STEM Program for Girls

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Intern

Jamie Treadwell, Education Director at the Hands on Science Center (HOSC) in Tullahoma was one of 15 science education program leaders to attend a workshop in Miami focused on marketing STEM programs to young girls. STEM is an acronym for the fields of science, technology, engineering and math.

The workshop, Exhibit Design for Girls Engagement (EDGE), was facilitated by the San Francisco Exploratorium and funded by a $1 million grant from the National Science Foundation. The goal of the workshop was to educate those in attendance on how to create girl-friendly exhibits and programs.

"There is currently a trend towards girls-only programs so that they are less intimidated," said Treadwell. "Because STEM has been perceived as a male topic, there are fewer women who seek careers that are math- and science-based. We are trying to change those perceptions to encourage girls to consider careers in the field of science."

Unlike more traditional marketing strategies, Treadwell said the EDGE workshop taught her that making everything pink isn't necessarily the way to appeal to girls.

"It's not about making things pink—even though that's what everyone thinks. It's about making it more friendly and familiar, making things have a more homey feel with less technology, steel and chrome," said Treadwell. "Traditionally speaking, technology is chrome, gears and high-tech. That's intimidating to women and also a lot of people that don't consider themselves tech-savvy. By making it more welcoming to girls, you're making it more welcoming to people in general."

Tennessee Sales Tax Holiday July 29–31

Starting this year and continuing annually, the sales tax holiday will be held during the last weekend in July. This year's sales tax holiday will be July 29 through July 31.

Tennessee's annual sales tax holiday begins at 12:01 a.m. today (Friday), July 29 and ends at 11:59 p.m. on Sunday, July 31. During these three days, Tennessee shoppers can save nearly 10 percent on clothing, school supplies and computers, as they prepare for the back-to-school season. As in prior years, consumers will not pay state or local sales tax on clothing, school and art supplies that cost $100 or less per item and computers that cost $1,500 or less.

For more information about the sales tax holiday, including lists of taxable and tax-exempt items, go to <www.tntaxholiday.com>. For more information go to the Revenue Help application, at <https://revenue.support.tn.gov/hc/en-us>.

SUD Board Approves Delayed Payment of Tap Fees

by Leslie Lytle,
Messenger Staff Writer

"We would have to insist the note survives even in the event the Cooley's Rift developers declared bankruptcy," SUD manager Ben Beavers advised, commenting on a request to delay payment of tap fees presented for a vote at the July 26 meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties. The developer RLF Cooley's Rift, LLC applied for water service to 23 lots in the Cooley's Rift development, but subsequently requested two changes to the standard developer's contract.

Typically the developer is required to pay the $4,150 per lot tap fee at the time the contract is executed. The developer is also required to pay a $5 per month dry tap fee until half the lots are sold to cover administrative expenses and line flushing costs.

Cooley's Rift requested a three-year, no-interest note on the tap fee cost, total $95,000, with the tap fee to be paid at the time a customer requested water service. By the provisions of the note, the developer would pay any unpaid tap fees at the end of the three-year term. Cooley's Rift

Sewanee Writers' Conference Ends This Weekend

Celebrating its 27th summer session, the Sewanee Writers' Conference (SWC) will continue through Saturday, July 30, and feature readings, panels, and lectures by distinguished faculty and nationally recognized editors, publishers and literary agents. All readings and lectures are free, open to the public, and held on campus in the Mary Sue Cushman Room of the Bairnwick Women's Center.

At 9 a.m., today (Friday), July 29 readings begin with Gwen E. Kirby, Adam Latham and Megan Roberts, SWC staff. Former Poet Laureate of the United States, Robert Hass, will give a lecture and Ken Weitzman and B.H. Fairchild will read.

On Saturday, July 30 readings will be given by Maurice Manning and Richard Bausch.

A complete conference schedule can be found online at <www.sewanee-writers.org/schedule>. Authors' books are available at the University Book & Supply Store.

Supported by the Walter E. Dakin Memorial Fund established through the estate of the late Tennessee Williams, the Sewanee Writers' Conference offers instruction and criticism to writers through a series of workshops, readings, and craft lectures in poetry, fiction and playwriting. The SWC also offers a poetry translation workshop.

SCCF Hosts Grant Award Event

Folks at Home of Sewanee is among the 11 area organizations receiving a 2016 grant from South Cumberland Community Fund (SCCF). SCCF will host a ceremony on July 31 to make the awards as well as honor the VISTAs who are completing their service on the Plateau. The event will begin at 4 p.m., Sunday, July 31, at the Big Red Barn in Beersheba Springs. All are welcome at the free event.

The approved grants are:

Animal Alliance South Cumberland (AASC) is an all-volunteer organization that makes available accessible, affordable spaying and neutering for pets across the Plateau. This grant of $3,500 will purchase a tandem axle 7' x 14' enclosed cargo trailer. AASC will use this trailer for two purposes: AASC's main fundraiser each year is a very large yard sale, augmented by smaller flea market sales during the summer. The trailer will be used to store large items and transport them to the sales (rather than keeping them in the garages and barns of volunteers). It will also be used to haul and distribute pallets of donated dog and cat food. AASC uses donated food as an incentive for low-income pet owners to have their pets sterilized and also to help pet owners through difficult times.

Coalmont Public Library offers life-long learning for people of all ages, as well as access to technology and the Internet and is open 20 hours each week. For its 800 card holders and other members of this rural community, it offers a year-round story time for children, participates in the Interlibrary Loan program and provides services such as fax, printing and email access. Individuals seeking employment come to the library to search for open positions, to fill out and follow-up on online applications and to learn about educational opportunities. This $1,000 grant purchases a new desktop computer to replace an obsolete one and provides funds to help purchase supplies for next year's summer reading program.

