Hundreds of Families Given Free Groceries at CAC Mobile Food Pantry

Hundreds of families from across the region received free groceries at the Community Action Committee's Mobile Food Pantry last Saturday. Second Harvest Food Bank of Nashville provided more than 13,000 pounds of food for the event. With the help of over 100 volunteers, CAC set up a one-day grocery store in Cravens Hall.

Volunteers are the heart of CAC—Buck Butler provided the accompanying photographs of these faithful volunteers in action.

House Marker Open Houses Set

The two open houses for the Sewanee community to acquaint themselves with the Emergency House Markers are set. The markers project is a community service launched by the Sewanee Leaseholders Association to assist emergency responders and leaseholders in ensuring that their homes and businesses can be readily found in the case of an emergency. Many homes either do not have identification, or it is obscured from view by plantings or trees.

The open houses are set for: Saturday, Aug. 21, from 9 to 11 a.m.; and Tuesday, Aug. 24, from 4 to 6 p.m. Both events will be held in the Sewanee Community Center, 39 Ball Park Road.

At the open house, residents can view the sanctioned marker, fill out a brief reservation form, and make a $10 deposit for half of the $20 cost. A copy of this form is printed here for residents who wish to mail the deposit to the Sewanee Leaseholders. Make checks payable to Sewanee Leaseholders.

The University's College of Arts and Sciences welcomes the Class of 2014 to Sewanee with a series of activities that began Wednesday and continues through Aug. 26.

Under the leadership of Mary Beth Bankson, assistant dean of students for residential life, and Natalee Erb, head proctor for first-year programs, the College has prepared to welcome approximately 400 freshmen, 20 transfer students, and six international exchange students and resident directors.

The optional pre-orientation began Aug. 18, giving about half the incoming class opportunities to meet other new students and explore the campus, led by current students. The orientation program, Aug. 21–26, will serve to acquaint all new students with the school's programs, services, and faculty and staff and to make the transition to Sewanee easier.

FAMILY EXPRESSES THANKS To the Editor:

The family of Mary Hughes would like to say thank you to everyone for their cards, prayers, food and visits during our recent loss. Your presence was greatly appreciated and we can't thank you enough.

We also want to thank the emergency room staff at Emerald-Hodgson Hospital and Southern Tennessee Medical Center's ICU ward for their excellent care. To the staff at the Cumberland Funeral Home (Dean, James and Ronald), we cannot express enough gratitude for all your help.

BOOK SALE HUGE SUCCESS To the Editor:

This year's annual Friends of the Franklin County Library Book Sale was a tremendous success. The board of directors and Friends of the Library wish to say thank you to everyone who contributed with their donations, to the many volunteers who generously gave their time both before and during the sale, to our great shoppers and to others, including the Sewanee Mountain Messenger, for supporting the sale.

All proceeds from the sale will be used to benefit the library.

Box 296, Sewanee TN 37375, or come by our office, 418 St. Mary's Lane, or send your e-mail to <news_messgr@bellsouth.net>. Please include your name, address and daytime telephone number. MOBILE FOOD PANTRY SERVES HUNDREDS—THANKS TO SPONSORS AND VOLUNTEERS To the Editor:

On behalf of the hundreds of families who each received a grocery cart of food on Saturday, I want to thank the sponsors and volunteers who made the Community Action Committee's (CAC) Mobile Food Pantry possible:

Second Harvest Food Bank of Nashville, for providing over 13,000 pounds of food; the University of the South, for making Cravens Hall available to us, and to its physical plant services crew, the special events team, residential life's coolers, and the police department;

First Vision Bank of Decherd, for providing the volunteer T-shirts; Shenanigans, for supplying healthy snacks for volunteers; Fred's of Monteagle, for loaning its grocery carts; St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, for transporting the carts; the University's Aramark staff for providing lemonade; Kirk Zigler and the Sewanee EMTs;

The Sewanee Mountain Messenger, Grundy County Rotary Club and St. Theresa's Outreach Ministry, for publicizing the event.

I especially want to thank the CAC board, for its amazing dedication and planning for the pantry: Pixie Dozier, Janet Graham, Ann Millar, Henry Chase, Helen Bailey, Bobbye Ballard, John Bratton, Sarah Cardwell, Connie Gibson, Steve Green, Bridget Griffith and Cal Winton; as well as the Rev. Joe Ballard, the vestry, and members of Otey Parish Church who have faithfully supported CAC for more than 35 years.

