Miracle on the Mountain Park Groundbreaking

Miracle on the Mountain Play Outside Park in Coalmont held a groundbreaking ceremony on April 30. Approximately 200 supporters turned out to show support for this exciting project.

The park complex, once complete, will feature one of Tennessee's first Miracle League baseball fields, a one-of-a-kind inclusive playground, a 1.2-mile walking trail and reading garden that is ADA compliant.

The park is the dream of Miracle on the Mountain founders Keith and Audrey Nunley, who envisioned a place where children with disabilities could play on a playground, hit a baseball in front of cheering crowds and enjoy outdoor trails.

The Nunleys' 7-year-old son has cerebral palsy, so they have experienced firsthand the lack of play opportunities at traditional playgrounds for children with disabilities.

Audrey died in March after a long struggle with cancer. Miracle on the Mountain Play Outside Park is her legacy to Grundy County and the region, and her husband, Keith's, tribute to her dream for children with disabilities.

The total cost to develop the Miracle on the Mountain Play Outside Park is $1.5 million. The group has already raised $81,000 through private donations and grants to help develop phase one of the project, which includes development of the parking lot, sidewalks, restrooms and a concession stand at the entrance to the park.

The group is currently seeking grant funds and private donations to support the completion of the park. For more information or to make a donation, please visit the Miracle on the Mountain website at <www.miracleleagueofgrundycounty.com> or on Facebook at <www.facebook.com/MiracleontheMountain/>.

Spring Arts & Crafts Fair

The Sewanee Arts and Crafts Association's (SACA) May 2016 Fair will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, May 7, at Shoup Park on University Avenue in Sewanee. This event is free and open to the public and is sponsored by SACA.

There will be art and crafts for sale including clay, glass, metal, paintings, photography, wood and much more.

Schedule Changes for County Schools

Franklin County Director of Schools Amie Lonas received approval from the state to use two stockpiled days for professional development to give teachers a jump on planning for next year. For students, the school year will be shortened by two days.

The purpose of stockpile days is to ensure bad weather and other unforeseeable circumstances don't result in students not attending class for the minimum number of required days.

The last day of class for students will be an abbreviated day on Tuesday, May 24, instead of Thursday, May 26. Professional development for teachers will be held Wednesday, May 25, and Thursday, May 26. The last day of school for teachers this academic year will be an administrative day on Friday, May 27.

School Board Reviews Budget & Policies

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the May 2 working session the Franklin County Board of Education reviewed the 2016-17 budget proposed by Director of Schools Amie Lonas, as well proposed revisions to the drug testing and dress code policies.

The proposed $44,610,502 budget exceeds projected revenue by $1,303,416, again requiring the school system to dip into the fund balance reserve. Lonas said the draw on the fund balance "would reduce the total reserve to $3,162,231, but that's still well within the 3 percent of the operating budget we're required to hold in reserve by law." Three percent of the 2016-17 operating budget is $1,271,465.

Highlighting provisions of the 2016-17 budget, Lonas said it includes a 2 percent raise for all school system employees, with the amount dedicated to teachers' salaries increasing by $821,000 and a 1.5 percent raise ($17,000 total) for contract bus drivers.

Sewanee Graduation Events Begin Today

The University of the South's 2015-16 academic year comes to a close today through Sunday, May 6-8, with three ceremonies marking graduation weekend in Sewanee. Commencement and baccalaureate ceremonies will take place for students from the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Letters and the School of Theology. Three honorary degrees will be presented during the School of Theology commencement, and four during the baccalaureate ceremony.

Honorary degrees will be presented during the School of Theology Commencement service today (Friday), May 6, to Bruce Eldon Neswick, canon for cathedral music at Trinity Episcopal Cathedral in Portland, Ore.; Richard Webster, director of music and organist at Trinity Church in Boston; and the Rt. Rev. James Russell Kendrick, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of the Central Gulf Coast, who will preach at the service. (See page 4 for more information.)

Charlie Rose, anchor and executive editor of "Charlie Rose" and co-anchor of "CBS This Morning;" John Churchill, secretary of the Phi Beta Kappa Society; Richard Davis, poet, translator, and professor emeritus of Persian at the Ohio State University; and Nashville historian and author William Ridley Wills II will receive honorary degrees during the baccalaureate service Saturday, May 7. Rose will give the baccalaureate address.

A Convocation for Conferring of Degrees is at 10 a.m., Sunday, May 8, in All Saints' Chapel (tickets required) for the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Letters. The convocation will be shown on closed-circuit TV in McClurg Dining Hall (ticket needed) and in Guerry Auditorium, and will be live-streamed. A luncheon honoring the Class of 2016 graduates will follow.

All three services will be streamed live on the University's website for those unable to attend.

This rendering by Town Planning and Urban Design Collaborative (TPUDC) shows a redesign of the University Avenue-Highway 41A intersection to function as a main street for the town without the previously planned roundabout. TPUDC and the University have been meeting with the Tennessee Department of Transportation and Franklin County and Tennessee government officials to advocate for the narrowing of Highway 41A to two lanes. This plan would also allow for possible street parking. For more information and updates on the Village Implementation Plan visit <www.sewanee.edu/village/>.

COMMUNITY-WIDE THANKS To the Editor:

On behalf of the Sewanee Civic Association (SCA), I want to thank all the contributors (financial, time and talent) to the Elliott Park Playground project.

The For the Parks Project raised more than $62,000 to reinvent the centerpiece of Elliott Park. Our funding came from a myriad of sources, including 157 individual generous donations, grants, bake sales, Angel Fest proceeds and 50 GoFundMe gifts. Details about the honor roll are on the SCA website, <<https://sewaneecivic.wordpress.com/>>.

The Park reopened more than five months ago and has been a runaway hit. It is a gathering place for the community and for families near and far. A new sidewalk, drainage enhancements, and soon, improved access from a renewed parking area will all contribute to a lasting and welcoming environment.

Finally, the SCA, with notable assistance from PPS and individuals, has been able to greatly improve the playgrounds at both the Community Center and the Woodlands Community.

Stephen Burnett
SCA Director of Parks ■

SOCIALISM To the Editor:

I hope the voters who look fondly upon socialism and central planning will have a long conversation with someone who has immigrated here from the former Soviet Union or Venezuela.

Better yet, visit Venezuela (a country with some of the largest known oil deposits), and see the conditions there now.

Also, we have far too much crony capitalism, often in the form of "private gain, public loss" deals, where someone with connections (a campaign bundler not quite suited for an ambassadorship?) has their actions guaranteed by the government (i.e., our money), so if they gain, it's theirs; if they lose, the taxpayers foot the bill.

Exemptions are also given to special interest groups in laws such as the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act and, of course, our massive tax code.

Don't like high fructose corn syrup? It's in your food because of sugar industry protections and the resultant high sugar prices in the United States.

On another note: Congress passes bills, the president signs them into law.

Bill Kershner

School of Theology Commencement Event

The School of Theology’s 2015–16 academic year comes to a close today (Friday), May 6, with a commencement ceremony. Three honorary degrees will be presented, and 41 students will receive hoods and diplomas. The service will be held at All Saints’ Chapel beginning at 10 a.m.

