SES Hosts FC School Board Meeting

Policy Amendments Approved

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

Sewanee Elementary School hosted the Sept. 8 meeting of the Franklin County School Board in keeping with the board's practice of meeting at one of the district's schools every other month. Prior to the meeting, board members met with SES teachers and toured the school. Addressing the board, SES Principal Kim Tucker talked about educating the whole child and the importance of instilling the values of service and being good community stewards. Tucker strongly advocates teaching across the curriculum and teaching outside the four walls, incorporating place-based learning that utilizes the many resources offered by the community, University, and natural environment.

Tucker announced several upcoming events that reflect the school's ethos and approach to learning. Scheduled for Sept. 26–30, the SES Book Fair is a one-on-one experience connecting students with titles they want to read. On Wednesday, Oct. 5, students, parents and community members will join in the annual Walk to School event, which begins at the University Bookstore. The annual SES Peace Pole Ceremony celebrates a different foreign country each year. This year's ceremony is scheduled for 8 a.m., Friday, Oct. 14, during the morning assembly period.

During the business portion of the meeting, the board welcomed new school board member Linda Jones and elected the following officers: Cleijo Walker, chair, and Lance Williams, vice-chair. Adam Tucker, school board representative from Sewanee, was reelected to serve in the capacity of legislative liaison for the board.

The board approved several policy amendments and additions recommended by the Tennessee School Board Association. The new Homeless Students policy defines homelessness and guarantees homeless students access "to the same free appropriate public education as provided to other children and youths"; the policy also calls for appointing a district homeless coordinator to implement the policy and coordinate support from social service agencies. The new Credit Recovery policy establishes procedures by which students can recover credit and sets criteria for credit recovery teachers. The amended Discipline Procedures policy added the following

SAS Family Weekend To Include Two Celebrations

In addition to the usual class walk-throughs and parent meetings, St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's Upper School Family Weekend, Sept. 23–25, will include two special celebrations—the Installation of Head of School Karl J. Sjolund and the Rededication of the newly restored St. Andrew's Chapel.

The weekend kicks off at 2 p.m., Friday, Sept. 23, with the installation ceremony of Karl J. Sjolund, the third head of school in the school's 35-year history. The installation will be a Eucharist Service with the Rt. Rev. John C. Bauerschmidt, Bishop of Tennessee, celebrating and Sjolund preaching. Following the event there will be a reception. The public is invited.

Friday afternoon continues for the SAS community with a question and answer session with Dean of Students Laura Clay, Head of Upper School Kelley Black and student panelists. The Mountain Lion Invitational Cross Country meet begins at 4:30 p.m.

At 8 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 24, parents of senior students will gather to hear Sewanee Assistant Director of Financial Aid Denise Barry talk about the new FAFSA procedures and strategies for paying for college. The 9 a.m. all-parent meeting in McCrory Hall will be followed by a class walk-through. At noon, the varsity girls' soccer team takes on Huntland High School. Senior players will be recognized before the game begins. The afternoon includes faculty office hours and a campus hike. Parents will enjoy a reception with the head of school and an evening Creative Expression Assembly, an opportunity to see some of the talent among the student body.

The Rt. Rev. Neil Alexander will preside at the Rededication of St. Andrew's Chapel at 10:30 a.m., Sunday, Sept. 25. The Chapel recently underwent extensive restoration thanks to the generosity of more than 450 donors. St. Andrew's-Sewanee welcomes the community to join in this service and celebration; seating may be limited.

ANGELS HAVE HALOS

To the Editor:

The University of the South Class of 2020 got a wonderful photograph in the Messenger, Sept. 9. Every freshman got a halo behind their head. Once again Sewanee's greatly-talented photographer Lyn Hutchinson brings a larger-than-life expression here. Let's hope those halos stay with them all.

David Bowman, Sewanee ■

WATER FOR THE DOGS

To the Editor:

Sewanee folks love dogs (and I do too!). Many dogs accompany their people to the great concerts at Angel Park. Humans have many options for beverages at these concerts, but there are no sources of water available for dogs. I have seen many, many dogs panting vigorously at Angel Park. We should put some plans in place for a dog watering station on site. I brought an oval trough and placed it under the spigot at the park and filled it. It stayed for a week and then was gone. I was then told that the water hydrant is not owned by the park and so could not be utilized for dog hydration. If anyone else shares my concern, I ask you to join me in trying to provide water to our furry friends.

Anne G. Grindle, Sewanee ■

WAY TO PAY FOR THE WALL

To the Editor:

As usual John Bratton has expressed his very liberal views (see Sept. 9, 2016 issue). There is a very easy way for Mexico to pay for the wall. A 10 percent tax on the billions of dollars that are being sent to Mexico would pay for the wall with money left over.

Gordon Lane, Sewanee ■

BACK IN BUSINESS

To the Editor:

Thank you all so much for all the prayers, food, flowers and cards. They meant so much to me during my illness. God has answered all the prayers. I am so much better. I have started doing some alterations and repairs. And thank you once again. My number is (931) 598-0766.

Shirley Mooney, Sewanee ■

YOUR REPRESENTATIVES

To the Editor:

Here's what the Republican Tennessee State Legislature has done the last 2 years.

