Ivan Oransky, M.D., is a Distinguished Writer in Residence at New York University's Arthur Carter Journalism Institute, co-founder of Retraction Watch, and editor-at-large of medical news service MedPage Today. Oransky and Adam Marcus founded Retraction Watch in 2010. The site chronicles the continuing rise in scientific retractions and has been cited often in scientific literature as a source for better understanding of the true reasons for retraction. Oransky previously served as executive editor of Reuters Health and held editorial positions at Scientific American and the Scientist. He received the 2015 John P. McGovern Award for excellence in biomedical communication from the American Medical Writers Association. He is a clinical assistant professor of medicine at the New York University School of Medicine and serves as vice president of the Association of Health Care Journalists.

Jan Davidson is a writer, musician, speaker and the retired director of the John C. Campbell Folk School in Brasstown, N.C. The school teaches Appalachian traditions—song, art, nature, gardening, cooking, storytelling and writing—to adults in weeklong or weekend classes. During his 25-year tenure, the school's annual student enrollment grew from 2,500 to 6,000 students, and the number of yearly classes grew fivefold. To preserve the natural beauty of the area, Davidson helped establish conservation easements and wildlife sanctuaries around the 300-acre campus. He also worked to preserve the school's history, and co-produced "Sing Behind the Plow: John C. Campbell Folk School," which was nominated for two regional Emmy awards. He has received awards including the North Carolina Award for Fine Arts, the state's highest civilian honor.

Reducing Waste Education at SES

by Bailey Basham, Messenger Staff Writer

Paper or plastic?

This is a familiar question to all shopping for groceries in traditional supermarkets. It is also a question that Shelly MacLaren and the students at Sewanee Elementary School say you should respond to with, "Neither."

Born out of MacLaren's trip to purchase a candle and refusing the bag for her single item, "Tigers Don't Leave Tracks!" is a community-wide initiative encouraging locals to refuse single-use plastics bags and instead opt for reusables. The goal of this project is to educate children in the community to be conscious about reducing waste.

MacLaren said this initiative was built upon one Robin Walker and the SES Parent Organization spearheaded last year in an effort to raise awareness about food waste. Walker said MacLaren ran with it—something she and the parent organization applaud.

"This started with a shopping trip. When I didn't take a bag from that retailer, they gave a 10 cent donation to a charity. I thought that was a great idea and wondered how that could be put to work on a local basis. I thought this could be a really great way to bring together all the community members," said MacLaren, Director and Curator of Academic Engagement at the University Art Gallery and Visiting Assistant Professor of Art and Art History.

SUD Undertakes Capital Project Review

Two Commissioners to be Elected

by Leslie Lytle, Messenger Staff Writer

At the Sept. 26 meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Sewanee Utility District of Franklin and Marion Counties, SUD manager Ben Beavers asked the board to approve a Capital Project Planning analysis and sought the board's input on how best to address the need for a Water and Sewer Replacement Fund.

Beavers' recently contacted the University's Provost's Office to set up a meeting assessing the University's plans for the next five to 10 years. Of particular concern to SUD is how implementing the Sewanee Village plan will impact water and sewer needs.

"Moving the lines will require re-engineering," Beavers said. The University would be responsible for the cost.

Beavers will also collect long-term planning information from St. Andrew's-Sewanee School (SAS) and St. Mary's. He proposed SUD retain the engineering firm Robert Campbell and Associates (RCA), cost $3,000, to analyze the data from the University, SAS and St. Mary's, and assist SUD with Capital Project Planning. RCA would weigh the pros and cons of proposed projects, identify priorities, and prepare bid proposals.

The board approved Beavers' request.

Revisiting a customer's question about the surcharge appearing on customer bills, Beavers said the charge was actually a Water and Sewer Replacement Fund fee.

All Saints’ Chapel

Growing in Grace will continue Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m. in All Saints’ Chapel. Ryan Tillman, a senior in the college, will be the speaker. This informal worship service is designed for students and community members with student-led acoustic music, guest speakers, and Holy Communion. This Advent semester, our Growing in Grace speakers will address the times in life in which we are compelled to take “The Long Road.” What pushes us to take the more arduous path when a shortcut is readily available? What do we encounter when we take a “scenic route” on our journey? We hope to explore these questions and many more this semester at Growing in Grace. We hope to see you there.

The Catechumenate continues Wednesday, Oct. 4, at 6:30 p.m. in the Bairnwick Women’s Center. A catered meal will be provided. Catechumenate, from a Greek word meaning “learning and exploring,” is a place where we explore what it means to be a human being and what it means to be a person of faith in our community. This is a great place to meet new people and build relationships. Food, prayer, questions, and conversation power this process.

Email Lay Chaplain Kayla Deep at <kayla.deep@sewanee.edu> for directions or more information.

According to National Geographic, "plastic bags now account for four out of every five bags handed out at the grocery store." Worldwide, consumption is charted "somewhere between 500 billion and a trillion plastic bags...each year." Plastic bag usage is the cause of the litter stream outside of landfills.

The Environmental Protection Agency found that less than 1 percent of plastic bags are recycled because it costs more to recycle a bag than to produce a new one. Additionally, plastic bags photodegrade, meaning over time, they break down into small, more toxic petro-polymers. These petro-polymers contaminate waterways and soils, which gives the toxins a path to leeching into our bodies via food and water we consume.

"Many places have banned plastic bags outright, and at the municipal state or national level have banned them entirely. How do we make that change without legislation and as a positive choice? I started talking to people about that program that I had seen at a national retailer. We suggested a program that would direct money to the local elementary school. As I went around speaking to local businesses, I found they were able to participate and most excited about it," said MacLaren.

Russell Green, University bookstore manager, was involved when the project first began. Green and the bookstore donated 175 reusable bags to SES to be used at the book fair.

"I wanted to take part because I believe you should take any opportunity you get to make a positive impact for your community. And, as someone who attended Sewanee Elementary School as a child, it's especially important for me to be able to do something meaningful for the school and the students," said Green.

"Local businesses were really supportive. Everyone is participating in a different way," said MacLaren.

"We want to help the school and the environment, and I like the idea of young children getting this message," said Katherine Alvarez Evans of the Lemon Fair. "It's good for people who don't usually think that way. Especially in here, we use a lot of packaging. We gift wrap things, and it makes a big difference when someone walks out without tissue paper and a sticker and a bag and all the cute things you associate with gift wrapping," said Evans.

At the Lemon Fair, 10 cents is donated per bag not taken, and 20 cents is donated per reusable bag used that was bought from the shop.

Mooney's Market and Emporium, Village Wine and Spirits and the Sewanee Market will donate 10 cents to SES for each shopping trip that uses reusable bags or doesn't take a bag.

Piggly Wiggly is sponsoring a Litterless Lunch in October for the class with the most nominations. To nominate a class, take reusable bags to the store and write a nomination on the back of the receipt for a class at the school.

The Tigers first lunch audit was on Sept. 21, which MacLaren said she hopes will provide data that she and other local schools can use to further waste reduction efforts in the future.

