

Winds Concert at Otey Parish

Oboist Rebecca Van de Ven will be joined by a number of talented musicians to perform at 2 p.m., Saturday, June 9, at Otey Parish for an afternoon of chamber music.

Van de Ven will be joined by fellow Sewanee faculty member Fred Nelson, trombone; freelancer Milica Nelson, cello; two members of the Nashville Symphony, James Button, principal oboe, and Roger Weismeyer, English horn; and Hunter Thomas, principal bassoonist of the Huntsville Symphony and a faculty member in the Sewanee Summer Music Festival. Their offerings will include some lively Huapangos, a near-premiere of a piece by Michael Alec Rose, Mozart and the saucy rhythmic melody of Bizet's "Carmen Suite," among others.

Guests may make a tax-deductible donation to Otey Parish's Capital Campaign Fund in lieu of a ticket purchase.

Local Food Movement Grows as Food Hub Begins

by Catalina Jordan Alvarez, Special to the Messenger

Local organic food production and education continues to expand in Sewanee and across the plateau. The USDA grant of $43,000 (matched by funds from members of the Sewanee community) which begins in July and was given to the Cumberland Farmer's Market, will create the South Cumberland Food Hub, a nonprofit organization designed to help farmers gain access to local institutional markets, including the University food services.

The Sewanee Farmer's Market on Saturday mornings has been a key part of life on the Mountain for decades, and many area residents are avid gardeners. Locally produced food offerings expanded when Jess Wilson started the Cumberland Farmer's Market (CFM) in 2007 with 10 suppliers, based on an online system she learned about while living in Athens, Ga. CFM had annual sales of $80,000 in 2011. Darlene Seagroves founded the Tracy City Farmer's Market in 2009, and it continues to grow each year as well.

The University has restarted its farm after a 40-year hiatus. Domain manager Nate Wilson is working with the new farm manager, Gina Raicovich, on the project. This effort builds on a student-run farm initiated more than 10 years ago by biology professor David Haskell's "Food for Thought" course. Raicovich, who began in May, is in charge of 20 head of cattle grazing on 40 acres, as well as a half-acre garden to be expanded onto another acre.

"The farm is not interested in competing with local farmers," Nate Wilson said, "and will not make the University self-sufficient." Rather, he said, it will serve as a "model of small-scale agriculture, an educational tool for both students and the surrounding community."

The 15 rows at the Blue Heron Garden at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School is in its second year of operation; it is part of SAS's five-year sustainability initiative. SAS faculty member Vivian Gray also directs its use for a student afternoon gardening program. She hopes to one day provide food for the SAS dining hall, which now boasts no soft drinks, better signage in its cafeteria (nutritional content, ingredients) and locally baked bread day once a week.

"Ideally, an SAS graduate will have fundamental, hands-on knowledge of

Grundy County Joins Appalachian Quilt Trail

The unveiling of Grundy County's first two barn quilts took place on May 24. Created by schoolchildren and adults, the barn quilts were installed by artist Ron van Dyke. Since then, two more blocks have been added at different locations.

Jana Barrett, director of the Barn Quilt Project, explained the project.

"A barn quilt is a replica of a traditional quilt block painted onto a piece of primed sign board," Barrett said. "These blocks are then attached to the outside of businesses, working farms and historical buildings."

Those who host a block may have their addresses and the block names on the Appalachian Quilt Trail website.

"When these people visit our barn quilts they contribute to Grundy County's economy by purchasing food, gas, lodging and works from area artists," Barrett stated. "It is simple, gentle on our resources and enjoyable for Grundy County citizens as well."

Oliver's Feed and Farm Supply in Pelham, owned by Mike, Melody and Judd Oliver, is the first local business to have a quilt block. The feed store also has a growing inventory of plumbing, farm supplies and plants. The Olivers are also authors, and their books are available at the store. Their block, "Starburst," can be seen at 82 Ball Field Road just past Pelham School.

The second quilt block is "Boxes" at Flury and Sons' Grocery, in Tracy City, owned and operated by Paul (P.C.) Flury. Flury's, which has been in business for 107 years, is located in a historic building. P.C. is the grandson of the original owner, Henry Flury, who passed it down to his son. With antiques, fixtures and pictures, as well as a sandwich shop, Flury welcomes guests to come by for a visit.

