Concerto Winners Reflect on Success

by Kevin Cummings, Messenger Staff Writer

A person enjoying a musical performance can imagine the bliss a musician must feel getting lost in the music and entertaining a rapt audience.

Maybe bliss is too strong a word.

"A lot of fear," replies violinist Ben Garrett, 15, in response to the question of what it feels like to perform music on stage.

The other musicians around the table voice their agreement, even though they are each standout performers, winners of the 2018 Jacqueline Arent Concerto Competition at the Sewanee Summer Music Festival (SSMF).

Of course, performing has its joys, said Yönder Muñoz, 23, who lives in San Jose, Costa Rica, and attends the University of Costa Rica.

"In my country, you can be playing music or collecting coffee, that's the most common work, or be working on a farm or something like that," the percussionist said. "I feel very blessed when I'm playing; I think there are a lot of people that can't do this. When I play I try to focus and share my happiness to be here."

For Lucas Zeiter, 21, a native of Las Vegas and student at the University of Washington, playing the bassoon for audiences is a tremendous alternative.

"I went into college doing behavioral neuroscience and then I realized how much I hated that and how much I loved performing and playing and sharing music with people," Zeiter said. "I'm really humbled by where we're at, but I think as musicians we just want to continue to push ourselves to get better."

Joining Garrett, Muñoz and Zeiter as winners of the Concerto Competition are Izumi Amemiya, 19, a student at the University of Indiana; Qiang Fu, 26, from the University of Oklahoma; and Sylvan Zhang, 15, a student at Stillwater High School in Oklahoma, who started playing violin when he was five-years-old.

More than 60 performers participated in this year's Concerto Competition, which is an annual part of the SSMF. The contestants competed individually in two rounds judged by SSMF faculty, with the six winners performing with the Festival Orchestra on July 19.

All but Zhang sat down in the SSMF office the day prior to the orchestra performance to talk to about their passion for and dedication to music.

Amemiya, an oboe player and native of Honolulu, started playing piano around the age of 7, but picked up the oboe in middle school.

T's Antiques Calls it a Day

by Kevin Cummings, Messenger Staff Writer

A Rolex watch may have been the biggest discovery amongst the flotsam and jetsam of yard sale items, but companionship was the most valuable treasure people found at T's Antiques in Cowan.

Almost every night, Polly Hughes, T.A. Galloway, Dot Davidson and their friends gather at Polly's for Rummikub, a version of rummy with colored and numbered tiles in lieu of playing cards. The three former T's Antiques cohorts can't decide who's the best player.

"T.A. and Dot are pretty good; I'd say they're about even," Polly said.

"She's the champ, really," Dot counters, indicating Polly.

Dot reconsiders and leans toward T.A. as the best player.

"Anybody who'd play all night and have one point has to be considered the champ," she said.

Dot's great grandmother was a sister to Polly's grandmother, and T.A. (Thomas Allen) is Polly's nephew. The trio worked together at T's Antiques, but they closed the business in early July, and the building and items inside were recently auctioned off.

Polly's late husband Charlie came up with the idea of opening a "junk shop" for T.A., (the "T" in T's Antiques) which they opened in downtown Cowan in 1985.

"We started across the street from where we are now with a bunch of junk," Polly said.

The junk evolved into more beautiful wares and Polly especially enjoyed the Southwestern fare, the china and the silver. T.A. said he was partial to furniture, but Dot loved "all of it."

MGT Project Doubled with Acquisition of CSX Property in Grundy County

With the acquisition of 17 miles of former railbed from CSX Corporation, Grundy County plans to double the length of the Mountain Goat Trail (MGT), expanding the greenway to bring increased tourism and quality of life to this ruggedly beautiful part of the state.

"The Mountain Goat Trail is a crucial part of our plans to improve the quality of life for the citizens of Grundy County, as well as visitors. We realize the trail will be completed in phases, but purchasing 17 miles of Mountain Goat Railroad bed from CSX will allow us to continue developing the Trail as a driver of wellness and economic development for our area," Grundy Mayor Michael Brady said.

In July, the county finalized the transfer of the property, located between the towns of Tracy City, Coalmont and Palmer. When completed, the Mountain Goat Trail will stretch nearly forty miles from Cowan in Franklin County onto the Cumberland Plateau, past the University of the South in Sewanee, and through the historic towns of Monteagle, Tracy City, and Coalmont before ending in Palmer.

"The addition of the CSX property in Grundy County is a game-changer for the Mountain Goat Trail," said Mountain Goat Trail Alliance board president Nate Wilson. "Taking the trail from 12 miles to almost 30 miles, with more to come in the future, enlarges the possibilities for tourism, supporting businesses, and connecting the communities here in the South Cumberland region."

The Mountain Goat Trail Alliance, with assistance from The Land Trust for Tennessee, facilitated the acquisition. Funding for the project was made possible by an Asset Enhancement Grant from the Tennessee Department of Economic and Community Development, the Lyndhurst Foundation, and the South Cumberland Community Fund.

"The Mountain Goat Trail is such a visible, accessible beacon of the social, health and economic benefits of land conservation," said The Land Trust for Tennessee President and CEO, Liz McLaurin. "Our organization is thrilled to partner on the transformation of this former railroad into a vibrant resource for Tennesseans and visitors alike."

A 2012 study by the Babson Center for Global Commerce at the University of the South estimated the annual economic benefit of $1.2 million to the towns along the Mountain Goat Trail. With five miles completed and six more due to open by late 2019, the trail is already seeing substantial use by both locals and visitors. The CSX property, connecting the Fiery Gizzard and Savage Gulf State Parks, is expected to create more trail users, and to spur the creation of businesses and services for them.

SCC Grant Applications Available

Since 1908, the Sewanee Civic Association (SCA) has overseen the distribution of grants to nonprofit organizations across the Cumberland Plateau. Sponsored by the SCA, the Sewanee Community Chest (SCC) is pleased to announce the beginning of the 2018-19 grant cycle. All nonprofits that benefit the community are encouraged to apply.

Starting on Wednesday, Aug. 1, the 2018-19 funding application can be downloaded from the website at <<https://sewanee.org/wordpress.com/>>. Interested nonprofits may also request an application by emailing the SCC at <sewaneecommunitychest@gmail.com>. The deadline for submission is Sept. 15. Grants typically range from $200 to $25,000.

The SCC is a nonprofit organization and relies on funding from the community in order to support charitable programs throughout the greater Sewanee area. As the 2018-19 grant cycle begins, the SCC is also kicking off its yearlong fundraising campaign.

The SCA urges everyone who benefits from life in this community, whether you live, work, or visit, to give to the SCC. Donations are tax deductible. Contributions, payroll deductions, and pledges are accepted at any time at P.O. Box 99, Sewanee, TN 37375.

Donations can also be made online through PayPal and Amazon Smile links on the SCA website.

SUD to Amp Up Sanitary Survey Inspections

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

The Sewanee Utility District (SUD) plans to perform Sanitary Survey Inspections of all commercial customers to determine if there is a need for a backflow prevention device. The decision followed a review of the Cross Connection Policy at the July 24 meeting. The policy requires backflow prevention devices in any situation where there is a possibility of drinking water contamination by fluid from outside sources.

