Who Should Lead This Year's Parade?

The Sewanee Fourth of July Committee is seeking nominations for the Grand Marshal of this year's Fourth of July parade.

If you would like to nominate someone, please send their name, contact information (with their permission) and the reasons you think they should be Grand Marshal.

This year's theme is "Razzle Dazzle Fourth of July." Please send your suggestion to Jade Barry at <jademcbee@gmail.com> or to Bill Barton at <billbarton1@bellsouth.net>.

The next Fourth of July planning committee meeting will be at 5:30 p.m., Tuesday, June 3, in the Sewanee Senior Center. Future meetings will be on June 10, June 17, June 24 and July 1. This is a great way to make new friends, give back to the community and help with this great Sewanee tradition.

Participants at the recent Cub Scout ceremony

Local Cub Scouts Earn Arrow of Light

At a recent ceremony at South Cumberland Recreation Area, seven area fifth-graders were awarded the Arrow of Light, Cub Scouts' highest honor, and were each presented with the Boy Scout Handbook. These boys have worked diligently for five years to fulfill the requirements of the award and are looking forward to Boy Scouts.

SAS seniors at Honors Day

Council Encouraged to Embrace Community-Based Solutions

DREMC & CAC Describe New Projects

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the May 19 meeting, the Sewanee Community Council heard from Michael Watson, CEO of Duck River Electric Membership Corporation (DREMC), and Betty Carpenter, director of the Community Action Committee (CAC). Watson introduced a new DREMC program aimed at curtailing electricity costs, and Carpenter invited the council and community to join with the CAC in helping to break the cycle of poverty in the Sewanee area. In other business, the Council appointed an election officer and approved a change to the bylaws.

DREMC is a customer-owned energy distributor with more than 71,000 members in a six-county area covering 2,800 square miles. DREMC is committed to "enhancing the quality of life for its members," Watson said, quoting from the mission statement. DREMC recently launched a new program, "Beat the Peak," offering members an opportunity to take an active role in reducing the demand-based cost of electricity. (See story on page 6.)

Giving a brief overview of the CAC's history and work, Carpenter said the organization got its start 40 years ago, when Marilyn Powell began collecting and distributing day-old bread. The CAC is a ministry of Otey Parish and now serves more than 300 people, regularly providing groceries and in some cases, help with paying utility bills. The CAC serves the Sewanee and Sherwood areas. Ninety-four percent of CAC clients are below the poverty level.

The CAC recently provided two families with flocks of chickens and other clients with container gardens, Carpenter said, calling attention to new programs. Plans also call for training volunteers to conduct energy assessments to help clients reduce utility costs.

Sewanee Gardeners' Market Opens Saturday

The Sewanee Gardeners' Market, open every Saturday morning from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. in the summer, will have its opening day on Saturday, May 24. The market is located on Highway 41A next to Hawkins Lane and the Mountain Goat Trail.

This week, in addition to locally grown vegetables, flowers, plants, homemade items and meat, the Sewanee Garden Club will be selling locally grown plants from members' gardens from 8 a.m. until noon. They will also have books, containers and garden decorations for sale. Plants will include coneflower, feverfew, hosta, campanula, sunflower, viburnum, pink phlox, quince, golden seal, Italian arum, oakleaf hydrangea, red/yellow columbine and redbud saplings.

Proceeds from the Garden Club's sale will benefit local projects such as the Shakespeare Garden in Sewanee.

For more information call Judy Magavero at (931) 924-3118.

DOG PARK ETIQUETTE

To the Editor:

First, a big "thank you" to all who continue to support the Phil White Dog Park. Although still small, the two new trees in the big park appear to have survived and there is more grass!

Now to the big favor. Please do not throw non-poop trash in the poop container. Aluminum cans can be recycled for money that goes back into the park's operating fund. It would also be great if park guests could take any trash out when they leave, or throw it away in either of the two containers nearby (to the right as you leave and at the end of the road as you leave).

We hope that in the future we may have the funds to make additional purchases for the park. Until then, everyone pitching together makes the park more enjoyable for all. Thanks and have a great summer!

Chair, Dog Park Board ■

ARMING THE USDA?

To the Editor:

I cannot describe in words what I feel when I read this USDA quote.

Editor's Note

The Messenger is taking a one-week break and will not publish an issue Friday, May 30.

We will return to the office on Monday, June 2, and will be back in print on Friday, June 6.

As we move into June, please let us know if your organization's meeting schedule changes. By doing so we can ensure that our calendars online and in print will be accurate.

Enjoy the unofficial beginning of summer on the Mountain!

Corrections

There were two errors in last week's issue of the Messenger.

Independent candidate Russell Baker will face Democrat Clint Shrum in the August election for Grundy County sheriff. For more information about Baker go to < www.bakerfor-grundysheriff.com >.

July 30 is the correct date of historian Michael Bradley's day-long tour of Nathan Bedford Forrest's West Tennessee Raid. For more information contact Bradley at (931) 808-1941 or email <michaelrbradley@lighttube.net>.

We regret these mistakes.—LW

Milton Schaefer (standing, left) and Ed Crenshaw, from the Winchester Rotary, visited Sewanee Elementary School in early May and distributed dictionaries to the third-grade classes. This project is in conjunction with Nissan North America.

<www.fbo.gov/index?s=opportunity&mode=form&id=9fc3a01217d03b0354e1e18b69aa7bad&tab=core&_cview=0> the request reads:

"The U.S. Department of Agriculture, Office of Inspector General, located in Washington, DC, pursuant to the authority of FAR Part 13, has a requirement for the commercial acquisition of submachine guns, .40 Cal. S&W, ambidextrous safety, semi-automatic or two-shot burst trigger group, Tritium night sights for front and rear, rails for attachment of flashlight (front under fore grip) and scope (top rear), stock-collapsible or folding, magazine—30 round capacity, sling, lightweight, and over-sized trigger guard for gloved operation."

Various agencies of the United States federal government have been on similar and equally disturbing buying sprees with taxpayer money printed from the Fed that continues to nosedive further into the red on the accounting ledger.