The event will be streamed live for those unable to attend.

Honorary degrees will be given to Richard Webster, Bruce Neswick and the Rt. Rev. James Kendrick. Kendrick will deliver the sermon.

Richard Webster is the director of music and organist at Trinity Church, Copley Square, Boston. Webster is well known to Sewanee, having served as faculty for the Sewanee Church Music Conference and, on various occasions, as a visiting teacher, conductor, clinician and recitalist. Most recently, he was the conductor of a grand hymn festival in All Saints’ Chapel. A native of Nashville, Webster studied organ with Peter Fyfe, Karel Paukert and Wolfgang Rübsam. He was a Fulbright Scholar to Great Britain as organ scholar at Chichester Cathedral.

Bruce Eldon Neswick is the canon for cathedral music at Trinity Episcopal Cathedral, Portland, Ore. Prior to joining the faculty at Indiana University, where he was associate professor of organ, Neswick was the director of music at the Cathedral of Saint John the Divine in New York City. Neswick is one of America’s major talents in the field of organ performance and is especially noted for his superb ability as an improviser. As a recitalist, he has performed extensively throughout the United States and Europe and has been a featured artist at national and regional conventions of the American Guild of Organists. He holds a bachelor of music degree from Pacific Lutheran University and a master of music from the Yale School of Music. He holds fellowship degrees from the American Guild of Organists and the Royal School of Church Music.

The Rt. Rev. James Russell Kendrick was elected as the fourth bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of the Central Gulf Coast in 2015 and was ordained bishop in July of that year. The Diocese of the Central Gulf Coast includes southern Alabama and the panhandle of Florida, with 62 churches and approximately 20,000 members. At the time of his election, he stated that this call would be a partnership of support and creativity for himself and the diocese. A native of Fort Walton Beach, Fla., Kendrick earned a bachelor of arts in architecture and marketing from Auburn University in 1984. A lifelong Episcopalian, he served as a volunteer youth minister and in other capacities before receiving a master of divinity in 1995 from Virginia Theological Seminary. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1996. From 2007 to the time of his election as bishop, Kendrick was rector of St. Stephen’s in Birmingham, Ala. Prior to that, he was the rector of St. Paul’s in Newnan, Ga. He began his ministry as assistant to the rector at Church of the Nativity in Dothan, Alabama. Kendrick has in common with Sewanee seminarians the experience of the Jonathan Myrick Daniels pilgrimage in Hayneville, Ala. He has spoken of the realization there that a pilgrimage is not simply about standing in a place—but instead a pilgrimage is made sacred by the people with whom you stand.

Church News

Christ Church in Monteagle

Christ Church began Ascensiontide with a noon service on May 5. There is only one Sunday in this liturgical season. It is called “Expectation Sunday,” because it looks forward to the Feast of Pentecost. This Sunday, May 8, is also Mothers’ Day and, for many, commencement events.

The Christ Church Sunday School has been working on many projects and gifts for Mothers Day, and there is always an abundance of art materials ready for visitors.

The Sunday service is at 10:30 a.m., and a festive lunch follows the service. All are welcome.

Otey Memorial Parish

On Sunday, May 8, Otey will celebrate Holy Eucharist at 8:50 a.m. and 11 a.m. At 10 a.m., the Lectionary Class will meet. Children ages 3–11 can attend Godly Play at 10 a.m. Nursery care is available for children 6 weeks to 4 years old.

On Sunday, May 8, the Rector’s Forum will be presented by the Bishop Otey Society. The Bishop Otey Society was founded in 2009 as a way to recognize parishioners and friends of Otey Parish who have made a planned gift or bequest to Otey Parish. Join the Rector’s Forum to learn how important and simple it can be to provide for your loved ones and charities after death. Estate planning professionals will provide information and answer your questions about this important ministry.

Sunday, May 15, is Pentecost. Remember to wear red to mark the coming of the Holy Spirit with tongues like fire.

In both May 15 services, the teachers and organizers who have provided rich Christian formation experiences this past year will be honored.

All are welcome.

Unitarian Universalist Church

The Unitarian Universalist Church of Tullahoma’s speaker will be Trudy Northway on “Celebrating ‘Mother’—What is it Really All About?”

The service begins at 10 a.m., Sunday, May 8, followed by refreshments and a discussion period.

The church is located at 3536 New Manchester Hwy. in Tullahoma. For more information call Traversa at (931) 455-8626, or visit the church’s website at <www.tullahomauu.org>.

John Churchill is secretary (chief executive officer) of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, which has 286 chapters on college and university campuses. He formerly served as the vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college, professor of philosophy and as interim president at Hendrix College. Churchill's scholarly interests include topics in the history of philosophy and the philosophy of religion. His publications include journal articles in these and related fields, as well as essays in the popular press. Churchill's professional activities have included service on the board of directors of the American Conference of Academic Deans and as chair of the Council of Deans of the Associated Colleges of the South. Churchill was educated at Rhodes College, at the University of Oxford, where he studied as a Rhodes Scholar and at Yale University.

Richard Davis is a poet, translator and professor emeritus of Persian at the Ohio State University. He is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Literature. Davis studied English at Cambridge, lived in Iran for eight years and then completed a Ph.D. in medieval Persian literature at the University of Manchester. For 10 years he was professor of Persian and chair of the department of Near Eastern Languages at the Ohio State University. He has written scholarly works on English and Persian literature, as well as eight volumes of his own poetry, and has been the recipient of numerous academic and literary awards. Volumes of his poetry and verse translation have been chosen as books of the year by The Economist (UK), the Washington Post and the Times Literary Supplement (UK). His poems have appeared in many literary journals, including the Sewanee Review.

Charlie Rose is anchor and executive editor of "Charlie Rose," the nightly program that features in-depth conversations and round-table discussions, and the newly launched "Charlie Rose: The Week," chronicling the week's best stories and interviews. He also co-anchors "CBS This Morning" and is a correspondent for "60 Minutes." Since 1991, Charlie Rose has aired countless hours of interviews with men and women of science, politics, art, business, sports, technology, literature and entertainment. These conversations have made the broadcast a cultural and intellectual archive of our time. Rose has received numerous awards, including the Legion d'honneur, the 2014 Vincent Scully Prize and multiple Emmy and Peabody awards. He was named among the 100 most influential people in the world by TIME magazine. In 2015 Rose received the Walter Cronkite Excellence in Journalism Award. Rose graduated from Duke University and the Duke School of Law.

William Ridley Wills II is a well-known Nashville historian and prolific author. His 22 books include "Lest We Forget: Nashville's Lost Businesses and their Stories;" "Heritage, Highballs, and Hijinks (Colorful Characters I Have Known)" and "The History of Belle Meade Plantation." Wills has been called "Nashville's unofficial historian," and his insatiable interest in local history led him to write "Touring Tennessee: A Postcard Panorama" based on the 30,000 Tennessee postcards he has collected. Wills won the Tennessee History Book Award in 1991. He has served many charitable, historical, and educational organizations, including the Tennessee Historical Society, the Hermitage, the National Trust for Historic Preservation and Vanderbilt University. Wills was educated at Vanderbilt.

