The Outside Inn Returns This Weekend

by Kevin Cummings, Messenger Staff Writer

The Outside Inn was a performance haven from 1972–82, where like-minded student artists bonded and entertained through coffee and cabaret—and echoes of those moments return this weekend.

The Inn, located in what is now the Ayres Multicultural Center, was a coffeehouse and venue for Sewanee Arts, a student-run troupe of actors, poets, musicians and the like.

“We were a group with a mission,” said Carol Ponder, who sang, told stories, and played guitar and spoons. “We were devoted to the performing arts with all the fervor that drives emerging teenaged artists. It was ‘our’ space, student run and staffed, on and off stage. It was a home.”

Today (Friday) and tomorrow, June 10, performers from the Inn will gather for the Outside Inn Rendezvous, a reunion starting each evening at 6 p.m. at Cravens Hall. The event, which will feature music and other performances, is open to the public.

The theme is “Moulin Rouge” and folks are encouraged (but not required) to dress like they live in Paris in the 1920s, said Hank Selby, president of Sewanee Arts from 1974 to 1977 and the main organizer of the Rendezvous.

The evolution to the Outside Inn and Sewanee Arts started when student Dave Coniglio founded a beatnik coffeehouse in the Thompson Union building, dubbed “The Labyrinth.” Replete with images of Jimi Hendrix and wine bottles and candle wax all over the place, it was a groovy venue, Selby said.

“People who believed in truth and beauty and love, and make love not war, that’s what we were all about in those days,” Selby said. “People would just go in and play guitars and recite poetry and stare at blacklight posters.”

With Coniglio’s initiative paired with student Christopher Paine’s vision for Sewanee Arts, performers started doing cabaret shows at the EQB Club in spring

14th Annual Shakerag Workshops Begin on June 11

Shakerag Workshops begins its 14th season of week-long arts workshops for adults on June 11. Taking place on the campus of St. Andrew’s-Sewanee School, Shakerag welcomes 150 artists from across the United States for classes in a variety of arts media. This year’s sessions run June 11–17 and June 18–24.

The general public is welcome to join workshop participants for artists’ talks and lectures each evening in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts on the SAS campus. The Shakerag Lectures are held on Wednesday and begin at 7:30 p.m. This June, Chattanooga sculptor John Henry will speak on Wednesday, June 14. On Wednesday, June 21, Nashville art collector and writer Betsy Wills will speak about the modern art scene from her perspective as a writer for ArtStorment, a popular arts blog. Everyone is welcome to a reception and exhibition of Shakerag faculty work in the SAS Gallery following the lectures. The SAS Gallery is located in the Simmonds Building, a short walk from McCrory Hall. Artists’ talks are held at 7:15 p.m. on the other evenings.

“It has been exciting to watch Sha-kerag Workshops grow over the years,” says director Claire Reishman. “This year we have teachers coming from all across the United States—Texas to New York, Massachusetts to Hawaii—and one teacher from Canada. Our classes include jewelry, natural dyeing, pottery, painting, photography, sewing, print making and digital arts. Additionally, in 2017 several area teachers have been awarded a grant to attend a mural painting workshop at Shakerag, so that they can develop the skills necessary to create murals with their own students in their local schools.

Shakerag Workshops attract a diverse group of artists who enjoy the gourmet meals and social gatherings surrounding the classes almost as much as they enjoy the workshops themselves. Most classes are open to a wide range of participants, and beginners and professionals take classes together. The inclusive atmosphere of Shakerag is one of the hallmarks of the program, and teachers over the years have commented on the vitality of classes which include students with a range of experience.

Arcadia Will Mean More Medical Services

by Kevin Cummings
Messenger Staff Writer

A planned assisted living facility in Sewanee will lead to more specialty medical services for the community, according to local officials.

Thomas Phelps, vice president of the Board of Trustees for Arcadia at Sewanee, said assisted living will mean additional elderly people in need of medical care, and Southern Regional Tennessee Health System (STRHS) is working with Arcadia to plan for that demand.

“Assisted living will feed long-term care and skilled medical care, because more people will stay on the Mountain past 70, 80 or 90 years-old,” Phelps said. “Arcadia is going to help bring better and more medical care to the Sewanee community and to the Mountain.

“It is the piece of the puzzle that is missing,” he added. “You’ve got a hospital, you’ve got skilled care, you even have long-term care, but we don’t have assisted living.”

STRHS includes the hospitals in Sewanee and Winchester, and market president Rob Followell said he foresees future specialty clinics at the Sewanee hospital in fields such as cardiology, urology and neurology, in part because of Arcadia.

School Board Continues Budget Review;

Discusses Townsend School’s Future

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

At the June 6 Franklin County School Board of Education meeting, Director of Schools Amie Lonas requested that all departments heads make budgets for the 2017–18 school years as lean as possible, projecting a $2.2 million shortfall. The board also discussed deeding Townsend School to the South Central Human Resource Agency for a Head Start program and replacing Franklin County High School’s storm damaged scoreboard with a Jumbotron.