Agriculture is a cabinet position and the secretary serves at the pleasure of the president of the United States of America. While I don't think I am fully qualified to understand arming rebels in a dozen different countries (a policy of the White House occupant), I am qualified to state that the Department of Agriculture does not need submachine guns.

This isn't farm equipment, and not snow plows, or street sweepers. These are the weapons of war.

TOUCH-A-TRUCK THANKS

To the Editor:

On May 17 the Sewanee Children's Center hosted a Touch-A-Truck, featuring more than 18 different cars, trucks, service and utility vehicles. The event was a fund-raiser for the school, which serves preschool students in the Sewanee area and is supported by the Community Chest. After months of planning, rain threatened to ruin the day; however, the Sewanee community rallied to make the event a success.

The parents, teachers and board at SCC would like to thank everyone in Sewanee and the neighboring areas for coming out to support the school. The fund-raiser would not have been possible had it not been for the generous support of those who donated the use of their vehicles, as well as the local businesses who made in-kind donations. A dedicated team of parent volunteers and our wonderful teachers graciously offered their time and talent.

Special thanks go to: McClurg Dining Hall, Taylor's Mercantile, the Lu Family, Merissa Tobler, the Sewanee biology department, Bill Mauzy, Sewanee Emergency Services, Christie Pierce, Chip Manning, Heather Eslick, and Rob Matlock, as well as Lee Pettes from Duck River Electric. The Sewanee Police Department went above and beyond the call of duty, helping with setup, clearing the parking lot and providing the children with a chance to explore their police truck. We would also like to extend our gratitude to our generous event sponsor, the Piggly Wiggly in Monteagle.

Thanks to everyone for their support of the Sewanee Children's Center.

Woman's Club Closes Season

The Sewanee Woman's Club finished up its year of lively programs on May 12 with professor Sid Brown's talk about spirituality and non-human animals.

The Woman's Club announced that Janet Graham was the recipient of the 2014 Honorary Member award.

"Janet's many contributions to the Sewanee community and especially the Sewanee Woman's Club made her the perfect choice for this year," said Pixie Dozier in her announcement of the award.

Graham and her family arrived in Sewanee in 1995. Since then, she has volunteered for many organizations on the Mountain, including the Bridge assisted living center, Sewanee Civic Association, Sewanee Community Chest, the Community Action Committee, Stephen Ministry, the Sewanee Garden Club and the Woman's Club.

"We are eternally grateful for her willingness to produce the Sewanee Woman's Club yearbook for many years. Thank you for your continued involvement in the Sewanee community and beyond," Dozier said.

Graham is the advertising director and co-publisher of the Sewanee Mountain Messenger.

Since 1930, the SWC members and guests meet on the second Monday of each month for lunch and a lecture, except for the summer months.

Lecture on the Future of Anglican Liturgy

Louis Weil will lecture on the “Challenges and Possibilities in the Anglican Liturgical Future” at 7 p.m., Wednesday, June 18, in Hamilton Hall’s Hargrove Auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

Weil will be in Sewanee as a guest instructor for the School of Theology’s 2014 Advanced Degrees Program session. There will be a reception immediately following the lecture, where Weil will sign copies of his books.

Weil is the Hodges-Haynes Professor Emeritus of Liturgics at the Church Divinity School of the Pacific, where he began teaching in 1988. Prior to that, he had taught for seventeen years at Nashotah House in Wisconsin. He began teaching in 1961 as a member of the faculty of El Seminario Episcopal del Caribe, in Carolina, Puerto Rico. He is a priest of the Episcopal Diocese of California.

Weil was born in Houston, Texas, in 1935, and received his undergraduate degree at Southern Methodist University in 1956. He received a master’s degree in musicology at Harvard in 1958 and then entered the General Theological Seminary, where he received a bachelor’s in sacred theology in 1961. At that time, he accepted an assignment as a missionary priest in the Diocese of Puerto Rico, where he served congregations in the central mountains. During those same years he was teaching at the seminary near San Juan.

In the field of liturgical studies, Weil’s interests have been wide-ranging, with a primary focus upon the sacraments of initiation and the Eucharist. Other interests have included the place of children in the worshipping community, and the relation of the arts to Christian faith and practice. His published books include: “Liturgy for Living,” co-authored with the late Charles P. Price (Seabury Press, 1979; revised second edition, 2000); “Sacraments and Liturgy: The Outward Signs” (Blackwell, 1983); “Gathered to Pray” (Cowley, 1986); and “A Theology of Worship” (Cowley, 1986). His most recent book, “Liturgical Sense,” was published by Church Publishing in 2013. That same year, at its meeting in Montréal, the North American Academy of Liturgy named Weil the recipient of its Berakah Award for his contributions to liturgical studies.

Church News

Bible Baptist Church

Bible Baptist Church invites friends and guests to a special service, Youth Sunday, at 11 a.m., on Sunday, June 1. The guest preacher will be Ben Brewer, and young people will perform music. The service will be followed by a meal.

Bible Baptist Church is located at 360 Wells St., Monteagle. For more information call (423) 322-4922 or (423) 451-0133.

CAC Pantry Sunday June 1

Pantry Sunday for the Community Action Committee (CAC) is Sunday, June 1, for participating churches: St. James, Otey, Cumberland Presbyterian and All Saints’ Chapel. Please bring your food offerings to Sunday services. For more information contact the CAC at 598-5927.

Christ Church, Monteagle

Christ Church Monteagle will celebrate Rogation Sunday on May 25. “The title for this Sunday came from the Latin word for asking or beseeching,” Fr. Stan Matthews said, as he was preparing his sermon for the service at Christ Church this Sunday.

Christ Church Monteagle will also offer a special service on Ascension Day, at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, May 29. Ascension Day is always 40 days after Easter Day, and Christ Church hopes that members of other churches in the surrounding area will share in the service if they do not have one of their own.

Harrison Chapel

Harrison Chapel Methodist Church will have a Homecoming on Sunday, May 18. Bro. Matthew Meeks will be guest minister. The Sullivans from McMinnville will be special singers. Lunch will be served about 1 p.m. For more information call Ann Pack at 598-5359.

Midway Church of Christ

Midway Church of Christ will have a Gospel Meeting May 18–21. Colly Caldwell will preach on the topic “The Unique Christ.” Meetings will be at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m., Sunday, May 18; and 7 p.m., Monday–Wednesday, May 19–21. Midway Church of Christ is located at 151 Otter Falls Road, Sewanee.