Folks at Home is dedicated to assisting older area residents in living a dignified and comfortable lifestyle through coordination of services they need. Through this grant of $3,040, Folks at Home will expand its Boost Your Brain and Memory Program, an evidence-based program designed to help participants learn and practice the most promising strategies for keeping the brain healthy as they age. The goal is to expand the program into Monteagle, Tracy City and Sewanee or Sherwood. Current program facilitators will mentor new volunteer facilitators, with an "each one teach one" approach to continuing the program with community-based facilitators.

Almost a decade ago, Friends of South Cumberland (FSC) started "Every Child in the Park," a program that takes every fifth-grade class in Grundy County to one of the South Cumberland Parks for an all-day field trip. This year's grant of $9,856 helps FSC expand this program into the fourth grade by creating an

FULFORD HALL UPDATE

To the Editor:

Occasionally someone either thanks us for our efforts on behalf of Fulford Hall, or asks us what the status of the building is. So for members of the community who might not have been following this issue closely, here's a little report:

We have every reason to believe that Fulford Hall has indeed been saved both from destruction and from being moved.

Thanks to Vice-Chancellor John McCardell for his wise decision to leave the fine old building where it is. On Feb. 11 he announced in an email to former Regents that "Fulford Hall will remain where it stands, and its long-term use is still to be determined."

We are posting this for the record. The building stays where it has always stood. The administration has put it in writing. Good news!

Following the workshop, Treadwell coordinated a camp specifically for first through sixth grade girls interested in STEM. This camp was recently held at HOSC in July.

Kellye Burns, HOSC intern and physics major at Clemson University, served as a camp director for the STEM program.

For Burns, giving girls the opportunity to study STEM just makes sense.

"Humans love to tell stories, and the greatest story that we could hope to tell is the story of us. It is impossible to talk about human history without talking about the invention of the wheel, the use of simple machines to build the pyramids, the bridges we built, the weapons we redesigned and going to the moon. STEM is the language we use to write our story," said Burns. "Now imagine only letting half of the population write the story. Take our story and cut it in half. Delete Sally Ride's trips to space. Delete Madam Curie's discoveries about radioactivity. Delete Joan Clarke's work with computers and crypt-analysis. Delete all of the chapters like this, and no one is going to buy the book."

That is why it is important that girls have just as much opportunity to study STEM. It's not about equal pay. It's not about diversity. It's not about using "women" as a buzzword to get more grants. It's about filling our space in the universe, and men cannot do it alone.

Burns said it was her goal at the camp to empower the girls with the tools and understanding to overcome the struggles they might face in the world of STEM. The girls left the camp with their interests in STEM validated, but they weren't the only ones who were rewarded.

"At the end of the camp, every girl walked out excited to talk to their parents about astronomy or about estimating the amount of Ping-Pong balls in a box or about how they got to Skype a female graduate student at CERN," said Burns. "I watched those young girls become extraordinary."

The HOSC is located at 101 Mitchell Blvd. in Tullahoma. It is open Tuesday-Saturday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. For more information go to <www.hosc.org>.

all-day field trip to the Park's Visitor's Center, which will provide an introduction to the history, geography, flora and fauna of the area; and will provide enriching activities through the use of nature journaling. In addition to building a sense of community, this grant will connect children to nature, support the preservation of the area's history and culture and increase attendance at the Visitors Center by making it more widely known to area children and families.

Grundy County High School has an enrollment of about 725 students (grades 9-12) and a very limited annual library budget. This grant of $9,095 will help improve literacy skills and expand the library's capacity to be a teaching space for the school. This grant will purchase books that will be engaging and interesting to high school students and at the appropriate reading level. It will also purchase a new computer and software for circulation and inventory of books. The grant will also purchase materials to equip the library as a teaching space with advanced audio-visual capabilities for multi-media presentations and web seminars.

Grundy County Historical Society operates the Grundy County Heritage Center, which is a museum, a library and a research center about the South Cumberland Plateau. An all-volunteer operation, it supports and encourages appreciation of and education about the culture and history of this region. In 2015, about 2,400 people visited the Center. Dry, secure space is essential to the preservation of historic photographs and documents. The Historical Society is housed in a location with three separate roof structures, all of which now need repairs. This $10,000 grant, combined with a USDA Rural Development grant and support from individual donors, will pay for repair to damage from previous roof leaks and will help support the re-roofing of the three buildings.

Grundy County Housing Authority provides safe and affordable housing for low-income families in the area. Its 110 units range from efficiencies to four-bedroom units. Of its 219 current residents, 76 are under the age of 18. Grundy County Housing Authority will use this grant to expand its on-site recreational opportunities for families, with a special emphasis on children. Presently there are courts for volleyball and basketball. This $4,500 grant will purchase age-appropriate playground equipment for young children so that they and their families will have ready access to safe outdoor play space.

Grundy County Swiss Historical Society, host of the Swiss Celebration and Festival for 42 years, maintains a farmhouse/museum to educate visitors about the unique history of the Swiss settlement in the Gruetli-Laager area since 1869. The farmhouse and the adjacent pavilion are also used for family reunions, community gatherings and weddings. This grant of $4,500 will replace all the gutters on the farmhouse and will support the creation of a new drainage system to protect the integrity of the historic building.

