

Lunch Program Feeds Hundreds of Kids

by Kevin Cummings, Messenger Staff Writer

"That's the best lunch meal I've had in a long time," said the 7-year-old boy. He was talking about the June 15 lunch of chicken sandwich with lettuce and tomato, potatoes in olive oil and pesto, seasoned carrots, chocolate milk, and mixed fruit provided by the South Cumberland Summer Meal Program.

"I didn't eat the kiwi; I don't like kiwi," he added.

With or without kiwi, this is the type of nourishing meal kids in Grundy and Franklin counties are getting for free this summer, thanks to a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) grant and a partnership between the South Cumberland Community Fund and the University of the South.

Kelly Farina, an Americorps VISTA and program coordinator of the meal program, said organizers served more than 2,000 lunches the first week of June.

"Each of our sites has done a great job reaching out to kids and teens in their communities," Farina said. "We are very excited about all the great work they are doing and the dedication they have to helping make this program a success."

St. James Episcopal Church, Otey Parish, Grundy Housing Authority and May Justus Memorial Library in Monteagle are among more than a dozen sites in the two counties where kids 18 and under can get a free lunch regardless of family income level.

St. James has been the busiest site, Farina noted, with volunteers there serving 40 to 50 kids each day.

University executive chef Rick Wright and staff members of McClurg Dining Hall are preparing about 500 nutritious meals each day, Wright said.

"It would be easier and less expensive to meet the USDA requirements by using processed and packaged foods, as many sponsors do; that is not acceptable for me," he said. "We do almost everything from scratch and exceed the dietary requirements set by the USDA."

A lunch last week included chicken fajitas with grilled natural chicken, local peppers and onions, a whole wheat tortilla and real cheese, with refried pinto beans, Spanish brown rice, and a fresh pineapple and shredded coconut cup.

When school closes for the summer, many children have less to eat. One out

Kevin Willis (right) and Mark Jackson will be joined by Herschel Van Dyke, Nikki Chavez and Peter Keeble, as the Uprights perform tonight (Friday) at the Sewanee Angel Park. University Avenue will be closed at 6 p.m. so guests can safely enjoy all the activities. The music will begin at 7:30 p.m. The Uprights play a mix of roots and blues music, with both originals and old favorites. Friday Nights in the Park is hosted by the Sewanee Business Alliance and sponsored by generous donations from businesses and organizations across the area.

Tracy City Wins Clean Energy Grant

Tracy City is among the 38 communities that received word on June 15 that it has been awarded a $125,000 grant by the Clean Tennessee Energy program. Tennessee Gov. Bill Haslam and Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation Commissioner Bob Martineau announced more than $3.1 million to fund energy efficiency projects for local governments and municipalities, utilities and state entities across Tennessee.

Tracy City's grant was awarded for a proposal to conduct a major retrofit at the South Cumberland Learning and Development Center, which is being developed on the site of the old Grundy County High School. The project will consist of new HVAC units, more ceiling insulation and caulking exterior windows.

The building was constructed in

SUD Negotiating Compensation for Flawed Meters

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the June 16 meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Sewanee Utility District (SUD) of Franklin and Marion Counties, SUD Manager Ben Beavers told the board he would meet Thursday with a representative from Itron to discuss compensations for the flawed meters supplied by the company. Beavers also updated the board on the sewer inspection and cleaning work.

SUD began installing new meters system-wide last August in conjunction with the upgrade to automated meter reading (AMR) technology. Of more than 1,200 meters, nearly 10 percent have failed, Beavers said. According to the manufacturer's warranty, if the failure rate exceeds 5 percent, the company bears labor and fitting-related replacement costs, in addition to supplying replacement meters. Itron has acknowledged the meters from a particular lot had faulty radio transmitters. Beavers said the flawed meters can be identified by their serial numbers. SUD wants the manufacturer to take full responsibility for replacing all meters still in the ground that are likely to fail. SUD will also request labor and parts compensation for the more than 100 meters already replaced by SUD and an extended warranty on the meters.

In discussing the financial statement for May, Beavers said the cash-on-hand reserve, $1,352,888, had nearly returned to the June 2014 level. A year ago, SUD began withdrawing funds from the cash reserve to pay for the $350,000 AMR upgrade.

"It's good to know we can do a capital improvement project without borrowing money," Beavers said. The AMR project came in $50,000 under budget because SUD employees performed much of the labor. A loan for the project would have cost SUD $25,000-$30,000.

Updating the board on the cleaning and video surveying of SUD's sewer lines by the firm Sani-Tech, Beavers said the work was nearly finished except in difficult-to-access locations where more portable equipment was needed. SUD commissioner Ken Smith reported that the July 1 start-up date for the constructed wetlands project has been delayed. This is an effort undertaken jointly by the University of the South and the University of Georgia to examine using wetlands to treat wastewater. Complications and costs have forced the researchers to simplify the design, Smith said. Golder and Associates, the engineering firm in charge of the project, has indicated a costly pump is needed, when SUD has offered to supply the researchers with a pump meeting design specifications free of charge. Discussion is ongoing.

The SUD board will not meet in July. The next meeting is scheduled for Aug. 4 rather than on the regular fourth-Tuesday meeting date.

Parade Entry Sign-Up for Fourth of July

Sewanee Purple Mountain Majesty on the Fourth of July needs your participation. Organizers hope to have as many parade entries as possible. Gather up your family, friends and co-workers and join in! This year's parade will travel downhill from Hall Street to the Sewanee Market at 2 p.m. on July 4. Parade entries must be made by June 30. To enter the parade email Heather Walsh at <sewanee4thofjulyparade@gmail.com> or call (678) 617-0505.

T-shirts with this year's logo and theme are available to pre-order ($15) by contacting Jade McBee by email, <jademcbee@gmail.com>.

Sewanee Summer Music Festival Opens

About 200 music students and faculty artists will arrive on the Mountain when the 59th annual Sewanee Summer Music Festival (SSMF) begins.

The SSMF office has become command central as students from 39 states and five foreign countries see to last-minute details for their trip and four-week stay. Local volunteers have been assisting with preparations and are an essential part of the welcome and orientation on Saturday.

At 5:30 p.m., Saturday, June 20, faculty artists will present the gala opening concert in Guerry Auditorium. Works of George Gershwin, Benjamin Britten, Jean Francaix, William Alwyn and Ivan Trevino are on the program. A reception follows in Convocation Hall for all who attend.

Tickets are available at the door, or a discount is available for online purchases at <ssmf.1nticketing.com>.