Commercial circumstances posing potential backflow hazards include drink machines and sprinkler and irrigation systems.

SUD Manager Ben Beavers and another SUD employee recently completed training for certification as backflow testing technicians.

"SUD's Cross Connection Policy is the same as the model the state uses," Beavers said. "There's no rule that commercial accounts are required to have backflow prevention devices, but many municipalities require it."

The board discussed changing the policy to require backflow devices on all commercial accounts.

"What I recommend is that we start with identifying the need and inspect all commercial accounts before the end of the year," said board President Charlie Smith.

"We can get it done by then," Beavers said.

The board will consider amending the Cross Connection Policy to require backflow prevention devices for all new commercial accounts and whenever a business changes hands.

Updating the board on the water-line replacement project, Beavers said the contractor Danson Construction expected to begin work on the South Carolina Avenue segment next week.

"There won't be any impact on homeowners until the contractor crosses the creek at Abbo's Alley," Beavers said. Danson predicts it will take two weeks to complete the South Carolina portion of the job. The South Carolina segment will be the potentially most disruptive to the University.

Highly supportive of the project, the University is allowing the contractor to use its lay-down yard for equipment and material storage, and to deposit vegetative debris at its brush dump.

Commenting on operations, Beavers said the heavy rainfall in June made it necessary for the Wastewater Treatment Plant (WWTP) to spray more water than it was taking in to manage rainfall's contribution to the

SYMBOLS

To the Editor:

Symbols are slippery and sticky things. They can represent one thing at one time and then slip to represent another thing at another time, yet meanings and feelings can also stick to them, enduring over time.

The confederate flag is stickier more than it is slippery—it was born when a group of states wanted to secede from the U.S. for many reasons, including that a lot of white people were making a lot of money by enslaving other human beings, Africans and African-Americans, and were reluctant to give up all that money as the country moved toward greater freedom for all. So, while some might want the confederate flag to “only” represent “Southern pride,” it cannot only represent that. It represents racism.

The more we face up to the history of racism in our country, the better. We can still, as Jay Smooth notes, be proud of many things in the south, including Zora Neale Hurston, Creole and Cajun cooking, Dolly Parton, the blues, as well as country music, not to mention sweet tea. Let’s work on a symbol that captures all that or at least on abandoning a symbol sticky with racism and suffering.

I support the Fourth of July organizers in condemning the use of that symbol in the parade.

Sid Brown, Sewanee

THANK-YOU

To the Editor:

Thank you for printing Clayton Oglesby’s letter in your July 20, 2018 edition. Visitors to programs such as Sewanee’s Young Writers’ Conference and the Sewanee Summer Music Festival are as much a part of the Sewanee community as us locals, and the Fourth of July University Avenue parade is a place and time for all of us.

Thank you for printing the explanation (July 13, 2018) from Leigh Anne Couch, Lane Beaumont and the Sewanee Fourth of July Parade Committee. I am heartened to know that, when they arrived at the parade, the folks from the Middle Tennessee Southern Heritage Alliance were told that they could not fly the confederate flag in the Sewanee Fourth parade.

It is difficult to fathom that anyone cheered this flag during the parade. It is unwelcome.

“Behold how good and pleasant it is when brothers and sisters live together in unity!” —Psalm 133:1

Linda Heck, Sewanee

THANK-YOU ABBIE

To the Editor:

Folks at Home would like to extend a huge thanks to Abbie Warr for all of her wonderful work with StoryCorps. This summer, Abbie graciously accepted an internship with The University of the South in conjunction with Folks at Home and StoryCorps. Abbie recorded Folks at Home members and seniors from the Gruetli-Laager senior center and uploaded those stories to the Cumberland StoryCorps Facebook and the StoryCorps archive. Because of this meaningful work, generations from now will have access to these stories and history from our neighbors will be saved forever. We cannot express enough how this has impacted the people she interviewed, their friends and families, and our community. Everyone here at Folks at Home can’t wait to see her again in the fall and hope that she finds great success in all of her future endeavors.

Wall Wofford, Folks at Home Director

Note from the Editor

The Messenger is taking a one week summer break. Our office will reopen Monday, Aug. 6, and we’ll be back in print on Friday, Aug. 10.

I want to thank the Messenger’s dedicated supporters: the loyal advertisers who know the value of an advertisement in the Messenger and continue to keep us going; the Sewanee Community Chest, for its support; and the University of the South, whose donations to this publication encourage conversation and cooperation in the community.

This newspaper benefits from the words and wisdom of columnists Phoebe Bates, Virginia Craighill, Yolande Gottfried, Ray Gotko, Margaret Stephens, Pat Wiser, Frank Gladu, the folks at the Sewanee Trust for Historic Preservation and the South Cumberland Farmer’s Market, and photographer Lyn Hutchinson. Their contributions truly help to make this a community newspaper.

This newspaper would not run without the support of staff members April Minkler, Ray Minkler and Sandra Gabrielle. Staff writers Leslie Lytle and Kevin Cummings are working weekly to bring all of us the news that affects our lives here on the Mountain. The Messenger intern will continue into the fall with a few remaining essays about the history of our place here on the Mountain.

I also want to thank you, the readers, who faithfully read the Messenger each week. And, I thank those of you who share your news so the Messenger can help spread good news in the online edition and in the print edition, which is available for pickup at 100 (!) area locations.

Our community is stronger because of your commitment to this Mountain.

Christ Church Celebration

Bach and barbecue are on the menu for the 150th anniversary of Christ Church, Tracy City, Tenn., Sept. 8-9, 2018.

Add a gospel quartet, an Americana band and an organ recital and you have the entertainment lineup for the church's weekend festivities on the lawn and inside the church—the oldest continuously operating Episcopal Church on the South Cumberland Plateau.

The public is invited to the community celebration, according to Jim Sherrell, senior warden at the church, which dates its beginning from an outdoor service at a sawmill in Tracy City in 1868.

On the Rock, a gospel quartet from Gruetli-Laager, will open with Southern and traditional gospel songs on Saturday, Sept. 8, at 11 a.m., followed by a barbecue at noon on the church grounds.

Bazzania, an all-girl band from Sewanee, will perform bluegrass and folk music at 1 p.m.

At 2 p.m., organist Lenda Sherrell of Monteagle, whose favorite composer is Bach, will present an organ recital of classical and sacred music in the church.

Registration for the event begins Saturday at 9 a.m. in the Father Adamz Memorial Parish House with complimentary coffee and pastries. The parish house will also be the site of exhibits.

Besides members of the congregation, guests expected at the event include former church members, families, friends and clergy. Some of the out-of-town visitors will be staying in Monteagle at the DuBose Conference Center (www.duboseconf.org), an historical Episcopal camp, conference and retreat center that will soon be celebrating its own 150th anniversary.

On Sunday, Sept. 9, starting at 11 a.m., there will be a traditional worship service in the church, which is listed on the National Register of Historic Places, followed by a reception in the parish house.

For more information, visit the church's website at <www.christ-church-tc.org>.

