The Monteagle Eagle Comes Home to Roost

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

The majestic Monteagle Hotel burned in 1950, but the symbolic eagle statue continued to grace the front lawn until one dark and stormy night in November of 1952. The eagle mysteriously vanished. Perched on a globe atop a stone mound, the 70 pound eagle with a six-foot plus wing span appeared to have been excised from its roost with tin snips. Just days later the eagle reappeared at Tennessee Tech, the eagle's pot-metal finish hidden beneath a coat of lustrous gold paint befitting the school's revered mascot, the golden eagle. Suspended from the ceiling in Memorial Gym to rally enthusiasm for the big Thanksgiving game against the school's arch rival MTSU, the noble eagle had the desired effect. The student body roared approval. But chagrined Tech President Everett Derryberry rushed up to the stage demanding to know how the eagle came into the students' possession.

Unknown to the three students who masterminded the middle of the night hijack, Derryberry had recently heard the hotel burned and contacted hotel owner John Harton about purchasing the eagle for a school emblem. Back in Monteagle, tempers flared when the town learned of their eagle's fate. A group of incensed citizens were rumored to plot stealing the eagle back. But the Tech students had fallen in love with the eagle and had hidden it away under lock and key. Harton, a former state treasurer, initially refused to sell or donate the eagle to the school. Finally Governor Frank G. Clement, Harton's longtime friend, negotiated a compromise. Harton accepted $500 as payment for the eagle. Tech mounted the eagle atop the library and later moved it to a perch on the administration building, now Derryberry Hall.

Fast forward to 2013. The Harton family had made the former hotel grounds available to the city of Monteagle for use as a park. Within the park, the stone mound had acquired a new eagle statue fashioned by local iron artist Jamey Chernicky. The Laurel Lake Garden Club tended the array of plantings surrounding the eagle statue and while the women watered and weeded, a seed bloomed into an idea: Let's get the original eagle back. The garden club women joined forces with the civic group Monteagle Women for a Better Tomorrow, and a small coalition of women paid a visit to current Tech President Phil Oldham.

When they walked into Oldham's office, spokesperson for the group Iva Michelle Russell zeroed in on a picture of actor John Belushi, renowned for his frat-boy mischief in the film "Animal House."

"When I saw the Belushi picture, I knew it would go well," Russell said. A friendly, good-humored exchange followed with the women joking about how many bake sales it would take to purchase the eagle statue, and a few days later Oldham contacted the women with an idea. He proposed Tech create two exact replicas of the eagle, one for Tech and one for the town. Tech removed the eagle from Derryberry Hall and through a combination of high-tech scanning, modeling and 3-D printing made a mold. Before being delivered to a local foundry, the mold was used to make a plaster cast of the original eagle which is on display in the lobby at the Monteagle City Hall. Traditional metal casting and finishing techniques were employed to produce the two aluminum replicas. Weighing more than 400 pounds and sporting a shimmering golden finish, Monteagle's eagle will be unveiled at 10 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 24, in Harton Park mounted on the same stone mound the original eagle once called home. The sister replica eagle will grace the entrance to Derryberry Hall.

Weather and age have taken their toll on the original eagle. Too fragile for outdoor display, the original will be enshrined in a glass case for viewing at the student union.

SAS to Celebrate New Head of School and Chapel Restoration

by Kevin Cummings, Messenger Staff Writer

Starting today (Friday) St. Andrew's-Sewanee School will celebrate two big occasions during Upper School Family Weekend, the installation of its new head of school and restoration of St. Andrew's Chapel.

Karl Sjolund, the new head of school, will preach during the Eucharistic installation service at 2 p.m., today (Friday), Sept. 23, at the Outdoor Altar. The Rt. Rev. John C. Bauerschmidt, Episcopal Bishop of Tennessee, will be the celebrant at the service.

Sjolund, who was previously headmaster at Salem Academy in Winston Salem, N.C., started at SAS on July 1. He said the first two months have been frenzied and exciting.

University Choir Starts a Fresh Journey

by Kevin Cummings, Messenger Staff Writer

Donning their white cassocks and red surplices, the University of the South Choir is an integral part of Sewanee, and this year they have a new choirmaster as they start the journey toward Lessons and Carols.

The choir has performed at several Eucharist services at All Saints' Chapel this school year and will perform their first Evensong service at the Chapel this Sunday, Sept. 25, at 4 p.m.

Katie Kull, a senior ecology and biodiversity major, is choir president.

"Being in the choir has been one of the defining activities in my life as a University student," Kull said. "The music is truly what drew me to this choir, because we get to sing some of the most beautiful, challenging and haunting choral pieces ever written.

"I know that we've done well when I get goosebumps from listening to us all sing together, even on songs we've rehearsed a thousand times," she added. "It's unlike anything else I'm involved in in its ability to completely change my mood to one of joy and peace."

BILLIONS OF DOLLARS?

To the Editor:

Gordon Lane's claim (Sept. 16, 2016 edition) that paying for the border wall cost could be derived from a tax on the "billions of dollars" sent to Mexico is not tenable.

Trump's plan is unclear legally and politically as to the president's powers to so pressure another country.

Estimated costs of the wall vary from $5–$15 billion depending on the source, and the Mexican president has made it clear that they will not pay one peso for it directly or indirectly.

John Bratton, Sewanee ■

TAX TO BUILD WALL?

To the Editor:

So, businesses that wire "billions of dollars" to Mexico should have the further onus placed on them to collect a 10 percent tax? The small grocer, the mercado, the UPS franchise, the small pharmacy, already charged with collecting Tennessee's regressive 9.75 percent sales tax needs this dumped on their shoulders? The same small businesses conservatives want to protect from government over-regulation, causing many to fail. That makes sense.

What about the billions of dollars that are sent to China, India and the Philippines, according to the Government Accountability Office? Tax that too?

T.J. Hewitt, Sewanee ■

All Saints'

Choral Evensong will be celebrated Sunday, Sept. 25, at 4 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel. This service will feature the University Choir singing music by Tallis, Phillips, Edison and Stanford.

Growing in Grace will continue Sunday, Sept. 25, at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel. The speaker will be Nora Vinas, a member of the class of 2017 and a Bonner Leader. This informal worship service is designed for students and community members with student-led acoustic music, guest speakers and Holy Communion. This Advent semester, Growing in Grace will focus on moments in our life where we find ourselves at a “Crossroads.”

The Catechumenate continues Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 7 p.m. in the Bairnwick Women's Center with desserts and coffee. Catechumenate, from a Greek word meaning “learning and exploring,” is a place where we explore what it means to be a human being and what it means to be a person of faith in our community. This is a great place to meet new people and build relationships. Food, prayer, questions, and conversation power this process. Email Lay Chaplain Rob McAlister <rvmcalis@sewanee.edu> for directions or more information.