For more information about SSMF, go to <sewaneemusicfestival.org>.

Archaeology Opportunities at Rebel's Rest

Tap into your inner Indiana Jones as the Rebel's Rest excavation site welcomes volunteers who have a passion for Sewanee history or have always wanted to try their hand at archaeology. Excavation and artifact processing teams of volunteers will begin work on Monday, June 22.

On July 23, 2014, fire destroyed the second floor of the 148-year-old historic house. The building was in the midst of renovations.

Volunteers on the project must be at least 16 years old and are asked to commit to two half-days or one full day per week on the site or in the lab.

For more information email <sei@sewanee.edu> to receive a detailed information packet with excavation and lab protocols and waiver forms. Information is also available at <www.sewanee.edu/rebelsrest>.

F@HONPUBLIC TV

To the Editor:

Folks at Home (F@H) was honored to be included in the documentary produced by Nashville Public Television that aired on May 28, 2015. You may view this online <www.nptintertel.org/productions/agingmatters/aip/>.

I am grateful for the participation of the Sewanee Senior Center and F@H members Karen and Bob Keele, Barbara Hughes (member and volunteer), Elizabeth Ferguson (graduate of the School of Theology and vetted vendor) and Sewanee student volunteer Marti Luby.

We also want to acknowledge local author Sally Hubbard who is donating all profits from her new book, "Yesterday's Water: A Caregiver's Poem Journal," to F@H.

The greater Sewanee community is responsible for the ongoing successes of F@H. Thanks to all of our members, donors, volunteers and Time-bank members.

Folks at Home is a local nonprofit organization developed for and dedicated to assisting its members in continuing a dignified and comfortable lifestyle in the community through coordination of services they need during elder years. Anyone of any age is invited to participate. For more information contact us at 598-0303 or <<http://folksathome.org/>>.

Two Sites on National Register of Historic Places

Two area locations were on the list of sites added to the National Register of Historic Places by the Tennessee Historical Commission recently. The National Register of Historic Places is the nation's official list of cultural resources worthy of preservation. It is part of a nationwide program that coordinates to identify, evaluate and protect historic resources.

The sites recently added to the National Register of Historic Places include Sewanee Fire Lookout Tower and Christ Episcopal Church.

The Sewanee Fire Lookout Tower is the first of several National Register nominations that will be listed under the "Tennessee Division of Forestry Fire Lookout Towers 1933-75," that will provide a history of fire towers and the role they played in the state forest service's effort to manage their lands. The tower in Sewanee is an Aeromotor MC-39 steel structure built from 1933 to 1934 by the Civilian Conservation Corps. In addition to the tower, the complex includes several other buildings constructed around 1934 that were vital to forestry fire management: two utility buildings, a crew cabin, a vehicle service platform and the lookout operator's cabin. A new crew building was erected in the 1940s, and in 1950 a radio tower with an equipment building was added to the complex.

The Gothic Revival-style Christ Episcopal Church was built in Tracy City in 1925. The one-story building is covered in weatherboards and is embellished with Gothic-arched stained glass windows, multi-pane windows and brackets under the eaves. The church retains woodwork from an 1873 church destroyed in a storm. There is dark wood wainscoting, wood ceiling and window trim and plaster walls. The church has had no major changes to its historic materials.

Upcoming Meetings & Events

Mindfulness Meditation Today

A mindfulness meditation group will meet twice this summer at the Sewanee Community Center: 5:30 p.m., today (Friday), June 19; and 5:30 p.m., Friday, July 17. The group uses meditation exercises designed by Thích Nhất Hạnh.

FSC Annual Meeting on Saturday

The Friends of South Cumberland (FSC) will have its annual meeting and picnic at noon on Saturday, June 20, at the park visitor's center. The FSC board will meet prior to the event at 9:30 a.m. For more information email <info@trailsandrilliums.org> or call (931) 924-2623.

Uganda Volunteer Session on Sunday

An information session about volunteer opportunities in Uganda will take place at 1 p.m., Sunday, June 21, in St. Mark's Hall, Otey Parish. Writer and poet Sally Hubbard and professor Paige Schneider will share the history of Sewanee's collaboration with Hope Institute and their own experiences in Uganda. They will describe the myriad ways Sewanee residents can help. Volunteers of all types are needed: from students considering a gap year, to families interested in a volunteer vacation, to retired professionals.

Community Council Cancels June Meeting

The Sewanee Community Council meeting scheduled for 7 p.m., Monday, June 22, has been canceled.

Fourth of July 2015 Planning Meetings

The planning committee for this year's Fourth of July will meet at 5 p.m., Tuesday, June 23, in the Sewanee Senior Center. The group will also meet at 5 p.m., Tuesday, June 30, and Wednesday, July 1.

GAAC Hosts Potluck on Tuesday

The Grundy Area Arts Council (GAAC) will host a potluck dinner at 5:30 p.m., Tuesday, June 23, in the Arts Council Room of the Water Building, next to the old high school in Tracy City. Bring a dish to share and hear ideas for arts on the Plateau. Music will be provided by the Tuesday Acoustic Jam, and drinks by the GAAC.

Democratic Women Meet on Tuesday

Franklin County Democratic Women will meet at 6 p.m., Tuesday, June 23, at the Oasis Restaurant in Winchester. Former Congressional candidate Lenda Sherrell will talk about women in Tennessee politics.

Area Rotary Club Meetings

The Grundy County Rotary Club meets at 11:30 a.m., Tuesdays, at Dutch Maid Bakery in Tracy City.

The Monteagle Sewanee Rotary Club meets 8-9 a.m., Thursdays, at the Sewanee Inn.

Benefit for Singer & Caldwell Families on June 27

VFW Post 9586 in Monteagle will host a fund-raiser at 2 p.m., Saturday, June 27, for Chris Singer, who is recovering from brain surgery, and Patsy Caldwell who lost her home and all her belongings to a fire. There will be bands, food and raffles; donations for the raffle would be appreciated. All proceeds will go directly to the two families. For more information call Bob at (931) 259-5811.

Change in Hospital Leadership

Southern Tennessee Regional Health System (STRHS) announced today that Jerry Dooley will assume the top leadership post on an interim basis while a national search is launched for a new executive to fill the dual role of chief executive officer (CEO) for its Winchester and Sewanee facilities and market president for the four-hospital health system.

Current CEO and Market President Phil Young will depart on June 30 to take a new position with LifePoint Health, providing support to new hospitals joining the company.

