Unchallenged candidates in the primary who have no opposition in August include: Johnny Hughes, County Commission District 5, Seat A; Randy Kelly, county trustee; Philip Custer, county clerk; Joe David McBee, road commissioner, Districts 1 and 5; and Sandy Gilliam, constable, District 5.

SES Read to be Ready Summer Camp

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

Read to be Ready isn't "summer school" insisted director Barbara King, who for the second year will head up the four-week summer program at Sewanee Elementary School. "We want it to feel more like a camp," King insisted. "We want kids to discover reading is fun."

The themes of the program—nature, farm, science and sports—find expression in the books volunteers read to the children during breakfast and lunch and in the hands-on activities children engage in. This year's campers will make tie-dye T-shirts, birdhouses, and seed planters, and go on field trips to Falls Mill, the University Farm, and Abbo's Alley.

Activities in the literacy component of the program include reading aloud and shared reading, writing workshops, journaling, readers' theater, and taking weekly field trips to the Franklin County Library and May Justus Memorial Library in Monteagle. Children will also visit duPont Library at the University of the South.

All children participating in the program receive 10-15 free books to keep, King said. Geared to rising first through third graders, SES teachers recommend students for the programs based on need.

Monteagle Police Stop Drug Traffic; City Pursues Enforcing Screening Ordinance

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the April 30 Monteagle City Council meeting, Police Chief Virgil McNeese updated the council on a year-long narcotics investigation leading to six arrests.

"We were able to sever a major line of methamphetamine coming into the city," McNeese said. Assisted by the Tracy City Police and Drug Task Force, law enforcement seized more than 10 ounces of methamphetamine from Georgia destined for Tracy City and Monteagle.

Turning to another legal issue, Alderman Ken Gipson inquired about the progress in a case citing Rocky Top Truck Stop and Wrecker Service for violation of the fencing ordinance requiring "junked vehicles and other such properties... be screened from view."

Cited for violation of the ordinance, Rocky Top owner Rodney Kilgore appeared in city court in November. The judge fined Kilgore $50 a day and ordered the case be bound over to Chancery Court.

Kilgore has not paid the fine.

"The issue is what does 'screened from view' mean," said Codes Enforcement officer Earl Geary. "It means 'can't be seen from anywhere,' I think." Kilgore has a fence at the back of the property, but semi-trucks waiting to be serviced are highly visible.

"If a person in violation of the ordinance doesn't pay, what is the next step?" asked Alderman Ron Terrill.

Geary will contact city attorney Harvey Cameron to inquire about the city's options for recourse if the fine is not paid and for clarification on the meaning of the language "screened from view." Cameron drafted the ordinance.

In other business, the council approved Vice-Mayor Jessica Blalock's recommendation to retain a Tampa Bay, Fla., vendor to erect the new playground equipment at Harton Park. The lowest of three bidders at $6,200, the company came highly recommended by Grundy County who used the installers when they refurbished county playgrounds.

The Council also approved purchase of a new tornado siren with a 15-mile radius from Sirens for Cities. Parts are unavailable to rebuild the 50-year-old siren currently used by the city, Mayor David Sampley said. Even within the downtown area, the siren can't be heard.

Village Update: Housing Study and Market Analysis Highlights

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the May Sewanee Village update meeting Special Assistant to the Vice-Chancellor Frank Gladu provided highlight from the recently released Housing Study and Retail and Housing Market Analysis focusing on aspects of the conclusions pertinent to the Sewanee Village Plan. Gladu is tasked with overseeing the plan, a blueprint for long-term development in downtown Sewanee.

Provost Nancy Berner charged the 12-member Housing Study Group, made up of University faculty and staff, to investigate housing needs in Sewanee. The group foremost recommended "that every University employee who wishes to live on the Domain should have the ability to do so."

To that end the group advocated increasing opportunities for homeownership by capping the number of homes owned by nonresidents; selling select rental units owned by the University; and prioritizing ownership opportunities for employees, followed by permanent residents, with nonresidents least favored.

The group also stressed the need to increase the number of available leaseholds, an initiative already underway. Rather than constructing new developments like Parson's Green and Wiggins Creek, Gladu saw the emphasis on "infill—creating new leasehold properties within neighborhoods with vacancies."