"I would love to see other schools steal the program in terms of incentivizing reusable bag use and doing their own lunch audits. Instead of the single snack pack of goldfish, maybe you buy the bigger pack and put it in small Tupperware's instead," she said.

"This is really to do with a much bigger conversation about how we make change in our communities and at a local level. What really excited me about it was all those conversations were an opportunity to get to know people. We're all sharing a similar goal of reducing waste, and that's been a big motivator."

While in Sewanee, Davidson will play with string band the Dog Branch Cats in a special performance at 5 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 5, in Gailor Auditorium. The band was originally formed in 1992 with fiddles, banjo, guitar, bass, and banjo ukulele. The community is invited to attend.

Judith Ward Lineback

Judith Ward Lineback, C'73, was a member of the first class of women admitted to the University of the South, and was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa at Sewanee. She received a J.D. from the University of Virginia, clerked for a U.S. District Court judge, and practiced law for 30 years. Her service to Sewanee includes work as a Trustee and as a member of the Board of Regents, of which she was the first alumna chair. During Lineback's time on University governing boards, the Campaign for Sewanee raised funds to construct buildings including the Fowler Center and McClurg Dining Hall, and to renovate Woods Labs and All Saints' Chapel. Lineback completed the School of Theology's four-year Education for Ministry program, and has served on the board of the National Association of Episcopal Schools.

The Rev. Thomas Reid Ward, Jr., C'67, was Sewanee's 17th Rhodes Scholar. After graduating from the University, he earned degrees in English language and literature from Oxford University. After teaching and coaching at Meridian Junior College in Mississippi, and two years at Sewanee as an instructor in English, he earned a master of divinity degree in 1975 from Virginia Theological Seminary. For almost two decades, Ward served parishes in Mississippi and Tennessee before returning to Sewanee as University chaplain, a position he held from 1994 to 2005. In 1998, he began a practice in centering prayer, a form of meditation that encourages silence and a deeper connection to God. Ward teaches centering prayer, leads retreats, and fosters the practice in local congregations. He works closely with Contemplative Outreach, a network that seeks to foster contemplation, and has served on its advisory board since 1998.

Most people are aware that cardiovascular disease is the number one killer of both men and women. Sadly we hear of someone all too often that is affected by heart disease. THERE IS HOPE against the #1 Killer in America ... Heart Disease! Cardio 911 is a nutritional supplement that I recommend to my patients because it helps to support a healthy cardiovascular system.

The key ingredient of Cardio 911 is L-Arginine. Research by three scientists in 1998 were awarded the Nobel Prize in Medicine for their research in heart disease and how when L-Arginine changes into Nitric Oxide (a powerful neurotransmitter inside the body signals blood vessels to relax and improves circulation).

Some evidence shows that Arginine has the many health benefits to be used to help improve blood flow in the arteries of the heart which in turn improves symptoms of clogged arteries, chest pain or angina, blood pressure, improved walking distance in patients with intermittent leg cramping and weakness known as intermittent claudication, erectile dysfunction, and coronary artery disease. This information is powerful for the more than 64 million Americans who suffer from some form of cardiovascular disease. Cardio 911 is not intended to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any disease.

SCCF Announces Selection of New Director

South Cumberland Community Fund (SCCF) has selected Sewanee native Janet Cooper as its new director. Cooper will manage the Fund's daily operations with special emphasis on communications and fund development.

"I am excited to return to the Plateau where I spent my youth and attended college. The region holds a special place in my heart," said Cooper. Over the years she has returned frequently to the mountain with her husband and four daughters.

Cooper has 37 years of experience in the nonprofit sector, including working for Fort Worth's Van Cliburn Foundation and, most recently, as Executive Director for the Bobby

Bragan Youth Foundation. "I have moved from the concert hall, to the dugout, and now to the mountain top in my career trajectory," Cooper said. "I look forward to working with the SCCF board to strengthen the opportunities and lives of the citizens of this beautiful plateau."

This year, SCCF is celebrating five years of providing support to the Plateau's nonprofit sector. During that time, the Fund has invested more than $1.1 million in the area through grants, capacity building, and an AmeriCorps VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) partnership.

Midway Park Cleanup Day

There will be a park clean up day at the St. James Midway Community Park beginning at 9 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 30. Everyone is invited to help with setting timbers around the new playset, cleaning the playsets and sandbox areas, and repositioning the volleyball court enclosure. For more information contact the Rev. Linda Hutton at <justlinda@charter.net> or (931) 636-2377.

On Campus Farmers' Market

The South Cumberland Farmers' Market (SCFM, Rooted Here) and Sewanee Dining are jointly sponsoring an on campus farmers' market 10 a.m.-1 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 7, on the lawn at Stirling's.

Sewanee Dining's commitment to dedicating 30 percent of its budget to locally grown food and SCFM's goal of making locally grown food readily available to consumers dovetail in a shared commitment to support local farmers. For many students, the market will be a rare opportunity to meet the farmers who raise the food they eat and, likewise, for community members who purchase online from SCFM and never have face contact with the farmers.

Expect fresh locally grown produce as well as other farm-home products. All area farmers are invited to participate, not just those affiliated with SCFM.

Monteagle's Fire Department Emergency Resolved

by Leslie Lytle
Messenger Staff Writer

The town's fire truck emergency has been resolved Fire Chief Mike Holmes told the Monteagle Town Council at the Sept. 25 meeting.

Cummins in Nashville repaired Engine Number One, which was out of service.

"I used it on a car fire today," Holmes said. "We're back up to 100 percent, or let's say 90 percent."

The fire department's other truck has valve leaks, but it's "usable" Holmes said. The truck passed the pump inspection. Holmes will get quotes on the cost of repairing the 1993 fire truck.

Holmes thanked the Monteagle Sunday School Assembly for the "very nice donation" of $1,000, which helped alleviate some of the fire department's woes.

Utility Systems Supervisor John Condra presented three bids for a hammer on the backhoe.

"We hit rock in the project we're working on," Condra said. In the past, the Utility Department rented a backhoe with a hammer when the need arose.

The board implemented the fee in 2008, Beavers explained. The Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation (TDEC) had cited SUD for a Wastewater Treatment Plant violation. TDEC required SUD to designate funds for water resource repair. Prior to that time, SUD had invested very little in infrastructure.

The fee is based on customer consumption, with water and sewer charges calculated separately. Non-sewer customers do not pay the sewer portion of the fee.

In 2009, the consulting firm Rafterlis Financials, Inc. recommended raising the fee to $.68/kgal for water and $.70/kgal for sewer. SUD implemented the suggested increase in 2010. The rate has not changed since then.

"It's money well spent," Beavers stressed. In a typical year, SUD spends more on water resource repair than the fee generates. The alternative would be to eliminate the fee and raise rates, Beavers said, designating a percentage of revenue for water resource repair.

"I like keeping it neat," Commissioner Karen Singer said, recommending SUD continue to access a fee specifically designated for water resource repair.

SUD Board President Charlie Smith agreed. "I don't think we need to do anything."