In Altamont, Dr. and Mrs. Joe Gray, who own the Manor Bed and Breakfast, host the block "Indian Trails," on the side of the log cabin behind Moffitt Manor, which served as Grundy County's first courthouse. The cabin was built in 1835. The Manor was constructed in 1885 and is a Federalist-style building with an Italian flavor. It sits between State Highways 50 and 108. The bed and breakfast is closed, but the Grays still enjoy chatting with passersby about their historic property. Dr. Gray is the minister of the Church of Christ at Altamont.

The fourth block, "Mountain Star," is at Laurel Leaf Studio, located between Altamont and Beersheba Springs, and owned and operated by Jana and Gerald Barrett. Jana is the art teacher for all six of Grundy County's elementary schools. Laurel Leaf Studio offers a variety of art classes for adults and her elementary students who want to spend a little more time creating than the regular school day allows.

The second annual Cumberland Folk School will be at Laurel Leaf Studio on July 18-20. Participants pick and choose from three days of quality instruction in watercolor, sketching, creative writing, drama, quilting, arts and crafts, and this year, sign language will be added to the curriculum.

Laurel Leaf Studio partnered with the Grundy Area Arts Council to secure an Arts Builds Communities grant for the barn quilt project. The grant was designed to provide schoolchildren and adults educational experiences and opportunities to serve Grundy County by painting and donating the barn quilts back to the community.

More blocks are being planned for Beersheba Springs, Palmer, Gruetli-Laager, Coalmont and the Farmer's Market in Tracy City. With the assistance of Ron van Dyke, Renee Corley and Elizabeth Bell, the barn quilts have been produced and installed quite efficiently.

While local businesses, historic buildings and family farms are the most common sites for barn quilts, anyone may host a block. Hosts are not required to register their block with the Appalachian Quilt trail; however, there is a registration form to submit for those who do.

Individuals and businesses that are interested in hosting a block should contact Jana Barrett, (931) 692-3879, email <laurelleafstudio@hotmail.com>; or Rhonda Pilkington at (931) 924-5353, email <mmtncchamber@blomand.net>.

Jump Off Fire Hall Potluck

Jump Off Fire Hall's potluck dinner and fund-raiser will be at 5:30 p.m., on Friday, June 15, at the fire hall. Bring a side dish or dessert and a donation for the project. Main dishes and drinks will be provided.

This event will raise money to purchase a mini-pumper truck, which has four-wheel drive and a 250-gallon carry capacity. It will enable firefighters to navigate difficult roads and driveways more quickly to begin fire suppression in advance of the larger trucks.

Monteagle Assembly Opens 130th Season

The Monteagle Sunday School Assembly in Monteagle opens its 130th consecutive summer season of enrichment with an interdenominational worship service at 11 a.m., Sunday, June 10, in the Assembly's Warren Chapel. The eight-week season will continue through Aug. 5, featuring visiting lecturers who will present morning and evening programs that are free of charge and open to the general public.

The first week of the 2012 season features a keynote lecture, "A Republic of Front Porches," at 11 a.m., Monday, June 11, by professor Patrick Deneen. A teacher of political theory and founding director of the Tocqueville Forum on the Roots of American Democracy, Deneen is the author and editor of several books, articles and reviews on ancient and American political thought, as well as the intersecting areas of religion and politics and literature and politics.

On Tuesday evening, June 12, famed C. S. Lewis interpreter David Payne will present his one-man dramatic performance of "An Evening with C. S. Lewis" in Warren Chapel at 8:15 p.m. Payne has presented his lectures and performances on the British theologian Lewis in venues worldwide.

Additional free public lectures in Warren Chapel during the first week of the season include: 11 a.m., Tuesday, June 12, Grundy County Extension Agent Creig Kimbro on "Agriculture in Grundy County: Toward a Sustainable Future"; 11 a.m., Wednesday, June 13, professor Karen Kuers on "Monteagle Sunday School Assembly as an Arboretum"; 11 a.m., Thursday, June 14, professor Tom Hammett on "Sustainability Through Forest Use: Examples from Asia, Africa and the Americas"; and 11 a.m., Friday, June 15, University Domain Manager Nate Wilson on "Forest Practices on the Mountain: Historical Perspective & Current Update."

A guide to the programs is available at the Assembly Office and on its website, <www.mssa1882.org>.

At the end of the school year, the Sewanee Elementary School PTO sponsored a Book Swap at the school. Books were collected and students were able to browse through the tables of donated books and choose titles to take home. The annual event gives students a chance to find some great books to enjoy for their summer reading.

