Camp Discover Completes Third Year

Children Learn about Community

For two weeks in June, Camp Discover students explored their community, learned about the stories and music of the area, read books about community and recorded their thoughts in special camp journals. More than 80 children from Tracy Elementary and the surrounding area completed their camp experience on Friday, June 13, with a final celebration and barbecue lunch at the South Cumberland State Park Visitor's Center that included community and family members.

This marked the third year of Camp Discover, based at Tracy Elementary School. The community-based partnership is a project led by members of the Grundy County community in partnership with Scholastic, Yale Child Study Center and Sewanee. Local organizations also generously contribute to make it possible for Camp Discover to provide its rich program, including Tracy City Elementary, the Friends of the South Cumberland, Morton Memorial Methodist Church and Mountain TOP.

The Camp's head teacher, Sherry Guyer, working with Tracy Elementary teacher Jan Roberts, brought together a remarkable team of more than 30 local, talented volunteers. Former Tracy City Principal Russell Ladd returned to lead older campers this year. Naturalist Mary Priestley shared her talent and time, working with children on nature journals. The fourth-, fifth- and sixth-graders spent time on the Fiery Gizzard trail and learning about the trees, wildflowers and water creatures of the area.

Local musicians Cameron, Ruth and Sophie Swallow, Betty Carpenter and Barbara Prunty sang traditional Appalachian songs and helped children create their own music. Campers enjoyed learning folk songs and singing, dancing and making musical instruments.

University art professor Pradip Malde and a number of University and St. Andrew's-Sewanee School students continued their ongoing work helping campers tell their stories through photography. Digital cameras were donated for all campers to use, recording their observations on field trips to Grundy County attractions.

These field trips were connected to Camp Discover's theme of community. Campers visited the Cowan Railroad Museum; St. Mary's Convent and Gardens; the Highlander Folk School; the birthplace of the Tennessee Walking Horse in Pelham, where they listened to stories from Miss Janie Belle; Beersheba Springs, where they heard the music and stories of Big Don Hill and saw one of the old homes; and Coolidge Park in Chattanooga, where they rode the carousel with scenes painted by local artist Lisa Turner.

On days in Tracy, campers read a variety of books together and enjoyed projects related to the literature, to the local region and to the themes of friends, family and community.

The Discover Together Partnership runs both Camp Discover and the Discover Together Family Co-op for children birth-5 and their families. For more information contact Emily Partin by email, <epartin1@k12tn.net>.

Sewanee Summer Music Festival Events

Sewanee Summer Music Festival has a number of events in the coming week that will be of interest to community members and music lovers.

At 4 p.m., on Saturday, June 28, there will be a student chamber concert in Guerry Garth. At 7:30 p.m., the faculty artist series will continue in Guerry Auditorium.

The Cumberland Orchestra will have a concert at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, June 29. It will be followed by a concert by the Sewanee Symphony Orchestra at 3:30 p.m. Both events will be in Guerry Auditorium.

Members of the SSMF will perform at the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly at 8:15 p.m., Tuesday, July 1.

SSMF will be celebrating the Fourth of July with its annual Patriotic Celebration Concert at 7:30 p.m., Friday, July 4, in Guerry Auditorium. Coordinator and artist-faculty member Eric Bubaz is making preparations to craft a series of music that will appeal to a wide audience.

"The program I'm choosing is mostly a traditional one," said Bubaz. "It's meaningful. It goes back to my childhood, and the pieces I connected to as a young person. I hope that it does the same for the audience at the Patriotic Concert... there are both familiar tunes and new surprises."

The concert program will include selections such as "America the Beautiful," "American Salute," "1812 Overture" and "Lincoln Portrait," among others. SSMF artist-faculty member Mark Babbitt will conduct the group. The Brass Ensemble will be playing at the flag raising ceremony in Abbo's Alley at 8 a.m., followed by the SSMF Strolling Band as part of Sewanee's Fourth of July Parade on University Avenue at 2 p.m.

WHAT A HEAVY PACKAGE!

To the Editor:

Back on June 19, a good friend of mine got a 12-pound package from an upscale seller of interior furnishings. She wondered aloud why she deserved such a hefty set of catalogues tagging equally hefty prices.

Restoration Hardware's mega-catalogue was divided into nine volumes with a total of 2,438 pages. The 2014 Furniture Source Book, for example, ran on for 382 pages. On page 232, we see a "19th C. Kerala Coffee Table," reportedly made of distressed white elm, selling for $2,395. Everyone can recall seeing such a paint-flecked piece stowed away in an old garage, probably bearing a family life-history that makes it impossible to throw away or bust up and burn in a wood stove.

More mysterious, possibly, is why my friend was tagged as the recipient for the nine-volume package, shipped to Sewanee by a UPS Ground truck routed through Knoxville. She is not wealthy, nor is she in the interior-decorating business, and would therefore on first blush not be worth Restoration Hardware's hard sell. This leads me to ask Sewanee area residents if they too were gifted a Restoration Hardware 12-pounder.

