Flag Raising Kicks Off Sewanee's Independence Day Festivities

Birdsong and four-legged friends greeted those who gathered on July 3 for the 37th annual raising of the flag in Abbo's Alley for Independence Day weekend. Bedecked in holiday colors, this year's crowd overflowed to the paths and steps surrounding the Charles Juhan Bridge.

Accompanied by five musicians from the Sewanee Summer Music Festival (SSMF), the event began with the singing of traditional American anthems. Doug Cameron was the emcee.

The Rev. Joe Ballard offered a prayer for the country. Boy Scout Troop 14 then raised the colors, and the Pledge of Allegiance and "The Star-Spangled Banner" echoed in the alley.

Those assembled then adjourned to a driveway adjoining neighboring homes for coffee, juice, baked goods and fellowship before departing for the day's activities.

SSMF's July 4th Brass Quintet was comprised of Logan Anderson, Nick Ramsey, Nicholas Davidson, Daniel Riggsbee and Eric Pashia, led by Eric Bubacz.

Troop 14 participating scouts included Mack Lindlau, Wyatt Lindlau, Jim Kershner, Fields Ford, Matthew Baranco, Ethan Evans, Will Evans, Ethan Burns and Seth Burns, with able assistance from leaders Speed Baranco and Ron Ramsey.

Additional kudos go to Margaret Beaumont Zucker (chair) and her husband, Elliott, along with Pete and Karen Smith and James and Suzanne Pond, hosts; and the Friends of Abbo's Alley, event sponsors.

Henry Awards.

Beth Henley received the Pulitzer Prize and a New York Drama Critics' Circle Award in 1981 for her play "Crimes of the Heart," as well as Tony and Academy Award nominations. Other works include "The Miss Firecracker Contest," "The Wake of Jamey Foster," "Impossible Marriage" and "Ridiculous Fraud."

Sewanee Summer Music Festival Welcomes Violinist O'Connor

The 2010 Sewanee Summer Music Festival has rounded the bend; however, the most exciting events are yet to come! Concerts continue on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 8-11, as well as Wednesday, July 14.

On Thursday, July 8, the Philharmonia Orchestra will perform at the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly at 7:30 p.m.

The festival is proud to welcome the great American violinist and composer, Mark O'Connor, who will give a special benefit performance on Friday, July 9, at 7:30 p.m. in Guerry Hall. O'Connor is praised for having melded many different genres (including French jazz and American folk music) to create a "new American classical music." During his three-day residency in Sewanee, O'Connor will share his sought-after wisdom with individuals and ensembles in an interactive workshop for SSMF students.

On Saturday, July 10, at 7:30 p.m. in Guerry Hall, the SSMF faculty will prolong last week's Independence Day festivities with a "Celebrate America!" concert, kicking off with percussionist Kris Keeton playing a jubilant medley of Tin Pan Alley songs on xylophone. Next, the week's special guest, Mark O'Connor, will be honored with the playing of his own String Quartet No. 3, featuring Eli Matthews, Katie Lehman, Hillary Herndon and Paul York. The SSMF brass faculty quintet will close the concert with selections from Gershwin's Porgy and Bess, followed by four short pieces by Paquito de Rivera.

The second-to-last performance of the two symphony orchestras will begin on Sunday, July 11, at 2:30 p.m. in Guerry Hall. Under Bruce Dinkin's direction, the Philharmonia will play the overture to Jacques Offenbach's

Sewanee Church Music Conference Celebrates 60 Years

Celebrating its 60th anniversary this year, the Sewanee Church Music Conference begins on Monday, July 12, and will end with a Festival Eucharist in All Saints' Chapel on Sunday, July 18. The conference is based in the DuBose Conference Center in Monteagle, where the 153 church musicians from all parts of the U.S. will gather for lectures, rehearsals, classes, fellowship and performances.

The faculty for the conference includes Malcolm Archer, former organist and Master of the Choristers at St. Paul's Cathedral in London and currently director of chapel music at Winchester College in England; Peter Richard Conte, choirmaster and organist at St. Clement's Episcopal Church and the Grand Court Organist of the Wannamaker Organ in Philadelphia; and the Rt. Rev. Joe Burnett, bishop of the Diocese of Nebraska, who will serve as conference chaplain.