STRHS is part of LifePoint Health, a leading healthcare company dedicated to making communities healthier. Young has served as CEO of LifePoint's facilities in Winchester and Sewanee since 2009 and as market president since the formation of STRHS in 2014.

"Jerry will do a terrific job leading STRHS's four hospitals in the region," said Robert Klein, chief operating officer for LifePoint Health's Central Group, of which STRHS is a part. "His strong leadership skills and deep knowledge of hospital administration are just what the hospitals need to ensure that there is continued momentum and a smooth transition to a new permanent leader.

Dooley, a hospital administrator with more than 30 years of experience, joined LifePoint Health in 2006 and has served as interim CEO for a number of the company's hospitals. Dooley holds a master's degree in economics from Indiana State University and a master's degree in hospital administration from the University of Minnesota.

Lytle's Novel Exposes Crisis in Rural America

Released June 1, Leslie Lytle's new novel "Chicken Stock" speaks to rural America's struggle against corporate agriculture through the eyes of one woman—a wife and young mother—catapulted unwillingly to the front lines by her husband's dying words: "Promise me, Berta, promise me you'll keep the farm going." Locked in a David-and-Goliath conflict with powers well beyond her control, a fatherless child to provide for, and their own survival dependent upon the fragile lives of thousands of baby chicks, Berta must find a path forward where her son can know and love the farm the way his father had.

Wrote one reviewer, "There is a crisis in rural America that is nearly hidden to the rest of us, but 'Chicken Stock' exposes this crisis. This gentle novel has a quiet strength and powerful message."

Lytle's short fiction and poems have appeared in a number of literary magazines and journals. She is a staff writer for the Sewanee Mountain Messenger and author of the book "Execution's Doorstep," about which Publishers Weekly wrote, "Lytle brings the capital punishment debate into sharp focus with her account of five men wrongly convicted and sentenced to death, but later freed."

Published by Hedgehog & Fox, Boulder, Colo., "Chicken Stock" is available from online retailers and locally at the University Bookstore. To learn more about Lytle and her work, go to <www.leslielytle.net>.

1937 and is currently vacant. Additionally, the project is being implemented under the direction of the U.S. Department of Energy as "Energy Savers" for construction and renovation.

The various improvements will result in an estimated 30 percent reduction in annual kWh consumption, and an estimated $10,000 a year in monetary savings. An estimated 467 metric tons of carbon dioxide emissions will be reduced from the atmosphere.

"Clean Tennessee Energy grants fund projects that help our communities become more energy-efficient while providing long-term cost savings for taxpayers," Haslam said. "I want to thank all of these groups for their commitment to improving our communities, our environment and our state."

The grant program provides financial assistance to eligible entities in Tennessee to purchase, install and construct environmental mitigation projects, and this is the largest amount of funding that has been allocated from the grant program since its inception.

Funding for the projects comes from an April 2011 Clean Air Act settlement with the Tennessee Valley Authority. Under the Consent Decree, Tennessee will receive $26.4 million over five years to fund clean-air programs in the state.

To date, TDEC has reimbursed roughly $6.1 million in funding to grantees for a variety of innovative projects to reduce environmental impacts and operating costs at sites of new construction and sites with aging infrastructure.

In Thurmond Library, Bonnie McCardell reads to children who came for lunch at Otey Parish.

of every three children are food-insecure on the Cumberland Plateau, Wright said, adding that most children do not get the minimum requirement of fruits and vegetables.

"Proper nutrition is critical to a child's development. Not having enough of the right kinds of food can have serious implications for a child's physical and mental health, academic achievement and future economic prosperity," he said. "...No child should be hungry, not even sometimes, and every child should be getting fruits and vegetables."

Wright credits Farina with much of the work in establishing the meal program. "Overall the kids we are serving have really been enjoying the meals," Farina said. "Everything has been very filling and nutritious, and all the people at McClurg have been doing a great job and are really working to make this program the best it can be."

The summer meal program will be back next year, Farina added.

Lunch days vary at the meal sites, and the sites also have activities for kids, like reading programs and guest speakers. Otey Parish serves meals from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays; St. James serves from noon to 1 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays; Grundy Housing Authority serves breakfast from 9 to 10 a.m. and lunch from 1 to 2 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays; May Justus Memorial Library has a reading program from 10 to 11 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, with lunch following.

A full schedule is available at "South Cumberland Summer Meal Program" on Facebook, or contact Farina at <sfvpvsta@gmail.com> or 598-1851 for more information.

MSSA Highlights for June 21–27

The Monteagle Sunday School Assembly (MSSA) in Monteagle continues its 133rd consecutive summer season

The Assembly's third week features an eclectic mix of performances and lectures that emphasize music, culture, and history. In a rare out-of-Nashville performance, the radio program Music City Roots brings its show to the MSSA auditorium on Friday for a 7 p.m. show; doors open at 6 p.m.

"We are thrilled to bring this show to Monteagle, and we invite our community to join in the fun," said Becky Nelson, MSSA program director. "It is a not-to-be-missed event and a truly unique experience."

As always, the show will be hosted by Grammy-winning songwriter Jim Lauderdale, Tennessee Hall of Fame Broadcaster Keith Bilbrey and journalist/interview guy Craig Havighurst. Admission is free.

Bring a picnic or have a box dinner, which are available for pre-order at the Assembly office.

The history of Charles Lindbergh's historic flight across the Atlantic will come to life when performer Steve Carroll brings his show, "Charles Lindbergh: The Lone Eagle" to Warren Chapel at 8:15 p.m., Tuesday, June 23.

Carroll first developed and produced the show in June 2001. In the years since, he has taken his show to professional theaters, colleges, high schools, historical societies, senior centers, museums, libraries, country clubs and aviation groups all around the country. The president of the Charles A. and Anne Morrow Lindbergh Foundation endorsed the play, and Carroll performed the show for Lindbergh's daughter on the 75th anniversary of the famous transatlantic flight.

Also this week: Brad Gioia lecture, "The World is Too Much With Us," 11 a.m., Tuesday, June 23; Troy Marden lecture, "Wits' End—A Collector's Garden," at 11 a.m., Wednesday, June 24; Sherry Guyer and Bonnie McCardell lecture, "Discover Together: Building Resiliency in Grundy County," 11 a.m., Thursday, June 25; Pamela Macfie lecture, "Rosemary and Rue, Violets and Primroses: Shakespeare's Language of Flowers," 11 a.m., Friday, June 26. All lectures are in Warren Chapel.