“I don’t want the budget cuts to affect programming,” Lonas stressed. “We’ve downsized the teaching staff by not filling the positions of six teachers who are leaving,” she said. Some teachers retired, she explained, and in other cases, the school system didn’t renew the contracts of teachers no longer needed. The state required the school system to add another English Language Learner instructor and FCHS will add a part-time Career and Technical Education instructor (CTE).

The school system lost funding for one Pre-K classroom due to a drop in

Watch for Historical Markers Commemorating the Trail of Tears

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

Twenty years ago, a project to recognize the Trail of Tears route passing through Franklin County began, according to Doris Tate Trevino, Jump Off resident and Tennessee Trail of Tears Association (TNTOTA) board member.

Twenty-six signs will commemorate the section of trail passing through the Sewanee area, beginning at the sand plant on Highway 41A and culminating at the Templeton Library where the trail dropped off the Mountain into Cowan. Signage along the trail will continue to the Lincoln County line on Hwy. 64, with 90 signs total.

“People assume the Cherokee were all removed together at gun point,” said Floyd Ayers of Winchester, “but that wasn’t the case.” Ayers and Franklin County Historical Society (FCHS) President David Moore spearheaded the local effort for recognition of the section of trail known as the Bell route.

MSSA Opens 135th Program Season June 11

The Monteagle Sunday School Assembly opens its 135th consecutive summer season of enrichment with an interdenominational worship service at 11 a.m., Sunday, June 11, in the Assembly’s Warren Chapel. The eight-week season will continue through Sunday, Aug. 6, featuring numerous visiting lecturers who will present morning and evening programs in Warren Chapel that are open free of charge to the public; unless otherwise noted, morning lectures begin at 10:45 a.m. and evening lectures at 8:15 p.m. Anyone interested in a full schedule of the Monteagle Assembly’s 2017 program is welcome to pick one up at the Assembly Office, call (931) 924-2286, or to peruse the schedule on the Assembly’s website at <www.mssa1882.org>.

The first week of the season features an eclectic mix of nature, politics and public policy, and issues around aging. The Thursday, June 15 evening’s feature lecture by Tara Armistead, “Centennial Park: a Nashville Treasure,” will explore the ecological and cultural history that inspired Nashville’s master plan and how it shaped the city. Much like the centennial exposition of 1897, this design embodies celebration, innovation, diversity and classicism. Armistead has 30 years of experience managing a small and intensive landscape architecture practice in Nashville. Her lecture will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Stand Up for Rural Health Care

by Rob Followell, President, Southern Tennessee Regional Health System

During Rural Hospital Week, the Southern Tennessee Regional Health System joined community hospitals and caregivers across the nation in highlighting the many ways we are making communities healthier—both inside and outside of our hospital walls.

While rural communities are often considered “small towns,” communities like ours are the backbone of America. Interestingly, if you add up the population of areas like ours across the country, it equals nearly 60 million people, or one in five Americans.

At the heart of many of those communities is the local hospital. Southern Tennessee Regional Health System has hospitals in Lawrenceburg, Pulaski, Winchester and Sewanee.

The most obvious benefit we provide is also our most vital: the delivery of high-quality patient care close to home for those we serve. Whether you need emergency treatment or have a scheduled, routine procedure, our goal is for you to have access to the care you need, when and where you need it. When seconds matter most, having essential healthcare just minutes away, instead of hours, can mean the difference between life and death.

But the impact to a community extends far beyond our medical capabilities. In many rural areas, the hospital is one of the largest employers in the area and contributes to job creation throughout its community. A recent study by the American Medical Association found that “each physician supports almost 14 jobs and adds more than $2 million in economic input, on average.” Those aren’t just jobs in the hospital or doctor’s office—they include restaurants, dry cleaners and daycares.

In addition to job creation, our hospitals are also tax-paying entities, supporting important local services and providing an extensive amount of charity care to our community each year. To put it in perspective, in 2016 alone, our hospitals paid nearly $3.1 million in local taxes and provided more than $5.3 million in charity care to our communities.

Rural hospitals like ours are making communities healthier each and every day—physically and fiscally. We are proud to serve the physical, mental, social and emotional well-being of our communities, and we are so honored that you continue to entrust us with your healthcare needs.

We are joining our fellow community hospitals across the country and asking our communities to help us raise awareness of our impact nationwide. Help us spread the word to our friends and family in larger cities and our elected officials in Congress. How? It’s easy. Just join the conversation on social media. Tell people how we are making communities healthier and then use #StandUp4RuralHospitals. By working together, small towns can have a big and lasting impact on the future of healthcare.

Christ Church Montegale

Sometimes labeled “The Feast of the Holy Trinity,” which is a misnomer, since every Sunday is a celebration of God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit for Christians, Trinity Sunday is nevertheless a part of the liturgical year for many churches. For some, it is the beginning of Trinity Season, a time of study of the Parables of the Kingdom and growth, marked by the color Green which is used all summer. A good many hymns were written for this particular Sunday and Christ Church will offer some of them in this Sunday’s service.

As is the norm, the service begins around 10:30 a.m. Sunday School runs concurrently with the service. Lunch follows. Welcome to the Trinity Season.

