Morton Memorial Food Ministry Benefits from Hunger Walk

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Intern

Last year, more than 250 donors, sponsors and walkers raised $14,547 to support programs designed to alleviate food insecurities on the Mountain with the Rotary Hunger Walk. Planning for the second Hunger walk continues.

The goal of the Rotary Hunger Walk, scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 3, is to bring awareness to the poverty present in the greater Sewanee community and to raise money to support local organizations working to alleviate food insecurity.

Money raised from registration fees, sponsorships and community donations goes to support food ministries led by the Community Action Committee at Otey Parish in Sewanee and the Morton Memorial Food Bank in Monteagle.

"The Food Ministries at Morton Memorial UMC is a food bank that serves more than 12,000 pounds of food to about 100 families in the community every second Saturday of the month," said John Noffsinger, co-chair of the Rotary Hunger Walk and a member of the Morton food ministry team. "Morton partners with the Chattanooga Area Food Bank (CAFB), which is a member of Feeding America."

Noffsinger said the money raised by the Hunger Walk greatly benefited the food ministry at Morton.

"With the money raised from the first Hunger Walk, the food distribution team was able to purchase wagons to make it easier to carry food to the cars. We were also able to purchase new freezers, plus a lot more food for distribution."

Those receiving the aid of the food ministry on those Saturdays are known as Morton's "Saturday family."

"On Thursday afternoon before the second Saturday of the month, trucks arrive from the Chattanooga Food Bank with more than 12,000 pounds of food. The unloading and repackaging process is handled by some of our Saturday family members, as well as community members, Rotarians and our

Sewanee Launches New Performance Arts Efforts

by Kevin Cummings, Messenger Staff Writer

The University of the South is injecting renewed vigor in the school's performing arts programs to strengthen student opportunities and enhance visibility of public performances.

"There are a lot of people involved in making art (here) and this is really exhilarating and exciting," said Dan Backlund, chair of the University's Arts Task Force and professor of theatre arts. "We have enough plans to last for the next 20 years."

The task force is a result of Sewanee's 2012 Strategic Plan, and Terry Papillon, dean of the college, said the committee is moving from the planning to the enacting stage. An accomplished musician, Papillon praised the role of arts in all areas of life.

"We have seen in modern academic culture and in the culture in general, a lack of value for the arts; I think that's incredibly unfortunate," he said. "I think it's just shortsighted and makes us less able to interact as human beings. We're seeing the results of that in modern American culture."

One of the first missions is the new website portal <artssewanee.sewanee.edu>, which synchronizes performance scheduling and allows the public to find events in one place. Two other new additions are a University fiddling program and starting this spring, an artist-in-residence program.

Sewanee has also hired a number of highly-accomplished faculty members in the arts department (look for more on new faculty in coming weeks).

Hiring more technicians for lighting and sound and bringing in visiting musicians are also high on the task force's list, Papillon said. The performing arts series starts Saturday,

FC School Clubs

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

In the spring of 2016, the Franklin County Board of Education revised the School Clubs and Organizations Policy and advised Director of Schools Amie Lonas on revising related procedures, the process students who want to join a club will follow and the process for starting a new club.

The 2016-17 Franklin County High School Handbook lists 27 student clubs and organizations. Six additional clubs are listed on the FCHS website. Assistant Principal Lisa Crabtree said the list is based on active clubs at the end of school last year and would likely change. The Huntland School 2016-17 Handbook lists seven clubs and organizations offered to high school age youth. Lonas, school principals and club faculty advisors met recently to formalize the procedure process for student club membership.

At Franklin County High School, club advisors will advertise their clubs, making the student body aware of the clubs they oversee and host introductory meetings. At the introductory meeting, students will receive information on membership requirements and any fees, Crabtree said. Students will also be advised on the parental permission process the club uses, a form or other written instrument designating parental approval.

According to the revised School Clubs and Organizations Policy approved by the board in April, 2016 "no school shall permit a student to become a member or participate in any activities of a club or organization without written communication from the student's parent or legal guardian approving the student's membership or participation. The written communication must be signed and dated."

"Huntland High School will continue to use the same procedures we have implemented for the past few years," said Principal Ken Bishop. Students who express interests in joining or becoming involved in a school club or organization will be given any necessary forms and, when applicable, an information packet detailing the mission, goals, and criteria of the club. The student will also receive a parental permission form which must be signed and returned. "We already have the Club/Organization Parent Permission Form posted on our website," Bishop said.

The revised procedural guidelines for school clubs and organizations also initiated changes in the process for forming new clubs and organizations. A student wanting to start a club would need to find a faculty advisor willing to oversee the club's activities. The advisor must complete an application form stating the club's mission, goals and objectives, and requirements for membership, if any. The school principal and leadership team reviews applications. If approved by

THANK YOU HELEN STAPLETON

To the Editor:

I would like to give a big thank you to County Commissioner Helen Stapleton (D), for her efforts at safeguarding our civic life here in Sewanee.

According to the Herald Chronicle article dated July 22, 2016 covering the rezoning of downtown Sewanee, "Stapleton asked for and received a commitment from Gladu that the existing Senior Center/Community Center would remain open and viable until its replacement was ready to open its doors."

Well done Helen!

GREEN'S VIEW

To the Editor:

Everyone I have spoken with despises the new parking area. This includes:

Those who cannot get out of their cars and walk to a bench have no place to park and view. Instead they drive slowly in the circular traffic lane, never turning off vehicle, therefore making noise and exhaust pollution for others. They cannot park, relax and enjoy the view;

The grassy knoll plus the set parking spaces also limit parking at our most popular spot;

We come to Green's View for time with nature, not to run into landscaping;

The fence will now eliminate a chance of someone driving over, so the knoll is not necessary.

I encourage you to please speak out to the Domain manager Nate Wilson and kindly request removal of the grassy knoll and surrounding rocks.

