Werner Museum a Trove of Military History

by Kevin Cummings, Messenger Staff Writer

In the front room sits an M3 Stuart tank parked next to a M20 Ford Greyhound armored vehicle equipped with a 50-caliber Browning machine gun, both from the WWII era.

There are a few other military vehicles, impressive and interesting, but the collection seems small—hold on, there's another room.

"We opened the door last Friday and there was some guy who was like, 'Wow!' He was like a kid in a candy store; he'd never seen nothing like this," said Freddy Cunningham, a board member of the Sam H. Werner Military Museum in Monteagle.

The back room of the museum is expansive, with a convoy of military history parked on the gleaming floor. The interior is 28,500 feet housing 55 pieces, mostly vehicles, ranging from WWI to Desert Storm, with at least 20 more pieces to come, said Ron Alred, executor of the Werner estate.

"Check us in a year from now. We'll be totally different," he said. The museum opened on May 3, made up primarily from Werner's private collection in Tracy City. "Bud," as everyone called him, died in 2011, two days shy of his 78th birthday, and in his will he tasked six friends with opening a museum in his name.

Poet Marilyn Nelson Reading for the Haines Memorial Lecture

The English Department is pleased to announce that the Stacy Allen Haines Memorial Lecture this year will be a reading by poet Marilyn Nelson.

The reading will take place on Thursday, September 21, at 4:30 p.m. in Gailor Auditorium. Both the reading and the book signing to follow are free and open to the public.

Nelson, who taught at Sewanee in the spring of 2011 and received an honorary degree in 2014, is the author of "Faster Than Light" (LSU Press), which won the Milton Kessler Poetry Award. "The Homeplace" (LSU Press) was a finalist for the National Book Award. "The Fields of Praise: New and Selected Poems" (LSU Press) won the Poets' Prize and was a finalist for the National Book Award, the PEN Winship Award, and the Lenore Marshall Prize. "The Cachoiera Tales and Other Poems" (LSU Press) won the L.E. Phillabaum Poetry Award and was a finalist for the Los Angeles Times Book Award.

Her young adult books include "Carver: A Life in Poems" (Front Street), which received the Flora Stieglitz Straus Award and the Boston Globe-Horn Book Award, was a National Book Award finalist, and was designated both a Newbery Honor Book and a Coretta Scott King Honor Book. Another of her young adult books, "A Wreath for Emmett Till" (Houghton Mifflin Harcourt Books for Young Readers), also won the Boston Globe-Horn Book Award and was designated a Coretta Scott King Honor Book, a Michael L. Printz Honor Book, and a Lee Bennett Hopkins Poetry Award Honor Book.

PLEASE SPAY OR NEUTER YOUR PETS

To the Editor:

Thank you all for saving the lives of unwanted, dumped and abandoned dogs/puppies. Your support through fostering, donations, volunteering and general encouragement makes all this possible.

Seventy-eight dogs/puppies were sent by MARC to forever homes up in New England through Great Dog Rescue New England in August 2017.

Although it is wonderful that such cute puppies and dogs get loving families, the fact that we had 78 dogs/puppies who needed good homes is a terrible thing. There are way too many dogs/puppies and cats/kittens being born and who have to suffer horrible lives just because too many humans, who are supposed to care for and protect other creatures do not. We cannot keep finding good homes or allow the suffering of unwanted litters.

Dogs and cats must be spayed or neutered. Please spread the word to everyone you know. There are so many resources for people to get their animals altered. Many organizations have grants to help low-income people. Low cost spay/neuter clinics offer very affordable procedures.

Contact MARC or Animal Alliance or Animal Harbor. Any one of them can help or direct you to where you can get these procedures done.

MARC message line to schedule, leave a message: (423) 240-9074

Animal Alliance: (931) 235-9006

Animal Harbor: (931) 962-4472

Or go to <spaytennessee.org> to find a low cost spay/neuter clinic or assistance near you.

Sue Scruggs, MARC ■

WAKE UP AMERICA

To the Editor:

Used to be that anyone who had long hair and a beard and rode a Harley was an outlaw, even though true outlaws comprised only one percent of the motorcycle-riding population.

Likewise, anyone who had served in Vietnam was considered to be a monster, even though true psychopathic killers were in short supply over there.

Now, it's become anything and anyone that favors the Old South is a representative of hatred and bigotry, while true hate-mongers are in the minority.

This illogical nonsense needs to end before it guts our country.

Don Shannonhouse, Monteagle ■

SAFETY ISSUE ON OUR DOORSTEP

To the Editor:

As we worry about those in the path of the latest hurricane, I want to point out a safety issue on Sewanee's back doorstep.

Once again, the old Alto Road (aka Roark's Cove Road) that drops down from Woodlands and twists its way to the valley, has become a hazard to those who must travel it in the dark or on any foggy day. The white edging and center lines have worn off. As anyone who's driven in mountain fog knows, those lines are often the only guide to where a road actually is—of particular concern on this road, which runs only feet from the mountain's steep edge.