They turned away $1 billion dollars in federal money when they killed Gov. Haslam's Insure TN in committee; instead those federal dollars went to other states.

Republicans voted for handguns in parks and campuses and assault rifles 12 times. Terrorists and convicted criminals can buy guns whenever they want because they will not require gun dealers to be licensed. Do you feel safer now?

Republicans eliminated the Hall Tax, which is only paid by the wealthiest Tennesseans who live off of investment income, while leaving the rest of us to pay the second highest grocery sales tax in the nation.

Republicans have consistently resisted any attempts to raise the minimum wage.

Tennessee House Republicans don't answer to you and me, but rather to national special interest groups with deep pockets, such as Americans for Prosperity and American Legislative Exchange Council.

We have a chance to turn this around on Nov. 8. Please vote Mike Winton for State Senate and Nancy Silvertooth for State Representative.

Nancy and Mike will work to promote healthcare for all Tennesseans, to raise the minimum wage, to ensure that only law-abiding citizens have guns, cut taxes on working people, not the wealthy, and they will answer only to the folks that they grew up and live with in Franklin, Grundy and Coffee counties.

Helen Stapleton, Sewanee ■

END OF THE ROAD?

To the Editor:

Many see Donald Trump as the logical end of the road for the Republican Party, and perhaps for America's Constitutional government should its candidate win. The GOP has nominated and grudgingly endorsed a toxic candidate. Lacking the concept of truth, Trump lacks integrity, and has already damaged American society at its core. Without the value of truth, a society cannot cohere.

We know nothing about Trump. He claims to be a billionaire, but won't release his tax returns. My guess is that he owes more than he's worth, but his false claim cloaks him in power. And he does have power, the dark power to create chaos.

This interminable campaign breaks with everything we know about politics, taking us into unknown political waters. It bears no resemblance to past presidential campaigns. It exists outside reality, and thanks to media coverage takes place in a senseless political world, mostly inside Trump's head. Public rational thought, conventional politics, race between a sane Democratic and sane Republican candidate have been co-opted into a struggle between America and a powerful madman's obsession with domination.

Faye Walter, Sewanee ■

BEWARE THE USEFUL MISLED

To the Editor:

I would like to remind everyone about eight rules written by Saul Alinsky. Saul died on June 12, 1972 and was educated at the University of Chicago. One of his books was "Rules for Radicals, Reveille for Radicals."

Anyone who thinks that this stuff isn't happening today in the United States has their head in the sand. These eight rules are in play today:

How to create a social state by Saul Alinsky:

1. Healthcare—Control healthcare ad you control the people.

2. Poverty—Increase the poverty level as high as possible; poor people are easier to control and will not fight back if you are providing everything for them to live.

3. Debt—Increase the debt to an unsustainable level. That way you are able to increase taxes and this will produce more poverty.

4. Gun Control—Remove the ability to defend themselves from the government. That way you are able to create a police state.

5. Welfare—Take control of every aspect of their lives (Food, Housing and Income).

6. Education—Take control of what people read and listen to – take control of what children learn in school.

7. Religion—Remove the belief in the God from the government and schools.

8. Class Warfare—Divide the people into the wealthy and the poor. This will cause more discontent and it will be easier to take (tax) the wealthy with the support of the poor.

It is time for the misled to wake up in this upcoming election.

Child Passenger Safety Week

The Sewanee Police Department is partnering with the Tennessee Highway Safety Office and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) to educate parents and caregivers during national Child Passenger Safety week, Sept. 18–24. Motor vehicle crashes are a leading killer of children ages 1 to 13. From 2009 to 2013, an estimated 611,000 children were injured and 3,335 were killed while riding in vehicles.

"Using car seats that are age- and size-appropriate is the best way to keep your child safe," said SPD Chief Marie Eldgride. "Car seats matter, and having the right car seat installed and used the right way is critical. Too often, parents move their children to the front seat before they should, which increases the risk of injury and death. The safest place for all kids under 13 is in the back seats of cars."

NHTSA recommends keeping children rear-facing as long as possible up to the top height or weight allowed by their particular seats. Once a child outgrows the rear-facing-only "infant" car seat, he/she should travel in a rear-facing "convertible" or all-in-one car seat. Once your child outgrows the rear-facing size limits, the child is ready to travel in a forward-facing car seat with a harness and tether. After outgrowing the forward-facing car seats with harness, children should be placed in booster seats until they're the right size to use seat belts safely.

For more information on child passenger safety laws and to find a fitting station or child passenger safety technician near you, go to <www.tntrafficsafety.org/programs/child-passenger-safety>.

Deer Hunt 2016

The 2016 hunting season in Sewanee begins Saturday, Sept. 24. The 2016 spotlight census is currently underway. This year, in addition to the spotlight census, a camera census had been added to three different areas of the Domain in an attempt to create a finer grained picture of the herd. The results of both census techniques should be available next week to help inform herd population targets for the coming season.

In January 2016, the University's office of Environmental Stewardship completed a comprehensive management plan for White tailed deer on the Domain. The purpose of the plan was to guide a transition from a damage control centered cull, toward a normalized hunt that can maintain a healthy population of deer while maintaining access to the Domain for scientific and recreational use. That full plan is available for viewing at <www.sewanee.edu/media/offices/domain-management/White_tail_deer_management_plan_Final_1_26_2016.pdf>.