Three events during the week will take place in All Saints' Chapel and are open to the public. On Tuesday, July 13, at 7:30 p.m., Conte will present an organ recital on the magnificent 70-rank Casavant organ. The program will include Conte's transcriptions of orchestral works by Arthur Sullivan and Edward Elgar and will conclude with his accompaniment to the silent Charlie Chaplain film "The Kid." In addition to Conte's organ recital, two services will feature music provided by the conference musicians: Choral Evensong on Friday, July 16, at 4 p.m., and the Festival Eucharist on Sunday, July 18, at 11 a.m. in All Saints' Chapel. University Organist and Professor of Music Robert Delcamp is director of this year's conference.

University Leave Taking and Beginning Ceremony

The University community gathered Thursday morning, July 1, in All Saints' Chapel to mark the "Leave Taking and Beginning" of Sewanee's 15th and 16th vice chancellors. More than 500 people congregated in the chapel, with many members of the Sewanee community joining University faculty and staff members, students who are on the Mountain this summer, Chancellor Neil Alexander, and members of the vice chancellor search committee, to hear comments from Joel Cunningham and John M. McCardell Jr.

After 10 years of service as the University's 15th vice chancellor, Cunningham was vested in his "teaching gown," ready to assume his role as a member of the College faculty. McCardell thanked Joel and Trudy Cunningham for their leadership and for the "steady hands, loving hearts, deep commitment and true faith" they have brought to this community.

McCardell, officially beginning his work as Sewanee's 16th vice chancellor, offered remarks on the University's past, its current opportunities and its future. He asked the audience to consider two key questions: What does it mean, in the year 2010, to be the University of the South? And, what South are we the University of?

McCardell and his wife, Bonnie, hosted a reception in Chen Hall at the conclusion of the brief service. Planning is underway for McCardell's formal installation as vice chancellor during the University's Founders' Day Convocation on Tuesday, Oct. 12.

Serving Where Called

Six years ago this column began to support the large number of reservists and National Guard members called up for active duty to serve in the war in Iraq. About 120,000 troops remain in Iraq to support and train their military and assist with counterterrorism.

On Dec. 1, President Barack Obama announced he is sending 30,000 additional troops to Afghanistan to focus on reversing the Taliban's momentum. They will join the 68,000 troops currently deployed in this volatile area.

VFW PARTICIPATES IN FOURTH OF JULY EVENTS To the Editor:

Among the many activities during the Fourth of July weekend, the Veterans of Foreign Wars were invited to participate in several events.

On Saturday, June 26, we were honored to be invited to be part of the very popular and successful parade in Pelham. On Friday, July 2, we were asked to do a Flag Presentation Ceremony at the Monteagle Harton Park. And on Saturday, July 3, the Honor Guard was again invited to enter a float in the Monteagle Parade and the Sewanee Parade.

It was so gratifying to see the large turnouts to all these events. We are all still patriots!

A "Star-Spangled 4th" Thank You!

Stephen Burnett, president of the Sewanee Leaseholders Association, and Louise Irwin, chair of the Fourth of July Committee, wrote the following article to thank everyone involved in Sewanee's Independence Day celebration.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the Sewanee community experienced one of the best celebratory Fourth of July holidays ever, owing to, in part, perfect weather, but mostly to the scores of volunteers who pulled the event together. Working in committee form since early 2010, the committee members worked tirelessly to ensure the day was fun, event-filled and safe for all.

First and foremost, we would like to acknowledge and thank the Sewanee Civic Association, the University of the South and the Community Chest for their overall sponsorship and financial support. University police, firefighters, EMS personnel, and physical plant services staff, in particular, worked continuously behind the scenes, providing the much-needed support and infrastructure to keep the various venues safe, clean and functioning.

Moving on to the Fourth of July Committee members, thanks to (in the chronological order of the event): Shellie Green, who managed the Friday night street dance featuring Ginger and Live Wire; Margaret Beaumont Zucker and the Friends of Abbo's Alley, who directed the annual flag raising and brunch; Bonnie Green, who ably handled the Arts and Crafts show and was able to squeeze in a record number (59—up from 44 the previous year) of vendors; Peggy Pate and her husband, Marvin, who ran the Cats Meow show so well; Jim Pierce and a huge supporting cast of ringmasters, set-up personnel, registrants and judges who masterfully handled the always popular Mutt Show; Theresa Shackelford, who managed the popular Dunking Booth so well; the "dunkies" (Father Joe, Father Thomas, Billy Stephens, William Shackelford, Savannah Green and the TigerSharks); and Sarah Gore, who directed the Children's Games in front of the American Legion.