Cumberland Presbyterian

Midway Baptist Church

Everyone is invited to attend Mission Adventures, which will be each Wednesday during the month of June at the Midway Baptist Church. We will do a craft and will taste snacks from that country. We will also learn how we too can be a missionary wherever we go. Countries include Africa on June 7, Asia on June 14, India on June 21 and Latin America on June 28. Each week, the adventures begin at 6 p.m. and will continue until 8 p.m. Ages for these adventures are 3 to adult.

VB-Us at Otey Parish Features Celtic Appalachian Spirituality

On Monday to Thursday evenings, June 12–15, Otey Memorial Parish will offer its second summer of Vacation Bible School that flips the concept on its head. Rather than a daytime VBS program put on for children, this dinner and learning series appeals to all ages and brings families together. The theme for VB-Us 2017 is “God Above Us, God Beside Us, God Within Us,” from the creed of Iona Abbey.

The series, which begins with a community style dinner, takes place four evenings and includes camp-style music by Doug Cameron, a puppet program, and choice of activities for art projects, discussion groups, and hands-on activities.

Dinner will be served from 5:15 to 6 p.m. each evening. The music and puppet program begin at 6 p.m., followed by break-out activities and closing with dessert. Fashion your own drum or shaker, join a discussion of how Celtic spirituality influences

Appalachian and Episcopalian spirituality, or participate in a collaborative building of a labyrinth (dubbed the collabyrinth) with rope in the parish yard. Learn how to make a God’s Eye and a pinwheel, explore the idea of Jesus as a brother, or jam to some folk music by Doug Cameron and friends. Come together for a collaborative Celtic mosaic project. Join a drum circle or a discussion circle on “Prepositioning God” with Amy Lamborn. The final evening will include Eucharist at the outdoor altar, followed by a bonfire and s’mores.

The program is open to all. There is no charge for dinner or the program, though a donation of $5 per person per night is suggested. There will be a gift for participants who register in advance at <VB-Us2017.eventbrite.com>. For more information contact Jeannie Babb at <oteyformation@gmail.com>.

Summer Book Study Opportunity

Southeast Tennessee Episcopal Ministry (STEM) is offering a three-week study group featuring “Primary Speech: A Psychology of Prayer,” by the well-known theologian and Jungian analyst Ann Ulanov. The study will be led by the Rev. Amy Bentley Lamborn, Vicar of STEM, who did her doctoral work with Ulanov. The book explores the human experiences of such issues as desire, fear and anger in relation to prayer, as well as what happens when we pray for others.

The study will take place on Wednesday, June 14, 21, and 28, from 12:30–2 p.m., in the Parish Hall of Trinity Episcopal Church, Winchester. The book study is open both to members of STEM and interested members of the community. Participants may bring a brown bag lunch. Coffee and tea will be provided. Copies of the book are available through Amazon and other online retailers.

For more information or to register for the study, please contact Lamborn at <stemvicar@gmail.com>.

Cherokee leader John Bell and the 660 Cherokee in his detachment passed through the area in October of 1838. During that period, the federal government removed more than 16,000 Cherokee from the area of north Georgia and neighboring portions of Tennessee, Alabama and North Carolina.

"Federal legislation recognized the Trail of Tears historic route in 1987," Ayers said, "but not enough was known about the Bell route and other lesser routes to include them."

In 1996, Ayers attended a presentation by researcher Duane King. King cited a letter written from Winchester, Tenn., by Lt. Edward Deas, military escort to the Bell detachment. Ayers, a TNTOTA charter member, traces Cherokee ancestry on his mother's side. He began researching the Franklin and Marion County sections of the route travelled by Bell's group.

Deas procured supplies for the detachment drawing on the "poor fund" established by the government, Trevino said. "Deas records show purchases from Benjamin Trussell on top of the mountain and the purchase of blankets and shoes on the square in Winchester and Fayetteville."

In 2007, federal legislation recognized the Bell route and other lesser routes. Ayers had given several presentations to the FCHS and in Jan. 2016, Moore asked him to speak about the Bell group's journey.

"David picked up the ball and ran with it," according to Ayers, who credits Moore with initiating the project. Moore brought together the FCHS, TNTOTA, and the National Park Service (NPS).

"The NPS had $15,000 available for Trail of Tears funding," Ayers said. "They didn't have any other applicants for 2017. They awarded us the full amount for signs."

"The NPS plotted the route based on the information we sent them," said Moore. "You can find sunken roadbeds segments of the trail on the domain and St. Mary's." Moore drew on historical maps to locate the path followed by Bell's detachment, including a University map made in the 1850s.

On Oct. 11, 1838, the Bell group set out from Fort Cass, in Charleston, Tenn., the largest of three internment camps established by the federal government. "I call it a concentration camp," Trevino said. "Many people died there of dysentery and other diseases."

In the summer of 1838, the federal government had rounded up all the Cherokee who had not voluntarily left. Other detachments left previously, signers of the 1936 Treaty of New Echota, which promised $5 million to be distributed among the Cherokee, title in perpetuity to Indian Territory in Oklahoma, education funds, and compensation for property left behind. Following signing by Cherokee leaders, Bell among them, President Andrew Jackson removed the clause allowing Cherokee to remain if they became citizens of the state where they resided.