Beavers will revise the language on customer bills to more clearly indicate the reason for the charge.

Two commissioner seats will come open for election in January. Commissioner Singer is term limited and cannot run again. Commissioner Randall Henley will seek reelection.

Any SUD customer can serve as a commissioner. The board is charged with nominating three candidates for each open seat. Customers interested in serving should contact Beavers at (931) 598-5611. Prospective candidates can also self-nominate by submitting a petition signed by 10 SUD customers. The deadline for submitting nominating petitions is Jan. 2. Voting will take place from Jan. 2 through Jan. 23, the first SUD meeting of the new year.

A Sewanee Summit landowner addressed the board requesting water service.

"The lot is 825 feet down the road from the existing main," Beavers said. The Sewanee Summit development is located below the University Forestry Cabin.

"We can't extend the line for a single customer," Smith explained.

In the past, SUD ran miles of line in the Jump Off area anticipating development that never occurred, Beavers said.

Pointing to an option for the landowner, Beavers cited the example of Lake Eva area residents who joined together to pay for water service. He estimated materials for the Sewanee Summit project would cost $500, but due to the limestone rock base, trenching work would cost $5-$10 per foot.

The landowner also spoke with the Decherd water utility which quoted a lower price, but he expressed concerns about low water pressure from water traveling uphill.

The SUD board meets next on Oct. 24 well under the budget for the Harton Park playground. The play sets carry a 100-year warranty.

Updating the council on enforcement of the new ordinance requiring a fence screening any lots with conveyances in a "junked condition," Codes Enforcement Officer Earl Geary said notification was sent to four businesses on Sept. 14. The businesses have 30 days to begin construction.

Apprising the council of the police department's increased responsibilities during Family Weekend at the University of the South, Oct. 5-8, Police Chief Virgil McNeese said three or four officers would be patrolling the Monteagle Assembly during the event. "The Assembly has 70 houses rented," McNeese said. The Assembly will pay the officers' overtime hours.

The council approved a business permit for Up in Smoke Café and Gifts, to be located on College Street. Geary said the business did not need to meet commercial kitchen range-hood and grease-drain requirements since all cooking would take place outside and food would be served using disposable plates, cups and utensils.

The council meets next on Oct. 30.

Suits Lecture on Social Justice

Friends of the Library of Sewanee: The University of the South invites the community to attend a talk by Steve Suits. Suits will give a lecture on social justice and talk about his book that chronicles the life of Hugo Black, a Supreme Court justice. The Friends meeting will be in the Torian Room of Jessie Ball duPont Library on Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 4:30 p.m. A reception will follow the talk.

For many years after his death in 1971, biographers and scholars generally thought that U.S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black shed his Alabama-bred views once he arrived at the Court in order to become the champion of the Bill of Rights of the U.S. Constitution and who helped lead the Court in declaring racial segregation unconstitutional. Suits will explore how Black's social justice advocacy as a lawyer in Alabama actually shaped, in large measure, the social views and judicial philosophy that guided his role and influence on the Court.

Suits is an adjunct lecturer at the Graduate Institute of Liberal Arts of Emory University, a position he has held for the last 20 years. Suits is author of more than 125 articles, monographs, and books about Southern history and trends. His book, "Hugo Black of Alabama," earned Suits the award as Georgia Author of the Year for biography. Suits also was the executive producer and writer of "Will the Circle Be Unbroken," a 13-hour national public radio series about the local southern civil rights movement that received a Peabody Award in 1998. He is a life member of the Southern Historical Association.

Today, Suits also serves as the chief strategist for Better Schools Better Jobs, a Mississippi-based education advocacy project of the New Venture Fund. Suits began his career as a staff member of the Selma Project, a social justice organization begun by Rev. Francis X. Walter after the Selma March of 1965. Suits served as the founding director of the Alabama Civil Liberties Union for five years, as executive director of the Southern Regional Council, one of the South's earliest interracial organizations, for 18 years, and for nearly 20 years as program coordinator, vice president, and senior fellow of the Southern Education Foundation, which has worked to advance excellence and equity in education since 1867.

Sewanee's Water Lecture Series Continues

Sewanee's water lecture series continues on Wednesday, Oct. 4, with a talk by Andrea Wulf on "The Invention of Nature: Alexander von Humboldt's New World." The talk will take place in Gailor Auditorium at 5 p.m., and is free and open to the public.

Andrea Wulf reveals in her new book the extraordinary life of the visionary German naturalist Alexander von Humboldt (1769-1859) and how he created the way we understand nature today. Humboldt was an intrepid explorer and the most famous scientist of his age. His restless life was packed with adventure and discovery, whether climbing the highest volcanoes in the world or racing through anthrax-infested Siberia. Perceiving nature as an interconnected global force, Humboldt discovered similarities between climate zones across the world and predicted human-induced climate change. He turned scientific observation into poetic narrative, and his writings inspired naturalists and poets such as Darwin, Wordsworth and Goethe but also politicians such as Jefferson. Wulf also argues that it was Humboldt's influence that led John Muir to his ideas of preservation and that shaped Thoreau's "Walden." Wulf traces Humboldt's influences through the great minds he inspired in revolution, evolution, ecology, conservation, art and literature. In "The Invention of Nature," Wulf brings this lost hero to science and the forgotten father of environmentalism back to life.

This lecture is sponsored by the University Lectures Committee, the Office of the Dean of the College, and the following departments and programs: Earth and Environmental Systems, History, German, Spanish, Philosophy, Biology, Environmental Arts and Humanities, and International and Global Studies.

Lehmann Lecture on 'Luther Decade'

On Tuesday, Oct. 3, one of Germany's most prominent historians of the Reformation, Hartmut Lehmann, will give a talk at Sewanee called "The Luther Decade and Reformation Quincentenary: A First Assessment." The talk will reflect on the impact of the "Luther Decade," proclaimed in the fall of 2008, and lessons learned since the opening, one year ago, of the festivities that marked the 500th anniversary of the beginning of the Protestant Reformation.

Lehmann was the founding director of the German Historical Institute in Washington D.C. and past Director of the Max Planck Institute for History in Göttingen. He is a former research fellow at the University of Chicago, Princeton University and the Australian National University in Canberra and a foreign honorary member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The talk will begin at 4:30 p.m. in Gailor Auditorium. The entire community is welcome to attend.

"We Are All Shipwrecks" chronicles Kelly's quest to know the mother who died when she was three weeks old.

The hand-painted book shelter has been in between the trees at 201 Kentucky Ave., since July.

Little Free Library on Kentucky Ave.

There were lots of small, front-yard book exchanges known as Little Free Libraries in Decatur, Ga., and Sandy and Louis Rice were excited to build their own after moving to Sewanee.

A global phenomenon, there are more than 36,000 Little Free Libraries in 70 countries around the world.

The hand-painted book shelter has been in between the trees at 201 Kentucky Ave., since July.

"We consider it a branch of the Thurmond Library," said Trudy Cunningham. "We want it to be a fun thing for everyone in the community."