As part of the plan, two new zones have been added to the hunt this year. Zone 8 encompasses the upper portions of Dicks Cove and the plateau area between Gate 6 and the abandoned firelane north of Gate 7. Zone 9 is located adjacent to the golf course on the eastern side. These zones were added to reduce browse pressure on Thumping Dick Cove and the golf course respectively. The hours of hunting will remain unchanged from last year and as always, all trails and firelanes remain open to recreational use during the season.

Though our harvest numbers continue to decrease as the herd size moderates, there may be a surplus of animals available for local families. To pick up a field dressed deer for processing please email <domain@sewanee.edu>. Please also be on the lookout for the annual community survey of deer and hunter impacts. Announcement of the survey will be through the Sewanee Mountain Messenger, Sewanee Classifieds, through the University email server, and on the hunting website linked below.

For more information on the University hunting program and specific rules and times, please visit <www.sewanee.edu/offices/oess/the-domain/ecosystem-management/hunting/>.

Catechumenate

The Catechumenate continues Wednesday, Sept. 21, at 7 p.m. in the Bairnwick Women’s Center with desserts and coffee. Catechumenate, from a Greek word meaning “learning and exploring,” is a place where we explore what it means to be a human being and what it means to be a person of faith in our community. This is a great place to meet new people and build relationships. Food, prayer, questions and conversation power this process. Email Lay Chaplain Rob McAlister <rvmcalis@sewanee.edu> for directions or more information.

Growing in Grace

Growing in Grace continues Sunday, Sept. 18, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints’ Chapel. The speaker will be Rob McAlister, a member of the class of 2012 and the University’s lay chaplain. This informal worship service is designed for students and community members with student-led acoustic music, guest speakers and Holy Communion. Email Lay Chaplain Rob McAlister <rvmcalis@sewanee.edu> for more information. All are invited to attend.

Dixon Myers Speaks Sunday on Sewanee Housing

On Sunday, Sept. 18, at 10 a.m., the Adult Forum at Otey Memorial Parish will welcome Dixon Myers to speak on “Homelessness and Housing: Sewanee’s Newest Project.” Born and raised in Jackson, Miss., Myers has been the coordinator for outreach at the University of the South since 1991. He instituted the community engagement program the same year.

Housing Sewanee, Inc., is among the programs Myers created. Housing Sewanee is a local 501 (c) 3 nonprofit organization modeled after Habitat for Humanity. For 14 years, Housing Sewanee has built a house each year, providing low-income affordable housing for qualified individuals and families. With no paid employees, Housing Sewanee depends on the outreach office of the University and local volunteers.

Myers has been recognized by the Bonner Foundation for his exemplary work with Housing Sewanee and his other programs. Last year he was presented the B-Loved Community Award, which recognizes an individual’s support of the Bonner Foundation’s values of civic engagement, community building, diversity, international perspective, social justice and spiritual exploration.

The Adult Forum meets each Sunday in St. Mark’s Hall inside Claiborne Parish House. See <oteyparish.org> for the schedule of upcoming speakers.

to the list of "misbehaviors" calling for disciplinary action: wearing clothing that exposes underwear or body parts in an indecent manner; harassment (sexual, racial, ethnic, religious); and possession, sale, and/or distribution of tobacco or alcohol.

The board withheld approval of the Graduation Requirements policy and Child Abuse and Neglect policy pending further consideration. The board will seek clarification on the number of credits required to graduate in the various circumstances identified in the Graduation Requirements policy.

Tucker also asked for clarification of the definition for emotional abuse in the Child Abuse and Neglect policy. Board representative Chris Guess pointed out that scolding did not constitute abuse and a distinction needed to be made between the two. The board approved of the portion of the policy obligating school employees to report abuse and stipulating the procedures to be followed.

The board will revisit the Graduation Requirements policy and Child Abuse and Neglect policy at the October meeting. The board will hold a working session on Oct. 3. The next regular meeting is Oct. 10.

Experimental Wastewater Treatment Wetland Opens

After 18 months of design and construction by Atlanta-based Golder Associates and LTS Construction LLC, a local firm, Sewanee's experimental wastewater treatment wetland opened in mid-June of this year.

The wastewater treatment plant at the Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties (SUD) is the site of a trial wetlands project for cleaning wastewater, a research effort undertaken jointly by the University of the South and the University of Georgia (UGA).

The wetlands project serves as a demonstration on the ability of human-made wetlands to remove emerging contaminants from treated wastewater. It is a cost-effective technology that can treat up to 100,000 gallons of water daily. Project funders, the Coca-Cola and the Lyndhurst Foundations, consider the wetland a pilot project relevant to rural communities throughout the region.

Effluent from the adjacent treatment lagoon is flowing through the three wetland basins. The pilot wetland provides an additional step in SUD's wastewater system, which includes treatment in three lagoons, before effluent is disinfected and sprayed onto forestland.

In the wetland, effluent from the third lagoon is pumped into a tank and flows via gravity through three basins, each of which is vegetated with different plants and should thus provide different treatment processes. The basins mimic natural water cleansing processes; treatment in the wetland, however, occurs in a much more controlled way than in natural ecosystems.