Finally, I want to thank the more than 150 people who volunteered their time and energy on Saturday. Ranging in age from 8 to 80+, each volunteer was patient, generous and kind: keeping guests hydrated and comfortable, sharing the shopping experience with them, packing load upon load of groceries into cars.

Saturday was another example of the Sewanee community's generous hospitality to others. Thank you.

*Laura Willis, CAC Director
Sewanee* ■

THANKS FOR CONTINUED SUPPORT To the Editor:

I want to thank the voters in the 5th District—Sewanee, Sherwood and Keith Springs—for their continued support by re-electing me to the Franklin County Commission. I will continue to work hard to try and move our county forward. Thanks again.

*Johnny Hughes
Sewanee* ■

Serving Where Called

Seven years ago this column began to support the large number of reservists and National Guard members called up for active duty to serve in the war in Iraq. About 50,000 troops remain in Iraq to support and train their military and assist with counterterrorism.

On Dec. 1, 2009, President Barack Obama announced he was sending additional troops to Afghanistan to focus on reversing the Taliban's momentum. Today thousands of our troops are deployed in this volatile area.

This is a reminder that someone else is standing guard and facing fire for us. Please keep the following individuals, their families and all those who fight for freedom in your prayers:

at Sewanee,” in which students will explore the resources available to them at Sewanee and become familiar with the offices that they'll rely upon during their first year. Other features of the orientation program include the Honor Code induction ceremony; a student activities fair; dinner in the homes of faculty members; and information sessions for parents.

“The Omnivore's Dilemma” by Michael Pollan was this year's summer reading assignment. Pollan's book follows each of the food chains that sustain us — industrial food, organic or alternative food, and food we forage ourselves — from the source to a final meal, and in the process defines the American way of eating, emphasizing our dynamic relationship with the handful of plant and animal species on which we depend.

A presentation on the book and its relationship to life on and around the Domain will be given by David Haskell, professor of biology, at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 24, in Guerry Auditorium. This presentation is open to the Sewanee community, as well as new students. Copies of “The Omnivore's Dilemma” are available in the University Book and Supply Store.

1:30 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 22, for the first all-school meeting of the year. For a complete schedule of events, visit the calendar on the school's website, <www.sasweb.org>.

According to Head of School John Thomas, “A robust enrollment in challenging times is a great indicator that families value St. Andrew's-Sewanee School. Having met most of the new students, I am excited for them and for our school community. In the coming weeks we will be working hard to welcome, orient, and get busy inspiring the intellectual and faithful curiosity that makes our school so lively.”

The student body this year will represent 11 countries and 16 states, including students from Australia, China, Costa Rica, Denmark, France, Germany, Jamaica, Korea, Taiwan, and Zimbabwe. There will be 29 new students in the middle school and 47 new students in the upper school, including 18 new ninth-graders—typically, the entry point for boarding students.

“Our parents tell us that they choose SAS because of the individual attention and spiritual, emotional, physical and intellectual support we provide to each student here,” said Anne Chenoweth, director of admissions. “In a continually difficult economy, we saw a 65 percent increase in inquiries this year. We are delighted to know that our families are sharing our story with others and are helping us to bring more wonderful students to the SAS family.”

Efforts to Protect 6,200 Acres in and around Fiery Gizzard Underway

The Land Trust for Tennessee has a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to protect 6,200 acres in and around Fiery Gizzard. The Land Trust and The Conservation Fund, with support from the Friends of the South Cumberland State Recreation Area, are raising $8 million to make this project a reality.

The property to be protected includes the western bluff of Fiery Gizzard Cove and over a mile and a half of the trail itself. Fiery Gizzard has been named one of the top 25 backpacking trails in the nation.

The name is rumored to come from Davy Crockett burning his mouth on a hot turkey gizzard and throwing it into the creek, thereby bestowing the name Fiery Gizzard Creek.

You can get involved in this exciting project. Learn more and donate online by visiting <www.FieryGizzard.org>. Donate by mail or phone by contacting the Land Trust for Tennessee, P.O. Box 23473, Nashville, TN 37202; (615) 244-5263.

