Participants are encouraged to bring binoculars, water and a snack/lunch, and to wear long pants, sturdy shoes and insect repellent. Those wishing to join the count later in the day can do so at 1 p.m. at the War Memorial Cross.

There is a $3 per person administrative fee. The count will begin at 9 a.m. at the Lake Cheston pavilion. In case of rain, the count will be held on Sunday, June 26.

Youth Soccer Registration Extended

Mountain Youth Soccer, an American Youth Soccer Organization (AYSO) member region, is extending early registration for the upcoming fall season.

It is critical to the formation of possible teams in Tracy City and Monteagle, as well as the older age groups, that players be signed up during this early time period. There are some age-group teams that will not form if there is not enough interest.

Registration is $45, and scholarships are available. After July 15, the fee goes up to $65. Mountain Youth Soccer is open to all players, ages 4–14. The child must be age four by July 31, 2011, and must not turn 14 until after July 31, 2013, in order to participate.

To register now, send an e-mail to Ty Burnette at <burnette@blomand.net> and put "soccer registration" in the subject line.

SUD Meeting Agenda

The next meeting of the Sewanee Utility District Board of Commissioners will be at 5 p.m., Tuesday, June 28.

The agenda will include: approval of the agenda, approval of the May minutes (as distributed), the general manager's report and the financial report. Unfinished Business on the agenda is: purchase approvals (automating chemical pumps for the water treatment plant and spare parts inventory). New Business is: discussion and possible action regarding the Tennessee Comptroller's efforts to eliminate elected utility boards and a report on the water plant. There will also be time for visitor comment and announcements.

The next scheduled SUD board meeting will be at 5 p.m., Tuesday, July 26.

Area Markets

Offer Fresh, Local Food

Summer has begun and farm-fresh foods are plentiful!

On Thursday mornings in the Monteagle Assembly, growers have a produce market on the MSSA mall. It opens at 7 a.m.

The Grundy County Farmers' Market, located in front of the old high school in Tracy City, is open 2:30–5:30 p.m. on Fridays and 8–11 a.m. on Saturdays. S.N.A.P. cards can now be used to purchase food at the market. Fresh from local farms, they have fruit, vegetables, herbs, meat and eggs.

The Sewanee Gardener's Market is held every Saturday, 8–10 a.m., rain or shine, next to the old pharmacy. Locally grown vegetables and fruit, plants, flowers and baked goods are available.

The Cumberland Farmer's Market is overflowing with fresh and delicious produce and baked goods. Learn more online at <<http://sewanee.local-lygrows.net>> or contact Jess Wilson at (931) 924-4539.

Don Braden and Mark Rapp

SSMF Opens Season, Welcomes New Talent

The Sewanee Summer Music Festival will open its season at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, June 25, with a performance by the Festival Orchestra. Miriam Burns will be the conductor; William Wolfram will be the pianist. Among the pieces they will play are Tchaikovsky's "Slavonic March" and Liszt's "Piano Concerto No. 2."

Celebrated jazz musicians Don Braden and Mark Rapp will perform at the SSMF at 7:30 p.m., Friday, July 8. A week later on Thursday, July 14, the adventurous, genre-defying string quartet Brooklyn Rider will appear in concert.

Braden and Rapp will present "The Strayhorn Project," a tribute to Duke Ellington's legendary collaborator Billy Strayhorn. Braden has toured the world leading his own ensembles, and as a sideman with greats such as Betty Carter, Wynton Marsalis, Freddie Hubbard, Tony Williams, Roy Haynes and many others. He is an imaginative, technically excellent, soulful saxophonist, and his harmonic and rhythmic sophistication give him a unique approach to improvising, as well as composing and arranging.

Rapp was named a "top emerging trumpeter" by Downbeat Magazine, featured on a Travel Channel documentary and has played with such diverse artists from Branford Marsalis to Hootie and the Blowfish.

