

Hunger Walk Registration

There are numerous organizations dedicated to addressing the problem of food insecurity in the community, including Morton Memorial and the Community Action Committee. Through a joint effort in the third annual Hunger Walk, the Monteagle Sewanee Rotary Club hopes to raise awareness about these hunger issues as well as raise money to help end them.

The easiest way to help out is to register to walk. The third annual Hunger Walk will be held Saturday, Sept. 2. Registration begins at 8 a.m. at the Angel Park in Sewanee. The walk begins at 9 a.m. Registration is free for children under 12, $10 for students and $20 for adults.

After the walkers complete the 5-mile course from Angel Park to Pearl's and back, they will be treated to refreshments at Angel Park. For more information, go to <www.thehungerwalk.com> or <www.facebook.com/SewaneeHungerWalk/>.

Community Council Considers Adult Transportation Remedies

Promoting Bike Safety; Honors Schlichting

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

In a discussion about the need for public transportation at the Aug. 28 Sewanee Community Council meeting, Vice-Chancellor John McCardell suggested offering a Park and Ride type service on an "experimental basis." The council also discussed ways to encourage student bicyclists to use lights. In closing, McCardell circulated a resolution honoring recently retired superintendent of leases Barbara Schlichting.

Council representative Pixie Dozier said constituents had contacted her about not being able to drive, concerns about driving at night, and the inability to find parking spaces when they did drive.

Some residents expressed the need for transportation to doctor and dentist appointments, according to Dozier, but the need for transportation to events and event parking "was the biggest complaint."

New Expansion at Morton Memorial Church

by Bailey Basham
Messenger Staff Writer

Trees were felled and ground broken on a expansion to Morton Memorial United Methodist Church (MMUMC) four years in the making.

The expansion is the first since the education building was added to Morton in the 1950s.

The church expansion, which will be called the Ministry Center, will add 3,200 square feet for an approximate cost—including furnishings—of $900,000. The building will be connected to the front portion of the existing sanctuary by a hallway. RVC Construction in Winchester is doing the construction.

"I'm so excited because the first thing I say to people about our building is it makes our full campus accessible to anyone that wants to walk in the door," said Rev. Amanda Diamond.

"There was a strategic ministry team in place who had done a lot of work before I arrived five years ago, and we sort of reconfigured that team and spent time talking about how you move into growth. One of the things was how we could begin to be in relationship and partnership with the community."

Diamond said this expansion is another step toward furthering community partnership.

Rich Wyckoff, a member of the church building committee, said space constraints and lack of accessibility are an additional part of what called for the expansion.

"We have just run out of space."

Monteagle Fire Department Needs Are at a Critical Level

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

"We are in an emergency situation. We don't have a fire truck," Fire Chief Mike Holmes told the Monteagle Town Council at the Aug. 28 meeting. Holmes said the fire department also desperately needed 10 air packs, a device worn by firefighters to provide breathable air in a dangerous to life or health situation.

The recent repairs to Engine Number One, the fire department's primary truck, did not solve the problem, Holmes said. Mechanics advised Holmes the 1997 model truck needed a new motor and transmission, estimated cost $50,000-$60,000.

That's too much to spend on a truck whose ISO rating expires this year, Holmes said.

The fire department's 1993 truck, used mainly to haul equipment, won't draw water according to Holmes. Holmes is grateful for the assistance the Monteagle Fire Department has received from Sewanee and Pelham, but stressed, "We need to take care of our own."

Holmes recommended declaring both the department's trucks surplus and replacing them with a single truck. Homes found a 2017 demo truck for $379,000 in Murfreesboro and a 2008 truck for $325,000 in the Midwest, but cautioned, "I don't know when they could deliver it."

The resale value of the 1997 truck is estimated at $60,000-$80,000, Holmes said. The 1993 truck is worth about $15,000. Acknowledging concerns about the cost of a replacement truck, Holmes noted financing was available at 3 percent interest on a 15-year term.

Vice-Mayor Jessica Blalock said in the past a donation from the Monteagle Assembly helped the town purchase a fire truck.

A visitor said The Bridge had a Community Compassion fund which might be able to provide assistance.