To improve the rental housing climate, the Housing Study Group recommended policy changes allowing tenure track employees to remain in rental housing until a year following the tenure decision and replacing the three-year limit on rental housing residence with a more lenient year-to-year rental policy. Anticipating the recommendation, Provost Berner recently announced all third-year renters could

GRIEF

To the Editor:

we grovel in the entrails, the inner embodiment, blood-oil of revolution. silences are within a slow turning, of degradation and humility. a sense of unworthiness amidst the abstract demands of consciousness. how did this lack of conscience creep into our harbors? into each lonely heart obeying mental capacities for swiftly moving thoughts? to act as a subterfuge of aligning feelings and meanings? we are all victims of our grieving but to look into the faces of others, of ourselves, our ghosts, our shadows, the lights and darkness of our spiritual selves trying to rise, we see the scars and wounds, generations upon generations of threats and violence, deaths too soon that become the face of tragedy. an old drama: grief upon grief, a play within a play, of wordplay ...

what, in deed, is missing in those principles bestowed to us given unto the mountain of our abiding, that if one is wounded in any way, so are we all lost. loss, apparent! what is missing?

what are these hard iron weapons that we so quietly, quickly betray everything of our souls so willingly, those warnings given in all other revelations seemingly, constantly, ignored? What is the coveting? Where is the source?

FOURTH OF JULY PARADE

To the Editor:

Thirty-two years ago, a little town on a big mountain had the best Independence Day celebration ever. Families and friends lined the street to celebrate America! America!, its spacious skies, its amber waves of grain, and of course it foggy mountains majesties. There was music, dancing, cake-decorating contests, cat and dog displays of prowess, delicious food and drink, and of course a parade. And there will be again! We invite everyone far and wide to Sewanee Wednesday, July 4, for an all-day commemoration of who we are and what it took to get here, and we're calling this party, From Sea to Shining Sea.

We've been working for months on the biggest, best, most arms-open-wide parade Sewanee has ever seen. Of course, there'll be fire engines, police cars, the grand marshal (soon to be announced), candy galore, and this year we want you and your organization to crown thy good with some brotherhood (and sisterhood) in our parade!

There are so many creative ways to strut your stuff up University Avenue and they range from traditional and elaborate to simple, elegant, memorable, and bizarre. Anything with wheels is good: flatbeds, cars, convertibles, golf carts, wagons, wheelbarrows, bikes, big wheels, scooters; but on foot (or hooves) could be even better, especially if you've got a colorful banner (and/or signs, big hats, confetti, giant pinwheels) declaring who you are and what you do for this diverse community. As co-chairs of the parade committee, Lane Beaumont and I will do all we can to help you find materials and get you organized on parade day.

The parade begins at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, July 4, with line-up on Lake O'Donnell Road starting at noon and ending at 1 p.m. This is when and where the judging will be: trophies for best float, best decorated vehicle, and best horse; and blue ribbons for best decorated bicycle, best banner, and best costume.

If you're interested in showing how your organization keeps alive the American spirit of opportunity and hope for all, please fill out an entry form. All entrants must fill out and submit an entry form before the Fourth of July. There are two ways to submit your entry form: in the From-Sea-to-Shining-Sea jar at the Blue Chair or by email <leighannecouch@gmail.com>. Entry form is currently available on <www.sewaneemessenger.com>.

YES FOR LITTER PICK-UP

To the Editor:

I was so pleased to learn that the Community Council is sponsoring this Saturday's roadside litter pick-up event! I have been appalled this year by the amount of trash on the sides of Sherwood Road as well as other roads leading into Sewanee. We picked up what we could, but it was too much and too constant. I remember when then-Council member Arthur Knoll organized one every year. Might the Council return to doing this as an annual event, possibly calling it the Arthur Knoll Litter Pick-up Day?

COMMENT ON HONORARY DEGREE

To the Editor:

Here comes an announcement from the University that Condoleezza Rice will deliver the Baccalaureate address and receive an honorary degree in May's 2018 commencement. The announcement came as most of us are recovering from Charlie Rose fatigue and aren't sure it's worth the effort to be critical. Perhaps that was the intent, to catch us "aslumber."

Secretary Rice was one of the chief architects of Bush II's disastrous Mideast policy, along with Cheney and Rumsfeld. The Afghan/Iraq wars are the longest in our country's history. We are still paying in terms of money and human lives. Whether our incursion into Iraq was the result of incompetence or lies is now beside the point. The Mideast is in turmoil, for which Secretary Rice is partially to blame. Some of us, I hope, still believe an honorary degree should in some way have a connection with honor. There was nothing honorable about Sec. Rice's tenure at the Dept of State and later as National Security Advisor. As one Sewanee undergraduate put it, "I guess the honor code doesn't apply to lying about weapons of mass destruction."

"Ecce Quam Bonum?" Hardly. But what liberal cannot feel somewhat guilty about criticizing such an accomplished and successful woman of color? I do.

However, I also feel the University should not be honoring a career that was so obviously misguided and has had such far-reaching, negative consequences.

I believe Sewanee has a particularly exemplary record in the awarding of its honorary degrees to men and women who have brought distinction to themselves and to the University we love. Past recipients include Desmond Tutu, Jessye Norman, Walker Percy, David Halberstam, Henry Louis Gates, Eudora Welty, Verna Dozier, William Fulbright, John Hope Franklin, Madeleine L'Engle, Lorin Maazel, and a few assorted Archbishops of Canterbury, to name just a few. To add Sec. Rice's name to that list seems all the more glaringly wrong. Those of us who were privileged to hear Diane Nash speak recently are probably thinking what a wonderful choice she would have been to recognize with Sewanee's highest honor.