The eight-week season will continue through Sunday, August 2, featuring numerous visiting lecturers who will present morning and evening programs in Warren Chapel that are open free of charge to the public.

For more information call (931) 924-2286 or go online, <www.mssa1882.org>.

Apply Now for Heating Assistance

Though it is hard to imagine during these hot summer days, Southeast Tennessee Human Resource Agency (SETHRA) is now taking applications for the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) for the fiscal year 2015–16.

SETHRA is also taking Energy Crisis (emergency) program applications. These programs help with winter heating costs for low-income families.

Applicants must include income documentation for all in the household and copies of Social Security cards for all household members. Also include a copy of the energy bill with the highest cost.

SETHRA will ensure that no person, on the basis of disability, race, color, sex, age or national origin, will be excluded from participation in the LIHEAP program.

This program is funded by the Tennessee Department of Human Resources.

For more information contact South Central Human Resource Agency in Winchester at 967-1438.

BE SAFE! OBEY THE BICYCLE HELMET LAW

Tennessee law requires all persons under the age of 12 to wear a helmet while riding a bicycle on any state road. University Avenue is a state road and, therefore subject to the law. The act also contains provisions requiring restraining seats on bicycles for passengers who are children under 40 pounds or who are less than 40" tall.

Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties Water Quality Report 2014

Is my drinking water safe?

Yes, our water meets all of EPA's health standards. We have conducted numerous tests for over 80 contaminants that may be in drinking water. As you'll see in the chart below, we detected only 11 of these contaminants. We found all of these contaminants at safe levels.

What is the source of my water?

Your water, which is surface water, comes from Lakes O'Donnell and Jackson. Our goal is to protect our water from contaminants and we are working with the State to determine the vulnerability of our water source to potential contamination. The Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation (TDEC) has prepared a Source Water Assessment Program (SWAP) Report for the untreated water sources serving this water system. The SWAP Report assesses the susceptibility of untreated water sources to potential contamination. To ensure safe drinking water, all public water systems treat and routinely test their water. Water sources have been rated as reasonably susceptible, moderately susceptible or slightly susceptible based on geologic factors and human activities in the vicinity of the water source. The Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties (SUD) sources rated as slightly susceptible to potential contamination.

An explanation of Tennessee's Source Water Assessment Program, the Source Water Assessment summaries, susceptibility scorings and the overall TDEC report to EPA can be viewed online at <www.state.tn.us/environment/dws/dwassess.shtml>, or you may contact the Water System to obtain copies of specific assessments.

Why are there contaminants in my water?

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. Community water systems are required to disclose the detection of contaminants; however, bottled water companies are not required to comply with this regulation. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

For more information about your drinking water, please call Water Superintendent James Smartt at 598-5201.

Este informe contiene información muy importante. Tradúscalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

How can I get involved?

Our Board of Commissioners meets on the fourth Tuesday of every month at 5:00 PM at the Utility Office. Please feel free to participate in these meetings. The SUD Board is elected and consists of five members. Each member serves a four-year term. Decisions by the Board on customer complaints brought before the Board under the District's complaint policy may be reviewed by the Utility Management Review Board of the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation pursuant to Section 7-82-703 (7) of Tennessee Code Annotated. You can also visit our website, <www.sewaneeutility.org>, for more information.

Is our water system meeting other rules that govern our operations?

The State and EPA require us to test and report on our water on a regular basis to ensure its safety. We have met all of these requirements. Results of unregulated contaminant analysis are available upon request. We want you to know that we pay attention to all the rules.

Other Information

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water:

- Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.
- Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff and residential uses.
- Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.
- Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA and the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation prescribe regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. SUD's water treatment processes are designed to reduce any such substances to levels well below any health concern. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Due to all water containing dissolved contaminants, occasionally your water may exhibit slight discoloration. We strive to maintain the standards to prevent this. We at SUD work around the clock to provide top quality water to every tap. We ask that all our customers help us protect our water sources, which are the heart of our community, our way of life and our children's future.

Do I need to take special precautions?

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice from their health care providers about not only their drinking water, but food preparation, personal hygiene, and precautions in handling infants and pets. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Lead in Drinking Water

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. The Sewanee Utility District is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

Water System Security

Following the events of September 2001, we realize that our customers are concerned about the security of their drinking water. We urge the public to report any suspicious activities at any utility facilities, including treatment plants, pumping stations, tanks, fire hydrants, etc., to 598-5611.

Water Quality Data

What does this chart mean?

- MCLG: Maximum Contaminant Level Goal, or the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
- MCL: Maximum Contaminant Level, or the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology. To understand the possible health effects described for many regulated constituents, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-a-million chance of having the described health effect.
- MRDL: Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level: the highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for the control of microbial contaminants.
- MRDLG: Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal: the level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.
- BDL: Below Detection Level: laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present at a level that can be detected.

Contaminant	Violation Yes/No	Level Detected	Range of Detections	Date of Sample	Unit Measurement	MCLG	MCL	Likely Source of Contamination

- AL: Action Level, or the concentration of a contaminant which, when exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.
- Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/L): explained as a relation to time and money as one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.
- Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter: explained as a relation to time and money as one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.
- NTU: Nephelometric Turbidity Unit: nephelometric turbidity unit is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable to the average person.
- TT: Treatment Technique, or a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

During the most recent round of Lead and Copper testing, 0 out of 20 households sampled contained concentrations exceeding the action level.

<sup>2</sup> Infants and young children are typically more vulnerable to lead in drinking water than the general population. It is possible that lead levels at your home may be higher than at other homes in the community as a result of materials used in your home's plumbing. If you are concerned about elevated lead levels in your home's water, you may wish to have your water tested and flush your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using tap water. Additional information is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

<sup>3</sup> Nitrate in drinking water at levels above 10 ppm is a health risk for infants of less than six months of age. High nitrate levels in drinking water can cause blue baby syndrome. Nitrate levels may rise quickly for short periods of time because of rainfall or agricultural activity. If you are caring for an infant you should ask advice from your health care provider.

<sup>4</sup> While your drinking water meets EPA's standard for trihalomethanes, it does contain low levels. Some people who drink water containing trihalomethanes in excess of the MCL over many years may experience problems with their liver, kidneys, or central nervous system, and may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

Painting as a Meditation at St. Mary's Sewanee

Artist Tony Winters will offer a five-day landscape painting class at St. Mary's Sewanee beginning on July 24. Painters of all experience levels are welcome, from beginner to advanced.