Food Ministry at MMUMC

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

In 2006, Sandy Cantrell had a stroke. After a few years of being unable to work, she found herself struggling to put food on the table. A friend told her of a local ministry that provided food assistance to those with food insecurity, and that is when she first visited Morton Memorial United Methodist Church (MMUMC).

Three years later, she is meeting with people once a month, helping distribute meals to those who come for food assistance. Cantrell said the best part about the ministry is that it helps get her out of the house and allows her to meet people.

"My mind doesn't comprehend too much anymore, and I developed Parkinson's disease. But the food ministry helps people who can't afford to go buy groceries. I liked it so much I ended up staying to help. It's a good program, and I would recommend it," said Cantrell.

The Rev. Amanda Diamond of MMUMC said that is just the kind of impression she hopes the food ministry will have on those it assists—what she calls the church's Saturday family.

Resolution of Appreciation

from the Sewanee Community Council

Barbara Schlichting, a lifelong resident of Sewanee, has served our community exceptionally well for many years. From camp counselor and youth center leader as a young woman to her twenty years as the University's superintendent of leases and her service on the Community Council, Barbara has demonstrated an unparalleled commitment to the welfare and well-being of all those who call Sewanee home.

Whether supporting Angel Park, the Legion Hall, or the Sewanee Business Alliance, or working less visibly to aid individuals in need, Barbara can always be counted on to share her time and talents. Hers is a calm, respected voice of truth and reason.

The Sewanee Community Council expresses its profound gratitude to Barbara Schlichting for her devoted service to the Council, looks forward to her continued support of our community, and wishes her many years of happiness (and camping) in a well-deserved retirement.

Passing of Cecil D. Andrus

To the Editor:

I note, with sadness, the passing of Cecil D. Andrus last week at the age of 85. Governor Andrus was Interior Secretary under President Jimmy Carter and, together, they successfully set aside 100 million acres in Alaska for federal conservation, protected California Rivers and mitigated pollution of streams in Appalachia. How sad to see the reversal of these good works which endured for almost 40 years. The current administration needs to take a hard look at the treasures they have undone and exposed to unnecessary exploitation.

Stephen Burnett, Sewanee ■

Make America Great Again

To the Editor:

The only way to make America great again is from 2 Chronicles 7:14: "If my people who are called by my name shall humble themselves and pray and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from Heaven, forgive their sins and heal their land."

Jan Seigmund, Sewanee ■

All Saints' Chapel

The Catechumenate begins Wednesday, Sept. 6, at 6:30 p.m. in the Bairnwick Women's Center with meal catered by Mountain Goat Market. Catechumenate, from a Greek word meaning "learning and exploring," is a place where we explore what it means to be a human being and what it means to be a person of faith in our community. This is a great place to meet new people and build relationships. Food, prayer, questions, and conversation power this process. Email Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep at <kayla.deep@sewanee.edu> for directions or more information.

Growing in Grace will begin Sunday, Sept. 10, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel. Fran McKendree, musician and storyteller, will be joining us. This informal worship service is designed for students and community members with student-led acoustic music, guest speakers, and Holy Communion. This Advent semester, our Growing in Grace speakers will address the times in life in which we are compelled to take "The Long Road." What pushes us to take the more arduous path when a shortcut is readily available? What do we encounter when we take a "scenic route" on our journey? We hope to explore these questions and many more this semester at Growing in Grace. Email Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep at <kayla.deep@sewanee.edu> with any questions or more information. We hope to see you there.

Cumberland Presbyterian

The Sewanee Cumberland Presbyterian Church will have a weekly Bible Study at 10 a.m., Wednesdays, at the church on Cumberland Circle. All are welcome to attend.

Christ Church

"Few Americans know that the Sunday before Labor Day was once widely known as 'Labor Sunday.' In a remarkable period of cooperation between the developing Labor movement and the leadership of many to the Protestant Churches across the United States, church bulletins and newspapers proclaimed the need for respect for the dignity of those who labored with their hands and bodies. While the Roman Catholic Church, with its rich liturgical heritage, and the Orthodox Church, with its own, never printed an actual notice, clergy and laity and even acolytes marched in parades and they showed their own forms of support." This quote from an article of many years ago will be part of Christ Church Monteagle's celebration of the coming weekend.