I've driven it at all hours for more than 20 years, but when one of "those" fogs hit, even I can get disoriented. One night last year, thinking I'd started down the mountain, I discovered I'd actually turned into a Woodlands side lane. (No white lines on that section of road either.) I ended up calling the Sewanee police for an escort down past the fog line. One graciously guided me down, but from his speed, I think he was as unnerved as I was.

When I called the highway department, I was told that environmental regulations disallow using any other than short-lived water-based paint, and that lining is "very expensive" ($380/mile).

I'd like to point out that if expense trumps safety, we don't have to have the whole road lined: just the mile or so down to the fog line.

One bad accident on that road, and all attention will turn to this issue. I'd prefer not to be the driver who goes over the edge. I may not earn a lot at my job, but surely my life is worth more than $380.

Thank you for your attention.

Margaret Stephens, Decherd ■

Working groups have been formed around broad issues, including health care, immigration, environment, local politics, education and more. SOA members have made hundreds of phone calls and sent letters and emails to members of Congress. They have arranged meetings with elected representatives, organized town meetings and panel discussions, and sponsor a "Honk for Health Care" rally every Monday evening in Winchester.

As we move toward the upcoming legislative session and, more importantly, the 2018 elections, the group is planning to sponsor an informational panel on state and local government, host debates between candidates, and reach out to partner with other groups that are working toward progressive ends.

SOA follows the Indivisible strategy, which is available at <<https://www.indivisibleguide.com>> and models the values of inclusion, respect and fairness. All are welcome to attend the meeting, join a working group if they wish, and contribute to this important work. For more information, email <sewaneeorganizeandact@gmail.com>.

All Saints' Chapel

Growing in Grace continues Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel. Fran McKendree, musician and storyteller, will be joining us. This informal worship service is designed for students and community members with student-led acoustic music, guest speakers and Holy Communion. This Advent semester, our Growing in Grace speakers will address the times in life in which we are compelled to take "The Long Road." What pushes us to take the more arduous path when a shortcut is readily available? What do we encounter when we take a "scenic route" on our journey? We hope to explore these questions and many more this semester at Growing in Grace. We hope to see you there.

The Catechumenate continues Wednesday, Sept. 13, at 7 p.m. in the Bairnwick Women's Center with deserts and coffee. Catechumenate, from a Greek word meaning "learning and exploring," is a place where we explore what it means to be a human being and what it means to be a person of faith in our community. This is a great place to meet new people and build relationships. Food, prayer, questions and conversation power this process. Email Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep at <kayla.deep@sewanee.edu> for directions or more information.

Otey Adult Forum

This year the theme for Adult Form is Contemporary Christian Voices. The intention of this year's series is to express a diversity of Christian points of view, especially in relation to topics of compelling interest. The leaders who will be dealt with range from Pope Francis to prominent theologians to the organizers of local charitable enterprises and social services. Some of the subject-matter will be controversial.

On Sunday, Sept. 17, the Adult Forum at Otey will have a special treat with an opportunity to ask questions on a topic of widespread interest.

When have we had a chance to discuss Africa with someone who knows the subject firsthand? Amy Patterson, who teaches politics at the University of the South, and her whole family will give a presentation on "The Church in Africa: the View from Ghana." Her husband Neil and their two children Sophia and Isabel will talk about their experiences. The Adult Forum will gather in St. Mark's Hall at 10 a.m. on Sunday. All are welcome.

Otey Parish

In Christian Formation at 10 a.m., Sunday, Sept. 17, the Lectionary Class will explore Sunday's gospel in the Adult Education Room. Children ages 3–11 are invited to meet their friends for Godly Play. Youth Sunday School will meet in Brooks Hall. Infants 6 weeks to children 4 years old are invited to the nursery beginning at 8:30 a.m. until after the second service.

Starting Monday, Sept. 18, join us for a 10-week study of The Gospel according to Mark on Mondays, noon–1 p.m., in the Adult Education Room of Claiborne Hall at Otey Parish. Bring your Bible and your lunch. For more information contact Shelley

Alred and Cunningham were among those six who appreciated the eccentric man and his vast array of military vehicles.

"Well, we'll use the word 'different,'" Alred said about Bud. "He was reclusive but could be your best friend in the world."

"He was our best friend," Cunningham added.

The Werners were a pioneering and influential family in Tracy City, who operated a coal business and later a large lumber mill. The mill at one time employed 75 men, but closed in 1942. Alred said the Werners helped bring water and electricity to Tracy City, as well as a phone co-op now known as Ben Lomand.

Alred, 66, first met Bud and Bud's dad Sam when he was a little kid and Alred's dad would visit the Werners to purchase parts. Cunningham, 67, also got to know the Werners as a child because his grandfather would hunt with Sam. Cunningham worked for Bud for a year after high school.

"They started buying (military) surplus right after WWII," Alred said. "They started buying trucks and truck parts and that's how they got started. Then they figured out they'd make a little money selling surplus and salvage."

Bud, a Georgia Tech grad, served in the military in Germany from 1956-58. Alred and Cunningham said he loved military history and had a particular fascination with Camp Forrest, a WWII training facility and German internment camp in Tullahoma.