Otey Memorial Parish Church

Otey Parish will have a special service at 12 p.m., Thursday, May 29, for Ascension Day.

The Faith and Film series will resume at 6:30 p.m., Friday, May 30, in Brooks Hall. The group will watch “Chariots of Fire,” share light refreshments and have a discussion following the movie, hosted by Amy and Isabel Patterson.

Vacation Bible School is right around the corner. Plan to attend from 9:30 a.m. to 12 p.m., July 7–11. This year’s theme is “Workshop of Wonders – Imagine and Build with God.” Children age 4 (who have had structured preschool) to those entering grade 5 are welcome as campers. Youth entering grades 6–12 are welcome as guides and helpers. This is a community-wide event on St. James campus and sponsored by Otey Parish, St. James and the Southeastern Tennessee Episcopal Ministries.

St. James Episcopal Church

Bring the family and friends at 5:30 p.m., Friday, June 6, to St. James Episcopal Church on Midway Road for “First Friday Fun.” Bring potluck goodies to share and prepare to laugh, enjoy and experience a new side of your sisters and brothers in Christ. All are welcome.

Carpenter provided council members with information on ways individuals can help fight poverty and encouraged the council and community to work with the CAC to find solutions. (See "Ten Things You Can Do to Fight Poverty.")

The council selected Theresa Shackelford to serve as election officer for the November Council member elections.

At present, the population is not evenly distributed in the four districts which elect representatives to the council. A committee, composed of council representatives Pam Byerly and John Flynn, Superintendent of Leases Barbara Schlichting and Provost John Swallow, is researching possible changes to district boundaries. The committee is also looking into altering the council's composition to include more student and at-large representatives.

The council approved a change to the bylaws, modifying the meeting schedule. The change stipulates meetings will "occur on the fourth Monday of the month, as needed," rather than on "the fourth Monday of every month except July and August."

The next meeting of the council is June 30.

"Beat the Peak" Program Helps Manage Electricity Costs

DREMC is contractually obligated to purchase all of its electricity from the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA). Michael Watson, CEO of DREMC, described how the co-op pays TVA more for electricity in different seasons and at different times of day. The cost TVA charges varies from $.07-$.075 cents per kilowatt-hour to as much as $9.50 per kilowatt-hour in peak demand periods, to account for the higher expenses incurred by TVA to meet peak demand.

TVA must maintain production capacity sufficient to serve energy needs in high-demand periods, even though much of the time the facilities sit idle, Watson said. When need exceeds peak demand, which occurred last winter, TVA must purchase electricity from for-profit electricity producers.

Voluntary-use reduction during peak demand periods can significantly reduce what DREMC's pays for electricity and, so, reduce electricity costs for DREMC members. Customers who sign up for the "Beat the Peak" program receive an email or text message alerting them of predicted peak demand events. Participants can then take actions to reduce their usage during the peak demand period, usually for a two-hour interval. Possible energy efficiency measures include turning down thermostats in the winter, turning off air conditioning in the summer and turning off water heaters.

Peak demand periods are forecast based on weather predictions and people's behavior patterns. More than 14,000 DREMC customers have joined the "Beat the Peak" program. To sign up for "Beat the Peak" notification ask for a registration form at the local DREMC office, visit the DREMC website <www.dremc.com>, or return the registration form [below] to any DREMC office.

Ten Things You Can Do to Fight Poverty

1. Volunteer your time and energy to CAC. Tell us when you are available and we will do our best to connect you with an opportunity.

2. Each time you buy a bottle of shampoo or deodorant, buy another and donate it to CAC.

3. Organize a canned goods drive in your school or group. Collect and deliver the items to CAC. Help shelve the things you have collected.

4. Tell your friends that hunger issues are important to you. Put a CAC bumper sticker on your car, notebook or bike. Carefully consider the food you buy and consume.

5. Educate yourself about hunger and poverty in Tennessee by going to <www.secondharvestnashville.org> or learn about hunger and poverty worldwide at <www.one.org>.

6. Begin a Giving Jar and collect your pocket change for CAC.

7. Shop local. Buying locally and eating locally supports local farmers and businesses that are vital to our community.

8. Make a financial donation to CAC to honor a special person or a special day.

9. Send an email to <cacoteyparish@gmail.com> with your ideas, visions and suggestions.

10. Pray for the work of CAC, for our clients that we serve and for all who are in need or hungry.

A VIEW FROM THE DUMP

by Francis Walter

My own view of our Sewanee Dump is admittedly different from that of those inside the waste management bureaucracy. Carol Fulmer, regional administrator for Solid Waste Authority of Winchester, summarily dismissed my column of March 7, 2014, writing to the Messenger, "I found very little of this to be correct." She went on to declare that her organization today provides a "clean, user-friendly place for citizens to participate in recycling and disposal of waste." My view is that new and accurate signage for users and operable equipment are necessary in order for the Sewanee Dump to be clean, user-friendly and to promote improved recycling.

I stated in my column that wet cardboard cannot be recycled. I was wrong about that. I misunderstood a conversation between Tommy and an employee of Waste Management.

A few days ago I began an effort to broaden my view and learn more about waste management at our Dump, including disposal of plastic. I located the site of the Franklin County Waste Management operation. Boy, is it well-kept! The office seemed deserted, but soon a woman appeared and introduced herself as Carol Graham, the assistant manager. She seemed sad. When I asked if I might speak with the manager, John de Moll, she said that Mr. de Moll had died the previous week. As we were talking, people were coming in to offer condolences. I expressed my sympathy and said I would come back later, but she invited me into her office.

Ms. Graham agreed with me that the truck to pick up the cardboard bins was inoperable; however, she said a bid to replace it was going through shortly. She also agreed that cardboard bins need replacing. But acquisition of these bins and a "sideloader truck" will have to wait until the next fiscal year.

I accepted her offer of an extended tour of the facility in operation and look forward to reporting what I see firsthand.

Monteagle Chamber Elects New Board Members

The Monteagle Mountain Chamber of Commerce hosted its annual meeting and election of new board members on May 15.

