you have given to your craft, your elbow becomes a concrete-filled appendage incapable of fluid movement. Hitting a serve that is routine in practice becomes a Herculean chore. Lindsey succumbed to her own humanity and double-faulted not once, but four times, with the match on the line. Despite those setbacks she fought brilliantly to an 8-7 advantage. Needing to serve out the match I suggested an underhand serve circa Michael Chang in the 1989 French Open. There was much debate about the tactic in the quick seconds that followed. Lindsey missed her first overhand serve, and only one final opportunity remained. Conchie looked her player, who was still unsure of what to do, directly in the eye and instructed, "Do it!" The serve found its target and three shots later, the Tigers were mobbing Lindsey at midcourt and headed to Sunday's final.

Let's back up again to Thursday evening. Dean Larry Jones sends an email to senior and number two player Jenny Liles. "Jenny, can we meet tomorrow morning?" When you have a 4.2 GPA and the Dean calls with 72 hours to go before graduation exercises commence, you have a feeling that this might be good news. Larry graciously agrees to share his announcement with Jenny an hour later so that she can add a valedictory address to her schedule of activities for Sunday. One problem. Sewanee's graduation and the third round match are both Sunday morning and 180 miles apart. Emory agrees to hold the final until 3:30 if we win. IF??

Wyatt Prunty advises me to call Rebecca Gibson and book a charter flight to Atlanta that will take only 45 minutes. I have no budget left to pay for the flight, but forgiveness is easier than permission, right? Let's go. Rebecca is game, and the plane is gassed up and ready to go from Sewanee International.

Back to Saturday and the mob at midcourt. The seniors quickly change into sundresses and head back up I-75 for Sewanee. They are hosting a party at the Assembly in four hours. The party breaks up around 10 p.m., and Jenny needs to write a speech. In typical fashion of a perfectionist, she shows up at the chapel Sunday morning ready to practice. The five players back in Sewanee load their gear into my minivan, and I head back down I-75 with rackets, but no players. Conchie takes her two athletes out to the Emory courts to warm up. Emory has 10 girls out on the court crushing the ball and looking for blood.

Jenny is back in Sewanee reminding her classmates that wherever they land, wherever they live, wherever they love, they will never be alone. They are Sewanee, and they are family. Three hundred and thirty one diplomas later and a brief lesson in history from McCardell, the girls are out the chapel door and into Jenny's father's suburban. With a police escort cutting through downtown traffic, the entourage heads to the awaiting plane. Susan Askew, Parker Oliver and Robert Black ensure that the team enjoys every moment and gets off safely. Conchie glances at her watch in Atlanta and wonders if she will have enough players for the pre-match introductions.

These remarkable five women spill out of the plane like a host of clowns exiting a tiny Volkswagen. Moments later they are changing in the van and realizing Jenny remembered her speech but not her shoes, and Julia Wood remembered her uniform but not her underwear. After a warm-up that was about 55 minutes too short, the girls gave their all in one final effort together.

Robert Black gives me a call to be sure everyone arrived safely. "They are thankfully all here, but it would be great if you could help me raise funds for this flight before I get fired for giving it the okay." Robert sends a touching email to the 1990 Hall of Fame women's tennis team, of whom his lovely wife, Kelly, was a member. Within minutes the former greats are fully funding the current player's trip through the air.

We lost the match. Somehow, I think we all won.

NATURENOTES

By Harry and Jean Yeatman

Cedar Waxwing. Photo by U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Northeast Region

Cedar Waxwings

Jean Yeatman learned from Connie Gibson that when she drove up to her house a few weeks ago, she was amazed to see what she thought were two tall, slender holly trees quivering. As she got closer, a flock of Cedar Waxwings flew out of the trees. They had been eating the holly berries. When Connie came out 15 minutes later, the trees were completely stripped of berries.

The Cedar Waxwing is a crested brownish bird with yellowish underparts, a black mask about the eyes and a yellow-tipped tail. The adults usually have waxlike red appendages on a few of the wing feathers. This is how they get their name. They are about 6.5–8 inches long.

These birds go around in great flocks, and are very irregular and erratic in their annual and seasonal occurrence. They go where a supply of food is found. They eat a variety of wild and cultivated fruits and berries, some insects, caterpillars, and in spring they eat the buds from fruit trees. Cedar Waxwings breed over much of North America, from Quebec southward to northern Arkansas and North Carolina, and winter throughout nearly all of the states and south to Panama.

Billy

Kitty Kitty

Pets of the Week

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Billy is a handsome hound-mix who wants some active people to play ball and jog with him. He plays well with other dogs and enjoys being outside. Billy is up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Kitty Kitty is a pretty light Calico girl who likes people, but prefers to be the only pet. She will enjoy a quiet home or mousing on a farm. Kitty Kitty is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Please help the Humane Society continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to P. O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Recycle Printer Cartridges and Toner for the AASC

The Animal Alliance-South Cumberland (AASC), a low-cost spay/neuter group, encourages area residents and businesses to recycle printer ink cartridges and toner. Cartridges may be dropped off at Regions Bank in Sewanee, Piggly Wiggly in Monteagle, the South Cumberland and Grundy Farmers' Markets, May Justus Library-Monteagle, the South Cumberland State Park Welcome Center and the Clifftops office or Clifftops guardhouse. Funds generated through this program will be used to fund AASC operational expenses and spay/neuter surgeries.

Contact Judy or Greg Magavero at (931) 924-3118 for information about recycling ink cartridges. For more information on the spay/neuter program, visit <www.animalalliancesouthcumberland.org/>.

Sort Recycling With Care

BARDTOVERSE

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

In memory of Anita Goodstein (Sept. 12, 1929–May 12, 1998)

When I am dead, my dearest,
Sing no sad songs for me;
Plant no roses at my head,
Nor shady cypress tree:
Be the green grass above me
With showers and dewdrops wet:
And if thou wilt, remember,
And if thou wilt, forget.

I shall not see the shadows,
I shall not feel the rain;
I shall not hear the nightingale
Sing on as if in pain:
And dreaming through the twilight
That doth not rise or set,
Haply I may remember,
And haply may forget.

—“Song” by Christina Rossetti