There are a number of items on display from Camp Forrest, including the last U.S. flag to fly there. That same display case also includes a map reportedly from the Nazi headquarters known as Kehlsteinhaus, or the "Eagle's Nest," where Adolf Hitler and other Third Reich leaders met in the German Bavarian Alps.

But the museum's center pieces may be the four small prototype jeeps, which were designed for the combat glider program in WWII, but never went into production. The military was seeking jeeps light enough to go on the engineless aircraft, which allowed for stealth invasions but had many deadly crashes, Alred said.

"This is the only place you're going to see this collection together. Period. Nobody else has them," Alred said.

Chevrolet built two of the prototypes, he said, and the museum has serial No. 1. They also have one of the 37 that Kaiser built, along with No. 13 of the 16 that Crossley Motors built. Of the six that Willys built, Alred said the museum has the only one still in existence.

The Sam H. Werner Museum, at 1148 W. Main Street, is open Wednesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. A $5 donation is requested, but not required.

"We're not here to make money. We're here to save a little bit of history," Alred said. "Giving back and giving a little bit of thanks through the display of the vehicles for veterans and families of veterans."

Alred noted that the museum plans to hold special days for VFW and American Legion members as well as other events such as a cruise-in on Oct. 28 and a military vehicle show and swap meet in spring 2018.

For more information call (423) 580-0472.

SEWANEE NOW AND THEN

Sewanee Trust for Historic Preservation

Historic photo of the Sewanee Mountain Goat from the Franklin County Historical Review.

The Mountain Goat

The Mountain Goat train that climbed our mountain from Cowan is remembered through various entities today. The Mountain Goat Market and the Mountain Goat Trail are two examples. The train's early days sound less comfortable than peoples' memories from the 20th century. The sources here: two paragraphs from the National Register's nomination of the Cumberland Mountain Tunnel and a lively description from the Sewanee Purple of early trips from Cowan up the grade, copied from the Franklin County Historical Review.

"Eighty-seven miles south of Nashville, between the Franklin County communities of Cowan and Sherwood, the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad bored a tunnel through Cumberland Mountain. Work on the Cumberland Mountain Tunnel started early in 1849 ... with construction crews comprised of English and Irish immigrant laborers, slaves [leased from local owners], and local residents."

"Coal had been discovered on Cumberland Mountain in the 1840s. The Sewanee Mining Company constructed a spur line up the mountain to connect the coal fields near Tracy City with the N & C at Cowan. The spur crossed over the main line on a cut-stone arch bridge. This branch was extended to Coalmont in 1904. ... The Sewanee Mining Company later became the Tenn Coal, Iron and Railroad Company (later still a subsidiary of U. S. Steel). The N & C gained control of the spur in 1887. This line also provided access to the University of the South at Sewanee and to the popular resort in Monteagle."

"Early on the Mountain Goat trip could involve a wait of from two to five hours at the depot at Cowan. When the trainmen left their homes, they took a supply of food and their lanterns for the hour of their return was unknown. To run off the track was an every-day occurrence, and it was a common thing to hear the long blasts of the whistle, calling for section hands scarcely after the train had turned the first curve. The engineer who made the whole trip without accident 'set 'em up to his crew.' Passengers were rarely hurt, however, and when blackberries were in season they took the delay good naturedly, for the berries were very abundant. Sometimes, there was a stuffy little car attached to the train, but generally passengers, baggage and all were piled up on top of the coal cars to take the weather as it came. This may seem an exaggeration, but I have seen ladies perched on the loaded cars with their umbrellas up to keep off the rain. Once on board the cars, you could take your choice between balancing on a split-bottomed chair, sitting on the left side of a lump of coal, or lying down, which ever way you thought safest. The engines were tiny little humpback affairs and the first one, 'The Sewanee' would attract as much attention now as she did on her first trip. It was very short and so were all the cars, on account of the sharp curves. When better coaches were put into service, matters were not much improved for the engine had to stop at each grade to get up more steam and when it started off again one was apt to sit down with more celerity than grace. I well remember seeing a man who was looking out the back of the car jerked halfway out of the window, while on another occasion the superintendent of the road was rolled very unceremoniously under the water-cooler. Probably the worst connections were in 1865, when the question 'When does the next train go up the mountain?' the answer was 'Next Wednesday'; while to the further question 'What am I to do?' the answer was 'You can climb the mountain, go back where you came from, or camp out here.'"

Go to <GoldenrodGala.org> to reserve your table of 10. For more information, contact event chair Kelly Baggett <kellybaggett@icloud.com>, or (615) 594-8138.

Sewanee Tuition Will Not Increase Next Fall

The University of the South has announced that there will be no increase in tuition, room and board for the college class entering the university next fall (2018). The tuition these students will pay will be the same next year as it was for this year's entering class.

The tuition freeze continues the university's series of efforts over the last six years to make a Sewanee education as affordable and accessible as possible.

Last year, Sewanee invested more than $30 million of institutional resources in academic scholarships, need-based grants, tuition remissions, and institutional employment opportunities for undergraduate students. Almost 83 percent of undergraduates received institutional, federal, or state gift funding in 2016–17. This generous financial aid represents another piece of the university's strong commitment to keeping the cost of a top-quality college education accessible for qualified students.