Bishop Millsaps points out that there are hymns which are perfect for such a day. Many of the "labor" hymns will be sung this Sunday at Christ Church and visitors are always expected and welcomed. Also a special offering for help with needs of those suffering from Hurricane Harvey will be taken.

The service begins around 10:30 a.m. and lunch always follows the service.

Otey Adult Forum

The Adult Forum at Otey Parish Church meets at 10 a.m. in St. Mark's Hall on Sundays. This year the theme is Contemporary Christian Voices. The intention of this year's series is to express a diversity of Christian points of view, especially in relation to topics of compelling interest. The leaders who will be dealt with range from Pope Francis to prominent theologians to the organizers of local charitable enterprises and social services. Some of the subject-matter will be controversial.

On Sunday, Sept. 3, the Rector of Otey, Robert Lamborn, will speak on "Life after Hate: The Experience of a Former White Supremacist." The following Sunday, Sept. 10, Karen Meridith, director of the Education for Ministry program at the School of Theology, will speak on "After Charlottesville: The Episcopal Church Responds to White Supremacy."

Otey Parish

In Christian Formation at 10 a.m., Sunday, Sept. 3, the Lectionary Class will explore Sunday's gospel in the Adult Education Room. Children ages

3–11 are invited to meet their friends for Godly Play. Youth Sunday School will meet in Brooks Hall. Infants 6 weeks to children 4 years old are invited to the nursery beginning at 8:30 a.m. until after the second service.

Provost Nancy Berner said Folks at Home offered a list of registered drivers who provided transportation on a fee basis.

"There aren't many Folks at Home drivers," Dozier pointed out.

Council representative Rich Barrali suggested using University vans for transporting residents to events.

McCardell said the University "wasn't adverse" to the idea, but it raised many questions. How many vans would be needed? Where would people be picked up? And where would they park to be picked up? An event Park and Ride service could be tried on "an experimental basis," McCardell suggested.

Sewanee Police Chief Marie Eldridge said the Park and Ride solution didn't help residents who couldn't drive.

Council representative Theresa Shackelford said Folks at Home Executive Director Kathleen O'Donohue applied for a grant to bring the Uber ride service to the community, but the service area wasn't broad enough to qualify for funding.

McCardell proposed conducting a survey to determine "what the greatest need is" and "to gauge interest."

Council representative Pam Byerly, Dozier, and Police Chief Eldridge will serve on a committee charged with investigating transportation options and soliciting community input.

Turning to the issue of bike safety, Barrali said student bicyclists who neglected to use their lights at night and during foggy weather were "an accident waiting to happen."

Council student representative Abbey Shockley said students likely didn't consider the danger and a reminder would be a good idea.

Council representative Flournoy Rogers suggested signs on bike racks.

Eldridge will communicate the message to students through Residential Life. State law requires bicyclists to use their lights at night. "The law hasn't been enforced," Eldridge said. "I prefer communication first, then enforcement and citations."

Barrali stressed bicycle lights needed to be readily available and inexpensive. He speculated fraternities and sororities might want to "push" the project.

McCardell's resolution honoring lifelong Sewanee resident Barbara Schlichting, highlighted her generosity and commitment to community service, noting she could "always be counted on to share her time" whether supporting organizations "or working less visibly to aid individuals in need." Schlichting served as the University's superintendent of leases for 20 years. See page 2 for the complete resolution.

Dozier announced the Project Funding Review Committee was behind and working diligently to catch up. The Project Funding initiative, a program of the community council, annually awards $10,000 to worthy community projects.

The fire department's need for 10 new air packs is also of crucial importance according to Holmes. "We're putting fire fighters' lives in danger," he said. The department only has eight functioning air packs; all have exceeded their recommended shelf life.

Holmes estimated the cost for the new air packs at $60,000 and suggested the money from the fire department's replacement budget could be used for the purchase.

City Recorder Debbie Taylor said she didn't think there was any money in the replacement budget due to the need for a new building to house the fire department.

Mayor David Sampley agreed the situation was "urgent." The council will consult with the accountant to discuss the town's options.