We cannot omit mentioning other key volunteers: Camille McClure, Pixie Dozier and Clara Stephens, who managed the Cake Decorating Contest and Auction and the All-American food vendors (respectively) to keep us well-fed all day.

Moving on to the grand event, the ever-popular parade, special mention must be made of our talented and tireless parade master Tracie Sherrill, who managed the unit registration, lineups and awards for the 40 plus units in the parade. The marshals, Howard Franklin, Chet Seigmund and Roy and Ann Millar, assisted in keeping order and safety on the route. Recognition must be accorded as well to University Vice Chancellor John McCardell and his wife, Bonnie, who served as Grand Marshals for 2010. The McCardells received an especially warm Sewanee welcome as they moved up University Avenue in fine style.

After the parade, many folks headed to the airport for the Air Show and rides ably conducted by Catherine Cavagnaro and Rebecca Gibson.

As dusk settled on Sunday, July 4, participants moved out toward Lake Cheston, where they were entertained by Bran Potter/Charlie Smith and the Culprits. Fireworks, arranged and executed by Sewanee Fire Chief David Green and the firefighters, were spectacular this year. Thanks also to Boy Scoutmaster Speed Baranco and his Troop 14 scouts, who assisted in collecting monies to help fund next year's fireworks.

Final recognition is due to other supporting cast members: good folks such as Ann Oliver (tents); the Keeles (and drivers), who scheduled and routed the shuttles; Ed Camp, who secured and spotted the Portapotties; Sue Hawkins, who managed our monies so well; Larry Prince and John Green, who performed many thankless tasks; John Bordley, for his Carillon recital; and, finally, the management and students in the Sewanee Summer Music Festival, who graced us with their music in several venues, including the parade.

Whew!! Thanks to all. Apologies for any omissions of all the other volunteers. See you in 2011 on Monday, July 4, for another special Sewanee Independence Day celebration.

— AND READY TO RIDE —

— Jerry Forster

Jerry Forster (center) knows that life can change in an instant. In April 2008, he was riding his brother-in-law's motorcycle in West Virginia. "It was bigger than what I'm use to handling," explains Jerry, who is the Chief Financial Officer for the University of the South. "I got into a curve, lost control in the wind and crashed."

Jerry broke his femur and his shoulder in two places. After emergency surgery in West Virginia, Jerry started a week of inpatient therapy at Southern Tennessee Medical Center, where Anna Shasteen (left), supervised his care. Then, working with Becky Campbell (right), he completed a program of outpatient therapy at Emerald Hodgson.

"My goal was to get back on my feet for my daughter's wedding on June 28, just two months away," says Jerry. "With Becky and Anna's help, I was able to walk my daughter down the aisle without crutches. I was really impressed by the staff's professionalism. They went the extra mile to take care of me."

Speaking of miles, this past September, Jerry ran in a 15-mile mountain race in Charleston, West Virginia. "My leg feels good," says Jerry. "I'm planning to run the Music City Half Marathon in April."

Cats Meow Show 2010

Cats Meow Show Is A Winner

We humans have a tendency to think of creatures that cannot produce speech as we know it as having no will of their own. Of course, any person who "owns" a cat can tell you differently. It appeared on Saturday morning that the feline population had agreed among themselves not to enter the Cats Meow Show, for in contrast to last year, which saw more than 20 cats, this year there were only eight feline entrants.

Nevertheless, they were a satisfyingly diverse group: Himalayan kittens (Macy and Gracie, Jane Yates); classic gray tabby (Molly, April and Eden Sells); black with white markings (Panda, Leah Talley, and Alice, Margaret Wilson); white (Nellie, William Gilchrist); white with gray markings (Marbles, Vladimir Watkins) and ginger tabby (Leo, Phoebe Mills).

Judges Joan Hurst and Harold "Butch" Arnwine were hard-put to assign first through third places for the seven categories, but they did so admirably. Every cat took home more than one ribbon.