Al-Anon Meetings Tuesdays at Otey

Al-Anon meetings will be held each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Thurmond Memorial Library at Otey Parish

For over 55 years, Al-Anon has been offering strength and hope for friends and families of addicts and alcoholics. It is estimated that each addict affects the lives of at least four other people. Addiction (whether it is alcohol or drugs) is truly a family disease. All who have been affected by someone else's addiction can find solutions that lead to serenity in the Al-Anon fellowship.

Therapy Dog International certified Sabbath is the black lab, and Mickey is the yellow lab.

Tail Waggin' Tutors Return to School Too!

This year students and school personnel will not be the only ones returning to school. Therapy dogs Mickey and Sabbath will be attending school, as well. Both dogs and their owners have trained and passed the evaluation for therapy dog work through Therapy Dogs International (TDI) to participate in TDI's Tail Waggin' Tutors program.

Mickey, blessed with a calm and gentle spirit, began his work at Huntland School last spring and will continue there this year.

Sabbath, an "alumna" of Animal Harbor, has more recently passed the TDI evaluation to become a therapy dog and will share her joyful, playful self with children at Decherd and Cowan elementary schools.

Mickey and Sabbath also have earned their Canine Good Citizen titles and so are extra qualified to bring the magic of reading to their children.

A generous donation from former Franklin County citizen Rick Roberson to the Franklin County Humane Society will allow the purchase of books for the program and stipends to aid interested people and their dogs in becoming Therapy International Tail Waggin' Tutors. More information about TDI and Tail Waggin' Tutors can be found on their website <www.tdi-dog.org>.

To find out more about how the Roberson Foundation grant could help them become part of the Franklin County Schools therapy dog reading program, readers are encouraged to contact Sarah Doyi at (931) 636-8893 or at <hendrixmom1997@yahoo.com>.

Abraham Lincoln Visits F.C. Library

The Franklin County Library welcomed Abe Lincoln (aka, John Mansfield) for an Independence Day celebration. Mansfield, a Nashville resident, entertained the children with readings of children's books and gave a powerful performance of the Gettysburg Address. Children were also invited to dress as Lincoln for an opportunity to win a prize for the best costume. Mansfield will return in February just in time for President's Day. His visits are in conjunction with the award of a We the People Bookshelf grant to the library. Contact the library by calling 967-3706 or by visiting at 105 South Porter St., Winchester. New Sewanee Chorale Director Gary Sturgis

Sewanee Chorale Welcomes New Maestro, Calling All Singers!

The Sewanee Chorale is pleased to announce that Gary Sturgis will be the new conductor and musical director for the 2010-11 season.

The chorale has been an ongoing part of Sewanee's rich musical history and is a dedicated group of talented singers on the Mountain. This year's rehearsals will begin on Monday, Sept. 13, at 7 p.m. in "the pit," located in Hamilton Hall of the School of Theology building, next to the Chapel of the Apostles.

Gary Sturgis will be conducting the group and has selected some wonderful holiday music for the first concert. Sturgis relocated to Sewanee in 2007 from Florida with his wife, Kathy, also a talented musician. Many of you may know him for the culinary delights he provides as chef at the Blue Chair in Sewanee.

Among Sturgis's credits are conducting the South Florida Philharmonic Choir, South Florida Ecumenical Celebration, and as featured conductor and soloist with many south Florida musical venues. Sturgis also served 35 years as choirmaster at St. Mary Magdalene Episcopal Church in Coral Springs, Fla. He currently is directing the Otey Parish choir in Sewanee.

Kudos go out to University professor Steve Shrader, who will continue as accompanist for the group, bringing his personal dedication and wealth of musical talent to the group. Thanks also go out to Susanna Metz for her long-standing dedication and years of direction, keeping the chorale a vibrant group.

If you need any further information call Gary Sturgis at (931) 636-5294 or e-mail <gksturgis@yahoo.com>.

SAINT MARY'S

The Sewanee Sisters and Their School

JAMES WARING DE BERNIÈRES MCCRADY

McCrary's New Book Explores History of Saint Mary's School

A new book by James Waring de Bernières McCrary, professor emeritus of French at the University, examines the story of the Southern Province of the Community of Saint Mary, the earliest Episcopal religious order to be founded in the United States.