The 2014-15 board members include: Mike Roark, Darren Hulan, Ben Farmer, Boo Beavers, Sue Herrick, Cindy Day, Barry Rollins, Jim Harmon, Mary Jane Flowers, Lex Orr, Ty Burnette and Ex Officio, Mayor Marilyn Rodman.

Mary Jane Flowers and Jim Harmon returned to serve three-year terms, and Lex Orr and Ty Burnette will join the chamber board as new board members and will also be serving three-year terms.

The Chamber is grateful to June Weber, who has completed her board term, for her service and support of the community.

Welcome, summer residents.

The center is located at 5 Ball Park Rd., behind the Sewanee Market. To reserve a meal or for more information, call 598-0771.

Memorial Day Closings and Events

Memorial Day is Monday, May 26. All federal, state and county offices will be closed, including banks and post offices. Other closings include the University and St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, the Senior Center and the Community Action Committee.

Crow Creek Valley Community Center will host a Memorial Day flag raising at 12 p.m., Monday, May 26. A potluck lunch will follow in the pavilion. A remembrance ceremony for Crow Creek Valley residents who died in the service of our country will be at 2 p.m. in the Mountain View Cemetery. Twenty-two names are listed on a memorial monument in the cemetery, and there will be a short biographical reading on each person.

For more information or to make a donation to the Mountain View Cemetery fund, contact Danny Cunningham, 9191 Sherwood Rd., Sherwood, TN 37376.

There will be a Memorial Day service at 10 a.m. at Franklin Memorial Gardens in Winchester to honor and remember those who have served our country in the armed forces.

Refreshments will follow the service.

SAS Class of 2014 Garners Record Merit Awards

Thirty-nine members of the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School Class of 2014—71 percent of the class—received merit awards from colleges and universities hoping to lure these scholars to their campus. The merit awards totaled a record $4.3 million and ranged from $2,000 to $128,000.

Students received merit awards valued at or above $100,000 at Stetson University, Bard College, Davidson College and Ohio Wesleyan University. Merit awards came from as far away as Occidental College in Los Angeles and University of Puget Sound in Washington State. Three or more students received merit awards to Birmingham-Southern University, East Tennessee State University, Lewis and Clark College (Oregon), Macalaster College (Minnesota), Middle Tennessee State University, Tennessee Tech, University of Memphis and University of Tennessee. Nine students received merit awards for a total of $236,000 from the University of the South.

"It is great to see our students' hard work recognized and rewarded," said Christine Asmussen, SAS director of college counseling. "SAS graduates are an asset both in the classroom and in campus leadership. Their success has built us a strong reputation in admissions offices across the country."

SAS's full-time college counselor works with students to help them identify the best fit for their interests, abilities and family finances.

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School <www.sasweb.org> is still accepting applications for the 2014–15 academic year.

Texas Avenue Closed for Construction

Due to construction, the University will close Texas Avenue in front of the Career Services office (adjacent to the Fowler Center) on Wednesday, May 28. The road will remain closed between two and seven days, depending on how the project progresses.

Local traffic and construction traffic will be rerouted via Louisiana Circle and Gipson Lane. The Fowler Center parking lot will remain open during the work.

Sewanee Police remind residents to exercise caution in construction zones and detour routes.

CONVENIENCE/RECYCLING CENTER HOURS

The Convenience Center for household garbage, trash and recycling is located on Missouri Avenue. Its regular hours are: Monday, 1–6 p.m.; Tuesday through Friday, 3–6 p.m.; Saturday, 8 a.m.–4 p.m.; Closed Sunday. Closed on national holidays. Ashley will attend Berry College, where she received a Tuition Exchange scholarship.

Eliza McNair, daughter of Emily and Sam McNair, was the recipient of the Head of School's Award at the recent Honors Day. Eliza was inducted into Cum Laude and was recognized for her service as a Proctor. She was co-recipient of the Rosie Paschall Visual Art Award. Eliza served on the Honor Council and as an SAS Ambassador. She was a member of the varsity swimming and soccer teams. Eliza received a National Merit Scholarship and plans to attend Wellesley College.

Sherwood

Taylor Ballard, daughter of Suzanne and Lebron Kilgore, served as an SAS Ambassador. Taylor was the coordinator of the Pink Out Day for breast cancer awareness and was the leader of the pep club. She was a member of the basketball, soccer, tennis, and dance teams. Taylor interned with Congressman Scott DesJarlais and volunteered at Sewanee Elementary School and Safe Haven, a local animal shelter. Taylor will attend the University of the South.

Winchester/Decherd

Anna Ellison, daughter of Kerry Gibson and Odis Ellison, received academic distinction on the Honors List. Anna was a member of the cast for several theatre productions, including Oliver! and The Ants. She participated in the farm and aerobics afternoon programs. Anna conducted an independent study on filmmaking. Anna was awarded a Merit Scholarship to attend Aquinas College.

Mitchell Foster

Mitchell Foster, the son of Kim and David Foster, lettered in varsity track and cross country. He received the Most Improved and Coaches' Awards for cross country and competed in the TSSAA Cross Country Regionals in 2013. Mitchell is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and has earned his Eagle Scout distinction. He will attend Tennessee Technological University.

AT THE MOVIES

SEWANEE UNION THEATRE

Thursday–Monday, May 29–June 2, 7:30 p.m.

Need for Speed

Rated PG-13 • 132 minutes

“Need for Speed” zooms from its very popular video game format to a big-screen movie without much success. In the game, players drive cars through cities and in conditions that challenge their skills. In the movie, it just isn’t so interesting. Aaron Paul (from “Breaking Bad”) stars in this action drama, but even his charm and charisma cannot save the movie. If you like the game, you’ll probably like the movie. Rated PG-13 for sequences of reckless street racing, disturbing crash scenes, nudity and crude language.

SEWANEE UNION THEATRE

Thursday–Monday, June 5–9, 7:30 p.m.