It is currently stocked with a variety of books and a few folks have exchanged a book, but the Rices would like to see more activity. "You don't even have to leave a book, we have plenty!," said Sandy. Walk on down Kentucky Avenue or park briefly in the driveway and take a look.

The Little Free Library nonprofit organization has been honored by the Library of Congress, the Actionable Book Foundation and the American Library Association. This Library on Kentucky Ave., is registered and can be found on the Little Free Library Map.

Only a Few Seats Remain for the Goldenrod Gala

The Goldenrod Gala, a first-of-its-kind event for the Friends of South Cumberland State Park (SCSP), has only a handful of seats still available, and is expected to be a sell-out. The Saturday, Oct. 21 fundraiser, in support of Tennessee's largest state park, will take place in a ballroom tent overlooking Lost Cove and the newly-dedicated 4,000-acre Sherwood Forest area of the Park. The evening features a gourmet dinner, prepared on-site by Chef Alex Belew; artisan-crafted cocktails and wines, and after-dinner dancing to the South Jackson Street Big Band and Orchestra. A limited number of individual seats are still available. Visit <GoldenrodGala.org> to learn more, and to reserve seats for yourself, family, friends and business associates. Reservations are due Tuesday, Oct. 10.

The Gala also will feature an "Adventure Auction," offering three unique and incredible expeditions into areas of the Park not normally accessible to the public. Tennessee State Naturalist Randy Hedgepath and SCSP Ranger Park Greer will lead 10 winning bidders into the Werner Old Growth Forest in Savage Gulf to see the largest remaining tract of uncut timber in the region; Professor Jan Simek and SCSP ranger Jason Reynolds will take four winning bidders to the new Sherwood Forest area of the Park to see some of the Native American pictographs (cliff drawings) in that area; and Professor David Haskell, the Gala's Honorary Chair, will provide his 10 winning bidders with autographed copies of his new book, "The Songs of Trees: Stories from Nature's Great Connectors" and join them and SCSP ranger Jessie McNeel for a unique experience in the Fiery Gizzard area of the Park. These adventures will be auctioned at the Gala event; you must be present to bid and win.

Solid Ground Shelters (SGS) is the Gala's Major Sponsor. SGS brings the comfort of home into the home of Mother Nature, turning a camping trip into an unforgettable memory. Furnished with a mattress, table, and chairs, SGS' expansive European-inspired canvas shelters feel like you're at a bed and breakfast.

The Gala's supporting sponsors include the Smoke House Lodge and Restaurant, Tower Bank, Prichard's Distillery, Prologue Fire Logs, Tennessee Brew Works, Ben Lomand Connect, Sequatchee Valley Electric Cooperative, Joseph's Remodeling Solutions, and the Monteagle Piggly Wiggly. Many thanks to all these area businesses for supporting the work of the Friends. If your organization would like to become a supporting sponsor of the Goldenrod Gala, please contact event chair Kelly Baggett, (615) 594-8138 for more information.

Gala donors include Howell and Madeline Adams and Carolyn and Jack Long, with special thanks to our Table Captains, Bill Engel, Jackal Oil Company, Elizabeth and Larry Papel, Mary Jo and Steve Shankle, Latham Davis, Mary Priestley, Margaret and Jack Matens, Deb and Rick Dreves, John and Tan Hille, Jeanine and Jack Jacobs, Dede Clements, Sally and Frank Spruiell, Kelly and Sam Baggett, Karin and Greg Barro, and everyone who has reserved a seat at what promises to be a great night out for nature on Oct. 21.

Sewanee to Host Symposium: 'Enfranchising Equality: How History Matters to the Future Of Voting Rights'

The University of the South will host a symposium Thursday, Oct. 12 and Friday, Oct. 13, in anticipation of the 150th anniversary of the Fifteenth Amendment's voting rights guarantees. "Enfranchising Equality: How History Matters to the Future of Voting Rights" will bring together some of the nation's leading historians, constitutional scholars, lawyers, and judges to explore the rich and complicated history of the Fifteenth Amendment and to reflect on the Amendment's future in light of its past. All events will be at the Sewanee Inn.

Eric Foner, DeWitt Clinton Professor of History at Columbia University, will give the keynote lecture at 7 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 12. Foner's talk, "Enfranchising Equality: History, Law, and the Fifteenth Amendment," will be followed by a reception and book signing. A celebrated historian of the Reconstruction era, Foner's published works include "Forever Free: The Story of Emancipation and Reconstruction," and "The Fiery Trial: Abraham Lincoln and American Slavery," which won the Pulitzer, Bancroft, and Lincoln prizes for 2011.

Distinguished presenters at the symposium include: Tracy Campbell, a professor of 20th-century U.S. social and political history at the University of Kentucky; Richard Hasen, who teaches on election law and campaign finance regulations as professor of law and political science at the University of California, Irvine School of Law; and Michael Klarman, the Kirkland and Ellis Professor of Law at Harvard Law School. Other notable presenters are Pulitzer Prize-winning author Hank Klibanoff, director of the Journalism Program at Emory University and former managing editor of the Atlanta Journal-Constitution; William Francis Kuntz, District Court Judge for the Eastern District of New York; and Gloria Browne-Marshall, associate professor of constitutional law at John Jay College of Criminal Justice (City University of New York).

Particularly at a time when the right to vote has never been more open but access to the ballot is increasingly restricted, this symposium will offer needed conversation on suffrage in light of the hopes and realities of American identity and governance.

Please see the symposium website <<http://www.sewanee.edu/law-symposium15/>> for the full schedule, presenter information and registration. The University is offering a special registration rate of $100 for members of the Sewanee community. Please contact Tanner Potts at (931) 598-1934 for details.

VILLAGE REPORT

by Frank X. Gladu

September has been an active month for the development of downtown. Several things have been started that I want to share with you.

First, after a long and exhaustive evaluation and search, a site has been determined for the location of the new University Book and Supply Store. It will be located between the Sewanee Post Office and Tower Community Bank on University Avenue. A design of the space as well as architect selection are underway. I am expecting a construction schedule in early 2018—progress!

Second, Monica Johnson from New Urban Communications visited Sewanee in mid-September. She is a communications specialist in the area of town development. Monica came to Sewanee to learn about our development efforts and to provide advice and recommendations on how best to communicate the project. She will assist us with telling the story about the development to those who live, work and visit here. Another important group with whom to communicate are those who may provide funding to make it happen—specifically, donors and developers. I expect to receive her report and recommendations in early October.

Third, the Vice Chancellor has appointed an advisory group to assist me and the Lease Committee with feedback on the implementation of the development downtown. The group's members have experience in urban design or are members of the community. I hope to utilize this group as a sounding board and to provide me with recommendations and advice as the specific pieces of the development occur. This group will be reviewing the specifics of the five projects where substantial progress is expected by 2022: the narrowing of the street at the 41A and University Avenue intersection, the Village Green gathering space, the food market, increased variety of housing and the new bookstore. They will also be reviewing new or amended policies to ensure that the development has a high likelihood of success. It is expected to meet monthly and as needed through 2019.