Brooklyn Rider combines a wildly eclectic repertoire with a gripping performance style that is attracting legions of fans and drawing critical acclaim from classical, world and rock critics. NPR credits Brooklyn Rider with "recreating the 300-year-old form of string quartet as a vital and creative 21st-century ensemble." The musicians play in concert halls and clubs, in venues as varied as Joe's Pub in New York City, the San Francisco Jazz Festival, Todai-ji Temple in Japan, the Library of Congress and the South By Southwest Festival. The mission of the SSMF is to educate talented young musicians from around the world through close work with faculty mentors, intensive orchestral and chamber music study and frequent performance. The SSMF fosters an atmosphere of collaboration and inspiration and promotes the belief that all people are elevated through the experience of making and hearing great music together.

Advance tickets are available online at <www.sewanee-musicfestival.org> or by calling 1-866-55-TICKETS (which charges an extra fee). Print-at-home electronic ticketing and other green options are available.

Sign up online for the SSMF e-mail newsletter and instantly receive a significant coupon. Brooklyn-Rider and Braden-Rapp tickets are $20, regular concerts are $12, and a season ticket to all regular concerts is $100. Children under 12 are admitted free.

"Modern Saints" includes "Saint Caffeine" and "Saint Cellphone," as well as a series of coffee-related works. Getty uses hand-painted and found fabrics to create fabric collage.

Sewanee Herbarium Events

The Sewanee Herbarium is hosting a number of upcoming events of interest. Lake Cheston Stroll—Join Jean and Harry Yeatman at 4 p.m., Tuesday, July 5, for a stroll around Lake Cheston with these eminent Sewanee naturalists and see what can be found: wetland and aquatic plants, meadow plants, trees and shrubs, maybe even some bird-watching. Meet at the Lake Cheston pavilion for this easy one-hour walk. Bring a hat and insect repellent if desired.

SUCCESS FOR THE CULPRITS To the Editor:

Hello Sewanee friends! Once again, thank you for your support in the Bonnaroo competition! Unfortunately the Culprits were not selected for a performance slot in this year's festival, but it was amazing to see ourselves fly up the charts. We ended with the second most downloaded song out of nearly 800 bands nationwide! We couldn't have accomplished this incredible feat without the tremendous help of the local community.

Our success in the Bonnaroo competition led us to an opportunity to play in the Chattanooga Nightfall Concert Series on May 27. We'll be playing in front of the Hunter Museum in Chattanooga at 1 p.m. EST, Sunday, July 3, for anyone who can make the trip. We'd love to see you there! Closer to home, we'd like to invite everyone to hear us when we play from 7 to 10 p.m., Friday, July 1, at Harton Park in Monteagle.

We would also like to invite everyone to Lake Cheston on Monday, July 4, to enjoy a concert featuring Charlie Smith, Bran Potter & Friends at 7 p.m. and the Culprits around 8 p.m. We'll stop to enjoy the fireworks, and then continue playing well into the night. We've been writing new songs and can't wait to share them with everyone! Hope to see y'all there—we're looking forward to it!

TRANSFER FEE WAIVER NOT APPLIED FULLY To the Editor:

One small, but important, detail was omitted from the June 17 article in the Messenger on the Lease Committee meeting. "Forster speculated that a secondary aim of the lease transfer-fee policy... was to give University employees a purchase price advantage...."

Not only has this goal not been realized as his own statistics show, but the transfer fee is only waived if the University considers you a full-time employee.

When I bought my home on the Domain in 2009, I was getting paid by the University for about 23 hours of work per week in the sculpture studio. On top of that, I was volunteering with the fire department and the ambulance service for at least 15 hours per week and sometimes much more. Additionally, I am a graduate of the college.

As far as purchasing a house on the Domain, I got treated identically to someone who has no connection whatsoever to the University. Despite letters to the Lease Committee and Mr. Forster, my request for a reduction of the transfer fee was denied without allowing me an opportunity to make my case.

If you are in need of emergency services, you want those responders coming from as close to campus as possible. The transfer and ground rent policies are pushing volunteers and potential volunteers far away from the station. Grumbling, I paid the lease transfer fee in full in order to provide quick response in fire and medical emergencies. I am now effectively paying to volunteer.