Published by the Sewanee Trust for Historic Preservation, "Saint Mary's: The Sewanee Sisters and Their School" draws upon multiple archival collections to trace the evolution of St. Mary's School in Sewanee, Tenn., which was established in 1896 as a training school for local girls and later evolved into a preparatory school. St. Mary's School operated continuously until its closing in 1968.

In 183 pages, McCrary captures the spirit of the little-known order and its long-standing commitment to education on the South Cumberland Plateau, along with the rise and fall of the school through the significant cultural shifts of the mid-twentieth century.

"One cannot say whether the much-loved old Saint Mary's School for Girls came to its unanticipated end through the misdirected decision of too-distant administrators or the wise guidance of an enigmatic Holy Spirit, but it is clear that both the secular world and the spiritual Lord move in mysterious ways," McCrary writes in his foreword.

McCrary, a fifth-generation member of a seven-generation family of Sewanee identification, taught French at the University from 1962 to 2000.

To order this publication contact the Sewanee Trust for Historic Preservation, P.O. Box 21, Sewanee, TN 37375.

The membership will elect officers and board members. The speaker at the meeting will be LaDue Bouldin, and his subject will be on the mining industry. The meeting is open to the public.

Civic Association to Host New V-C John McCardell

For the 2010–11 year, the Sewanee Civic Association will adopt a new format, with annual dues of $5 and four dinner meetings featuring a speaker. The cost of dinner is expected to remain the same, $10.

The next Civic Association meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 7, featuring the new vice-chancellor, John M. McCardell Jr., as the guest speaker.

The membership approved the following slate of officers to serve for the 2010–11 year: co-president and co-program chair, Elizabeth Clark Duncan and Theresa Shackleford; secretary, Kell Owen; treasurer, Rocky Morris; and member-at-large, Elizabeth Koella.

Details will be announced closer to the meeting date.

Hot Summer Sees High Temperatures, High Energy Use

According to Duck River Electric Membership Cooperative (DREMC) the summer is two-thirds over, and the temperatures are already approaching near triple digits. Based on information supplied by the National Weather Service (NWS), the heat wave has resulted in a corresponding increase in cooling degree days, which ultimately will result in increased energy use to stay comfortable. The NWS tracks information related to daily temperatures by using a 65 degree base temperature (the temperature considered to not require any auxiliary heating or cooling). As temperatures climb above 65, cooling degrees are recorded. Cooling degree days directly correspond to the amount of energy needed to run cooling equipment to maintain comfortable surroundings.

In July the NWS recorded 433 cooling degrees, as opposed to only 266 cooling degrees for the same first 25-day period of July 2009. The temperature rose to a sweltering 98 degrees on July 25, 2010, with the average temperature for July being 82. The highest temperature in July of 2009 was 92, with the average being 75. The excessive number of degree days translates into a 63 percent increase in cooling requirements from the same period last year and will, no doubt, be reflected in consumer energy usage and bills for July.

Using a typical 30-day billing cycle, an average residential consumer that normally would use approximately 1500 kWh of energy will end up using approximately 2445 kWh of energy. A bill in July 2009 that was $149.45 will increase to $229.37 for 2010, just because of increased air conditioning requirements.

DREMC encourages members to conserve energy and lower energy bills by taking some simple steps around the home:

- Set thermostats to 78 degrees in summer. (For every degree you lower your air conditioning thermostat, you increase usage by 1 percent).
- Close shades and drapes during the day to keep heat out during summer.
- Run ceiling paddle fans on medium, blowing down during summer.

For more energy-saving tips, visit <www.dremc.com>. While on the website complete a free online home energy evaluation that will provide immediate results that are specific to your home.

River Gallery Exhibits Hand-Built Sculpture

River Gallery in Chattanooga is exhibiting sculpture by artists Sandy Blain and Holden McCurry during August.

In August, clay artist Blain will exhibit her hand-built forms impressed with organic and inorganic materials. These impressions create highly textured surfaces that serve as metaphors for landscape elements. McCurry hand-builds functional and symbolic clay sculptures influenced by organic and architectural forms. Using custom tinted glazes, McCurry achieves rich color and textural surfaces in his work.