SAS Students Enrolled in College Courses, Four SAS Students Named AP Scholars

Thanks to the historic relationship between St. Andrew's-Sewanee and the University of the South, qualified upperclassmen can enroll in courses at the college for credit. This semester, 11 SAS students are taking 15 courses at Sewanee, including Calculus, Electricity & Magnetism, French, Microeconomics, German, and World Politics.

Because SAS students can take actual college courses for credit, the school does not offer AP courses, but each year students choose to prepare independently to take AP exams. Four of the students who chose to do this last year received 2017 AP School Scholar awards. The AP Scholar Awards recognize high school students who have demonstrated college-level achievement in AP courses and exams. Students included seniors Ester Yang and Cindy Chen and recent graduates Andrew Bachman (now enrolled at Lafayette College), and Bonnie Tu (now enrolled at Indiana University). These students took AP exams in Macroeconomics, Microeconomics, Calculus, Physics, English Literature and Composition, US History, Chemistry, Statistics, and Environmental Science.

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School welcomes students in grades six–12. St. Andrew's-Sewanee School will host an Admission Open House for application to the 2018-19 academic year on Sunday, Oct. 8. More information is available at <www.sasweb.org/admission>.

IN OUR BACKYARD

by Harriet Runkle

Hello elementary school students. This is a new column just for you! I love science and nature, and I am always finding cool things outside. I bet you do, too. Even though this is called "In Our Backyard," we can find interesting things in our front and side yards, on a trail, or on the school playground. In this column, I will share something I've found outside, or something I am curious about, and give you some ideas on how you can explore further. I want to hear about what you are finding too. If you are in elementary school and reading this paper, then you can send me something you think our readers would like to hear about or answer the challenge question. (See below for addresses.) If you send me a photograph, be sure your picture is in a JPEG format. Who knows? Maybe you will see your discovery in the next column.

Now let's get started.

I am sure you have noticed that the leaves on the trees are beginning to change. Did you know that there are millions of little bundles of the colors green, orange and yellow in each leaf? The green bundles are called chlorophyll; the yellow are called xanthophyll and the orange are called carotene. During spring and summer, the chlorophyll bundles are busy making food for the tree. They catch the sunlight and use it for energy to change water from the ground and carbon dioxide from the air into sugar that feeds the tree. Since the chlorophyll is working so hard, it covers up the yellow and orange colors. Then in the fall, there is less sunlight and water so the chlorophyll takes a break and then the oranges and yellows show through. But what about the red leaves that we see? Some leaves still have sugar in their leaves and when they catch the autumn sunlight, they turn red. The brown leaves are showing the waste that's left in them.

Your Challenge: Find some orange, yellow, red and brown leaves that have already fallen. Next, identify the type of tree the leaf belongs to and record your findings. Which color did you find the most/least of? What are the names of the trees that produce orange, yellow, red and brown leaves? Which is your favorite leaf? Send me your findings and I will publish them in the next column!

More fun things you can do with fall leaves:

Make a collection of your leaves and sort them by color, size and shape.

Create some artwork using your leaves and other things you find outside.

Find a green leaf and use a dime to scrape off the chlorophyll to see what color the leaf will turn. I've tried this and it was really hard! If you can do it send me a picture and describe your technique.

I used the following websites for my research: <www.sciencemadesimple.com/leaves.html>, and <<http://www.kidzone.ws/plants/autumn1.htm>>. Visit them if you want to learn more.

Happy leaf hunting.

Please send your challenge answers, artwork, photos or questions about things you find outside in nature to: P.O. Box 815, Sewanee, TN 37375 or <inourbackyard77@gmail.com>. Please include your name, what grade you are in and what school you attend. Who knows? You may find your self in the next "In Our Backyard" column!

Gordon, “The Big Sick” tells the story of Pakistan-born aspiring comedian Kumail (Nanjiani), who connects with grad student Emily (Kazan) after one of his standup sets. However, what they thought would be just a one-night stand blossoms into the real thing, which complicates the life that is expected of Kumail by his traditional Muslim parents. When Emily is beset with a mystery illness, it forces Kumail to navigate the medical crisis with her parents, Beth and Terry (Holly Hunter and Ray Romano) who he’s never met, while dealing with the emotional tug-of-war between his family and his heart.

IONA: Art Sanctuary Autumn Festival Opens Sept. 19

The Autumn Festival of Artists and Authors at IONA: Art Sanctuary opens Tuesday, Sept. 19, with readings and art exhibits. The public is welcome, all events are free and parking is available. Readings begin at 5 p.m. and a reception follows. There will be an exhibition by Gayle Levée, visual artist, through Sept. 24.

Levée is a third generation artist, trained within the family as well as at the Robert Douglas Hunter Atelier in Boston, Mass. She has taught at Montserrat College of Art in Massachusetts; in Tennessee she teaches independently. Her paintings are owned by members of the Frist family, the Kennedy family and the McGovern family to name a few.

Levée paints in the style of the Boston School, a group of painters including historic figures Edmund C. Tarbell, Frank Benson and William Paxton. Her own teacher, Robert Hunter, studied with R.H. Ives Gammell, the golden link in an unbroken chain of master-to-student carrying on this tradition of excellence.