Winners of the 2010 Cat Show were: Largest cat—first, Leo; second, Nellie; third, Marbles. Smallest cat—first, Macy; second, Gracie; third, Panda. Fluffiest tail—first, Alice; second, Leo; third, Panda. Most unusual markings—first, Nellie; second, Panda; third, Molly. Longest hair—first, Marbles; second, Leo; third, Panda. Best cat/owner look-alike—first, Molly; second, Nellie; third, Panda. Best decorated carrier—first, Alice; second, Molly; third, Panda.

Emcee Virginia Craighill once again educated and amused the participants with cat facts, trivia, and some stories which chillingly reflected the change in attitudes about cats through history.

Peggy Pate, organizing coordinator, thanked all who helped with any aspect of the show, particularly her husband, Marvin Pate, Virginia and Katie Craighill, Caroline Polansky, Marty Hawkins of PPS, and the media services folk who provided the PA system.

It might be said, as is sometimes said of wine (and though the cats might not agree), "It was a very good year."

Sewanee School of Letters Concludes with Hudgins, Pickering Readings

Andrew Hudgins

The series of lectures and readings sponsored by the Sewanee School of Letters will conclude on Tuesday, July 13, when poet Andrew Hudgins and essayist Sam Pickering will read from their works. The readings are scheduled for 5 p.m. in Gailor Auditorium and are free and open to all. A reception will follow.

Hudgins has published seven books of poetry, including "Saints and Strangers" (a finalist for the Pulitzer Prize), "After the Lost War" (winner of the Poets' Prize), and "The Never-Ending" (finalist for the National Book Award, 1998). His most recent works are "Shut Up, You're Fine:

Sam Pickering

Poems for Very, Very Bad Children," and "American Renderings: New and Selected Poems." Educated at Huntingdon College, the University of Alabama and the University of Iowa, Hudgins is now Humanities Distinguished Professor of English at the Ohio State University.

A graduate of Sewanee, Sam Pickering did graduate work at Cambridge and Princeton before embarking on a remarkable academic and literary career. Among his books are several works of literary history, travel memoirs and (at last count) 15 volumes of the familiar essays for which he is best known. Among these are "A Continuing Education," "The Right Distance," "Still Life," "Deprived of Unhappiness" and "Indian Summer." He is equally well-known as a teacher who has inspired students at the Montgomery Bell Academy in Nashville, at Dartmouth College and for 30 years at the University of Connecticut. He is widely recognized as the teacher who inspired the 1989 film "Dead Poets' Society."

Shenanigans Gallery July Artists

Sewanee resident Bob Askew will be the featured artist for July at Shenanigans Gallery. Askew, the husband of Susan Steele Askew, director of the University's Associated Alumni, has produced an impressive body of work portraying local points of interest. This past spring, he was the featured artist at the Trails and Trilliums spring celebration sponsored by St. Andrew's-Sewanee School.

Askew is a self-taught artist who has been painting full-time for three years. He works mostly in oils and watercolor. "I get many requests for University subjects," he says, "and I really enjoy the challenge of painting the architecture and these sweeping views." He believes that by returning to similar subjects over a period of time he has improved his craft. "It is great practice. I never tire of these paintings."

Artists with work in the gallery include: Bob Askew, watercolor and oil paintings; Larry Carden, weaving; Jill Carpenter, patchwork and quilting; Tom and Susan Church, wood-working; David B. Coe, photography; Ginger Freeman, mixed media; Diane Getty, fibers; Robley Hood, handmade books; Barbara Hughes, ceramic sculpture and painting; Diane Jones, calligraphy; Sanford McGee, copper and mixed media; Dan Pate, painting and sculpture; Claire Reishman, pottery; Peggy Solomon, fiber art; Jeanie Stephenson, bronze; Christi Teasley, mixed media; Merissa Toler, pottery; Mae Wallace, pottery; and Laurel York, printmaking and basketry.

Shenanigans Gallery is located in the back of Shenanigans Restaurant at 12595 Sollace M. Freeman Hwy., Sewanee.

Cardwell Reception July 9

Sewanee resident Sherry Cardwell will be displaying her photography at The Artisan Depot, the gallery of the Franklin County Arts Guild, through August 31. A reception for the artist will be held on Friday, July 9, from 5 to 7 p.m.