Grundy County Youth Football is a county-wide program that provides football and cheerleading for children ages 4 through eighth grade. About 130 children participate in the football program and about 60 children are in the cheerleading program. Games are played every Saturday from August through October, all led and coached by volunteers. This program is one of the most formative experiences for young people in Grundy County, advancing life skills such as teamwork, discipline, sportsmanship and the importance of physical fitness. Most of the program's current helmets are more than a decade old and need to be replaced. This $10,000 grant will purchase 100 new state-of-the-art football helmets to ensure the safest possible program.

Pelham Fire and Rescue provides the Pelham Valley community with primary fire response. Its service area also includes Interstate 24, where they respond to emergency calls, some of which are complex accidents including hazardous materials. Because it is an unincorporated community, Pelham has no mechanism for assessing taxes; most of the funds for the Fire and Rescue program come from an annual Fish Fry and Barbecue. This grant of $9,740 will purchase five new sets of gear (coat, pants and helmet with shield) for firefighters, keeping the program in compliance with federal standards and ensuring the safety of the 12 volunteers who dedicate their time and efforts to saving the lives of others.

Tracy City Softball and Baseball operates an annual program for boys and girls ages 3-12, involving about 100 children each year. In addition to introducing them to the sport, the program helps children learn to work together as a team, to appreciate the benefits of hard work and practice and to gain experience dealing with stressful situations, including losing. This grant of $9,369 supports the development of a community softball/baseball complex on the site of the old high school baseball field. Having reached agreements with the Town of Tracy City, the Grundy County School Board, the Fair Association and the Golf Association, the program can now move forward with surveying the property for future development. The grant also purchases portable aluminum bleachers for use at the current location and that can be moved to the new field when it is completed.

Established in 2012, South Cumberland Community Fund works to improve the quality of life across the Plateau by increasing philanthropy and supporting leadership of the area's communities, schools and nonprofit organizations. Since its founding, SCCF has reinvested nearly $750,000 in projects that benefit the Plateau.

also requested SUD waive the monthly dry tap fee.

"We need to be very cautious given the history of the project," Beavers said. New Life, the former Cooley's Rift developer, was forced to liquidate by creditors and a court order.

Brian Youngblood, representing the present Cooley's Rift developers, expressed confidence in their marketing plan. "We've already sold six of the existing lots," Youngblood said. Interest in lakefront lots is particularly strong, according to Youngblood. Fifteen of the 23 lots identified in the SUD contract are lakefront.

Raising another concern, Beavers said accepting the note as payment might violate SUD policy, which requires payment at the time the contract is signed. "We'd need to check with the attorney to see if a note constitutes payment," Beavers insisted.

After long deliberation, the board agreed to the three-year note contingent on SUD attorney Don Scholes satisfying both of SUD's concerns, survivability of the note and compatibility with current policy.

The board voted against waiving the dry tap fee.

"Flushing lines would be the only cost SUD incurs during the three-year period of the note," Beavers said. The dry tap fee covers that expense.

In reviewing operations Beavers stressed the need for sewer line remediation in three areas prone to overflows, Depot Branch, Alto Road and Running Knob Hollow Road.

"Depot Branch is the worst," Beavers said. "We'll address it first. There's enough money in the budget to start the project." The problem stems from roots growing into the old clay pipe. At present, SUD cleans the line every other week to avoid backups. According to Beavers, 2,000 feet of line needs replaced. He estimated the total cost at approximately $80,000.

Beavers projected it would cost $200,000 to do all the sewer line remedial work needed. Beavers will consult with the state comptroller about the legality of drawing on SUD's cash reserves to finance the sewer repairs. SUD drew on the cash reserves to finance the automatic meter reading project. As a public utility, SUD law prohibits SUD from drawing the cash reserve below the minimum required balance in successive years.

Flagging another operations issue, Beavers said he will consult with the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation about how to control the invasive duckweed at two of the wastewater treatment plant ponds. "The duckweed shades out the algae needed to put oxygen back in the water," Beavers said. The duckweed appeared following the introduction of plants to the constructed wetlands, the site of a pilot wastewater treatment study by University of the South and University of Georgia. The SUD Board meets next on Aug. 23.

SBA's First Reverse Raffle a Success

The Reverse Raffle on July 8 was a success by many standards. "The overall goal was to raise money for Housing Sewanee and Angel Park," said John Goodson, president of the Sewanee Business Alliance (SBA). "We did it by selling more than 300 tickets, which we consider a victory," Goodson added.

Participants purchased tickets for $100 each. All ticket holder stubs were put into the drawing and the last ticket drawn was the winner. The final two tickets left in the drawing decided to split the winnings ($5,000 each) and share the jackpot.

John Noffsinger of Sewanee and Ken Myrick of Brentwood were the lucky two tickets left by 9:30 p.m. at the final Friday Nights in the Park on July 8. Both chose to give back part of their winnings to the park and other charitable organizations.

Myrick donated back $1,000 of his winnings to Sewanee Angel Park. Noffsinger donated $500 to Sewanee Angel Park, $500 to Housing Sewanee, $500 to the CAC (Community Action Committee) and $500 to Morton Memorial Church for their food bank.

Noffsinger is active in the Monteagle Sewanee Rotary and is this year's chairperson for the second Annual Rotary Hunger Walk to be held Sept. 3. The Rotary Hunger Walk has a mission to bring awareness to the poverty on the Mountain and to raise funds to do something about the problem.

The first Hunger Walk last year had more than 200 people walk along the Mountain Goat Trail. The Hunger Walk raised more than $15,000 last year after expenses. These funds were divided between two food banks, Morton Memorial and the CAC. Noffsinger's donation to Morton Memorial and the CAC is his way of getting the Hunger Walk off to a good start.