River Gallery, located on 400 East Second Street in Chattanooga, is open Monday–Saturday, 10 a.m.–5 p.m. and Sunday, 1–5 p.m. There is no admission charge. For information call (423) 265-5033 or visit <www.river-gallery.com>.

Koré i. Delos, Greece. 2010. 13x13 inch platinum-palladium print on 100% cellulose vellum by Pradip Malde

University Art Gallery Opens Season with Malde Exhibition

The University Art Gallery will open the 2010-11 exhibition season with Pradip Malde's Reflectance, a series of evocative platinum-palladium prints that juxtaposes uncanny images of ancient Greek sculpture with intimate photographs of the artist's family members. Malde will present his work in an artist's talk on Friday, Sept. 3, at 4:30 p.m. in the newly renovated gallery located on Georgia Ave. A reception will follow and the public is invited. The exhibition will be on view Sept. 3-Oct. 3.

Reflectance presents the viewer with a dialogue between two sets of photographs, each "reflected" in the other, "but against a shimmering horizon."

Malde earned his master of arts degree in design at the Glasgow School of Art, Scotland. His work has earned national and international recognition and is represented in many collections, from the Museum of the Art Institute of Chicago to the Victoria and Albert Museum, London. He has been a member of the Sewanee community and a faculty member in the art department since 1989. The platinum-palladium prints in this exhibition were produced with the contemporary ammonium-based platinum palladium process developed by Malde and Mike J. Ware in the 1980s.

Folksinger/Storyteller Carol Ponder Returns

On Saturday, Aug. 28, renowned folksinger and storyteller Carol Ponder will present a concert in the Manchester Arts Center (MAC), 909 Hillsboro Road, at 7 p.m. All tickets will be $7, and tickets will be available at the door. Reservations may be made by calling (931) 728-3434 and leaving your information. According to Ponder, "I first sang in public at the age of 4 in 1958 for my Uncle Hubert Hayes's Mountain Youth Jamboree in Asheville, N.C. Appalachian born and bred, I've sung all my life. I also play guitar, auto-harp, and spoons. I want not only to preserve traditions, but also to keep them relevant in the 21st century: So in concert and when recording, I sing a blend of old and new songs, and I tell old and new stories."

New York Festival Stages Smith-David Show

"South Pathetic," a one-man show developed by Peter Smith, chair of the University's theatre arts department, and Jim David, a Tennessee Williams Theatre Fellow, opened Aug. 14 as part of the New York International Fringe Festival.

The New York Times published a review that said, in part: "Not all of his [David's] gags hit the mark, but there's no mistaking the comic's high spirits and wry affection for his hometown. As directed by Peter Smith, the show's 75 minutes rocket by agreeably."

A rave review also appeared in nytheatre.com, saying in part: "Trust me, you won't want to leave and miss a hysterical or touching moment... The production, seamlessly directed by Peter Smith, the artistic director of the Tennessee Williams Center at Sewanee, Tennessee, is a satirical yet loving homage to anyone who has ever worked in community theatre, felt like a loser, or been trapped in a small town without pity."

For the full reviews visit <www.nytheatre.com/nytheatre/review_finc.php?t=sout10674> and <artsbeat.blogs.nytimes.com/2010/08/16/fringe-festival-journal-south-pathetic/?ref=arts>.

Bo Bice Headlines Music By the Lake Free Concert Saturday

Bo Bice will headline a free concert Saturday, Aug. 21, for the Music By the Lake event, sponsored by the Franklin County Kiwanis and held at Winchester City Park.

Bice worked the Southern club circuit for years in a number of bands. Although the groups made some inroads, Bice's claim to fame came in 2005, when the unknown singer auditioned for American Idol, wowed the judges with his rendition of "Whipping Post" and reached the show's final round with Carrie Underwood.

Bice topped the charts with "Inside Your Heaven," a single from his 2005 debut "The Real Thing," and went on to tour with the likes of Lynyrd Skynyrd, Willie Nelson and Carlos Santana, as well as appearing at Bonnaroo.

He is currently on tour promoting his latest album, "3." Opening for Bice will be Nashville singer and songwriter Stephen Salyers. Oklahoma native Lainey Edwards will delight attendees with an energetic performance at 6 p.m.