The LEGO Movie

Rated PG • 100 minutes

If you think LEGOs means “kid movie,” you will miss out on one of the spring’s best films, albeit an animated one that uses plastic figures to tell its story. “The LEGO Movie” is a simple story: a regular guy (well, a LEGO minifigure) learns he is the key to saving the world. The movie follows his hilarious and surprising response to his new calling. With great voice casting (Will Arnett, Will Ferrell, Morgan Freeman, Elizabeth Banks and Chris Pratt), this is one fun and wonderful movie not to miss. Rated PG for mild action and rude humor. —LW

Looking ahead, plan for movies at 7:30 p.m., on Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday evenings at the SUT:

“The Monuments Men” (PG-13) June 12–16

“Divergent” (PG-13) June 19–23

“Muppets Most Wanted” (PG) June 26–30

“Captain America: The Winter Soldier” (PG-13) July 10–14

Shakerag Workshops Celebrate 10th Anniversary

Shakerag Workshops will begin its 11th season this June with weeklong classes in a variety of art media. Held at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, Shakerag Workshops, an adult arts workshop program, has operated since 2004 with classes during the middle weeks of June. The two sessions of Shakerag Workshops, June 8–14 and June 15–21, attract about 150 participants from all around the United States.

“It has been exciting to watch Shakerag Workshops grow over the years,” said Director Claire Reishman. This year there are classes in two new media: a paper sculpture class called “Sculptural Approaches to Handmade Paper” taught by Erica Spitzer Rasmussen from Minnesota, and a class titled “Sculptural Weaving,” taught by Nathalie Miebach from Massachusetts. Other classes include book arts, jewelry, natural dyeing, pottery, painting, photography, sewing and digital arts. Teachers through the years have come from Australia, Scotland and France, in addition to all areas of the United States. Participants in 2014 include many local and returning students, as well as new students from throughout the country.

Shakerag Workshops attracts a diverse group of artists who enjoy the gourmet meals and social gatherings surrounding the classes almost as much as they enjoy the workshops themselves. Most classes are open to a wide range of participants, and beginners and professionals take classes together. The inclusive atmosphere of Shakerag is one of the hallmarks of the program, and teachers over the years have commented on the vitality of classes which include students with a variety of experiences.

“Though the program has grown over the years,” Reishman said, “we have worked to retain the sense of closeness among faculty and students that we had as a smaller program, and those who have attended classes say that they leave Shakerag feeling refreshed and energized to continue developing their artistic interests.”

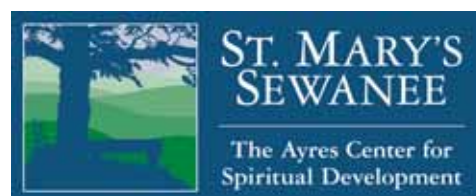

Workshop participants and the general public are invited to attend artists’ talks at 7:15 p.m. each night during the workshop, in McCrory Hall on the St. Andrew's-Sewanee campus. The Shakerag Lecture Series, with guest speakers, is at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday evenings in McCrory Hall, followed by a reception in Simmonds Hall.

This June, Shakerag faculty member Debra Frasier, author of the children's books “On the Day You Were Born” and “Spike, Ugliest Dog in the Universe,” will speak on Wednesday, June 11. On Wednesday, June 18, historian Jon Meacham will be the second Shakerag lecturer.

The Shakerag Workshops website, <www.shakerag.org>, has more information and a detailed description of the program. Applications are still being accepted for both weeks of workshops; local applicants may receive a 35 percent discount in tuition and meals. For more information contact Reishman at 598-5651, ext. 3165, or email her at <info@shakerag.org>.

Angel Park Summer Plans

The dates and musicians for this summer's Sewanee Angel Park concerts have been set. All the concerts will be 7:30 p.m.–9:30 p.m., on four Friday nights. University Avenue will be closed to through traffic, and local restaurants will have food and drink for purchase.

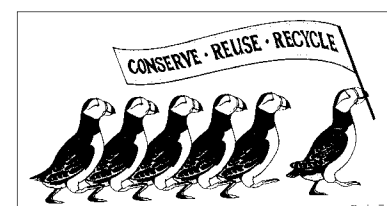

On Friday, June 20, Towson Engsberg & Friends will perform; June 27, Southern Proof; July 11, Hard Times Band; and July 18, Boy Named Banjo. Plan to bring a blanket or lawn chair and come enjoy music with community friends. These concerts are organized and sponsored by the Sewanee Business Alliance.

Call for Sales Gallery Exhibitors

The Cumberland Farmers Market (CFM) will host a sales gallery exhibit featuring the work of area artists in conjunction with Taste of the Market, 12–4 p.m., Saturday, June 28, at the Sewanee Community Center. The CFM is seeking exhibitors to display their work.

Taste of the Market is an opportunity for the community to sample the Market's products and to meet the CFM growers and producers, who will be on hand to answer questions about what goes on behind the scenes at their farms and home kitchens. The event is free and open to the public.

To register as an exhibitor contact Art in the Market coordinator Leslie Lytle, <sllytle@blomand.net> or (931) 592-6594. Deadline for registration is June 14.

Summer Reading Program

The Sewanee Parent Organization and the Sewanee Elementary School library are sponsoring the SES "Summer Super Reader" reading incentive program.

Students who will be in first through fifth grades next year are encouraged to read frequently this summer and keep a record of the books they read. In the fall, special prizes will be awarded to students in each grade who read the most.

Summer reading logs can be found on the website of Sewanee Elementary School, < www.edline.net/pages/sewanee_elementary_school>.

"Dixie Swim Club" Comedy in Tullahoma

For its final season performance of the year, Tullahoma's Community Playhouse will presents the heartwarming comedy-drama "The Dixie Swim Club." Performances will be at 7:30 p.m., Thursday-Saturday, May 29-31, with a 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday, June 1.

The play is set on the Outer Banks of North Carolina where five Southern women, whose friendships began many years ago on their college swim team, set aside a long weekend every August to recharge those relationships. Free from husbands, kids and jobs, they meet at the same beach cottage to catch up, laugh and meddle in each other's lives. Dixie Swim Club focuses on four weekends and spans 33 years.

The play begins with their 22nd reunion when they are 44 years old and portrays them again at 49, 54 and then at 77 years old. As their lives unfold and the years pass, these women increasingly rely on one another, through advice and raucous repartee, to get through the challenges that life flings at them. And when fate throws a wrench into one of their lives, these friends rally together with the strength and love that takes this comedy in a poignant and surprising direction.