Housing Sewanee is a nonprofit organization modeled after Habitat for Humanity. Sewanee Angel Park is used by the public to add quality of life on the Mountain. The reverse raffle was administered by the SBA. All the expenses of the raffle were paid for by the SBA. The net proceeds of almost $20,000 will be divided between Housing Sewanee and Sewanee Angel Park.

The SBA plans on this continuing as an annual event and fund-raising effort.

Granting Women Voting Rights

Nearly 100 years ago, Tennessee played a pivotal role in granting women across the country the right to vote. Now the Tennessee State Library and Archives has a new online collection that highlights that watershed moment in the nation's history, titled "Women's Suffrage: Tennessee and the Passage of the 19th Amendment."

In 1920, after a debate that had raged for years, 35 of 48 states then in the Union had ratified the 19th Amendment to the United States Constitution, which would give women the right to vote. One more state's approval was needed in order to meet the requirement that three-fourths of the states supported the measure.

Eight states had rejected the amendment and five had not yet voted on it. Tennessee was seen as the best chance of getting the amendment approved before the 1920 presidential election. At a special session called in August of that year, the amendment was quickly approved by the state Senate but then faced stiffer opposition in the House of Representatives. Harry T. Burn, a young House member who initially opposed the amendment, changed his vote—reportedly after being lobbied by his mother—and broke a tie that ensured the passage of a law guaranteeing half the country's population a fundamental right.

Animal Harbor Sets Bone Drop

Animal Harbor is hosting its fourth annual Bone Drop on Saturday, Aug. 6. Participants purchase a bone for $100 for a chance to win $5,000. This year's event will help raise money to support the work at the new shelter.

The drop will be at noon, Saturday, Aug. 6. The bones will be dropped from 50 feet in the air, using a ladder truck from the fire department. The bone that falls closest to the center of a target wins up to $5,000.

Participants do not have to be present to win. There will also be food, prizes, games and face-painting.

For more information or to purchase a bone call (931) 581-2147 or email <info@animalharbor.org>. Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Road in Decherd.

AASC Offers Cartridge Recycling

The Animal Alliance-South Cumberland (AASC), a low-cost spay neuter group, encourages area residents and businesses to recycle printer ink cartridges and toner through AASC. Cartridges may be dropped off at the Regions Bank in Sewanee, Piggly Wiggly in Monteagle, Community First Financial in Monteagle and the South Cumberland State Park Visitor's Center.

All funds raised through this program are used to help area residents have their dogs and cats spayed or neutered, at a low cost, to help prevent abandonment and neglect of animals. Recently Fido Fixers, a mobile spay/neuter clinic spent several days at our location in Tracy City to help with this effort. "Fixing" feral and indoor/outdoor cats has been an important focus for this program. There are very few grants available to support this work, so local support is essential. A few funds are left to spay cats for the cost of a rabies shot. Contact AASC at (931) 235-9006 or visit <www.animalalliancesouthcumberland.org/>.

MSSA Final Week

The Monteagle Sunday School Assembly in Monteagle continues its 134th consecutive summer season of enrichment. The eight-week season will continue through Sunday, Aug. 7, featuring numerous visiting lecturers who will present morning and evening programs in Warren Chapel that are open free of charge to the public.

A lecture by Rev. Deacon CJ Van Slyke on Tuesday, Aug. 2 will bring attention to the ongoing crisis in Haiti. Van Slyke is a deacon at Trinity Episcopal Church in Canton, Ala. She has been involved with the Diocese of Haiti for the last eight years. Her background is in nursing, psychology, and counseling. Her talk will focus on “Haiti and the Episcopal Church: Our Legacy and our Future.” The lecture will take place in Warren Chapel at 10:45 a.m.

Two documentary films will be screened at the Assembly’s Pulliam Center this week. “Herb and Dorothy” (2008, NR) will be shown Tuesday, Aug. 2, at 8:15 p.m. The film looks at the historical gift project by the legendary art collector couple, Herbert and Dorothy Vogel, and its impact on art communities around America. They had more than 2,000 works of art packed into their small New York City apartment, never selling these works for a profit. In 1992, they transferred the entire collection to the National Gallery of Art.

The second film, “Finding Vivian Maier” (2014, NR), will be screened Thursday, Aug. 4, at 8:15 p.m. This critically acclaimed film describes a mysterious nanny who secretly took more than 100,000 photographs hidden in storage lockers. Maier is regarded as one of the 20th century’s greatest photographers. More on her work can be found at <www.findingvivianmaier.com>.

Other events this week include:

Lecture with Betsy Wills, “The Art of Collecting,” Wednesday, Aug. 3, 10:45 a.m., Warren Chapel;

Lecture with Tom Hines, “How Southerners Created a Shaker Village at South Union, Kentucky,” Thursday, Aug. 4, 10:45 a.m., Warren Chapel.

For a complete schedule or for more information go to <www.mssa1882.org> or call the Assembly Office (931) 924-2286.

ANGELWITH AN ATTITUDE

by Virginia Craighill

Dear Angel,

I came up to Sewanee for vacation hoping to see my friends who work and live here, but for some reason everyone I know had left town. Why would anyone leave such a paradise and pay money to vacation elsewhere? Why don’t Sewanee locals just stay here and enjoy all the wonderful opportunities of this place?