One possible clue comes on the plastic wraparound that says to the UPS truck driver that this is a "UPS Carbon Neutral Shipment." Can we help the environment by buying such yuppified hard- and software? Let's stay attuned.

SSMF OPENS SEASON

To the Editor:

Summer is here! For those of us who are a part of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival, we are making it our mission to fill this mountainside with music. Our artist-faculty members, many of who are long-time Sewanee friends, are hard at work running rehearsals, preparing chamber music, and striving to make every performance experience a memorable one. Talented musicians from across the globe can be spotted outside on the sprawling University Domain—perfecting new techniques, studying sheet music or going over rehearsal notes. Sewanee is their meeting ground, their "home" for the next four weeks and (in many cases) a launching pad for their future artistic careers.

We have many exciting plans to showcase the talent that is present here on the Mountain right now. The 2014 season has 33 events in 30 days. We invite you to share the summer with us by joining us at an orchestra concert, Artist Faculty Series, chamber music concert or at a special event such as our world premiere of a work by artist and composer Béla Fleck on July 19. Our full calendar and program can be found at <www.sewaneemusicfestival.org>.

Thank you, Sewanee, for your support and engagement throughout the Festival. Every late night rehearsal, every repetition of a scale, every acoustic moment that we so painstakingly craft ... we do it all for you.

Sewanee Summer Music Festival ■

STAPLETON ANNOUNCES

To the Editor:

My name is Helen Stapleton, and I'm running for County Commission, District 5, Seat B.

I've lived in Sewanee since 1986. My husband, Archie, was born here, and we've raised our three kids here. I'm an alumna of the University and work there today.

This is a crucial time in our county; for example, bus service has just been dropped for Huntland and Jump Off. If we want to have the facilities and services that we rely on, we must pay for them. If your utility and insurance bills at home are going up, so are the county's, but revenue has not kept pace. I'm eager to learn what you consider vital or wasteful.

The big question is how can we increase our revenue base without balancing our budget on the backs of regular Tennesseans who are already paying the highest sales taxes in the country on groceries (9.25 percent)?

My vision for the county is one with good hospitals, good schools, a technical trade school, a drug rehab center, a balanced budget, our Industrial Park

CREIGHTON STORE THANKS

To the Editor:

On behalf of everyone working on the preservation and restoration of the historic Creighton Store in Coalmont, we would like to say thank you to everyone who helped make the June 14 benefit for the store such a success. Saving a piece of local history is obviously very important to many folks on the Plateau because both the turnout and the donations were wonderful and overwhelming. We sincerely thank you for your donations of baked goods, yard sale items, money, music and hours of very hard work. Your efforts in helping to save the Creighton Store building will allow it to continue to serve the Mountain people, just in a "new and different" way, for years to come. Again, every single gesture of kindness, support and generosity is most graciously appreciated.

Christ Church Monteagle wishes everyone a happy Independence Day in advance and will celebrate our country's independence on Sunday, July 6.

THE VILLAGE IDIOT

by Peter Trenchi

Dedicadence

As a child, when you loose a tooth, it's not an unexpected departure. It still leaves a hole. It starts out not feeling right. Then it becomes unsteady, so you know—it will happen soon. While you don't know when, you're still ready, although not completely. And there's always that distant relative (hopefully they're distant) who suggests stringing the tooth to a nearby doorknob. With a resounding slam, it's all gone. Gradual loosening with some wiggling and pulling has always been my choice. Even when the tooth can't work anymore and it looks and feels oddly out of place, it's still part of me.

Dedicated, effective and kind, are words, not teeth. They do exist in one's head, and recently they came out when requested. "Describe Marshall Hawkins in one word." How can one word say, "Uncle Doc" or "Hawkeye?" How can any number of words?

A Montana author and politician, writing about community, made the point that, no matter who you are, if your barn burns, everyone shows up immediately and helps build a new one. Winter without a barn is not possible. All judgmental differences are set aside, at least for the moment. It didn't matter whether you are a molar or an incisor, or whether you are full of cavities, your loss is hard to swallow.

Loyal, trusting, friends replace your barns, share your long biting winters. When the word Constable was still Latin, it meant companion of the stable (or barn). While we don't all have barns, we do have a structure to get us through frigid times. Without the red paint, perhaps we don't always see these barns or places of shared shelter, our communities.

From leadership training in Arkansas, I learned about Community Policing, where offices and officers were placed in underserved neighborhoods. While the idea is a good one, I wind up thinking about potted plants on a patio. Roots don't happen overnight. A new tooth does not pop up immediately. Respect is more than a badge and gun. Respect, as the story goes, is facing an unruly crowd at Tubby's, drawing his pistol and shooting out the lights. Out they all run. The room clears quickly. The problem is solved.