READER WEIGHS IN ON NEW DESIGN To the Editor:

This is my vote to put back the masthead used on the June 10 issue of the Messenger with the "Ex Cineribus Sirenis 1967-1984" coat of arms. Without it, the masthead is boring and, except for the name, loses all of its connection to its past. Without the coat of arms, the newest masthead borders on being disrespectful—to Geraldine Piccard [publisher emerita] and her predecessors, to the Messenger's faithful readers and to Sewanee in general.

Other than that, y'all are doing a crackerjack job. But change the masthead back, please.

VOICE SIRENS NEEDED FOR COMMUNITY SAFETY To the Editor:

In response to people who are upset about the new voice sirens, let me offer a response. First, it is an emergency warning system: no dispatcher is going to hit that button and disrupt 2,000 lives unless, in his or her best judgement and with the best available information at that moment, people on campus (and particularly outdoors) are at risk of getting killed. That said, responses seem to be split between people who have previously lived in tornado/high wind locales and those who have not: the first group sends in e-mails of appreciation for the detailed and timely warnings, while the latter shrugs and goes about business as usual. The third element in the process is that Sewanee is ideally located to take the brunt of spring and summer violent fronts, including tornados, and that both current climate conditions and those expected in the future are not going to make that situation any better.

Ultimately, we're going to have to adopt to a new reality. Thresholds for warnings are, of course, open to administrative policy-making, but at present, they amount to either the National Weather Service saying that we're about to get smeared or the radar indicating the same. That results in a number of cases—the majority at least—that pass without damage or with scattered falling trees that likely did not trap someone underneath.

Overall, dispatchers are faced with protecting the community to the best of their ability, and certainly do not want to face the day when they knew there was an imminent threat, did nothing, and disaster struck.

OFFER OPTIONS FOR KIDS To the Editor:

Just two short weeks after the end of school, my church in Tracy City held a week of Vacation Bible School. We averaged more than 120 kids each night. My church doesn't have a gym or playground. We have a basketball goal, a volleyball net and a ping-pong table. Why did so many kids show up? I think it was because we provided a safe place for children to do what children do best: Hang out!

Every week this summer a church on this Mountain will host a Bible School every bit as successful as ours. 4-H Camp will be teaming with youngsters. Mountain Top Day Camp will be at capacity. Football camp, basketball camp, volleyball camp and band camp will all draw a crowd.

Our youth are searching. For every child that attends some camp this summer, there will be many who didn't get the chance, maybe because of transportation or financial issues, or a lack of interest from the adults around. Those children may be giving up. Let's not fail them.

Watch for opportunities to get involved. Volunteer at a camp or ask a neighbor if he/she needs a ride.

Take notice of positive events happening on the Mountain. These healthy alternatives are needed if we are going to gain the attention of our children. They are going to "hang out" no matter what. Let's give them a safe place! Even better, let's give them "lots" of safe places! Let's give them all we got!

ABBO'S ALLEY NEEDS HELP To the Editor:

On behalf of the Friends of Abbo's Alley, I would like to thank those who responded to our recent membership appeal. Since only seven people responded, we are making our appeal again. We do not have any other means of support for the work that we do there, and we really need you.

During the semester, both fall and spring, we have students who work limited schedules, supported by the work-study program. Summer workers do not fall under the work-study program and are paid from contributions by "Friends." The University is very helpful with things we cannot do, such as removing large downed trees and some basic maintenance on our larger machinery.

Only through the generous support of our members can we continue to care for Abbo's Alley, which is such an important legacy for all of us.

Do consider a membership if you have not joined yet. You may make a gift to Friends of Abbo's Alley, P.O. Box 128, Sewanee, TN 37375

And again, thank you to those of you who have already sent in your membership for this year.

Sewanee Police Report

Three Area Burglaries Reported

Two Sewanee businesses have been burglarized in the past two weeks, each having an undetermined amount of cash stolen from them, Chief Robert White of the Sewanee Police Department reported this week.