Christ Church is part of the worldwide Anglican Communion, the Episcopal Diocese of Tennessee, and a member of the Southeast Tennessee Episcopal Ministry which also includes Christ Church, Alto; Epiphany, Sherwood; Holy Comforter, Monteagle; and Trinity, Winchester.

CAC Pantry Sunday

Pantry Sunday for the Community Action Committee (CAC) is Sunday, Aug. 5, for participating churches: St. James, Otey, Cumberland Presbyterian and All Saints' Chapel. Please bring your food offerings to Sunday services. The typical bag of groceries includes: rice, beans, pasta, macaroni and cheese, peanut butter, and cans of vegetables, fruit and soup. The cost for a complete bag is less than $15.

The CAC is an outreach ministry of Otey Parish, with generous support from the Sewanee Community Chest and individuals across the Mountain. For more than 42 years, the CAC has provided food, financial assistance and educational support for persons in the greater Sewanee community. For more information contact the CAC at 598-5927.

"I wasn't really serious about it until I started auditioning for college, but when I got into college I changed my major to performance. I realized that playing the oboe means a lot to me and I just wanted to see how far I can push myself," she said.

All of the winners have a laundry list of accomplishments, a few of which include Amemiya acting as principal oboist of Indiana University's concert band, Zeiter performing with the Seattle Symphony, and Garrett winning the Greater Houston Youth Orchestra concerto competition.

To get as good as these Concerto winners requires practicing hours per day. Garrett said he practices two to three hours each day during the school year in Madison, Ala., but five to six hours a day on weekends and in the summer.

The SSMF is considered a premiere orchestra and chamber music festival, which draws musicians from around the world.

Fu, a native of Inner Mongolia, moved to the States about three years ago. He said he feels more appreciated in the U.S.

"It's not that popular in China," the violinist said. "Before I came here, I didn't practice that much orchestra and chamber music."

Fu competed in the Concerto Competition with the piece, Violin Concerto in D Minor, Op. 22 by Henryk Wieniawski.

Muñoz notes that one of his professors at the University of Costa Rica encouraged him to attend SSMF.

"It's exciting to be here," he said, "being at a festival that every musician in Costa Rica knows about and playing with good musicians and faculty."

Muñoz, whose grandfather and parents are professional musicians, said he plans to play professionally. Others at the table say they'd also like to play for living, but Garrett, who also has interests in robotics and math, said he's undecided.

As winners of the Concerto Competition, each received scholarships for next year's SSMF.

Walter Nance and Mayna Avent Nance established the Jacqueline Avent Concerto Competition in 2007 to honor Mayna's older sister, who died the same year. Jacqueline was a school teacher in California and longtime employee at a children's museum in Nashville.

Yónder Muñoz of Costa Rica was one of the two first place winners of the Concerto Competition on July 19, playing Jorge Sarmientos' Concertino para Marimba y Orquesta. Photo by Lyn Hutchinson lagoons. The Sewanee area received eight inches of rain in June, twice the normal amount.

On the financial side, Beavers said the contingency amount in the budget should pay for the new pump ordered for the WWTP—"I set the budget to pay for one unexpected emergency per year." Disposable towelettes in the sewer system clogged the pump and rendered it inoperable. SUD hopes to repair the other pumps damaged by the towelettes.

Updating the board on the South Cumberland Regional Drought Plan drafted by SUD and the other area water utilities following the drought of 2007, Beavers said he met recently with the water utility managers to discuss the required review and renewal of the plan. Beavers volunteered to head up the review.

"Basically the drought plan says if one system has an emergency the others will do whatever we can to help them out," Beavers explained. "It also stipulates if one utility goes to restrictions, the others will go to the same level of restrictions until the emergency is over."

This has only occurred once since the plan was adopted. Two years ago Monteagle went on voluntary restrictions, and the other utilities did, as well.

The board meets next on Aug. 28.

"To me it was playing house," Dot said, "because you could decorate and if you didn't like that, tomorrow you could take it down and do it another way."

She was in the background of the store for years, but joined as an official employee about four years ago.

"I appreciate beautiful things in life, we all do, and I can see the beauty in very simple things," Dot said. "I was attracted to old wheels and lots of old things that I could see the beauty in."

Most of the items at T's Antique's came from yard sales and in addition to local pickers, they had a picker in Florida who found items of interest and/or value in the Sunshine State. In addition to that Rolex watch, they sometimes found beautiful paintings, linens, glassware and other goodies.

"It was like treasure hunting," T.A. said.

Experts sometimes advised the trio on what an item was worth, or the trio would combine their knowledge of antiques to set a value.

"We weren't always right, but you know what we did? We just marched on," Dot said.

Polly, who turns 99 on Aug. 5, said if she were younger she'd open another shop.

"It wasn't work, honey," she said, "it was just fun."

Polly opened the first flower shop in Cowan in 1948, she said, and owned a job placement service in Nashville, Polly Hughes Personnel Service, from 1960 to 1983 when she moved back home to Cowan.

Many people contributed to the antique shop over the years, including Linda Coleman, whom T.A. said was a "key ingredient and hard worker," as well as Chester Smith, a local picker.

Polly, Dot and T.A. say what they'll miss most are the folks who visited the shop.

"The people came from all over the world, we got all kinds of people, all nationalities," T.A. said.

"We had a marvelous clientele..." Polly adds. "It was the people who made it, really and truly. You just looked forward to them coming back."

Both Polly and Dot agree it was T.A.'s kindness that made the business so welcoming.

"T.A.'s success through the years has certainly been his knowledge of his merchandise and his kindness and warm personality," Dot said, "and his patience with the people when he was explaining things. If they wanted to talk about something 30 minutes or an hour, that was fine with him."

Now that the doors to T's Antiques are closed, two of the three say they are retired.

"You have regrets, but it was kind of a relief too," Polly said.

Dot is unsure of the future.

"Who knows, we may not be retired long," she said.

"Bite your tongue," T.A. replies.

Regardless, the nightly Rummikub gatherings and friendships that started well before the shop closed are going to continue. Polly said the neighbors may wonder about all the cars in the driveway.

"They think we're probably gambling up here," she jokes, "making meth or something. They don't know what we're doing."

Alzheimer's Tennessee Opens Regional Office in Tullahoma

Individuals and families living with Alzheimer's disease in South Central Tennessee now have a local source for education and support. Alzheimer's Tennessee's new regional office in Tullahoma is open now, staffed with a Coffee County native familiar with needs and resources available in this community.

"There is a great need for support and education for people affected by Alzheimer's and other related dementias. There has not been a presence of support for several years in Tullahoma and the surrounding counties," said Fran Gray, Alzheimer's Tennessee South Central Tennessee Regional Coordinator. "Alzheimer's Tennessee had the vision to plant an office here to serve Bedford, Coffee, Franklin, Lincoln and Maury Counties and places in between."

Fran Gray is a fourth generation Tullahoma business owner and church member. With those deep roots in the community she has unique knowledge of the people here and their needs. "We are building a network. I'm visiting all the surrounding counties to let people know Alzheimer's Tennessee is here for them," adds Gray.