Family Bike Ride Series

Local biking enthusiasts Speed Baranco, Beth Pride Ford and Rob Bachman are offering a family bike ride series this summer. Children and adults of all ages and abilities are invited to participate.

All rides will be on the Mountain Goat Trail. Rides will start and end at the Sewanee Farmer's Market gravel parking lot, next to the Hair Depot.

The rides begin at 4:30 p.m., on the following Sundays: May 15, 22 and 29; June 5, 12, 19 and 26; and July 3, 10, 17, 24 and 31. Participants are encouraged to bring a water bottle and wear a helmet. For more information, contact Ford at <bethpride@att.net>.

Curbside Recycling This Friday

Residential curbside recycling pickup in Sewanee is on the first and third Friday of each month. Today (Friday), May 6, will be a pickup day.

Recyclable materials must be separated by type and placed in blue bags by the side of the road no later than 7:30 a.m. Please do not put out general household trash on this day. Blue bags may be picked up in the University Lease and Community Relations Office, 400 University Ave. (the Blue House), or at the Physical Plant Services office on Georgia Avenue.

Did You Know?

Tourism is currently the second largest of Tennessee's industries, with an economic impact of $17.7 billion, a 6.3 percent increase over the previous year and an all-time high for the state. Tourism generates 152,900 jobs for Tennesseans and produces $1.5 billion in state and local sales tax revenue. Travel to Tennessee recently topped 100 million, achieving 101.3 million person stays, a first in Tennessee history. —Source: Tennessee Department of Tourism

The budget also earmarks $135,000 for curriculum coaches, regular classroom teachers who take on the added duty of coordinating lesson planning and practices in their field of instruction.

Board member Sarah Liechty said, "I hope teachers understand why they're only getting a 2 percent raise when the state announced funding proposed to increase teacher salaries by 4 percent."

Lonas explained, "What we get from the state for the Basic Education Program funds 350 positions, but we have far more than that." The state funding does not cover all the aids and other educational staff employed by the school system.

Commenting on the special education budget, Lonas said, "We may need to add a bus route and driver, as we're at capacity now."

Franklin County Commissioner Angie Fuller asked the board to approve a Transition to Work grant, which would pay 70 percent of the salary for an instructor and assistant to implement the Occupational Diploma option for special education students. The school system does not currently offer an Occupational Diploma, which requires two years of work experience. The board agreed to move the request to the consent agenda for approval at the regular board meeting.

Updating the board on special education needs, Fuller said the county had 900 special education students, 17-19 percent of the student population compared to a state average of 16-18 percent. "We're seeing an increase in the number of severely challenged students," Fuller said. "These students are the most costly to serve."

Moving on to policy considerations, Lonas recommended deleting the highly punitive alternative school drug testing policy and having all students in the system subject to the same policy. She also recommended revisions to the language of the current Alcohol and Drug Testing policy and adding a clause defining the testing procedure. The revisions were suggested by school attorney Chuck Cagle to adhere to state code.

The revised policy provides for testing when there is "reasonable indication a student may have used or be under the influence of drugs or alcohol."

The testing procedures would require parental notification before the student is tested and stipulates a urine test be used, in keeping with the intention of the state code.

The current policy allows for hair sample testing. Board President Kevin Caroland pointed out urine testing was less costly and suggested all student athletes be tested, since the current random testing practice seems to favor certain students over others. Lonas will consult with Cagle on the legality of testing all student athletes, as opposed to random testing.

Taking up proposed revisions to the dress code, Caroland and board member Chris Guess expressed reservations about allowing students to wear shorts. "At the high school level, we're preparing students for a job," Caroland said, "and dress is where that starts."

The board also discussed changing the skirt length requirement to "top of the knee" as opposed to three inches above the knee to make the requirement easier to monitor.

Board member Adam Tucker asked why the logo size allowed was increased from two inches to six inches. "School principals felt two inches was restrictive," Lonas explained.

Lonas announced the school system would not administer Tennessee Ready testing in grades three-eight, but would comply with the state's request to administer the test at the high school level. The state is considering using the results for school growth ranking purposes. The state recently ended its contract with Measurement Inc., the company responsible for scoring the test, due to problems with the software and delivery of the tests.

Celebrate World Red Cross Day

Each year, the local and global impact of the Red Cross mission is celebrated on Sunday, May 8, the birthday of International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement founder Henry Dunant.

Donors of all blood types are needed to give and help save hospital patients' lives. Every day, the Red Cross must collect approximately 14,000 blood donations to meet the needs of patients across the country.

To make an appointment to give blood, download the free Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit <redcrossblood.org>, or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

An area blood donation opportunity will be from 2:15 p.m. to 6:15 p.m., Tuesday, May 10, at the First Christian Church, 120 W. Grundy St., Tullahoma.

Housing Sewanee to Build Eight New Homes

Housing Sewanee Inc. (HSI) has begun the preliminary work required for a small development on the six-acre Sherwood Road property it purchased earlier this year. The development will consist of up to eight units incorporating sustainable, low-energy building design and techniques in a small neighborhood that will encourage social interaction. Integrating a high-yield spring on the property in a split water system for nonpotable use in showers, laundry and other purposes is just one out-of-the-box concept HSI's board is pursuing, with the intention of lowering the utility costs for its clients.

"Housing Sewanee Inc.'s mission is still the same, to provide affordable housing to low-income clients. But, recently we have had the privilege of exploring new building concepts," said HSI President Dixon Myers.

The first house built will be a rental unit and will serve as a test case, incorporating as many sustainable building techniques and materials as possible. The house will act as a teaching laboratory for students, nonprofits and building professionals in the surrounding area, while also establishing a baseline for HSI to determine a balance between building costs and energy savings. Groundbreaking for the first house is planned for later this spring.

"We have a board made up of some very talented individuals" said Myers. "I cannot think of a better time to build a demonstration home."

Housing Sewanee Inc. is a non-profit organization modeled after Habitat for Humanity.

Since 1993, HSI has built homes for area families in need, including the elderly, the sick, the physically or mentally disabled, and grandparents raising their grandchildren. For more information go to <www.housingsewaneeinc.com>.

Chance to Win $10,000

The Sewanee Business Alliance (SBA) is sponsoring a reverse raffle to benefit Angel Park and Housing Sewanee Inc. with a chance for participants to win up to $10,000.

Tickets are $100 each, and no more than 500 tickets will be sold. Tickets are for sale at the following local businesses: Locals, Mooney's, Regions Bank, Sewanee Auto, Taylor's and University Realty. Tickets may also be purchased online at <www.sewaneeangelpark.com>.

During each Friday Nights in the Park event, there will be a drawing for a special prize. The ticket drawn will be placed back in the pool for another chance to win. On the last night, July 8, the $10,000 grand prize drawing will be held. Participants do not have to be present to win.