The free concert is in conjunction with a "Pluck-A-Duck" Muscular Dystrophy Association fund-raiser. For a $10 donation to MDA, persons can purchase a duck. Each duck is numbered and throughout the day, ducks will be "plucked." Each 50th duck wins a door prize, with the final plucked duck winning $1,000. Duck purchasers do not have to be present to win door prizes. There are a limited number of ducks for sale.

Children's activities will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. and will include train rides, a rock-climbing wall, dunking booth and blow-ups. A car show and food, drink and ice cream vendors will also be part of the activities. The concert will be at 6 p.m.

Make sure to bring your lawn chairs and blankets for a great evening of entertainment while supporting a worthwhile cause. For more information visit <www.franklincountykiwanis.com>.

FCHS Retires Old Spirit Stick

FCHS will be retiring the old spirit stick this week and initiating a new one. The old stick has been through many spirit battles dating back to the early 1990s. Its condition was such that it could not be repaired; therefore, the old stick will be retired to the last winner, the FCHS Rebel Pride Marching Band, to reside in the band room. The new stick, courtesy of Shaw Enterprises, will be revealed at the pep rally on Friday, Aug. 20.

William Porcher DuBose (April 11, 1836–Aug. 18, 1918)

William Porcher DuBose Remembered

William Porcher DuBose (April 11, 1836–Aug. 18, 1918) was an American Anglican priest and theologian. He spent most of his career as a professor at the University of the South and is remembered on Aug. 18 on the Episcopal Calendar of Lesser Feasts and Fasts.

DuBose attended Mt. Zion College and then the Citadel, where he graduated as ranking cadet in 1855. While at the Citadel, DuBose had a conversion experience that he describes thus: "I leapt to my feet trembling, and then that happened that I can only describe by saying that a light shone about me and a Presence filled the room. At the same time, ineffable joy and peace took possession of me which it is impossible to either express or explain."

In 1856, DuBose entered the University of Virginia. He graduated from that institution with a Master of Arts degree in 1859. Later that same year, he entered the South Carolina diocesan seminary in Camden, S.C. It was during DuBose's seminary studies that the Civil War broke out. After the war, DuBose served St. Stephen's Episcopal Church near his home of Winnsboro, S.C. While there, he also taught Greek at nearby Mt. Zion College.

During the 1870 convention of the Diocese of South Carolina, DuBose received serious consideration for election to the office of bishop. He considered his failure to be elevated to this office a "fortunate escape." In July 1871, he became a professor at the University of the South, became dean of the School of Theology in 1894, retired in 1908 and died in 1918.

DuBose was arguably the major Episcopal theologian in the United States. During his lifetime he published "The Soteriology of the New Testament" (1892), "The Ecumenical Councils" (1896), "The Gospel in the Gospels" (1906), "The Reason of Life" (1911) and "Turning Points in My Life" (1912).

Volunteer-Driven Folks at Home Dedicated to Assisting Members to Stay in Their Homes

Folks at Home (F@H) is a membership-based, volunteer-driven, not-for-profit organization "developed for and dedicated to assisting its members in continuing a dignified and comfortable lifestyle in their homes through services they need or require."

F@H is available to help you get what you want as well!

Two stories come to mind. Due to illness, a gentleman was unable to go pick up his New York Times Sunday newspaper. He made prior arrangements with F@H to have a volunteer pick up and deliver the newspaper to him at his home. Several community members say that they want to continue to go to events, presentations or community meetings, but would like either a companion or driver to help them feel more stable, secure and comfortable going to and from the outings. Folks at Home volunteers are available for these purposes, and many more.

"Asking for help" is often perceived as a burden by the asker; it is actually allowing another to experience the "gift of giving." Folks at Home continues to offer transportation, home visits and consultations and help with tasks, as needed.

F@H has a lending service of safety equipment, and volunteers who will install bath safety bars and handrails in the home. F@H also offers referrals to vetted vendors who are available to hire for services outside the scope of volunteers.

Office hours are 9:30–11:30 a.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, when a F@H volunteer is in the Folks at Home office. Additional office hours vary on Monday through Thursday. Please call to arrange for services or for information about F@H.