Otey Parish

This Sunday, Sept. 25, in Christian Formation at 10 a.m., the Lectionary Class will explore Sunday's gospel in the Claiborne House, Adult Education Room. Children ages 3–11 are invited to meet their friends for Godly Play. Infants 6 weeks to children 4 years old are invited to the nursery beginning at 8:30 a.m. until after the second service.

At the Adult Forum, Nicky Hamilton and Bonnie McCardell will discuss “Poverty in Our Midst” at St. Mark's Hall. Sessions end at 10:50 a.m. All are welcome.

Unitarian Universalist Church

At the Unitarian Universalist Church of Tullahoma the speaker will be Denise Gyauch on “All Praise to the Great Web: On Being a 7th Principle Unitarian Universalist.” The service begins Sunday, Sept. 25, at 10 a.m., followed by refreshments and a discussion period. The church is located at 3536 New Manchester Hwy., Tullahoma. For more information, call (931) 455-8626, or visit the church's website at <www.tullahomauu.org>.

While no one living can account for the eagle's exact age, photos from the WWII era show returning soldiers pictured with the eagle, so she's at least 70 years old.

The unveiling ceremony will include Monteagle Elementary School children reading their winning essays on Monteagle history and the official announcement of the eagle's name, with the winning name selected from among the ideas submitted by students at MES.

Jamey Chernicky's eagle, which has been standing guard at the Harton Park roost since 2011, has found a new home at the Monteagle Pavillion.

One legend has it that the town's name is based on the Native American name for the location, Eagle Mountain, honoring the golden eagles who inhabit the region.

Like the mythological bird the phoenix that obtains new life by arising from the ashes of its predecessor, the Monteagle eagle will return to her roost in an aura of glory, splendor and good feelings all around.

The choir's Evensong performance will feature hymns, canticles, responses and organ voluntaries, said Geoffrey Ward, the new choirmaster and organist at All Saints' Chapel. He replaced longtime choirmaster Robbe DelCamp, who retired. Ward, who is originally from Ontario, Canada, is the former organist and choirmaster of St. John's Episcopal Church in Memphis.

Both William Stokes, the assistant University organist, and Ken Miller, the new organist at the School of Theology, will perform organ music before the Evensong service starts and at the end, Ward added.

The University Choir features 47 students, including 19 freshmen and three international students from Italy, China and Russia. The school holds auditions during orientation each year.

"I am always on the lookout for new singers," Ward said. "This means that auditions can happen and hopefully will continue through the year."

Davis Couch, a senior economics major and choir member, said the singing has a therapeutic effect.

"If I were to describe how the music we sing makes me feel in one word, it would be 'calming,'" Couch said. "It's nice to forget about the million and one different things that we as students constantly have to take care of and just enjoy singing beautiful music for an hour or so every other day."

Couch calls the choir one of the most tight-knit organizations on campus.

"Being a part of the choir has been one of my favorite parts of my Sewanee career," he said. "It's hard for me to describe my experience in the choir without talking about the people in it. My choir experience has been nothing but good because of the people around me and how much fun we have singing together."

The University of the South Choir at All Saints' Chapel.

The choir is best known for the annual Lessons and Carols performances in early December, which draws people from hundreds of miles away.

"Lessons and Carols is the Super Bowl of the University Choir," Kull said. "I'm also a tour guide for Sewanee, and I usually get goosebumps just standing in the chapel telling visitors about the experience of singing the services."

"It's such a visceral thing," she added. "The whole chapel is filled with the smell of evergreens and candle smoke and all we can see are each others' faces illuminated by our candles. There are parts of the accompanying brass melodies of some of the hymns that bring me to tears when I hear them again for the first time each December."

The choir often travels both internationally and domestically and this spring break, the choir will tour in the U.S., including a choral Evensong at the Washington National Cathedral in Washington D.C.

"We are looking to expand our contacts with alumni from Sewanee as well as recruiting students specifically to sing in the choir," Ward said. "The tour will certainly help with this. We are hoping to start a choir camp for high school students that will expose more students to the University."

"I'm drinking water from a firehose right now and I'm still trying to figure out what's next. But I sure am having fun doing it," he said.

Sjolund is only the third head of school in SAS's 35-year history.

"I'm just so pleased with how welcoming this community is, the SAS community and also the greater Sewanee community," he said. "It's been such a warm embrace, it really has, for both my wife and I."

Sjolund's wife, Susan, is the new head coach for the University of the South's equestrian team and they have twin daughters, one at Furman University and the other at Samford University.

He said staffing at SAS is almost complete and he is looking forward to the fall meeting of the board of trustees in October.

"I inherited a tremendous team of very talented professionals and I have added a new director of admissions, Anneke Skidmore, who's an SAS graduate," he said.

Enrollment is up by 16 students compared to last year, with 247 students enrolled at the school. This includes 77 boarding students and 31 international students.

He said the board will discuss such issues as the next capital projects for the school, increasing staff salaries and building the scholarship fund for students who need financial help.

Sjolund said he was drawn to SAS because of the location, but also because he loves the Episcopal boarding school environment and students from all over the world coming together for an education.

"It was the people more than anything else that sold me on it," he said. "The leadership, the faculty and probably more than anything else, the students. I thought it was an incredibly talented, kind and happy student body and that was what I was looking for."

On Sunday, Sept. 25, at 10:30 a.m., the school will also host a special rededication service at its newly-renovated Chapel, with the Rt. Rev. Neil Alexander, dean of Sewanee's School of Theology, presiding.

SAS raised approximately $1.35 million, with about $850,000 of that for restoration of St. Andrew's Chapel and the rest for an endowment for operation and maintenance of the Chapel, said Tim Graham, assistant to the head of school on special projects. The building, which was consecrated in 1914, seats approximately 250 people.

Workers started the restoration of the Chapel in April and have essentially completed a number of renovations, such as replacing and repairing stucco and wood, repairing the roof, landscaping, weathering windows and doors, removing carpeting, refinishing wood floors, a new fire alarm system, replacing the shingle roof with Spanish tile, a new sound system and restoring pews and artifacts.

Graham said about 450 donors contributed to the Chapel renovation and endowment with donations ranging from small to $200,000.

"The donors represented a broad base of support for the school, which really reflects the breadth of support for that Chapel, and the importance of the Chapel," Graham said. "People understand the importance of the Chapel in the life of the school. It really is the central building on our campus."