Transit of Venus Viewing

Mountain residents watched the transit of Venus on the evening of June 5 from the University's Cordell-Lorenz Observatory and at the Memorial Cross. This rare event, which will not happen again until December 2117, occurs when Venus passes directly between earth and the sun. Venus is seen as a small dot gliding slowly across the face of the sun.

According to Doug Durig, director of the observatory and chair of the department of physics and astronomy, there was a good crowd at both locations.

"We had 65 signatures at the Cordell-Lorenz Observatory, but we had no students manning the logbook, so quite a few people did not sign in. I saw several faces whose names were not in the logbook," Durig said.

"There were at least 75 and maybe 100 at the Observatory between 5 and 6 p.m. for the start of the transit and 50-75 people at the Cross between 6:30 p.m. and sunset," he said.

While the transit ended locally at sunset, "the actual transit lasted until around midnight, you just had to be in Hawaii, Alaska or Japan to see the whole event before the sun set," he said.

LITTLE LEAGUE THANK YOU

To the Editor:

Wow! A big thank-you from Sewanee Little League to all of the businesses and individuals who stepped up and helped the league get through the season! We have new team sponsors, new banners and many new donations. Other businesses have even committed to sponsoring teams next season. Below is the list of those who responded so generously.

Original sponsors are Emerald-Hodgson Hospital, Southern Community Bank, Henley Electric and Plumbing, Crust Pizza, St. Andrew's-Sewanee, Builder's Supply, Long Wrecker Service, Mountain Valley Bank, Piggly Wiggly, Smoke'n B's and Burrow's.

New businesses include Locals, House of Payne, Sewanee Babson Center, the Blue Chair, Sewanee Business Alliance and St. Andrew's-Sewanee School (for an additional sponsorship).

Individual donors are Camille McClure, Daniel Holmes, Geraldine Piccard, Phil Lorenz III, Karen Keele, Elizabeth Wilson, Iska Hoole, Helen Stapleton, and Bob and Mary Kae Woodworth from St. Petersburg, Fla. We had several generous anonymous donors as well, including one in honor of the late Coach Horace Moore and his wife, Novella!

Thank you again to all who helped to keep Sewanee Little League alive and well! Our community ballpark is in good shape again!

COMMUNITY TO THE RESCUE

To the Editor:

I was walking our two dogs on May 30 at Lake Cheston, and they were romping in and out of the water. All of a sudden, Mickey, a Labrador Retriever, yelped and started whimpering. I asked him to lie down in the shade, which he did, and he seemed like he never wanted to get up again.

I wondered how I was going to get him back to our house, about a mile away on foot. I wasn't close enough to leave him tied up and then go get my station wagon, because I'd still have to get him to the car and into the back of it. So I called Alice, the University operator, and asked her to connect me to the Fowler Center, where my husband was playing squash.

I talked to Dorothy at the Fowler front desk. She went into action as soon as she heard my predicament, and went in search of John.

While I was waiting, Mickey got up, and we slowly wandered our way to the entrance to Lake Cheston.

When we reached the entrance, Bill Hethcock showed up in his convertible. He said everyone at the gym was looking for John, but he came to help.

By then, Mickey seemed like he could make it home, and both dogs were wet and dirty from playing in the lake. So I thanked Bill and let him go on his way, and I continued walking back toward the house with a big smile and a feeling of wonder.

Only in Sewanee!

How blessed we are to live in this community.

Summer Activities on the Mountain

Summer conferences are in full swing on the University and St. Andrew's-Sewanee campuses.

Members of Delta Kappa Gamma are on the Mountain, today through Sunday, June 8–10, for their annual convention on the University campus.

The Sewanee School of Letters program begins Sunday, June 10, along with the college summer school classes. Sewanee Summer Music Festival participants arrive on June 23 and will remain on campus for the entire four-week program. Their arrival is followed by that of the Bridge Program in Math and Science attendees and by the beginning of the Sewanee Environmental Institute's field program for high school juniors and seniors.

July events on campus include the Young Writers' Conference and the Sewanee Writers' Conference. The young writers will arrive July 1. The Sewanee Writers' Conference begins on July 24. Special guests this year at the Young Writers' Conference include Arlene Hutton, Wyatt Prunty, John Jeremiah Sullivan and Kevin Wilson.