The wetland will provide numerous research opportunities. Researchers at the University of the South and UGA are interested in whether a constructed wetland can cost-effectively remove pollutants, particularly emerging contaminants such as pharmaceuticals, from the wastewater stream. These substances are often not effectively removed by conventional treatment systems, but can have hormone-mimicking effects on aquatic organisms. These emerging contaminants are not regulated by any state or federal agencies.

University of the South students Megan Hopson and Anna Williams, working with professors Emily White, Deborah McGrath and Scott Torrealano, have begun monitoring effluent as it flows through the three basins for common water quality indicators, such as nitrogen, phosphorus and coliform bacteria. Sampling for pharmaceuticals is scheduled to begin this fall with UGA researchers.

In October, the community will be invited to take a first look at the wetland to learn how it works, understand the monitoring process and help plant trees. For more information go to <www.sewanee-wetlands.org>, or follow the wetland's progress on Facebook and Twitter. The monitoring results will also be shared via these sites, easily accessible through a search for "Sewanee Wetlands."

Students to Create ‘Pop-Up’ History Museum in Monteagle

University of the South students will help create a history “pop-up museum” in Monteagle as part of Mountain Homecoming celebrations Saturday, Sept. 24. The students are asking residents and visitors to share photographs, letters, documents, maps or objects that tell a story about Monteagle history. The artifacts will be displayed in a one-day-only, one-of-a-kind people’s history museum.

Items for the pop-up museum should be taken to Monteagle City Hall between 9:30 a.m. and noon, Saturday, Sept. 24. The museum will open at 2 p.m.

The Sewanee students are members of a class in “Place, Memory and Identity,” which explores the intersections of memory, identity and place from a multidisciplinary perspective. As part of the class, students choose projects that allow them to engage with local communities, learn more about the area, and see firsthand how place and memory shape and are shaped by social and cultural identities.

During the Mountain Homecoming, they will help to create three local history experiences: lightning talks by local historians on the theme “Bet You Didn’t Know This About Monteagle’s History;” the pop-up museum; and a booth for the Places Project, a community research initiative through the Collaborative for Southern Appalachian Studies that collects and shares the stories of places that matter to the people who live and work on and around the South Cumberland Plateau.

Students chose to work on the Monteagle community history events for a variety of reasons: interest in Monteagle’s history, a desire to meet more local residents, and the wish to showcase residents’ memories to create a snapshot of history on their own terms. Contact Margo Shea, Mellon postdoctoral fellow with the Collaborative for Southern Appalachian Studies, with questions at (931) 924-5455.

THE INSATIABLE CRITIC

by Elizabeth Ellis

From the sublime to the ridiculous, The Sewanee Union Theatre has it all this week! Continuing to ride the history wave, audiences travel from Civil War Mississippi into the heart of the German Holocaust with a classic masterpiece by Steven Spielberg. Taking a breather from heavier themes, the week wraps up with an odd couple action comedy.

The Rating System

Stars are so overused, and there's nothing on the planet more critical than cats, so one feature each week is rated from one to five Jackaroos. The more Jackaroos there are, the better it is!

Jackaroo

Free State of Jones

7:30 p.m., Friday, Sept. 16 through Sunday, Sept. 18 2016, Rated R, 139 minutes

This Civil War drama is based on a true story of Newt Knight, a Mississippi farmer played by a grizzled Matthew McConaughey who singlehandedly raised a rebellion against the Confederacy, banding together with other local farmers in his region. His efforts led to Jones County becoming a "free state," allowing slaves to enjoy the same rights as the whites, including the ability to vote—and the inevitable fallout afterwards. Director Gary Ross relies a little too heavily on the battle sequences to tell the story for him, but still succeeds in creating a worthy tribute to a little-known but highly influential historical leader. Rated R for brutal battle scenes and disturbing graphic images in addition to its lengthy runtime makes this feature solidly for older teens and adults only.

Schindler's List

7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 21 1993, Rated R, 195 minutes

This emotional tour de force chronicling the Holocaust, directed by the great Steven Spielberg, solidly earned its place in cinema history with its star-studded cast and winning Best Picture at the 1994 Academy Awards. Filmed almost entirely in stark black and white, Liam Neeson plays Oskar Schindler, an enterprising German businessman who becomes an unlikely hero for the Jews who work in his factory. Based on a true story, Schindler saved more than 1,100 lives from the Nazis simply by defending them on his "list" as viable workers for his business. It is not only an exceptional film but a great educational tool for generations that truthfully depicts the horrors of this dark chapter of world history. The R rating for language, some sexuality, and historically accurate violence as well as the more than three-hour running time makes this feature solidly for older teens and adults only.

Central Intelligence

7:30 p.m., Thursday Sept. 22 through Sunday, Sept. 25 2016, Rated PG-13, 107 minutes

Sometimes having a big heart has some dubious benefits down the road. Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson and Kevin Hart team up in this high-octane zero-to-hero comedy. Calvin Joyner (Hart) didn't know what he was in for when he helped out the nerdy kid Bob Stone (Johnson) way back in high school—they reconnect 20 years later right before their reunion. Calvin can't believe how much Bob has changed, and he soon finds out his old buddy is now working for the CIA. Wacky hijinks ensue as mild-mannered Calvin finds himself inexplicably in the center of a sting operation to catch a criminal who has gained access to the nation's satellite program—and is ready to sell this information to the highest bidder. The odd couple chemistry foundation is a well-worn cinema trope and the CGI is not as polished as one could hope for, but "Central Intelligence" manages to reel in the laughs due to the acting chops of both the leads. Rated PG-13 for crude and suggestive humor, some nudity, action violence and brief strong language, this is appropriate for older children accompanied by parents as well adults.