NO SNAP INCENTIVE

To the Editor:

A USDA ruling has forced the South Cumberland Farmers Market (SCFM) to cancel the SNAP Incentive which would have made SNAP (food stamp) customers eligible for up to $10 worth of free fruits and vegetables each week. SCFM has honored SNAP customers' EBT payments for more than two years. After losing its EBT machine during last year's Community Center theft, SCFM purchased a new machine and pursued reauthorization. The day before the SNAP Incentive was scheduled to begin, the SCFM received word its authorization to take SNAP payments had been revoked meaning SNAP customers could not use their benefits to purchase fresh, locally grown food at the market. Due to SCFM's online ordering system, the USDA Food and Nutrition Service ruled SCFM was not a farmers market but rather a type of "nontraditional business" classified as a "Shopping Service." The SCFM remains committed to providing the community with fresh, locally grown fruit, vegetables, and meat. Thank you for continuing to support SCFM. You are "the force that through the green fuse drives the flower."

CHAPLAIN RESIGNATION

To the Editor:

The Rev. Patrick Conroy has served in the House of Representatives as Chaplain for seven years. Among his duties is offering a daily prayer. A House chaplain has never been fired. Last week Republican House Speaker Paul Ryan, lacking power to fire Fr. Conroy, forced him out by demanding his resignation without any justification. Then Speaker Ryan attempted to conceal that he had initiated Fr. Conroy's resignation. Fr. Conroy's understanding of Speaker Ryan's motive for dismissing him is that on the morning the House voted on the tax bill, granting huge breaks for rich corporations at the expense of the country, Fr. Conroy prayed, "May Congress's efforts these days guarantee that there are not winners and losers under new tax laws, but benefits balanced and shared by all Americans." Afterwards a staffer came down and said to Fr. Conroy, "We are upset with this prayer; you are getting too political." Then Speaker Ryan himself told him, "Padre, you just got to stay out of politics." (New York Times, April 27, 2018 edition.)

Speaker Ryan's spokesman AshLee Strong claimed that Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi's signed-off on Ryan's asking Fr. Conroy to resign; however, Pelosi's office denies that, adding, "Fr. Conroy's abrupt, unjust dismissal is hard to understand and impossible to support. Democrats attempted to establish a panel to investigate Fr. Conroy's dismissal, but Republicans tabled the motion."

Republicans in word and deed have declared they have had all they can stand of liberty and justice for all.

Church News

All Saints’ Chapel

Next Sunday, May 13, the Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. in St. Luke’s Chapel, due to Commencement. On Sunday, May 20, the 8 a.m. service will resume in All Saints’ Chapel. The 11 a.m. service resumes on Sunday, June 3.

Christ Church

Christ Church Monteagle announces the upcoming Sunday, May 6, as “Rogation Sunday.” Contrary to popular belief, it has nothing to do with “going round and round” and everything to do with the Latin word “Rogare:” “to ask” ... “to beseech.”

Our ancestors knew that without good crops they would starve, and so they prayed for good weather and a good planting season. They did have processions around the parish property and in many cases around nearby farms.

May 10 is Ascension Day this year and there will be a service at noon on that day. The one Sunday in Ascension-tide is called “Expectation Sunday” since the great Feast of Pentecost is to follow.

We congratulate Dolores Snowden, who is a trustee of Christ Church, on her retirement after her many years of service in the Admissions Department of the University of the South.

Christ the King

Christ the King Anglican Church located at 1231 Cumberland St., Decherd, invites you to their third annual Pork Loin Cookery, Bake Sale, and Yard Sale. The yard sale is 8 a.m.–noon, Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5. The pork loin sale is noon–3 p.m., Saturday, May 5. These will be cooked and ready for pick-up, and cost $25. The bake sale is 9 a.m.–2 p.m. in the Parish Hall on Saturday. A barbecue lunch serving pulled pork plates will be from 11 a.m.–2 p.m. Cost is $10 for adults and $5 for children 12 and under. Carry out will also be available.

The Daughters of The King

At 5:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 8, the Daughters of the King Rule of Life meeting includes prayer, service, being and seeing Christ in ourselves and one another (evangelism).

Otey Parish

This Sunday, the Lectionary Class will explore Sunday’s gospel, in the Claiborne Parish House, Adult Education Room. Children ages 3–11 are invited to meet their friends for Godly Play. Infants 6 weeks to children 4 years old are invited to the nursery beginning at 8:30 a.m. There will be nursery for both services and the Sunday School Hour.

On Thursday, May 10, at 5:15 p.m., there will be an intergenerational Holy Eucharist celebrating Ascension Day. A simple meal will follow; all are invited.