Caldwell, a native of Franklin County and a 1976 graduate of Franklin County High School, has been a photography buff since she was a teenager. In 2000, one of her photographs was published in the International Library of Photography.

The Artisan Depot is located at 201 Cumberland St., East, in Cowan. For information call (931) 636-0169.

"The Wizard of Oz" Audition Call

The Arts Center of Cannon County announces auditions for "The Wizard of Oz" on Sunday, July 25, 2 p.m.; Monday, July 26, 6 p.m.; and Sunday, Aug. 1, 4:30 p.m. Children ages 6 and older, teens and adults of all ages who love to sing and dance are needed.

All those auditioning should be prepared to sing 32 bars of a song in the style of the show. For songs not in the show, actors must provide sheet music for the accompanist. Young children may sing nursery rhymes. Come dressed to dance and audition with cold readings from the script.

The musical is based on the classic MGM movie of 1939, starring Judy Garland and based on the story by L. Frank Baum, with music and lyrics by Harold Arlen and E. Y. Harburg. Production dates are Nov. 5-20 with rehearsals beginning late in August.

For more information call (615) 563-2787 or see <www.artscenterofcc.com>. The Arts Center of Cannon County is located at 1424 John Bragg Hwy., west of Woodbury and 20 minutes from Manchester.

TINTINNABULATION

by John Bordley

This Sunday, July 11, will be the fourth Sunday of the Sewanee Summer Music Festival (orchestra concerts at 2:30 and 3:30 p.m.) and the fourth Sunday of the Sewanee Summer Carillon Series (concert at 4:45 p.m.). I will be the carillonneur, and I will again offer tours Shapard Tower following the performance.

Just before classes started at the College last August, I had an e-mail message from one of our international students, a young man from Nepal. He asked if I might play some Nepalese music on the carillon, and he then sent me recordings of several pieces he had in mind. I sent an e-mail to the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America (GCNA) members, asking if anyone might be interested in making arrangements of some of these pieces. Frances Newell of Florida responded and chose one of the pieces. When no one else expressed any interest in trying to deal with the various rhythms, the strummed zither sounds and the semitones arising from someone sliding fingers up and down the frets of a stringed instrument, Frances opted to make arrangements of two more of the selections. Frances had the music finished by about November, but I didn't get to practice them until this summer. So, you will get to hear them as part of my program this Sunday, but the graduating student who came up with the idea in the first place never got to hear the pieces. (I will make recordings for him and for Frances Newell, as she has not heard them played on the carillon either!)

My program will also feature several baroque selections—arrangements of pieces by Bach and Handel, and as mentioned two weeks ago, arrangements by John Courter of some of Grieg's Lyric Pieces.

Technology! The new camera/monitor system worked fine on Saturday, but on both of the last two Sundays, the image froze about 20 minutes into the concert, in fact at almost the same time each Sunday. Poltergeists? We hope to have the problem solved soon, as people do enjoy being able to watch the carillonneur perform in the cabin as they listen on the ground.

SAS Awarded Tennessee Arts Commission Grant

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School was among the recent grant award recipients from the Tennessee Arts Commission for the Fiscal Year 2011 (July 1, 2010-June 30, 2011) in the 39th district. State Representative George Fraley of Winchester announced that the school will be awarded $4,000, which will go toward supporting the rural arts projects.

Fraley said, "The Tennessee Arts Commission's matching grants are made possible through an appropriation of state funds by the General Assembly, federal dollars from the National Endowment for the Arts, and by Tennesseans who purchase collegiate/university, personalized and specialty motor vehicle license plates."

The Tennessee Arts Commission will award over 850 grants during Fiscal Year 2011, totaling more than $7.3 million dollars. These funds have a direct impact on communities across Tennessee, in both urban and rural areas. Grant categories include: Arts Build Communities, Arts Access, Arts Education, Arts Project Support, Funds For At-Risk Youth, General Operating Support, Individual Artist Fellowship, Major Cultural Institution and Rural Arts Project Support.