'Hillbilly Revanche' on Sept. 22

The public is invited to attend the lecture on "Hillbilly Revanche: Trump and Sanders in Southern Appalachia" at 7 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 22 in the Torian Room of duPont Library. The lecture will be given by Max Fraser.

Fraser is completing a Ph.D. in American history at Yale University. He previously worked as a journalist covering politics and the economy for The Nation and other magazines. Max is working with the Sewanee-Yale Collaborative to establish an ongoing oral history project devoted to preserving the experiences of Appalachian migrants, to be managed and housed by the Collaborative for Southern Appalachian Studies and the University of the South.

In his talk, Fraser looks at the extraordinary 2016 political season from the perspective of Southern Appalachia, where two outsider candidates have had remarkable success tapping into the political disaffection of white working class constituencies across the region. Providing context that has been lacking from much of the media coverage of the presidential campaigns, Fraser examines the deep roots of that political disaffection in the historical figure of the "hillbilly," America's perennially maladjusted and problematic white poor. Turning to the present, he argues that the "hillbilly revanche" of 2016 is no passing phenomenon, and that the unrest and resentment roiling through Southern Appalachia should make it one of the more politically tempestuous regions in the country for years to come.

The talk is hosted by the Collaborative for Southern Appalachian Studies at the University of the South. Visitor parking is available in the lot adjacent to the library.

DuBose Lectures Welcome Rowan Williams

The annual DuBose Lectures will be on Sept. 28 and 29. This year the School of Theology welcomes Dr. Rowan Williams as the esteemed guest lecturer. Williams is a noted theologian and was the 104th archbishop of Canterbury from 2002 to 2014. He is a prolific author of many titles including Meeting God in Paul, 2015, and Being Christian, 2014.

The topic for his lectures is "Bonhoeffer Revisited: from Christology to Politics" and they will look at developments in Bonhoeffer's thinking in the hope of clarifying how he saw his resistance to political tyranny not just as a matter of discipleship in general but as the center-point of Christological politics. All lectures are to take place in Guerry Auditorium and are made possible by the DuBose Lecture Fund. They are free and open to the public.

Lecture 1, Sept. 28, 9 a.m.—Modern Christology and the Reformation Legacy

Lecture 2, Sept. 28, 1:45 p.m.—Bonhoeffer's Christology: Christ For Me

Lecture 3, Sept. 29, 9 a.m.—Bonhoeffer's Ethics: Representing Humanity in Christ

In addition to the three lectures, the School of Theology will host an open conversation with Williams and the Rt. Rev. J. Neil Alexander, dean of the School of Theology, Thursday, Sept. 29 at 1:30 p.m. in Guerry Auditorium. The conversation will be live-streamed and the School will be accepting questions from the audience as well as from Twitter. Questions may be submitted via Twitter, in advance or during the presentation, using the hashtag #DuBoseQA. The live-stream link may be found on the School's website on Sept. 29, <duboselectures.sewanee.edu>.

'Cave Secrets' Talk Tuesday at the SUT

"Notes from the Underground: Cave Secrets," a reading by John J. Sullivan, C'97, writer for the New York Times Magazine and author of "Unnamed Caves," and a lecture by Jan Simek, president emeritus, distinguished professor of science, department of anthropology, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, will be 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 20, at the Sewanee Union Theatre (SUT). The presentation will feature photographs by Alan Cressler, hydrologist for the United States Geological Survey and cave photographer, with technical assistance by Greg Pond, C'95, professor of Art and Art History. ## 'Motherhood for the Nation' Lecture Sept. 22

Margaret Andersen, Assistant Professor of History, University of Tennessee, Knoxville will lecture on "Motherhood for the Nation: French Family Policy, Gender, and Reproduction in 1940s Morocco." The lecture will take place at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 22, at Gailor Auditorium.

With its generous family benefits and support of motherhood, France today enjoys a reputation for being one of the most family-friendly countries in the world. Government benefits for mothers include medical care during and after pregnancy, including pelvic floor and abdominal "reeducation" sessions; financial benefits, such as the prenatal stipend and a monthly family allowance; and a wide range of subsidized services including free pre-school programs.

To encourage women to have larger families, the government's benefits are especially advantageous for the famille nombreuse (defined as three or more children). With the birth of the third child come much larger family allowances and a range of perks, including free public transportation and admission to museums. The state's current commitment to supporting families, and mothers specifically, has a long history in France that stretches back to the late 19th century. Heightened fears about the nation's slow rate of population growth motivated reformers across the political spectrum to push for financial incentives and punitive measures designed to boost the birthrate.

This presentation focuses on an important phase in the development of French family policy and ideas of motherhood by looking at its development in Morocco (a French protectorate since 1912).

This lecture is sponsored by the Lectures Committee, the Department of French and French Studies, the History Department, International and Global Studies, and Women's and Gender Studies.