The project also included repairing and waterproofing the Chapel's bell tower, which officials will name in honor of the late Bishop Robert Tharp, a former SAS trustee.

Both the installation ceremony and Chapel rededication are open to the public.

Food with Friends Lunch

Today (Friday), Sept. 23, the Community Action Committee will team up with Food with Friends to serve a community lunch in St. Mark's Hall, in Claiborne Parish House at Otey. The free lunch is open to the public and will start at noon. Food with Friends is a University student-led organization that strives to build relationships through serving meals to the community. The CAC lunches are a monthly occurrence during the school year. Bring a dish to share. For more information contact Gabby Valentine at <valenge0@sewanee.edu>.

Mindful Self-Compassion Workshop

An eight-week Mindful Self-Compassion workshop will be taught each Wednesday, 6–8:30 p.m., at St. Mary's Sewanee beginning Sept. 28 and ending Nov. 16. The course will include a half-day retreat 10 a.m.–2 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 29.

Mindful Self-Compassion teaches core principles and practices that enable participants to respond to difficult moments in their lives with kindness, care and understanding.

The class will be taught by Maryellen McCone, MA, LPC/ MHSP and Richard Barrali, CYT. The cost is $350 for eight-weeks plus the half-day retreat. A manual containing exercises and core meditations is included.

For more information or registration materials contact McCone at (931) 636-4415 or email <mmccone@sewanee.edu>.

Sewanee Students Lend Support to the MGTA

Two groups of University of the South students carried out initiatives last week to support the mission of the Mountain Goat Trail.

Members of SAE fraternity placed three wooden benches built by their members along the trail at Mountain Outfitters, Mooney's Market & Emporium, and the Sewanee end of the trail.

Last weekend, students in Professor Deb McGrath's Finding Your Place (FYP) group carried out trail counts and surveys on the trail, as part of the National Bicycle and Pedestrian Documentation Project.

"Having Sewanee students involved in making the Trail more effective and enjoyable is a win for all involved. The Trail gains from their work, and hopefully they become more acquainted with a positive resource in their community," said Patrick Dean, executive director of the Mountain Goat Trail Alliance.

Information on the Mountain Goat Trail can be found at <mountaingoattrail.org>.

Debate Watch: A Series

The University's Center for Speaking and Listening and Office of Civic Engagement with student organizations No Labels Sewanee, College Republicans and Sewanee Democrats is hosting "DebateWatch: A Series." Students, staff, faculty and community members are all invited to engage in dialogue and discussion surrounding the presidential and vice-presidential debates. This event is open to the public.

The dates are Tuesday, Oct. 4, Sunday, Oct. 9 and Wednesday, Oct. 19. The Monday, Sept. 26 event is already full.

DebateWatch is a series of viewing parties for the three presidential debates and the one vice-presidential debate. Individuals should arrive between 7:30–7:45p.m. before the televised debate begins. The debate will end at 9:30p.m. Participants will then take part in a 30-minute dialogue and discussion debriefing the debate. This format is a way for participants to watch and critically analyze the debate without the bias of the media or commentators. The format of the event includes a free catered dinner from Sewanee Inn.

Reservations are requested and participants are asked to commit their attendance for the duration of the event. There is limited seating.

Send your reservation request to Michelle Howell <amhowell@sewanee.edu> and include the date attending and any dietary or allergy restrictions.

Deer Hunting Season Begins Sept. 24

The University has now concluded its first year of spatially explicit deer population estimation using infrared game cameras. While the spotlight survey, first begun in 2010, has provided a Domain-wide snapshot of the overall population, it has not had the ability to distinguish differences in herd density in different portions of the Domain. For Sewanee residents concerned about garden plants, these differences in density can be very important. It is also important in the forest where variability in deer browse is quite pronounced.

This August, 18 cameras were placed systematically in three areas and baited and checked according to a methodology developed at Mississippi State in the late 1990s. Two of those areas had been hunted for many years, while the third (Thumping Dick hollow) has not been part of the hunt before. The results were intriguing. In areas where regulated hunting has occurred for several years, the cameras verified that we have reached our goal of a balanced sex ratio and are approaching our target population densities. This herd reduction is also being verified in the vegetation in those areas, where browse evidence is decreasing and the number and density of traditionally overbrowsed species is increasing.

The Thumping Dick hollow survey told a different story. There, the camera survey showed deer densities more than eight times greater than our target density, exceeding any density ever recorded by spotlight. The sex ratio there also appears to be greatly out of balance with an estimated nine females for every male. This corroborates the story told by the extensive understory vegetation sampling that has been done in that area, where only the most unpalatable plants remain in the understory. Thumping Dick hollow appears to have had no reduction in deer density after 6 years of intensive hunting less than ½ mile away.

All this is reinforcing what was already known and adding new data points to our management plan. It tells us that though our human perspective has for many years perceived an overpopulation of deer (evidenced by browse in our gardens and forest understory), the deer do not appear to yet be at densities that cause dispersal to new territories. This was observed in town several years ago when a relatively small number of deer, living in a very small area, were responsible for a large amount of damage on leaseholds and intense hunting pressure around those areas did not appreciably reduce the observed deer damage.

It also tells us that where we are diligent, we can get herds managed to densities we desire, both in and out of town. As we have for the past several years, the University is interested in community member's perception of the hunt and of the general deer herd size and condition. This year the community survey has moved from email to an online form and can be found at <<https://goo.gl/forms/E6UEY7f3SYJDjVzD2>>.

If you have questions about rules of the hunt, or want to download the map of hunting areas to your phone or tablet, please visit the hunting website <www.sewanee.edu/offices/oess/the-domain/ecosystem-management/hunting/>. ## Domain Forum, Sept. 30

The first Domain Forum of this school year will be at 4:30 p.m., Friday, Sept. 30, at the Blue Chair (café side). The goal of the forum is to offer an opportunity for broad, interdisciplinary conversation about a variety of topics. The community is invited to attend.

Ken Smith, Assistant Dean for the Environment, will talk about the University's Demonstration Forest. During the next five years, there will be opportunities for students and community members to participate with the Demonstration Forest. For an example of a past initiative, this video at <<https://vimeo.com/97633635>> features the construction of the Sewanee Inn using organically grown wood from the Domain. The second half-hour will be reserved for questions, informal discussion and socializing.

Drinks and snacks will be provided by Dean of the College and professor of classics, Terry Papillon.

Author David Coe at SAS

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School is pleased to welcome author and SAS parent David Coe for a Chapel talk at 8 a.m., Wednesday, Sept. 28, in McCrory Hall for the Performing Arts. Coe's talk, which is open to the public, will focus on narrative, creativity and the ways in which we all write our own books.