The lineup for Friday Nights in the Park is: Live By Satellite on June 17; Men of Soul on June 24; The ConSoulers on July 1; and The Stagger Moon Band on July 8. University Avenue will be closed at 6 p.m. each of these nights for the annual outdoor family event, with food and drink from local vendors available for purchase. The entertainers play from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in the Angel Park Pavilion. The events are free and open to the public.

22K Event to Raise Awareness for Veterans

Twenty-two veterans in the United States die from suicide each day. To raise awareness about suicide among veterans and to provide information to the public and to military families about resources available to veterans and their families, the Det 1 C/RTS/278th Armored Cavalry Unit is hosting a "22 with 22 for the 22" event at 7:30 a.m., Sunday, May 15. The "22" event will begin with a 22K run from Sewanee to the Monteagle National Guard Armory.

The event is free, and all are encouraged to participate. Runners can register at <tinyurl.com/RunVet>. Runners will meet at the National Guard Armory at 7:30 a.m. to be transported to the start line at the Memorial Cross in Sewanee. The run will end at the Armory, where a ceremony will be held at noon featuring keynote addresses by Matthew Odell of the Reveille Joe Foundation and Captain Alex Campbell of the 278th Armored Cavalry Unit.

From noon to 3 p.m., families can enjoy an inflatable obstacle course provided by Tenacity Gym, motorcycle displays by the Liberty Defenders Motorcycle Club, a wildlife show by South Cumberland State Park, buzz haircuts for kids, a 22 push-up challenge (#PushForLife) and more.

Food will be provided by the Monteagle VFW Post 9586, Reversing Diabetes and Jim Oliver's Smoke House restaurant. For more information contact Katie Goforth at <akgoforth@vbhcs.org>.

Look Twice for Motorcycles

The Sewanee Police Department (SPD) is partnering with the Tennessee Highway Safety Office and the Department of Safety and Homeland Security to promote motorcycle safety during the month of May, which is nationally recognized as Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month. Agencies participate by providing information and increasing awareness in their communities about the importance of sharing the road and looking twice for motorcyclists.

"Motorcyclists will be out in force as the weather gets warmer, which is why it is the perfect time to remind the community about the vulnerability of motorcycle riders," said SPD Chief Marie Eldridge. "All motorists need to know how to anticipate and respond to motorcyclists to avoid crashes."

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration offers general tips to drivers on preventing a crash with a motorcycle:

Though a motorcycle is a small vehicle, its operator still has all the rights of the road as any other motorists. Allow the motorcycle the full width of a lane at all times.

Always signal when changing lanes or merging with traffic.

If you see a motorcycle with a signal on, be careful as motorcycle signals are often non-canceling and could have been forgotten. Always ensure that the motorcycle is turning before proceeding.

Check all mirrors and blind spots for motorcycles before changing lanes or merging with traffic, especially at intersections.

Always allow more follow distance—three to four seconds—when behind a motorcycle. This gives riders more time to maneuver or stop in an emergency.

Preliminary data reveals in 2015 motorcycle fatalities increased in Tennessee. There was also an increase in the number of those killed who were not wearing a helmet. There were more than 2,800 crashes involving a motorcycle last year statewide.

Animal Alliance's Yard Sale Set for June

Animal Alliance South Cumberland, the area's nonprofit spay/neuter program will host its Spring Yard Sale from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, June 4, at the Monteagle Elementary School.

"We are now gathering donations of useful, clean and slightly used pretty things," said Kathy Bouldin, AASC president.

"We need for you to look through all those closets and cabinets for items you will never use and donate to this essential nonprofit program. We need really nice items of any kind—pottery, paintings, yard art, toys, bicycles, lawn equipment, tools, dishes, collectibles—and anything else you think would help raise money to fund our spay/neuter program." Clothing is not accepted.

Call (931) 235-9006 to get information about the item donation drop-off time and place or to arrange for pickup of larger items.

AASC is a small-budget, all-volunteer nonprofit organization which has helped spay or neuter more than 3,500 pets. That translates to the prevention of thousands of unwanted, mistreated or abandoned dogs and cats in the Grundy, Marion and Franklin county areas of the Mountain. AASC is a 501(c)3 organization, and all donations are tax deductible.

TINTINNABULATIONS

by John Bordley

Penultimate

Sewanee residents and visitors coming to Sewanee during commencement weekend are invited to open houses in both bell towers from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., today (Friday), May 6, and Saturday, May 7. The Leonidas Polk Memorial Carillon is located in All Saints' Chapel (go past the pulpit, through the iron gates to the door of Shapard Tower and then up the 124 steps to the carillon-playing cabin). The Mildred and George Bentley Memorial Change Ringing Bells are located in Breslin Tower, connected to Convocation Hall at the corner of University Avenue and Georgia Avenue (where the red light is). As you come into the entrance of Convocation Hall, proceed up the stairs to the ringing room.

I have written before about the role Arthur Bigelow played both in designing Shapard Tower and in coordinating the casting of the 56 bells by the Paccard Foundry in France in 1958. The main article in the issue of the GCNA (Guild of Carillonneurs in North America) Bulletin that I am just taking to be printed is about Bigelow and his connection with the Paccard family. Several of the photographs that accompany the article are quite interesting, and I am including them in my penultimate Tintinnabulations column. Original copies of the photographs are in the carillon studio.

Dr. Karen Fox Joins STRHS

Southern Tennessee Regional Health System Winchester (STRHS Winchester) officials announced Karen Fox, M.D., has joined its staff and will be offering psychiatric services to patients throughout Franklin County and the surrounding area. Dr. Fox brings more than 20 years of experience to STRHS Winchester and is one of a number of specialists to join the hospital's medical team this year.

"Dr. Fox has years of experience in treating a range of complex psychiatric conditions and she is an excellent addition to our hospital team," said Rob Followell, CEO of STRHS Winchester. "She evaluates and treats patients 13 years and older, which will provide families in our area a very specialized, unique type of care close to home."

Dr. Fox joins STRHS Winchester from Moccasin Bend Mental Health

Institute, where she was a staff psychiatrist. Before Moccasin Bend, she was in a solo practice at The Upstate's Golden Corner of Psychiatry in Seneca, S.C.

Dr. Fox graduated from York College in Queens, N.Y., and obtained her medical degree from St. George's University School of Medicine in Grenada and St. Vincent, West Indies. She completed the various levels of psychiatric residency requirements at Monmouth Medical Center in Long Branch New Jersey, at Beth Israel Medical Center in New York, N.Y., and St. Vincent's Medical Center in Staten Island, N.Y.

Dr. Fox will be sharing an office with her husband, otolaryngologist (ENT), Dr. Frank Rao, who will be moving his practice to 2230 Cowan Hwy. in Winchester.

Greenwood Appointed Director of Babson Center

The University of the South has announced that Eric Greenwood has been appointed director of the University's Babson Center for Global Commerce, effective June 1.

Greenwood is currently managing partner of J.E. Greenwood & Company in Conshohocken, Pa. He will succeed Chip Manning, who has directed the Babson Center for the past five years.