In the 19th century, artists of the Boston School strove to convey beauty and “Truth” in their art. The scientific discoveries of the 20th century replaced “Truth” with scientific accuracy. In the 21st century, artists are asserting that truth, beauty and science are not incompatible. During her presentation, Levée will address this history and the place of her own art in the current renaissance of painting.

At 5 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 19, readers include Laura Willis and Chris McDonough, who will read from their creative writings.

On Wednesday, Sept. 20, readers include Stephen Feeley, poetry and journal essays; Patrick Dean, nonfiction work; and Kevin Cummings, Sewanee Mountain Messenger interviews.

Bennett Bridgers-Carlos will read from her poems on Thursday, Sept. 21. Joining her are Aaron Carlos, creative writing, and Yolande Gottfried with selections from her biology writings.

On Friday, Sept. 22, Leigh Anne Couch will read poetry; Edward Carlos will read poetry and an essay introduction; and Jeannie Babb will read poetry.

On Saturday, Sept. 23, and Sunday, Sept. 24, from 1–3 p.m., IONA is open for a viewing of Levée paintings. IONA: Art Sanctuary is located on 630 Garnertown Road.

‘Apparatus for a Dream Sequence’ Lecture and Reception Today

“Apparatus for a Dream Sequence” invites visitors into a dreamscape, where familiar objects and materials become playful metaphors. Ordinary objects are appropriated and abstracted—made queer—and used to generate new meanings and “new attachments of possibility and desire.” Pragmatic materials preclude finished or closed meanings, and the difficulties and artifice of gender performances of all kinds are laid bare. Apparatus for a Dream Sequence is on view in the University Art Gallery through Oct. 13.

Sculptor Anna Campbell will present “Apparatus for a Dream Sequence” at a public talk and reception in Convocation Hall today (Friday), Sept. 15. The event will begin at 4:30 p.m. and is free and open to the public.

Sewanee’s University Art Gallery is located on Georgia Ave. The gallery is free, accessible, and open to the public. Hours are 10 a.m.–5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday, and noon–4 p.m., on Saturday and Sunday. Call (931) 598-1223 for more information, visit our website at <gallery.sewanee.edu>.

Choral Evensong at All Saints’

The University Choir will present the service of Choral Evensong at 4 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 24, in All Saints’ Chapel. This will be the first evensong performed for the Advent semester.

The choir is made up of approximately 50 undergraduate students. Singing this service is a highlight for many of the returning students and most of the new choristers will be singing evensong for the first time. One of the aspects of choral evensong that is unique is that most of the service is sung by the choir. There are prayers said by the officiant as well as hymns to be sung by the choir and congregation. Rev. Melissa Hartley, C’93, will serve as the officiant for the service and Williams Stokes, C’16, will be the service organist. The choir will sing music by Stanford, Ayleward, Bainton and Howells.

Contact Geoffrey Ward for more information about the service at <ghward@sewanee.edu>.

Fall Tennessee Craft Fair Opens Sept. 22

Tennessee Craft invites the public to celebrate the first day of fall by attending the 39th annual Fall Tennessee Craft Fair, Friday, Sept. 22, through Sunday, Sept. 24. The fair is open 10 a.m.–6 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and from 10 a.m.–5 p.m. on Sunday. The event is in Centennial Park, 2500 West End Ave., Nashville.

Attracting more than 50,000 visitors, Tennessee Craft Fairs bring together more than 200 juried craft artists with national and regional reputations sharing their best work with the community. Guests at this popular festival love the personal connection with makers from Tennessee and beyond; learning what inspires each artist and searching for unusual art objects and functional treasures created by these skillful artisans.

In addition to the array of high-quality craft, the Tennessee Craft Fair Kids’ Tent provides a variety of hands-on activities allowing young artists to explore community through craft. Working with skilled artists and using a variety of materials and techniques, children can create individual art as well as contribute to a collaborative quilt project. Fair visitors of all ages are invited to participate in the project and join the social media dialogue using this hashtag: #myTNCraftcommunity.

Come spend the day at this popular event in the beautiful Centennial Park. For more information go to <http://tennesseecraft.org/fallfair>.

Wednesday Art at Cowan Center for the Arts

The Franklin County Arts Guild invites community members interested in the visual arts to come on over to the Cowan Center for the Arts Education building for Art Wednesdays. Anyone can participate: age and skill level do not matter. The group meets every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 12:30 pm. Everyone brings their own art supplies and projects. Sometimes everyone works on individual projects and sometimes we get one of the members to do a mini-workshop for anyone interested.

Wednesday Art is a great place to seek advice on technique, supplies, and get input on projects from the group. Sometimes there is even a field trip to art exhibits in the area. The idea is to have fun making art and learning from one another. You don’t have to come every week; in fact, you don’t even have to always be on time. There are no fees associated with Art Wednesday, though you may want to make a small donation for use of the space.

The Cowan Center for the Arts is located at 301-303 Montgomery Street in Cowan, at the corner of Hodges & Montgomery.

For more information about the Center call (931) 691-6367.