Upcoming Lectures

Effects of Anxiety in Politics

Shana Kushner Gadarian, assistant professor of political science at the Maxwell School and Senior Research Associate at the Campbell Public Affairs Institute at Syracuse University, will be giving a talk at 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 21, at Convocation Hall. She will discuss her work on the effects of anxiety and threat on political behavior and comment on the implications of her findings for the 2016 American elections. The public is invited to attend.

Gadarian's recent book "Anxious Politics: Democratic Citizenship in a Threatening World" examines how the activation of anxiety in the public influences politics. In this book, Gadarian found when the world is seen as threatening—due to terrorist attacks, politicians' discourse about immigration, public health crises, or climate change—members of the public cope by seeking information in a biased way, reinforcing their perceptions of threat, and turning to political elites who they then trust to pursue even policies that infringe on civil liberties.

Tom Watson Memorial Lecture

Chris Nugent, director of the Pew Learning Center & Ellison Library at Warren Wilson College in Asheville, N.C., will be the featured speaker for the inaugural Tom Watson Memorial Lecture. This is a new lecture series designed to remember and honor the legacy of Tom Watson, University Librarian from 1976–81 and 1994–2004. The lecture, sponsored by the Friends of the Library of Sewanee, will be at 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 21, in the Torian Room in the duPont Library. The public is invited to attend.

Nugent will share what she learned from interviewing non-Jewish German women from three generations. She wanted to know what the older women remembered about National Socialism, the war, and the Holocaust and what they passed on to their daughters. How did the daughters remember learning about their mothers' lives in the Third Reich? Finally, what does it mean for young women to live in a country that takes the reckoning with its national socialist past very seriously? Excerpts from the interviews she conducted in Germany between 2013 and 2016 and photos she took on her travels will accompany the presentation.

Biehl Fellowship Results

Five Sewanee students will present their social science research results and travel experiences as Biehl Fellows at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 29, in McGriff Alumni House.

The Biehl International Research Fellowship awards summer funding of up to $4,000 to Sewanee students (rising juniors and seniors) for self-directed social science research in countries where the primary language is not English. For more information call 598-1121 or email <careers@sewanee.edu>.

OF TOWERS AND BELLS

by Ray Gotko

Secrets of a Sunday abound at All Saints. The pew sitting visitor, or regular attendee, at the Sunday liturgy, gazes upward at the magnificent stained glass windows unawares of the business unseen—the secret world of those involved in the coming liturgy.

Hidden behind the curtained gates of the baptistery a figure emerges from the ambulatory. In the dim light, or no light at all, it places a key in the lock of the tower door in silence to begin the secret climb. Quietly the lock is turned, the door is swung open then is closed silently so as not to disturb those gathered in the Nave. The carillonneur has arrived. Inside the tower base the air smells of dampness, the walls are close, too close. The spiral stairway reverberates with a hollow metallic ring as the figure ascends two and a half revolutions. The initial journey is over. Another door bars the way. Breached with a key, silence being unnecessary, entrance is accomplished into a windowed brick cavern. A second light is switched as the trudge to the top begins. This phase of the journey upward is enclosed. Footsteps on the open treads echo as the carillonneur rises above the organ blower chamber passing the entrance to the ceiling over the nave.

Opening yet another door, lockless, reveals an open air chamber housing the cell phone transmitters and receivers. The stairs continue up past the screened windows, which offer grand views of the campus. In winter, the chill wind, often freezing air, is ever present. Ducking the head to avoid a structural I-beam, the visitor passes the lower octaves of carillon bells. Several flights upward the carillon cabin is reached. Another lock, another key, the cabin door opens, the climber enters the small playing chamber. Heated in winter, cooled in the summer, the tiny room will be home until it is time to sound the bells in celebration of another Sunday in Sewanee. It's a secret solitary journey with purpose.

Each of us is engaged on some secret journey invisible to the world. It has purpose known only to the traveler. None need to know but the result of the effort.

SAS Middle School Soccer Tops Liberty Moves to 5-0

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee middle school soccer team chalked up two more victories recently to move to 5-0 this season.

On Sept. 8, SAS defeated Cascade Middle School, 3-0. Sarah Grace Burns scored first for the Mountain Lions off a corner kick from fellow classmate Adeline Smith. Lucy Cassell then found the back of the net two times in the second half with creative finesse play up top. Defender Luciana Mollica, center midfielder Jenna Black and forward Ava Carlos also played well for SAS.

On Sept. 13, SAS conquered Liberty Middle School, 1-0. Smith scored the game winning goal with a powerful shot just outside the penalty box.

"Our last match was a mental challenge," coach Margot Burns said. "We were struggling to connect as a team, but found a way to be victorious. That speaks to our fortitude."

SAS Shuts Out Red Bank in Varsity Soccer

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School varsity girls' soccer team shut out Red Bank High School at home on Sept. 6 to improve to 5-0 this season.

SAS played a high energy, quick paced game. Early in the match, senior Erin Berner-Coe (Sewanee) passed the ball down the line to sophomore Mariel Rinck (Sewanee), who crossed the ball into sophomore Kate Butler (Sewanee) who barely missed a goal.