My homage to Green's View:

when we can be with Mother Earth we love her and she returns; carrying our prayers in the breeze...

Katy Willis, Sewanee ■

Letters need to be no longer than 250 words and may be edited for space and clarity. Letters and/or their author must have some relationship to our community. We do not accept letters on national topics from individuals who live outside our print circulation area. Please include your name, address and a daytime telephone number with your letter. You may mail it to us at Sewanee Mountain Messenger, P.O. Box 296, Sewanee TN 37375, or come by our office, 418 St. Mary's Ln., or send an email to <news@sewaneemessenger.com>. —KB

Fire Department Activities, June and July

The Sewanee Volunteer Fire Department (SVFD) recently issued its report on its activities for the months of June and July 2016.

In the month of June, SVFD responded to a total of 19 calls: seven calls to University dorms, fraternity or sorority houses (all with no apparent cause, burnt food or trivial); one to a University building—no apparent cause. Six calls were for helicopter landings at Emerald-Hodgson Hospital. One call was a vehicle extrication. One call was to a construction site (ruptured gas line). One call to St. Andrews-Sewanee dorm—burnt food. One call to community property—structure fire. Mutual aid to Monteagle for structure fire.

In July 2016, SVFD responded to 17 calls: four calls to University buildings (all with no apparent cause, burnt food or trivial); three to community residences (trivial); and one to community residence (structure fire) and two mutual aid calls to Monteagle Fire Department for structure fires. Five calls were for helicopter landings at Emerald-Hodgson Hospital. There was one high-angle rescue and one wilderness rescue.

Fundamentals of Transitional Ministry

The Fundamentals of Transitional Ministry: The Work of the Transitional Leader will be at the DuBose Concerence Center in Monteagle, Oct. 11-13.

The departure of a clergy person will have a profound impact on any congregation, and clergy and lay leaders must be able to make informed decisions about clergy leadership during times of transition. The three-day course is presented by the Beecken Center and the Interim Ministry Network (IMN). Participants will explore the role of the interim leader and the foundations of transitional ministry, along with tools and resources to facilitate transitional leadership.

Tuition is $740 and includes a one year IMN membership and the Fundamentals of Transitional Ministry manual. Lodging and meals are not included with tuition.

For more information go to <http://beeckencenter.sewanee.edu/events/fundamentals-of-transitional-ministry-2016>.

If your church is in our print circulation area and would like to be listed in the church calendar, please send service times, church address and contact information to <news@sewaneeessenger.com> or phone 598-9949.

Tickets are $40 in advance, $45 at the door. All proceeds go toward Christ the King's "Burn the Note" campaign. For tickets or more info call (931) 469-7133, (931) 967-9472 or (931) 968-1999.

Otey Memorial Parish

This Sunday, Aug. 21, in Christian Formation at 10 a.m. the Lectionary Class will explore Sunday's gospel, in the Claiborne House, Adult Education Room. Children ages 3-11 are invited to meet their friends for Godly Play. Infants 6 weeks to children 4 years old are invited to the nursery beginning at 8:30 a.m. until after the second service.

Sunday, Aug. 28, the Adult Forum will resume. All are welcome.

Unitarian Universalist Church

At the Unitarian Universalist Church of Tullahoma the speaker will be Doug Traversa on "How to Stay Sane in a Crazy World." The service begins Sunday at 10 a.m., followed by refreshments and a discussion period. The church is located at 3536 New Manchester Hwy., Tullahoma. For more information, call (931) 455-8626, or visit the church's website at <www.tullahomauu.org>.

Sunset Serenade at St. Mary's Sewanee

St. Mary's Sewanee will host its seventh annual Sunset Serenade, 5:30 to 8 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 4, at the center. This year all of the proceeds of the event will benefit the mission, programs and retreats of St. Mary's Sewanee.

In addition to the breathtaking view and sunset, this year's event includes southern-inspired culinary delights by chef Emily Wallace, a silent auction featuring local art and regional experiences and music by Noel Workman and the Accidentals.

For 26 years, St. Mary's Sewanee has offered programs to meet the needs of individuals and groups looking for rest, renewal and reconnection.

Reservations are open; tickets are $65 per person, with all food and drink included. To register call St. Mary's Sewanee at 598-5342 or email <reservations@stmaryssewanee.org>.

church members," said Noffsinger. "Then on Saturday morning, the process of registering, helping select the foods the participants want and carrying the food to their cars begins. Some months we will help 90 to 100 families, while some months the number can jump to 150 families."

The food ministry at Morton Memorial United Methodist Church aims to do one thing: help the members of the greater Sewanee community.

"Our goal is to help local families with their food insecurity because the majority of the families in the Grundy and Marion county areas don't have enough food to get through the month. We provide them with supplemental food once a month," said Amy Wilson, Director of the Food Ministry at Morton.

Wilson works on a volunteer basis for the food ministry, along with 40 others. Roughly 10 percent of the volunteers at Morton are also recipients of aid from the food ministry.

On average, the food ministry serves 110 families a month, which represents a minimum of 320 adults and children.

Wilson, who has been helping with the food ministry since 2013, is in charge of ordering food from the Chattanooga area food bank and making sure distribution of the food to families goes smoothly.

"I want to make sure I have enough for the families to have a certain number of meals and to make sure we have our volunteers there that day," said Wilson. "I'm just there to make sure it gets done, and with the volunteers, it kind of runs itself since we've been doing it for so many years now."

Wilson has been helping with the Morton food ministry for three years, but even before that, she was working to help those in her community.

"There was a food pantry at Morton before, and I had volunteered there for a couple of years. That model went away, and when that happened, I approached the church with a different model. The model we went with is called choice party, and it's like a little grocery store," said Wilson. "Instead of prepackaging food boxes, people get to choose what they want. If they don't want a certain thing, they don't have to take it and that eliminates waste."