Alzheimer's Tennessee invites everyone in the South Central Tennessee community to an Ice Cream Social to commemorate the grand opening of the Regional Office in Tullahoma. The event will be from 4:30–6:30 p.m., Tuesday, July 31, at 207 North Jackson St., in Tullahoma.

Alzheimer's Tennessee also maintains offices across the state in Knoxville, Cookeville, Johnson City and Nashville. "Our organization was founded by a dedicated group of families and professionals 35 years ago to serve Tennesseans facing Alzheimer's and related dementias," says Janice Wade-Whitehead, President and CEO of Alzheimer's Tennessee. "We are excited that the interest and support shown by the people of the South Central Tennessee Region have allowed us to expand to bring local services to this community. With your help and Volunteer Spirit we will realize our vision to 'Make Alzheimer's a Memory.'"

Alzheimer's Tennessee is a nonprofit 501c3 organization. The mission is to serve those facing Alzheimer's disease and related dementias, to promote brain health through education, and to champion global research, prevention and treatment efforts.

If you have questions about yourself or a loved one, you may call the Alzheimer's Tennessee 24/7 Helpline at 1-800-ALZ-GATE (1-800-259-4283), which is designed to be a Gateway to services.

Fran Gray, Alzheimer's Tennessee South Central Tennessee Regional Coordinator is ready to provide information and support at the new Alzheimer's Tennessee office.

Early Voting Continues

Early voting for the Thursday, Aug. 2 state primary and county general election is now underway. Voting will end Saturday, July 28.

Tennesseans voting early or on Election Day should remember to bring valid photo identification. Photo IDs issued by Tennessee state government, including driver's licenses, or the federal government are acceptable even if they are expired. College student IDs are not acceptable.

More information about what types of ID are acceptable can be found at <GoVoteTN.com>.

For a list of county election commissions and sample ballots, go to <https://tnsos.net/govotetn/. For questions or concerns about the voting process, go to <GoVoteTN.com> or call the Division of Elections toll free at 1-877-850-4959.

On Thursday, Aug. 2, Election Day, residents vote at their local precinct, 7 a.m.–7 p.m.

The voter registration deadline for the Nov. 6 federal and state general election is Oct. 9.

Betty Carpenter, Director of the Community Action Committee and Amy Wilson, Director of Food Ministry Morton Memorial UMC, were presented with an additional $2,000 from the final proceeds of the 2017 Hunger Walk. Each organization had previously received $7,000 from the 2017 Hunger Walk. Pictured are, from left, Lee Harmon, President of the Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary Club, Betty Carpenter, Amy Wilson, and Rich Wyckoff, Rotarian. The Monteagle-Sewanee Rotary will be hosting its fourth annual Hunger Walk on Sept. 1. More information will be available soon.

IDENTIFYING HEARING LOSS

To help identify hearing loss, try answering the following questions:
Do you have trouble following the conversation when two or more people are talking at one time?
Do people complain that you turn the volume of the radio or television to high?
Do you have trouble hearing in a noisy background?
Do you often ask people to repeat themselves?
Do people you talk to seem to mumble or not speak clearly?
Do you misunderstand what others are saying and respond inappropriately?
Do you have trouble understanding women and children?
If you answered yes to three or more of these questions you should have your hearing evaluated.

Having your hearing tested is the second step toward better hearing. The first step is recognizing a hearing problem. If the signs are there: asking people to repeat, turning up the volume on the TV, or frequently misunderstanding what is being said, please call us at 393-2051. Debbie Gamache's The Hearing Center LLC is located at 705 NW Atlantic St. Suite B, Tullahoma. You can also visit our website at www.thehearingcenterllc.com.

AEDs Placed in Two Locations in Sewanee

Through a generous grant from the Sewanee Community Funding Project, Folks at Home partnered with the Sewanee Senior Center to place Automatic Defibrillators in both the Folks at Home Office on University Avenue and in the Sewanee Senior/Community Center on Ball Park Road. As part of the initiative, nine users were certified in CPR/AED usage covering both locations. The Sewanee Police Department and Grundy County EMS were both supporters of the initiative. The AED in the Folks at Home office will be available for check out on evenings and weekends for special events in the Sewanee community, provided the person has CPR/AED certification. Contact Folks at Home to arrange checkouts.

FOODFOR THOUGHT

South Cumberland Farmers' Market

In our present day, food is indeed "food for thought." Does the watermelon or strawberry that you enjoy this summer have more airline miles than you do? Is your lettuce jet-lagged? Do you unknowingly trade the best-tasting canteloupe or tomato for one that looks picture-perfect or has a longer shelf-life? Does the produce we serve at our tables require huge amounts of pesticides, herbicides, and fertilizers, denuding our country's topsoil and leaching into our rivers and streams? Finally, do we know the life-conditions of the animals that end up in shrink-wrapped packages in our grocery stores? Localists urge us to support our local farms and farmers, to treat animals humanely and the environment sustainably, and to encourage production and consumption of the freshest and most nutritious foods possible.

From a different set of concerns, some make the case for global, industrialized food production. Might it not be true in some cases that large-scale industrial farming provides economically disadvantaged peoples of the world with the only food they can afford? Globalists remind us that not all areas of the world are blessed with the abundance and variety we enjoy. Some argue that large-scale farming can produce more and produce it more efficiently. But is more always better?

Behind questions such as these, a great "food fight" is currently being waged—or, at least, sometimes discussed over dinner. We do well to appreciate and weigh the arguments on both sides. This is not the place for a full review of the issues, but documentaries such as "Food, Inc." and "Forks Over Knives," and books such as Wendell Berry's "The Unsettling of America" and Michael Pollan's "The Omnivore's Dilemma," are opening up a larger conversation about the origins and contents of the food we consume.

As we continue to eat and think, we should take note of the wonderful bounty we have right at our doorsteps—delicious and healthy food, raised by hard-working stewards who love their land. It's summertime in Tennessee, and the local harvest is abundant and gorgeous.

Founder and owner of Mooney's, Joan Thomas said, "Eating locally grown food benefits the environment, the consumer, and the farmer. It's a win, win, win situation." Greater biodiversity, which leads to better insurance against the vicissitudes of weather and pests; a lesser impact on the environment; fresher foods with a higher nutrient value; and better prices for farmers—all these and more are the advantages of producing and securing food closer to home.

Whether globally or locally, dinner will be served. If Socrates were to be one of the guests at the table, he might caution, "The unexamined dinner is not worth eating." Yes, but then again, with such dedicated local farmers and growers willing to serve us, let us rejoice and not forget just how fortunate we all are.

—Cheri Peters

Emerald Hodgson Auxiliary Elects New Leadership for 50th year

The Emerald Hodgson Hospital Auxiliary is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year. Established in 1968, the Auxiliary operates the Hospitality Shop located at 1096 University Ave., which accepts donations in clothing and household goods. Its members volunteer at the Emerald Hodgson Hospital on a regular basis. Last year proceeds from the sale of items at the Hospitality Shop provided six $2,000 scholarships for Franklin and Grundy County high school students who plan to go into the medical field, and funds to assist medical personnel at Emerald Hodgson for continuing education. The Auxiliary also helped in decorating the walls of the newly remodeled Physical Therapy Department at the hospital. The Hospitality Shop and other Auxiliary services are made up of volunteers from the community. Learn more about volunteering or making donations to the Auxiliary by calling the Hospitality Shop at (931) 598-0136 or by dropping by the Shop. Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays and 9:30 a.m. to noon, Saturdays.