Tickets are on sale now and can be purchased directly online at the playhouse website, <www.communityplayhouse.org>, or reservations can be made by calling (931) 455-0620 or (931) 581-7767. Tickets are $12 for adults, $10 for seniors and students, and $8 for children.

LOOKSATBOOKS

by Pat Wiser for Friends of duPont Library

A new "winter" to me: A friend's grandfather referred to the last cold snap of the season, when stumps were chopped apart for one last round of firewood, as "stump winter." As the last winter fades and the summer sun beams down on our mountain, what will you be reading?

For younger readers, consider Aaron Welch's report that his 10-year-old daughter, Autumn, enjoys their reading the "Chronicles of Narnia" series by C. S. Lewis. A bit of discussion and light explanation works well for this classic fantasy which appeals to children and adults. Also engaging boys and girls ages 8-12 (and parents and grandparents) is "The True Blue Scouts of Sugar Man Swamp," a favorite of Emily Hermann's Children's Literature students. Kathi Appelt's latest cast of raucous characters includes raccoon brothers on a mission to save their swamp from various calamities.

Once again Messenger readers suggest revisiting literature from an earlier time. Joe Porter is reading Flannery O'Connor's work, finding himself surprised at how different his responses are after 40 years away from her writings. Emily Hermann is enjoying Jane Austen for "the 30th time." She is right to stick with the originals. I found Joanna Trollope's contemporary version of "Sense and Sensibility" possibly worthy of a D-minus from an easy grader.

Reading along with my niece's American literature course (and enjoying Irving, Hawthorne, Poe and Dickinson again) inspired me to get "Margaret Fuller: A New American Life," by Megan Marshall. Fuller was an important transcendentalist whose contributions were largely overlooked by scholars in favor of Ralph Waldo Emerson, Henry David Thoreau and others of their era. An astute reviewer of this highly readable account describes how Fuller "rushes out at us from her nineteenth century, always several steps ahead."

I also found the carefully researched "Jane Addams: Spirit in Action" by Harriet Knight to be interesting and uplifting. This wealthy woman chose to establish and live out her life in Hull House, an early settlement house which provided food, child care and educational programs for poor immigrants. When her activism moved to the world stage, she won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1931.

A pleasant biographical surprise to Joe Porter was "Ike's Bluff: President Eisenhower's Secret Battle to Save the World" by Evan Thomas. Joe said that the well-written narrative, filled with interesting new material shows that this president was much more complex than history credits him.

My own biography stack grew taller when I added "Salinger" by David Shields and Shane Salerno. I'm hopeful that the decade of research, more than 200 interviews and multiple photos will give added insight into this enigmatic writer.

From a world far from Updike's came Sally Hubbard's emails during a month in Uganda volunteering at Canon Gideon Byamugisha's boarding school for students age 14-20 who are orphaned or otherwise affected by AIDS. Sally wisely took her e-reader device and six books to read under her mosquito net at night. She took three about African history, including "Blood Diamonds: Tracing the Deadly Path of the World's Most Precious Stones" by Greg Campbell and three novels for relaxing after intense days. Elizabeth Kostova's "The Swan Thieves," centers on a painter who attacks a painting in the National Gallery of Art. It appears on summer reading lists, including mine. Sally is glad to have a "real" book in her hands again for flipping backwards for the author's bio, checking notes and no worries about chargers, the same reasons I still prefer hard copy to digital format.

World traveler and Sewanee Watson Fellow DeAndré Espree-Conaway, now in New Caledonia, sends his latest read: "Dying Words: Endangered Languages and What They Have to Tell Us," by Australian National University linguistics professor Nicholas Evans. DeAndré describes it as "somewhere in between text and trade book . . . with a lot packed into it that makes it less than an easy read, but written in a nice informal style." Safe travels, DeAndré!

After less intense days than DeAndré or Sally's, many of us relax by reading mysteries. I discovered Susan Hill's Detective Chief Inspector Simon Sellairrler series during the bleak midwinter and found them engrossing and not as frustrating as did some readers (who dislike Hill's tendency to leave loose ends of plot). Meandering through Sellairrler's small cathedral town could be a pleasant summer pastime. Or visit the canals, cobblestones and gory murders of Venice in Donna Leon's newest Commissario Guido Brunetti treat, "By Its Cover."

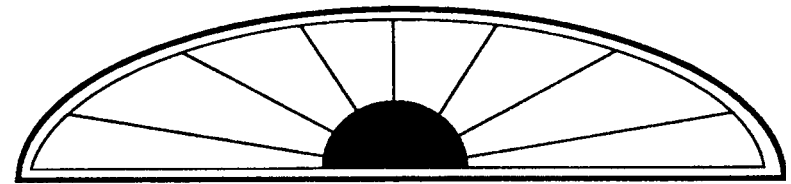

What's on your list? Where to start? Remember to find time to read, read, read to the children in your summer.

The Art of Sewanee History Reception at Local Eateries

Crossroads Café and IvyWild restaurants will co-host a reception from 4 to 6 p.m. on Sunday, May 25. John Bordley will speak on the history of the site of both restaurants, the former Sewanee Steam Laundry.

Bordley will present photos, clippings and a wealth of rich history about the people and events surrounding this Sewanee institution. His talk will begin at 4:30 p.m.

A reception honoring Bordley, featuring items from both Crossroads Café and IvyWild, will follow the presentation. All are welcome.

SAS Runners at Regionals

Two St. Andrew's-Sewanee School students participated in the TSSAA Division II-East regional track and field meet on May 16 in Chattanooga.
Ninth-grade student James Beasley of Atlanta came in first in 300m intermediate hurdles with a time of 42.31. Beasley broke his own school record by nearly a second and advances to the state finals on May 23 in this event. He came in second in 100m high hurdles, 16.80, again breaking his own school record by a good margin.
"James is one of the hardest working athletes that we have had come through SAS," said SAS athletic director Rob Zeitler. "He sets the example for his teammates when it comes to effort and commitment to the team. He is a pleasure to coach."
Eric Baynard, a ninth-grade student from East Point, Ga., came in second in the decathlon. Coach Molly Schaefer describes this race as "a grueling series of 10 events over the course of two days that requires a well-rounded athlete." He earned a score of 4,131, establishing a school record.
Eric also came in third in 300m intermediate hurdles with a time of 44.26, and fourth in the pole vault by clearing 9'0".
Overall, the SAS boys' team came in third in regionals, beating out the Webb School of Knoxville.