Another activity in the works is the moving of the house located at 35 Prince Lane. It is expected to be relocated within the next month. This site will then be considered for several buildings that can accommodate family apartments. We also continue to evaluate the south side of Prince Lane for single family homes and the Cottage Court.

The monthly Village update meeting will be 10–11 a.m., Tuesday, Oct. 3, at the Blue Chair. Please plan to attend for coffee and conversation about what is happening with the development of our downtown.

Frank X. Gladu is a Special Assistant to the Vice Chancellor and project manager for the development of the Sewanee Village. He can be reached at <fxgladu@sewanee.edu> or (931) 598-3397. More information can be obtained at <www.sewanee.edu/village>.

STRHS Welcomes Rose Adams to Sewanee

Southern Tennessee Regional Health System (STRHS) officials announce the addition of Rose A. Adams to the leadership team. Adams has been named Administrator of Southern Tennessee Regional Health System Sewanee and will begin her role on Nov. 7.

"We are so impressed with Rose and her leadership skills," said STRHS president Rob Followell. "Her background and experience in the administrative area of healthcare, negotiating, and relationship building will complement our strategy and mission of making communities healthier. I believe she is a perfect fit for our Sewanee hospital and I look forward to the new exciting things we will see happen in that facility."

Adams received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Lipscomb University in Nashville with a double major in Business Management and Marketing and later her Master of Business Administration with a concentration in healthcare management for the same university.

Her healthcare experience began as director of physician outreach and market development at Tenova Healthcare Harton in Tullahoma. During this time, her duties included recruiting, retention, acquisition, physician education and practice management. Adams led the rollout of electronic medical records for physicians, she created a physician leadership council, and collaborated on a hospital presentation that was utilized by the hospital parent company.

Adams' physician outreach role led to her being named assistant administrator with many additional responsibilities. As the assistant administrator she provided oversight to 13 departments, recruited 12 physicians, negotiated contracts, worked with acquisitions, analyzed data and market condition for growth and development opportunities as well as data to identify cost efficiencies. She worked closely with the chief executive office to ensure the hospital met necessary regulatory, compliance approvals, and quality accreditations.

SCCF Hosts Know Your Worth Conference

As a part of its fifth anniversary celebration, South Cumberland Community Fund (SCCF) will host its first local nonprofit conference, "Know Your Worth: Recognizing the Impact of Rural Nonprofits" on Wednesday, Oct. 11. The conference will take place from 8 a.m.–4 p.m. at the Sewanee Inn followed by the keynote address at 4:30 p.m., which will be in Convocation Hall.

Sewanee alumna and CNN Hero Becca Stevens, C'85, will deliver the keynote address, "The Power of Love in Justice Work: Advancing Community Impact." Stevens will also deliver a workshop at the conference on developing rituals for community leaders. Becca Stevens is the founder and president of Thistle Farms, a social enterprise organization that heals, empowers, and employs female survivors of trafficking, prostitution and addiction. Thistle Farm products will be available for purchase at the conference.

The all-day conference will include workshops and panels focused on rural nonprofit collaboration and development led by nonprofit leaders from local foundations, including the Appalachian Regional Commission, the Benwood Foundation, and the Community Foundations of Greater Chattanooga, Huntsville and Memphis.

"The conference is an exciting opportunity to extend the University and SCCF partnership by bringing together local and national leaders who are passionate about rural development and the role of the nonprofit sector," said Bonnie McCardell, founding board member and chair of the capacity building committee.

Following the keynote address, there will be a grants and leadership awards ceremony. In partnership with SCCF, the University of the South's Philanthropy Internship Program will award grants to several local nonprofit organizations. In addition, several nonprofit leaders who have completed local workshops sponsored by SCCF through the Center for Nonprofit Management (CNM) Nashville will receive a certificate in nonprofit leadership. These courses focused on capacity building skills such as board development, strategic planning, fundraising, marketing and volunteer management.

This event is open to any interested individuals or organizations. For more information and to register, go to <www.southcumberlandcommunityfund.org>.

SAS Admission Open House, Oct. 8

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School welcomes families seeking better educational options to its annual fall Admission Open House at 2 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 8. Families with children in grades four–11 can take part in campus tours, information sessions, mini-classes, and an introduction to the admission and financial aid application process.

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School provides outstanding college and life preparation for day and boarding students in grades six-12. Named one of the South's most beautiful high schools by Southern Living Magazine, the school takes full advantage of its 550-acre mountaintop campus. Students spend significant time outdoors each day walking the historic campus and enjoying outdoor learning and recreation opportunities. Playing as the Mountain Lions, the school fields 32 teams in 12 sports, including a varsity mountain biking program, one of the first in the state. SAS is also known for its rich visual and performing arts programs.

With just 260 students on campus, SAS students have small classes, personalized instruction, and the opportunity to participate in a wide range of activities regardless of their prior level of experience. The school's Learning Resource Center provides academic support for students needing additional attention. Students seeking more challenge may take college courses for free and for credit at the nearby University of the South.

The St. Andrew's-Sewanee School's Episcopal heritage is central to its mission, but the school welcomes students of all faiths. To provide educational opportunities for those students for whom such experiences might not otherwise be available, the school will award $2.3 million in financial aid this year.

Registration for the event is encouraged. Go to <www.sasweb.org> for more information.

Quinn-Stine to Present at TMTA Modeling the Standards Conference

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School math teacher Liz Quinn-Stine will be presenting at the Tennessee Mathematics Teachers' Association's (TMTA) Modeling the Standards Conference at UT-Martin, Sept. 29–30.

Quinn-Stine's presentation, "Can DESMOS Replace the Graphing Calculator?" looks at whether DESMOS, a powerful, free, online graphing program, can replace the expensive TI-calculators that students are now required to purchase for upper level math courses.

Quinn-Stine is a career mathematics teacher in her 25th year of teaching. She first came to SAS in 2003 and returned to the school in 2010 after several years of teaching at Cary Academy in Cary, N.C. Prior to that, she taught at The Waynflete School in Portland, Maine; Phillips Exeter Academy in Exeter, N.H.; Sunriver Preparatory School in Sunriver, Ore.; and Sandy Spring Friends School in Sandy Spring, Md. During the years she has taught math, physics and computer science. She holds a B.A. in mathematics from Brown University and a M.S. in geophysics from University of Washington.

Anton in Show Business is a mad-cap comedy which follows three actresses across the footlights, down the rabbit hole and into a strangely familiar wonderland that looks a lot like the American theatre. In the tradition of great backstage comedies, Anton conveys the joys, pains and absurdities of producing Chekhov's “The Three Sisters” in Texas.

Kalynn Harrington, Lydia Klaus and Kate Schumaker play the three actresses. They are joined by Marion Givhan, Alena Kochinski, Emily Riedlinger, Sarah Mixon, Will Burton-Edwards, Nick Govindan, Cameron Noel, Jonathan Herring, David Provost, Jack Riordan and Jim Crawford.