Youth day camps at St. Andrew's-Sewanee have begun. Camp SAS and basketball camp have taken place. Ron Ramsey's Naturalist Workshops for rising fourth- through seventh-graders begin June 18, with the final workshop on June 22. Adventure Camp begins June 25. Volleyball camp opens on July 9.

Participants in the Lilly Discernment Program began their work on campus on June 4. In addition, this summer brings an alumni golf tournament, Education for Ministry trainers and participants in the advanced degree program at the School of Theology, as well as a variety of sports camps for young people.

Please welcome all these guests to the Mountain!

Liam Blayten Cash

Liam Blayten Cash was born on June 2, 2012, at Southern Tennessee Medical Center to Kim and Greg Cash Jr. of Sewanee. He weighed 7 lbs., 4.6 oz., and was 19 inches long. He joins his siblings, Haley, Trey and Austin.

Maternal grandparents are Christina and Miguel Munoz and Mark Farris. Paternal grandparents are Peggy King and Greg and April Cash.

Construction Updates

Franklin County will be repaving Hatrock Road, Lake O'Donnell Road and Florida Avenue this summer, according to Domain manager Nate Wilson. In preparation for this, the county will be doing tree-trimming to make sure the paving equipment has enough room to work. Watch for this work to begin soon.

The renovation of Cannon Hall, construction of a new residence hall and some related utility work will also begin soon, according to Reggie Vachon, assistant director of physical plant services for the University.

"We expect these projects to cause some minor disruption to parking and traffic patterns around Fulford Hall, University Avenue and South Carolina Avenue," Vachon said.

Access to the parking lot behind Fulford Hall from South Carolina Avenue will be closed. The Fulford driveway from University Avenue will be a dead-end drive with no access to the parking lot behind Fulford or South Carolina Avenue. The Rebel's Rest driveway will be modified to allow for entry and exit traffic.

Utility work will take place at the intersection of University Avenue and South Carolina Avenue in mid to late summer (a more detailed schedule with full impact will be furnished as more details become available).

The contractor was on campus earlier this month to begin mobilization and installation of construction fencing and to stage trailers and equipment.

Vachon expects that the renovation to Cannon Hall will begin this month and be complete in December, and construction on a new residence hall next to Cannon and behind Fulford Hall will begin in July and be complete in July 2013.

Otey Parish

On Sunday, June 10, Otey Parish will celebrate the Second Sunday after Pentecost with Holy Eucharist at 8:50 a.m. and 11 a.m. During the Sunday School hour, the Lectionary Class, led by Pete Trenchi, will meet. Child care is available from 8:30 a.m. until after the coffee hour, which follows the second service.

The Healing Service, which usually takes place at 12:05 p.m. on Thursdays will be suspended for the summer. It will resume in the fall.

VBS Planning Meeting

A planning meeting for this summer's Vacation Bible School will be held at 4 p.m., Wednesday, June 13, at St. James Episcopal Church. This year's theme is "Operation Overboard—Dare To Go Deep With God." Please plan to attend to make this joint effort of Otey, St. James, and Mountain Ministries a successful event.

First Baptist, Monteagle

First Baptist Church of Monteagle is hosting "Day Camp for K.A.s (Kids in Action)" on Thursday, June 14. The day will include a picnic and games.

Four student missionaries from the Duck River Baptist Association will be present. The camp is for children ages 3 through 12; adults are welcome to help. For more information, call Jennifer Smiley at (931) 924-4054.

Midway Baptist Church

"Bug Zone" Bible School will be in session 6-9 p.m., June 28-29, and 9 a.m.-2 p.m., June 30, at Midway Baptist Church. Enrollment is for children in pre-K through 5th grade. The church van will be available for all three days.

To schedule a ride call 598-9019 or (931) 308-4047.

Bro. Thomas George and the Bible School staff are ready to welcome all children.

Grant Workshop for CFSCP

The Community Fund of the South Cumberland Plateau (CFSCP) will hold a workshop on Tuesday, June 19, to answer questions or give assistance to those interested in completing a grant application. The meeting will be at the Coalmont Community Center.

Eligible applicants include non-profit organizations, churches and other religious groups and governmental units (such as public schools.)

Grant proposals should be designed to benefit of residents of the South Cumberland. A downloadable grant application and more information about the CFSCP is available at <www.cfscp.org>. The deadline for submitting a grant proposal is Aug. 1.

According to grants chair Shelia Beard, grants ranging between $1,000 and $15,000 will be awarded. Depending on the success of the CFSCP fund-raising and the quality of proposals received, the group plans to award $100,000 to grant applicants by November.