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School director of athletics Rob Zeitler presented awards at Honors Day to Jenna Burris of Manchester for Best Female Athlete and J.R. Clay of Pelham for Best Male Athlete.

HEARING HEALTH NEWS
by Debbie Gamache,
M.S. CCC-A Audiologist

FINE-TUNING HEARING

Noise-induced hearing loss destroys high-frequency hearing, while leaving low-frequency hearing intact. This makes it difficult to hear the high-pitched conversation of women and children. The newer digital hearing instruments can be programmed to make a distinction between high- and low-frequency sounds, fine-tuning hearing specific to your hearing loss. Enjoy hearing your spouse, friends, children and grandchildren!

Hearing loss varies by type and degree. To find the most appropriate hearing instrument for your particular needs, depend on the services of the audiologist at Debbie Gamache's The Hearing Center LLC to perform an accurate hearing evaluation to determine what is best for you. Call for an appointment today, (931) 393-2051. You can visit our website at <www.thehearingcenterllc.com>.

Sewanee Soccer Coach Publishes First Book

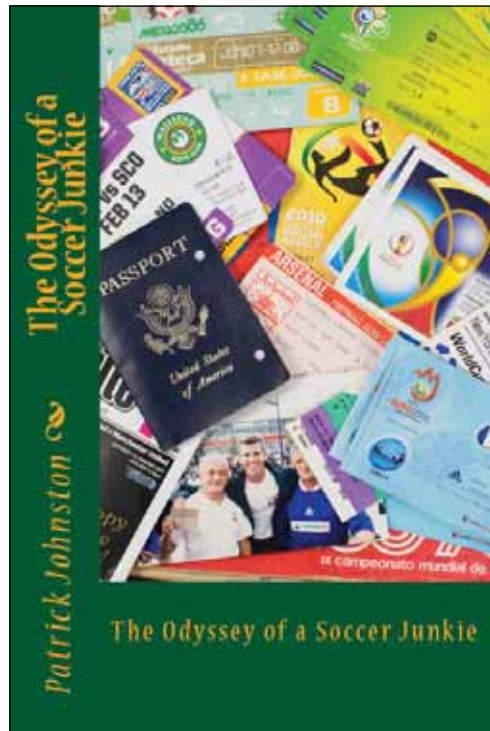

Sewanee head women's soccer coach Patrick Johnston announces the publication of his first book, "The Odyssey of a Soccer Junkie."

Born in Miami, Fla., in 1964, Johnston grew up with the traditional sports of Americana culture. He abandoned all of these for soccer at age 16. After a career as a professional soccer player in England and the United States, he married and settled into the working world as a building contractor. He would spend more time on the soccer fields of the American South while coaching youth than on any job site or office. In 2009, Johnston found his calling as the head coach for the Sewanee Tigers.

Johnston has a bachelor's degree from Duke University and a master's in creative writing from the University of the South. A freelance photojournalist since 2007, he has published in magazines including Success in Soccer, Inside Soccer and Tennis Life. He is also a regular contributor to <www.soccer365.com>.

"The Odyssey of a Soccer Junkie" takes readers along the evolving journey from a startling innocence into a pragmatic adventurer chasing the beautiful game. This heroic journey promises to entertain you with facts, feats, and levity while displaying adventurous escapism at its finest.

It is available for purchase at major online retailers. For more information go to <thelanguageofsoccer.com>.

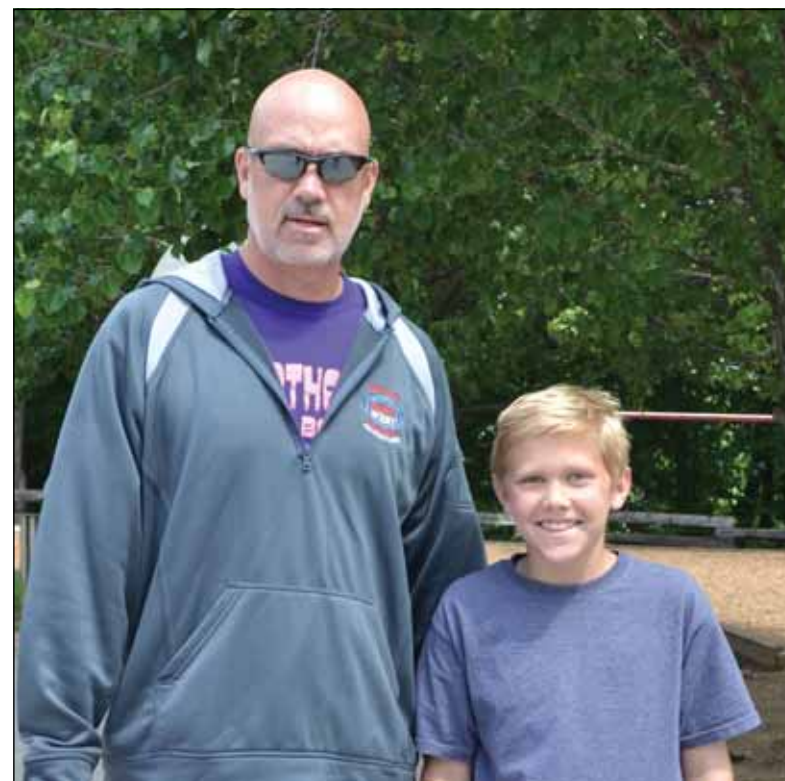

Golfer Javadi Sixth at NCAA Tourney

Sewanee sophomore women's golf student-athlete Emily Javadi closed out her second straight NCAA Division III women's golf national championships with a sixth-place finish at Mission Inn Golf and Tennis Resort at El Campéon in Orlando, Fla.

Javadi, who entered the tournament ranked eighth nationally, finished with a four-day 315. After an opening-round 81, the Chattanooga, Tenn., native fired back-to-back rounds of 76 and then finished with an 82 on Friday.