Signed,
YS(ummer’s)R

Dear Righteous Summer Visitor,

Sewanee is indeed an excellent vacation destination as is evident from the amount of “summer people” wandering University Avenue and belling up to the Shakerag Bar at the Inn or crowding the porch at Shenanigan’s. You are likely to encounter literary celebrities and old college chums in the same place and can hear music wafting from every corner of the campus, as if the angels were singing to you. The trails are green, the views enchanting and the golf course verdant. It must seem odd to the outsider that anyone living here would ever wish to leave.

However, consider that Sewanee is the University, and if you work for the University, vacationing here is like setting up a tent in your office building. You cannot go to a party or an event without encountering your bosses, and it is hard to have a conversation that doesn’t touch on some aspect of your job. If people know you are in town, even if you’re hunkering down in your house with the lights off, you’ll be called into meetings, asked to give a talk, or feel the constant spectre of work around every corner.

So when Sewanee locals go on vacation, they tend to go to places that are just like Sewanee but without the anxiety. They become the “summer people” in little towns with no grocery stores where no one locks the doors, and they understand why the locals resent them. They like to visit places with great natural beauty and good hiking. They like to find peaceful spots with bad cell service where they can relax and read good books without being interrupted by phone calls or emails.

Sewanee is paradise, but for the angels who work there, paradise is a full-time job.

Signed,
Angel, who is currently on vacation in a tiny
Sewanee-like village by the sea

TWO GIRLS ONEMOVIE

by Sarah Beavers and Emily Blount

Star Trek Beyond (2016, PG-13, 2 hrs. 2 min.)

Dir. Justin Lin

Starring: Chris Pine, Zachary Quinto, Karl Urban, John Cho, Zoe Saldana, Simon Pegg, Anton Yelchin, Idris Elba and Sofia Boutella

Sarah: This kicked some major and serious butt. “Star Trek: Beyond” has become my favorite in the recent “Star Trek” reboots. “Star Trek” (2009) was full of annoying post-editing (lens flares, anyone?) and “Star Trek Into Darkness” (2013) butchered what could have been a beautiful retelling of the Enterprise crew versus arguably one of its more formidable opponents, Khan Noonien Singh (unfortunately played by ultra-white-guy Benedict Cumberbatch). Since being let down by “Star Trek Into Darkness” led by J.J. Abrams, I had mixed expectations going into the theater for “Star Trek Beyond.” However, I was blown out of my chair and launched directly into deep space to chill with the crew of the U.S.S. Enterprise. Be prepared to pack Depends because you will not want to leave the theater and miss a moment.

Emily: I guess I should start by saying that I’m extremely biased when it comes to all things “Star Trek.” I could watch a 2-hour movie of the Enterprise crew doing nothing more but interact with one another and I would be a happy camper. That being said, this film was a great comeback for the reboot franchise after the disappointment that was the 2013 “Star Trek Into Darkness.” (Petition to pretend this film doesn’t exist, anyone?) “Star Trek Beyond” delivered well developed rapport between the crew, reminiscent of the original TV series, making it a fitting 50th anniversary tribute of “going boldly where no one has gone before.”

Sarah: This movie was tight, beautiful, wonderfully written and acted (thank you Simon Pegg and Doug Jung). The introduction of the new character, Jaylah, who is a resourceful scavenger stranded since a child on a deserted planet at the edge of the known universe (Rey in “Star Wars: The Force Awakens” anyone?) was very organic and not forced. I am so pleased sci-fi movies such as “Star Wars: The Force Awakens” and “Star Trek Beyond” are introducing these lovable orphan ladies into their stories to inject some much needed life and freshness into the old and male-dominated franchises.

Emily: The editing was well done and the makeup and special effects were on par as usual. I agree with Sarah regarding Jaylah. I’m always over the moon when new female characters are introduced into franchises. However, I hate to point out that even in this newest reboot edition the cast of characters is still largely male. Saldana’s Uhura received some fantastic scenes, but honestly I’m waiting for her to get her own movie. One thing “Star Trek” has consistently excelled at since its inception in 1966 is diversity. The reboot holds true to this, but I’m of the opinion that there can always be more.

Sarah: “Star Trek Beyond” took a long hard look at where it came from, took that to heart, and made something beautiful out of its roots. I truly and honestly believe any “Star Trek” fan will look at this movie with the same wonder and love that made them fall in love with “Star Trek” in the first place. Even though the cast is largely male, they are making huge steps (by Hollywood standards) to be more inclusive. Lt. Cdr. Sulu is canonically gay with an adorable daughter.

Emily: Lt. Cdr. Sulu should also get his own movie.

Sarah: True to that. Also, the ladies (there could always be more) aren’t shrinking violets in the corner but are active, present and kicking butt, almost like they are real people, too. I grew up watching “Star Wars” and “Star Trek: The Next Generation,” and unfortunately the Padmé Amidalas, Beverly Crushers and Guinans were few and far between in the sci-fi genre. I grew up wanting to be a Jedi like Luke Skywalker or a Starfleet Captain like Jean-Luc Picard (sign me up for bootcamp on Dagobah with some Earl Grey, hot). I am happy to the point of crying that today’s young girls and boys can grow up wanting to become a new Jedi like Rey, rebel fighters like Poe Dameron and Finn or Starfleet officers such as Lt. Uhura and Lt. Cdr. Sulu.

Emily: Sci-fi has always been a dynamic genre and like Sarah, I grew up on “Star Wars” and “Star Trek.” I’m overjoyed these two franchises that defined my childhood are still being produced today (with even more diversity and female representation). No, this movie was not perfect, but the new injection of a tone more similar to that of the original series brought a level of nostalgia, which when mixed with the reboot’s own unique flair, makes me want to watch this film again and again.