Adult Forum—Recognition and celebration of all those who have made presentations in the current year and will provide an opportunity to make suggestions for future programs. Members of the Christian Formation Committee will recognize each of the presenters in 2017-18 with a card and a gift. Forms for submitting comments and suggestions will be distributed. Coffee, tea, and a special homemade cake will be provided. ## Read Program (from page 1)

Tennessee established the Read to be Ready program in 2016. Test results showed less than half of third graders read at grade level and only one-third of economically disadvantaged third graders had achieved proficiency. These children were four times less likely to graduate from high school.

A $1 million gift from the Dollar General Literacy Foundation financed the three-year program. SES first grade teacher Barbara King learned about the Ready to be Ready grant opportunity in a newsletter from Commissioner of Education Candice McQueen.

It was King's first grant writing experience, and she confessed it was hard work, but well worth it. The children loved the program, King said. "They were always eager to come back the next day and so excited to get the books."

Inspired, King not only applied for a 2018 Read to be Ready grant for SES; she led a grant writing workshop for the other Franklin County elementary schools. Seven of the eight schools participated, and all seven applied for and received 2018 Read to be Ready funding.

In 2017, Decherd Elementary was the only other Franklin County school besides SES to offer the program. This year, Sewanee children's book author Mary Priestley will present a book writing workshop at Decherd Elementary in conjunction with a PEN Foundation opportunity, and King hopes to include a field trip to Priestley's workshop as part of the SES Read to be Ready experience.

Grant funding pays for field trip transportation, while the University of the South provides breakfast and lunch through the Summer Food Services Program of the South Cumberland Community Fund.

The 5-to-1 student teacher ratio allows for lots of special attention, King noted, with four SES teachers leading the instructional groups.

At breakfast and lunch, volunteers read aloud for 15-30 minutes. King welcomes anyone who would like to read. She also encourages community members interested in leading a hands-on activity to contact her. This year, in conjunction with the science theme, volunteer Sarah Rundle will present a program on Sewanee area rocks and minerals.

King extended thanks to the Blue Chair for ice-cream rewards for the first week of perfect attendance. King hopes to find other area businesses to donate attendance prizes for the other three weeks of the program.

Children receive a pre- and post-assessment to gauge changes in reading comprehension and vocabulary and a separate assessment to gauge changes in reading interest.

"We want children to develop a joy for and love of reading," King stressed, that's what the program is all about. To volunteer, contact King at <barbara.king@fcstn.net>.

remain for a fourth year.

Another rental housing recommendation proposed all full-time employees be eligible to rent, not just select classifications. And finally, the group recommended rental housing be managed by a full-time staff member devoted exclusively to that task.

The group also had suggestions for the Sewanee Village project, proposing in housing the emphasis should not be on design, but on affordable housing for employees. Regarding retail space, the group recommended incentivizing certain types of businesses.

Gladu supported the incentivizing proposal, but called it a "gray area. How do you decide who to incentivize?"

The Market Analysis undertaken to gauge housing and retail demand in the Sewanee Village in some respects paralleled the Housing Study group conclusions. Development Economist Randall Gross, who performed the analysis, compiled results from on-demand surveys and comparing markets in similar mountain region college towns.

During a five year period, Gross predicted a significant increase in demand for rental housing by 50-150 units and an increase in demand for owned homes by 120-195 units. Gross recommended the town planners lean toward small cottage type homes.

Asked if the Village project proposed a minimum square foot size for homes, Gladu said, "It will depend on the neighborhood. Everyone wants a picket fence and a yard," he conceded. "It's the American Dream."

On the retail spectrum, Gross projected an increase from the current 33,000 square feet to 65,000 square feet of retail business space.

"Retail space could double," Gladu said, "but not right now. You need people to have retail."

Gross proposed focusing on the part-time category of visitors and tourism. In support of the idea, Gladu said, "We need to develop some draw to encourage visitors from surrounding areas."

Gladu cited the Mountain Goat Trail and South Cumberland State Park and popular nearby attractions like Jack Daniels Distillery and The Caverns music venue.

Gross favored "an arts focus" for Sewanee.

Asked if increased tourism would benefit the University's exposure and enrollment, Gladu pointed to competition from other "institutions like us." "You have to sell yourself," he observed.

Gladu invited the community to stop by the Village Planning office on July 4. Gladu and town planner Brian Wright will be on hand before and after the parade to answer questions.

The next Village update meeting is scheduled for June 5.

In recognition of "National Volunteer Week," Southern Tennessee Regional Health System recently recognized their many volunteers in Sewanee. Volunteers donate countless hours in many areas of the hospital to help staff, patients and visitors. They also provide scholarships for employees and local high students pursuing a career in healthcare. The volunteers at STRHS are a vital and much appreciated part of the organization.