The council approved on second reading the ordinance reducing the term of mayor and alderman to two years and the ordinance requiring fencing to screen from view vehicles and other conveyances in a junked condition. Fencing ordinance violators will be fined $50 per day.

The council also approved the Utility Department's request for purchase of a Kubota hydrostat tractor from Brothers Implement. The tractor currently used by the Utility Department "has been giving constant problems," Sampley said.

Brothers agreed to take the current tractor on trade-in reducing the cost to $15,500. The Utility Department's budget contained sufficient funds to make the purchase, Sampley confirmed.

A visitor asked how urgent the situation was and proposed allocating the money to purchase a new fire truck instead.

"You can't take money from one department's budget and give it to another department," Blalock explained.

Sampley introduced a discussion about motorists speeding on Monteagle's side streets where the speed limit is 30 mph. Utility Department employees were reluctant to work on Laurel Lake Drive due to the speeding and traffic, Sampley said, and on Fairmont Ave., the "Slow Children at Play" and speed limit signs "had been run down."

Sampley recommended reducing the speed limit to 20 mph on side streets to ensure "the safety and welfare of the citizens."

"We need to enforce what we have now," Alderman Kenneth Bishop said. "Twenty miles per hour is way too slow."

Blalock suggested lowering the speed limit in specific locations such as around DuBose Conference Center.

Past discussions about lowering the speed limit to 20 mph on Laurel Lake Drive incited strong opposition from residents.

The council voted to lower the speed limit to 20 mph on side streets, excluding Laurel Lake Drive, on a trial basis. Sampley abstained from the vote, explaining he favored lowering the speed limit to 20 mph on all side streets.

The city is in the process of changing the speed limit signs. The speed limit on Main Street (State Hwy. 41) will continue to be 35 mph in the residential and business part of town.

The council meets next on Sept. 25.

"One of the things we really believe in is sitting with our Saturday family. We have people in our congregation who just come to sit and listen. We don't always do a great job, but we try to make everybody that comes in our door feel like they're a part of us. We know their stories. We know when they're struggling to put mortgages together or when their lights might get turned off or when they may need an extra set of diapers for the kids," said Diamond. "We are that place where you can come—we can't fill your pantry but we can provide you with a few meals of sustainable food."

Diamond said Cantrell has been involved with the ministry since the beginning.

"The very first time we asked for volunteers to help us, she quickly and readily stepped forward and was willing to assist us in whatever form we needed. After a few months of assisting us with the registration process we asked her to be part of our monthly team meetings, and once again, she stepped forward willing to help. She attends our monthly team meetings and comes early on the second Saturday of every month in order to begin the process of saying hello and handing out the numbers we use in the registration process. Then she moves to the check-in and registration table ensuring that both our recipients and the Food Ministry has all that it needs from each person," said Diamond.

According to Laura Kilpatrick, Director of Agency and Government Relations for the Chattanooga Area Food Bank, helping communities with food insecurity is just one part of their goal. MMUMC gets supplementary provisions from the Chattanooga Area Food Bank each month.

"Food is the bridge to great things. It's a part of our culture, and our goal as an organization is to build these relationships with other entities that provide other social services that can address all the needs of the home to help build them out of poverty," said Kilpatrick. "What are some other things we can help with? How do we connect to these families that have children? What other services can we provide? We're trying to use food as the vehicle to get people to congregate and bring in other services to work on long-term sustainability with families."

Cantrell said anyone in need of help shouldn't feel ashamed to come to Morton.

"You don't have to give anything. If you need help, you don't have to be shy about it. Just come in and get what you need," she said.

The next food ministry at Morton is Saturday, Sept. 9, beginning around 8:30 a.m. Volunteers are also encouraged to come help unload food shipments on Thursday, Sept. 7 at 12:30 p.m.

And currently, if you're in a wheelchair, we're not accessible. Back in 1902, when the church was built, you didn't worry about accessibility. This expansion will provide that into the sanctuary and into the bathrooms," said Wyckoff. "We do the food ministry, that's held upstairs in the education building, and roughly a third of our recipients are not physically able to go up the stairs. We're also going to put in a cooler and freezer in the new building, which will help get a wider variety of foods. Currently, if food needs refrigeration, we can't store it. This will help to expand the fresh produce and dairy offerings to our recipients. The expansion is going to really help us with our different ministries."