Coe's talk is part of the school's annual celebration of the book. Later in the day, the SAS community will enjoy a literary-themed luncheon.

Coe is the author of several internationally popular fantasy series, including the Lontobyn Chronicles and The Case Files of Justis Fearsson. Coe also writes as D.B. Jackson, publishing historical fantasy including the well-known Thieftaker Chronicles, a series set in pre-Revolutionary Boston that combines elements of urban fantasy, mystery and historical fiction.

He received his undergraduate degree from Brown University and his Master's and Ph.D. in U.S. history from Stanford University. He co-founded and regularly contributes to the Magical Words group blog <<http://magicalwords.net>>, a site devoted to discussions of the craft and business of writing fantasy, and is co-author of "How to Write Magical Words: A Writer's Companion." He is parent of SAS senior Erin Berner-Coe and former president of the school's Parents' Council.

Fall Break Science Camps

The Hands-On Science Center (HOSC) is offering to supplement their Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) education through a variety of day camps throughout the month of October. The following camps are available to children in kindergarten through fifth grade:

Tuesday–Wednesday, Oct. 4–5: LEGO Technology;

Thursday–Friday, Oct. 6–7: Cell Biology: Building Blocks of Life;

Tuesday–Wednesday, Oct. 11–12: Adventures in LEGO;

Thursday–Friday, Oct. 13–14: Energy Pyramid: The Circle of Life;

Tuesday–Wednesday, Oct. 18–19: LEGO Technology;

Thursday–Friday, Oct. 20–21: Cell Biology: Building Blocks of Life.

The camps run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day.

Cost is $30 per day for HOSC members; $35 per day for non-members, with a sibling discount of $5 per day.

Extended care is available 8–9 a.m. and 3–5 p.m. at an additional cost of $5 per day.

Preregistration is required at <www.hosc.org/camps>.

The Hands-On Science Center is located at 101 Mitchell Blvd. in Tullahoma. Hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Call (931) 455-8387 for more information.

Swiss Memorial Tours the Suter Farm

On Aug. 30, Jackie and Marvin Lawley hosted students from Swiss Memorial Elementary School for a visit to their Suter Farm, which was established by Jackie's family in 1885. Students enjoyed touring the historic Suter home and learning about the family's Swiss heritage as well as the history of Swiss Memorial School. They harvested grapes and snacked on grape juice and pecans while relaxing on the home's big front porch.

Mr. Roger's eighth grade students incorporated their visit into a lesson about the importance of grapes in Colonial America. Mrs. Meeks' fourth and fifth graders shared stories about the history of the school and completed writing lessons to compare and contrast lifestyles from 1885 to present times.

Belinda Morgan, school nurse and garden director organized the trip and says she looks forward to growing Suter Farm grapes at The Seeds of Change School Garden.

Central Intelligence

7:30 p.m., Friday, Sept. 23 through Sunday, Sept. 25
2016, Rated PG-13, 107 minutes

Sometimes having a big heart has some dubious benefits down the road. Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson and Kevin Hart team up in this high-octane zero-to-hero comedy. Calvin Joyner (Hart) didn't know what he was in for when he helped out the nerdy kid Bob Stone (Johnson) way back in high school—they reconnect 20 years later right before their reunion. Calvin can't believe how much Bob has changed, and he soon finds out his old buddy is now working for the CIA. Wacky hijinks ensue as mild-mannered Calvin finds himself inexplicably in the center of a sting operation to catch a criminal who has gained access to the nation's satellite program—and is ready to sell this information to the highest bidder. The odd couple chemistry foundation is a well-worn cinema trope and the CGI is not as polished as one could hope for, but "Central Intelligence" manages to reel in the laughs due to the acting chops of both the leads. Rated PG-13 for crude and suggestive humor, some nudity, action violence and brief strong language, this is appropriate for older children accompanied by parents as well adults.

The Princess Bride

7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 28
1987, Rated PG, 98 minutes

Miss a big-screen showing of this cult classic? Inconceivable! This charming film is a quirky take on the fairy tale genre—part romance, part comedy and part high adventure. Stuck at home sick in bed, an impossibly young Fred Savage is read the story of "The Princess Bride" by his grandfather, which features the dashing Cary Elwes as Westley and the lovely Robin Wright as Princess Buttercup. What begins as an eye-rolling romance quickly takes off into a tale of intrigue, featuring pirates, bandits and ROUS (rodents of unusual size). The witty screenplay by William Goldman, who also penned the novel the film is based on, has coined such memorable lines as the ubiquitous "As you wish." Nominated for one Oscar in the 1988 Academy Awards for best music and original song, this wholly original story has gone on to inspire younger generations as well as remaining a fond bastion of quality cinema for its original appreciative audiences. Rated PG for some moderate sword-fighting action, this film is appropriate for everyone.

The Hunt for the Wilderpeople

7:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 29 through Sunday, Oct. 2
2016, Rated PG-13, 101 minutes

What could a wise-cracking city teenager and a cantankerous old man have in common? A penchant for trouble, of course! Hip-hop loving Ricky doesn't expect much when he gets sent to his latest foster home in the wilds of New Zealand (filmed entirely on location) that includes warm-hearted Bella and her husband Hec. However, just as Ricky becomes accustomed to his quirky new family, tragedy prompts the authorities to send him packing. Hec and Ricky decide to make a run for it, thus prompting a nationwide manhunt and general hilarity. Having already won several awards in global film festivals, "The Hunt for the Wilderpeople" is garnering Oscar buzz for its artful blend of true "lol" humor and sage messages of what it means to be family. FUN FACT: my cousin Charlie McClellan, who also worked on the original Lord of the Rings Trilogy films, is the executive producer of this movie! Rated PG-13 for thematic elements including violent content and some strong language, this film is meant to be watched by parents and their older children due to the strong themes of family ties and how those bonds of love can be tested, and ultimately, triumph in the face of life's challenges.

Writer Evans to Deliver Haines Lecture

Writer Danielle Evans is this year's Stacy Allen Haines Lecturer at the University of the South. Evans will be reading from her fiction at 4:30 p.m., Monday, Sept. 26, in Convocation Hall. A book signing and reception will follow.

When Evans' short story collection "Before You Suffocate Your Own Fool Self" appeared in 2010, the awards began: the PEN/Robert W. Bingham Prize, the Paterson Prize, the Hurston-Wright Award, and the National Book Foundation's "5 Under 35" list, all in the same year (2011). Her stories have appeared in The Paris Review, Callaloo, A Public Space, The Best American Short Stories 2008, and The Best American Short Stories 2010. Many of Evans' characters are black and mixed-race teenagers and adults navigating a post-Civil-Rights America.