SAS goalie Rachel Alvarez

Junior Sarah Johnson (Gruetli-Laager) controlled the ball well in the center of the field, distributing from the defense to the outside midfielders.

Junior goalie Rachel Alvarez (Sewanee) made an incredible save off a first touch shot, scooped off of the end-line before the ball could go into the goal.

Ten minutes into the game, Berner-Coe drove the ball into the back of the Red Bank goal. Berner-Coe then assisted a goal from Butler, and again scored with eight minutes left before halftime.

After a break, SAS came back strong. Freshman Sarah Beth Hobby (South Pittsburg) helped defend in a strong back line.

Rinck ran to possess the ball in the corner of the field and crossed in to Butler for a one-touch ball driven low and hard into the net. Butler got her third goal near the end of the match.

The SAS varsity soccer team was scheduled to play two other games this past week, and an away game at King's Academy today (Friday) in Seymour, Tenn.

Elliott Duncan, a senior at St. Andrew's-Sewanee School, finished ninth in varsity competition at the Sept. 8 cross country home meet, with a personal best time of 20 minutes, 18 seconds. SAS's Sophia Patterson (28:28) and Winnie Fang (28:29) finished 16th and 17th in girls' varsity. Thirteen teams and more than 160 runners competed in the meet. Photo by Paul Klekotta

Sewanee Men's Golf Finishes Third at Rhodes College Fall Classic

The Sewanee men's golf team finished in a tie for third place on Sept. 12 at the Rhodes College Fall Classic at Tunica National Golf Course.

Entering the day tied for the lead, the Tigers dropped to a tie for third with Southern Athletic Association (SAA) rival Centre. As a team, Sewanee posted a second-round 298. For the tournament, Sewanee finished at 588, 10 strokes off the pace set by winner Texas-Tyler. Host Rhodes was second with a 586 total.

Despite not winning the event, the Tigers still defeated fellow SAA programs Berry (593), Birmingham-Southern (602), and Millsaps (613), along with regional rivals Emory (593), Huntingdon (596), and Transylvania (606).

Individually, senior Alex Wedding led the Tigers with a two-day total of 143. After firing a 69 on Sept. 11, Wedding finished with a 71 the next day, which put him in a tie for third. Along with finishing third, Wedding led the field in par-4 scoring at three-under.

Freshman Gray Matthews also finished in the top 10 after he closed the tournament out with a second-round 74. In just his first collegiate tournament, Matthews finished in a tie for sixth place with a 143 total.

Teammate Garrett Lucey finished in 47th place with a two-day 153 (74-79), while freshman Tommy Oliver made the biggest leap for the Tigers and finished in a tie for 67th. After opening with an 83, Oliver closed with an impressive 74 for a two-round score of 157.

After opening with a 74, Timothy Walter finished tied for 77th after he closed out with an 81.

Washington & Lee Rallies Past Tigers

Longtime rival Washington & Lee University came back from a 17-0 deficit in the fourth quarter to defeat the Sewanee football team, 21-17, Sept. 10 at Harris Stadium in Sewanee.

The loss is the second straight 21-17 defeat for the Tigers this season. The Generals have now won 11 of the last 12 meetings between both historic programs.

After neither team found any type of offensive rhythm early, Sewanee finally broke the scoreless tie as freshman quarterback Sam Hearn found senior tight end Divine Maloney on an 18-yard quick slant for the game's first touchdown.

The score remained in favor of the Tigers with 9:25 left in the third quarter, as kicker Michael Jacobs connected on a 28-yard field goal.

Sewanee continued its strong second half after the Tiger defense got the ball back by stopping W&L at midfield when linebacker Tristan Fuller sacked Charlie Nelson with 14:52 to play. Three plays later, Hearn was at it again when he found Ronald Hayes on a perfect corner pattern. After Hayes caught the ball at the 15-yard line, the Tiger slotback raced the final yards into the end zone for a 39-yard score.

Needing to respond in a big way, W&L answered. The Generals scored when Nelson raced 13 yards, which capped off a quick six-play, 60-yard drive that only took 1:42 off the clock.

After holding Sewanee to a three and out on the next Tiger possession, the Generals continued to pick up steam. On third and six from the Tiger 35, McKenna Johnson scored the second straight W&L touchdown.

After forcing Sewanee to punt again, W&L went to work with 4:36 to play from its own 20-yard line.

After not advancing more than four yards on the first three plays of the drive, the Generals faced a fourth and six from their own 24-yard line. With the pressure on, Nelson and W&L came through as receiver Walker Brand caught a 31-yard pass. Three plays later, Nelson gave W&L the lead when he tossed a 31-yard touchdown pass to Witt Hawkins with 2:59 left.

Sewanee did manage to drive down to the W&L 24-yard line with just under a minute to play. However, two straight incomplete passes and a failed fourth and nine conversion sealed the win for the Generals.

Sewanee finished with 309 yards of total offense. Hearn added 193 passing yards to go along with 38 rushing yards. Tailback Mikey Plancher also played well with 71 yards on 21 carries.

Hearn's favorite target on the afternoon was sophomore Allan Parrott, who returned to the lineup and made three catches for 61 yards.

Despite W&L's slow start, Nelson led the Generals to 400 yards of total offense.