Wyckoff said a fellowship lunch for congregation members on Sundays has previously been spread over three different rooms in the church.

"This will give us a place to fellowship all together in one place," he said. "The new facility will accommodate a table to seat 150 people."

The project is about three weeks in and is slated to be finished in 15–18 months.

"The community is going to have needs—we don't know what they are yet. You look at Monteagle, and there's not a big spot for community gatherings. Something is going to develop. There may be a need out there that we have not identified yet that this building will help fill," said Wyckoff.

The stonework on the original building will be matched on the expansion to preserve the integrity of the look of the church, according to Wyckoff.

"We really see our building as an extension of the community," said Diamond.

Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over

The end of summer is traditionally marked by the Labor Day holiday, a time for our country to reflect on the hard work of our fellow Americans. The long weekend is typically celebrated through picnics, pool parties, and barbecues, as families and friends enjoy the last few days of summer before fall and winter approach. Sadly, the Labor Day holiday is also one of the deadliest, with drunk drivers endangering themselves and others on America's roadways. This year, Sewanee Police Department is partnering with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) to stop drunk drivers and help save lives. The high-visibility national enforcement campaign, Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over, runs through Sept. 4. During this period, local law enforcement will show zero tolerance for drunk driving. Increased state and national messages about the dangers of driving impaired, coupled with enforcement and increased officers on the road, aim to drastically reduce drunk driving on our nation's roadways.

"We're stressing the dangers of driving impaired to our community," said Chief Eldridge. "Drunk driving is a massive problem in the United States, with more than 10,000 people dying annually. If you're out on the roads and you see someone driving drunk, please call us. You could help save a life," she said.

Sewanee Police Department and NHTSA are reminding citizens of the many resources available to get them home safely. "Drunk driving is not acceptable behavior," said Chief Eldridge. "It is essential to plan a sober ride home before you ever leave for the party. That's why, during the Labor Day holiday, we will make zero exceptions for drunk driving. There are just no excuses," she said.

Sewanee Police Department recommends safe alternatives to drinking and driving:

Remember that it is never okay to drink and drive. Even if you've had one alcoholic beverage, designate a sober driver or plan to use public transportation to get home safely.

Download the NHTSA's SaferRide mobile app available on Google Play for Android devices and Apple's iTunes Store for iOS devices. SaferRide allows users to call a taxi or a predetermined friend, and identifies the user's location so he or she can be picked up.

If you see a drunk driver on the road, contact Sewanee Police Department.

Have a friend who is about to drink and drive? Take the keys away and make arrangements to get your friend home safely.

Give to the Hurricane Harvey Recovery Fund

Texas may be called the Lone Star state, but this time they cannot do it alone. As the aftermath of Hurricane Harvey hit Houston, the National Weather Service issued a dire warning: "This event is unprecedented," and "Beyond anything experienced."

Such has indeed been the case, as rainfall has been measured by feet, not inches, and the flooding disaster has left death and destruction across East Texas and beyond.

The Hurricane Harvey Recovery Fund has been established by The Community Foundation of Middle Tennessee to help in what will be an extensive, ongoing relief effort. Grants from the Fund will be made to nonprofits providing assistance both immediate and long term, and 100 percent of donations made will go directly toward recovery efforts. Now is the time to give. To donate to the Hurricane Harvey Recovery Fund, go to <<https://www.cfmt.org>>.

Elected to serve three-year terms on the DREMC board of directors were, from left, Barry Cooper, Mike England, Dana Salters, Anthony Kimbrough and Philip Duncan. Salters was appointed to fill the unexpired term of former Maury County Director Bob DuBois.

INTRAMUSCULAR STIMULATION/DRY NEEDLING

My last article included detailed information about Intramuscular Stimulation/Dry Needling or IMS/DN and how it can relax muscle spasms and relieve pain. In this article, I would like to talk about another therapy that I offer in my practice which is Spinal Decompression Therapy.