"We don't know if these cases are related, but our investigation is continuing." Both burglaries happened after normal business hours; one was on Monday, June 13, and the other was on Monday, June 20.

Another area business was burglarized recently, with a number of valuable items taken. Chief White said that he was aware of this burglary, but as it is outside the Sewanee Police Department's jurisdiction, Franklin County officials are investigating this, he said.

The Sewanee Business Alliance issued a notice to its members about these crimes and urged local businesses to "keep your cash and valuables under guard."

If anyone has information about these crimes, please contact Chief White at 598-1111.

DesJarlais Introduces First Legislation

U.S. Representative Scott DesJarlais recently joined with Representative Chuck Fleischmann (R-TN-03) to introduce a bill to roll back an unfunded mandate on local Tennessee counties. This is the first bill introduced by DesJarlais and Fleischmann, both in their first term in Congress.

New standards put forth by the Federal Highway Administration would require Tennessee counties to update and replace road signs by 2015 and 2018. The Tennessee County Highway Officials Association estimates this accelerated schedule could cost local governments $50 million.

The DesJarlais-Fleischmann bill matches legislation introduced by Tennessee Senators Lamar Alexander and Bob Corker to waive the new timeline and allow local governments to meet the new standards when they replace signs at the end of their natural life cycle.

DesJarlais said he thinks it is unreasonable for the federal government to mandate the replacement of road signs that are still safe and usable.

Curbside Recycling Next Friday

Residential curbside recycling pickup in Sewanee is on the first and third Friday of each month. Friday, July 1, will be a pickup day. Recyclable materials must be separated by type and placed in blue bags by the side of the road no later than 7:30 a.m. Please do not put out general household trash on this day. Blue bags may be picked up in the University Lease Office, 110 Carnegie Hall, at the Physical Plant Services administrative office on Alabama Avenue or at the PPS warehouse on Georgia Avenue.

Summer Story Time Continues

On July 6, readers will be Bobbye and Joe Ballard; Assistant Chief of Police Marie Ethridge will read on July 13; July 20, readers will be members of the Sewanee Fire Department. Thurmond Library Story Time is at 10 a.m. each Wednesday through July 20.

Church News

Otey Parish

Otey Parish will celebrate Holy Eucharist Rite II at 8:50 a.m. and 11 a.m., Sunday, June 26.

Between services, everyone is invited to Sunday Summer Brunch, where Joan Hurst and friends will prepare a delicious meal. This week, the menu includes ham biscuits, marinated spring veggies, cheese grits, corn souffle, and fresh fruit, as well as the ever-popular pancake station. Brunches will continue each Sunday through August 14. Donations for brunch are welcomed, but not expected.

Adults who wish to attend the Lectionary Class can get a plate and "brunch and learn" with Pete Trenchi who will explore Matthew 10:40-42. After brunch, children may have supervised play on the playground.

Childcare is available all morning from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the church nursery.

Vacation Bible School in July

Vacation Bible School in Sewanee will be the week of July 18-22 for area youth ages 5 to 11.

"Jungle Adventure" is the title of this year's program, an experience in faith-building that organizers describe as "wild!" The program mascot for the week will be a friendly gorilla.

The half-day program is at St. James Church in Midway and is jointly hosted by St. James, Otey Parish, Christ Church in Alto and Holy Comforter in Monteagle. Daily activities begin at 9 a.m. with lunch provided.

Registration is at 8:30 a.m., Monday, July 18, at St. James Church.

Morton Memorial Begins Stories and Popsicles in July

Morton Memorial Methodist Church will sponsor "Stories and Pops in the Park" on Tuesdays beginning on July 12 and continuing until August 16. Come at 10 a.m. each week to Harton Park in Monteagle for popsicles and a story. All children are welcome to hear the story and share in a cold treat.

For more information contact Marietta Poteet at (931) 924-7666.