People of all ages are invited to join Folks at Home as members, vendors, volunteers, and as advisors, board or committee members. Folks at Home is developed for and dedicated to assisting its members in continuing a dignified and comfortable lifestyle in their homes through services they need or require. "Thank you for your continued support," commented Kathleen O'Donohue, director of Folks at Home. Contact her at Brooks Hall, Otey Memorial Parish, 216 University Ave., P.O. Box 291, Sewanee, TN 37375; by phone, 598-0303 and e-mail <folksathome.sewanee@gmail.com>.

SAS Football Home Opener Today on McGee Field

The SAS football team traveled to White County High School for a jamboree against Pickett County on Friday, Aug. 13. Unfortunately, lightning prevented the teams from playing in the stadium, but the teams did square off in the indoor practice facility for an abbreviated scrimmage.

Though restricted by not being able to pass or run the ball outside due to the size of the indoor field, the Mountain Lions successfully moved the ball on offense with quarterback Evan Morris, tailbacks Robert Post and Kendall Kinslow, and fullback Justin Thomas.

On defense, tackles Storm Hill and Trevor Laymance, along with linebacker Allan Duggar, played well.

The Mountain Lions will play their home opener against the Tennessee School for the Deaf on the University of the South's historic McGee Field today, Aug. 19 at 5 p.m.

SAS Welcomes Record Number of Athletes to Preseason Practice

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School welcomed 69 students to campus for preseason practice, according to Director of Athletics Ellis Mayfield. "This is the largest, most enthusiastic group of student-athletes we have ever seen at our week long boarding camp," said Mayfield.

The athletes include 28 girls' soccer players, 21 volleyball players, and 20 football players. An unusually large number of new students are taking the opportunity of the preseason practices to make new friends and get acquainted with the campus before school starts on Aug. 23.

Schedules for all SAS athletic events are available at <www.sasweb.org/athletics/athletics>.

SAS MS Girls' Soccer Begins Regular Season Tuesday

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee Mountain Lion middle school girls' soccer team opened their season on the road Tuesday with a small-sided scrimmage in Bell Buckle against Webb School.

The transition from practice to competition was a welcome sight for the girls, who settled into their groove during the second half. Sixth-grader Erin Berner-Coe of Sewanee turned the switch to full power for the team as she finished a penalty kick after eighth-grader Emory Babcock of Sewanee was fouled in the box.

For the final 15 minutes of the match, SAS dominated the action, having many opportunities on goal.

"I was very proud to see how our work ethic and fitness played a large role at the end of the match. The shell-shock has worn off. We are ready to take the field," says coach Andrea Fisher.

Seventh-graders Abigail Owsley and Anna Stapleton, both of Sewanee, split time in goal for the Mountain Lions.

SAS opens regular season play Tuesday on the road against Community School of Unionville at 5 p.m. Come show your support!

Overtime with Coach Shack

By John Shackelford

How great is it to be on a team. Pull your jersey over your head and suddenly you are purple...or red, or green and gold, and you belong. You belong to a family. A group that, however eclectic, wants the same thing and is willing to work to get it.

I love to cheer for my team. I cheer for the Packers in the green and gold only because my father was from Wisconsin, and he brought me up on Vince Lombardi. I cheer for the Tar Heels and anyone wearing Carolina Blue because Dad migrated south to chase my mother and to go to law school in Chapel Hill. Believe me, if you are wearing a slightly different shade of blue, and it says Duke on your jersey, I am probably cheering against you.

Brett Favre was my hero in Green Bay for so many years, but what am I to do when he is fighting for the hated Vikings and against my beloved Packers? Fighting the same battle against father time that I am feeling. He is wearing the same dark purple I am selling to kids who want to play for the Tigers on this Mountain.

We like to belong, to be a part of a team. We like to live in a blue state or a red one. We like to label ourselves and label others. We like to cheer and yell at the TV in sports and in the outcomes of elections. It doesn't matter if I have never met Brett Favre or if I really know the Duke kids. I just want to cheer for my side.

The longer I am in this business of coaching, the more those lines begin to gray. The kids wearing blue I want to beat from Washington and Lee are the same kids I tried to convince to bleed purple a few years back when they were visiting Sewanee. When we cross over the sideline at the end of the contest, when we shake hands and reflect on things outside the field of play, when we go back to our studies and our families, we realize that we are part of a much bigger team, a much larger family.