Sewanee Bridge Students Prep for College Math and Science

The high school students in the 2010 Sewanee Bridge Program in Math and Science have come to Sewanee from throughout the United States with origins in Bulgaria, Vietnam, Mexico and the Congo. In addition to being high-achieving scholars, the Bridge participants are also outstanding athletes, budding researchers and dedicated volunteers in their communities.

In addition to hiking, canoeing and bouldering, the students have gathered data for the Smithsonian-Harvard Minor Planet Center under the direction of Doug Durig, University astronomy professor. They studied fractals and chaos theory taught by Ben Szapiro, physics professor, and learned how to solve murder mysteries with differential equations in mathematics professor Emily Puckette's calculus class. Under the tutelage of student choreographer Bexter Richardson (C'11), the Bridge students also demonstrated their dancing skills in the Fourth of July parade this past weekend.

The Sewanee community is welcome to attend the students' presentations in math and physics at the closing of the Bridge Program in Gailor Auditorium this Saturday, July 10, at 10 a.m.

Local Teen Becomes Inconvenient Youth

Marisa Wilson, a 9th-grader at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, recently attended the Climate Project's three-day training session in Nashville. Wilson learned to deliver an updated version of the slide show featured in the Academy Award-winning documentary "An Inconvenient Truth." The teen initiative is called Inconvenient Youth. Wilson is now available to give presentations to schools and civic organizations and can be reached at <mwilson@sasweb.org> or 598-5628.

"It was great to meet people from around the world who are interested in environmental issues," said Wilson. "The experience made me both more knowledgeable and more concerned about the problems that we face. I look forward to helping our community keep track of legislation that affects the climate. This is a worldwide problem that is going to require national and global solutions that can only come about through changes in technologies and policies."

The Climate Project (TCP) supports more than 3,000 volunteers worldwide who have been personally trained by former U.S. Vice President and Nobel Laureate Al Gore to educate the public and to raise awareness about climate change. The Nashville workshop attracted more than 600 participants from around the world, including 30 youth trainees.

As a program of the Alliance for Climate Protection, TCP's mission is to educate the public about the harmful effects of climate change and to work toward solutions at a grassroots level worldwide. TCP presenters have delivered 70,000 presentations and have reached a combined global audience of 7.3 million people. Presentations are customized and frequently revised to include the latest climate science and can be requested free of charge by any size group or organization.

For information about TCP visit <www.theclimateproject.org>.

After the luncheon-picnic, diners will join the guest conductor on Guerry stage for a Conductor's Conversation. Informative and lively commentary will give patrons that little something extra to listen for from their reserved seats at the Sewanee Symphony Concert to follow at 2:30 p.m.

Petition Circulating for Bike Lane on Jump-Off Road

Most area residents know that Jump-Off Road is a long route with no shoulders. Traffic moves fast. Bicyclists on the road are in danger and in some spots can actually cause danger.

Highway 156 is a state-designated "Bike Route". A request has been submitted to the Tennessee Department of Transportation (TDOT) to create a bike lane along Jump-Off Road (Highway 156) that would travel from the Mountain Goat Trail at the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School intersection to the Franklin/Marion State Forest.

TDOT says there is a lot of competition for funds for these projects. The task is to prove great public support for adding a wide shoulder to the road to make it safe for bikes and pedestrians to use the road. A petition has been created and is circulating to show the area residents' support for the creation of a bike lane or a wide shoulder on Highway 156.

Jump-Off coordinators are urging residents to consider signing the petition to show support for making Jump-Off Road safe for bicyclists. Copies of the petition are available at Julia's on University Ave., Woody's Bike Shop, the Sewanee Community Center and Sewanee Family Medical Practice.

Identifying Poisonous Snakes

Harry and Jean Yeatman have gotten a number of calls recently on snakes and how to identify the poisonous snakes. In response to your queries, we are running their informative column of June 29, 1995, on this subject.

The Yeatmans are frequently called upon to identify killed or captured snakes. The first question is usually, "Is it poisonous or nonpoisonous?" If the snake has been killed, its head is usually mashed flat, so looking for fangs is useless.

On the early night of July 3, Jean saved Joy Dog from being bitten by a 25-inch female Copperhead. She was only nicked. Copperheads are searching for cicadas and katydids, their favorite foods, which are quite numerous now.