For more information, contact Shirley Winn by email <info@cfscp.org> or by calling (931) 383-9044.

Lewis Taps Cleek for Campaign Chair

Democratic State Senate candidate Jim Lewis has appointed Monteagle native Debbie Cleek to head his campaign for the open seat in District 16. Lewis, a former state senator and pharmacist in South Pittsburg for the past 42 years, is running as a champion of public education, civil rights and working-class families. As campaign chair, Cleek will manage campaign staff and volunteers, media relations, scheduling, messaging and strategy, and other duties.

"Debbie has been a tireless and dedicated worker for the Democratic Party," said Lewis. "She understands that smart policy and government can make a difference in the lives of working class Tennesseans and their children, and she is passionate about bringing people together to fight for what's right. We are indeed fortunate to have such a vibrant personality working for our campaign."

"I've known Jim for years through my work with the Democratic Party," said Cleek. "I'm honored that he asked me to head this effort to bring a sense of reason to the state senate and to put Jim's wealth of knowledge to work on behalf of the people of Tennessee."

Cleek graduated from Grundy County High School before attending both Chattanooga State and the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga with a major in business. She has been politically active in the Democratic Party since Al Gore's first campaign for the U.S. House of Representatives in 1977.

Named the 2010 Marion County Democrat of the Year, Cleek has served as secretary and vice-chair of the Marion County Democratic Party. She has also been active in the "Cumberland Plateau for Obama" campaign for the past four years.

Married with one son, Cleek recently retired from St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, where she worked in development, public relations and admissions. She is a member of Morton Memorial United Methodist Church in Monteagle, and she is a member of Professional Women of America and Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

"Jim is a genuine F.D.R. Democrat who believes in support for teachers and public education, for union rights, for civil rights and for women's rights," said Cleek. "As a hometown pharmacist for more than 40 years, he understands the trials and tribulations of the average citizen's struggles to afford healthcare. He represents the things I believe in as a Democrat and as a citizen of Tennessee, and I am convinced that he will represent all the voters of our district, not just those with a lot of money."

Tennessee State Senate District 16 includes Marion, Grundy, Sequatchie, Van Buren, Warren, Coffee, and Franklin counties. The primary election will be held Thursday, Aug. 2, and the general election will be on Tuesday, Nov. 6.

Leadership Grundy Class of 2012

Ten outstanding citizens completed an important milestone as they graduated from Leadership Grundy on May 24. Participants attended eight consecutive monthly sessions on topics such as leadership development, team building, conflict resolution, communications, local education, state and local government, community development, tourism, emergency awareness and much more. The Class of 2012 also redesigned the Grundy County Government website making it more user-friendly and adding important updates and additions.

Those completing this year's Leadership Grundy 2012 program were Patricia Boston, Michael Brady, Ravi Godhwani, Rhonda Pilkington, Mary Priestley, Nathan Sanders, Tammy Sholey, Renea Stembridge, Susie Sweeton and Margaret Zucker. Special appreciation is extended to all board members and sponsors of this year's graduating class who helped make the program a reality.

The mission of Leadership Grundy is to identify, educate and motivate participants of the program to better develop leadership skills that will enhance the future and improve the quality of life throughout Grundy County. More than 150 citizens have completed the program. Applications are currently being taken for the Leadership Grundy Class of 2013.

food cultivation and food preparation, a clear grasp of the origins of the food they eat and the impact of their food decisions on themselves and others," said Christi Teasley, head of the SAS Sustainability Committee.

On July 1, the University assumes responsibility for the operation of the on-campus dining services. Associate vice president for administration Frank Gladu said there will be "fewer restrictions about what can be purchased locally," and they can "be more responsive to student wishes." Rick Wright, executive chef at McClurg dining hall, who purchases more than $1 million in food a year for the facility, said he hopes that this change will help the entire area.

"We hope that demand [for local organic food] will increase production," Wright said. He believes in taking small steps to achieve this goal.

"A realistic next step would be all fresh local lettuces in the salad bar," he said.

In addition to the University and SAS dining halls, area businesses and restaurants are making a greater commitment to buying locally.

Letters

Kevin Wilson will offer a guest reading at the Sewanee School of Letters at 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, June 13, at Gailor Auditorium.

Wilson, who grew up just a few miles from Sewanee, is the author of the acclaimed novel "The Family Fang."