Winters and workshop participants will explore the art of outdoor painting as a means of connecting with the living landscape. Participants will work on projects designed to build painting skills, ranging from long-distance vistas to close-up plant studies. The instructor will work individually with each participant to enhance the painting experience, including any special individual goals.

Through his art, Winters seeks to capture and communicate the feelings experienced in the presence of nature. His current paintings focus on three landscapes to which he returns often: the Hudson River Valley, Tennessee's Cumberland Plateau and the Sonoran Desert of Arizona.

St. Mary's Sewanee is offering two versions. The extended workshop will be Friday, July 24–Wednesday, July 29. An abbreviated workshop will be Friday, July 24–Sunday, July 26. For more information, including fees and housing options, contact St. Mary's Sewanee at 598-5342 or email <reservations@stmaryssewanee.org>.

Summer Programs on the Sewanee Campus

Among the many programs taking place on campus this summer are:

The Sewanee Summer Music Festival begins on June 20 and lasts until July 19. More than 170 aspiring young musicians from around the United States and abroad join with teachers, performers and internationally recognized guest artists to create a musical community in Sewanee. Concert dates and ticket availability can be found at <sewaneeemusicfestival.org>.

The Sewanee Summer Seminar is preparing for its 40th year of a week-long program in support of lifelong learning. In the morning, each participant is actively engaged in learning, and in the afternoon, is encouraged to sit back and relax, to get to know some interesting people, and to recharge their spirit on the Domain. Session one is June 21–27; session two is July 5–11.

Girls High School Lacrosse camp is June 24–28. It is designed to provide quality instruction in both team and individual play. Campers should expect a fun, but intense experience meant to challenge them to become more complete players. A three-session mini camp for goalkeepers will provide quality, individualized instruction designed to increase their level of play prior to the field player arrivals.

Tiger Tennis Camp is comprised of four sessions throughout the month of June. The Junior Tennis Camps are divided into the Camp of Champions and Tiger Tennis Camp. The Camp of Champions is for state and sectionally ranked junior players who want high intensity training. Tiger Tennis Camp is for players whose levels range from beginners and intermediates through high school athletes.

Sewanee Summer School is in session until July 19. It fulfills a number of purposes. Summer School offers an opportunity for College students to take courses not normally available during the academic year to broaden their academic program. It also serves previously enrolled students in the University who desire to speed the acquisition of their college degrees or to gain additional credits toward completion of their class standings. Incoming freshmen also take Summer School for an opportunity to adapt themselves to the academic demands of College in an environment that is relatively free of the usual pressures of extracurricular activities.

Sewanee School of Letters will continue through July 17. It is a summer program in literature and creative writing that offers a master of arts degree and a master in fine arts degree.

Sewanee's Pre-College Field Studies Experience is a summer residential program for talented students who are passionate about the outdoors and interested in advancing their knowledge and skills in the study of the environment. Students will be on campus June 28–July 11.

The 26th session of the Sewanee Writers' Conference will be July 21–Aug. 2. Supported by the Walter E. Dakin Memorial Fund established through the estate of the late Tennessee Williams, the conference will gather a distinguished faculty to provide instruction and criticism through workshops and craft lectures in poetry, fiction and playwriting.

ANGEL WITH AN ATTITUDE

by Virginia Craighill

Dear Angel,

I'm here in Sewanee for a large part of the summer, and people keep talking about seeing copperheads and rattlesnakes on the trails and even closer in. Is this a real problem, and if it is, would you suggest that I avoid going outside?

Snakes on the Brain

Dear Hiss-terical Friend,

Although visitors often describe Sewanee as paradise, even Paradise had its creepy serpent, and we are indeed home to more than a few of his descendants. As for becoming agoraphobic as well as ophidiophobic, you needn't curtail your outdoor activities just because you're sharing the domain with a few poisonous snakes.

Sewanee's summer reptiles are not unlike Sewanee's summer visitors: copperheads like to relax on the porch, and rattlesnakes like to hang out on the Perimeter Trail, sunning themselves on rocks with a southern exposure. So, if you are hiking and fail to notice their colorful beach umbrellas, then listen for their rattle, which is meant as a friendly warning to keep you from interrupting their volleyball games. If you fail to hear their rattle and come upon one unexpectedly, keep in mind (if you are not frightened out of it) that venomous snakes have blunt noses and nonvenomous snakes have pointier snouts (with some exceptions, which, frankly, is too confusing to go into here). However, it's probably best not to get close enough to examine the shape of their noses. They will, probably, stay out of your way.

One excellent sustainable use of Sewanee's serpent population was at last weekend's Alumni Golf Tournament. In order to hasten the progress of the sluggish golf teams that were creating a logjam for the rest of the players, a nest of vipers was unleashed near the slower players. Nothing helps sharpen your focus and improve your putting like a herd of venomous reptiles slithering toward you with fangs bared.

Enjoy your summer!

Angel

Dear Angel,

I have recently heard Sewanee's commercial area at the bottom of University Avenue referred to as "the village." A long-term resident, I don't recall using this term myself. What differences can I expect from Sewanee if it becomes a village rather than a town?

Former Townie

Dear Villager,

It always seemed appropriate to refer to the area you speak of as "downtown Sewanee" because it has the characteristics of a town, and it is literally down at the bottom of the hill. If we must begin to refer to it by that rather quaint term, "village," we will necessarily have to adjust our perspective, and our vocabulary, in several ways. We already have a Village Idiot, thanks to fellow Messenger columnist Peter Trenchi, but if Sewanee's downtown becomes The Village, then logically those who live in Parson's Green should be called the Village People.

But in order not to have the residents confused with the musical group noted for their highly acclaimed 1979 hit "YMCA," it may be better to refer to them as Villagers instead.

The term "villagers," however, is also problematic because it evokes the angry mob of torch-bearing and pitchfork wielding peasants in the film "Frankenstein" that sets out to attack the monster, and, at the very least, it suggests a feudal scenario of villagers who live and toil outside the walls of the castle for the pleasure of the residents therein. At one point in time, this very area was referred to as the Sewanee Depot Village (see Pat Makris Smith's article of the same name), but that was at a time in the University's history when the "village" was separated from the University by a fence, indicating the kind of hierarchical class system it may be best not to call to the historical mind.

In my intensive research on the term "village," I found these sentences through Google:

"They roasted a goat in her village" and

"Meanwhile, residents of _____ settlement attacked _____ village, throwing Molotov cocktails at _____'s home" (shades of Frankenstein).