SAS Football Moves to 3-0 with Shutout

The Tennessee Heat came to St. Andrews-Sewanee School on Sept. 8 and ran into a sizzling Mountain Lion football team as they fell to their hosts 52-0.

The win was the second consecutive shutout for the Mountain Lion defense as they extinguished the Heat from the start. SAS is now 3-0 on the season and travels to Franklin today (Friday) to clash with Franklin Classical. The game between the two undefeated league opponents kicks off at 7 p.m.

SAS junior placekicker Gabriel Stevens got the scoring started with a 22-yard field goal at the 5:15 mark of the first quarter. The Mountain Lions got the ball back quickly and 48 seconds after the first points, senior quarterback Dustin Stensby hit fellow senior Bailey McLean for a 20-yard scoring strike. Stevens booted the extra point and the Mountain Lions led 10-0 after one quarter.

While the defense stymied the Heat, the offense led by Emanuel Thombs and his two touchdown romps coupled with another TD by Stensby put the Mountain Lions ahead 30-0 at the half. Stensby raced 34 yards with 5:05 left in the half. Thombs got in the scoring parade with runs of 15 and 54 yards. Stevens connected on two of the three PAT conversions.

The third quarter saw the defense pick up where they left off in the first half. Less than a minute into the third stanza, massive Jalen Tillman recorded a safety. Stensby added a 30-yard touchdown jaunt at the 9:05 mark of the third and with less than a minute left in the quarter, Stevens picked off an errant pass and returned it 47 yards for the pick six. Stevens was one of two on PAT conversions in the third.

The fourth quarter, with a running clock, saw the Mountain Lions tack on one more touchdown. Senior Blaise Zeitler, who led the Mountain Lions with 114 yards rushing, scampered 36 yards to paydirt with 8:47 remaining in the contest. Stevens nailed his fifth PAT to conclude the scoring.

Defensively, the Mountain Lions limited the Heat to nine yards on the ground and 17 through the air. SAS yielded a total of 26 yards on 41 plays and had four interceptions.

Justin Elgouhary led the hit parade with nine total. He had seven solo tackles and two assists. Tillman was close behind with eight tackles. Six of those were solo tackles and he had two assists. He also recorded a safety and recovered a fumble. Senior Steven Zhu, Thombs and Zeitler had five total stops each. Zhu also had two interceptions.

Jarrett Willis posted four hits and a fumble recovery. Ben Matthews and Stevens had three tackles each. Thombs had an interception and Stevens had a pick six. Stevens posted two tackles and Laurenz Schmacher, Kip Barksdale, Kenan Higgins and Cameron Harmon each had one tackle.

Golf Team Hampered by Rain

Weather has not been nice to St. Andrews-Sewanee's golf team the last few weeks. The team had matches rained out on Aug. 28 against Grundy County and Bledsoe County, and Aug. 31 versus Webb School.

The Sept. 5 match against Grundy County, Huntland High and Franklin County was also rained out.

The team finally played Webb School at The Course at Sewanee on Sept. 7. Webb shot 184 to St. Andrew's-Sewanee's 137, using only three players. Four players are required for the score to count.

SAS's Aubrey Black shot 44, Gio Hui shot 46, followed by Tyler Rodgers with 47.

Freshman Colin Hays continues to work hard with practice on the range.. Coach Dan Hatfield said he would like to give thanks to PGA Professionals John Brewster and Matt Daniels for their help with the team.

Volleyball Squad Falls in Tri-Match

In a tri-match at Grundy County High School on Sept. 8, St. Andrew's-Sewanee's varsity volleyball team lost to Bledsoe County, 25-14 and 25-18 and to GCHS, 25-16 and 25-9.

Izzie Spinelli had a strong serving game for St. Andrew's-Sewanee, recording three aces; Luciana Mollica had six kills; Kendale James posted eight assists; Carolyn Bruce added three blocks; and Saje Mangru had five digs.

Middle School Girls' Soccer Rebounds After First Loss

On Sept. 5, the St. Andrew's-Sewanee girls' middle school soccer team suffered their first defeat of the season to Lincoln County Middle School, 2-0.

Lincoln County came out strong scoring their first goal in the opening five minutes of the match. The Mountain Lions fought hard, but gave up another goal in the last minute of the match. Despite the loss, strong play was seen from SAS's goalkeeper, Lakin Laurendine, who chalked up 10 saves.

Two days later on Sept. 7, SAS defeated Westwood Middle School 1-0 in a hard-fought battle. Fifteen minutes into the match, Lucy Cassell, assisted by Sarah Knight, scored the game-winning goal. SAS's defense, organized by captains Sophia Carlos and Riley Burnette, held strong throughout the match.

"After our defeat earlier in the week, we worked on our defensive shape," said coach Margot Burns. "This victory was just reward for our team's hard work in practice."

Mountain Lions Roar Past RCA

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee Mountain Lion football team earned 28-0 shutout of Riverside Christian Academy of Fayetteville in SAS's home opener on Aug. 31.

The Mountain Lions scored in every quarter. Their first score came after the two teams exchanged possessions to start the game. Dustin Stensby scored the first of his three touchdowns with a seven-yard run with 2:04 left in the opening quarter.