Local Student Awarded Scholarship In Nation's Capital

McKinley Thomas, a rising senior from Grundy County High School, was awarded a $2,000 scholarship in Washington, D.C., on June 12, from Sequachee Valley Electric Cooperative and the Tennessee Electric Cooperative Association.

Thomas was in the nation's capital as a delegate of the 2018 Washington Youth Tour, June 8-14. The annual event, sponsored by SVEC and the Tennessee Electric Cooperative Association, provides young leaders with an opportunity to explore the nation's capital, learn about government and cooperatives and develop their leadership skills.

Students were selected for the trip by writing short stories titled "Electric Cooperatives – Going Beyond the Wires" that explain how co-ops provide communities with much more than electric power. Thomas was awarded the Robert McCarty Memorial Scholarship for having the second place story of the more than 10,000 papers submitted across the state.

McCarty was an employee of Volunteer Energy Cooperative and longtime chaperone on the annual Youth Tour. McCarty lost a battle with cancer in 2015, and sponsoring cooperatives renamed the scholarship in honor of his love for young people.

"Taking advantage of the amazing opportunity to have 900 words change my life was the greatest decision of my life. It was an honor to be a part of something so big that gives back. I am very thankful to have these amazing memories that will stay with me forever. Thanks to Sequachee Valley Electric Cooperative and the Tennessee Electric Cooperative Association, I am the proud and grateful recipient of a $2,000 scholarship," Thomas said.

"The Washington Youth Tour is a great opportunity to help students learn about public policy, cooperatives and leadership," says Mike Partin, SVEC president/CEO, "Sequachee Valley Electric Cooperative is proud to help prepare our communities' next generation of leaders, and we are excited to see the impact McKinley will have on our community."

Thomas plans to attend Eckerd College in St. Petersburg, Fla., for a degree in Marine Biology with a minor in Zoology.

VILLAGE REPORT

by Frank X. Gladu

Thanks to all those that dropped by our open house on July 4. We had more than 100 people stop by and look at the plans, renderings and maps. We were able to respond to questions and appreciated the many comments about the project. Maybe we should do more of these open houses.

This month, the focus of this report will be on several supporting projects for the Village development. In addition to the five priority projects, The Road, Food Market, Village Green, housing and the bookstore, there are several additional activities that will assist us with the building projects.

First, let me talk about the Stormwater study. We did a request for proposal from several firms to assist us with how to handle runoff from the future building projects in the Village. The company selected was Horsley Witten Group, Sustainable Environmental Solutions. They have extensive experience with urban projects and will examine the specifics of our areas to arrive at recommendations and remediations to treat this runoff in a responsible and environmentally friendly manner. They will work with the Town Planner to provide more details of development to adjust and align the Village Implementation plan. They will also utilize an advisory/steering group made up of University experts as well as local participants. Their work is scheduled to proceed through the next several months with a final report scheduled by the end of December. This study will utilize and build onto the University's Stormwater Master Plan, completed earlier this year.

Another project nearing completion is a conceptual parking plan. Walker Parking Consultants has been working to layout the parking possibilities identified in the Implementation Plan. The parking approach has been to locate parking areas behind buildings as well as utilizing on-street parking where possible. The conceptual parking plan includes the layouts of several surface lots in combination with street parking. There are eight separate surface lots identified with a total number of just over 900 parking spaces. As we proceed to create specific parking areas as part of the Village development, there will be an "erosion" of some of these conceptual spaces. But the plan helps us identify what is possible, allowing us to move forward with specific projects knowing that there is an ample amount of spaces to accommodate the Village development.

The Market analysis report for housing and retail demand has been completed by Randall Gross from Development Economics. The report identifies the need for more than 100 rental housing units and more than 125 housing units in the next 5 years. This report and demand information will assist us with those who are willing to make investments for building projects in the Village. An additional phase of Mr. Gross's work will include recommendations on establishing Sewanee as a visitor's destination to support the desired retail businesses most people would like to see in Sewanee.

I would also like to acknowledge the great work of the Sewanee Business Alliance with the Friday Nights in the Park series held on June 22, June 29, July 6 and July 13. These fun events were complete with music, food and beverages while providing a social gathering for the Sewanee community.....Bravo!!

The next Village Update meeting will be at 10 a.m., Tuesday, Aug. 7, at the Blue Chair Tavern. In addition to providing updates on the five priority projects, a discussion on affordable housing in Sewanee will be this month's topic. Also our Director of Implementation, Becky Timmons, from our town planning consultants (Town Planning and Urban Design Collaborative) will be there to answer any specific questions about our plan.

Hope to see you there!
Frank

Call for Veterans' Artwork

To honor military veterans of Franklin County and the surrounding area, the Franklin County Arts Guild is planning a Special Veterans Community Show to celebrate veterans at the Artisan Depot in Cowan.

The show opens Oct. 18 and a Veterans and Friends reception is set for Nov. 11 from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Artisan Depot.

Military veteran artists working in any media (painting, sculpting, photography, carving, pottery, etc.) on any subject, are cordially invited to submit and show their work at this show. Work can be submitted at the Artisan Depot between the hours of noon and 5 p.m., Oct. 11-14.

Non-veterans wanting to show appreciation and honor veterans are invited to submit a veteran-themed piece of art to the show.

For more information contact Margie Gallagher at (252) 864-0393.

At the Galleries

Artisan Depot

The Member Show "Indigo & Smoke" continues at the Artisan Depot through Aug. 5. The Community Show "Miniatures" continues at the Artisan Depot through Aug. 12.

The Artisan Depot is operated by the Franklin County Arts Guild and is located at 204 Cumberland St. East, Cowan. Gallery hours are noon to 5 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Sunday, and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday. For more information contact Diana Lamb at (931) 308-4130.

Frame Gallery

The Frame Gallery in Sewanee will display "In Our Backyard," paintings by Connie Keetle, through July 31.

The Frame Gallery is at 12569 Solace M. Freeman Hwy. The frame shop and gallery's regular hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday.

Museum Gallery

"Modern and Contemporary Art, selected works from the Permanent Art Collection" will be exhibited in the University of the South Archives Gallery through July 31. Representative works from early 20th century artists Kathe Kollowitz, Alexander Calder and Josef Albers, and 21st century artist Laurel Nakadate will be shown. The University Archives is open 1 to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 8 a.m. to noon by appointment.

'Painting Together' New Exhibit at Frame Gallery

"Painting Together," featuring works by artists in Martha Keeble's painting group is the latest exhibit at Frame Gallery Custom Frames and Art in Sewanee.

The exhibit runs Aug. 1-30 and the gallery will host a reception for the artists on Friday, Aug. 3, from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Refreshments will be available.