Each tooth has roots. Every barn is shelter. As a forester, I learned a way of growing trees called shelter wood, where selected elders remain to nurture new seedlings. Many prefer this over transplanted seedlings. It's like keeping a piece of history to pass on. Marshall Hawkins has passed on and is now history. There is comfort in knowing it was not with a door slam. As he heads to the barn, it is with the familiar clump of the closing of a well-worn F-150 door.

HEARING HEALTH NEWS

by Debbie Gamache,
M.S. CCC-A Audiologist

THE ZINC-AIR BATTERY

The zinc-air battery found in most of today's hearing instruments uses air from outside the battery to react with zinc inside the battery to generate energy. Pulling the colored tab from the top of the cell and leaving it open to air for a full minute activates the batteries. Replacing the tab, however, will not prolong battery life. While the size of the battery is one indication of its storage energy and service life, the amount of energy being drawn from it is another. For example, people with a severe hearing loss have a higher battery drain than those with a moderate loss.

If you have questions about batteries, hearing instruments, hearing loss, or if you just need to talk to an audiologist, we want you to know you are always welcome here at Debbie Gamache's The Hearing Center LLC, located at 705 NW Atlantic St., Suite B, Tullahoma. We can be reached at (931) 393-2051, and you can visit our website at www.thehearingcenterllc.com.

ANGELWITH AN ATTITUDE

by Virginia Craighill

Dear Angel,

My Google graphics are promoting World Cup Soccer, and everybody keeps talking about these games like they are a combination of the Superbowl, the World Series and the Olympics all rolled into one. Is this just media hype, or should I stay home from work to watch this miraculous sport?

Fool for Futbol?

Dear Mystified Newbie,

World Cup soccer is more than just media hype; after all, there are more countries represented in the games than in the Miss Universe contest. Besides that, soccer is a much faster-paced, more exciting game than football or baseball, though please don't deport me for saying so, and the players are much more aesthetically pleasing for the viewer. Even if you never heard of David Beckham, most of the soccer players are muy guapo, and their uniforms reveal more of their overall, uh, athleticism than football or baseball uniforms. You might also enjoy checking out their hairstyles and tats, too. The soccer coiffures range from dreadlocks to multi-colored Mohawks to shaved lightning bolts. Olivier Giroud is said to have the best hair of the tournament, and he is also otherwise easy on the eyes.

But I digress. If you're a guy who could care less about these agile, muscularly attractive prima donnas and drama queens, you will definitely enjoy the fans, who are easily as rabid, idiotic and entertaining as American football fans. They, too, paint their faces and skimpily-clad bodies in the colors of their team's flag, dress up like zebras, gladiators, lions, corn cobs, devils and unicorns, though that is hardly an exhaustive list. One guy dressed like Teddy Roosevelt, and it wasn't even Joe Wiegand.

Beyond the spectacle, however, the players are finely tuned athletes and fun to watch. Many, such as Cristiano Ronaldo of Portugal or Zlatan Ibrahimovic of Sweden (who knew!), develop a cult following, and did I mention they have fascinating names? No matter your sports persuasion, there is something addictive about watching World Cup soccer, and if you want an in-depth account of a true World Cup soccer fan, check out the new book by Sewanee's own Patrick Johnston, "The Odyssey of a Soccer Junkie." But let me warn you, if you skip work to watch the games, you may have to quit your job altogether, because the World Cup goes on for a long, long time.

Angel

Dear Angel,

While driving through Sewanee recently, I saw a grown-up—someone I know but I wouldn't call her a friend—texting and driving. If it had been her child, I would have called and "tattled." But I'm not sure how to handle this? Even though the speed limit is 11 mph, or some silly number, I think texting or even reading your phone while driving is dangerous. What should I do?

#ItCanWait

Dear Mrs. Safe Driver,

It is dangerous, and most rational people recognize that texting while driving could seriously disrupt their plans for immortality; however, no matter what you do, there are some who believe the rules do not apply to them. Often it is a matter of semantics: I awoke from a passenger seat nap one time to see the driver of the car texting while driving down the highway. When I asked him if he thought it was a good idea to text while going 75 mph, he replied that he wasn't texting, he was typing a response to an email, so it was fine. By that logic, it is probably fine to go ahead and handwrite some thank-you notes for your wedding gifts or draft a few chapters of your novel while driving because, after all, it's not texting. The result, however, will be the same: OMG! UR dead. VSF. :-(

Monteagle Sunday School Assembly Highlights

The Monteagle Sunday School Assembly in Monteagle continues its 132nd consecutive summer season of enrichment with an interdenominational worship service each Sunday at 11 a.m. in the Assembly's Warren Chapel. The eight-week season will continue through Sunday, Aug. 3, featuring numerous visiting lecturers who will present morning and evening programs in Warren Chapel that are open free of charge to the public.