Spinal Decompression is the latest technology in traction which is used to treat neck and lower back pain. It has proven very beneficial in the treatment of spinal degeneration, arthritis, degenerative disc disease, bulging discs, and sciatica in a high percentage of patients. The traction therapy is administered on a table that looks similar to a chiropractic adjustment table or roller table with apparatuses attached to perform the traction or decompression. It is a very safe piece of equipment that delivers gentle traction of the joints of the neck and or lower back. When this gentle traction occurs, pressure between the spinal discs is relieved which allows blood flow to reach the area. Where there is blood flow, there are nutrients which the discs and tissues need in order to heal.

If you have any of the above mentioned health problems and would like to embark upon a noninvasive option for treatment, give us a call at Shull Chiropractic Clinic, PLLC at 931-967-4232. I am offering a complimentary consultation to anyone who would like see if they are a candidate for Spinal Decompression Therapy.

Sewanee Welcomes New College Faculty

The University is pleased to welcome several new tenure-track faculty members in the College, along with other new faculty and the Brown Foundation and Tennessee Williams Fellows for 2017-2018.

Julie Garai, assistant professor of statistics, earned a B.S. from Doane College and a master's and Ph.D. from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Her research is in educational analytics, specifically in developing value-added model methodology for small school systems. She will also help to improve the statistical applications and extensions of current research being conducted at Sewanee.

Melody Lehn comes to Sewanee as assistant professor of rhetoric and women's & gender studies, as well as assistant director of the Center for Speaking and Listening. A graduate of Furman University with a master's and Ph.D. from the University of Memphis, Lehn studies the ways that language imagines and sustains democratic practices and communities, with an emphasis on the intersections of rhetoric, politics and gender. She has a special interest in the rhetoric of and about U.S. political women as first ladies, as political candidates and as elected officials.

Alison Miller earned a B.A. from Northern Illinois University and master's and Ph.D. from the University of Kansas. An assistant professor of art history, she focuses on modern and contemporary Japanese art history with secondary specializations in Buddhist art, transnational contemporary art, and museum studies. Miller's primary interest is in the depiction of women in 19th- and 20th-century visual culture, and how these images impacted ideas of femininity, gender and class in the modern era.

Tao Song, assistant professor of economics, conducts research that focuses on the relationship between local economic development and socio-economic assimilation of immigrants in the U.S. He also studies the impact of skill-based technological change on local economies. Song earned a B.B.A. from the University of New Brunswick; an M.A. from the University of Alberta; and a Ph.D. from the University of Connecticut.

Keri Watson, C'12, returns to Sewanee as assistant professor of earth and environmental sciences. In addition to her B.S. from the University of the South, she is receiving a Ph.D. from the University of Vermont. Her research focuses on ecosystem services, or the benefits that people receive from nature. Watson studies land cover change, its impact on ecosystem services and trade-offs between ecosystem services and biodiversity conservation.

Special appointments this year include:

Jody Allen will be at Sewanee for the 2017-18 academic year as visiting assistant professor of history. She is the Lemon Project co-chair and managing director at the College of William and Mary, and in addition to teaching, will work with the Sewanee Slavery Project during her time on campus. Allen visited Sewanee last April, speaking to a large audience about William and Mary's multifaceted attempt to rectify wrongs perpetrated against African Americans. She has a B.A. from the University of Delaware; an M.S. from Michigan State University; and a Ph.D. from the College of William & Mary.

Sewanee alumna Laurie Fowler is a Brown Foundation Fellow at the University this year. She earned a B.A. from the University of the South; a J.D. from the University of Georgia; and an LL.M. from the University of Washington. Fowler is the director for policy at the UGA River Basin Center, which uses an interdisciplinary approach to involve faculty and students in the development of management and policy tools based on the best freshwater science. At the University of Georgia, she is also executive director of public service and external affairs at the Odum School of Ecology and on the clinical faculty at the School of Law.

Daniel Groves is a Tennessee Williams Fellow and visiting professor of English. He is the author of "The Lost Boys" and co-editor, with Greg Williamson, of Jiggery-Pokery Semicentennial. His poetry has been published in Paris Review, Yale Review, and Poetry, among others. Groves has a B.A. and M.A. from Johns Hopkins University; an M.F.A. from Ohio State University; and a Ph.D. from the University of Cincinnati.