Wilson said that she and the rest of the Morton volunteers recognized that many of the community members receiving food from the ministry had health issues that would be exacerbated by unhealthy foods. Thanks to help from the CAFB, healthy foods are an option for those coming to get food from the ministry.

"Our model is based on whole grains, fruits, vegetables and proteins. We're doing a pilot program with Chattanooga Food Bank now called Produce Empowerment Program (PEP), and that ensures that we receive 3,500 extra pounds of fresh produce every month," said Wilson. "We choose to emphasize fruits, vegetables, grains, proteins and dairy for the foods we offer. By providing fresh produce and other nutritious foods that our clients might not purchase at the grocery store because of the cost, we are also providing them the opportunity to try new foods like lentils, coconut milk and rutabagas. For some items, we cook samples that the clients can try or provide recipes."

For Wilson, the best part about being involved with the food ministry is knowing she is making a difference for her neighbors and family.

"My favorite part is helping my family and helping the people that I know in trying to do something good and positive. I am from here, and my family is from Grundy County. I have family members who come to the food pantry, and knowing that I am literally helping my own family in addition to helping my neighbors — it's amazing," said Wilson.

The Second Annual Rotary Hunger Walk will be Saturday, Sept. 3. For more information, visit <Facebook.com/SewaneeHungerWalk>.

Register for the Second Hunger Walk

Did you know that in 2014 it was estimated that in Franklin County 13.3 percent of the population (5,480 people) were suffering from food insecurity or did not have access to adequate nutritious food; in Marion County this is estimated at 14.6 percent (4,110 people); while in Grundy County the percentage increases to 17.8 percent (2,460 people)? Together in the tri-county area there are more than 12,000 people who do not have access to adequate nutritious food. This problem does not only affect our area—14.3 percent of families nationwide struggle with food insecurity.

There are numerous organizations dedicated to addressing the problem of food insecurity in the community, including Morton Memorial and the Community Action Committee. Through a joint effort in the second annual Hunger Walk, the Monteagle Sewanee Rotary hopes to raise awareness about these hunger issues as well as raise money to help end them.

The easiest way to help out is to register to walk. Registration is free for children under 12, $10 for students and $20 for adults. Register to walk at <http://monteaglerotary.org/hunger.html>.

Registration may also be completed on the day of the walk, Saturday, Sept. 3. Registration begins at 9 a.m. with the walk starting at 10 a.m. Each walker will receive a T-Shirt and a sticker showing "Hunger is NOT a Game 2nd Annual Rotary Hunger Walk."

After the walkers complete the 10 K (6.3 mile) course from Angel Park to Pearls and back they will be treated to a noon barbecue lunch.

Another option to support The Hunger Walk is to be a community partner through sponsorships. By donating $250, businesses and individuals can become sponsors and have their logo/name featured on Hunger Walk posters and participant T-shirts.

SCC Funding Applications Available

The Sewanee Community Chest (SCC) announces the beginning of the 2016–17 fundraising campaign. Sponsored by the Sewanee Civic Association (SCA), the SCC raises funds for local nonprofit organizations that serve the common good.

Funding applications are now being accepted. The deadline for submission is Friday, Sept. 16. Contact <sewaneecommunitychest@gmail.com> to have an application either emailed or mailed to your organization. A downloadable request for funds form is available at <https://sewanee-civic.wordpress.com>.

Nonprofit organizations serving the Mountain are encouraged to apply. The SCC does not allocate funds to those organizations discriminating on the basis of race, creed, sex or national origin.

Through the generous support of the entire community last year, the SCC was able to help 25 organizations and initiatives with a total of $100,000. The money raised in the community went directly to organizations that supported the following: Community Aid, $21,850; Children, $35,300; Quality of Life, $35,850; and Beyond Sewanee, $7,000. Last year's recipients included Housing Sewanee, the Community Action Committee, the Sewanee Elementary Parent Organization, Volunteers in Medicine and Folks at Home.

The SCA encourages everyone who benefits from life in this community, whether you live, work or visit, to give to the SCC. The SCC is a 501(c)(3) organization and donations are tax deductible. Donations and pledges are accepted at any time at PO Box 99, Sewanee, TN 37375. There are two online options to donate to the Sewanee Community Chest through PayPal and <AmazonSmile.com>. For more information go to <sewanee-civic.wordpress.com>.

Under the 1984 Equal Access Act, all federally funded secondary schools must provide equal access to extracurricular clubs which request a forum unless the club would "materially and substantially interfere with the orderly conduct of educational activities within the school."

A controversy arising in response to the formation of a Gay Straight Alliance Club last winter prompted the Board's decision to revise the School Clubs and Organizations Policy.

Oct. 8 with a performance by acclaimed bassist Edgar Meyer, followed by an organ recital by Catherine Rodland in November.

The third part of the series, in February, features the American Spiritual Ensemble, a world-renowned vocal collaborative, which will be in Sewanee for five days, performing and workshopping with students and local music groups. Among the various activities, the Ensemble and the Sewanee Symphony Orchestra will perform Gershwin's opera "Porgy and Bess."

In addition, Stephen Miller, professor of music, noted that a benefactor made a large donation to bring in Americana musicians to work with students. Some of those musicians may perform for the public as well.

The University has also broadened the way it thinks about choral music activities and church music, so look for expansion in those areas, Papillon said. Among the long term goals is a 250-seat lecture/recital hall at Bishop's Common, which will be renovated as the School of Theology moves to central campus. He said the hall should be a top-notch space for chamber and small choral concerts in the next four years or so.

A new performing arts center is also a long term goal, Papillon said. Guerry Auditorium isn't ideal for large events, like a Broadway tour, because of the difficult access for semi-trucks, and the HVAC system is also outdated and loud and must be shut off during performances.