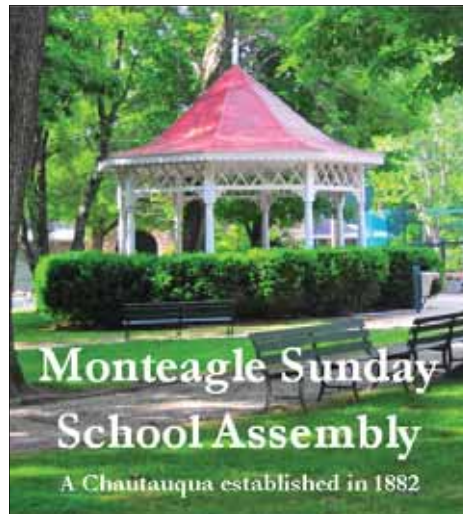

Safety will be the theme on Monday, June 30, as the Assembly hosts representatives from various safety agencies for a number of demonstrations on the Mall, starting at 10 a.m. On a related theme, Don Hutchinson will share his expertise in a lecture, "Taking the Mystery Out of AED Defibrillators" at Warren Chapel that morning, starting at 11 a.m.

At 11 a.m., Tuesday, July 1, Kate Flatley provides an international perspective on women's justice issues in a lecture, "Women's Justice Initiative: Improving Women's Lives in Rural Guatemala." Flatley is the founder and executive director of the Women's Justice Initiative, established in 2011 to empower indigenous Guatemalan women through access to legal services, women's rights education, leadership development, and gender-based violence prevention programs. A lawyer and member of the Virginia State Bar, Flatley has lived in Guatemala for eight years.

As part of Sewanee Summer Music Festival, Warren Chapel will host the first of three evenings of chamber music on Tuesday in Warren Chapel at 8:15 p.m. Future performances are on July 8 and July 15.

The annual MSSA Cottage Tour and Bazaar is set for July 18. See full story on right.

Anyone interested in a full schedule of the Monteagle Assembly's 2014 program is welcome to pick one up at the Assembly Office or look at it online at <www.mssa1882.org>.

MSSA Cottage Tour and Bazaar Set for July 18

The Monteagle Sunday School Assembly will have its annual Cottage Tour and Bazaar on July 18. It will feature six cottages and an extensive array of vendors and crafters.

Held on the picturesque grounds of the Assembly each year, the tour spotlights some of the charming and eclectic cottages, most of which were built beginning in the late 1800s.

"The Cottage Tour and Bazaar are a great excuse to take a short road trip and discover something truly unique. Our featured cottages have distinctive character and history, and guests will really get a sense of both traditional, newer-period homes, and beautiful renovations," said Susan Acker, event chair. "Those who have never been here will also appreciate our public grounds and community spaces."

The accompanying Bazaar on the Mall will feature carefully selected artisans and crafters from across the region. For example, Ralph Null, a nationally recognized florist, will offer a floral demonstration, and his creations will be auctioned off. Also slated is the exhibition of a collection of Fairy Houses created by children of all ages.

The Monteagle Women's Association will offer boxed lunches for $15 at the Women's Club, and a special blue-plate Southern lunch will also be held at the Assembly Dining Hall. The Edgeworth Inn will also be hosting a boarding house meal.

Tickets are $15 before July 18 and $20 the day of event and can be purchased by calling the Assembly office at (931) 924-2286.

Muppets Most Wanted
 Rated PG • 107 minutes

I have a soft spot in my heart for Muppets movies, and this one is no different. Sure, it is a silly story: the Muppets are involved in a jewel-heist caper run by a Kermit the Frog look-alike and his evil sidekick Dominic (played by Ricky Gervais). This plot takes the Muppets all over Europe for another fun-filled adventure, including catchy songs and lots of famous cameos. Tina Fey hams it up as Nadya, a mean Russian prison guard. As one critic wrote, “The only thing better than one Kermit is two. And the only thing better than two Kermits is one with a Russian accent.” Rated PG for some mild action.

Captain America: The Winter Soldier
 Rated PG-13 • 136 minutes

Marvel Comic lovers will be very excited to see this latest installment in the Captain America series, with Chris Evans returning as the hero, Samuel L. Jackson back as Nick Fury, and Scarlett Johansson as Natasha Romanoff. If you're a fan, you'll love this film. If you're not, I think it is good enough to merit a trip to the SUT to enjoy the delicious popcorn.

One reviewer wrote, “The Winter Soldier” is superbly made and well-acted, neatly setting up the next few installments with just the right enticing sense of ongoing mystery. Rated PG-13 for intense sequences of violence, gunplay and action throughout. —LW

Olson Publishes Book on Planned Giving

Having been a planned giving officer for 15 years, and an attorney longer than that, Wayne Olson saw a need for a book that explained planned giving in a way that made it practical, fun and most of all, doable. Although there are many books that explain planned giving and fund raising in technical, sophisticated ways, Olson found most were not helpful because they did not address the problems of the real world, and notably, many of the books went to great lengths to highlight gifts that few, if any, donors would ever contribute.