"I am delighted that Eric Greenwood has agreed to become the next director of the Babson Center," said Terry Papillon, dean of the college. "He brings a wealth of experience from both industry and the financial sector, and will bring valuable skills to the position as the Babson Center continues to grow. I look forward to welcoming him to the Mountain and to working with him to continue the momentum that Chip has generated."

Greenwood has served in his current role since 2008. A Registered Investment Advisor, he provides investment advisory, oversight and implementation services related to asset allocation, estate plans, portfolio construction and risk management. He was previously vice president, private wealth management, at Goldman, Sachs & Co., where he advised and collaborated with high net-worth families to set goals, coordinate investments and estate plans, and determine asset allocation. Prior to his 26 years at Goldman Sachs, Greenwood worked in general management in the paper industry.

Greenwood graduated from Rutgers College and earned an MBA from the Darden School at the University of Virginia. He has been involved with numerous community service organizations, and currently serves as a director of the Chestnut Hill Historical Society (Philadelphia) and the Lewis Ginter Botanical Garden (Richmond, Va). Greenwood brings to his new position a familiarity with Sewanee—his daughter, Sally Anne Greenwood, is a member of Sewanee's class of 2015.

"I am honored to serve Sewanee and continue to expand the worthy and excellent work of the Babson Center," said Greenwood. "The Center has grown into a significant contributor to the University's offerings and its students' education. It blends a pre-business minor with a liberal arts education to effectively prepare young people to live considered, purposeful and constructive professional and personal lives. That is an exciting mission and one I wholeheartedly support!"

The Babson Center for Global Commerce administers co-curricular programs to provide students a wealth of business-related opportunities on and off campus, including internship opportunities and scholarships, and exposes Sewanee students to some of the best business minds in the world through its on-campus executive residencies and lecture series. During the past five years under Manning's leadership, students achieving a minor in business have grown from 5 percent of seniors to 18 percent of this year's graduating class. The Center's program offerings have increased from eight in 2011 to more than 30 now, in areas such as entrepreneurship, finance, community engagement and job skills.

ANGELWITH AN ATTITUDE

by Virginia Craighill

Dear Angel,
Whatever happened to "Reading Days" before exams?

Signed,
Slow Reader

Dear Slow,

Sewanee sees no reason to prolong the laborious and tedious practice of actually studying for finals. The semester accelerates right after Spring Break, socially and academically, and like NASCAR drivers on the final laps of the Indy 500, students will either accelerate to finish the race or hit the wall and go up in a fiery blaze.

Once upon a time, Sewanee had Reading Days, but nobody reads anymore, so why give over whole days to an obsolete practice? If students were given entire days in the hopes that they might actually process and synthesize an entire semester's worth of information, they would no doubt squander the opportunity in unparalleled debauchery. And if professors were given entire days to finish their end-of-semester grading and make up thoughtful and thought-provoking exams, they would probably abandon their offices and go home to have dinner with their families.

It's so much better to jump from the last day of classes straight into the maelstrom of exams and just "Get R'Done" so we can get to those graduation parties! If students have two or three exams in one day and need to pull an all-nighter or two, there's always McClurg coffee and ADHD medication to get them through.

Angel

Dear Angel,
What goes on behind the Fiji fence every year?

Curious Bystander

Dear Curious,

Human sacrifice, obviously. There's nothing in the hazing codes that says you can't offer up a few nicely fattened pledges on the altar of Fiji to ensure a "rockin' S'Party Weekend." So, if you hear strange drumming noises and inhuman screaming, don't stand too close to that fence.

Angel

Spring cleaning, moving out of a dorm, leaving Sewanee for a new adventure: all these are great opportunities to leave your housewares, clothes and other items you no longer need with agencies that help people across the Mountain.

The Franklin County Convenience Center, 132 Missouri Ave., accepts all recycling except for glass. To recycle glass, take it to Sewanee's PPS warehouse on Kennerly Avenue.

Sewanee's Hospitality Shop, located at 1096 University Ave., accepts clothing of all sizes, and also takes children's toys, books, gift items, housewares and small appliances. There is a donation bin behind the building.

The Community Action Committee in Sewanee accepts nonperishable food items, cleaning supplies (laundry detergent, cleansers) and paper products such as diapers, paper towels and toilet paper. It is located at the Otey Memorial parish hall.

For prescriptions that are either expired or no longer needed, take them to the Sewanee Police Department for safe disposal.

The Appalachian Women's Guild accepts children's and adult clothing, small household items and nonperishable food items. It is located at 492 Main St., Tracy City.

The Grundy County Clothing Bank located at the old Grundy County High School in Tracy City accepts donations of clothing from 8:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Thursdays and Fridays. Clothing is available to anyone at no charge.

Bicycles in working condition can be donated to Woody's Bike Shop, 90 Reed's Lane, Sewanee.

Lions Clubs across the region collect eyeglasses. To find the nearest location go to <www.lionsclubs.org/EN/our-work/sight-programs/eyeglass-recycling/how-you-can-help.php>.

The Franklin County Library accepts donations of books, audio books, CDs, DVDs and videos. It is located at 105 S. Porter St., Winchester, phone 967-3706.

Goodwill bins are located in nearby cities: at 361 Kimball Crossing, Jasper; 1905 N. Jackson St. #120, Tullahoma; and 2161 Hillsboro Blvd. #5, Manchester.

Finally, remember that no one wants things that are broken, dirty or incomplete. If you wouldn't give an item to a friend, think twice before donating it to one of these organizations.

SAS Smith Named Outstanding Educator

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School history teacher Geoffrey Smith has received one of six 2016 Outstanding Educators Awards from Humanities Tennessee. The awards recognize teachers who have demonstrated excellence in teaching the humanities and who encourage the humanities to be an important part of their students' lives. Smith was nominated for the award by SAS parents Eric and Lisa Hartman.

In their nomination, the Hartmans wrote, "Mr. Smith is a walking, breathing, teaching historian. It is impossible to encounter him and not learn. Every school should be fortunate to have educators like Mr. Smith, but in the absence of ethical cloning strategy, we are nominating him for this distinction, such that other teachers might come to know him and be inspired by his work."

Each of the 2016 recipients, selected from a pool of nominees from across the state, receive a $2,000 fellowship to further their professional development in the humanities. Their schools will receive $1,500 for humanities programs and materials. Smith will use his portion of the award to conduct place-based research on the life and work of Pulitzer Prize-winner James Agee, a distinguished alumnus of SAS, examining themes of religion, education, childhood, labor and the transition to adulthood. The research will include travel to Knoxville, Tenn.; Exeter, N.H.; Cambridge, Mass.; New York City; Nashville; and various locations in Alabama, all touchstones in Agee's life.

The school's portion of the award will be used to expand programming for SAS's annual Day of the Book Celebration. In the fall of 2016, Day of the Book will be a celebration of the centennial of the Pulitzer Prize. The day will include workshops on the life and work of Agee and other Pulitzer Prize-winning authors. SAS will also collaborate with local public elementary schools to promote literacy and celebrate freedom of expression.

Smith is a graduate of the University of the South with a B.A. in history. He joined the SAS faculty as history teacher in 2014. He formerly taught at the All Saints' Academy in Winter Haven, Fla., where he was chair of the history department.