The present initiatives also involve intentionally recruiting more arts students to campus, including adding additional arts scholarships and internships.

César Leal, artistic director of the Sewanee Symphony Orchestra (SSO), noted that the orchestra's work study program has expanded and now serves as a model for several other work study programs on campus. The Artistic Leadership Program started last year with only six students and has expanded to 20. The program provides students with a valuable learning experience while producing all musical events. They work as talent managers, assistant production managers, audio visual technicians, music librarians and musicians.

At SSO performances students are in charge of everything from lights, audiovisual production, and all aspects of logistics and pre-production. Leal noted that the SSO is partnering with other organizations on and off campus to bring new innovative programs. The SSO will also carry on its traditional concerts, such as the Halloween concert, which features a night concert for the community and a morning concert for more than 500 area elementary students.

"I am truly happy and excited for the new opportunities that the SSO creates each year for our students and musicians," Leal said. "The SSO is a true representation of Sewanee, who we are as a community, and how we draw our strength and success from working together. As we work really hard to prepare our repertoire for the 2016-17 season, I am confident our audiences will keep supporting us with their attendance and applause."

Another recruiting program that started last year gives prospective students a behind-the-scenes tour of plays, concerts and dance performances. Backlund said the University invited students within a 100-mile radius to tour campus, which included a backstage look at dress rehearsals and questions and answer sessions with cast members and directors.

And for students who are graduating, the University has added to its "Beyond the Gates" program by bringing in professionals in areas such as lighting, arts history, dancing, singing, and film and television to help prepare students for possible careers in the performing arts.

In the theatre department, the first production of the year will be "The Good Doctor," by Neil Simon, based on the short stories of Anton Chekhov, said Peter Smith, professor of theatre arts. Smith is directing the production, which is scheduled for Friday-Sunday, Oct. 28-30 and Thursday-Saturday, Nov. 3-5.

On Thursday-Friday, Nov. 10 and 11, guest artist and Sewanee graduate Raymond McAnally will present his one-man show, "Size Matters," in the Tennessee Williams Center.

Cimino-Hurt New Rotary Club President

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Intern

The Monteagle Sewanee Rotary Club inducted Lynn Cimino-Hurt as the president for the 2016–17 year on July 7.

Cimino-Hurt will be taking the place of Haynes Roberts, a Sewanee alumnus from the class of 2000.

A graduate of the American College in Bryn Mawr, Pa., she works as a retirement planner and agent for New York Life. She was raised in Manchester after her father took a job as an aeronautical engineer at the Arnold Air Force Base.

Cimino-Hurt has been involved with the Rotary since 2009 when she started her own business and was looking for a way to plug in to the Sewanee community.

"I went to a meeting, and there were no women, so I thought, 'That has to change.' I was able to get involved as the only woman in the club for a long time. I realized that I had landed well with the Rotary after a while because I was able to satisfy my personal imperative to be of service to my community on a personal and local level," said Cimino-Hurt. "It was another way for me to find fellowship and to be of service to the community without necessarily belonging to a religious organization."

Cimino-Hurt said some of the causes she feels most passionate about are food insecurity and poverty—something the Hunger Walk and the Cajun Supper, two Rotary-led events, work to alleviate.

"This year is our second Hunger Walk for us to raise money for the local food banks at the Community Action Committee and Morton Memorial. The walk is to help them with their work addressing the food insecurity that is in our community on the Mountain," said Cimino-Hurt. "With the Cajun Supper, the Rotary raises money for international projects that we support or are involved with, such as a University project in Haiti helping with sustainable agriculture practices to fortify local businesses and address environmental concerns. Those are some ways of addressing issues of poverty on the local level and on the international level."

Lynn Cimino-Hurt

Cimino-Hurt said it is her goal as Rotary president to build a vibrant club where every member finds their place to do the service they'd like to do in the community.

"We always do what we can, and when new members come in, if they have something they're passionate about, we look to see if that's something we have the will of the club to pursue. That's why we love bringing in new members," said Cimino-Hurt. "It helps us to do more good in the community."

Cimino-Hurt has four sons. She currently lives in Sewanee with her husband Michael, who formerly taught at Webb School in Bell Buckle and now serves as a Rotarian.

Georgia Mooney gets her hair done one more time by Judy Barry at Judy's Hairstyles in Midway.

Hairstylist Barry Retires After 40 Years at the Same Location

After 40 years in the same Midway community location, Judy Barry of Judy's Hairstyles is retiring.

"I started at the Headquarters in Sewanee with Kathy Jenkins," said Judy. "I also had a shop at St. Andrew's School for a number of years. Before I went to beautician school, I was cutting hair. Mrs. Elizabeth Majors was one of my first customers. My first customer at the Midway location was Clifford Tomes."

Her most loyal customer has been Sewanee resident Georgia Mooney. "For the last 40 years, Georgia has been my rock," said Judy.

"I will be missing all of my customers and am thankful for each one," said Judy. "This has been a wonderful part of my life."

There will be a new beginning for customers such as Georgia. Connie Warner will open a beauty shop in the same location, to be renamed Cuttin' Up. Susie Kilgore will join Connie as the barber and stylist.

Connie will continue to offer the same great service as Judy's Hairstyles customers have grown to love. Connie plans on adding more day spa options such as facials, pedicures, manicures and back treatments.

"All my life I have been cutting hair," said Connie. "It was time for me to own my own shop." To schedule an appointment, contact Connie at (931) 308-9400.

Thurmond Library Book Sale, Volunteers Needed

The next Book Sale at Thurmond Memorial Library will be 8 a.m.–2 p.m. during the Hunger Walk, Saturday, Sept. 3.

All are invited to attend this event.

No book will cost more than $2 and some will be three for a $1.

Volunteers are needed at Thurmond Memorial Library during the sale and beyond. Please call 598-1097 or email <tcunning@sewanee.edu> to help.