"The Family Fang" has been praised by People magazine as "a wacky wonderful debut" and by the Wall Street Journal for covering "complex psychological ground."

"Wilson's inventive genius never stops for a rest break," said National Public Radio. Actress Nicole Kidman has bought rights to "The Family Fang" and will star in the movie.

Wilson served as a dorm counselor for the Sewanee Young Writers' Conference; he received his B.A. from Vanderbilt University and his M.F.A. from the University of Florida. He lives in Sewanee, where he serves as assistant professor of English and coordinator of the creative writing program.

Delta Kappa Gamma and Carillon Workshop

Delta Kappa Gamma Society International is a professional honorary society of women educators. Sewanee has been the host location for the statewide meeting of this group for many years. Mrs. Elizabeth Majors used to make a commanding presence, wearing a wide-brimmed hat and parking her large car in a prominent place.

The DKG's annual meeting started yesterday and continues today and tomorrow morning. An interesting tradition is that at their Saturday morning memorial service to honor those members who died during the year, the women come out of All Saints' Chapel and form a circle. Then, the carillon plays the official society song. Laura Whipple, my teacher and former university carillonneur, told me that the women sang their song to the accompaniment of the carillon. But from inside the playing cabin, it is impossible to know what actually happens!

Each year someone gives me a phone call to tell me when to start, and I have to hope all goes well. One year I got a call just as I finished, saying the women had not all been outside at the start of the song and would I play it again. Last year I got the call and started playing. Only very recently did I learn that the call had come early, that the women were still walking out of the chapel. In following up on this information, I was told that the women did not sing the song anyway. They just listened in silence! This year I am going to observe all the activity from the ground, for the first time. Last year during a tour of the tower for the DKGs, a local woman expressed an interest in learning to play the carillon. Charlene Williamson of Estill Springs has been an excellent student, and she will play this year, thus returning the whole service to being "women only."

On Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday next week (June 13–15), there will be a carillon workshop for seven participants. Please expect to hear a lot of carillon practicing and playing on those days. Please also plan to attend a concluding concert by the participants at 2:30 p.m. on Friday, June 15. The workshop presenter is Geert D'hollander from Belgium. Geert was my composition teacher at the carillon school in Mechelen when I was a student, 2005–06. He is a recognized star in the carillon world, both for his playing and his compositions. He will return on June 24 to play a recital. There will be more information about his recital in the June 22 issue of the Messenger.

Book Club Reading List for 2012–13

The Sewanee Book Club, a project of the Sewanee Woman's Club, has announced its reading list for the 2012–13 year:

"Becoming Dickens" by Robert Douglas-Fairhurst—a biography focused on individuals and experiences that turned a scrubber of ink-pots into a great novelist.

"Bel Canto" by Ann Patchett—a novel set in Brazil recounting the bond that developed between hostages and captors.

"In the Garden of the Beasts: Love, Terror and an American Family in Hitler's Berlin" by Eric Larson—nonfiction, by author of "The Devil in the White City."

"People of the Book" by Geraldine Brooks—a novel based on the true story of the preservation of a beautifully illuminated ancient Jewish manuscript.

"Rendezvous at Chateau de Cande" by Charles W. Clowis Jr.—a novel by local author and wine expert set amid the adventures and intrigue of WWII.

"The Sense of an Ending" by Julian Barnes—a novel that earned the 2011 Man Booker Prize deals with relationships remembered and reexamined.

These books will be available at Thurmond and duPont Libraries, as well as the University Bookstore. For questions, please contact Flournoy Rogers at 598-0733 or email fsrogers@wildblue.net.

Shakerag Workshops And Faculty Talks Begin

Rosemary M. Magee

Each June, St. Andrew's-Sewanee School welcomes accomplished and aspiring artists to Shakerag Workshops for two one-week sessions of studio classes. The two sessions of Shakerag 2012, held June 10–16 and June 17–23, focus on eight different media, including textiles, technology, clay, paint, collage, book arts, dyeing and photography. Professional artists from across the country and around the world teach the courses.

At 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, June 13, Rosemary M. Magee will speak about creativity and the role of the arts in the world. Magee chairs Emory University's strategic initiative in Creativity and the Arts and serves as vice president and secretary of the university. In that role, she has sought to strengthen the role and visibility of the arts, and she has led a wide range of "creativity conversations" with artists, scientists and scholars from across the disciplines. Magee is an artist-in-residence at the Hambidge Center for the Creative Arts and Sciences and the Tyrone Guthrie Center.