"Painting Together" is a collection of paintings by local artists who meet every week in Brooks Hall at Otey Parish under the tutelage of Keeble. Whether it's the Thursday class or the Friday class, they have come together to paint, talk, laugh, cry, drink tea and sometimes champagne, since 2009.

This exhibition includes paintings of landscapes, still lifes and animals and reveals the creative energy that happens when painting together.

Keeble earned her bachelor's of fine art in drawing and painting at the University of Georgia and her master's in education at Georgia State University.

Artists featured are Tippey Anderson, Betty Barton Blythe, Nancy Burnett, Amy Burns, Bob Burns, Sally Harding, Alex Hoole, Keeble, Sandy Kezar, Pat Kirby, Susan Lane, Debbie Racka, Louis Rice, Jr., Annette Smith, Peggy Ward and Carol Wray.

August Festival of Arts Slated for IONA: Art Sanctuary

The August Festival of Arts at IONA: Art Sanctuary begins Aug. 7 with readings and art exhibits. The public is welcome, all events are free and parking is available.

An art exhibit by Adam Randolph will be available Aug. 7-9, from 5 to 7 p.m., and Aug. 10-12, from 1 to 3 p.m. Refreshments are served after each program. IONA is at 630 Garnertown Rd., in Sewanee.

Randolph will present his work at 5 p.m., Tuesday, Aug. 7. He began painting in 1982 and is a self-taught figurative expressionist.

"Painting explains (to me) who I am within to how I experience everything without," he said. "As ever, a bewildered awe overcomes me to have been given the chance to have this life. My lucky brush, the compass; the canvass a night sky. How could I not follow such a call?"

Readings on Aug. 7 include short fiction by Erin McGraw, creative writing by Mark Edens and creative writing by the Rev. Francis Walter.

McGraw is the author of six books of fiction, three novels and three collections of stories. A new book, "Joy and 52 Other Very Short Stories," will be published next year by Counterpoint Press.

She lives in Sewanee with her husband, the poet Andrew Hudgins.

Mark Edens has written TV movies ranging in scope from Joan Rivers to The Disney Channel, episodes of the Ryan Gosling series "Young Hercules,"

Dance Lessons Start Aug. 7

Accomplished dance instructor Valerie Lorenz will begin teaching another round of ballroom dance lessons at the Sewanee Community Center on Tuesday, Aug. 7.

Valerie's husband Philip will assist with lessons, which are each Tuesday. Beginners dance at 6:30 p.m. and intermediates at 7:30 p.m. The six-week session costs $60.

Beginners will learn foxtrot and swing, intermediates will review and practice all the most popular social dances. Solo dancers are welcome.

To join, email <vlorenz@bellsouth.net> or text (931) 691-3168.

'Contemporary Mix' at In-Town Gallery

In-Town Gallery features "Contemporary Mix" in August, a showing of work by Sandra Washburn, Lee Glascock, Linda Kerlin, Janice Kindred and Linda Wicksell.

As five of Chattanooga's foremost mixed media artists, these artists create both wall art and three-dimensional artwork of great originality. Combining paint, paper, beads, glass, fabric, found objects and other materials, they create personal artistic narratives.

An opening reception is scheduled for Friday, Aug. 3, from 5 to 8 p.m. at In-Town Gallery at 26A Frazier Avenue in Chattanooga. The gallery offers contemporary art and fine crafts by 32 local and regional artists.

All five artists featured in Contemporary Mix view themselves as beginning with a basic idea or concept that intrigues them and building on that core concept as they weave subtle and ambiguous narratives. Indeed, creating their artwork layer by layer is a quite conscious choice with these artists.

As Washburn says, "I think of us as 'Layerists,' because we build our work layer by layer. That's what I teach in my mixed media classes."

Contemporary Mix presents richly diverse approaches to mixed media.

In-Town Gallery is open 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday. For more information visit <intowngallery.com> or call (423) 267-9214.

LOOKSATBOOKS

by Pat Wiser for Friends of duPont Library

This summer's reading highlight appeared in my mailbox soon after a Colorado friend learned that I'd missed Ken Haruf's "Plainsong." I read the compelling work far into that night. The title refers to unisonous vocal music and to the Colorado Plains, which I confess to tuning out as a desolate area on road trips between our Rocky Mountain home and Tennessee. Haruf's style, simultaneously spare and lyrical, depicts beauty, not bleakness, a landscape where a red mare and her new-foaled colt are backdropped by patches of snow and bright green winter wheat.

Weaving together the stories of a pregnant teenager, two lonely teachers, one with two young sons, and a pair of laconic old farmers, Haruf presents a community with bonds showing through the lack of overt sentimentality. A chorus of a small town's criticism and support is ever present.

In one plot strand, finely crafted dialogue renders credibility to an unlikely solution for the homeless pregnant teen. After Victoria's teacher Maggie appeals to the McPherson brothers, the improbable saviors struggle toward a momentous decision. Hopeful Raymond: "Maybe she wouldn't be as much trouble." Reluctant Harold: "Decrepit old bachelors out here in the country... crotchety and ignorant. Lonesome. How you going to change now?" Raymond: "I can't say, but I'm going to." Harold: "A girl is different. They got ideas you and me can't even suppose.... What do you know about babies?" Raymond: "Maybe I'll have time to learn." Harold: "You're getting flat unruly and difficult to abide. This ain't going to be no Sunday school picnic."

An anxious Victoria arrives at her new home to find the old men drenched in hair oil and dressed for the occasion in new shirts with pearl snaps. The awkward house tour reveals a pink towel with its store tag hanging between two old ones amidst the ancient bathroom's store of liniment, denture adhesive, and shaving equipment.

Personalities aren't magically transformed. The mystified girl soon reports to Maggie that her hosts talk only when imparting necessary information. This news inspires heroic efforts beginning with the brothers' sudden announcement that soybeans are down. Asked for her advice, the intelligent, confused girl's questions elicit a lecture on the value of soybeans and cattle, buying and selling. After much talk of slaughter cattle and choice steers, her instructors see "a faint track leading to some kind of promising clearing."

Several months after this breakthrough, Harold and Raymond "worried about her more than they had ever worried about anything in the last fifty years and watched it all and stayed with her into the night." Finally, oblivious to a shocked nurse, Harold, back from hastily feeding their animals, "smelling of the outdoors and of cattle and of sweat," holds the tiny person who has "just doubled our womenfolk."

Descriptions of these events and people imply caricature, but the scenes are plausible and moving. Brutality, casual cruelty and more sex than we may need to witness punctuate this narrative of kindness and hope. We observe violence to the small boys bullied by mean-spirited adults and teenagers. Teacher Guthrie furiously attacks the student who viciously tormented his sons. The little boys see too much.

Possibly I've revealed too much about one plot segment. There are others. "Plainsong" is the first of a trilogy, and I'm not sure about learning what happens next to the people to whom I grew so attached.