Of the treaty signers, only Bell's group remained in the east, along with the more than 16,000 followers of Cherokee Chief John Ross who opposed the treaty and lobbied the federal government for the right to stay and a better cash settlement for those who left.

"We don't know why Bell stayed behind," said Ayers. Perhaps there was some truth to General Winfield Scott's accusation that Bell was inciting other detachments to return home.

What is known is that after an 89-day, 707-mile journey, during which more than 20 people died, the detachment arrived at the Oklahoma Indian Territory border and dispersed in small groups. "It was safer," Trevino said, "because they were treaty party signers." Their fears were not unwarranted. Ross followers later assassinated Cherokee leader Major Ridge, his son John, and others who signed the Treaty of New Echota. By Cherokee "blood law" ceding land to whites was punishable by death.

Ayers approached Woodman Life who donated $4,000 to the project, and Moore wrote a matching-fund grant through the Franklin County A.M. Rotary. The contributions will pay for posts and mounting hardware. The Franklin County Highway Department and Tennessee Department of Transportation will erect the signs.

"We plan to work on getting the Marion County section of the trail signed next," Trevino said. Nearly all the TOT historical markers exist through the efforts of small local groups.

"Having the ability to retire in place and as your needs increase, the ability to have your needs met right there in Sewanee in a concise and holistic approach, not only benefits the hospital but most importantly the entire community," Followell said. "...From the hospital's perspective, that puts us playing a key role there. Services at the hospital will grow incrementally because more people want to be in Sewanee and want to retire there."

Followell and LifePoint Health, the parent company of STRHS, have shared information and resources with Arcadia organizers on developing an assisted living facility, he added.

Unrelated to the Arcadia project, STRHS is currently expanding speech, physical and occupational therapy services at the Sewanee hospital and has plans for more growth there.

"We're looking to do a renovation and expansion of the emergency department over time and then diagnostic services as we grow," Followell said. "Really, as we grow across the board, there will always be a weakest link in the chain, and as we cross that we will expand those services."

STRHS recently hired a new vascular neurologist, specializing in stroke care, who will work at both hospitals. Followell said the care provider is also on the verge of adding another neurologist and two new surgeons.

Arcadia at Sewanee is not necessarily being used as a recruiting tool for physicians, but Followell said the project sends a positive message to prospective providers that the community is growing.

"For any physician coming to town, regardless of their specialty, to see that level of commitment from Sewanee, the University of the South and the community as a whole, I think that is a recruiting tool," he said.

The Board of Trustees for Arcadia at Sewanee is evaluating developers for the assisted living project this summer and no timeline is set for completion.

Monteagle Council Reviews Alderman Candidates; Approves Senior Center Renovation

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At a special session prior to the regular meeting on May 30, the Monteagle Town Council heard from John Knost and Chris Ladd who seek appointment to the two vacant council seats. During the business portion of the meeting, the Council approved renovation of the Senior Citizens' Center kitchen, rezoning to accommodate a Ready Mix plant, and the first reading of the 2017-2018 budget.

"Five or six individuals expressed interest in the open alderman seats," said city recorder Debbie Taylor. Only Knost and Ladd responded to the request to attend the meeting.

A former Monteagle alderman and retired contractor and law officer serving in Monteagle, Sewanee and Tracy City, Knost stressed the council's duty "to see that all are treated equally, that we ask 'Is it good for everyone?'" He cited the need for demolition of burned out buildings and other cleanup initiatives. "I have children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren here," Knost said. "I want to see Monteagle grow, but I like to see it pretty and neat."

"I've been here 42 years," said Ladd, a Marion County Sheriff's Deputy—"I was born and raised here. Bringing Monteagle into the future isn't a single handed job. It's going to take everyone who lives in the community. We need to welcome diversity," Ladd said. "The council lacks in participation."

Appointed aldermen earn $200 a month. In response to a question about alderman duties, Vice Mayor Jessica Blalock said, "My phone rings constantly. We're required to attend all regular meetings and special called meetings. We also try to attend the many community events we're invited to."

Alderman Rusty Leonard resigned when he became a non-resident due to deannexation of Deep Woods. Alderwoman Delores Knott resigned May 1.

The council is expected to make a decision on the alderman seat vacancies in the near future.

Updating the council on the bids received for renovation of the Senior Citizens' Center kitchen, Mayor David Sampley quoted a bid from Lowes for $13,712 and a bid from Home Depot for $10,726. Home Depot offered lesser quality cabinets and the bid did not include labor. The council voted to accept the bid from Lowes. The renovation will include new appliances (stove, refrigerator and ice maker), new countertops and new cabinets.

Fire Chief Mike Holmes pointed out the industrial quality appliances a local business offered to donate would present fire codes issues.

The seniors' meals are catered from Chattanooga, but Sampley said the upgrade was needed because "the building is frequently rented." The other rooms in the center have already been painted and refurbished.