Work Based Learning at GCHS: an Opportunity for Adventure

*by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer*

Beginning this fall, Grundy County High School (GCHS) students have the opportunity to serve as interns and shadow career professionals as part of their high school curriculum in conjunction with a unique Work Based Learning (WBL) program made possible by a grant from the Tennessee Department of Education (TDE).

"Work Based Learning gives students an opportunity to see firsthand what they might want to do after high school while preparing them for what is expected on the job," said Natalie Nunley, Transitional Case Manager for the new program.

Seventeen students have enrolled in GCHS's two WBL classes which meet daily. In the classroom, students take career assessment tests and participate in mock interviews. Career professionals who visit the classes talk about what they do and what is expected of a good employee.

Just two weeks into the school year, the owner of a local bakery and an officer from the United States Army have already visited the classes.

Key to the WBL program's mission is reinforcing academic, technical and social skills through collaborative activities with industry.

"We want all the WBL students to be placed in either a paid or unpaid position," Nunley said. "We've had quite a bit of support from the community, especially for unpaid intern positions."

"A student interested in cars might have a shadow job with a mechanic," she explained, "observing what a mechanic does and what the job involves."

"Interns work about four hours a day," Nunley said. "Students with good attendance and good grades can leave school early."

"An employer offering a paid intern position is eligible for tax incentives up to $9,000," Nunley stressed. She urged employers and community members wanting more information to contact her at nnunley@grundyk12.com.

Two GCHS teachers recently received certification qualifying them to teach the WBL classes. WBL Instructors must hold a Tennessee teaching license and have non-teaching work experience.

"GCHS had a program similar to this years ago," Nunley said. The TDE introduced updated WBL policies and resources beginning in the 2015-16 school year. Renewed interest in WBL grew out of Governor Haslam's "Drive to 55" commitment to get 55 percent of Tennesseans equipped with a college degree or certificate by the year 2025.

"For students work based learning serves as a transition to full-time employment or further education," Nunley said.

What students learn can be as simple as knowing tank tops are generally not appropriate attire for a job interview or as intriguing as finding out what goes on behind those doors marked "Authorized Personnel Only."

BOOKMARKED

A Column for Young Adult Readers and Adults Who Appreciate The Genre

by Margaret Stephens

“Bake!”

As my Facebook friends have heard ad nauseam, I don’t travel. But a few weeks ago I accompanied my daughter on the first leg of her travels abroad. She had a grant from her college’s theater department and ended up at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival, where she saw at least two shows a day. I made it as far north as York, a city I love because it reminds me so much of the long-ago year my family lived in a village near Nottingham, where my father was teaching.

The mile walk from our B and B into York proper took me back to hurrying behind my older brother to the village square where we caught the red double-decker for the regional grammar school. We toted heavy leather book satchels across our blue blazers, but Thursdays—what came to be my family’s favorite day—I also carried a round wicker basket to bring home whatever we concocted in cookery class. Lemon curd, rock cakes, scones, jam tarts—those were hits. And kedgeree, a kind of fish hash, not so much.

I planned to revisit some of those tastes in York’s many bakeries, a wish exacerbated by two preparatory months of watching “The Great British Baking Show,” which duPont had just gotten on DVD. If you haven’t seen it, I can’t recommend it enough. Caution: start at the beginning of a season and watch episodes in order to get the full thrill when a favorite baker survives or heartbreak when he/she doesn’t.

I ran out of bakery-visit-time, and never did get to try a Victorian sandwich (jam-filled cake), among too many others. I did taste frangipane, a word so savory I walk around the house repeating it to myself. I rediscovered that the low-fat scones I’ve been making for decades are nothing like the real thing, especially when the latter is spread with clotted cream and jam.

So I’m just going to have to revert to my 12-year-old British-taught baking skills. I’m reading “Baking With Mary Berry: Cakes, Cookies, Pastries and Pies from the British Queen of Baking” (and one of the show’s judges), and I’m much heartened by one reviewer’s claim that if you can read her book, you can bake.