A native of Washington, D.C., and a graduate of Columbia University and the Iowa Writers' Workshop, Evans currently teaches in the M.F.A. program at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

The reading is sponsored by the Department of English through the Haines Lecture Series, in memory of former Sewanee resident Stacy Allen Haines, with additional support from the Department of American Studies.

"Love Thy Neighbor" at UAG

The University Art Gallery presents Jessica Wohl's "Love Thy Neighbor," an exhibition of quilts and drawings that grapples with the fear, intolerance and polarization the artist sees dividing communities and cities across the country, and answers those divisions with objects that evoke empathy and comfort. The exhibition will be on view from Oct. 28 to Jan. 27.

Wohl will speak about her work at 4:30 p.m., Friday, Nov. 11, in Convocation Hall with a reception to follow.

On Saturday, Nov. 12, from 4 to 7 p.m., "Love Thy Neighbor" will be part of the sixth Annual Campus Gallery Walk at the University of the South, with live performances inspired by the exhibition in the gallery.

The motifs and patterns of these quilts—fences, gates, security bars—invoke the barriers that divide us, both from one another and from that to which we aspire. The medium in which they are rendered responds to that frustration. The quilts in the exhibition are stitched together from fabric found or purchased from thrift stores and yard sales across the country. Quilts bring together disparate pieces. For Wohl, the fabric pieces "are hand-me-downs, throwaways, stained, smelly, loved, discarded and Someone Else's. They are Others that become one."

Born and raised in Minneapolis, Minn., Wohl received her B.F.A. from the Kansas City Art Institute and her M.F.A. from the University of Georgia. Originally trained as an illustrator with specialization in art history, her studio practice has evolved to include drawing, painting, embroidery, quilting, collage, performance and installation. Wohl's work has been exhibited nationally and internationally, most recently at the Belfast Photo Festival, the Robert Mann Gallery in New York and the Zeitgeist Gallery in Nashville. Her work has also been exhibited at venues in Miami, Atlanta, Kansas City, England, Finland, Norway, Italy, Hong Kong and Korea, and has recently been featured in Burnaway, the Jealous Curator, Vogue and ArtNews. Her work is collected by the Nerman Museum of Contemporary Art, the Sprint-Nextel Corporation, the H&R Block World Headquarters, numerous private collectors and is included in the Drawing Center's Viewing Program. She is assistant professor of art at the University of the South.

The University Art Gallery is located on Georgia Avenue on the campus of the University of the South. Hours are 10 a.m.–5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday and noon–4 p.m., Saturday and Sunday. Call 598-1223 for more information, or go to <gallery.sewanee.edu>.

Arts Notes

West African Dance Master Class Offered

On Saturday, Sept. 24 at 11 a.m. in the Tennessee Williams Center dance studio, Madia Cooper will lead a workshop that engages participants in the contemporary and traditional vocabulary of West African and Caribbean dances. The class will include both live drumming and recorded music. Participants of all ages and all levels of experience are welcome. This event is sponsored by The Office of Multicultural Affairs and The Department of Theatre and Dance.

'Communal Spirit' Exhibit at University Archives

"Communal Spirit: 3,000 Years of Mexican Artistry" incorporates diverse Pre-Columbian artifacts from both western and eastern Mexico, representing eight different indigenous civilizations. The 20th-century folk art presented features many of the same regions, inspiration and creative techniques.

There is an opening talk and reception at 5:30 p.m., Monday, Sept. 26, with James Doyle, assistant curator, Art of the Ancient Americas at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York. The public is invited to attend.

The exhibition will continue through Dec. 16. The Museum Gallery of University Archives and Special Collection is open 1–5 p.m., Tuesday–Friday.

The Carlos Gallery

The Carlos Gallery in the Nabit Art Building at University of the South is pleased to present "Wide Receivers and Near Misses," an exhibition by artist Lauren Ruth. Ruth is a multi-disciplinary artist whose sculptural works engage issues of social ritual, participation and the body. The exhibit runs through Saturday, Oct. 1.

Gallery hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 1–5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The gallery is located at 105 Kennerly Road.

Artisan Depot

"Animals with Attitude," the newest Community Art Show features all sorts of fun, fanciful and fancy animals in metal, watercolor, pen and ink, acrylic, photographs and even pen and coffee. "Animals with Attitude" will run through Oct. 22.

The Franklin County Arts Guild invites original contributions from Franklin County artists of all ages in any media for inclusion in its Community Arts Shows. Artists should bring their submissions for the next community show "Patriotism" at the Artisan Depot from Oct. 20–23 during gallery operating hours. Each artist is free to interpret the theme of each show as they wish.

For more information about upcoming community art shows, the gallery or the guild go to <www.fcaguild.wordpress.com> or contact Diana Lamb at (931) 308-4130.

Lindley to Lecture on ‘Operable Units’

Sarah Lindley will speak about her installation in the University Art Gallery, “Operable Units” today (Friday), September 23, at 4:30 p.m. in Convocation Hall. A reception will follow.

Invoking the units used to organize EPA cleanup sites, “Operable Units” explores the connections between industry, communities and the environment along the Kalamazoo River in Michigan. The installation juxtaposes two fragile constructs: the suspended structure “Exposure Pathways,” fabricated from an abandoned ream of paper found in the former Plainwell Paper Mill, and “Superfund Areas 1–5,” built of brittle clay saturated by stains and oxides. “Exposure Pathways” references the layout of the Kalamazoo Watershed, while “Superfund Areas 1–5” models the stretch of the Kalamazoo river currently under remediation by the EPA.

Creating referential and imagined landscapes, Lindley performs the roles of researcher, geographer, architect, project supervisor and laborer. While Lindley’s project was created in response to the challenges faced by a specific place, the Kalamazoo Watershed, it explores compelling questions important to all places about industry and the environment.

Annual Dubose Lectures

The annual DuBose Lectures will be Wednesday, Sept. 28 and Thursday, Sept. 29. Rowan Williams, a noted theologian and the 104th archbishop of Canterbury from 2002 to 2014 will lecture. He is a prolific author of many titles including “Meeting God in Paul” and “Being Christian.”

The topic is “Bonhoeffer Revisited: from Christology to Politics” and they will look at developments in Bonhoeffer’s thinking in the hope of clarifying how he saw his resistance to political tyranny not just as a matter of discipleship in general but as the center-point of Christological politics. All lectures will take place in Guerry Auditorium and are made possible by the DuBose Lecture Fund. They are free and open to the public.