Sarah: I will gladly pay full price to see this movie again in theaters, and buy it full price (maybe even with Blu-Ray) when it releases on DVD.

Emily: I have already planned my second theater visit.

Sarah: My life is not that together in order to plan that far ahead.

“Beach Music” by Jennie Kirkpatrick

In-Town Gallery Presents ‘Hot Stuff’ Art Show for August

The public is encouraged to check out the “Hot Stuff” featured for the month of August at In-Town Gallery. Meet the artists and enjoy their interpretations of sizzling “dog days” at an open house Friday, Aug. 5, at 26A Frazier Avenue, Chattanooga, 5–8 p.m.

A chef works amid the steam and heat in June Teuscher’s oil painting, “What’s Cooking.”

“My motivation to create oil paintings comes from various sources which may consist of a speck of light on a piece of colorful ground, a cloud or perhaps a group of mountains,” said Teuscher. “In this case a cloud of smoke envelops the subject whose concentration and dignity bring the viewer into the experience.”

“Heat Index” is an acrylic painting on black gesso canvas by Sandra Paynter-Washburn. Piled up and ready to use in your favorite spicy recipe are a bunch of hot chili peppers, Washburn’s equivalent of August in Chattanooga.

“Making art is an integral part of my life. It is a blessing, a way of accessing and expressing inner scapes that would otherwise go unexplored. Simple acts like squeezing paint onto my palette and mixing the colors take me to a place where I am challenged and appreciated, refined and encouraged. I like the puzzle that is art, the challenge of figuring out what works and what doesn’t and why,” said Washburn.

Roger Harvey has enjoyed careers as a potter, teacher, goldsmith and engineer. Presently he makes salt glazed pottery and wooden functional items. His pottery is wheel thrown and often reshaped before drying.

“I use various colored clays and glazes over the exteriors. Salt glazing is accomplished by throwing common salt into the kiln near the end of firing. The salt vaporizes and the vapors fill the kiln and react with the clay and glazes to produce interesting and durable textured surfaces,” said Harvey.

“Normally, I work very hard to eliminate all motion taking my photographs. This photograph, however, is the second in a series that include deliberate camera motion to create different effects in the image. The camera motion gives the impression of flames in the fall colors of cottonwoods along the Merced River,” said McAllister.

“Beach Music” by Jennie Kirkpatrick was inspired by a series of photos surreptitiously taken while on a beach vacation. Women on a “girl trip” often spend a hot day at the beach then shower and dress for an evening out dining. Maybe a late afternoon stroll on the beach is in order and the sea gulls gather hopeful for their own dining experience.

“This group reminded me of so many similar scenes of myself and friends that I just had to commemorate it in a painting,” said Kirkpatrick.

Author's Book Teaches Kids to Change for the Better

Author Gordon Bennett, from Elora, Tenn., takes his little readers to experience life on the ranch in his new children's book, "Life at the Ranch With Oscar the Rooster." This values-centered storybook hits the bookshelves nationwide this week.

In "Life at the Ranch With Oscar the Rooster," Oscar loves to fight, but how do you teach an old rooster not to fight? After all, banty roosters are known to be fighters. Can Oscar change his ways? Did he ever quit fighting?

Published by Tate Publishing and Enterprises, the book is available through bookstores nationwide, from the publisher at <www.tatepublishing.com/bookstore>, or by visiting <barnesandnoble.com> or <amazon.com>.

Bennett loves to write about animals. He has a lifelong love for animals since his father introduced him to many farm animals and taught him how to feed, care for, protect and appreciate them. Then, the author began telling stories about his favorite animals that all ages love to hear. Next, he started writing about his favorite dog, pig, horse, cow and even his best rabbit. As an educator, Bennett likes to tell stories that help his students to understand animals and themselves better. Whether he is writing or teaching in a classroom, at church or outside sitting on a log, he shows his love for animals and for people.

THE VILLAGE IDIOT

by Peter Trenchi

Paradiation

For the first time, I volunteered to help with the Fourth of July in Sewanee. Not big volunteered, but enough to get invited to the planning meetings. Other than one active political matriarch, whom we all know and love, I had never met any of these other community activists. I have, for over a decade, enjoyed the flawless offering of the Sewanee variety show that is July 4. These focused and dedicated volunteers are our deep community.

One cannot doubt that they are the organized helper personality type, whatever that is currently called. Nothing escapes the person in charge as she effectively moves down her checklist of budgets and volunteers, offering support and encouragement where needed. This is bigger than I realized; dogs, cats, cakes, games, parades, and fireworks all reduced to one page on a clipboard. Like a premium firework, that page explodes into a day of memorable joy for all.

I am proud to know this deep community; to have joined together; blocked traffic; occupied the street and reminded all about the joy of freedom.

It's A Privilege To Know Ya

Is it not white privilege to Be upset at protest traffic? To Worry about missed airport connections? To Worry about being late for work? To See the protesters as lawbreakers? To Forget Watts, Detroit, D.C. half a lifetime ago
Martin Luther King Jr. shot less than 40 years old.
Is his legacy being shot as a young black man?
While two generations later, young black men are still being shot?
Rodney King, beaten by police at 26 years old,
We forget those LA riots, too
And one generation later, young black men are still being beaten and shot!
Hey, "Channel your outrage!"
"Don't disrupt my life!" Where Sympathy is conditioned, where
Outrage conditional,
On my comfort.
Allow me to comfort you;
You, whose every street is death row.
A fact, I'll not personally know.
You step onto the street. You are not wanted.
Lawbreaker.
You toss the contents of your rock hard guts.
Lawbreaker. You dare
To drive broken cars.
Deathtraps. You dare
To venture out,
Deathtraps. You dare
To live on your death row after row after row!
Death row, where all you freely own is your death.
The prison guard told me, that on their final mile,
"All they want to do is step off the concrete to touch the grass, Feel the Green," God's green earth.
So, yeah, throw away those concrete chains,
Sure, you rage at fellow humans,
More than just an issue of what they're wearing,
(because this is not a rape question)
They in their riot gear
And you in your summer dress.