Memories in Fabric and Thread Workshop

Folks at Home will sponsor a free eight session workshop for seniors, "Memories in Fabric and Thread" from May 8 through May 31. This course encourages older folks to preserve and enhance meaningful mementoes or events in a small quilt format. Funding support is provided by Creative Aging Tennessee, a partnership of the Tennessee Department of Health, the Tennessee Commission on Aging and Disability, and the Tennessee Arts Commission.

Participants will learn a range of methods to preserve materials, images and small treasured objects. Techniques to be taught include designing through writing and sketching, foundation piecing, fabric collage using various adhesives and techniques, drawing on fabrics, new interpretations of hand embroidery, the use of embellishments, and finishing. Sewing skills are not required but a sense of adventure is a must.

Class size is limited to 12. Contact Folks at Home at <folksathomevista@gmail.com> or (931) 598-0303 for details and registration.

This course will be taught by Diane Getty, a local professional artist and teacher whose work can be seen on Facebook at Diane Getty Designs.

The low bidder at $9,894, Sirens for Cities offered the additional advantages of having a representative in Tennessee and providing a unit with no limit on how long the siren would stay on during extended emergencies.

Gibson raised a question about the police department hiring policy, citing the instance of a department employee recently booted up from part-time to full-time.

McNeese said William Barton was moved from part-time to full-time when another officer quit. McNeese noted that he didn't create a new position. In that case, he would have needed council approval for budgeting, McNeese stressed, and the opening would have been advertised in the newspaper.

During the Citizen Comments portion of the meeting, Monteagle resident Tony Gilliam said community members had voiced concern about the health of trees on Main Street that still had Christmas lights on them. Sampley replied the lights were difficult and costly to remove and couldn't be reused after removal. Sampley proposed the city look into getting more suitable lights with larger bulbs.

Resident Mike Roark who lives on 49 North Bluff Circle asked the council to correct inaccurate street signs or to rename the section of the street where he resides to Lee Avenue to clear up confusion. "Delivery people can't find my house," Roark said. Sampley and McNeese will review the signage. "Replacing the signs wouldn't be a problem," Sampley said.

The council meets next on Tuesday, May 29, instead of the regular meeting date on the fourth Monday.

Bowling Supports Legislation Concerning TNReady Assessments

The State Senate passed legislation last Wednesday, supported by Senator Janice Bowling (R-Tullahoma) to hold teachers and students harmless in the TNReady assessments conducted for the 2017–18 school year. The measure was adopted in an amendment to Senate Bill 578 on the final day of the 110th General Assembly.

"Our students and teachers have worked hard all year to prepare for these tests, and their work should not be penalized because of a cyber attack or any other system failure," said Senator Bowling. "This legislation holds them harmless."

The bill stipulates that no adverse action may be taken against any student, teacher, school, or LEA based on student achievement data generated from the 2017-2018 TNReady assessments.

Senator Bowling said she is continuing to monitor the situation closely and is in contact with the Department of Education and district teachers as an investigation has been launched into the matter.

The legislation comes after students in many Tennessee counties experienced problems with TNReady online testing this week, including a suspected cyber attack on Tuesday. Tennessee Education Commissioner Candice McQueen announced on Wednesday that she has asked the Davidson County District Attorney General to formally engage the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation and the State Office of Homeland Security in an investigation of the cyber attack. She also announced that she has engaged a third party with cyber security expertise to analyze Questar's response to the attack.

Commissioner McQueen has stated that there continues to be no evidence that any student information or data was compromised in the incident.

Senator Bowling also supported Senate Bill 1806 passed earlier this year placing a two-year moratorium on any additional statewide testing in Tennessee's K-12 schools. This legislation prevents any additional assessments from being implemented until the current system is operating correctly. That new law became effective on April 12.

Shakerag Workshops Offers Scholarships for Educators

Shakerag Workshops, an adult studio arts workshop program held at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School each June, is pleased to announce the availability of a limited number of full scholarships for educators. Recipients of these scholarships may take any of the available Shakerag classes, and all fees - tuition, meals, class fees, and housing if applicable - are included.

The Educator's Scholarship program began in 2017, through the generosity of a former Shakerag participant who writes, "I recognize the importance of teachers in our society and want to support those who teach." In June of 2017, 10 educators took a class in Mural Painting taught by Nashville artist Andee Rudloff. Each educator worked both collaboratively and independently in designing and painting a mural at St. Andrew's-Sewanee, and returned to their schools with inspiration and tools to share. As recently as April 2018, one of the participants led her elementary school community in the creation of a mural spanning an entire building facing the school's playground.

Shakerag director Claire Reishman said, "We are thrilled to be able to expand our scholarship program in 2018 to include a wide array of classes in many different media. We hope that educators who come to Shakerag will leave our program invigorated to develop their own work with students and emboldened to try new avenues of expression. We are grateful to our donor for making this opportunity available, and for being so supportive of both education and the arts. These scholarships recognize the importance of the arts in the lives of all young people, and Shakerag is happy to promote this opportunity for educators."