All our land-dwelling snakes (as opposed to marine or sea snakes) have a single row of scales ventrally in front of the vent. This single row continues back of the vent in Copperheads, Cottonmouths and Rattlesnakes.

Top drawing: head and tail of poisonous snake. Lower drawing: head and tail of nonpoisonous snake.

In nonpoisonous snakes, the single row of scales changes to a double row of scales back of the vent. Don't try lifting up the tail of a live snake; even nonpoisonous snakes such as common water snakes and Black Racers bite viciously when caught. If the snake is alive, look at the head.

In this area of Tennessee, there is a heat-sensitive pit between the eye and nostril of poisonous snakes, and its eye pupil is vertical. The nonpoisonous snakes lack this pit and have a rounded pupil.

Shed snakeskins can be used to check the scales under the tail and the pits on the head. The shape of the snake head is not reliable to distinguish poisonous from nonpoisonous snakes. Some of the latter, such as Hog-nosed Snakes, have the head shaped like an Indian arrowhead.

The shape of the tail can be used to distinguish sexes in snakes. The female's tail abruptly narrows from the vent, whereas the male's tail narrows very gradually.

In this area of Tennessee only two poisonous species of snakes occur—Copperheads and Timber Rattlesnakes (sometimes called Cane-brake Rattlers). Cottonmouth Moccasins occur only in West Tennessee. Snakes brought in and called Water Moccasins from Chattanooga and Middle Tennessee have proven to be nonpoisonous water snakes.

If bitten by a poisonous snake, seek medical help from a knowledgeable doctor for new treatment methods. Formerly antivenin was injected into the patient. Many people and dogs are allergic to the antivenin, which is produced from horse serum. These allergic reactions can be more deadly to the patient than the snake venom. Human deaths have occurred.

Beware of snakes this summer. They are difficult to see in our small stones and leafy backgrounds. Although frightening to encounter, snakes are a useful and complex part of nature, and some are protected by government laws. Avoid the poisonous ones or have them removed to wilderness areas. Some nonpoisonous snakes will eat Copperheads and small Rattlesnakes and prevent them from becoming too numerous. The preferred food of our King Snakes is other kinds of snakes. They are immune to snake venom.

Skunk Sightings Reported

John Bordley and Carolyn Fitz report: "We had heard of sightings of a skunk along the old railroad walkway and I had spotted single skunks on two occasions. But last Thursday evening Jeanette Hamilton (and her friend Evelyn Taylor), Carolyn and I saw five young skunks scampering about the entrance road to our houses. I had always thought that skunks were black with a single white stripe down their backs. But these youngsters had all sorts of patterns of black and white, and Carolyn was particularly enthralled by one youngster with a big, showy, bushy white tail. They sought safety in the culvert under our road and have not been seen since."

Bear Travels

Carol Vibbart reports: "A guilty looking bear was spotted in our back yard this morning. The bird's suet feeder is gone. We think there may be a connection! The bear had made it to the neighbor's back yard by the time we fetched our cameras. We're on Laurel Lake Dr., near the end, on the Dripping Springs Cove side of the road."

Sewanee Herbarium Summer Events

The Sewanee Herbarium is featuring a nature journaling opportunity at 9 a.m. on Thursdays in July. The event is led by Mary Priestley. She has been practicing the craft for nearly 10 years. Opportunities for conversation about nature journaling will be given, and books on the subject will be available to peruse, but this is not a workshop. Rather, it is an invitation to set aside any or all Thursday mornings in July for nature journaling. Meet at the gazebo in Abbo's Alley. Bring a notebook (preferably small and unlined), a pen or pencil and something to sit on, if you wish.

Herbarium events are free and open to the public. For more information on these events contact Mary Priestley at <marypriestley@bellsouth.net>. Directions are available on the Herbarium website, <lal.sewanee.edu/herbarium>, under Calendar of Events.

From Bard to Verse

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

There will be a rusty gun on the wall,
sweetheart,
The rifle grooves curling with flakes of rust.
A spider will make a silver string nest in the darkest, warmest corner of it.
The trigger and the range finder, they too will be rusty.
And no hands will polish the gun, and it will hang on the wall.
Forefingers and thumbs will point absently and casually toward it.
It will be spoken among half-forgotten,
wished-to-be-forgotten things.
They will tell the spider: Go on, you're doing good work.