Anton In Show Business is directed by Peter Smith, with scenery designed by Elijah Brooks-Davis and Dan Backlund; costumes designed by Jennifer Matthews; and lighting designed by Liam Corley and Backlund. John Marshall is technical director, assisted by Chynna Bradford. Krystal Fowler is production stage manager. Admission is free and reservations are available at <eventbrite.com>.

“Apparatus for a Dream Sequence” by sculptor Anna Campbell invites visitors into a dreamscape, where familiar objects and materials become playful metaphors. Ordinary objects are appropriated and abstracted—made queer—and used to generate new meanings and new attachments of possibility and desire. Pragmatic materials preclude finished or closed meanings, and the difficulties and artifice of gender performances of all kinds are laid bare. “Apparatus for a Dream Sequence” is on view in the University Art Gallery through Oct. 13.

Sewanee's University Art Gallery is located on Georgia Ave. The gallery is free, accessible, and open to the public. Hours are 10 a.m.–5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday, and noon–4 p.m., on Saturday and Sunday. Please note that the UAG is closed during academic breaks. BOOKMARKED

by Margaret Stephens

Natural Grace

I don't know about you, but when I take a walk, my mind functions like a snail: it totes all its possessions along. I often get so preoccupied with whatever worry is uppermost that I miss the scenery altogether. I don't need my cell phone to distract me from the changing leaves or glossy buckeyes plopped along the path: my brain does the job all too well.

I was either a prime candidate or a supreme misfit at the recent seminar, "Contemplation and Care for Creation," led by Robin Gottfried. It's one of the offerings in the University's Center for Religion and the Environment, and if you haven't read about their programs, I heartily recommend you do.

At the heart of our seminar were regular periods of silence we took alone in the woods in which we meditated on what we found there. An ant-hill; a minute fungus, delicate as a baby's fingernail; echoing reflections in a pond, these all became vehicles for seeing and appreciating the Creator.

"Some people, in order to discover God, read books," says St. Augustine. "But there is a great book: the very appearance of created things. Look above you! Look below you!"

That's what we tried to do: use creation to better appreciate the Creator, with hopes of then taking better care of the former.

It's a theme found throughout the works of the mid-20th century British novelist Elizabeth Goudge, whose books I've been devouring lately. I needed an author who was about more than story and refined technique, an author able to say as Goudge did, "As this world becomes increasingly ugly, callous and materialistic, it needs to be reminded that the old fairy stories are rooted in truth, that imagination is of value, that happy endings do, in fact, occur, and that the blue spring mist that makes an ugly street look beautiful is just as real a thing as the street itself."

Her books are about the grace found in loving relationships and nature. "Have you seen, felt, smelt, tasted, the beauty of the world?" she asks at the opening of her autobiography, "The Joy of the Snow." In her trilogy of the Eliot family, "Bird in the Tree," "Pilgrim's Inn," and "The Heart of the Family," the emotional and physical exhaustion from the years during and after World War II is slowly healed through the beauty of the wild gardens and forest which surround their ancient home on the Hampshire coast. Not just the beauty, though, what it contains and represents, is a mystical loving presence which the Eliot children term magic.

Children are key in Goudge's novels, and realistically presented: mischievous, teasing, hard to contain. Their ability to create fantasy worlds of their own reminds me a little of Frances Hodgson Burnett's classic, "The Secret Garden." Goudge's books contain that same combination of loving relationships found in unexpected places, forgiveness and redemption.

They're also just good stories. Her 1946 children's book, "The Little White Horse," won the Carnegie Medal and was apparently one of J.K. Rowling's favorites. I prefer Goudge's "Linnets and Valerians," which has her hallmark tangle of generations in a picturesque English village.

She also wrote historical novels: "The White Witch," set during the Civil War of the 1700s; "Towers in the Mist," in 16th century Oxford. Some of you may remember the film "Green Dolphin Street" from the book of the same name, set in the 19th century on the Channel Islands and New Zealand.

Elizabeth Goudge is a treasure, and I plan to track down all her many books. I've been lucky enough over the years to find a number of them at library sales. I suppose she's looked on as "old-fashioned" and thus discounted and discarded.

Don't.

Yin and Jung by Arlyn Ende. Acrylic with copper, 28"x39" overall

SAS Gallery Welcomes the Art of Arlyn Ende

St. Andrew's-Sewanee School Art Gallery welcomes artist Arlyn Ende, whose work will be featured in the gallery Oct. 1–Nov. 9. Ende's exhibition, "The Message is for the Eye: An Introspective Exhibition" features prints, collage, designs and documentary materials from Ende's decades as an internationally renowned textile artist, designer, researcher, arts entrepreneur, and collaborator with her life and art partner, Jack Hastings. An artist's reception will be 3–7:30 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 5, in the SAS Art Gallery at 290 Quintard Rd. The public is invited to attend.

Ende was raised in New Orleans, where she passed a "dreamy Southern childhood." She attended Louisiana State University where she took pre-med courses, followed by a program in Drawing at Tulane University School of Architecture and study of Design at The School of the Art Institute of Chicago. In the decades since, Ende's independent textile study and research have taken her to 11 different countries. She has homesteaded and founded a clothing line, FogEater. She has worked in art galleries, urban design and has designed books as well as textiles. Her work has been featured in dozens of exhibitions and books and is collected around the world. Ende's work has received numerous awards including the Grand Prize in the American Craft Awards of the American Craft Museum, New York, N.Y.

Ende is perhaps best known for her large-scale textiles, which are characterized by bold design and vibrant color. Her textiles have been commissioned to grace dozens of public spaces in schools, businesses, airports and hospitals, including 11 stories of wall murals for the elevator lobbies at Vanderbilt Hospitals. Her Introspective Exhibition will include planning materials from large scale works, as well as more intimately scaled collages and drawings, and cyanotypes from recent years.

In celebration of Ende's work, textile artist and SAS former faculty-member Christi Teasley will be offering a one-day workshop, Introduction to Basic Wet Felting Techniques. The workshop will take place on Saturday, Oct. 28, 9:30 a.m.–3:30 p.m. Participants will use a lively palette of merino wool to explore three techniques: flat felting, nuno felting and physical resists. They will then combine these techniques to make a small pouch, suitable for carrying a phone or other small items. The fee for the workshop is $25.

SAS Art Gallery hours are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m.–3 p.m., and by appointment. Contact Gallery Director Julie Jones at <sasgallery@sasweb.org> for more information.

Jail Art Program Show & Sale

Grundy County Sheriff Clint Shrum in partnership with the local nonprofit organization, Arts Inside, is pleased to announce an art show created by the women in the detention center's art program. The event will be at 1 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 30, at the Grundy County Courthouse in Altamont. The public is invited to attend to enjoy refreshments and the art display. Artwork created by the women will be displayed and offered for sale. Prices range from $5 to $50.

Class participants apply and go through a selection process before admission to the program. The class meets weekly and at each session participants create a different form of art including basic line drawing, weaving, basket making, painting and more. The program teaches participants to tap into their creative potential to help bring beauty and joy into their lives.