Lecture 1, Sept. 28, 9 a.m.—Modern Christology and the Reformation Legacy;

Lecture 2, Sept. 28, 1:45 p.m.—Bonhoeffer’s Christology: Christ For Me;

Lecture 3, Sept. 29, 9 a.m.—Bonhoeffer’s Ethics: Representing Humanity in Christ.

In addition to the three lectures, the School of Theology will host an open conversation with Williams and the Rt. Rev. J. Neil Alexander, dean of the School of Theology, Thursday, Sept. 29, at 1:30 p.m. in Guerry Auditorium. The conversation will be live-streamed and the School will be accepting questions from the audience as well as from Twitter. ## Journalist Herbert on ‘Race in America’

Journalist Bob Herbert will give a public talk, “Race in America: Our Role,” at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 29, in Convocation Hall.

Herbert was a columnist for the New York Times op-ed page for 18 years before leaving the paper in 2011. There he wrote a twice-weekly column commenting on politics, urban affairs, and social trends, and was often called “the conscience of the Times.” Herbert is now a distinguished senior fellow at Demos, a research and policy center in New York.

He is the author of “Losing Our Way: An Intimate Portrait of a Troubled America,” which was published in 2014. He is also the moderator of Bob Herbert’s OPED.TV, a weekly interview program on CUNY-TV, the City University cable channel in New York.

Herbert previously was a national correspondent for NBC. He also had worked as a reporter and editor at the Daily News, and was a founding panelist of Sunday Edition, a weekly discussion program on WCBS-TV in New York, and the host of Hotline, a weekly issues program on New York public television. He has won numerous awards, including the Meyer Berger Award for coverage of New York City and the American Society of Newspaper Editors award for distinguished newspaper writing. Herbert was chairman of the Pulitzer Prize jury for spot news reporting in 1993.

Meyer Concert Tickets

ANGELWITH AN ATTITUDE

by Virginia Craighill

Dear Angel,
“Enquiring” minds want to know! What is up with the “hitchhiking Jesus” painting on the fence on the way to Cowan?

I’m a Believer

Dear Believer,
Wherever there are Jesus sightings, miracles are sure to follow. People are divided as to whether the hitchhiking Jesus, aka “hipster” Jesus, signals the Second Coming or the coming of a Publix Supermarket in Winchester. When polled, most preferred the Good News of a Publix Supermarket, as long as it opens before the Zombie Apocalypse anticipated after the elections in November, so they can stock up on Publix brand canned foods, and zombie and deer repellent.

Angel

Dear Angel,
The University has long advertised the Porch Light Tradition of professors and staff welcoming students into their homes for dessert or dinner. Is this still a thing?

Tom “We’ll leave a light on for you” Bodett

Dear Tom,
Certainly the Porch Light is still a Sewanee tradition, with certain modifications outlined in a five-page document sent to faculty and staff this August. To summarize, faculty and staff are still welcome to host students in their homes, however:

No event at a professor or staff member’s home can be mandatory, as students are often unable to attend because of performances, athletic contests, beauty contests, drinking contests, wardrobe indecision, Netflix binge-watching, etc., and should not be penalized;

If students are unwilling or unable to walk to said home, the host must get a van license, check out a University vehicle, and pick up the students him or herself, or hire an Uber or limousine to take them to and from the home, but only if the driver has been drug-tested and has no criminal record and the professor has made sure that the students being driven are not allergic to anything in the car, van, or limousine’s interior;

If students wish to attend and are willing to walk or drive themselves, the host must provide them with the address, cell phone number, Google Earth map directions, and a police escort to ensure their safe and timely arrival at the event;

The host must also make sure he or she is informed in advance of students’ allergies to food, pets, grass, pollen, or air, spider phobias, childhood traumas involving clowns, aversions to Chinette or plastic forks, etc.;

Upon receiving food at host’s house, students must also be given a card listing all the ingredients in the dish, along with the calorie count, and sign a waiver acknowledging that he or she is aware of said ingredients before eating;

If the host chooses to barbecue or use a fire pit to prepare the meal, the host is required to build a steel fence or other safety feature around the grill or fire pit to ensure that students will not fall in and immolate themselves;

If the host keeps any pets in the home, including but not limited to attack-dogs, mountain lions, grizzlies, boa constrictors, sharks, or adorable kittens, those pets must be kept under control at all times;

Should a student slip, fall, or otherwise injure him or herself while jumping on a trampoline, playing Monopoly or Crazy Eights, going down a Slip ‘n Slide, poking a plastic fork into his or her eye, tripping over an uncontrolled pet, or pretty much anything, the host should immediately call the homeowner’s insurance because the University has no responsibility for anything that may happen in your home that might end in a lawsuit. Hasta la vista, baby.

So, Tom, come on over when you see the light on. My lawyer and insurance agent will greet you at the door.

Angel

SAS Competes in Southern Slam

St. Andrew's-Sewanee's varsity volleyball team finished 3-3 in the Southern Slam Volleyball Tournament at Coffee County Central High School on Sept. 17.

SAS went 2-2 in pool play, defeating Tullahoma, 25-10, 25-19, and Shelbyville, 25-8, 25-13. SAS lost to Coffee County, 25-18, 25-17, and Lincoln County, 25-16, 25-23.

In the Silver Division the Mountain Lions defeated Fellowship School, 25-18, 25-23, before losing to Lawrence County, 25-15, 25-20.

Lydia Angus of SAS has played well.

SAS's Lydia Angus and Skylar Moss played well. On the day, Angus had seven aces, 22 kills and 17 digs; Moss had seven aces, 17 kills and 22 assists; and Carolyn Bruce had 26 kills and 11 blocks.

Madison Gilliam added 17 digs; Izzie Spinelli had 10 kills; Kendale James had 19 assists; Katie Finn Hurst had six assists; Addie Babcock had two aces; and Morgan Phares had one ace.

On Sept. 20, the team lost to Berean Academy, 25-10, 21-25, 25-22, 25-10. Bruce led SAS with 12 kills and two blocks; Angus had five kills and four digs; Moss posted three aces; James had 10 assists and two aces; Gilliam had five digs; and Finn Hurst had four assists.

The team lost on Sept. 14 to Donelson Christian Academy, 26-24, 22-25, 25-17 and 25-17. Bruce had 10 kills; Angus had two aces and six digs; Moss had two aces, five kills and five assists; James had nine assists; and Gilliam had six digs.

SAS is now 8-9 on the season.

SAS Middle School Soccer Team Drops First Match

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee girls' middle school team is 5-1-1 for the season after a loss on Sept. 19 to Lincoln County Middle School, 1-0.