The book begins with basic techniques and has ample photos, which make even something as complicated-sounding as crème patissière seem not so daunting. There are plenty of British basics—scones! Bakewell and treacle tarts!—as well as others I think of as more American, like key lime pie. Yum.

For more substantial bakes, I’m looking at Cyril Hitz’s “Baking Artisan Pastries and Breads.” Because he strongly urges readers to study his chapter on the science of cooking, I’m learning a lot about what sugar, for instance, actually does to its fellow ingredients. I thought I knew enough from my old standby, “Laurel Kitchen’s Bread Book,” but this is even more thorough and has enticing photos throughout.

It’s astounding how much butter these recipes contain though, so I’m also looking at Avner Laskin’s “Deliciously Healthy Baking” book. Butter gives way to oil, and whole wheat and rye recipes abound.

Will I actually break down and bake real scones or my own Victorian sponge, flinging sugar and butter caution to the winds? I’ll let you know. Meanwhile, if you need anyone to try out your baking experiments, please call.

FCHS to Honor Past Football Players

Football players from Central High School (Winchester) and Franklin County High School (Decherd) from before 1949 when the schools closed, along with Townsend players from before 1965 when it closed, will be recognized at the Sept. 15 Franklin County High School Homecoming Game.

The schools were merged over the years into Franklin County High School. All players will meet before the game in the parking lot under the JumboTron and will sit in a special area during the game, which begins at 7 p.m.

There will also be a special emphasis on the 50th anniversary of the 1967 team, which many consider one of the best in the county's history. This team included Raymond Bonner, Greg O'Neal, Jimmy Moss, Ed Miller, Dwight Gray and Phillip Fulmer. These former players and their teammates will be recognized at halftime and also lead the homecoming parade.

Sewanee finished 19th in the final GolfStat rankings, averaging 75.85 strokes per round in 2016-17.

Along with Sewanee, Rhodes (8), Oglethorpe (11), Berry (17), Centre (RV) and Birmingham-Southern (RV) were in the preseason poll.

Texas Tyler, who finished third in the NCAA Championships in 2016-17, earned the top spot in the preseason poll.

The next Bushnell Golfweek Coaches Polls will be released September 29.

Sewanee will open the 2017-18 season with the SAA Preview at the Graystone Golf Club in Dickson, Tenn. The two-round tournament begins on Sunday, Sept. 10.

Totality

To watch the solar eclipse Aug. 21, we joined members of the Tennessee Trails Association at Virgin Falls State Natural Area near Sparta. It was cloudier than we had hoped, but the clouds parted often enough to give us good glimpses as the eclipse progressed. Most importantly, we were favored with a clear view of totality for the whole duration. It was just as amazing as predicted, especially the difference between just a little sliver of sun and totality. Clouds on the horizon opposite the sun took on the colors of sunset and Venus shone brightly in the sky in the middle of the day. We were not able to see other stars and planets near the sun due to the surrounding clouds.

I didn't see Bailey's Beads but I did see the "diamond ring" just before and just after totality (the latter without my glasses, for just an instant, accidentally!) Blazingly brilliant. We also got to see the shadow bands just before totality, flickering on the ground.

If you didn't get to see this one, or if you have been bitten by the eclipse bug, there is another good opportunity before too many years pass to see a total solar eclipse in North America in 2024 on April 8. It doesn't pass through Tennessee, but sweeps from Mexico up through Texas, passing just west of Tennessee and continuing through New England into Canada. Mark your calendars!

Pets of the Week

Meet Christine & Remy

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Christine is my name. Cute and cuddly is my game. I am a beautiful four-month-old Dilute Calico. My favorite hobbies include curling up in a lap, playing with my siblings and the other kitties here at Animal Harbor, and enjoying a midday nap.

Looking for love in all the right places? Then look no further! Meet Remy! He is a gorgeous five-month-old Silver Tabby. His favorite things are following you around to be loved, collecting cat toys, and dining on a fine cuisine of kitchen chow followed with catnip. Both Christine and Remy are negative for FIV/FeLV, up-to-date on shots and altered.

Animal Harbor offers substantial adoption fee discounts for veterans and seniors. Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than four-months-old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.