Army Civil Affairs Officer Paul Granda offered help with removing the existing countertops and cabinets. "I've been approved for a five-man team to assist with city projects," Granda said. Granda will meet with Sampley to determine priorities. Possible projects include repairing the gazebo roofs, demolition of the old city hall building, and removing condemned playground equipment at Harton Park.

In other business, the council approved rezoning of property from commercial to industrial to accommodate a Ready Mix plant.

Turning to a related issue, the council also voted to approve Planning Commission members also serving as the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Fire Chief Holmes reported the fire department's recent ISO review resulted in the department's rating being lowered from six to five. "This will mean a significant insurance saving for people in Monteagle," Holmes said. He estimated the average homeowner would realize a $150-$200 savings annually.

Police Chief Virgil McNeese said the department received "a 100 percent compliance rating" in the recent operations audit. "It's a rare thing for a department to earn a 100 percent score," McNeese noted.

Answering a question about installation of blue warning flashers on his personal vehicle, Sampley said, "The police department authorized the installation since I'm frequently called on when emergency situations arise."

The council approved the first reading of the 2017-18 budget. A public hearing on the budget will be held during the next council meeting scheduled for June 26.

enrollment. “The Pre-K program is no longer self-supporting,” Lonas said. The $90,000 loss in revenue will require the school system to contribute $25,000 to the program to staff the 11 Pre-K classrooms.

Citing another necessary expense item, Lonas said, “Beginning in the 2018–19 school year, middle school students will be tested online. All students in grades five through eight will have Chromebooks next year.”

Lonas extended “kudos” to the CTE Department for receiving a Carl Perkins IV Reserve Grant. The $62,000 award earmarks $50,000 for equipment and $12,000 for certification testing.

Lonas said the projected budgeted shortfall for the 2016–17 year, $1.3 million, will likely be less than expected meaning an estimated $70,000 could be returned to the fund balance the school system holds in reserve to meet budget shortfalls.

Franklin County Deputy Director of Finance Cindy Latham said the school system also anticipated receiving an additional $200,000 because the delinquent property tax rate had decreased from 3.5 percent to 2 percent.

The final figures on property tax revenue won’t be known until the school system receives information on the reappraisal value on the value of the penny. Lonas hopes to have the information by June 15. The school board will hold a special called meeting on June 22. The board needs to present the budget for review by the county commission finance committee by June 30.

Reporting on a request from the South Central Human Resource Agency (SCHRA) to locate a Head Start program at Townsend School, Lonas said the Adult Education Program and Campora Family Resource Center were moving to the Franklin County Annex making elementary school basketball the only remaining program at Townsend. SCHRA asked the school system to deed the building to the agency. SCHRA would be responsible for maintenance and insurance, Lonas said, and the school system could continue to use the gym. The Townsend deed would revert to the school system if the SCHRA chose to discontinue offering community programs at the school.

“I would support that,” said Sewanee school board representative Adam Tucker, echoing the sentiments of other board members.

Stanley Bean, Director of Student Support Services, said a storm did irreparable damage to the scoreboard at FCHS, and the sponsoring host, Coca Cola suggested the school consider purchasing a Jumbotron. Coca Cola provided the current scoreboard and is under contract to maintain it.

Bean said sponsors would pay for the Jumbotron, estimated cost $150,000 — “It wouldn’t cost the school system anything. I already have three sponsors, including Coca Cola, committed to cover half the cost.” The maintenance contract with Coca Cola would continue.

“We can use it to sell ads and create revenue,” Bean pointed out. “The revenue generated would go to support all sports,” Bean stressed, “not just football.”

The board’s next regular meeting is June 12. The board is expected to discuss appointing an interim director to replace Lonas whose resignation will be effective June 30.

Parade Entries—May the Fourth Be With You

Please Note: This year, all entries MUST complete and return an entry form by Saturday, July 1, to be in the parade. Form is found below.

Are you ready for a spectacular “force”-filled and festive Fourth of July parade? We want you and your organization represented to make this year’s parade the best yet, and with our fabulous theme, May the Fourth Be With You, we hope to see many creative and fun entries. Anything with wheels is welcome: flatbeds, cars, convertibles, golf carts, wagons, wheelbarrows, bikes, big wheels, scooters; but on foot (or hooves) could be even better, especially if you have a colorful banner (or signs, big hats, confetti, giant pinwheels, etc.) declaring who you are and what you do for this diverse community.

The parade begins at 2 p.m., Tuesday, July 4, with lineup on Lake O’Donnell Road starting at noon. Judging will begin at 1 p.m. with trophies for best float, best decorated vehicle, and best horse, and blue ribbons for best decorated bicycle, best banner and best costume.

If you’re interested in entering, you must complete and return the entry form.

If you have any questions, email Leigh Anne Couch at <leighannecouch@gmail.com>.

sponsors, The Friends of Abbo’s Alley, will offer coffee and juice. To complete the celebration, bring your favorite breakfast finger food (or simply make a small donation). Mark your calendar for Tuesday, July 4 at 8 a.m. for the 45th annual Flag Raising and the potluck breakfast amidst the Smith, Gardner and Beaumont-Zucker homes at 139 and 143 Florida Ave. For more information or to volunteer to serve coffee or juice, call Margaret Beaumont Zucker at (931) 598-5214.