The art program is offered through the Recovery and Reentry program at the jail. The Recovery and Reentry program is led by Alicia Shadwick, Pre-Release Case Manager, and Americorps VISTA, Tim Moser. Arts Inside is led by former South Cumberland Community Fund Americorps VISTA, Hilda Vaughan and local resident and volunteer, Millicent Foreman.

The art program began in January 2016 and is a new initiative of the Grundy County Sheriff's Office Recovery and Reentry Program, which offers inmates educational programs, a dog training program, career readiness courses, a greenhouse and gardening program, a brain health program, and peer-based recovery groups.

The art show is co-sponsored by the Sheriff's Office, the Mayor's Office, the South Cumberland Community Fund, the Americorps VISTA program, and The University of the South. Refreshments are provided by Chef Rick at Sewanee Dining.

Art Call to Photographers

All levels of photographers are invited to submit work by Oct. 20 reflecting the theme "home" to the Historic Downtown Tracy City Window Gallery's Second Exhibition.

Photographers of all ages and experience from Grundy, Franklin and Marion counties are eligible to submit. The theme for this exhibition, "home," is open to a variety of interpretations. Photographers' exploration of the theme might include, but is not limited to, locale, symbols, memory, buildings, objects, nostalgia and people. The photographs entered may answer the question, what is your notion of "home" and what best represents it. A holiday event will be held in conjunction with this exhibition in December.

Entries will be accepted until Oct. 20 and the selected works will be on view in the windows of downtown Tracy City from Nov. 17–Feb. 28.

The exhibition is made possible by Tennessee Arts Commission and hosted by local businesses in the windows of Depot Emporium, Annex Cafe, Grundy County Historical Society Museum, Citizens Tri-County Bank and Dutch Maid Bakery.

Please send entries in jpeg format to <grundyareaartscouncil@gmail.com>. Contact Emily Partin at (931) 235-5576 with any further questions.

The first exhibit of the Downtown Tracy City Window Gallery opened on Aug. 12 and will remain available for viewing until mid-November.

The first exhibit featured the creative artwork from our local students participating in summer camps across the plateau.

In three weekend home matches, Destiny Stewart led the Sewanee volleyball team with a total of 62 kills. Sewanee went 1-2 in that span. Photo by Lyn Hutchinson

Sewanee Volleyball Splits Tri-Match

The Sewanee volleyball team earned a split of the Sept. 24 home tri-match, falling to Millsaps in Southern Athletic Association (SAA) play in five sets before coming back to defeat Huntingdon in four sets at Juhan Gymnasium.

Match 1: Millsaps 3, Sewanee 2

The Majors got out to an early 2-0 lead in the match with set wins of 25-21 and 25-16, but the Purple and Gold stormed back to take the next two sets, 25-21 and 25-23, to force a fifth set.

While the Majors (7-7, 2-3) limited the Tigers to a .103 attack percentage in the first two sets, the Tigers stopped Millsaps' attack in sets three and four with a .032 defensive attacking percentage.

After a service error by Sewanee and a Millsaps' ace and a kill, the Majors led 12-9 when Sewanee called a timeout. The Tigers would rally to tie the set again at 13, but Millsaps took the deciding two points after a kill by Mckenzi Petricko and a Sewanee attack error.

Sewanee's Destiny Stewart posted her fifth double-double of the year with 17 kills on a .273 attack percentage and 27 digs. The freshman also assisted on four blocks.

Mason Gardella assisted on eight blocks for the Tigers, while adding nine digs and four kills. Stephanie Price posted nine kills and assisted on six blocks, while Olivia Nichols recorded nine kills and 12 digs. Constance Connolly had 23 assists and seven digs for the Tigers.

As a team, Sewanee out-blocked Millsaps 15-6. Payton Passantino posted 13 kills to lead the Majors, while Ashley Zamjahn recorded 39 digs.

Match 2: Sewanee 3, Huntingdon 1

The Tigers came roaring back in the afternoon match, taking down Huntingdon, 25-17, 22-25, 25-21 and 25-10.

After falling to the Hawks (9-10) in the second set, the Purple and Gold (7-6, 1-3) went on an attacking spree, posting a .446 attack percentage (34-5-65) in the last two sets, while out-killing their opponent 34-18.

Stewart posted a career-best 31 kills and added 12 digs for her sixth double-double of the year. The Alpharetta, Ga. native posted a .651 hitting percentage (31-3-43). She finished the day with 48 kills and 39 digs.

Connolly and Peyton Parent each posted a double-double of their own. Connolly recorded 24 assists and 12 digs to go along with three service aces. Parent, meanwhile, dug out 13 attacks and assisted on 12 kills.

Sewanee Football Falls to Millsaps

The Sewanee football team saw their comeback effort fall short on Sept. 23, as the Millsaps Majors held on to win 17-13 in Jackson, Miss.

With 4:57 remaining in the contest, down four points, the Tigers had the football looking to go 72 yards and score the touchdown. Sewanee quarterback Alex Darras completed a seven-yard pass to Alan Puri to move the ball to the Tigers' 42.

A short time later in the drive, the Tigers faced a fourth -and-nine situation when the freshman quarterback found C.J. McCullough for 17 yards to put the Purple and Gold into Majors' territory at the 30-yard line.

Three plays later, the Tigers were faced with another fourth down. At the Millsaps 35, Darras was flushed out of the pocket and took off running. He was able to get the first down, but as he went down to the turf at the 20, the ball came loose and Millsaps' Hooch Jeansonne recovered the fumble with 1:19 remaining.

With only one timeout left for Sewanee (2-2, 1-1), the Majors (2-2, 1-1) were able to run the clock out and secure the win.

The game started off well for the Tigers when Warren Holland ran five yards for a touchdown with 8:30 left in the first quarter.

Leading 7-0 with five minutes to go in the opening stanza, the Majors' Hunter Sellen chipped in a 25-yard field goal to make the score 7-3 in favor of the Tigers.

In the second half the Majors' Ty Proctor completed a 26-yard TD pass to Evan Lundgren and with the point after, the Majors led 10-7.

Sewanee would tie the contest at 10 later in the third quarter on a 37-yard

Men's Soccer Defeats Huntingdon

Tied after one half, the Sewanee men's soccer team netted two second half goals to lift the Purple and Gold to a 4-2 win over Huntingdon on Sept. 26 at Samford Stadium.

Sewanee (4-4-0) out-shot Huntingdon 20-10 with a 13-3 advantage on goal. The Hawks (0-8-1) broke the scoreboard in the 13th minute with a Jean Jocelyn goal by T.J. Fleming at the 12:39 mark. Thirty-four seconds later, Kyle Johnston, off a pass by Andrew Turk, found the back of the net for his second goal of the year to even the contest at one apiece.

In the 36th minute, Hagen Clements found Alpo Sipilä's pass to give the Tigers the 2-1 lead late in the first half.

However, the Hawks would even the score again with 17 seconds left in the half with a Kebba Jeng goal.

The Tigers got to work in the second half with a 59th minute goal by Ben Vaeth. Turk attempted a shot that the Huntingdon goalkeeper saved, but with the goalie away, Vaeth netted the game-winner for his first goal of the year.