People who want to worship at a mosque in New York aren't really so different from those that want to go to church in Tennessee. Both families have kids, worry about their futures and what is for dinner that night. We may have the urge to put on our team colors and choose sides and root for the home team, but this isn't sport. It's life. And our jersey color has many shades. The larger our team becomes and the more inclusive our family grows to be, the better chance we have to actually win something.

Pull together, work for the same larger ideals—but know I am probably still cheering loudly against JJ Redick (a former Dookie) no matter which pro jersey he is pulling over his head this year.

For Sewanee men's tennis coach John Shackelford, the 2010 college tennis season is his 25th season at the helm of the nationally ranked University of the South tennis program. The most successful men's coach in the history of the University, Shackelford's teams have advanced to the NCAA Division III tournament 14 times, won seven conference championships and have also been listed in the ITA top 10 on four occasions. He has coached 16 All-Americans and 80 all-conference players (33 in the CAC; 47 in the SCAC).

Starting Aug. 17, players of Franklin County Soccer Association and Sewanee Youth Soccer will receive certificates that can be redeemed for a free soccer ball at Heath Automotive, while supplies last. After the 30-day program period, Sewanee Youth Soccer will receive $2 for every Uniroyal® tire sold to the general public on behalf of Uniroyal® Tire and Heath Automotive.

Since the program's inception in 2000, the Uniroyal Soccer Program has provided nearly $13 million in funds and equipment in excess of one million soccer balls, to more than 3,000 youth soccer programs across the U.S. and Canada. As a continuation of the 10th anniversary, Uniroyal® Tire will be giving away a soccer ball every day in 2010. For more information, visit the website at <www.UniroyalTires.com>.

Nature Notes

Yellow-billed Cuckoo Visits

Last week, Henry Ariail found a dead Yellow-billed Cuckoo in his yard on Fox Ridge Lane, and phoned Harry Yeatman, who accepted it to mount for talks. This bird is a common summer resident in the United States and southern Canada, and spends the winters in South America. It is more often heard, calling in a loud series of "ku-ku-ku" etc., and sometimes "cow-cow-cow," than it is seen. It has been called "Rain Crow" and was incorrectly supposed to predict rain approaching. Look for a long-tailed, brown and white bird with a slightly curved yellow and black bill, and a long tail with large white spots, ventrally placed. It is an important insect-eater, dining on the fuzzy tent caterpillars that are now eating our tree leaves way up on the branches. Another cuckoo migrates through Sewanee. It is the Black-billed Cuckoo, which is a smaller bird with a completely black bill and small tail spots. Sometimes these cuckoos lay their eggs in each others' nests, like the large Eurasian Cuckoo. Harry had seen this in his boyhood orchard in Ashwood, Tenn. Harry has made a good mount of the Ariail's bird.

Climbing Foxes

Reese Lohen sent a copy of this picture of a gray fox climbing a tree (we found it online), with the following: "To all cat owners, cat lovers, and lovers of small dogs—Beware of the sly fox. I'm sure baby fox are adorable, but we must remember these are wild animals. As they get older, dog food will not satisfy their cravings. They will dine on your beloved pets. A fox has been in our yard licking his lips, trying to dine on one of my cats, but I caught him before he had a chance to attack. Domestic dogs are not allowed to roam the Domain at will. There is a leash law. Why are fox allowed this privilege? Domestic dogs and cats are required to be vaccinated for rabies yearly. Why the people who are feeding the fox be accountable to make sure the fox are vaccinated? I'm sure the fox have said to themselves, 'Why must I be like that? Why must I crave the cat?' and the answer is 'Nothing but the wild in me.' Protect your pets." Harry Yeatman says the gray fox can climb trees as well as cats can. They will eat a small cat, but coyotes are a bigger danger to cats.

From Bard to Verse

by Scott and Phoebe Bates

I saw a young snake glide
Out of the mottled shade
And hang, limp on a stone;
A thin mouth, and a tongue
Stayed, in the still air.

It turned; it drew away;
Its shadow bent in half;
It quickened, and was gone.

I felt my slow blood warm.
I longed to be that thing,
The pure, sensuous form.

And I may be, some time.