With her finish, Javadi set new school records with her 72-hole scoring total and top-10 finish. Last season, Javadi shot a 317 at the NCAA championships and finished tied for 18th.

Sewanee Elementary School fifth-grade student Porter Neubauer (right) set a record in the annual Mile Run organized by PE teacher David Gilliam. Porter's time of 6:23 beat the old record of 6:25.

Bow Wow 5K Run for Animal Harbor

The second annual Bow Wow 5K Run, organized by the Bon Temps Club of Franklin County, will be Saturday, June 21, at Winchester City Park.

All proceeds will be used toward the building of Animal Harbor's new shelter.

Registration ($25) starts at 7:30 a.m. on the day of the event. The run begins at 8 a.m. Pre-registration guarantees an event T-shirt. Register at local veterinarians—Animal Care Center, Mid-town or Town and Country—or register online at <www.active.com>.

NATURENOTES

By Jean Yeatman

A Great Day for Wildlife

"On May 17," Jean Yeatman reports, "Mary Vance and I drove down to the Stevenson, Ala., wildlife impoundment to see how the great blue heron and osprey nests were doing. As we drove up to the lake, there were a number of great egrets fishing in the shallow lagoon."

"Then we noticed a large number of swallows and chimney swifts skimming the ground after clouds of insects rising from the grass. Some of the swallows were perched on a power line, where it was easy to distinguish the tree swallows, with their dark bluish backs, white breasts and short tails, from the beautiful barn swallows, deeply blue above, orange-buff below, chestnut throat and long, deeply forked tails."

"We put up the spotting scope to check on the great blue heron nests across the lake, and discovered the young down on the lake bank feeding with their parents. When we looked at the osprey nest it was raining, and we saw the head of an adult osprey on the nest, brooding whatever was in the nest. Another adult osprey was perched on a power pole nearby."

"On the way home we drove up into Sinking Cove and saw two beaver near a stream, looking over some trees to maybe cut. Then we saw two fox squirrels, so we had a very nice day viewing animals in spite of the rain."

Hawk Watch 2014

The Plateau's forests are noisy this time of year. It's breeding season for Sewanee's raptors, and you can hear their calls both day (red-shouldered hawks) and night (barred owls) in our neighborhood, reports John Willis. The two species coexist, sharing hunting grounds and prey, but nesting in different trees.

Sometimes the young make it out of the nest a bit too early. This happened last weekend near Running Knob Hollow Lake. Two young red-shouldered hawks made it to ground, but only one lived through the experience. The survivor spent the weekend avoiding predators—mostly by remaining still in the leaf litter—and waiting for a parent to bring food. A number of snakes were consumed, with the parent tearing reptiles into small pieces for its fledgling, then feeding it beak-to-beak.

Adult Red-Shouldered Hawk

These hawk fledglings were probably scared from their nest by a predator. Raccoons are a persistent threat and have raided more than one nest in this area. The debris dropped from nests (the bones, skin and tissues of their prey) alerts raccoons to a hawk brood overhead. On May 20, one of the adult hawks attacked a raccoon in a nearby oak tree for hours, trying to knock it to ground and scare it away from the breeding area.

These photographs show one of the adult red-shouldered hawks, the fledgling just after landing, and a snakey Sunday afternoon snack.

"Hike 'Em All" Set for TV Filming

On the next "Hike 'Em All" trek, participants will have the chance to be a TV star and take a memorable hike.

Tennessee Wild Side (the top-ranked outdoor show that airs on PBS) is shooting footage for a story on the Friends of South Cumberland's Hike 14 Challenge.

Meet at 9 a.m., Friday, May 30, at the Stone Door Ranger Station to take part in Hike No. 6: Greeter Falls Loop and Laurel Trail. This is a seven-mile moderate hike with some steep climbs, including the staircase at Greeter Falls. The group will visit Blue Hole, Upper and Lower Greeter Falls and Boardtree Falls. All actors and hikers are encouraged to come! Wear a "Hike 14" T-shirt if you have one.

In February the Friends of South Cumberland initiated the "Hike All 14 in 2014" Challenge to introduce people to each of the 14 hikes listed in Mary Priestley's guide to hiking in the South Cumberland State Park, "Hike Em All."

For more information go to <www.friendsofsouthcumberland.org>.

Pets of the Week

Meet Cookie and Tommy

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Cookie is a sweet Shih Tzu mix who has the best temperament and attitude. He's not as fragile as most little fluffy dogs since he weighs 23 pounds. Cookie is up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Tommy may look like a plain black kitten, but when you look closely you'll see that he has very attractive classic Tabby stripes. Cats like Tommy are called "ghost Tabbies." He's a real character: jumping, climbing and playing with anything not bolted down. Tommy is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>.

Summer Energy Tips

Summer is on the way and with it higher temperatures and higher electric bills. When searching out information on the best way to lower your energy use and electric bills, you often find conflicting information. Sequachee Valley Electric Cooperative would like to help clear up some of the energy efficiency myths with "just the facts."

Myth: When I'm not home, keeping my air conditioner at a lower temperature throughout the day means it doesn't have to run harder to cool my home when I return.

Fact: To save energy, set your thermostat to a higher temperature during the day, and lower it when you return home.

Myth: Closing vents on my central air conditioning system will boost efficiency.

Fact: Closing vents can cause the compressor to cycle too frequently and the heat pump to overload. You'll also use more energy.

Myth: Time of day doesn't matter when it comes to running my appliances.

Fact: Time of day does matter when running electrical loads. For example, take advantage of the delay setting and run your dishwasher at night to avoid peak times of use and save energy.

Myth: Bigger is always better when it comes to cooling equipment.

Fact: Too often, cooling equipment isn't sized properly and leads to higher electric bills. A unit that's too large for your home will not cool evenly and might produce higher humidity indoors.

If you are serious about improving the energy efficiency of your home, call or stop by your local electric cooperative office and ask about the In-Home Energy Evaluation Program.

Remember, investments in energy efficiency save you money every month on your electric bill and over time will pay for themselves.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Memorial Day, May 26, 2014

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
in Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe;
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
in Flanders fields.

—“In Flanders Fields”