Also, according to the Minecraft Wiki, "Villagers naturally spawn in villages inside various buildings," and said Villagers can turn into Zombie Villagers, which, I think, is something most people want to avoid in Sewanee. Let's just stick with downtown.

THE INSATIABLE CRITIC

by Elizabeth Ellis

Put on your glass slippers and hop into your pumpkin carriage to the Sewanee Union Theatre, because this upcoming week, it is all about the family features! Tickets are $3 for children and $4 for adults, and there's even a matinee scheduled for your convenience if you need to beat the summer midday heat.

Special Sunday 2 p.m. matinee Sunday, June 21

An old tale gets an updated twist in Disney's live action reboot of a classic. Directed by veteran of the stage and screen Kenneth Branagh, the whole movie has a lush look to it, from the sweeping vistas of the British countryside (the entire movie was shot on location in various parts of England) to the insanely ornate costumes created by Oscar-winning designer Sandy Powel. British actress Lily James plays Ella, our lady of the hour, who is forced to become a servant in her own house after her father's untimely death. She is ruled over by her matriarchal stepmother, played with delicious wickedness by Cate Blanchett. We all know the rest of the story, but what gives this beloved fairy tale a breath of new life is the partnership forged between the Prince and Ella: we get the impression they are acting on equal footing, as Ella must rescue the Prince from his own difficult situation. Having the stepmother be a striking but evil beauty and her complicated relationship with the King adds another layer of intrigue. Helena Bonham Carter is an unexpected choice for the Fairy Godmother, but she gives this magical being with mysterious powers a delightfully down-to-earth attitude—much like a real-life godmother! Children will be entranced, and adults will appreciate the complicated relationship nuances, romantic and familial alike. While still a bit traditional by today's standards, Ella still proves to be worthy in her own right to be the queen she was born to be. As we know in the real world, it takes a lot more work to sit on a throne than just bloodlines and being able to look beautiful in a sparkly dress. Rated PG for mild thematic elements, Disney works its predictable magic for kids of all ages.

Artisan Depot Hosts Show on Inspiration

The newest community art show at the Artisan Depot, "Inspirations," is open now through Aug. 1.

The artists' reception is at 5 p.m., today (Friday), June 19. Die Geschwister will provide folk music for the reception.

In this show local artists have interpreted their inspiration into a piece of art.

The Franklin County Arts Guild invites original contributions from Franklin County artists of all ages in any media for inclusion in its Community Arts Shows at the Artisan Depot. All work must be submitted ready for display.

All work must be submitted in person at the Artisan Depot in Cowan during the intake period, during business hours. Membership in the Guild and a gallery fee is not required for these shows.

The Artisan Depot is operated by the Franklin County Arts Guild and is located at 201 Cumberland St. East in Cowan. Gallery hours are noon to 5 p.m. on Thursdays, Fridays, and Sundays, and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

Pat Bergeson and Annie Sellick: the Babbas

Shakerag Workshops Welcome the Babbas

The Shakerag Lecture Series continues June 21–27, with Annie Sellick and Pat Bergeson, a singing/song-writing duo known as the Babbas. The lecture on song-writing and performing will be at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, June 24, in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts on the campus of St. Andrew's-Sewanee School. A reception will follow in the St. Andrew's-Sewanee Gallery. These events are free and open to the public.

Nashville-native jazz-vocalist Annie Sellick has performed and recorded with most of her heroes (including Joey DeFrancesco, Belá Fleck and Mark O'Connor), enjoyed stardom in her hometown and toured nationally and internationally. Her performance style is to conjure joy and sincerity on the stage and share that with an audience, hooking them into the stories of the songs she sings.

The other half of the duo, Pat Bergeson, is as versatile a harmonica player as he is a guitarist. Bergeson has performed and recorded with a long list of chart-toppers and cult favorites including Lyle Lovett, Madeleine Peyroux and Wynonna Judd.

Together, the Babbas cover much musical ground with jazz standards, soulful originals and cabaret classics. The pair brings a high level of skill, confidence, ease and charm to each show, gaining fans and followers wherever they perform. The music is jazz-based with acoustic guitars, harmonica and some percussion, but draws upon many styles, creating a show that grooves, soothes and tells stories.

Shakerag faculty members give brief presentations about their work on other weekday evenings at 7:15 p.m. in McCrory Hall, and these lectures are also open to the public.

Faculty talks scheduled are:

On Monday, June 22, talks will be given by Tilleke Schwarz on "Telling Your Own Story," Sandi Pierantozzi on "Flat to Form: Handbuilding Pots" and Charles Harbutt on "Learning How to See: Photography as a Second Language."

On Tuesday, June 23, presentations will be made by Angelika Werth on "Garments: Deconstruction/Reconstruction," Hamlett Dobbins on "Collaborative Drawing and Painting" and Neil Patterson on "The Wheel as a Creative Tool."

On Thursday, June 25, the program will be offered by Akemi Nakano Cohn on "KATAZOME with Natural Dyes on Silk" and Greg Borenstein on "The Art and Technology of Illusion."

Each June since 2004, St. Andrew's-Sewanee School has welcomed accomplished and aspiring artists to Shakerag Workshops for two one-week sessions of studio classes and lectures.

Instructors from around the nation offer classes in basketry, book arts, clay, digital arts, felting, fiber, mixed media and watercolor.

TINTINNABULATIONS

by John Bordley

Mobile Carillon & Joey Brink

As mentioned in the Feb. 8 Tintinnabulations column, the Chime Master Mobile Millennium carillon will be in Sewanee during the Sewanee Summer Music Festival. It was scheduled to arrive earlier this week and will be located in front of St. Luke's Hall in Manigault Park on the strip of asphalt remaining from the big semi-circular driveway that used to be there. Most of the summer carillon concerts in Sewanee will be played on this instrument.

The traveling carillon is one of only three in the United States; however, in Europe the mobile instruments are a little more common. Last summer at the World Carillon Federation Congress in Belgium, one of the themes was "Mobile Carillons." Units from the Netherlands, Norway, Prague and Gdansk were featured in outdoor concerts, sometimes as solo instruments and sometimes with other instruments, ranging from accordion to percussion to jazz band. The larger models, like the Mobile Millennium Carillon, ride on a trailer pulled by a truck cab. Others are built into a truck frame, something the size of a U-Haul truck. Though arranged in a compact manner, the bells are similar to the ones in Shapard Tower. Our Leonidas Polk instrument has five bells larger than the ones in the Millennium Carillon.