Also on the theme of our relationship with nature, Larry Smith brings expertise on beekeeping to the Assembly in a 10:45 a.m. lecture Tuesday, June 13, “The Fascinating World of Honey Bees and Beekeeping.” His lecture will cover the life cycle of bees; what is actually happening in a hive; what beekeeping entails and how to get started; the possible causes of the decline of bee colonies; and the joys of beekeeping as a hobby.

Two morning lectures focus on issues related to aging. Monday, June 12 morning's lecture by Julia Logan-Mayes, “Hospice Up Close and Personal,” will share her experiences working with those who are terminally ill. Logan-Mayes was inspired to do this difficult work after her husband, Stephen, was diagnosed with brain cancer. Within a year of his diagnosis, Stephen died of a glioblastoma brain tumor. She now works as volunteer coordinator at Compassus Hospice & Palliative Care and serves on the board of Hospice of the Highland Rim Foundation. She is also working to bring a Gilda's Club, an organization that supports those with a cancer diagnosis in Southern Middle Tennessee.

At 10:45 a.m., Thursday, June 15, Margaret Smith will bring knowledge of Medicare to the Assembly. In her lecture, “Medicare 101,” she will explain the four parts of Medicare, Medicare supplements, Medicare drug plans, enrollment periods, how to avoid costly mistakes that will result in permeant penalties, and the difference between traditional Medicare and Medicare Advantage plans. Smith owns Medical Accounts Management, a company in Nashville that assists employers in managing healthcare benefits. As a health insurance advocate for more than 5,000 employees, she assists individual and family clients in obtaining health insurance on and off the healthcare marketplace and Medicare.

The final two morning lectures this week touch on issues of great concern to those interested in politics and the state of public policy in the United States today. Al Bardi, an associate professor of psychology at the University of the South, will share his thoughts on “Political Correctness: Inclusive Language or the Politics of Offense?” on Wednesday, June 14. Bardi is fascinated by meaning and culture, and his research focuses on constructing personality and other tests that are culturally relevant. Then on Friday, June 16, Katharine K. Wilkinson lectures at the Assembly on her work in the area of climate change. A strategist, writer, and speaker, Wilkinson works to explore, amplify, and invigorate action to address climate change. Currently senior writer at Project Drawdown, Katharine has collaborated with thought leader Paul Hawken and a global team of researchers to produce “Drawdown: The Most Comprehensive Plan Ever Proposed to Reverse Global Warming,” which is a book, digital platform, and call to action for humanity. She was a Rhodes Scholar at the University of Oxford, undertaking doctoral research that led to her first book, “Between God & Green,” published in 2012.

Additional free events the first week of the Monteagle Assembly's 2017 season include the following:

Tuesday, June 13, 8:15 p.m., Pulliam Center—Documentary movie screening, “More than Honey,” a 2012 film about the disappearance of honeybee populations worldwide. Cutting-edge filmmaking illustrates the causes and consequences of this alarming phenomenon. Runtime: 1 hour 35 minutes.

Mountain T.O.P. is applying for a USDA Grant called the Housing Preservation Grant. This grant would give Mountain T.O.P. a sum of money that would be used in Grundy County to do minor and major home repair using volunteer labor. Mountain T.O.P. and the USDA have established a relationship with one another and with many families in Grundy county to make home improvements. Because of our use of volunteer labor, all monies granted are applied toward building materials. This practice allows the money to help many more families. We desire to pursue this grant because it will allow us to help your families and friends, who may not qualify for grants or loans otherwise.

To qualify for this grant, it is necessary to announce its potential to the area in which we will serve and receive feedback from the community. If you have any comments on whether Mountain T.O.P. should receive this grant and why, please mail them to the office address P.O. Box 128, Altamont, TN 37301, or drop them off at our camp on Old Highway 56 in Cumberland Heights. The deadline for submitting supporting letters is June 30.

Grundy Food Bank Receives Tables

The 2017 Leadership Grundy class chose to work with the Grundy County Food Bank on their end-of-year class service project. All proposed projects had to meet two requirements: to benefit Grundy County in some way, and to have been designed, organized, developed and executed by Leadership class members.

The class built, sanded, stained, and painted a total of eight tables to be used at the Food Bank. These provide much-needed, durable countertop space for the distribution of product to clients. A children's table was also made for the waiting area. Plans are also in place to update signage, do painting and to provide a Project Guidebook for the Food Bank to use as a resource for future service groups.

All project resources were donated by area businesses and volunteers, making the project a true community-driven effort. Building materials and supplies were graciously donated by Monteagle Builder's Supply, Flowers Construction, L & L Hardware, Sequachee Valley Electric Co-op, DuBose Conference Center, Greeter Lumber and Mountain T.O.P.

A special thank-you goes out to individual volunteers whose hard work helped the class complete the project: Walt Racka, Benny Grimes, and Beth Myers. A thank-you is also due to Tim Glover, Food Bank Director, for providing information and allowing class members to tour facilities and ask questions.