Each weekday evening Shakerag faculty members give a brief talk about their work, and on Wednesday of each week the Shakerag Lecture Series sponsors a presentation by a visiting artist.

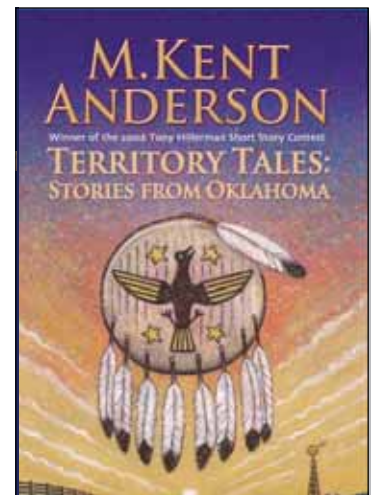

All of these lectures are at 7:30 p.m. in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts on the campus of St. Andrew's-Sewanee School and are open to the public.

During the first week of Shakerag, there will be other faculty presentations: Monday, June 11—Liz Zlot Summerfield, handbuilt functional pottery;

Shawn Decker, digital arts; and Jean Cacicado, fabric design and felting;

Tuesday, June 12—Sandy Webster, book arts; Kent McLaughlin, kiln building; Nancy Crow, quilting; Thursday, June 14—Holly Roberts, painting and collage and Michel Garcia, natural dyeing.

Shakerag Workshops attracts a diverse group of participants; beginners and professionals take classes together. The inclusive atmosphere of Shakerag is one of the hallmarks of the program, and teachers over the years have commented on the vitality of classes which include participants with a variety of experiences. Shakerag offers fifteen classes altogether in a wide variety of areas. For more information, go to <www.shakerag.org> or contact Claire Reishman at 598-5651, ext. 3165.

Anderson Book Event at Lorena's

Local writer Kent Anderson will be signing his collection of Western-themed short stories, "Territory Tales," on Saturday, June 16, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Lorena's in Monteagle.

The book, which is available at Lorena's, contains five short stories, including the Tony Hillerman Award-winning "Going Back," and a novella, "The Gang," about a down-and-out FBI agent chasing what appear to be Old West outlaws in the modern West.

Sewanee Sports Youth Camps

Soccer Day Camp

The University soccer coaches are holding two sessions of soccer camp this summer.

The first soccer camp is available June 18–22 for boys and girls ages 5–11. The half-day option (9–11:30 a.m.) is designed for ages 5–8, and costs $100. The morning will include games geared towards learning the fundamentals of soccer while having fun and working closely with coaches.

The full-day camp (9 a.m.–3:30 p.m.) is recommended for ages 9–13, and costs $195. Campers will have plenty of opportunities for learning and playing, while focusing on enjoying soccer. Full-day campers will have lunch at McClurg Dining Hall and afternoon pool time at the Fowler Center.

The second session will be June 25–29 for boys and girls ages 5–13. Both half-day and full-day camp options are available.

For more information contact David Poggi, 598-1582 or <depoggi@sewanee.edu>, or Kelly Wolverton, 598-3238 or <kwolver@sewanee.edu>. For the registration forms, go to <sewaneetigers.com/documents/2012/4/17/2012_Day_Camp_Brochure9.pdf?id=2655>.

All-Sports Camp

Sewanee All-Sports Camp will be held July 2–6 (there will not be camp on July 4) from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Fowler Center. This day camp is open to boys and girls entering first through sixth grades. Activities will include basketball, soccer, wiffle ball, battle ball, floor hockey, kick ball and recreational swimming in the Fowler Center pool.

Registration must be completed by June 25. Registration forms are available at the Fowler Center front desk and online at <www.sewaneetigers.com> (click summer camps). For more information contact Jeff Heitzenrater by email, <jheitzen@sewanee.edu>, or phone 598-1285.

Mountain Lion Club Provides Support for SAS Sports

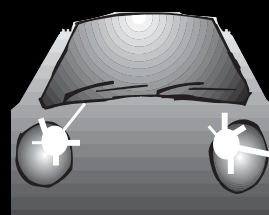

Come rain, snow or Sewanee fog, the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School Mountain Lion Club attends athletic contests, collecting gate, selling concessions and helping to organize and staff meets and tournaments. This year, under the energetic leadership of Ben Beavers, the many parents and students who provided this labor helped to raise more than $19,000 in support of the athletic program.