In 2018, Shakerag offers two sessions of classes, June 10-16 and June 17-23, and educators in all subject areas, as well as administrators and school staff members, are encouraged to apply. No experience in art is necessary to participate. "We hope that a wide variety of educators, with varying levels of experience, will decide to pursue this opportunity," said Reishman. Applications must be received by Shakerag by May 15 to be considered.

Educators who would like to apply should contact Shakerag director Claire Reishman directly, at <info@shakerag.org>. More information about Shakerag Workshops and course descriptions for 2018 classes can be seen on the Shakerag website <www.shakerag.org>.

Advanced Clay Works at St. Andrew's-Sewanee

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's veteran clay instructor, Burki Gladstone has decided to seize an opportunity. Earlier this spring, Burki approached the art faculty to discuss three students in her Advanced Clay class. The three were producing work of striking ambition and accomplishment and Burki wanted the work to be seen and celebrated. The art department quickly conferred and decided to host a three-artist exhibit profiling the work in the SAS Gallery.

The artists profiled in the exhibit are: Sarah Johnson of Greutli-Lager, Catherine Gray of Winchester, and Ryan Gertner of Nashville. Their vases, cups and bowls, featuring both soda-salt and traditional kiln firings, will be on exhibit through May 10.

The SAS Gallery is located on the campus of St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, in the center of Simmonds Building, at 290 Quintard Rd., Sewanee.

For more information contact Gallery Director Julie Jones <jjones@sasweb.org>.

ANGELWITH AN ATTITUDE

by Virginia Craighill

Dear Angel,

I keep seeing emails and signs around town about something called "The Big Shoot" this Thursday at the football field. Is this like the deer cull? Should I stay away?

Signed, Gun-Shy

Dear Gun-Shy,

If you happen to be in the area of the football field on Thursday morning, you might be wise to wear one of those neon orange hunting vests. The name "The Big Shoot" does make one wary of some kind of May Massacre, but it's really just Marketing Gone Mad. A title like "The Big Picture" would be much less angst-producing and would provide that warm and fuzzy Globalist / Humanist spin Marketing teams usually go for.

Apparently the entire campus—students, faculty, staff, and emeriti—is to show up on the football field May 3, at 11 a.m. for a group picture to celebrate "the 150th anniversary of the matriculation of Sewanee's first students." As it is, "The Big Shoot" happens on the sole Reading Day the students have before exams and graduation, thus negating the idea that these few precious hours are set aside for studying (re: cramming) for finals. I suppose it's also a kindness to the faculty, who, since classes are over, have nothing else to do but grade papers and tests, make up exams, go to committee meetings, or perhaps fly to an all-inclusive resort in Cancun.

If it really turns out to be a photo shoot and not an elaborate plan to cull pesky, expensive full professors, then it might be worth showing up just to see how they plan to organize this unruly crowd. And if you can't go, don't worry; you can look forward to the celebration of the 100th anniversary of Sewanee's first parking ticket in September, or the commemoration of the 125th anniversary of the first time a student asked for a paper extension. It's Sewanee, and we do love a celebration!

Signed, Angel

Johnson to Play for Sewanee

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School senior Sarah Johnson will continue her education and basketball career at the University of the South. Sarah is a four-year day student at SAS from Gruetli-Laager. She previously attended Swiss Memorial School.

A four-year varsity athlete in soccer and basketball, and co-president of the Barbell Club, Johnson is also an Ambassador for the admission office and a Proctor, the most respected leadership position on campus.

An enthusiastic and committed scholar, in addition to taking advanced classes in biology and statistics, Johnson is an outstanding artist in the school's pottery program. The school is displaying her clay pieces in the SAS Gallery for a special senior exhibition during May. Johnson plans to study biology and a second language in college, with the dream of becoming a doctor.

"Sarah's growth as an athlete at SAS has been amazing to watch," said athletic director Rob Zeitler. "She has dedicated herself to working hard in the weight room and on the court and now all that work has paid off. She has put herself in position to be a part of an up and coming basketball program in Sewanee. I know she is excited and honored to be a part of that Sewanee basketball team."

Sewanee is a NCAA Division III school and a member of the Southern Athletic Association.

Soccer Squad Stopped in District Quarterfinals

Grace Baptist of Chattanooga eliminated the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School boys' varsity soccer team with a "golden goal" in the district quarterfinal match on May 1.

The Mountain Lions lost the home contest 4-3 and ended the season at 5-7.

"Leave no doubt that we are the better team," urged SAS head coach Harrison Camp, while the Mountain Lions were up 2-0 at halftime.

Steven Zhu, a senior boarding student from Shanghai, China, converted a penalty kick in the first half to get SAS on the scoreboard after Iva Akiri, a senior boarding student from Nairobi, Kenya, was fouled inside the box.