Grundy County Food Bank exists to provide food to individuals in need. The organization currently serves between 40 and 100 Grundy families each week. Hours are Tuesdays from 8–11 a.m.; the phone number is (931) 592-3631.

The Leadership Grundy Class of 2017 is grateful for the opportunity to serve the people of Grundy County.

Monteagle Elementary School participated in the Pennies for Patients coin drive to raise money for the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. They raised a total of $906.66 to donate to this worthy charity.

Sewanee Arts alum Billy DuBose and academic dean Stephen Puckette perform in 1975.

1972, before creating the Outside Inn at what was then the Independent House on Willie Six Road, Selby said.

Coffee was 25 cents a cup, snacks and tea were available from "garcons" and "garconettes" and the performances, like the musical revue "Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris," were first-class, Selby said.

"The people involved in this were totally dedicated to making this be as professional as possible," he said. "It was all volunteers, but professionalism reigned."

The troupe was so good that some members took the shows on the road throughout the South. Sewanee Arts members also became producers and roadies for student performances around campus, including groups such as Purple Masque, the Jazz Club and the Sewanee Popular Music Association, Selby said. In addition, Sewanee Arts helped make outside shows on campus possible, such as performances by Pure Prairie League and jazz artists Chuck Mangione and Mercer Ellington.

But by 1982, the energy captured to create Sewanee Arts and the Outside Inn was almost expired, and the experiment faded to black. But when the curtain goes up again this weekend, the Outside Inn's house band will be back, in addition to a number of other alumni, some of whom became doctors and lawyers, while others still perform professionally, like Ponder.

Ponder is a nationally-recognized performing artist who works as an arts consultant with Pre-K through college students, as well as with adults in "Creative Aging."

On Saturday at 7:04 p.m., the Rendezvous will feature a performance of Ponder's acclaimed play, "My Father's War," based on the life of her dad Herschel, a WWII fighter pilot.

Ponder will perform with her husband Robert Kiefer, who she met through Sewanee Arts. Kiefer sang regularly at the Inn with "The Stoned Guest Trio."

Outside Inn held its first reunion last year, after Selby decided to get the troupe back together. He said it remains to be seen if the Rendezvous will continue each year, but the passion is still there.

"We've all remained in close contact; you can't go through four intense years like that without deep friendships... You just never know, we're all getting so old we may be dead next year," Selby said laughing.

In addition to music and drama, Outside Inn alum Tony Winters will display his paintings inspired by the Sewanee area. The event will also offer a silent auction of themed baskets to assist marginalized youth in Southern Appalachia. The Rendezvous runs from 6 to 11 p.m. each night and is free, but donations are appreciated. A full performance schedule is available at <sewanee.edu/newstoday/arts>.

"Though the program has grown over the years," says Reishman, "we have worked to retain the sense of closeness among faculty and students that we had as a smaller program, and those who have attended classes say that they leave Shakerag feeling refreshed and energized to continue developing their artistic interests."

The Shakerag Workshops website <www.shakerag.org> has more information about Shakerag classes and a more detailed description of the program. Reishman is still accepting applications for some classes this June, and local applicants may receive a discount in tuition and meals. For more information, contact Reishman at (931) 463-2123, or email <info@shakerag.org>.

Working with clay is one of the workshops offered at Shakerag.

OF TOWERS AND BELLS

by Ray Gotko

The Easter Semester campus activities built to a frenetic pace toward commencement then tumbled quickly into a quiet, well deserved rest on a Sunday afternoon in May. No students have been crossing the quadrangle; All Saints' Chapel has been quiet on a Sunday. Still, unseen by visitors, the offices have been busy with postponed projects and preparations for the summer season and the fall. The ringing room of Breslin Tower was fitted with a state-of-the-art practice facility. A new desk allows for needed filling and storage of all the little bits of office needs: pens, pencils, paper clips, rubberbands, first aid kits, etc. In the carillon studio, planning for the summer concert series and next year's calendar items were the order of business.

The Breslin ringers have resumed practice. This summer welcomes the participation of three university students in the change-ringing activities. The carillonneurs have set to preparing performances for the summer series. This year, carillon concerts will serve as preludes to the Sewanee Summer Music Festival (SSMF) concerts on Sundays. Charlene Williams, Sarah Strickland, and Raymond Gotko will share in playing those concerts from June 25 to July 16 and on the 4th of July. The carillonneur of Duke University, Sam Hammond, will play in the early evening on Wednesday, June 28 as the SSMF begins its first week.

The bells of Breslin Tower and Shapard Tower awake from a summer's nap on June 11. The rest was welcome. Now, back to work.

'Peter and the Starcatcher' at the Arts Center

The Arts Center of Cannon County presents "Peter and the Starcatcher" based on the novel by Dave Barry and Ridley Pearson. Performances are Friday and Saturday, June 9–10, June 16–17 at 7:30 p.m., and a Sunday, June 11 matinee at 2 p.m.