Of particular note this summer is a concert planned for 6:30 p.m., Thursday, June 25. Joey Brink, winner of last year's prestigious Queen Fabiola contest in Belgium, will play Geert D'hollander's "Elegy" with a SSMF string orchestra and clarinet soloist. There will also be two pieces with brass groups. The Queen Fabiola contest takes place every five years and awards significant monetary prizes to the winners.

In addition to the contestants playing the large, traditional carillon, they also played a mobile instrument inside a hall in 2014. The new "Brozen Piano" has bells cast with about 3 percent lead (augmenting the usual 80 percent copper and 20 percent tin) to soften the sound a bit. Two Americans were the winners because they could play sensitively on the quieter instrument. Joey Brink and his wife, Vera, will play a concert at 4:45 p.m., Sunday, June 21, in addition to the June 25 concert.

The Chime Master Mobile Millennium carillon will be in Sewanee during the Sewanee Summer Music Festival, located in front of St. Luke's Hall, in Manigault Park. Upcoming concerts include 4:45 p.m., Sunday, June 21 and 6:30 p.m., Thursday, June 25.

Campus Summer Hours

The University's Jessie Ball duPont Library, located at 178 Georgia Ave., is open for its summer hours, which continue through July 14.

Summer hours are: 8 a.m.–10 p.m., Mondays–Thursdays; 8 a.m.–8 p.m., Fridays; 10 a.m.–6 p.m., Saturdays; and 1–10 p.m., Sundays.

The Fowler Fitness Center announces summer hours, now through Sunday, Aug. 9. The center will be open 6 a.m.–9 p.m., Mondays–Fridays; and 10 a.m.–7 p.m., Saturdays and Sundays.

Swimming pool hours will be announced and posted when they are received. The schedule depends on the availability of lifeguards. Please check with the control desk at Fowler Center (598-1793) for up-to-date pool hours.

The University Archives and Special Collections is temporarily closed in order to consolidate and organize book and manuscript collections within the department.

Very limited appointments for research will be available during June and July, provided the researcher offers at least one week's notice and provided the requested materials are available for consultation.

Email inquiries to <archives@sewanee.edu>.

Sewanee TigerSharks Impressive in First Meet of the Season

A tiny TigerShark in the Fowler Center pool.

The Sewanee TigerSharks swim team kicked off its competitive summer league season for 2015 with a double-dual meet against the Winchester Penguins and the Lewisburg Marlins on June 13, at the University of the South's natatorium. The Tigershark swimmers came away with two solid wins, defeating the Penguins, 330 to 233, and the Marlins, 388 to 187.

The TigerShark swimmers have been working hard in practice since May 18, and all swimmers raced their hardest in this first meet of the season. Particularly strong performances were turned in by three TigerShark swimmers who each earned three individual first-place finishes against both the Penguins and the Marlins:

Age 8 and under girls—Autumn Milford with times of 25.64 seconds in the 25-meter breaststroke, 1:58.76 in the 100-meter individual medley (IM) and 24.91 in the 25-meter backstroke;

Age 9–10 girls—Edie Paterson, 41.87 in the 50 freestyle, 25.21 in the 25 breaststroke and 1:44.16 in the 100 IM; and

Age 11–12 boys—Zolon Knoll with times of 46.46 in the 50 breaststroke, 41.66 in the 50 backstroke, and 39.00 in the 50 butterfly.

Many other Tigershark swimmers had highly successful meets, with at least two first-place individual finishes against both teams, including:

Age 8 & under girls—Loulie Frazier with 24.40 in the 25 freestyle and 28.06 in 25 butterfly; 9–10 boys—Jackson Frazier, 21.23 in the 25 breaststroke and 20.50 in the 25 butterfly;

11–12 boys—Porter Neubauer, 36.02 in the 50 freestyle and 1:32.10 in the 100 IM; and 13–14 girls—Kate Butler, 31.34 in the 50 freestyle and 36.69 in the 50 backstroke.

Jenna Black, Allison Bruce, Zoey Craft, David Dolack, Larson Heitzenrater, Jim Kershner, Kiran Malde, Maddie Mendliwski, Libby Neubauer, Emery Preslar, Sarah Russell Roberson, Aidan Smith, Sam Smith and Bonnie Wakefield all posted at least one first-place finish against either the Penguins or the Marlins.

The Sewanee TigerSharks also dominated the relay scene at the meet with first-place finishes in the 100 mixed medley relay in all age groups against the Marlins and in all but one age group against the Penguins, and with seven first-place finishes in the 100 freestyle relay against the Marlins and five first-place finishes in the 100 freestyle relay against the Penguins.

Additionally, there were many first-time competitors at Saturday's meet including 4-year-old Konrad Knoll; 5-year-old Sawyer Barry; 6-year-olds Kiran Malde, Eoin Pate and Sarah Russell Roberson; 7-year-old Miles Mundkowsky; 10-year-old Maddie Mendliwski; and 13-year-old Noah Mendliwski.

The Sewanee TigerShark swim team is a local summer league swim team that provides an organized swim experience in the spring and summer for youth ages 4–18, develops strong swimmers, builds self-esteem and discipline, and encourages youth of all ages to work as a team. The team is led by head coach Alyssa Summers, assistant coaches Nan Long and Max Obermiller, and swimmer-coaches Zoey Craft, Anna Fox, Sophia Hartman and Sam Smith.

Watch next week for the results of the June 18 meet in Manchester against the CATS, a combined team from Manchester and Tullahoma.

THE VISITING TEAM

by Eric Roddy C'16

One of the greatest internal and ongoing wars inside my head on a daily basis (besides figuring out which New York City restaurant will provide me with my next meal) is technology. I frequently ask myself if the world's fastest growing industry is helping society or hurting it. My best guess is probably a little of both. Phones can save lives, and do just that on a daily basis. That creepy man no one has seen before walking late at night toward the PKE house can be dealt with by a single dial of "1111." That crucial homework assignment or document for work can be miraculously pulled up with a couple of clicks and an email on almost every phone on sale today. I can share that hilarious photo of my dog, Lola, with the flash of a SnapChat with every single one of my friends, even grandma. You don't even need Wi-Fi anymore, thanks to the genius invention of cellular data.

It's that easy.

But these "life-saving devices" are also keeping us from living the lives we are trying to live.

Wait. You didn't catch that? I'm sure you could Google that tongue-twister and have it decoded by Siri.