On Sept. 15, the team tied Westwood Junior High, 0-0. SAS's final regular season match was scheduled for Sept. 22 at Huntland School.

"The team continues to play very well. I look forward to completing the season strong," SAS head coach Margot Burns said after the Sept. 19 game.

Sophia Hartman in action for the SAS girls' varsity soccer team.

SAS Varsity Girls Win Two

On Sept. 16, the St. Andrew's-Sewanee School girls' varsity soccer team played King's Academy in Seymour, Tenn., rallying to win 3-2.

Fifteen minutes in, King's Academy scored a goal after a corner kick. SAS's Rachel Alvarez also made a great save from a shot at the 18-yard box. After halftime, Alvarez made two diving saves, but King's scored off of a penalty kick from a handball in the box.

Erin Berner-Coe made a good pass to Anna Post, and then another slotted pass to sophomore Mariel Rink. Berner-Coe scored after shooting a hard ball through the goalie's hands. SAS junior Katie Giltner had a standout performance as a right defender.

Kate Butler wall-passed to Rinck who scored SAS's second goal. Sophomore Sophia Hartman passed to Berner-Coe who crossed to Post for a goal over the goalie's hands for the winning score.

On Sept. 10, the team lost on the road to play Grace Christian Academy, 3-0. It was a hot day and both teams played hard. Alvarez made a good save 10 minutes into the game from Grace's driven shot outside of the 18-yard box. Senior Kyra Wilson organized the SAS defense and cut off a dangerous run from a Grace striker. Grace scored two after a handball in the 18-yard box and after

Cross Country Runs at Coffee

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School cross country team traveled to Coffee County for a meet.

Although depleted by absences, the teams ran hard and times continued to fall. For the middle school boys, Porter Neubauer set a personal best time of 13 minutes, 19 seconds, and finished 13th out of 105 runners.

In the girls' varsity race, Winnie Fangled the team with a personal best time of 27:27 (15th out of 53) and was followed by Sophia Patterson at 29:20 (23) and Cayla Riehl (53).

On the boys' side, Seth Walker set his own personal best with a time of 20:09 (19th out of 100). Despite being sick, Isaac Tang still finished in 20:40 (28), and was followed by Oscar Jing (122) and Peyton Shanahan (125).

SAS Falls to Franklin

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's varsity football team lost on Sept. 16 to Franklin Christian Academy, 52-14, dropping to 1-2 on the season.

SAS sophomore Jonathan Rwalinda opened up the scoring for SAS with a 65-yard touchdown run and sophomore Gabriel Stevens provided the kick for the extra point.

SAS junior Steven Zhu scored the team's next touchdown on a 25-yard run and Stevens converted the extra point.

Blaise Zeitler had an interception and also rushed for 75 yards on 15 carries and sophomore Jalan Tillman had a fumble recovery.

SAS senior Hannah Powell (center) finished second in the Division II-A Girls' Regional Golf tournament on Sept. 19 and qualified for the state tourney with a 75. Junior Gio Hui (left) shot an 88, his best regional score. Junior Aubrey Black (right) shot an 86, missing the state cut but achieving his best regional score.

Sewanee Spikes Millsaps for First Conference Win

After losing the first set, the Sewanee volleyball team responded to win its first Southern Athletic Association (SAA) match this season with a 3-1 comeback victory over Millsaps on Sept. 18 inside Juhan Gymnasium.

The win snapped a two-game slide after conference losses to Centre and Birmingham-Southern earlier that week. The Tigers moved to 7-3 overall and 1-2 in SAA play.

After Millsaps edged Sewanee 25-22 in the opening set, the Tigers rallied for wins in the final three frames, 25-17, 25-21, and 25-20.

A defensive match throughout, only Diamond Stewart finished with double-digit kills for Sewanee with 13. Senior Kristy Gray (13), junior Caroline Owens (13), senior Sara Jayne Sutton (23), and freshman Constance Connolly (11) all finished with double-digit digs.

Connolly also added 17 assists, while fellow setter Anna Wilson posted 11 assists.

Additionally, freshman outside hitter Abbey Adams led all attackers with a .267 hitting percentage, while the Tigers posted a season-high eight blocks.

Morgan Vincent led Millsaps with a 10-kill, 15-dig double-double.

Oliver and Sewanee Sweep Fall Classic

Led by freshman medalist Tommy Oliver, the Sewanee men's golf team won the Piedmont College Fall Classic, Sept. 20, at the Orchard Golf and Country Club in Clarkesville, Ga.

As a team, the Tigers finished with a 594 total after their second-round 310. Sewanee's 18 over-par finish was 22 strokes better than runner-up Bob Jones University. Host Piedmont and Truett-McConnell finished tied for third ahead of four other teams.

Oliver led wire-to-wire with a 36-hole even-par 144. The first-year Tiger and former St. Andrew's-Sewanee student was the only athlete in the field that finished at par or better.

After posting a first-round 69, Oliver fired a final-round 75 to win by three strokes.

a ricocheted shot volleyed into the net.

After halftime, freshman Lucy Carroll saved a goal from going in on the end line, and SAS began to play with more organization and intensity.

Rinck received the ball from mid-field, turned and drove a ball that was saved by the Grace goalie. Grace responded with a breakaway and driven shot into the net for their third goal. Rinck and sophomore midfielder Kate Butler made dangerous attacks up top, and Alvarez made several more good saves.

The girls' varsity soccer team beat Fayetteville on Sept. 13 at home, 3-0. Fifteen minutes in, Post passed to the corner to Butler who crossed in to Berner-Coe. The ball missed wide, but Berner-Coe chest trapped and volleyed to finish a ball into the goal off of another cross from junior Sarah Simons.

In the second half, Butler scored off a run. Sophomore Reagan Rhoton also passed through two defenders to Butler, who crossed to Post for a goal.

Birmingham-Southern Holds Off Sewanee

Despite giving up only 21 points for the third straight week, the Sewanee football team dropped to 0-3 this season as Southern Athletic Association (SAA) rival Birmingham-Southern (BSC) held on for a 21-16 win on Sept. 17, at the historic Hardee-McGee Field at Harris Stadium.

Like the past two weeks, Sewanee had the ball late in the fourth quarter. However, despite driving to the BSC 32 yard line, freshman quarterback Sam Hearn fumbled after he was sacked. The Panthers recovered with 54 seconds to play.

Sewanee started the contest by marching 70 yards on 12 plays on the game's first possession. The Tigers then took an early 3-0 lead as kicker Michael Jacobs made a 21-yard field goal.