Art Show Benefits Orphans

Gospel Partners of Tennessee is hosting a benefit art show to help build a house for orphans in India. The artwork is on display at Dave's Modern Tavern in Monteagle from June 21 through July 5 during the restaurant's normal business hours. Among the art for sale is a painting by Brett Weaver and one by Susie Elder. There are many beautiful prints, paintings and photographs on display, all of which are for sale to support this effort.

The group is raising funds to build a house for 34 orphans in Tanuku, India. The ministry to the orphans is overseen by Billie and Don Weaver of Tracy City. Billie's father was a missionary to India who converted over 25,000 people to Christianity.

Since her father's death in 1988, Billie and her husband and her sister, Bettie, and Bettie's husband, have continued their father's ministry to the poorest of the poor in South India. A few years ago, their brother, John, joined his sisters in continuing their father's work in India.

"These children have slept on the floor of the church for three years," said Laura Ellen Truelove, one of the organizers.

Dave's Modern Tavern is located on Main Street in Monteagle across from the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly entrance, and is open Mondays and Tuesdays, 4-9 p.m., and Wednesdays through Sundays, 11 a.m.-9 p.m.

For more information contact Truelove at 962-0557 or Karin Haley at (931) 924-4142.

Please bring water for your pet and keep your dog on a leash.

Vice-Chancellor John McCardellis is organizing this year’s dunking booth, which will begin at 11 a.m. at Sewanee Auto. Watch next week for the lineup of “guests” at this splashing event.

Sink A Putt, Go Fishing

Children’s games, face painting and the mystery fortune teller will all begin at 11 a.m. on the American Legion Hall lawn.

Fourth of July Food Treats

Sewanee is in for a delicious, healthy treat at this year’s Independence Day festivities on July 4. Stop by the Cumberland Center for Justice and Peace (CCJP) booth for locally grown, roasted-on-site sweet corn from Seven Pines Farm of Tracy City. CCJP’s Health and Sustainable Consumerism Committee is sponsoring the corn feast to encourage healthy, sustainable eating habits. A $1 donation is suggested to cover expenses.

Other food vendors are getting ready to feed the crowds that day.

Among those planning to attend are: Dessie Taylor and family—BBQ Plates and fried pies; Misty Seagroves—brats, coleslaw, drink and a dessert; The Barrys—hot dogs and fixings; Miss Pokey’s Old-Fashioned Lemonade; Old-Fashioned Kettle Popcorn.

ESNJAIS Bus will be set up for Saturday’s street dance and Monday’s festivities. They will have gyros, burgers, fries, veggie burritos, salads, chicken wings, catfish, french fries, tea, water, cokes and other food items.

Spots are still available for vendors by calling Clara Stephens at 598-0739.

I Hear Bells!

John Bordley will offer a carillon recital at 1 p.m. There will be programs and a viewing monitor at All Saints’ Chapel.

Everyone Loves a Parade

Join in the action and fun and enter Sewanee’s “25 Years of Celebrating the 4th” parade. Trophies will be awarded for the best decorated float, vehicle, bicycle and horse entry. You must be in line by 1 p.m. on Monday, July 4, to be judged. Follow signs for lineup on Lake O’Donnell Road. Enter Lake O’Donnell Road off Highway 41A across from Finney Lane. The parade begins at Lake O’Donnell Road and ends at the Sewanee Inn. Please remain in your assigned parade location while on the parade route. At the end of the parade, please do not stop at the Sewanee Inn. Either continue onto the highway or turn right on Faculty Circle and then right onto Torian Road. This will help with the flow of traffic.

To enter the parade or for questions, call parade coordinator Tracie Sherrill at 598-0040. Volunteers are needed on the day of the parade to help with the lineup and any other needs Tracie may have. If you can help, please call her.

Texas Avenue will be closed from University Avenue to Lake Cheston for the fireworks. Only handicapped persons will be allowed to drive to the lake. All cars that drive to Lake Cheston will be required to wait until pedestrians are out before they may leave.

The Culprits will play after the fireworks, too.