Volunteers are needed to set up or take down the sale; read to young children sometime during the fall; make sure a shelf of your favorite books is in order; set a weekly time to sit and read in the library to avoid procrastinating; suggest one or more books to add to the library or help us decide which to move from the shelf to the sale to make room for new books; and check in and shelve books that have been returned.

Thurmond Memorial Library is a self-service library. There are no due dates or fines. Book for children 7 years old and under do not require signing out.

Thurmond Memorial Library is located in the Claiborne Parish House at Otey Memorial Parish.

Free Workshop About Women's Voting Rights

Tennessee played a pivotal role in the passage of the 19th Amendment to the United States Constitution, which gave women the right to vote. In 1920, Tennessee became the final state needed to meet a requirement that three-fourths of states approve the amendment in order for it to become federal law.

Genny Carter, a librarian at the Library & Archives, will discuss the political battle that raged in Nashville preceding Tennessee's vote on the amendment. Her talk, "Women's Suffrage: Tennessee and the Passage of the 19th Amendment," will be in the Library & Archives auditorium Saturday, Aug. 20, 9:30–11 a.m.

The presentation will focus on items in a new online collection about the women's suffrage movement. This collection includes letters, telegrams, political cartoons, broadsides, photographs and audio clips and is available online <<http://bit.ly/TNwomensuffrage>>.

Although the lecture is free and open to the public, registration is required due to limited seating. To register go to <<http://suffrage.eventbrite.com>>.

The Library and Archives is located at 403 Seventh Avenue North, in downtown Nashville.

Voting Deadlines

Oct. 11—Voter Registration Deadline. To be eligible to vote in Tennessee, you must be a citizen of the United States. You must be eighteen (18) years of age or older on or before the date of the next election. You must be a resident of Tennessee. In order to participate in an election, a qualified voter must be properly registered no later than thirty (30) days before the election. The election commission office will process any by-mail voter registration form that has been postmarked at least thirty (30) days before the election.

Oct. 19–Nov. 3—Early Voting. To vote early, a person must appear in person at either the county election commission office or at a satellite voting location opened by the county election commission. The early voting period typically begins twenty (20) days before an election and ends five (5) days before an election.

Nov. 1—Deadline for receiving an application for a by-mail ballot. A registered voter may request an application for a by-mail ballot no earlier than ninety (90) days before the election and no later than seven (7) days before the election.

Nov. 8—Election Day.

Otey Memorial Parish

Otey Memorial Parish Welcome Picnic

On Sunday, Aug. 28, Otey Memorial Parish is hosting a noon picnic following the 10 a.m. Sunday School and the 11 a.m. service. The picnic welcomes everyone to the Mountain (or back to the Mountain) and celebrates beginning a brand new academic year together. The menu includes fried chicken, potato salad, baked beans and watermelon. The sides will be potluck, so please bring something to share, if able.

Entertainment includes outdoor and indoor fun. There will be horseshoes, badminton, corn hole and activities for young children. Musicians are encouraged to bring instruments for bluegrass, jazz ensembles, hymns and whatever else comes together.

At the Welcome Picnic, parents may enroll children in Godly Play, a Montessori-based Sunday School program that meets Sundays at 10 a.m. Registration will also be available for Fire on the Mountain, a youth group for middle school and high school youth.

Sunday marks the official fall relaunch of the parish's complete Sunday school program, including the Adult Forum which invites a different speaker from the community each week to help parishioners translate biblical values to the world in which we live. Otey Parish also offers several year-round programs, including a nursery and a Lectionary Class for discussion of the Gospel.

The Welcome Picnic will include Otey's annual Ministry Fair, offering information and registration for various ministries at the parish. For example, participants may learn about baking bread for Eucharist, arranging flowers, or serving in various lay ministries. Registration for the canoe trip (Sept. 11) and the Pilgrimage to Plains (Oct. 8–9) will be available at the Ministry Fair.

Otey Memorial Parish is located at 216 University Ave., across from Sewanee Elementary School. For more information, go to <oteyparish.org>.

SPD Increases DUI Enforcement During Statewide Initiative

Sewanee Police Department is partnering with the Tennessee Highway Safety Office (THSO) to increase DUI enforcement across Tennessee from today (Friday), Aug. 19 to Labor Day as part of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's nationwide mobilization against drunk driving.

In 2015, 239 people died as a result of alcohol-related traffic crashes, according to the Tennessee Safety and Homeland Security. Thus far in 2016, 118 people have died in alcohol-related crashes.

"No life is worth losing to drinking and driving," said Jason Ivey, Interim Director for THSO. "In 2016, you can access the world at your fingertips. You can hail a taxi, request a rideshare, text a friend, call a family member and more. With so many inexpensive alternatives, there's no excuse to drive when you're impaired."

A single DUI conviction may cost an individual $10,000 or more, in addition to jail time. Offenders could also be required to install a vehicle ignition interlock device and/or attend drug and alcohol treatment.

To drastically reduce alcohol related crashes, high-visibility enforcement efforts such as sobriety checkpoints, saturation patrols and multi-jurisdictional initiatives will be coupled with strategic "Booze It & Lose It" campaign messaging.

Visit <www.youtube.com/watch?v=6bFjoMaNWNO> to access THSO's new "Booze It & Lose It" public service announcement, or check out social media <facebook.com/tnhso>; <twitter.com/tnhso>, or <instagram.com/tnhso>. Collect Box Tops to Help Sewanee Elementary

There is an easy way to support Sewanee Elementary School. Take a few minutes and clip the "Box Top$ for Education" from many of the groceries you already buy at the store.

The first submission deadline is Oct. 10, so start collecting them now.

Last year the school earned $875 through the Box Tops program, money that went directly to SES to support teachers and education.