Since 1985 the Humanities Tennessee Outstanding Educators Award program has presented almost $500,000 to educators and schools in Tennessee. Educators across the state have been able to advance their knowledge of the humanities through traveling, attending seminars and workshops and participating in research in order to better educate their students on the subjects of language, literature, history, philosophy, archeology, ethics and the history and criticism of the arts. Humanities Tennessee, an independent affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities, is a statewide nonprofit organization headquartered in Nashville.

"This I Believe"

On Monday, May 9, from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School eighth-graders will present their individual "This I Believe" presentations in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts. The public is invited to attend.

In the 1950s, journalist Edward R. Murrow's "This I Believe" radio program allowed Americans to hear well-known public figures discuss the values that guided their lives. Loosely based on this broadcast, the SAS "This I Believe" presentations are the culmination of work conducted during the advisory period. Each eighth-grader will present the values they have come to believe in, based on their own experiences.

A reception and the opportunity to view artwork by the middle school in the SAS Gallery, located in Simmonds Hall, will follow the eighth-grade presentations.

SES kindergartners Ben Lu (top) and Lakshmi Mishra (bottom) got some extra practice studying spelling words using sidewalk chalk and enjoyed a beautiful spring day.

Sewanee senior Ben Colley is installing one of the water bars on the trail.

Perimeter Trail Reroute

University of the South seniors Mary Claire Craig, Henry Clark, Ben Colley and William Reames are rerouting a heavily eroded section of the Perimeter Trail in the Split Creek watershed as part of their Senior Field Project. The former route was depositing large amounts of sediment on the bridge crossing the creek. Sediment was collapsing the bridge, collecting in the stream, and also skewing stream flow data in the research flume located downstream of the bridge.

The heavy use of the Split Creek watershed for research and teaching made it a priority for trail maintenance. The students removed all sediment from the bridge, installed silt fences to reduce sediment flow into the creek, and installed water bars made of locust logs and rocks along the trail to reduce trail water flow and slow the deterioration of the trail. The new trail section is marked with signs. The old section is being covered with brush to prevent foot traffic, reduce erosion and allow the old trail section to return to a natural state.

The SES fifth-graders take a break from their recent walking field trip.

Brunton to Attend NEH Workshop

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School history teacher Mark Brunton was recently accepted into the highly competitive National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) Landmarks of American History and Culture Workshop on "Cold War Home Front: Aerospace in Southern California, 1941-1981." The workshop will be held this summer at California State University's Long Beach Campus.

"The Cold War Home Front in Southern California" workshops explore the history and culture of aerospace production, a topic of immense importance for understanding the United States in the 20th century.

Brunton teaches the junior year core course in American History at SAS, as well as electives in constitutional history, Southern Appalachian history and social movements. He recently completed a master's degree at the University of Nebraska-Kearney and Georgetown University. He attended the James Madison Memorial Foundation session on constitutional history at Georgetown University as part of his studies.

The NEH workshop will cover political, economic, cultural and social implications of the aerospace industry and includes lectures by prominent historians, discussion of important readings in history, visits to key World War II and Cold War Sunbelt sites and regional museums, and an exploration of outstanding digital primary source materials. Each year, NEH offers tuition-free opportunities for educators to study a variety of topics. Stipends help cover expenses for the programs.

A “Fangtastic” Evening for All

The premiere of “The Family Fang” is the Toast of the Town

On May 2, the Sewanee community celebrated one of its own at the premiere of “The Family Fang,” the film adaptation of the best-selling novel of Kevin Wilson, assistant professor of English at the University.

It was a grand evening for the Sewanee Union Theatre, with an estimated 236 people filling the seats, according to Kate Stucke, student activities coordinator and theatre manager. Stucke helped coordinate the event with Wilson’s wife, Leigh Anne Couch, and Jimmy Wilson, the author’s uncle and owner of the Blue Chair Café, Bakery and Tavern. A small red carpet was rolled out to mark the occasion, to the bemusement of many.

Kevin Wilson held a brief Q&A session at the conclusion of the film and expressed his deep gratitude to the community for all of their support.

Wilson grew up in Winchester and began working at the University in January 2005 as a visiting instructor and secretary for the Sewanee Writer’s Conference until August 2011, when he took on his current role.

In the film, Nicole Kidman and Jason Bateman star as Annie Fang and Baxter Fang, two adults who are dogged by the dubious fame of being part of their eccentric actor-parents’ bizarre art displays and impromptu public stunts when they were young children. The inspiration for the novel was not from personal experience, thankfully.

“The idea for ‘The Family Fang’ came from a short story I wrote a long time ago that ended up being a failure—it was about a production of ‘Romeo and Juliet’ with a brother and sister in the lead roles because the town was so small; there was nothing beyond that,” says Wilson. “But I couldn’t stop thinking about the brother and sister and why they would be willing to do that.”

Wilson said that he was under contract with his publisher to produce another book after the success of his first collection of short stories, “Tunneling to the Center of the Earth,” which also focuses on internal family dynamics. The pressure was on.

“What kind of parents would let their kids do that?” says Wilson. “And then I thought, ‘Well, if they were artists and thought of it as a subversive act...’ and this kernel of a story about a brother and sister made to do transgressive things because their parents wanted them to begin to build around this one scene.” Indeed, this pivotal moment is included in the final cut of the movie.

Shortly after the book’s release in 2011, the unbelievable happened—Wilson was approached by Kidman on buying the rights to make a movie adaptation. It is understandable why Wilson was tearful at the Sewanee premiere—“Fang” had a long way to go from page to screen, much longer than the writing of the manuscript, which took about 18 months.

“I didn’t know if this film was ever going to be a sure thing,” says Wilson. “Nicole bought the rights and then the project sat there for a while. Then a screenwriter decided to take it on and wrote a script. Then it sat there for a while. Then Jason Bateman decided he wanted to direct it. Then it sat there for a while until they could get enough money for filming. Each step of the way, I thought that this might not move forward.”

Wilson said that he was given the opportunity to write the screenplay for the movie, but turned it down.

“I did not want to be the reason the movie didn’t work, or wasn’t made, because I wrote a bad screenplay. I told them I just wanted to step back and see the process from afar,” says Wilson. “They hired David Lindsay-Abaire, who is a Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright, so they definitely found the perfect person.”

Lindsay-Abaire worked closely with Wilson throughout the project, getting Wilson’s input on the author’s intention with certain scenes and sending Wilson a final copy of the screenplay.

During Monday night’s screening, one of the audience members asked if one character in particular was supposed to be representative of Wilson.

“I am all my characters,” says Wilson. “I created them, and they are all a part of me.” Wilson even has tattoos of the Fang children, because he wanted them “to stay with me in a permanent way.”

The evening wound down with an after-party celebration held at the Blue Chair Tavern, with free cake, champagne and a bonus brew with proof of a movie ticket. An encore performance was held May 3. The film opens nationwide today (Friday), May 6.

Parnassus Event Features Local Poet Landon

Local poet Luann Landon and poet Jeff Hardin from Columbia, Tenn., will share a poetry event at Parnassus Books in Nashville, 6:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 10.