As shelves laden with school supplies signal the approaching end of summer reading, a brief report: In Martin Walker's latest saga set in the Périgord region of France, "A Taste for Vengeance," Police Chief Bruno focuses on international intrigue while enjoying fine cooking, good wine, and a spot of romance. From the nonfiction stack, former FBI Director James Comey's "A Higher Loyalty: Truth, Lies and Leadership" was interesting; political burnout may have inspired my C-plus rating. Still, current events inspired re-reading "The Other Side of Truth" about a 12-year-old girl and her younger brother, refugee children of a Nigerian reporter on their own in London. Author Beverly Naidoo based this story of a family in desperate need of asylum on the Nigerian government's execution of journalists in 1995. Winner of several 2001 awards, the book is suitable for middle school and older.

All are available at duPont Library. Let's enjoy summer reading while we can!

Welcome, summer guests!

70 episodes of the true-crime series “Snapped,” and more than 200 scripts for animated shows, including the pilot for the original “X-Men” series.

He is known in Sewanee as the writer of the “Mountain Goat” radio show and the local history plays “Lost” and “The Round Forest.”

Francis Xavier Walter III was named for his paternal grandfather, a German immigrant who arrived in New York City, 16-years-old, having paid for his passage by shoveling coal.

Francis III was born in Mobile in 1932. During the depression from ages three to six, he lived in a Creole community on Mon Louis Island where his home fronted Mobile Bay.

He attended primary school, high school and college in Mobile. In 1957 through 1960, he attended seminary at Sewanee. Francis has been an Episcopal priest for 60 years.

He and Faye Sisson Walter have been married 41 years—pure bliss. They retired to Sewanee in 2001.

On Wednesday, Aug. 8, readers include Bruce Manuel with essays and more; David Baker with poetry; Lynn Cimino-Hurt reading poetry; and Michael Cimino-Hurt sharing an essay.

Manuel has lived in Sewanee since 2016, following a 30-year career in the U.S. military and civil service. A 1980 graduate of Sewanee with a B.A. in English literature, he moved to Sewanee to pursue his lifelong dream of writing. He is currently working on a series of short stories, essays and poetry. He regularly shares his work at Sewanee Spoken Word.

Baker spent his first career writing and producing music for film and television, airing on ABC, PBS Kids and The Disney Channel. He also produced two studio albums as a singer-songwriter (“Angels Dance in the Afternoon,” iTunes) and played his music for many years in southwestern Colorado before embarking on a writing career in essay and poetry.

David is working on his first book of short poems, “Word Windows,” and was recently featured in the online journal, “Happy Few.” He lives in Monteagle and often reads his work at Sewanee Spoken Word.

Lynn Cimino-Hurt is a local poet, who publishes with a pen name—rm mist. She has compiled four collections of poems and maintains a blog-space, “What Muses Leave Behind.” Currently, she teaches science and coordinates the international education program at Rivermont Collegiate in Bettendorf, Iowa. She is home for the summer.

Thursday, Aug. 9, will feature creative writing by Camila San Rim Hwang-Carlos, poetry by Spencer Hupp, poetry by Bennett Bridgers-Carlos and poetry by Richard Tillinghast.

Tillinghast is the author of 12 books of poetry and five of nonfiction, including “Finding Ireland: A Poet’s Explorations of Irish Literature and Culture,” 2008, and “An Armchair Traveller’s History of Istanbul,” 2012. “Finding Ireland” was named Book of the Year for travel essays by Foreword Magazine.

“An Armchair Traveller’s History of Istanbul,” published in London, was named one of the 10 best travel books of the year by Publisher’s Weekly and nominated for the Ondaatje Prize given by the Royal Society of Literature.

In 2010, Tillinghast was awarded a John Simon Guggenheim Foundation Fellowship in poetry in addition to a National Endowment for the Arts Fellowship in translation for “Dirty August” (Kirli Agustos).

Richard is a native of Memphis and a 1962 cum laude graduate of the University of the South with longtime ties to Sewanee. After graduation, he went on to earn his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard, where he studied poetry with Robert Lowell.

IONA: Art Sanctuary, founded by artist Ed Carlos, exists “to offer a place for writers and artists to share their creative work with each other and the community, and our emphasis is the source: creativity and spirituality.”

Sewanee Tennis Players Earn ITA Academic Honors

The Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) recently named 10 student-athletes from the Sewanee men’s and women’s tennis programs as ITA Scholar-Athletes.

The ITA also recognized both programs as members of the All-Academic Team.

In total, 735 teams and 4,328 student-athletes were honored with the postseason academic award.

On the men’s side, six players: Jordan Brewer, Andres Carro, Aubrey Davis, Jack Gray, Sean Halloran and Zan Meyer were named Scholar-Athletes.

Four Sewanee women’s players, Maggie Crumbliss, Clementina Davila, Mary Jane McCaghren and Sara Thompson were chosen as ITA Scholar-Athletes.

To earn ITA Scholar-Athlete status a player must be a varsity letter winner, have a grade point average of at least 3.50 for the current academic year, and have been enrolled at their present school at least two semesters.

The ITA All-Academic Team award is open to any ITA program that has a cumulative team GPA of 3.20 or above (on a 4.00 scale).

Mountain Goat Trail Parkrun

The Mountain Goat Trail Parkrun is a free, weekly, timed 5k event. The fun starts on Saturdays at 9 a.m. at Pearl’s.

All skill levels are welcome and participants can walk, jog or run. The event is stroller and kid friendly—children under 11-years-old should be within an arm’s reach. Dogs are welcome, but limited to one per person on a short lead.

Register at <parkrun.us/register>, print the barcode and show up.

Soccer Registration Deadline is Aug. 5

Sewanee Youth Soccer, a branch of the Franklin County Soccer Association, is currently registering players for the fall 2018 season.

Players age 3 and up are encouraged to come experience the game of soccer and have fun. The cost is $50 for Little Kickers and $70 for under 6-U and up. The deadline to register is Aug. 5 and games begin the weekend after Labor Day. However, the program can only exist if enough kids and volunteers join, so organizers ask parents to register soon and spread the word.

Registration is online at <fcsoccer.org> and in person at the Winchester Rotary Soccer Complex on Saturday, June 28, from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. If a family wants to practice and play in Sewanee please indicate such in the drop-down box on the registration form.

Franklin County Soccer Association (FCSA) is a nonprofit recreational organization for children ages 3 through 15. The mission is to promote the sport of soccer by providing an organized, safe, fun-filled environment to develop players on an individual and team level. FCSA also strives to strengthen its character through leadership by coaches, referees and board members and to build community pride in the organization.

All programs are recreational, allowing players to improve their skills in a fun, positive environment designed to encourage their confidence, love of the game, sportsmanship and team-building.

For questions, contact Sewanee volunteer coordinator Georgia Hewitt at <georgiahewitt@gmail.com> or the FSCA president Casey Jackson at <president@fcsoccer.org>.

What are the health needs in our community?

Southern Tennessee Regional Health System Sewanee together with the South Cumberland Health Network, has recently started a comprehensive Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA), which will provide helpful information for improving and promoting the health of each community member.

The focus of the community health needs assessment is Franklin, Marion and Grundy Counties.