"Peter and the Starcatcher" provides a humorous and fantastical back story for the beloved character of Peter Pan and his arch-nemesis Captain Hook. In this wickedly imaginative play, we meet a poor orphaned child on the high seas simply called Boy because in the absence of a mother and a father, he was never given a name. His sad and lonely world is turned upside down when he meets Molly. The daughter of famous Starcatcher Lord Astor, our heroine is on a mission to save the world and protect a treasure trunk filled with magical star stuff from getting into the hands of evil and greedy pirate Black Stache. As they travel aboard the Neverland ship headed for a faraway land, Molly and Boy learn about love, friendship and forge an unbreakable bond.

Sponsored by Saint Thomas Stones River Hospital and directed by Tara Winton, this production features Adam LaPorte as Boy and Julia Kelley as Molly. The cast also includes Justin Winton, David Cummings, Spree Star, Jeffrey LaPorte, Ted Verbeten, Ric Kinkade, Nolan Ragland, Noah Brady, Matthew Connors and Eli Ragland.

Tickets are $15 with discounts available for students and seniors and can be purchased by calling (615) 563-2787 Tuesday through Saturday 10 a.m.–4 p.m., or online at <artscenterofcc.com> and (subject to availability) at the door one hour prior to show time.

"Peter and the Starcatcher" is rated PG.

The Arts Center is located on 1424 John Bragg Highway, just west of the town of Woodbury, approximately 20 minutes from Murfreesboro, Manchester, and McMinnville and one hour southeast of Nashville.

SES students share memories and make new ones looking at their yearbooks each year. The SES yearbook staff consists of Jackson Frazier, Kaitlyn King, Ellie Kelleher, Case Hoosier, Elliott Benson, Reese Michaels and Elizabeth Jenkins. Michelle Whaley is the teacher sponsor.

Summer Enrichment Day Camps at the Knowledge Nook

Gene and Joy Snead are heading up a series of day camps to assist area young people to keep their learning skills sharp while having summer fun. Each camp will feature a famous artist, projects, games and movement.

The week long day camps will be offered during the second, third and fourth weeks in June and July. The camps are 10 a.m.–noon daily. Cost for each camp is $25 per day or $100 for the entire week. Costs include all supplies and materials.

Bugs and Botanicals—June 12–16: Inspired by artist M. C. Escher our Bugs and Botanicals art camp will kick off the Summer Art Camp series. Campers will learn about Escher and make beautiful, graphic tessellations inspired by him.

Freedom—June 26–30: Freedom is the theme of this art camp inspired by artist Jasper Johns. This artist used flags, numbers and even targets in his art. We will make colorful art with these elements.

Me, Myself and I—June 26–30: Artist Frida Kahlo will provide the inspiration for our Me, Myself and I art camp. This Mexican artist painted her self portrait some 55 times. We are going to use various mediums to create images of ourselves.

Nature—July 10–14: The Nature-themed art camp will feature Andy Goldsworthy. He collaborates with Nature to create his unique art. He often lets his art remain in nature so it changes and ultimately disappears. Artists at this camp will use elements from Nature to discover, create and let go.

Circus—July 17–21: The Circus art camp will feature the work of Alexander Calder. He believed art should move and be viewed from all angles. We will use his inspiration to create mobiles and playful Circus characters.

Superheroes—July 24–28: Superheroes is always a very popular art camp. This year's camp will feature artists Stan Lee and Roy Lichtenstein. These two artists used their talent to create some of America's most beloved Superheroes. We will create our own comic strip and use words in an onomatopoeia offering of our own.

NATURENOTES

Bladdernut

Fungi on a dead stump

Monarch Caterpillars

On a rails-to-trails walk while visiting in Pennsylvania, I saw this bladdernut in full fruit. This shrub forms colonies in moist areas such as along streams and can be seen on the Shakerag Hollow trail and elsewhere. The three-sided "bladder" turns brown and dry in the fall.

Several Gray Catbirds were singing in this shrubby streamside area, a habitat they like. They are mockers, like the mockingbird and the brown thrasher, but have a more limited vocabulary. These slender birds are a slate-gray with a dark cap and rusty feathers beneath the tail.

This fungus was growing on a dead stump. My best guess is Dryad's Saddle, Polyporus squamosus, which is most common in May and grows in this range on deadwood. If someone has a better ID, please let me know!

Pets of the Week

Meet Fez & Mary

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Fez is a friendly, outgoing young adult dog who loves to play with his toys and go on walks. He will be a great pet for anyone wanting a snuggle buddy who also thrives on adventure! Fez is heartworm-negative, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and neutered.

Mary just loves to get petted. This lovely Tortoiseshell kitty could spend the rest of her days sitting on someone's lap, soaking up all of the affection she can get. She is a quiet, gentle girl who loves to spend quality time with other cats. With Mary you get the best of both worlds: a playful, fun-loving kitty with all of the mature easy-going know-how of an adult cat. Mary is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and spayed.

Animal Harbor offers substantial adoption fee discounts for veterans and seniors. Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Some say the world will end in fire,
Some say in ice.
From what I've tasted of desire
I hold with those who favor fire.
But if I had to perish twice,
I think I know enough of hate
To say that for destruction ice
Is also great
And would suffice.