In response, Olson wrote “Big Gifts Small Effort, Unleash the Power of Planned Giving and Change your Nonprofit Forever,” with the thought that every charity and anyone who wants to raise money for a charity should benefit from this significant form of giving.

Olson is a member of the University Advancement staff at Sewanee and focuses his work on planned giving.

He hopes that the book will be a helpful and interesting guide for executive staff, gift officers and board members of any size nonprofit organization.

This is Olson's second book. His first book, “Think Like a Donor,” was published as Olson was honored as the 2014 “Most Inspiring Speaker of the Year,” by Fundraising Success magazine.

His books are available at online bookstores and directly from him at www.biggiftssmalleffort.com.

The book is different than other books on planned giving (or even fund raising) because Olson tries to weave subtle humor throughout its pages.

Many of the local Sewanee nonprofits should benefit from some of the lessons Olson has learned and are revealed in the book. And as Olson says, readers will learn why “The Wizard of Oz” is the best movie ever made about planned giving.

Gotko Carillon Concert on Sunday

The Carillon series will continue at 4:45 p.m., Sunday, June 29. Ray Gotko will play a variety of pieces, including Handel's “Musical Clock Pieces - Set II,” “Four Short Pieces” by Joseph Kuffner and “Shenandoah,” the American folk song arranged by Laura Whipple.

Gotko is a retired Episcopal priest from the Diocese of Atlanta and former tenured professor of music at the University of Georgia. Making music on the carillon is a new and enjoyable experience for him, a task he plans to continue for years to come.

Carillon concerts are, by their very nature, outdoor events. University Carillonneur John Bordley offers these suggestions and guidelines for listeners:

Feel free to walk around. Try listening from different locations and see which spots you like the best. Many people suggest that about 100–200 feet from the tower is a good distance. (Since the tower is about 100 feet tall, imagine it lying on its side on the ground!)

There will be a television monitor at the southwest corner of the chapel that allows you to observe the carillonneur playing.

Out of consideration for those who have come to enjoy the music, please refrain from talking during the music selections.

There are restrooms in the office wing of the chapel, on the ground floor of Walsh-Ellett Hall and in the basement of Carnegie Hall.

The performers welcome applause at the end of the concert.

Tours of the carillon tower and the playing cabin will be available following the Sunday concerts. Meet at the TV monitor.

Butterfly Census Set For July 6

On Sunday, July 6, University biology professor David Haskell and local author David Coe will lead Sewanee's 18th annual census of butterflies. The census will be sponsored by the North American Butterfly Association (NABA), and will be similar in both method and purpose to the Christmas bird counts organized by the National Audubon Society.

All who are interested are welcome to participate in the count. There is a $3 per person administrative fee mandated by NABA. The count will begin at 9 a.m. at the Lake Cheston pavilion and will continue until late afternoon. Participants are invited to remain with the census organizers for as long as they wish. Those wishing to join the count later in the day can do so at the Cross at 1 p.m.

As with the Christmas bird count, participants in the census will count not only the number of different species seen, but also the number of individual butterflies. The final count will be sent to NABA so that the results can be tabulated with other censuses taking place throughout the continent in the weeks leading up to and following the July 4th holiday. Last year's count in Sewanee turned up 31 butterfly species and 172 individual butterflies. In past years, counters have seen as many as 400 butterflies and 34 species.

This is the 40th year NABA has organized the counts. Last year, the Association sponsored 451 counts in 44 U.S. states and the District of Columbia, as well as two Canadian provinces.

Participants in Sewanee's count need only a sharp eye, a bit of patience and a willingness to learn. No prior knowledge of butterflies is necessary. A pair of binoculars is recommended, although not required. It is suggested that participants wear long pants and sturdy shoes, and that they bring along insect repellent. Participants should also bring a snack and something to drink. Those who intend to continue counting through the afternoon should bring lunch, as well.

For more information call Coe at 598-9775.

Nossi College of Art in Nashville announced that St. Andrew's-Sewanee School 2014 graduate Michiah Posey (above) has been awarded a Presidential Scholarship for photography.

Ethan Evans of Sewanee is attending the Tennessee Governor's School for the Humanities on the UT Martin campus this month. He will be a senior at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School in the fall.

School of Letters Readings

The Sewanee School of Letters is having a faculty reading by authors Michael Griffith and David Huddle at 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, July 2, in Gailor Auditorium. A reception will follow the reading.

Griffith is a novelist and short-story writer. His stories and essays have appeared in the Oxford American, the Southwest Review, Salmagundi and the Virginia Quarterly Review, among others.

He is the author of "Trophy: A Novel," "Bibliophilia: A Novella and Stories" and "Spikes: A Novel."