Your participation in this study is voluntary. The community health survey is 13 short questions. We greatly value your thoughts on the health needs of the community. The survey will be analyzed by Stratasan, our community health needs assessment partner. The last question provides an opportunity for you to add any comments, suggestions or advice you wish to offer.

NATURENOTES

Bladderwort.

Otter Limits Trail

A stroll on the Otter Limits Trail around the Res at St. Andrew’s-Sewanee offer some plants of interest. One of the mountain mints is fairly common—the one with the whitish leaves and bracts below the heads of small flowers. Take the opportunity to “scratch and sniff.”

Keep a lookout for the flowers of the crane fly orchid. Its leaves with purple veins and bright purple lower surface, so prominent in spring, have disappeared and the stalks of purplish-green flowers are hard to spot against the leaf litter. If you poke around a little at the end of the dam nearer the swimming area, you will see a nice stand of yellow-eyed grass, an odd-looking plant with leafless stems bearing a small, egg-shaped flower head. The tiny, yellow, three-petaled flowers are only open in the morning.

At the other end of the dam, in a little mudflat, bladderwort is blooming, with yellow flowers on a short, thin stalk above the stranded, linear leaves. Usually the plant is floating in the water as a submersed aquatic.

The whole dam area is a good example of the vegetation zones of a lake or pond, from the emergent cattails, sedges, and rushes to the floating-leaved rooted aquatic watershed to the bladderworts and pondweeds. Some small-headed blazing star (Liatris) is still in bloom, especially on sandstone outcrops. The small white flowers of a lobelia, Indian tobacco, are fairly common along the trail, but don’t think of smoking it—it is highly poisonous, as its common names Pukeweed and Vomitwort would indicate.

Saturday, July 28

Denny Falls Nature Hike (free)—Join Seasonal Ranger Will Stuart at noon at Denny Cove parking lot, 5917 U.S. 41 (TN-150), Sequatchie, for a 3-mile hike down waterfall trail in Denny Cove to see the beauty of Denny Falls. Be sure to bring along drinking water and a snack. Bring along your camera to get that perfect waterfall picture. This is a rocky and rugged trail, so long pants and sturdy boots are recommended.

Savage Gulf Day Loop Afternoon Stroll (free)—Join Ranger Mark Greenwood at 2 p.m. at Savage Gulf Ranger Station, 3157 SR 399, Palmer, for a 5-mile roundtrip hike around Savage Gulf Day Loop, including beautiful Rattlesnake Point overlook and Savage Falls. Bring water, a snack, bug spray, your camera for sure! and wear sturdy shoes. (A swimsuit for a dip is optional.) Note: The area around the falls and on overlooks can be treacherous in terms of keeping your footing. Extreme care is needed.

Improvised and Primitive Cooking Methods ($8)—Join Ranger James Holland at 2:30 p.m. at South Cumberland State Park’s Visitors Center, 11745 U.S. Hwy 41, Monteagle, to learn various methods of preparing and cooking meals in the wild using improvised and/or primitive utensils. Instruction will include using rocks for frying and steaming food, boiling in improvised containers, making bushbread and ashcakes, planking meat and bannock bread with boards and other primitive cooking methods if time permits.

Sunday, July 29

Grundy Forest Trash Clean-up—Join Seasonal Ranger Will at noon at Grundy Forest Parking lot, 131 Fiery Gizzard Rd., Tracy City, to help pick up trash along Little Fiery Gizzard Creek on the Grundy Forest Day Loop. Wear sturdy shoes, work clothes, and bring gloves for picking up trash, as well as water and a snack. Trash bags will be provided, but feel free to bring extra bags and/or buckets for gathering trash.

Monday, July 30

Greeter Falls Waterfall Hike—Meet Seasonal Interpretive Ranger Spencer Baxter at noon at Greeter Falls trailhead, 550 Greeter Falls Rd., Altamont, for a short 1.5-mile hike to see multiple scenic waterfalls in the area. Terrain varies from moderate to rugged, so sturdy boots or shoes are a must. Water, sun/bug protection also recommended, plus your camera.

Tuesday, July 31

Buggytop Cave Expedition ($10)—Join Seasonal Interpretive Ranger Spencer Baxter at 10 a.m. at Buggytop parking area, 6398 Sherwood Rd., Sewanee, for a 5-mile strenuous to extreme expedition into the unique Buggytop Cave. Closed-toed shoes or boots, headlamps, water and food that can be put into a small backpack, and an adventurous spirit are required for this trip. Helmets for safety will be provided by the Park. Updates will be given if needed in case of dangerous weather conditions. Register by calling (931) 924-2980.

Thursday, Aug. 2

Stone Door Hike—Meet Ranger Aaron Reid at 2 p.m. at Stone Door parking lot, 1183 Stone Door Rd., Beersheba Springs, for an easy 2-mile hike to see the beautiful Great Stone Door, which was used as a passageway from the top of the plateau into the gorges below by early settlers. Wear sturdy shoes, and bring your camera as well as a water bottle.

The South Cumberland State Park Visitors’ Center is located on Highway 41 South between Monteagle and Tracy City and is open 8 a.m.–4:30 p.m. seven days a week. For more information call (931) 924-2980.

Tiger

Pet of the Week

Meet Tiger

Animal Harbor offers this delightful pet for adoption.

Are you looking for a kitten? Here is your guy! Tiger is about as perfect as perfect can be. Tiger is 4 months old, up-to-date on shots, FIV/FelV negative, microchipped and neutered. He is unbelievably lovable (and very handsome). He enjoys other animals, and children and just wants to snuggle.

Not able to adopt? Consider sponsoring a dog kennel or cat cage. When you sponsor an individual dog kennel or cat cage, we will post your name or business for everyone to see. You can choose from a six month on one year commitment. Dog kennel sponsorship is $2,400 a year. Cat cage sponsorship is $1,200 a year. Contact Stephanie Wilson at <stephanie.wilson@animalharbor.org>.

Animal Harbor offers substantial adoption fee discounts for seniors and veterans. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Rd., in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at (931) 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <animalharbor.org>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spray or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Herbarium Event

Foster Falls—Saturday, Aug. 4, 9 a.m., with Trae Moore. This has long been a favorite spot for late season wildflowers that thrive in the open sun, such as blazing star and numerous asters. Meet at the Foster Falls parking area for this one- to two-hour easy walk in the power line right-of-way above the gorge with optional short but steep trek to the bottom of the falls and back to see some trees and ferns. Contact the South Cumberland State Park Visitors’ Center for directions (931) 924-2980. Want to take a dip after the walk? Bring your suit! Foster Falls is also a wonderful place for a picnic.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

World War I begins, July 28, 1914

The nations slithered over the brink into a boiling cauldron of war. Amongst the rulers and statesmen who alone could give the final word which caused great armies to spring from the ground and march to and across frontiers, one can see now clearly that not one of them wanted war. Had there been a Bismarck in Germany, a Palmerston or Disraeli in Britain, a Roosevelt in America, or a Clemenceau in authority in Paris, a catastrophe might, and I believe would, have been averted; but there was no one of that quality visible on the bridge in any great State.

David Lloyd George (1863-1945 )