Please keep clipping! You can drop the box tops off at SES, in the box in the entry area of the Sewanee Post Office, or SPO them to Emily Puckette.

Please note that Box Top$ coupons have expiration dates on them, so we need to get these in while the getting is good. (And sadly, if you have one that is expired, we cannot use it.)

There is a complete list of participating items online at <www.boxtops-4education.com/products/participating-products>. For more information visit <www.btf.com>.

MES Tools for School

During the recent registration at Monteagle Elementary, the Morton Memorial Church sponsored the second annual Tools for Schools event for Monteagle Elementary students.

Morton Memorial was able to provide school supplies for grades K–8. The tool bag included the majority of needed school supplies listed on each grade level's school supply list.

Parents, teachers and students are very grateful for the generosity of the members of the Morton Memorial Methodist Church and all of the volunteers they had to assist them, including the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly summer visitors. Thanks goes to Lele McColum and Rich Wyckoff for spearheading this event, arranging for pick up of the supplies and organizing the supplies for distribution on the registration day.

Sewanee Students Continue to Arrive on Campus

Orientation for new college students at the University of the South begins Aug. 27, and classes begin Aug. 31—but more than 800 students will arrive on campus before orientation starts.

More than 200 student-athletes are here for preseason practice including members of the football, men's and women's soccer, field hockey, cross country, volleyball and equestrian teams.

About 150 first-year students are participating in the "Finding Your Place" (FYP) program through Friday, Aug. 26.

Sewanee Outing Program's PRE-

Orientation (PRE) will offer more than 200 incoming Sewanee freshmen the opportunity to get to know Sewanee in a unique and exciting atmosphere. PRE students arrive Wednesday, Aug. 24.

In addition, about 200 returning Sewanee students will come back to campus early to serve in leadership positions, including proctors, PRE staff, FYP mentors and orientation leaders.

The University of the South will welcome all 525 members of the Class of 2020 and other new students to the University with orientation beginning Aug. 27, following Finding Your Place and PRE.

TWO GIRLS ON A MOVIE

by Sarah Beavers and Emily Blount

Lights Out (2016 PG-13, 1 hr. 21 min.)

Dir. David F. Sandberg

Starring: Teresa Palmer, Gabriel Bateman and Maria Bello

Emily: I love a good scary movie. The more I jump, the better (sadly I only jumped once). While I didn't think this film was terrifying, it was fun.

Sarah: I'm going to clear out Taylor's Mercantile's selection of candles. As someone who has a long time irrational fear of the dark, this movie could have very well done me in. If you are in the mood for a good, horrifying and entertaining scary movie, "Lights Out" is a good one to see. I do admit I watched the majority of the movie through my fingers, so my account may not be the most reliable.

Emily: The theatre was full of preteens who screamed at every jumpscare, so that demographic was covered.

Sarah: I heard quite a few of the teenaged audience members scream and crunchy noises from the main horror attraction of the film, so there is that auditory treat in store for you. This movie starts off strong and scary from the first scene on, and sticks to established character backstories in order to weave a good horror film. Was it predictable? Yes. Do I wish there was more substance to the story? Yes.

Emily: It had a cool concept, but was predictable. It might be scary the first time you see it, but it won't be the second. Overall it was an enjoyable horror film. I do wish the backstory had been more fleshed out within the 81 minute runtime. There was so much potential for more creepy backstory and flashbacks.

Sarah: I agree with Emily—there was great potential and space for more creepy horror flashbacks or moments. The film could have benefited from having more to it in that respect. Kudos to the writers for actually writing good boyfriend/male partner characters. Even though one of them got minimal screen time, at their core the men of this movie were actually believable and healthy partners.

Emily: I agree. That characterization was refreshing. It was a fun summer horror film. I can't really say much more than that.

Sarah: If I ever feel the need to start making a horror movie collection, I will be sure to include "Lights Out."

Rating: stale popcorn / cold popcorn / microwave popcorn / movie theatre popcorn / cornbread festival kettle corn

SAS Gallery Presents Kate Gundersen Paper Cuts

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's Art Gallery is pleased to welcome the work of artist Kate Gundersen. Gundersen's intricate, multi-colored cut paper works will be in the gallery through Sept. 28.

A reception celebrating the exhibition will be in the SAS Gallery on Sunday, Sept. 11 from 2 to 4 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Gundersen will offer a daylong paper-cutting workshop on Saturday, Sept. 17, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. For details and to register contact Gallery Director Julie Jones at <sasgallery@sasweb.org>.

Gallery hours are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m.–3 p.m., and by appointment. Contact Jones at <sasgallery@sasweb.org> for more information.

Sarah Lindley: Operable Units

The University Art Gallery presents Sarah Lindley's Operable Units, on view Wednesday, Aug. 31 through Friday, Oct. 14.

Invoking the units used to organize EPA cleanup sites, Operable Units explores the connections between industry, communities and the environment along the Kalamazoo River in Michigan. The installation juxtaposes two fragile constructs: the suspended structure Exposure Pathways, fabricated from an abandoned ream of paper found in the former Plainwell Paper Mill, and Superfund Areas 1-5, built of brittle clay saturated by stains and oxides. Exposure Pathways references the layout of the Kalamazoo Watershed, while Superfund Areas 1-5 models the stretch of the Kalamazoo river currently under remediation by the EPA. Creating referential and imagined landscapes, Lindley performs the roles of researcher, geographer, architect, project supervisor and laborer. While her project was created in response to the challenges faced by a specific place, the Kalamazoo Watershed, it explores compelling questions important to all places about industry and the environment.

Lindley is a sculptor and installation artist whose work addresses the power dynamics between American industry and surrounding communities. Lindley is currently a professor of art at Kalamazoo College, where she has taught sculpture and ceramics since 2001.