Gabriel Stevens connected on the first of his four PAT conversions and the hosts took a 7-0 lead. Stensby had a 35-yard run to set up his touchdown run.

Generals March Past Sewanee, 63-30

The Sewanee football team fell to Washington & Lee on Sept. 9 thanks to 554 rushing yards by the Generals in Lexington, Va. The Generals toppled the Tigers 63-30.

After each team swapped punts on their respective first possessions, Washington & Lee used a 10-play, 61-yard drive to strike first on the scoreboard. Walker Brand punched the ball into the endzone for the 7-0 lead.

On the next possession, the Tigers also charged down the field and got down to the General's 27 yard line, but they were unable to finish in the endzone. Michael Jacobs tallied a 44-yard field goal to make it 7-3 in favor of the Generals.

However, the Generals (1-1) did not take long to find the endzone again. Thanks to a 58-yard run by Josh Breece, W&L made it 14-3 after one quarter of play.

Washington & Lee pushed the score to 21-3 early in the second quarter. After an interception by Sewanee's Alex Darras, Brand entered the endzone from five yards out for the score.

The Tigers' best chance of a touchdown in the first half came on the next possession. The offense pushed the ball from the Sewanee 35 down to the W&L one-yard line. However, a defensive stop by the Generals defense limited the Purple and Gold to three points off a 20-yard field goal by Michael Jacobs.

The Generals responded with two touchdowns to make it 35-6 at the half.

The Tigers (1-1) opened the second half with a 42-yard field goal to make it 35-9, but the Generals scored another touchdown with 9:50 left in the third quarter.

W&L scored two more touchdowns before the Purple and Gold scored its first touchdown of the game to make it 56-16 after three quarters of play. Sewanee's Sam Hearn found Allan Puri for the 15-yard score.

In the final stanza, Sewanee scored two touchdowns. With 8:10 left in the contest, Darras found Puri again for the three-yard score to make it 56-23.

After a W&L score, Darras found Colin May for a three-yard touchdown reception with 2:27 left in the game.

The Generals' offense pounded out 629 total yards, 554 on the ground, to Sewanee's 476.

Darras finished the game going 13-for-26 with 215 yards and two touchdowns, while Hearn went 9-for-19 with 158 yards and a score. Each quarterback recorded two interceptions.

Puri caught six passes for 127 yards and two touchdowns to lead the passing game for the Tigers.

Lee Menefee recorded a team-best 20 tackles, 11 solos, for the Tigers. He also recorded 1.5 tackles for loss, totaling four yards.

Sewanee's Conoly Koontz recorded 1.5 tackles for loss and a sack to go along with six total tackles.

Stensby scored his second touchdown with a six-yard run with 3:44 left in the first half. Stevens added the PAT kick for the Mountain Lions to give them a 14-0 lead. Blaise Zeitler had a 42-yard run to highlight the touchdown drive.

After leading 14-0 at the half, Stensby struck for the third time. SAS hit RCA lightning quick with Stensby's 54-yard run with only 1:55 gone in the third stanza. Once again, Stevens connected on the extra point kick and the Mountain Lions were on their way with a 21-0 lead.

With the defense playing lights out, the Mountain Lions used their ground game in the fourth quarter led by workhorse Jack Simons. Simons scored with a minute left from one yard out and Stevens made it a perfect night on extra point kicks to ice the game at 28-0.

Jalen Tillman led the Mountain Lions defensively with nine solo tackles and two assists. Tillman got plenty of support as Justin Elgouhary and Zeitler added nine total stops each. Elgouhary had seven solo tackles and two assists, while Zeitler had eight solos and one assist.

Junior Jarrett Willis had three solo stops and three assists. Senior Steven Zhu had three solo tackles and broke up two passes. Stevens had two solo tackles and an interception. Bailey McLean, Emanuel Thombs and Simons recorded one solo stop each. Stensby had two interceptions.

Offensively, Stensby was the leader with 210 yards on 31 carries and three touchdowns. Zeitler added 109 yards on 10 carries, while Simons carried the ball 13 times for 61 yards.

Sewanee Volleyball Perfect at Maroon Classic

The Sewanee Tigers' volleyball team completed the perfect weekend at the Maroon Classic at Roanoke College with two more wins on Sept. 9 in Salem, Va.

The Tigers finished as co-champions of the Maroon Classic, joining Bridgewater, which also went 4-0.

Sewanee defeated Methodist 3-1 in the 9 a.m. match on Sept. 9, before turning back Randolph 3-0 that afternoon.

In the first match of the day, Sewanee's Destiny Stewart recorded her second double-double of the year with 21 kills and 15 digs. The freshman had a .381 attack percentage (21-5-42) with six service aces.

Parent totaled 16 digs in the contest to go along with two service aces.

Savage to Speak on Alabama Football

Phil Savage, color analyst for the University of Alabama football broadcasts and executive director of the Senior Bowl, will speak at noon Friday, Sept. 22, in Convocation Hall on the University of the South campus. Savage's book, "4th and Goal Every Day: Alabama's Relentless Pursuit of Perfection" (with co-author Ray Glier), was released last month.