Midfielder Gabe Stevens, a sophomore boarding student from Jacmel, Haiti, delivered a free kick that Zhu finished in goal for the Mountain Lions.

Grace Baptist got on the scoreboard in the second half, including goals off two rebounds and from messy action inside the box.

Stevens volleyed a cross from Akiri into the back of the net for SAS before

Yang Claims Title, SAS Tennis Players Compete at District

St. Andrew's-Sewanee senior tennis player Ester Yang avenged an earlier season loss to her Silverdale opponent to win the individual district championship in tennis on April 26.

Also at the District Two Tournament in Chattanooga, the SAS doubles team of Anna Post and Carla Hof finished third, defeating a Silverdale team to earn that spot.

Aubrey Black and Nathan King finished fourth in doubles for SAS, falling to the No. 2 seed from Chattanooga Christian School.

All five players were named to the All-District Team and advanced to the region tournament in Sewanee on May 3-4.

SAS coaches said the district players worked hard, felt happy about their play and represented SAS well at district.

The SAS girls' team had already claimed the district regular season championship prior to the individual tournament.

Previous SAS tennis matches

The SAS middle school tennis teams travelled to Manchester to take on Coffee County Middle School on April 16.

The varsity girls tallied 59 points to triumph over Franklin County (27) and Cascade (3).

The SAS varsity boys (42) handily beat Cascade (6) but finished behind Franklin County (54).

"It was an emotional competition," said SAS head coach Sam Montgomery. "We have an amazing group of athletes. It will be hard to see these seniors leave."

SAS earned top three finishes in the following boys' events: 800, second place, senior Jack Simons (Sewanee); 200, third, junior Davis Gill (South Pittsburg); 400, second, sophomore Eli Andrews (Sewanee); 100, third, Gill; 110 hurdles, second, senior Bailey McLean (Sewanee); 300, hurdles, second, McLean; 1600, third, freshman Michael Vaughn (Winchester); 3200, first, Andrews; high jump, first, senior Emmanuel Thombs (Raleigh, N.C.); shot put, first, junior Jalen Tillman (Parkville, Md.); second, senior Justin Elgouhary (Manchester, Tenn.); discus, second, Tillman, third, Elgouhary; and 4x100, first, Thombs, Elgouhary, Gill and freshman Curtis Gill (South Pittsburg).

their doubles match, and SAS won the overall match, 6-1.

The SAS middle school boys' and girls' teams hosted Westwood Middle School on April 10. The girls lost 6-1 and had a victory from the No. 2 doubles team of Sumpter/Cleek. Cleek also won her exhibition singles match.

The boys won their match 6-1 and King, Alex Brewster, Thompson, Crawford and Cleveland all recorded singles wins.

SAS also got exhibition singles wins from No. 6 Dylan Kiningham and No. 7 Alex Waldrup.

In doubles, the No. 2 team of Thompson/Crawford won their match.

On April 13, the SAS middle school tennis teams travelled to play Tullahoma Middle School.

The girls' team played well and worked hard but lost 5-2. Hannah Mullens won close matches at singles and doubles with partner Sarah Brewster.

The boys' team lost a hard fought match 6-1 with the sole victory coming from Crawford.

King and Kiningham lost close matches in singles.

The SAS boys' and girls' varsity tennis teams hosted Chattanooga Christian School on April 17. Yang, Hof and Jenna Black earned points in singles, and Hof and Post earned a doubles point as the Lady Mountain Lions won their match, 4-3. The boys' lost a well-fought match.

The SAS varsity tennis teams celebrated their seniors during a home match against Notre Dame on April 19. Graduating this year are Yang, Aubrey Black, John Grammer, Zhang

The championships are May 8-11 at Mission Inn Resort and Club in Florida. Symonds qualified after a second place finish at the SAA Golf Championships in Dickson, Tenn.

Zhang, Sarah Simons, Dustin Stensby and Christina Wheeler.

These players have contributed tremendously to the program and will be missed next year, coaches said.

The SAS varsity girls' team continued their winning ways with a 4-3 district win over Notre Dame. Picking up singles wins were Yang and Shackelford (in a third set tie-breaker). The teams of Yang/Shackelford and Post/Hof won in doubles. The boys continued to improve, had a great showing, but lost to Notre Dame, the best team in the district. Their hard work and great attitude are inspiring, coaches said.

The SAS varsity tennis teams travelled to Chattanooga State Community College to play Silverdale Baptist Academy on April 20. The girls lost their first match of the year, 4-3. Hof and Jenna Black picked up wins in the singles category and in doubles, Yang/Shackelford claimed victory. The girls finished the regular season tied for first in the district with CCS, but won the championship via a head-to-head win earlier in the season.

The boys played their best tennis of the season against Silverdale. Tim Nelson won his match at No. 5 singles. Aubrey Black at No. 1 singles and King at No. 2 singles both lost their matches in third set tie-breakers. Black/King at No. 1 doubles and Grammer/Stensby at No. 2, both lost close matches.