Walker Evans, "Truck and Sign," 1930. Gelatin silver print. Yale University Art Gallery, Everett V. Meeks, B.A. 1901, Fund, 2009.163.1

High Museum of Art to Exhibit Walker Evans: Depth of Field

Walker Evans (American, 1903–1975) is widely considered among the most influential artists of the 20th century. His pioneering “lyric” documentary style was elegant, subtle and direct, fusing a powerful personal perspective with an objective record of time and place. For more than 50 years, Evans focused his lens on the American scene, building a catalogue of our nation’s social landscape and collective identity through a portrayal of small towns, working-class families, modern urban life and printed advertisements.

Evans is best remembered for his work documenting the American South, where he made among his most indelible images during the Great Depression (including the photographs in “Let Us Now Praise Famous Men” with writer James Agee). His early work from the 1920s on the streets of New York was inspired by European avant-garde aesthetics and a deep interest in literary conventions. Before chronicling the Depression in America, Evans trained his eye on the working class of pre-revolutionary Cuba. In the decades following his seminal Southern work, he demonstrated interest in covert candid photography, meditated on the aesthetic possibilities of signs and experimented with color Polaroid film.

Evans’ diverse contributions anticipated and resonated with the mid-century Pop Art movement, insisting that art could be an act of taking, collecting, isolating and assembling everyday artifacts in new contexts. The exhibit runs until Sept. 11 at the High Museum in Atlanta, 1280 Peachtree St. NE. Go to <www.high.org> for more information.

State Museum to Exhibit 238 Works by Artist Red Grooms

The Tennessee State Museum has entered into a promised gift agreement with Walter and Sarah Knestrick of Nashville to receive a donation of 238 graphic artworks created by internationally acclaimed artist Red Grooms. The museum will also receive 52 commercially printed posters as part of the gift.

Grooms, born and raised in Nashville, currently resides in New York City and maintains a home near Beersheba Springs, Tenn. His work has been exhibited in museums and galleries across the United States, as well as in Europe and Japan. Grooms’ art is included in the collections of more than 39 museums, including the State Museum.

Knestrick, the retired founder of Walter Knestrick Contractor, Inc. and a longtime friend of the State Museum, was a boyhood classmate of Grooms. He began collecting Grooms’ prints in the 1970s and has helped organize traveling exhibitions of the works since the 1980s.

In 2001, Knestrick’s collection comprised a State Museum traveling exhibition in conjunction with the publication of a catalog raisonné of Grooms’ graphic work entitled “Red Grooms: The Graphic Work,” which Knestrick authored. The show opened at the National Academy Museum in New York and then traveled to the Chicago Cultural Center, and was presented at 10 other American museums.

Grooms is an American multimedia artist best known for his colorful pop-art constructions depicting frenetic scenes of modern urban life. Many contemporary art historians consider Grooms to be one of Tennessee’s most accomplished artists. Besides painting and sculpture, Grooms is also known for his prolific printmaking. He has experimented with numerous techniques, creating woodblock prints, spray-painted stencils, soft-ground etchings, and elaborate three-dimensional lithograph constructions.

Walter and Sarah Knestrick with lithographic print “Elvis” by Red Grooms.

Grooms, born in Nashville in 1937 and raised in Tennessee, began his artistic exploration while attending public schools. In 1955, while they were both Hillsboro High School seniors, Grooms and Knestrick’s work was featured in a two-man show of 35 paintings at Nashville’s Lyzon Gallery.

In 1958 Grooms moved to New York City to immerse himself in its art scene while working at such odd jobs as a movie house usher. The vibrant color of his hair earned him the name “Red,” and his art “Happenings,” unstructured live performances, began to earn him a measure of notoriety in the art world.

With regard to the Knestricks’ gift, Grooms said: “I so appreciate my dear old friend Walter Knestrick taking it upon himself to collect each and every one of my graphic works over the years, which makes the Knestrick Collection gift to my home state museum both unique and particularly special.”

Noted New York art appraiser Dr. Alex J. Rosenberg said, “One usually begins to collect an artist’s work after he or she has established their reputation, making it very difficult to succeed in collecting the artist’s entire oeuvre. However, the Knestricks are the rare exceptions who began to collect Red Grooms’ printed art when it was readily available and affordable and have continued to do so. Without their foresight, I doubt that this unique, valuable and complete collection of Grooms’ printed work would exist. I extend my admiration and congratulations to the Knestricks for their magnificent and irreplaceable promised gift to the people of Tennessee.”

There are plans for Grooms’ graphic work to be on exhibit in one of the art galleries in the new State Museum, scheduled to open in 2018.

HEARING HEALTH NEWS
by Debbie Gamache,
M.S. CCC-A Audiologist
GREAT EXPECTATIONS

Expect others to notice your hearing loss before you do! A common complaint for persons with hearing loss is that other people mumble and if they would just speak up it would be easier to hear them. This is placing the “blame” on others rather than accepting the reality that your hearing is not as good as it used to be. It is likely that family, friends and co-workers will realize this difficulty before you do.