These devices have kids my age (and the majority of adults in New York City) mesmerized 24/7 with their eyes glued down to a screen. Think about that beautiful sunset: the one that you so desperately had to take 30 photos of and then choose between 100 filters before posting to your Instagram. While you were busy capturing it forever, you missed it live. And just like most movies, it's never as good as seeing it the first time. Phones (and much of technology) have all but eliminated face-to-face interaction. It's sure made it more difficult.

Why talk to the stranger next to you on the train if you can just plug in headphones and listen to the same songs over and over? Why try a random restaurant on the side of the street if you don't know if it's any good? Oh, but there's an app for that. Ask a stranger for directions? That is so early 2000s. Forget about it!

Last weekend, I wandered the streets of New York City en route to Grand Central Station and my train home. I was ready to call it a day and head home. While looking down as I pulled up the directions on my iPhone, I took a wrong turn. As I reached down to type in the address and redirect my path back on course, I had a flash. A moment of clarity. I realized how ridiculous I was being. I switched my phone to airplane mode, disconnecting it from all networks, put it in my pocket, throwing caution to the wind. I decided to see where my wrong turn took me. So I took one wrong turn, then another, and then another.

Two Puerto Rican parades, a free peach papaya smoothie, 10 street performers and two hours later, I ended up at the train station. No technology needed. I had experienced things I would have missed had I stuck to my technology. I had fun without a single use of my phone.

When I return to Sewanee in August as I enter my senior year, I will put down my phone more often. I'm debating switching back to a flip phone, looking forward to the "he must be poor" or "he definitely shattered his iPhone 6" stares and inner thoughts.

But then again I could be wrong about all of this. What do I know anyway? I wrote this entire column on my phone on a train ride home while ignoring the nice stranger to my left.

Haslam Announces Teacher Cabinet

Tennessee Gov. Bill Haslam announced 18 Tennessee teachers selected to serve on the first Governor's Teacher Cabinet.

Annette Johnson, fifth-grade teacher at Broadview, is among those selected for the group.

The cabinet will meet quarterly with Haslam and Candice McQueen, education commissioner, to share real-time information from the classroom, advise on policy considerations and provide a direct line of communication to schools and communities.

A year ago the governor traveled the state to hear from groups of teachers, and in December he announced plans to create the cabinet in an effort to improve teacher communication and collaboration.

"We've had a number of conversations with teachers in a variety of settings, and this is another way to receive direct feedback from teachers who are in front of a class every day," Haslam said.

"As Tennessee continues to build on the success we've seen in our schools over the past four years, we want to hear from teachers about what is working and what needs improvement. These teachers have a lot on their plates, so I really appreciate their willingness to serve the state in this way."

Directors of schools were asked to nominate one teacher from each of their districts, and 18 classroom teachers were selected from across the state based on the following criteria: focus on student achievement, encouragement of collaboration among colleagues, demonstration of leadership, solution-orientation and relentless pursuit of excellence.

The teacher cabinet includes a diverse mix of backgrounds and experience. Members represent each of the state's three grand divisions, as well as cities, suburbs and rural areas, and have varying years of experience teaching first through 12th grades. Areas represented include Blount County, Hamblen County, Franklin County, Knox County, Dyer County, Rutherford County, Shelby County and Chester County, accompanied by cities such as Maryville, Kingsport, Murfreesboro, Oak Ridge, Lebanon, Clinton, Bartlett and Franklin.

Teachers will serve two-year terms on the cabinet. The first meeting is planned for July.

NATURENOTES

From the files of Nature Notes: An entry by Jean and Harry Yeatman, from the Messenger on June 10, 2011

The Brown Thrasher's Song

Brown Thrashers are year-round inhabitants of Sewanee and like mockingbirds, mimic the calls and songs of other birds, including lost baby chickens. Their songs can be distinguished from those of the mockingbird by counting the number of times the syllables of the mimicked tunes are repeated. The thrasher sings in couplets, while the mocker repeats each syllable at least four or five times. Listen to each bird. Thrashers are in many yards in Sewanee. A mocker inhabits the trees by the Sewanee post office and sings high up on a tree or house roof. Thrashers feed on the ground, scratching the dry leaves to get insects, worms and small lizards. Mockers like berries and insects, both flying and on trees. Thrashers are incorrectly called Long-tailed Thrasher, which is in a different bird family. Look for the spotted white chest and rusty head, tail and back. The nest can be on the ground or in a brush pile, bush or small tree. It is composed of twigs, rootlets and leaves. The eggs are quite pretty, thickly speckled with tiny speckles in cinnamon or rufous brown, and three to six in number.

Tiger

Lacy

Pets of the Week

Meet Tiger and Lacy

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Meet Tiger, a playful and feisty young adult male Tabby. He is inquisitive and affectionate. After playtime, he loves to snuggle on your lap. Tiger is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Lacy is a 3-year-old Shepherd/Collie mix who has a sweet personality and is great with children. She adores anyone who gives her affection. Lacy would love to have a forever home, and she would be happiest as the only dog in the family. She is house-trained, heartworm-negative, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

For the month of June, Tuesdays are for Tabbies! The first five adopters to take home a Tabby cat on Tuesdays get to name their adoption fee! Animal Harbor has many beautiful Tabby cats and kittens to choose from. All are up-to-date on shots, tested for common feline diseases, dewormed, fixed, house-trained and microchipped.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees are reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets over 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is now open at its new shelter at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., off AEDC Road in Winchester.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information, and check out their other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets.

Please help Animal Harbor by sending your donations to the Franklin County Humane Society, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Elk Valley Beekeeper's Field Day

The Elk Valley Beekeeping Association, in conjunction with the Franklin County Extension Service, is having a beekeeping field day on Saturday, June 27. The event will be from noon to 4 p.m. at the Franklin County Extension office at 406 Joyce Lane in Winchester.

Topics will include seasonal hive management, integrated pest management techniques, honey extraction and other honeybee topics. Attendees will open working honeybee colonies, weather permitting. Extra bee suits will be available for people who do not currently have one and want to look inside a working beehive. All are welcome.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

To writers and scholars in residence

...Go little naked and impudent songs...
Go with a light foot!
Or with two light feet, if it please you!
Go and dance shamelessly!
Go with an impertinent frolic!

Greet the grave and the stodgy,
Salute them with thumbs at your noses...

Ruffle the skirts of prudes,
speak of their knees and ankles,
Go, above all, go to practical people—
Say that you do no work and that you will live forever

—From an introduction to a book of poems by Ezra Pound