During the year the club helped to provide uniforms and bats for the baseball team, coaches' apparel, bags for the golf team, software for swim meets, field improvements for softball, wrestling supplies and uniforms, and more.

At their May 16 meeting, SAS athletic boosters approved additional purchases, including training soccer balls, shelves for the Wood-Allgood gymnasium, training equipment for tennis, a uniform storage closet, track equipment, football helmets, improvements to the baseball field, a mascot costume and more. The club also chose to hold some funds in reserve with the hopes of building a fund for larger capital improvements.

"I would like to thank all of the volunteers who gave the time and energy that enabled us to be in a position to make such a significant positive impact on the lives of all student athletes," said Beavers. "Without all of your efforts, none of this would be possible."

LIGHTS ON!!!

It is state law to have your head-lights on in fog and rain.

Warm finishes 16th at National Track & Field

Freshman Sewanee track and field athlete Sally Warm finished 16th in the women's high jump at the 2012 NCAA Division III National Track and Field Championships in late May.

After her first attempt of 1.55m, Warm finished the event with a leap of 1.59m.

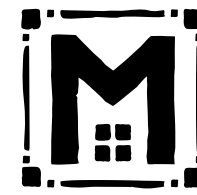

"Sally did a fantastic job this season," said head coach Jeff Heitzenrater. "I am excited to help Sally continue to improve over the next three years."

This event wrapped up an outstanding season for Warm. Overall, the two-time All-SCAC performer broke the school record in the high jump (1.69m—5'6.5") at the Hilltop Twilight Classic.

"I am also proud of the work assistant coach Ossie Buchannon did with her," said Heitzenrater. "He constructed a great routine for Sally all season and helped her reach some big goals. I would like to thank Ossie for his hard work."

NATURENOTES

By Harry and Jean Yeatman

Phoebe Nest Found in Barn

"While I was at the storage barn," reports Jean Yeatman, "I looked up and saw a Phoebe carrying insect food in its mouth. This proved that it had a nest, which was in the barn on top of a post. This bird is a deep olive brown above, darkest on the head. The underparts are dull white. It has a slight crest on its head, and the bill and feet are black. When it sits on a branch, it wags its tail. Its nest is made of moss, mud and various vegetable substances. If chicken feathers are used, the nest can become infested with lice and mites, which will cause death to the young. The Phoebe is a fly-catcher, so you may see it dart into the air in pursuit of insects."

Regarding the Phoebe's call, James Russell Lowell wrote,

Phoebe is all it has to say

In plaintive cadence o'er and o'er

Like children that have lost their way

Pets of the Week

Meet Lucky and Nike

The Franklin County Humane Society's Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Lucky is a sweet little Terrier mix who loves being a lapdog. He is calm, but he's also playful and funny. Lucky is up-to-date on shots and neutered.

Nike is a fluffy young girl with soft downy fur. She has a mild temperament, and she would love a nice, quiet home. Nike is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots and spayed.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor! On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets over four months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out their other pets at www.animalharbor.com. Enter their drawing on the site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Ask about their low-income spay/neuter program.

Friends of So. Cumberland Meeting

The Friends of South Cumberland State Park will host its annual meeting on Saturday, June 16, at Foster Falls. The events are open to the public, and newcomers are welcome.

The first event, at 10 a.m., is a ranger-led hike around Foster Falls, which is one of the 10 separate parks that make up the South Cumberland State Park. A handicapped-accessible boardwalk leads out to a viewing deck over the falls, so people of all abilities can enjoy the view. The hike will be moderate and will return to the picnic shelter in time for lunch.

At noon, a potluck picnic will take place under the pavilion. Fried chicken and beverages will be furnished, and everyone is asked to bring a side dish.

A short business meeting will include the announcement of the Jim Prince Memorial Award and recognition of the new volunteer group, the Very Important Park (VIP) Friends. Music by the Bazzania Girls Band will round out the festivities.

The FSC board will meet prior to the annual meeting. For more information call (931) 924-3424. Directions to Foster Falls are available by calling (931) 924-2980.

BARDTOVERSE

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

June 8, 1786 - First ice-cream sold in America
[Washington was pleased]

Call the roller of big cigars,
The muscular one, and bid him whip
In kitchen cups concupiscent curds.
Let the wenches dawdle in such dress
As they are used to wear, and let the boys
Bring flowers in last month's newspapers.
Let be be finale of seem.
The only emperor is the emperor of ice-cream....