AT THE MOVIES

Sewanee Union Theatre This Week

Friday–Monday, June 24–27, at 7:30 p.m.

Tron: Legacy

125 minutes • PG • Admission $3

In the beginning, there was “Tron,” a super-cool sci-fi movie about a computer hacker being sucked into the world of a computer game where he must perform gladiator-like heroics to save himself. A youthful Jeff Bridges starred as Kevin Flynn in “Tron.” It was 1982, when none of us had any idea how the future of gaming and computers would evolve.

Now, there is “Tron: Legacy,” the next step (not quite a sequel but not independent of the first movie) in the story. In this version, Flynn’s son journeys from modern times back into the computer game to find his father and save him from the villain created by the game. Bridges returns as both the aged father and the one trapped in the 1982 game; the technology wizards behind the curtain make him appear both old and young in the film. The beautiful Olivia Wilde co-stars. “Tron: Legacy” is a fun summer film with a wonderful (and very loud) soundtrack by Daft Punk. Rated PG for sequences of sci-fi action violence and brief mild language. —LW

Please note: The SUT will be dark in August. Watch here for movie details when they are announced later this summer.

LOOKSATBOOKS

by Pat Wiser for Friends of duPont Library

Beat the Heat (or Ignore it) with a Good Book

What are you reading as the hot summer sun beams on us? Sewanee readers report absorbing choices that inspire hiding in the shade with iced tea and an enticing book.

Pat Kirby is reading David McCullough's "The Greater Journey: Americans in Paris." She enjoys McCullough's portrayal of such figures as James Fenimore Cooper and Harriet Beecher Stowe as they basked in that center of intellectual and artistic offerings.

Kathy and Henry Hamman report their pleasure in Abraham Verghese's first novel, "Cutting for Stone." (An earlier work by this physician-writer who teaches at Stanford is "My Own City," about AIDS in rural Tennessee.) This cross-cultural story is set largely in Ethiopia, where Verghese was raised.

I recommend Hilary Mantel's "Wolf Hall," with its well-researched details of court and church intrigue as England's Henry VIII leaves his marriage to Catherine of Aragon for Anne Boleyn. We follow this drama through the eyes of Thomas Cromwell, an ambitious ruffian who became Henry's chief minister. Cardinal Wolsey and Thomas More are among many names transformed from history's pages into vibrant individuals in Mantel's book.

Local children are enjoying the time to read and listen to good literature. Last week's throng around Thurmond Library's Story Time reader Mary Priestly for her "William's Wildflowers" was living testimony to the lure of excellence in text and illustration.

For Monteagle's May Justus Memorial Library's Summer Reading Program, I found it fun to follow public libraries' summer theme, "One World, Many Stories" by sharing Japanese folk tales from "Kintaro's Adventures," compiled by Florence Sakade, to a crowd of young listeners.

Many literature lovers who savor the feel of a good book are supplementing the traditional with new digital formats. Joe Pierce has been downloading Project Gutenberg's public domain digitized books to his Kindle, thus assembling a treasure trove for his e-library. [Project Gutenberg has more than 36,000 free downloadable books for mobile devices at <www.gutenberg.org/wiki/Main_Page>.]

I unexpectedly received a Kindle as a gift. It has been great for travel, the dictionaries and Wikipedia access are useful, and it's simple to bookmark the large casts of characters in the English mysteries that I plow through. One of my favorites is Detective Inspector Banks, the Yorkshire music lover in Peter Robinson's books. A recent Kindle search with a fifth-grade niece was disappointing, however, as we found few favorites, and—important for readers under age 10—few illustrations. Do you use a Kindle, Barnes & Noble's Nook, iPad, or other devices for adults' or children's reading? What do you like or dislike about it? I'd like to hear ideas and opinions as readers visit libraries and bookstores and experiment with e-books. E-mail me at <lonewise@bellsouth.net> and share your experience.

Tilghman Myers (number 8 in white)

Myers Earns All-Region

Senior captain Tilghman Myers earned All-Region honors for his performance during the 2011 varsity boys' soccer season.