Sewanee Men's Lacrosse Drops Championship Match

The Sewanee men's lacrosse team suffered a 14-8 defeat to the hands of Rhodes College in the 2018 Southern Athletic Association Men's Lacrosse Championship match on April 28 in Memphis.

Rhodes (13-2) got the scoring started with a goal at the 11:10 mark. However, 10 seconds later, after Ryan Stubits won the faceoff, Thomas Lynde picked up the groundball and found the back of the net to even the score.

Rhodes took the lead a minute later, but Sewanee (10-7) evened the score with 8:37 left in the opening period. After a Rhodes penalty to put them mandown, Lynde took advantage with a man-up goal.

The teams traded shots for about a six-minute span, but the Lynx took the lead again with less than two minutes to go in the first.

After another Stubits faceoff win, Jimmy Parker evened the score again with a goal at the 1:10 mark.

The home team added a goal at the end of the period, and the momentum stayed in their favor, as they outscored their opponent 9-0 in a 37-plus minute span to seal the SAA championship.

Jake Vaughn tallied a hat trick to lead the Tigers, while Lynde scooped up three grounders and scored twice.

The Tigers' Bryce Womack (6-5) saved 11 shots in full time in between the net.

Stubits and Henry Burns of Sewanee both earned spots on the SAA All-Tournament Team.

NATURENOTES

Smokies Wildflower Pilgrimage

We were able to participate in the Smokies Wildflower Pilgrimage (last week) again this year. Spring seemed somewhat late compared to previous years at this time—very little in flower at the highest elevations and trees seen in flower two years ago, like silverbell, not seen this time. It was wet and rainy, but that is to be expected— the Smokies get more rain than anywhere else in the country except the Pacific Northwest and parts of Alaska. The great variety of climate conditions and topography in the Park, as well as the range in altitude of almost a mile, gives the Smokies a very high level of species diversity.

On a walk not far from Cade's Cove, one of the lowest spots in the Park, we saw many Catesby's trilliums, which are much more common in the Deep South and so are at the northern limit of their range. They have a white flower that nods below the leaves and turns a deep pink as it ages, giving it other common names, bashful trillium or rosy wake-robin. In Tennessee, they are frequent only in that area and in the Cumberland Plateau adjacent to Alabama—here! They may be seen on the Tom Pack Falls trail in the Franklin-Marion State Forest. On a trail not far from Newfound Gap, at the higher elevations of the Park, there were painted trilliums which are at the southern end of their range, being a plant of cool coniferous forests further north. On that same trail we saw three other trilliums—sweet white, large-flowered, and Vasey's—four trilliums on one short trail.

Henry Hamman reports "I just saw the first stink bug of the season out here in Jump Off—sluggishly hanging on one of the window screens. I've seen a few in previous years, but never so early. Given what's happened all over the East Coast, I wonder how long before we are under full-scale assault. The New Yorker had a long piece on the inexorable march of these invasive nasties a couple of months ago."

Pixie Dozier sends in this note about the Shakespeare Garden. "The lilac has bloomed but the pink and white dogwood continue to stay in bloom. The harebells, and the columbine in various colors are beginning their spring showing. The yellow primrose and the white candy tuft are taking in the rains and sun. The iris, not to be left behind, are showing their blossoms. The summer flowers we will enjoy will be the lilies, the daisies, the bee balm, the rue, the carnations and the wonderful peonies. The purple phlox is lovely. Later the geranium blooming purple, the arum, and the lavender can be seen. Come sit and have a quiet moment and don't miss the rose arbor in bloom. The Shakespeare Garden, a treasure on the University grounds, is behind Elliott Hall."

Deryl Walker of Alto called to let us know that on April 18 two male Orioles started showing up at her hummingbird feeders, to be joined by a female. Since they love fruit and were drinking from her hummingbird feeders, she bought some oranges for them, which they loved. She has also seen a much greater number of Rose-breasted Grosbeaks, as many as 25-30 males, over the past week. She wonders if other birdlovers on the mountain or in the valley have been seeing these too.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Then came fair May, the fairest mayd on ground,
Deckt all with dainties of her season's pryde,
And throwing flowers out of her lap around;
Upon two brethren's shoulders she did ride,
The twinnes of Leda; which on either side
Supported her, like to their soveraine queene.
Lord! now all creatures laugh, when her they spide,
And leapt and laught as they had ravisht beene!
And Cupid selfe about fluttered all in greene...

—Faerie Queene, by Edmund Spenser (15961)

All good things must come to an end.

We've loved every second of the past eight years. We've served some of the finest food to the finest people in the state. Now a new passion dictates that it's time for a change. We're stoking the fires of culinary delight with a stunning new copper (copper!) oven and a new direction. We will close our doors on June 3. After a few short weeks of renovations,