Defensively, Tiger safety John Cleveland again led Sewanee in tackles with 11 stops. Fellow safety Lee Menefee and linebacker Tony Dykes also played well with eight tackles each.

Sewanee Field Hockey Dominates

The Sewanee field hockey team earned a 10-0 victory on Sept. 11 over visiting Lindenwood-Belleville at Puett Field.

The Tigers are now 3-1 this season after back-to-back home victories.

Sewanee finished with goals from Luna Goodale, Kate Mulligan, Emily Sloan, Monica Bueso, Ceara Caffrey, Catherine Estes, and Virginia Barry. Caffrey (three) and Barry (two) scored multiple times.

Overall, Sewanee outshot Lindenwood-Belleville, 53-0.

No. 7 Trinity Edges Sewanee

An overtime goal by Yasmeen Farra lifted No. 7 Trinity to a 2-1 victory over the Sewanee women's soccer team on Sept. 11 in San Antonio, Texas.

Farra netted the game-winner with less than four minutes to play in the extra period. Prior to her goal, both teams battled hard throughout regulation.

The former Southern College Athletic Conference rivals remained scoreless until the 71st minute as Halleanne Dure pushed Trinity in front after a great pass from Brigitte Taylor.

Minutes later, Sewanee answered back. Despite having only five shots in the match, the Tigers knotted the score at 1-1 when sophomore Savannah Williams ripped home a shot off an assist from classmate Dayla LaRocque.

Men's Soccer Remains Unbeaten

Freshman Ben Vaeth ripped in an impressive goal in the 58th minute as the Sewanee men's soccer team remained unbeaten with a 1-1 double overtime draw against visiting Piedmont, Sept. 10 at Puett Field.

The Tigers are 4-0-1 this season. Sewanee will put its unbeaten streak on the line with a road trip to Virginia for matches against Hampden-Sydney on Sept. 17 and Randolph on Sept. 18.

Piedmont's lone goal came with 21 minutes off the clock as Cullen Copland scored off a double assist from Jose Linares and Luke Martin.

Sewanee dominated in shots with a 25-10 advantage. Forward Matt Hawse led the attack with seven attempts, while Max Hawes and Vaeth each finished with six shots. In goal, freshman Will Merriman stopped three attempts.

NATURENOTES

Strawberry Bush

Our Strawberry Bush is in fruit, that is to say, the hearts have burst on the Heart's-a-bustin'. The fruits, which do bear a strong resemblance to small strawberries, have split to reveal dangling, orange-red seeds. But don't eat these—despite the strawberry name, they are poisonous. We are lucky the deer have left this bush alone as it is one of their favorites for browsing. We keep another, smaller bush in a wire-fence cage to protect it.

Strawberry Bush is in the same family as the popular but non-native Burning Bush, introduced from Asia, and similarities can be seen in the fruits. Burning Bush is considered a lesser threat, but still a threat, by the Tennessee Exotic Pest Plant Council. Its seeds are dispersed by birds and other animals into native plant communities. Consider landscape alternatives of native plants such as cultivars of Fragrant or Winged Sumac or Dwarf Witch Alder for brilliant fall color.

Pets of the Week

Meet Bashful and Jan

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Handsome Bashful, a 9-month-old Border Collie mix, is a lap dog, though you wouldn't know it at first because he's a bit shy. All it takes is some one-on-one time with him and he will be devoted to you. Bashful is heartworm-negative, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and neutered.

Jan is a delightful 3-month-old Calico kitten who is sweet, loving, and cuddly. Once she gets out of her playful kitten phase, she will likely be a perfect lap-warmer. Jan is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and spayed.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is now in their new shelter at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at <www.animalharbor.org>. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Please help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. ## Instep Hike Through Abbo's Alley Instep is a program sponsored by Jasper Seventh-day Adventist Church to help encourage members and community friends alike to become more physically active. A hike is offered on the third Saturday afternoon of each month. Everyone is also welcome to attend the Christ-centered worship service at 11 a.m. and the fellowship meal preceding the hike.

The Instep Hike on Saturday, Sept. 17, is on the University of the South campus in Sewanee. Starting at the Fowler Center parking lot at 1:45 p.m. (CDT), participants will follow the Abbo's Alley trail for slightly over half a mile by a sparkling stream through cool, shady woods. The trail is slightly downhill and features many beautiful plants, memorial benches and bridges along the way. At the intersection with South Carolina Avenue, those wanting only a short hike may return on the opposite side of the creek for a round-trip hike of 1.2 miles.

For those wanting to do more, the hike will continue on Abbo's Alley to University Avenue, down Tennessee Avenue, picking up the woodland trail to the Memorial Cross and the spectacular view of the valley. Some side streets will reconnect hikers with Abbo's Alley and the return to the Fowler Center for a round-trip hike of 4.6 miles.

Please contact hike leader Kim Butters via email <kim_butters59@hotmail.com>, text or call (423) 322-1443 about attending or meeting the group at the trailhead.

BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

When I faded back to pass
Late in the game, as one
Who has been away some time
Fades back into memory,
My father, who had been nodding
At home by the radio,
Would wake, asking
My mother, who had not
Been listening, "What's the score?"
And she would answer, "Tied,"
While the pass I threw
Hung high in the brilliant air
Beneath the dark, like a star.

—Ties, by Dabney Stuart