The Tigers continued to lead until midway into the second quarter. After limiting the Panthers to only 40 yards on their first four possessions, BSC scored when quarterback Kerrigan Pennington broke loose for a 26-yard touchdown run. That score was set up on the Tigers' previous drive when Hearn was sacked and fumbled at the Sewanee 35 yard line.

With BSC ahead 7-3 to start the second half, the Panthers quickly extended their lead. After receiving the opening kickoff, BSC drove 71 yards in only five plays. On first and 10 from the Sewanee 21 yard line, Pennington found Daniel Lopera in the corner of the end zone for his second touchdown.

On the Tigers next possession, Sewanee failed to pick up a first down. On fourth and two, John Cleveland punted a long kick down field. Trying to fair catch the punt, BSC fumbled and Sewanee recovered. However, the Tigers did not retain the ball due to an illegal formation. Forced to re-kick, Sewanee fumbled the next snap, which gave the ball back to BSC at the Tigers' 11. A play later, BSC ran a reverse that scored Jamal Watkins.

Sewanee answered on its next drive when running back Mikey Plancher scored on a career-long 32-yard touchdown run with 5:26 left in the third.

The Tigers then pulled to within one score with 8:41 remaining as James Hewell found Sam Hearn on a trick play. Hearn first threw the ball to Hewell, and Hewell tossed the ball back to Hearn, who scored behind a wall of blockers.

BSC had a chance to ice the game with a field goal on its next possession, however, Ryder Andrews's attempt missed wide right. That set up the Tigers' final drive that ended with the turnover.

Overall, Sewanee finished with 320 yards of total offense. That included a career-high 132 passing yards from Hearn. Hearn's favorite target of the day was his older brother, junior receiver Steve Hearn, who finished with nine catches for 84 yards. Senior Divine Maloney also played well with three catches for 30 yards.

On defense, safety Lee Menefee added a career-high seven tackles, while linebackers Tony Dykes and B.J. Addison each added five solo stops.

Despite dominating the time of possession battle by more than 10 minutes, BSC outrushed Sewanee, 234-173.

Pennington finished with 251 yards of total offense and two scores.

NATURENOTES

Nepal Grass

Many of us are currently combatting the weedy grass Microstegium vimineum in our yards and gardens. Some of its common names are Nepalese Browntop or simply Nepal Grass, Japanese Stiltgrass, and Bamboograss. As the names indicate, it is native to Southeast Asia and environs. It was first observed in the U.S. in Tennessee in 1919 and probably escaped from packing material used for porcelain from China. That puts us at the epicenter of its distribution. It has now spread to west of the Mississippi and north to New York state and Massachusetts. It spreads easily along waterways but is found in other areas also. Besides out-competing native plants in these areas, it also affects insect communities and changes the chemistry of the soil. Unfortunately, deer do not graze it, but may graze on neighboring plants, allowing it to spread even more.

It is an annual and spreads by seed, so this is the time of year to try to control it, before it flowers and sets seed. Mowing and hand-weeding are the main means of control. One of the few good things about it is that it is easy to pull up. If one keeps after it every year, it can be greatly reduced or eliminated in a given area, as long as there is not a nearby source of new seed. Buried seed can live up to five years so one must keep after it. It doesn't help to attack it earlier in the year, because it will just regrow and bloom sooner than usual, as well as release buried seed. Let the sound of the weed-eater be heard in the land!

State Park Offerings

Saturday, Sept. 24

Stone Door Hike—Celebrate National Public Lands Day by taking a hike in one of the largest State Natural Areas in Tennessee. Meet Ranger Aaron at 9:30 a.m. at the Stone Door parking lot, 1183 Stone Door Rd. Beersheba Springs, TN 37305, for an easy 2-mile hike to the Great Stone Door, which was used for centuries by the indigenous people as a passageway from the top of the plateau into the gorges below. Like a giant door left ajar, the crack is 10 feet wide and 100 feet deep. The surrounding cliffs offer spectacular views across the Savage Gulf State Natural Area. Wear sturdy shoes, bring a bottle of water, and don't forget your camera.

The South Cumberland State Park Visitors' Center is located on Highway 41 South between Monteagle and Tracy City and is open 8 a.m.–4:30 p.m. seven days a week. For more information call (931) 924-2980.

Draught Tolerant Cottage Plants Lecture

On Saturday, Sept. 24, June Mays will give a lecture on draught tolerant cottage garden plants, including tips and techniques for developing and maintaining a draught resistant cottage garden. This event will begin at 10 a.m. at St. Mary's Convent. The cost is $25.

Mays, a garden writer and designer, is a graduate of the English Gardening School in London, and a member of the Garden Writer's Association and the Association of Professional Landscape Designers.

At the end of the lecture, all participants will go to June's trial garden, one mile from the convent, where she has grown these plants this past summer, watering only once a week if there had been no rain. Reservations are requested by calling 598-0046.

Onyx

Juniper

Pets of the Week

Meet Onyx and Juniper

Animal Harbor offers these two delightful pets for adoption.

Onyx is a regal medium-haired smoky black kitten who is around 5 months old and sooo soft! He enjoys cuddling with his litter mates or the adult cats in his playroom, and enjoying time on the outdoor fenced patio when the weather is nice. Onyx is negative for FeLV and FIV, house-trained, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and neutered.

Juniper is a darling, playful little 3-month-old Wire-haired Terrier mix who wants to snuggle with you! She has already started her house training and she is really very well behaved, especially for a puppy! She will grow up to be a medium-sized dog, perfect for your sofa. Juniper is heartworm-negative, up-to-date on shots, microchipped and spayed.

Every Friday is Black Friday at Animal Harbor. On Fridays, adoption fees will be reduced 50 percent for black or mostly black pets more than 4 months old who have been at Animal Harbor for more than a month. Pets adopted from Animal Harbor qualify for a free post-adoption wellness exam by local veterinarians.

Animal Harbor is now in their new shelter at 56 Nor-Nan Road, off AEDC Road, in Winchester. Call Animal Harbor at 962-4472 for information and check out the other pets at www.animalharbor.org. Enter the drawing on this site for a free spay or neuter for one of your pets. Please help Animal Harbor continue to save abandoned pets by sending your donations to Animal Harbor, P.O. # BARDTOVERSE

by Phoebe Bates

Here she comes again,
That beautiful girl
In her new fall wardrobe
With her skirts a-twirl;

With her paisley meadows
And her tweedy trees
And her hazy perfume
That makes me sneeze.

But she makes an exasperating date--
She runs hot and cold;
She's always late;

And just when I'm hoping
That maybe she'll stay,
She starts getting restless
Until one day

To a tropical island
Off she goes
Leaving me to pick
Up all her clothes.

—Kind of a Mini-Ode to Autumn,