Landon will read from her recently published book of narrative poems, “South Bound.” Hardin will be reading from his latest collections of lyric poems, “Small Revolution and Restoring the Narrative.” There will be a book signing following the readings.

After the success of her memoir-cookbook, “Dinner At Miss Lady’s”—stories and recipes remembered from childhood summer visits to her grandparent’s house in Georgia—Luann began writing poetry. “South Bound” is her first published book of poems.

Landon graduated from Radcliffe College and studied at the Sorbonne in France. She lives in Sewanee, where her husband, David Landon, is professor emeritus of theater arts at Sewanee.

Performing Arts Camp

Performing Arts Camp 2016 will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Monday through Friday, July 18–22, at the Sewanee Community Center.

Participants will learn all kinds of dance styles, working with different media to tell stories through movement. They will also study acting, improvisation, working with props and different styles of music, storytelling, musical theater, costuming, music, crafting and choreography. The fee is $95 per child. To register contact Debbie Blinder at <debbie@fullcirclecandles.com> or call (931) 636-4717.

SAS Soccer Advances to District Semifinal

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School boys' varsity soccer team defeated King's Academy of Seymour, 6-1, in away action on May 3.

The win moved SAS to 5-4 this season and secured a spot for the Mountain Lions in the district tournament semifinal game.

"They [King's Academy] kick hard and run fast," said SAS head coach Harrison Camp, "but we defended with passion and attacked with creativity."

The first half started with even play, including a King's goal from poor clearance by SAS.

Before halftime, Tommy Oliver, a senior from Sewanee, netted a third goal for the Mountain Lions from service by Steven Zhu, a sophomore boarding student from Shanghai, China.

In the second half, Smith earned a hat trick with a strong strike from outside the box. Pena also racked up two more goals.

Jake Wiley, a senior from Sewanee, provided valuable leadership for the Mountain Lions from his usual position of centerback.

Larson Heitzenrater, a ninth-grade student from Sewanee, was in goal. SAS hosts the district semifinal game on Saturday, May 7.

Webb School 7, SAS 0

On April 30, the SAS boys' varsity soccer team hosted perennial powerhouse Webb School of Knoxville and fell hard, 7-0.

"They [Webb] are good, quick and technical," Camp said, "but not magical. We should and will do better."

The Spartans racked up four goals in the first half from a variety of plays, including a corner, some combination play and a header from a big throw-in.

The Mountain Lions defended with more purpose in the second half, but they could not finish on the attack.

Before the end of play, the Spartans added three more goals, including a shot from an unmarked player on a short ball, more combination play and an opportunity from open near post.

Heitzenrater was in goal for SAS, and Aidan Smith, an eighth-grade student from Sewanee, saw his first varsity action.

SAS 2, Red Bank 3

On April 28, the boys' varsity soccer team lost, 3-2, to Red Bank High School. Red Bank scored two goals from simple mistakes in the first half, but SAS responded in the second half. Oliver found the back of the net from service by Zhu.

Zhu later executed a "textbook header," according to Camp, from a cross by Oliver.

The Lions outdistanced the Mountain Lions with a third goal from a corner kick.

SAS Finishes Second in League Championship

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee middle school volleyball team played its way into the championship match of the Mountain Valley League (formerly the Big 8) Volleyball Tournament on April 23, but fell to Swiss Memorial Elementary School in the finals.

The Mountain Lions defeated Jasper, 2-0, and Monteagle, 2-0, to advance to the championship, where they lost to Swiss, 3-1. The SAS girls played hard in the championship match and kept it competitive. Swiss and SAS had split their two regular season meetings.

The Mountain Lions finish the season at 13-2, second in the regular season. Kendale James and Morgan Phares led SAS in the championship game, each serving 18 times, which included three aces each. Katie-Finn Hurst was a strong serving presence all day, leading the team in the tournament with eight aces.

Anna Post and Saje Mangru attacked the nets and led the team in kills. Cate Bachman, Lucy Carroll, Zoe Wallace and Mary B. Smith did great work in digging, passing and setting.

Phares and Smith were named to the All-District Team at the conclusion of the tournament. League coaches vote on the honor.

Kendale James of SAS serves during the league tournament.

Monteagle Elementary School is very proud of their girls' volleyball team. The team finished third in the Mountain Valley League Volleyball Tournament on April 23. "These girls have worked very hard and had a great season. Thanks go to Mrs. Masters for her time and dedication to the team and Mrs. Nina for being the No. 1 fan," said Principal Janet Layne. Men's Tennis Team Wins SAA Championship

The No. 36-ranked Sewanee men's tennis team won its fourth straight Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Championship, on May 1, with a 5-1 victory over rival Birmingham-Southern at Old Fort Park in Murfreesboro.

The Tigers will enter their draw in the upcoming NCAA Tournament with an 18-6 record. Sewanee has won five straight matches and 14 of its past 15 contests.

Sewanee opened by taking two of three doubles matches. At No. 3, the team of Davis Owen and Scott Gallimore defeated Henry Crosby and David Goodloe by a score of 8-5. After the Panthers won at No. 2, Sewanee's Eric Roddy and Jack Gray held on for a key victory at No. 1, winning a 10-3 tiebreaker for a 9-8 win.

The Tigers would then roll to victory with three wins in singles. At No. 1, Avery Schober defeated Alex Makarenko in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2. Gray then topped Patrick Hire at No. 3, 6-3, 6-1, while Gallimore rolled over Lee Thompson, 6-3, 6-2.

Schober, the tournament MVP, and Roddy were named to the All-Tournament team.

The Tigers will play in the NCAA Tournament for the third straight season. Sewanee has won at least one match in each of the last two seasons at the St. Louis (Washington University) Regional.

The SAA champion Sewanee men's tennis team. The Tigers are bound for the NCAA Tournament on May 13.

Sewanee Softball Summer Camps

The Sewanee softball program is offering two camps this summer.

The Sewanee Softball Elite Camp, June 7-9, is a three-day residential camp designed for high school athletes to improve their skills offensively and defensively by working closely with college coaches and players.

Instructors are Sewanee head softball coach Merritt Yackey and assistant coach Michelle Thibodeaux.

Campers will stay two nights in the Sewanee dorms and get a feel for the experience and opportunities on a college campus.

The camp is for rising ninth-graders through seniors in high school, and the cost is $299. All meals are included.

The Sewanee Softball Youth Camp is June 13-15 and is open to players of all abilities ages 6-13. The camp will run 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day, and the cost is $100.

College players and coaches will work with young players on fielding, hitting, pitching and catching.

For more information on the camps and to register visit <sewanee.edu/softballcamp>, or contact Thibodeaux at <mrthibod@sewanee.edu> or (931) 598-1380.

Golf Team Earns First-Ever NCAA Bid

For the first time in program history, the Sewanee women's golf team has been invited to participate at the NCAA Division III Women's Golf Championships.

The Tigers received an at-large bid after ranking among the top 10 teams in the nation during the fall and spring seasons. Seventeen conferences were granted automatic qualification, and the remaining four teams were selected on an at-large basis from conferences and the remaining independent institutions.