The public is invited to this inside look at the most successful program in the game today, which will be followed by a Q&A and a book signing.

No program in college football positions itself to contend for a national championship year in and year out better than the Alabama Crimson Tide. Savage and Glier's book shows how Alabama made adjustments to the way the game would be played well ahead of their competition. It also includes insider nuggets, such as:

The fact that the seeds of the Alabama process go back 57 years to the Dallas Cowboys.

Coach Nick Saban's attention to detail and devotion to game-tape reviews (during a flight to the White House where his team would be honored, Saban continued to watch tapes of their opponents).

Saban's hands-on techniques in practice and how involved he is in teaching fundamentals.

Alabama's unique "non-offensive" touchdowns approach in 2017, as the team made a conscious effort to help its freshman quarterback by drilling on how to create turnovers.

Sewanee alumnus Phil Savage has provided color commentary for Alabama football games since 2009. He worked in the NFL as a coach, scout and executive for 20 years after beginning his career as a graduate assistant at Alabama.

He moved to the NFL as a defensive assistant for Nick Saban under Cleveland Browns' then-coach Bill Belichick. He became the general manager of the Browns and worked in the front office with the Baltimore Ravens and Philadelphia Eagles.

Tigers Earn Share of SAA Golf Preview Championship

The 25th-ranked Sewanee men's golf team shared the 2017 Southern Athletic Association (SAA) Men's Golf Preview crown with Oglethorpe, as the Tigers finished the 36-hole event with a 579 (+3) at the Greystone Golf Club on Sept. 10 in Dickson, Tenn.

The tournament, scheduled to be a two-day, two-round event, was pushed to one day due to the impending Hurricane Irma.

The Tigers finished ahead of the Stormy Petrels, 293-294, in the first round, but Oglethorpe had a 285 score to the Tigers 286 in the final round.

Sewanee had four players finish in the top 10, with four competing with the team and the other as an individualist.

Sewanee's Gray Matthews, who finished second overall behind Huntingdon's Henry Gee, had a phenomenal final round. After firing a one-over, 73 in the opening round, the sophomore chipped in five birdies in the latter round to jump nine spots and finished two-under, 142.

Basil Boyd, who competed as an individualist, finished in a tie for third place with a one-under, 143.

Tommy Oliver tallied a score of 145 (+1) and finished in a tie for sixth, while Nic Vandeventer had identical 73 scores to finish at two-over, 146, to finish in a tie for eighth.

Nick Powell, who finished the opening round with a 76, jumped 13 spots to finish in a tie for 14th with a 71 thanks to six birdies in the final round. The Cowan, Tenn., native finished with a score of 147 (+3).

Other Sewanee results include Taylor Mottern (T-28th, 150) and Fernando Acosta-Rua (T-45th, 154).

Along the Mountain Goat Trail

Late summer wildflowers were the highlight of a Herbarium walk on the Mountain Goat Trail last Saturday. Near the trailhead at Hawkins Lane, vining Clematis or Virgins-Bower was in bloom, though soon the fruits with their “fuzzy” long, twisted tail will be evident. Check the leaflet margins to see if it is the native species (coarsely toothed) or the one introduced from East Asia (mostly smooth).

Another pair of similar plants now blooming in abundance is Polymnia or Leafcup, both native. These are tall, leafy plants with small white ray florets. Tennessee Leafcup has just 3 – 6 white florets and its stems and leaves are smooth. Although it looks “weedy”, it is a somewhat rare species, and it is probably more abundant here in the South Cumberland than anywhere else. The much more common Canada Leafcup is covered in sticky hairs and has more numerous and more showy white florets. The common name Leafcup comes from the way the paired leaves seem to clasp around the stem.

Soon to be in abundant bloom along the trail and elsewhere is White Snakeroot, with a small head of bright white disk flowers. This species is cited as occurring on railroad embankments—suitably! I think deer must not eat this plant, as it is one of the few still left to bloom on our property. This is perhaps due to the toxins that can cause milk-sickness when it is browsed by cattle. Milk-sickness can be fatal to humans and is believed to have caused the death of Abraham Lincoln’s mother. In fact, here in Franklin County a law was passed which enforced the fencing of coves, where cattle were allowed to graze this time of year and would encounter this plant.

Among many others not covered here, the tall ragweed was in bloom along with several species of goldenrod. Just a reminder—it is the abundant ragweed pollen from the inconspicuous, small, wind-pollinated green flowers that cause allergy symptoms, not the more noticeable colorful flowers of goldenrod, which is insect-pollinated and doesn’t need to produce such abundant, wind-carried pollen.

Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is located at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at (931) 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <animalharbor.org>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Blow. winds, and crack your cheeks! rage! blow!
You cataracts and hurricanes, spout
Till you have drench'd our steeples, drown'd the cocks!
You sulfurous and thought-executing fires,
Vaunt-couriers to oak-cleaving thunderbolts,
Singe my white head! And thou, all-shaking thunder,
Smite flat the thick rotundity o' the world!
Crack nature's moulds, an germens spill at once,
That make ungrateful man!