"Tilghman is a strong leader who not only controls play on the field but motivates his teammates off it, as well. We will miss his determination, spirit and attitude next year," said Coach Andrea Fisher. "As central midfielder, Tilghman was the team's play-maker, creating amazing scoring opportunities for his teammates. His strong shot tormented many a goalkeeper. His heart was second to none."

Myers, the son of Annwn and Dixon Myers, graduated from SAS in May.

Members of the SAS FCA Huddle

SAS Athletes Honored

Three St. Andrew's-Sewanee School Student-Athletes were honored at the Franklin County Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) banquet in May. Junior Hannah Wimberley of Hillsboro was honored as SAS FCA Female Athlete of the Year. Senior Swade Mooney of Monteagle was selected as SAS FCA Male Athlete of the Year. Junior Evan Morris of Sewanee earned the SAS FCA Leadership Award.

"These student-athletes are core to our group and our SAS community as a whole," said Andrea Fisher, coach at SAS and director of the SAS FCA Huddle.

OVERTIME

by John Shackelford

As a college student many years ago, I chose to major in physical education. One of the required classes was labeled "Methods in Physical Education." (Yes, I had already passed "How to Hold Your Breath Underwater" the previous semester.) In the Methods class, we learned how to assemble kids into a rank or a file. Not in a line. You actually stand "on a line" not "in a line." Now you may laugh at this rigorous curriculum, but you would also be shocked at how many times I have effectively used these methods to assemble a large group of students into a formation quickly and efficiently. We did old-school jumping jacks and learned how to "count-off" during calisthenics. Although my Methods professor was old-school, he taught me a surprising but important lifelong lesson: Be sure our students had fun. That may seem like a relatively basic notion for someone dealing with games and sport, but you would be shocked at how far we have moved away from that: our world that seems so caught up in early achievement. He correctly told us that if your students were having fun while exercising, they would more likely want to come back for more. I mean, how many of you are still doing Jack LaLane push-ups and straight leg sit-ups on your living room floor every morning? It's a lot more fun these days to jump around to P90X or Wii Fit. Tony Horton, the creator-coach of P90X is selling hard work combined with fun 24/7 on the closest infomercial channel your TV remote can find. He is a combination of marine drill sergeant and carnival huckster who is so busy talking you don't realize that you just did 147 pushups or just left your right shoe stuck in your left ear while doing one of his rapid-fire yoga poses.

Here is the thing: Many parents these days seem to think fun is counter-productive to achievement. How can you get better at something if you are enjoying it? Many people seem to believe that the rewards of hard work can only come through sweat and pain, not with smiles and laughter.

I am in the middle of 100 tennis campers this week who are sweating on the courts in 90-degree temperatures all day long. They are working hard and getting better at a fun sport they can play for a lifetime. While they are sweating, we have the music blaring, contests going, and my assistant (who might be described as a clown with a microphone) barking jokes at them. We try to create a relaxed attitude than blends with summer on the Mountain. "Hey this is fun! Let's go play again tomorrow!" is the attitude we are looking for. The students draw moustaches on their faces for "Moustache Thursday" and hit serves just as hard with marker on their upper lip, right above the smiles on their young faces. We are dancing, playing cards, bowling and treasure-hunting between all those sets of tennis. And, guess what: none of this undermines their backhand volleys.

Parents want their Billy to beat your Bobby and be sure Sally is practicing just as much as Sue, but maybe we are forgetting we want all four of those kids feeling the breeze on their backs while riding their bikes to the courts or the pool. Maybe we will win the 50-yard butterfly in the swim meet or hit the home run in the bottom of the ninth inning. No matter what the outcome, let's be sure that on the way home, everyone gets a slice of pizza and some frozen yogurt covered in lots of toppings. It is summer, and sports are fun.