Lindley will give a lecture at 4:30 p.m., Friday, Sept. 23, in Convocation Hall with a reception to follow. The event is free and open to the public.

The University Art Gallery is located on Georgia Avenue on the campus of the University of the South in Sewanee, Tennessee. The gallery is free, accessible and open to the public. Hours are 10 a.m.–5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and noon–4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Call 598-1223 for more information, or go to <gallery.sewanee.edu>.

Reishman Selected as One of the Best of Tennessee Craft Artists

The public is invited to celebrate the finest craft Tennessee has to offer at The Best of Tennessee Craft awards presentation and reception on Saturday, Aug. 27, from 4-6 p.m. EST at the Reece Museum on the East Tennessee State University campus in Johnson City. The exhibition will open at the museum on Monday, Aug. 22 and run until Friday, Dec. 2.

The Best of Tennessee Craft Exhibitions celebrate and showcase the finest contemporary and traditional craft our state has to offer, providing public visibility and recognition for the quality and diversity of craft found throughout Tennessee.

Claire Reishman, clay artist from Sewanee, was among the Best of Tennessee Craft invited artists.

The juried exhibition will present cash awards including a $1,000 Best of Show. The guest juror is Jerry Jackson, deputy director at Penland School of Crafts in Penland, N.C. Jackson selected works for the exhibition from the submitted entries and will select award winners. Prior to Penland, he served as chief curator and director of the Rocky Mount Arts Center at the Imperial Center for Arts and Sciences in Rocky Mount. Jackson earned his Master of Fine Arts and Bachelor of Fine Arts degrees in studio art from East Carolina University.

Other Best of Tennessee Craft invited artists are Anderson Bailey, Marc Barr, Joan Schaller Bauer, Jeanne Brady, Sally Brogden, Graham Campbell, Martha Christian, Jinni Copp, Chery Cratty, Don DuMont, Richard Dwyer, Sharron Eckert, Emily Eversgerd, J. Michael Floyd, Judi Gaston, John Glass, Katie Gonzalez and Allison Volek Shelton, Mindy Herrin, David Heustess, Tim Hintz, Buffy Holton, John Jordan, Shana Kohnstamm, Claudia Lee, Ken Lewis, Jeffrey Neil, Nancy Oxford, Abraham Pardee, Anne Rob, Tim Roberts, Pat Rollie, Wes Shugart, Thomas Spake, George Summers, Vickie Vipperman, Sadie Wang, Bruce Willey and Kimberly Winkle.

The Best of Tennessee Craft Exhibit will be on display during Tennessee Craft Week, Oct. 7-16. Tennessee Craft Week is a vibrant celebration of over 100 craft artists, showcasing their work and sharing their art through demonstrations, insightful lectures, and more than 50 state and regional craft events. Make time for this fabulous opportunity to meet the artists, learn how they create art and own a handmade piece of Tennessee.

The art of handmade crafts is a Tennessee legacy that continues to grow each year. Born from the hills of the Smoky Mountains, and evolving as artists create new works across the state, handmade crafts are bringing local communities together and creating a beautiful reason to tour the state.

Bentonia Blues by Bill Steber

The Arts Company to Exhibit Work by Bill Steber

As the Arts Company continues to celebrate its 20th anniversary, the gallery will exhibit longtime artistic collaborator Bill Steber classic works in Southern Blues Photography + Music.

His photography explores the culture of Mississippi and offers dynamic and insightful images of an artistic and musical world that is distinctive and vibrant. As a preview to the exhibit, the Fresh Art Friday on Sept. 2, 5:30-7 p.m. will feature an art talk and performance with Steber and Nashville Arts Magazine Editor Paul Polycarpou. The exhibit will officially open during the First Saturday Art Crawl Downtown, Sept. 3, 6-9 p.m. Steber's band, The Jake Leg Stompers, will be performing during the Art Crawl on the Downtown Partnership Platform stage located on 5th Avenue of the Arts.

The exhibit will continue through Sept. 22, during regular gallery hours, 11 a.m.-5 p.m., Tuesday-Saturday at 215 5th Avenue of the Arts, North. For more information, visit <www.theartscompany.com>.

SAS Middle School Soccer Wraps Up Preseason

St. Andrew's-Sewanee's middle school girls' soccer team wrapped up their preseason with two scrimmages. On Aug. 12, SAS fell to Westwood Junior High, 2-3. It was a back and forth match with both teams working hard and fighting for possession of the ball. Sixth grader Lucy Cassell scored both goals for the Mountain Lions.

On Aug. 16, the Mountain Lions had another tight match with South Middle School, but came up short losing 1-2. Sixth grader Madison King scored for the Mountain Lions.

"It was great to see us in a game setting," commented Coach Burns. "Each day we step on the field we are working hard and seeing progress. I'm proud of how the team is coming together and I'm excited for the season."

The Mountain Lions open their season on the road against Community School Tuesday, Aug. 23 at 5 p.m. and play at home Thursday, Aug. 25 against South Pittsburg Middle School at 4 p.m.

SAS Volleyball Opens Season with Wins

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School varsity volleyball team started the season off strong with wins over Richard Hardy Memorial School and Bledsoe County, recording 2-0 wins in the tri-match.

Skylar Moss had a strong performance with 10 aces, 11 digs and five assists; Madison Gilliam had two aces and four digs; Katie Finn Hurst four aces and two kills; Carolyn Bruce had four kills; Izzy Spinelli had two kills; Lydia Angus had four kills; and Kendale James had seven assists.

Head coach Rob Zeitler said, "This team has worked very hard to get ready for the season. It is great to see our efforts pay off, but what impresses me most is how well they get along and support each other on and off the court."

Bicycle Ride Across Tennessee in September

Cyclists are invited to sign up for the 27th annual Bicycle Ride Across Tennessee (BRAT), a week long excursion through the beautiful scenery of the Cumberland region on Sept. 11-17.