Huddle is the author of "Blacksnake at the Family Reunion" (Louisiana State University Press, 2012). His poems, essays and short stories have appeared in the New Yorker, Esquire, Harper's Magazine, the New York Times Magazine, Story, the Autumn House Anthology of Poetry and the Best American Short Stories. His work has also been included in anthologies of writing about the Vietnam War.

Moissis Graduation

Chloe Moissis, the daughter of Rebecca Flynn and granddaughter of Jane and John Flynn of Sewanee, graduated with honors from Sequoia High School in Redwood City, Ca., on June 6. Chloe was also one of several salutatorians of her class of 470. This fall she will attend the Roski School of Arts at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles.

New Sewanee Women's Basketball Coach Wins Kentucky Amateur Golf Title

The new Sewanee women's basketball coach, Tom Campbell, made history on July 19 by winning the prestigious Kentucky State Amateur Golf Championship. Campbell won the three-day event with a 12-under par 204 at Cherry Blossom Golf and Country Club. Below is the featured story in the Courier-Journal (courtesy of Jason Frakes of the Courier-Journal, Louisville, Ky.).

Somewhere between landing a job as a college basketball coach and trying to find a new house, Tom Campbell located his golf game again.

Now as he prepares to leave his Kentucky home, he can call himself a state champion.

Campbell sank three clutch birdie putts on the back nine and survived a bogey on No. 18 to record a one-shot victory over Denver Haddix Jr. on Thursday in the Clark's Pump-N-Shop Marathon Kentucky State Amateur at Cherry Blossom Golf and Country Club.

"I've been playing this a long time and never really thought about winning," said Campbell. "I just had a great week. Everything fell in place. ... It's just an amazing feeling to be 44 years old and out here with these young guys and competing."

Campbell shot a 2-under-par 70 to finish the three-day event at 12-under 204. Haddix, a Lexington resident, closed with a 69 and finished at 205. Trey Shirley of Bowling Green took third at 208 after a 70.

Campbell currently calls Danville, Ky., home but won't for much longer. He's been an assistant women's basketball coach at Centre College since 2007 and the men's head golf coach since 2010, but he was named the head women's basketball coach at Sewanee in April.

He'll begin that job July 1 and was planning to drive to Tennessee on Thursday to search for a new house.

"There are so many life changes going on around me that golf is the escape for a while," Campbell said. "Golf is the place to go to get away from all of that."

Playing together in the final group, Haddix took a one-stroke lead over Campbell by sinking a 20-foot birdie putt on the par-3 13th. But Campbell answered with birdie putts on Nos. 14 and 15, then sank a 20-footer for birdie on the par-5 17th that had him pumping his fist and taking a two-shot edge to the final hole.

Campbell was 11 under for the tournament on the par-4 holes but was even on the par-5s before making birdies on both on the back nine Thursday.

"I hate that hole," he said of No. 17. "It sets up poorly on the tee shot. ... I just saw (the putt). It's one of those where you see the line and just feel it. Thank goodness I just let go and hit the putt."

After Haddix missed a birdie putt on the par-4 No. 18, Campbell made a 2-footer for bogey to seal the victory.

"I couldn't feel my hands on the last putt," said Campbell, whose previous best finish in the State Am was fifth in 2001. "That 2-footer was a long 2 feet. It's very emotional. I've chased this a long, long time."

Campbell was matched with two teenagers during the first two rounds.

"They have no fear," he said. "They're swinging out of their shoes, ripping it and letting it go. I'm out there just holding on for dear life with both hands on the wheel thinking, 'Don't crash.' So it's a lot of joy for a 44-year-old — a 'mid-senior' as they call us now — to come out here and win this."

TigerSharks Begin Season, Break Records With Win in Shelbyville

The Sewanee Tiger Sharks prevailed in their first contest of the season in an away meet against perennial rivals the Shelbyville Sharks on June 17. The girls' home squad managed a win against Sewanee, 156-128, but the boys were superior by 178-89, making it an overall Sewanee win, 337-264.

This year's squad boasts 86 swimmers. After a successful showing in a preseason homemeet on June 7 named the Carnival, the swimmers waited 10 days owing to weather cancellations until this first real meet of the season.

A surprising number of individual records were broken in this meet, a testament to the team's enthusiastic preseason conditioning. Zolon Knoll set individual records in the 9-10 year-old boys division in the 25 Breast (21:09) and 25 Fly (17:85). Jackson Frazier set three individual records for the 8-and-under boys: 25 Breast (21:55), 25 Fly (21:02) and 100 IM (1:43:10). Also, a new record was set in the girls 13-14 100 Free Relay by Phoebe-Agnes Mills, Rachel Alvarez, Sophia Hartman and Kate Butler (59:69).