I like to cook and I have often been told that the way to a person's heart is through their stomach. My Methods professor taught me an even better method. The way to a child's heart is through their smile. Listen to the kids. Keep it fun and keep them coming back for more. That is what they are really looking for. If we keep the focus on fun, the most meaningful achievements will be found in those enduring bonds of friendships built among competitors. So when I send them on a hunt for treasure, they will not find a trophy. But what they find is the joy of the hunt that was simply hidden inside.

NATURENOTES

By Harry and Jean Yeatman

Turkey Vulture

Black Vulture

Sewanee's Vultures

There are two species of vultures in Tennessee, the Turkey Vulture and the Black Vulture, and many of the latter species have been seen recently in this area. (They have always been common around Columbia and Murfreesboro, according to Harry Yeatman.) The long-winged, long-tailed, expert glider with a reddish head (the young have bare, black heads) is the Turkey Vulture. The Black Vulture is shorter-winged, shorter-tailed, black-headed (with feathers on the posterior neck) and flaps its wings frequently at low altitudes. The tips of its wings show a whitish patch on the underside. The Black Vulture sometimes depends upon the Turkey Vulture, with its ability to smell odors, to locate carrion, road kill and edible garbage, but, at food, the smaller, aggressive Black Vulture eats first at the feast. Both vultures have chickenlike legs and feet, so they cannot pick up and carry food with their feet. They can grab food with their beaks and drag it to the roadside, away from cars. North American vultures resemble Eurasian and African vultures in habits and appearance, but DNA studies show them to be related to the storks, Yeatman reports. This is an example of convergent evolution. "Although bird books and people call them buzzards, please don't call them this name," says Yeatman.

Buzzard means Eurasian hawk. This is the original use of the word. Our Red-tailed Hawk is called a Red-tailed Buzzard in Europe. It has a close relative there called the Common Buzzard. Our early European settlers in North America sometimes used wrong names for our native flora and fauna. Last week, the Yeatmans observed 35 Black Vultures roosting behind Sewanee's post office.

Leah Rhys reports that the Black Vulture that created problems by turning over pots on her porch in Monteagle has left for other areas.

BARDTOVERSE

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

Summer Music Festival, June 25–July 24

We are the music-makers,
And we are the dreamers of dreams,
Wandering by lone sea-breakers,
And sitting by desolate streams;
World-losers and world-forsakers,
On whom the pale moon gleams:
Yet we are the movers and shakers
Of the world forever, it seems.

With wonderful deathless ditties
We build up the world's great cities,
And out of a fabulous story
We fashion an empire's glory:
One man with a dream, at pleasure,
Shall go forth and conquer a crown;
And three with a new song's measure
Can trample an empire down.

We, in the ages lying,
In the buried past of the earth,
Built Nineveh with our sighing,
And Babel itself with our mirth;
And o'erthrew them with prophesying
To the old of the new world's worth;
For each age is a dream that is dying,
Or one that is coming to birth.

—“Ode” by Arthur O'Shaughnessy

HEARING HEALTH NEWS

by Debbie Gamache,
M.S. CCC-A Audiologist

SOUND ADVICE

Expect a period of adjustment. Remember, once you get your new hearing aids, you will need a period of several weeks to get used to the daily care and maintenance of the hearing aids. More importantly, the largest adjustment you will go through is, of course, listening with your new hearing aids. You will hear sounds you have not heard for a long, long time and some of these will be good sounds such as birds or the voices of your children or grandchildren. Other sounds are the more annoying sounds that we need to hear for our safety or general knowledge of what is happening around us and these include the refrigerator, the sound of our own footsteps or turning the pages of a book. Be patient; it takes time for the brain to relearn all of these sounds.

Hearing aid technology has advanced enormously in the past 5 years. As a result, audiologists are able to help persons with the “difficult-to-fit hearing loss.” If you have questions about hearing loss and/or hearing aids, please feel free to contact us at The Hearing Center. We are located at 705B North Atlantic Street in Tullahoma. You can call us at 931-393-2051 or toll-free at 888-303-2051. You can also visit our Web site at www.thehearingcenterllc.com.