"After each day's ride, Tennessee State Parks staff will provide interesting and fun programming for participants and their families," said Deputy Commissioner of Parks and Conservation Brock Hill. "Everything from stargazing at the Pickett-Pogue International Dark Sky site to Rolley Hole marble games at Standing Stone will be available as riders enjoy the best each park has to offer."

Beginning and ending at Cumberland Mountain State Park in Crossville, this non-competitive fall bike tour will wind riders through four state parks covering more than 450 miles in seven days. Participants can tailor the trip to their comfort level, riding anywhere from one day to all seven days of the full event. The average distance is 65 miles per day.

Registration is based on the number of days, beginning at $60 for a single-day ride and going up to $400 for the full seven-day ride. The registration fee includes a fully supported route, hot showers, campsites, meals (breakfast and supper), live entertainment and interpretive programming as well as an event T-shirt. Camping is included at four Tennessee State Parks, including Standing Stone State Park, Pickett CCC Memorial State Park, Cumberland Mountain State Park, Harrison Bay State Park and Southwest Point Park in Kingston.

More information on the ride, including a map of the route and an FAQ page, can be found at <www.thebrat.org>.

NATURENOTES

Webworms

The fall webworms seem to be particularly conspicuous this year. They are responsible for the large webs or tents seen enveloping branches and extending to the ends of them. They are the larvae of a small (about one inch) white moth in the Tiger and Wasp Moth group. The somewhat similar and perhaps more familiar Eastern Tent Caterpillars appear only in the spring and build their tents in the crotches of trees.

Fall webworms can be found on more than 400 species of woody plants, but locally they seem to favor sourwoods, especially on the edges of roads and fields. At this stage of their lives they are feeding at night and resting in their webs during the day, where masses of them may be seen amid their frass (droppings) and dead leaves. Soon they will leave their webs to overwinter as pupae in cocoons on the ground. Healthy trees usually recover from the defoliation caused by these webworms without permanent damage.

Cherish

Tina

Pets of the Week

Meet Cherish and Tina

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

You'll cherish the moments with this sweet, shy Lab-mix girl. She is likely to be coy and play hard to get when you first meet her, but as soon as you make friends with her, she becomes an over-sized kissy-face lapdog! Cherish is heartworm-negative, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and spayed.

Tina is an affectionate, mostly white Calico kitten who wants to cuddle and play and cuddle some more. You won't have a dull moment with this sweet kitten around. Tina is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and spayed.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor! On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is now in their new shelter at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out their other pets at www.animalharbor.org. Enter their drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Please help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. Box 187, Winchester, TN 37398.

The 20 members of the most recent Tennessee Naturalist Program (TNP) gather at the South Cumberland Visitors Center before a hike.

Sign Up for the Tennessee Naturalist Program

For the fifth year, the Friends of South Cumberland State Park (FSC) is offering the chance to adults who want to become certified as a Tennessee Naturalist by signing up for a series of 10 classes. A few slots remain for the 2016–17 TNP course that begins in mid-September.

The four-hour sessions run from September to May with meetings averaging once a month, usually on Saturday mornings, with opportunities to make up sessions that are missed. The classwork is divided between lectures, hands-on activities and many hours of outdoor immersion. Topics include local geology, forests, animals, plants, fungi, aquatic biology and astronomy. The fieldwork portion of the course can be physically demanding with hikes on steep hills and rough terrain and some night activities. The cost of the course is $250, which includes materials. For details go to <http://www.friendsofsouthcumberland.org/tn-naturalist-program.html> or contact coordinator Deb Dreves at deb.dreves.tn@gmail.com.

REQUEST FOR SEWER PROJECT BIDS
 The Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties
 (SUD) is soliciting bids for our ongoing sewer repair and replacement program. SUD anticipates the repair and/or replacement of several thousand feet of main and lateral sewer lines, as well as rehabbing the related manholes, continuation of our system-wide CCTV program and other projects as needed to meet the operational goals of the District. The winning bid will remain valid for a period of 1 (one) year from the date of acceptance and should be priced accordingly.
 All line item prices should be the complete price from mobilization to restoring the job site to its original condition, including all taxes, fees, overhead, etc. The contractor understands that the Sewanee Utility District's Standard Specifications for Sewer Lines will be followed and the contractor must warrant all work performed for SUD for a period of 1 (one) year from the date of substantial completion of each job.
 The contractor must hold the proper licensing, insurance, etc. to do the proposed work in the State of Tennessee and be able to provide references of past similar work if requested.
 A copy of the bid form and Standard specification can be picked up at SUD's office between the hours of 8AM – 4PM, Monday through Friday, or downloaded from our website @ www.sewaneutility.org/sewerdocs.html.
 The completed bid form must be returned to SUD's offices in person, by mail, fax, or email by close of business August 31, 2016. Please include a cover letter with contact information of the designated contact person for this project bid. Any bid submitted after the deadline may be rejected by the District, and SUD reserves the right to reject all bids. The winner of the bid shall be the lowest QUALIFIED AND RESPONSIBLE bidder. The winning bidder, if any, will be notified in writing by 9 September, 2016.
 Any questions should be directed to Ben Beavers @ 931.598.5611
 or bbeavers@sewaneutility.org

The Olympics

The first Olympics began in 776 BC when a cook from Elis won the only event, a foot race 600 feet long. From 776 BC the Games were held in Olympia every four years for almost 12 centuries.

I never learned the proper way
To swim, and so my form
(With head above the water)
Is quite different from the norm.

I don't enjoy it anyway
And rarely hit a pool,
Preferring other exercise
And A/C to keep cool.

But watching the olympians
Torpedo in their lanes
Makes me marvel at such effort
Which both awes and entertains.

Every sport has its attractions
Yet each breaststroke somehow brings
All observers (me included)
Right into the swim of things.