Six individual golfers, not from selected teams, also were selected for the Championships. The Championships will consist of both team and individual competition, conducted concurrently. The tournament consists of 72 holes of play during four days of competition.

The Championships are May 10-13 at Bay Oaks Country Club in Houston, Texas. The University of Mary Hardin-Baylor and Harris County-Houston Sports Authority will serve as hosts.

The Tigers recently finished as the runner-up at the Southern Athletic Association Championships behind Rhodes College.

Summer Equestrian Camp

The Sewanee equestrian program will host four separate riding camps this summer. Each camp is $400 per week and includes horse boarding. The camps, open to ages 6 to 18, will take place June 13-17; June 20-24; July 5-9; and July 11-15. This is a day camp only, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. For more information email <kmgordy@sewanee.edu>.

Sewanee Women Capture Fourth Straight SAA Tennis Title

For the fourth season in a row, the Sewanee women's tennis team is the Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Tournament champions. The Tigers, ranked 12th nationally, defeated rival Birmingham-Southern, 5-0, on May 1 at Old Fort Park in Murfreesboro.

The Tigers will enter the NCAA Tournament with a 21-5 overall record. After running through the conference since April 2, Sewanee has also won 14 straight matches. Additionally, Sewanee has not dropped a single point since its 5-1 win over No. 15 DePauw on March 26.

On May 1, Sewanee quickly jumped in front, when the No. 1 doubles team of Lindsey Liles and Clementina Davila defeated Carlee Petro and Sara Cohen, 8-3.

At No. 2 doubles, Bea Benavides and Christina Merchant defeated Isabella Wisener and McKenzie Courtney by the same 8-3 score.

Finally, Maggie Crumbliss and Maura McCrary topped Mary Madison Taylor and Mary Evelyn Carroll, 8-4.

The Tigers wrapped up their fourth straight title, as Davila defeated Cohen, 6-0, 6-0, at No. 2 singles, and Taylor Childress rolled past Carroll, 6-2, 6-1, at No. 5.

Liles and Benavides both earned All-Tournament honors, and Liles was named MVP of the tournament.

Sewanee will now wait to see if they will play host to an NCAA Regional match on May 13.

The Sewanee women's tennis team with their championship trophy after winning the Southern Athletic Association Championship in Murfreesboro.

The Aurora Damsel

Robley Hood recently photographed her 27th damselfly species at one of the ponds on Day Lake Road. The Aurora Damsel (Chromagrion conditum) had not previously been reported for Franklin County to Odanata Central.

"I submitted it to the database after the damsel was confirmed by experts in my Southeastern Odes group on Facebook," Hood said. "This makes 36 species of dragonfly and 27 of damselfly that I have positively identified through sighting and photography. I was pretty excited, I have to admit."

State Park Offerings

Sunday, May 8

Mother's Day Jaunt — Meet hiking enthusiast Eleanor at 1 p.m. at Savage Gulf ranger station, 3177 Highway 399, Palmer, for this 6-mile hike to the third overlook on the North Rim Trail and back. Bring water and a snack.

Friday, May 13

Stone Door Hike — Meet Ranger Aaron at 2 p.m. at the Stone Door parking lot, 1183 Stone Door

Rd., Beersheba Springs, for an easy 2-mile hike to see this beautiful overlook, one of the most stunning in the state, with views across the entire Savage Gulf State Natural Area. Wear sturdy shoes, bring a bottle of water and don't forget your camera.

The South Cumberland State Park Visitors' Center is on Highway 41 South between Monteagle and Tracy City and is open 8 a.m.–4:30 p.m., seven days a week. For more information call (931) 924-2980.

Park Video to Debut in Schools

Friends of South Cumberland (FSC) Board member Eric Dempsey recently completed a new video highlighting the 10 separate parks of the South Cumberland and their many natural wonders.

The video will debut in the Grundy County fourth-grade classrooms on Monday, May 9, and Tuesday, May 10. The video will then be available for viewing at the park's Visitors' Center.

After many changes in the park, the old video was in need of updating.

Videographer Eric Dempsey and his daughter, Briley, a sixth-grader at Swiss Memorial, live in Gruetli-Laager.

Murphy

Kim

Pets of the Week

Meet Murphy and Kim

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Murphy is a darling little adult rat terrier-mix who may play hard-to-get when he meets new friends. Once he gets to know you, he is an energetic bundle of love. He is heartworm-negative, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and neutered.

Kim is a beautiful fluffy, adult tabby kitty with a sweet disposition. Since being found as a stray, she prefers to spend her time lounging in her condo. Kim is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and spayed.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is now in its new shelter at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information, and check out their other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Please help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P. O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Stopping the Emerald Ash Borer

by Mary Webb Banning, Ned Spratt, Ruffin Blackwell and John Fisher

The emerald ash borer, Agrilus planipennis, is an invasive insect species that arrived to the U.S. in 2002. The wood-boring insect is native to eastern Asia and was first discovered in Detroit, Mich. This insect currently attacks four major North American ash (Fraxinus) species, white ash (F. americana), black ash (F. nigra), green ash (F. pennsylvanica) and blue ash (F. quadrangulata), although it is capable of infesting and damaging any ash species.

The emerald ash borer (EAB) has currently expanded its range to 24 states, including 47 counties in this state, among them Franklin County. One of the largest contributions to its expansion is people carrying host firewood into areas not yet affected by EAB.

Early detection is the best way to beat this pest. Ashes are most easily identified as one of very few trees that have opposite, pinnately compound leaves in the Sewanee area. Research shows it is better to treat ash trees prior to actual physical symptoms showing if EAB is identified in the surrounding areas. Physical tree symptoms from an EAB infestation include S-shaped galleries in the phloem (underneath bark); D-shaped exit holes in the outer bark; woodpecker marks around the stem of the tree; and canopy dieback in late stages of the infestation. Studies show that emerald ash borer eventually kills every host tree carrying the insect if it is not treated with insecticides. Ash seedlings are unlikely to reach maturity with continual pressure from the insect, which poses a large issue regarding the future composition of North America's forests.

Our senior project has yet to find living emerald ash borer insects, but we have identified several individuals that could be hosts in the Sewanee area. We suggest members of the community be aware of potential symptoms of emerald ash borer in the forest and in landscape ash trees. If you see a possible ash tree that has been infested, please contact the local Tennessee Department of Forestry or a local arborist.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

University Graduation, May 8

'Tis done:—I tow'r to that degree,
And catch such heavenly fire,
That Horace ne'er could rant like me,
Nor is King's chapel higher,—
My name in sure recording page
Shall time itself o'erpow'r,
If no rude mice with envious rage
The buttery books devour.
A title too with added grace,
My name shall now attend.
Till to the church with silent pace
A nymph and priest ascend.
Ev'n in the schools I now rejoice,
Where late I shook with fear,
Nor heed the Moderator's voice
Loud thundering in my ear...
Invest me with a graduate's gown,
Midst shouts of all beholders,
My head with ample square-cap crown,
And deck with hood my shoulders.