Sewanee's youngest 6-and-under swimmers got off to a great start in competitive swimming. Louie Frazier notched second in both 25 Free and 25 Back, with strong showings by Anara Summers and Madeline VandeVen. For the boys, Sam Frazier and Theo Michaels came in first and second in the 25 Free.

For the 8-and-under crowd, Autumn Milford placed first in the 25 Breast and 25 Back, and third in the 25 Free, while Madison King was second in the 25 Breast, 100 IM, and 25 Fly. Reese Michaels came in third in the 25 Free, and sixth in the 25 Breast. Maya Mauzy and Louie Frazier added strong finishes in the 25 Free and 25

Fly. In addition to Jackson Frazier's individual records for the same age group, Tobias VandeVen was second in the 25 Breast and 25 Free.

The boys 9-10 age group, in addition to Zolon Knoll's records, boasted Nathan King, first in 50 Free and 25 Back, and second in the 25 Fly; Avery Milford, third in the 25 Back, fourth in the 25 Breast, and fifth in the 50 Free. Ten weeks after his first formal swim lesson, Elijah Seavey took ninth of 11 in the 50 Free and 50 Back, and sixth of eight in the 25 Fly. The 9-10 girls bracket included strong performances by Emily Bailey, fourth in 25 Fly, and seventh in 50 Free and 25 Back, and Eliza Donald, sixth in the 25 Fly, eighth in the 25 Back, and ninth in the 50 Free.

Noteworthy performances among older swimmers included a Sewanee sweep of all the Medley Relays and all but two of the Free Relays. Individual first-place finishes were recorded by Harrison Hartman (boys 11-12: 50 Free and 50 Back), triple winner Kate Butler (girls 13-14: 50 Free, 50 Back and 50 Fly), Jacob Hanson (boys 13-14: 50 Free and 50 Back), Allison Bruce (girls 15-18: 50 Free), Zoey Craft (girls 11-12: 50 Breast), Travis Kershner (boys 11-12: 50 Breast and 100 IM), Garrett Shaw (boys 13-14: 100 IM), Erin Berner-Coe (girls 15-18: 100 IM and 50 Fly), Peter McCarty (boys 15-18: 100 IM and 50 Fly), Matthew Baranco (boys 15-18: 50 Back), Aiden Smith (boys 11-12: 50 Fly), and Larson Heitzenrater (boys 13-14: 50 Fly).

The TigerSharks are coached by Max Obermiller with help from administrative assistant Nan Long. Assistant coaches are Erin Neil, Eva Miller and Blake Shaw. Volunteer assistant coaches are Sam Smith, Erin Berner-Coe, Zoey Craft, Anna Fox and Sophia Hartman. Parent board members are led by Marion Knoll and include Donna Kershner, Deborah McGrath, Lisa Hartman and Pratt Paterson.

The TigerSharks swam the annual "Lap-A-Thon" on June 24. Consider sponsoring your favorite swimmer—even after the fact—by pledging an amount for each lap completed within 30 minutes. TigerShark parents are also reminded to sign up for the Lewisburg meet on Saturday, June 28.

OUTSIDEIN

by Patrick Dean

Quick! Think "adventure" and then note the next thing that comes to mind.

Was it Everest, or maybe the Amazon? Jungle, desert or the open ocean?

Alastair Humphreys is a 37-year-old British adventurer, author and motivational speaker. He has cycled round the world for four years, raced a yacht across the Atlantic Ocean, canoed 500 miles down the Yukon River and walked the length of the holy Kaveri river in India. In 2012 he was named a National Geographic Explorer of the Year.

In 2011, though, he went in a very different and interesting direction.

Humphreys decided to focus on making adventure accessible to people who may have very little outdoor experience. He even coined a term for what he was doing: microadventure.

I think this is really, really cool. He could have spent the rest of his life doing epic things in far corners of the globe; instead, he chose to inspire people who are unable to make those kinds of adventures happen in their lives.

Even cooler, he bases this in crowded, comparatively little England. We in the wide-open United States have even fewer excuses than they do.

On his website, <www.alastairhumphreys.com>, he posts things like "locations close to London," "making a beer-can cookstove," and "a kit list for microadventure." "You work from 9 to 5," his website says. "But what about your 5 to 9? Those 16 hours of freedom?"

"Microadventures," he says, "are a refresh button for busy lives."

What an exciting concept.

Like most activities, adventure has become a little commodified. Being good citizens of the developed West, we associate doing something with buying something. Adventure = gear. Or perhaps adventure = hiring a guide and buying a plane ticket.

The idea of microadventure sidesteps all that. Drive to a state park, cook hot dogs with your stove on the picnic table, sleep in your car or in a sleeping bag on the ground next to it. Get up in the morning and come home.

Microadventure.

This is another of those instances where it helps to think like a child. (Wouldn't that be most instances?) I'll bet we can all remember childhood microadventures. My buddies and I, all around 9 years old, found a "secret spot" in a tiny bit of trees and bushes. A street was on one side, a cotton field on the other, but inside felt like our hideaway. It was only a ten-minute bike ride from my house, but to go there was to have an adventure.