Expect your Audiologist to be knowledgeable, courteous and accommodating. When going through this process it is very important that you are comfortable with the Audiologist that you have chosen to provide services for you. You should be allowed time to ask questions and discuss important issues related to your hearing loss and hearing aids.

If you have questions about hearing loss or hearing aids please feel free to contact us at Debbie Gamache’s The Hearing Center LLC. We are located at 705 NW Atlantic St. Suite B, Tullahoma. You can call us at 931-393-2051. You can also visit our website at <www.thehearingcenterllc.com>. We look forward to hearing from you.

Mountain Lion Club Work Day, Aug. 6

The community is invited to join St. Andrew's-Sewanee School athletes, parents and fans for the annual Mountain Lion Club Workday, Saturday, Aug. 6 from 9 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. The annual volunteer effort is an opportunity for fellowship as the volunteers work to prepare the school's athletic facilities for the new year. The event will end with a barbecue lunch at the SAS home of Assistant Director of Athletics Margot Burns.

The school's athletics volunteer club is chaired this year by Melissa Burnette and Brent Hobby. They are aided by dozens of parent and student volunteers who take gate at home games and sell concessions. Last year's efforts raised $19,600 which helped to pay for trail maintenance, coaching gear, football helmets, improvements to the athletic facilities and a pep bus for important away games.

The SAS Mountain Lion Club mission is to inspire interest in SAS athletics and encourage parents, students, alumni and community members to be involved in our athletic programs as fans and volunteers; to encourage community building through athletic events and volunteer opportunities; to serve the SAS community, our fans and our guests by providing concessions at all home events; and to provide supplemental financial support to SAS athletics through season passes, concessions, gate collection and special functions.

NATURENOTES

By Harry and Jean Yeatman

Snowy Egrets

From the July 19, 2013 issue, in honor of Jean Yeatman's birthday.

Jean Yeatman reports that on July 13, she and Harry picked up Zell and Alex Hoole to drive them down to the Crow Creek impoundment surrounding the Stevenson Park to see the American Lotus in bloom. When they arrived they discovered that the water was so high it was covering the plant. Unless the waters go down, this will be a very bad winter for the ducks that fly in to eat the seeds of the lotus. The group then drove over to the North Alabama birding trail, but it was mostly blocked off due to the high water.

The day wasn't a complete washout because after eating lunch, as they started home on Highway 117 about four miles from Stevenson, they spied a number of birds feeding in two fields beside the road. In one field there was a Great Egret with four adult Little Blue Herons. The Great Egret is a large, stately, slender white heron with a yellow bill and black legs and feet. The Little Blue Heron is slender, medium-sized, with a slate-blue body, a deep maroon-brown neck and dark legs.

In the other field was one Snowy Egret and an immature Little Blue Heron. The Snowy Egret is distinguished by its "golden slippers." These bright yellow feet are the most striking thing about this rather small white heron with a slender dark bill and black legs. The immature Little Blue Heron is white with a bluish bill and dull greenish legs.

To top it off, a Pileated Woodpecker flew across the fields.

Jean also mentioned that there are hundreds of Chanterelle mushrooms in the woods now, so if you are a knowledgeable picker, go gather a basket full.

Ciara

Oliver

Pets of the Week

Meet Ciara and Oliver

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Ciara is a lovely Border Collie-mix girl who loves to play with children and hang out inside or outside. She is around 3-years old and her personality is as sweet as her coat is fluffy. Ciara is heartworm-negative, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and spayed.

Oliver is a sweet little 10-week-old short-haired Tabby and white kitten. He is frisky and loves to play with his sister and their "adopted" kitty brother. Oliver is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and neutered.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor! On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets over 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is now in their new shelter at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out their other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Please help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

Fiery Gizzard Reroute

Work will continue on the second reroute of The Fiery Gizzard Trail.

A portion of the trail must be rerouted roughly 1.5 miles before Dec. 1. If the project is not completed by Dec. 1, a portion of the trail will have to be closed, making a full hike through impossible.

South Cumberland State Park officials Jason Reynolds and Park Greer are leading work days this summer to reroute the trail. The help of the community is requested for these workdays every Saturday morning beginning at 9 a.m. The work is estimated to take three to four hours.

Meet rangers Jason and Park at 131 Fiery Gizzard Road in Tracy City to be carpooled to the work site. Work gloves, plenty of water and snacks or lunch are recommended.

For more information, contact Jason Reynolds at <Jason.Reynolds@tn.gov>.

PEDESTRIANS and BIKERS –
EXERCISE CAUTION!

When you are out getting your exercise, following a few simple rules will keep you on the go.
 When biking on Sewanee sidewalks, cyclists should slow down when passing pedestrians since some may not hear a warning bike bell and know to step to the right. Walkers should walk on the left-hand side of the road, traveling against the traffic; bicyclers should travel in the right-hand lane, going with the flow of traffic.
 During the day, both walkers and bikers should wear clothing of bright, easily seen colors, and,
 from dusk on, wear light, reflective clothing. In any case, don't just assume drivers can see you.
 Be on the lookout ... for your own safety.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

I am fevered with the sunset
I am fretful with the bay,
For the wander-thirst is on me
And my soul is in Cathay . . .

There's a schooner in the offing,
With her topsails shot with fire,
And my heart has gone aboard her
For the Islands of Desire.

I must forth again tomorrow!
With the sunset I must be
Hull down on the trail of rapture
In the wonder of the Sea.