Maybe you camped out in your backyard. Perhaps you splashed around in a stream, trying to catch minnows. Remember how much fun that was?

Alastair Humphreys is having a Summer Solstice Microadventure Challenge. Go on a microadventure, share your story online, win prizes (maybe). One rule: "it must entail sleeping out in the wild for at least one night, without a tent." You can find it on his website. The deadline is June 30.

NATURENOTES

By Jean Yeatman

Mountain Rosebay Rhododendron

A Roan Mountain Adventure

Last week, Jean Yeatman and Mary Vance traveled to Roan Mountain in northeastern Tennessee, to see the Rhododendron catawbiense (common name Mountain Rosebay Rhododendron). "It made a spectacular display in the natural gardens above 6,000 ft." Jean said. "Its rose-pink-to-purple flowers were very showy, in large clusters at the ends of the branches. Friend Pam Jablonski was hiking with us, and frightened up a ground-nesting bird beside the trail. She took a picture of the nest, with its four bluish-white speckled in brown eggs, so we could identify it later.

"Farther along the trail," she continued, "we were scolded by Red Squirrels, also known as Boomers or Pine Squirrels. They are 11.75 to 13.75 inches long, reddish-brown above with a white underside. They lived up to their name as they scampered through the trees, fussing at us.

"When we got back to Pam's house later in the day, Pam's husband, Rick, took out his computer and brought up the Cornell bird website. After tapping up "Roan Mountain Birds," we found the nest we had seen belonged to the Dark-eyed Junco (junco hyemalis), which breeds at elevations of 6,000 ft. in the southern Appalachians, and is a permanent resident of various woodland habitats there. The nest was small and made of grasses, moss and rootlets, lined with fine grasses and hairs. The eggs were moving a bit, so we think they were about to hatch.

"This Junco is not quite so dark on the head," she concluded, "and is slightly less white on the breast, as is the Junco we see here in the winter."

Herbarium Hike Explores Cross Trails

The Sewanee Herbarium is sponsoring a hike of the trails adjacent to the War Memorial Cross. The group will take short forays in the most interesting directions, as well as talk about the trees and other plants near the Cross itself.

Meet at the Cross (at the end of Tennessee Avenue) at 4 p.m., Wednesday, July 9, to join Yolande Gottfried on this moderate one-hour walk.

The Sewanee Herbarium is involved in education, research, and conservation. It acquires and maintains a collection of pressed and mounted plant specimens with emphasis on the flora of the Sewanee Domain and the immediate four-county area in Tennessee. In addition, it is developing computer databases for species distribution information.

Becky

Desmond

Pets of the Week

Meet Becky and Desmond

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Becky is a sweet little Chihuahua-mix girl who is around 3-1/2 years old. She likes to play fetch, she's been house-trained, and she is good with cats and other dogs. Becky is heartworm negative, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Desmond is a very sweet black Tabby kitten who was hand-raised after being orphaned at about 3 weeks of age. He has been around children and dogs, and he loves playing with his kitten sisters. He loves a treat of canned food! Desmond is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.com>. Please help the Humane Society by sending donations to the Franklin County Humane Society, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Animal Harbor Sets Bone Drop

To continue support for its new building, Animal Harbor is having a Bone Drop, where participants purchase a bone for $100. At the new building site at 5 p.m., Saturday, Aug. 2, the bones will be dropped from 50 feet in the air, using a ladder truck from the fire department. The bone that falls closest to the center of a target wins up to $5,000. There will be three judges this year to determine which bone is the closest.

There are only 100 bones available for purchase. To enter, send a check for $100 (write Bone Drop in the memo of the check) and mail it to Animal Harbor Bone Drop, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

The Franklin County Humane Society has raised $462,000—77 percent—of its goal of $600,000. The building construction has begun at 56 Nor-Nan Road in Decherd. For more information contact Gail Castle at (931) 636-0388.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Sewanee Summer Music Festival

From harmony, from Heav'nly harmony
This universal frame began.
When Nature underneath a heap
Of jarring atoms lay,
And could not heave her head,
The tuneful voice was heard from high,
Arise ye more than dead.
Then cold, and hot, and moist, and dry,
In order to their stations leap,
And music's pow'r obey.
From harmony, from Heav'nly harmony
This universal frame began:
From harmony to harmony
Through all the compass of the notes it ran,
The diapason closing full in man.

What passion cannot music raise and quell!
When Jubal struck the corded shell,
His list'ning brethren stood around
And wond'ring, on their faces fell
To worship that celestial sound:
Less than a god they thought there could not dwell
Within the hollow of that shell
That spoke so sweetly and so well.
What passion cannot music raise and quell!

—From "A Song for St. Cecilia's Day"
by John Dryden