Sewanee added an insurance goal in the 78th minute thanks to Johnston's second goal of the game and his third of the year. Sipilä finished with two assists for the Tigers in the win. Will Merriman (4-4) saved one shot while earning the win in goal.

Sewanee freshman Catherine Owen reached the semifinals in the Women's Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) Regional Championships held in Sewanee Sept. 22-24. She also earned a spot in the doubles' final with her partner Clementina Davila. Photo by Lyn Hutchinson

SAS Football Features International Players

Prior to its first loss of the season to Franklin Christian Academy on Sept. 22, St. Andrew's-Sewanee School (4-1) had the third ranked 8-man football team in the state of Tennessee. Pretty remarkable for a school for which a winning football tradition has not been the norm. Even more remarkable when one notes that one-quarter of the team is not from the United States and did not grow up playing American football.

When head coach John Hargis' squad of 28 young men take to the field, six

Mountain Lions Top Franklin Classical, 34-14

The St. Andrews-Sewanee Mountain Lion football team ran their 2017 winning streak to four games when they defeated previously undefeated Franklin Classical, 34-14, in Franklin on Sept. 15. (SAS lost its Sept. 22 game.)

The two teams played pretty close for the first two quarters. The Mountain Lions struck first as quarterback Dustin Stensby scored from 11 yards out and Gabriel Stevens kicked the point after for a 7-0 lead at the 9:02 mark in the first quarter.

Franklin Classical countered with a three-yard touchdown plunge with 4:50 remaining in the opening stanza, but the Mountain Lions led 7-6 after the hosts failed on their conversion attempt.

Blaise Zeitler scampered 55 yards a minute and 10 seconds later to paydirt and Stevens' conversion kick gave the Mountain Lions a 14-6 lead after one quarter. The second quarter saw the hosts add a touchdown with 4:09 left before half and after a two point conversion the game was tied at 14-14.

Stensby then hit Zeitler on a nine-yard touchdown pass on the last play of the first half and Stevens added the PAT and SAS took a 21-14 lead into intermission. The score at the end of the half gave the Mountain Lions the momentum they needed. With the defense pitching a shutout in the second half, the offense added two third quarter touchdowns to seal the victory. Stensby scored on runs of 72 and 66 yards, while Stevens was one of two on PAT kicks.

Offensively, Stensby carried the ball eight times for 178 yards and three touchdowns. Zeitler added 156 yards on 10 totes with a rushing touchdown. He also caught two passes for 19 yards and a receiving touchdown.

Stensby was 2-5-0 through the air for 19 yards. Jack Simons had 28 yards rushing on seven carries.

Defensively, Jalen Tillman had eight tackles and Justin Elgouhary was close behind with seven stops. Jarrett Willis had four tackles and Zeitler and Steven Zhu had three stops each.

Stensby and Stevens added two tackles and Caden Graham and Ben Matthews had one tackle each.

Graham earned a sack and Stevens nabbed an interception.

Girls' Soccer Defeats Silverdale

On Sept. 21, The St. Andrew's-Sewanee varsity girls' soccer team defeated Silverdale Baptist, 4-2.

The Mountain Lions got off to a quick start and were up 2-0 at half time thanks to goals by Mariel Rinck and Anna Post. Rinck and Post also each scored in the second half to give SAS a 4-0 lead.

Silverdale continued to fight and earned two penalty kicks to bring the score to 4-2. The Mountain Lions finished the last 15 minutes with ten players, but held on for the win.

countries are represented: Mexico, China, Bulgaria, Rwanda, Germany and the United States. This isn't some recruiting scheme; six of the international players had never played football before this year. They are excited to finally get a chance to try American football, as it is known in countries where soccer dominates.

Language can sometimes be a challenge. Although all of the students come to St. Andrew's-Sewanee having studied English for most of their education, "bump-and-run" and "blitz" are not usually part of their vocabulary. This year, Hargis is getting some translation help from senior Steven Zhu, a three-year varsity player and SAS soccer stand-out from Shanghai, who was provided with similar help from an upperclassman from China when he was first starting out. In addition to playing, it's Zhu's job to be sure that the guys know that a turnover is not a pastry.

It is a tough way to build a football dynasty. Although sophomore Laurenz Schumacher of Cologne, Germany and junior Georgi Georgiev of Troyan, Bulgaria have earned their way on to the kick-off team, both will return home at the end of the school year when their one-year study abroad opportunity ends. Hargis doesn't mind the challenge, in fact, he was surprised when someone pointed out that 25 percent of his team are foreigners. He had not noticed.

As for the winning season, "People keep asking me, 'What are you doing differently?'" Hargis said. "To be honest, the coaching is the same. It is the guys' attitudes and work ethic this year. All of our seniors have really stepped up and that is filtering down through the whole squad."

Even to the guys who didn't know until a month ago that "sack" could mean something other than what you used to carry your lunch.

SAS Hosts Cross Country

The SAS Mountain Lions hosted their final home meet of the season on Sept. 22 against three local teams.

It was also senior recognition night for the Mountain Lions as they celebrated all the contributions of seniors Richard Du and Winnie Fang.

On the varsity boys' side, SAS finished second with a team score of 56. SAS was led by Seth Walker (sixth place), with George Zou (ninth), Elijah Andrews (10), Michael Vaughan (12) and Richard Du (19) rounding out the scoring.

Alvin Wong (24), Ryan Val (32),

Tao Huang (47), Jimmy Shin (48) and JT Jenkins (50) all ran hard as well.

On the girls' side, SAS finished second with a team score of 45. Carla Hof (second), Sophia Patterson (eighth), Hannah Warmbrod (10), Jules French (12) and Winnie Fang (13) all pushed themselves to the very end.

Sewanee's Ceara Caffrey (No. 7) looks to score in the Tigers' Sept. 22 field hockey win over Lindenwood-Belleville. Caffrey finished with four goals in the contest.

Field Hockey Team Wins Big at Home

The Sewanee field hockey team opened the home portion of the 2017 schedule with an 8-1 win over Lindenwood-Belleville on Sept. 22 at Puett Field.

The Tigers got the scoring started right out of the gate in the second minute, as Ceara Caffrey found Monica Bueso's pass for her third goal of the year.

In the 15th minute, Virginia Barry netted her second goal of the year, and three minutes later, Caffrey found the cage for her second of the match.

Prior to the half, Bueso found the goal in the 25th minute for her second goal of the year, and Caffrey completed the hat trick with her third goal of the match and fifth of the year with 49 seconds left in the half.

The Purple and Gold (4-1) added goals by Jo Jo Young (39th minute) and Abbie Wrather from Katie Wilson (60th minute).

Lindenwood's (0-3) Janne Madelief Vermeulen broke the shutout in the 55th minute.

Caffrey, after successfully completing the hat trick in the first half, netted her fourth goal of the contest in the 69th minute.

Sewanee (4-1) took a total of 49 shots, 28 on goal.

Katya Waters (3-1) earned the win in goal, playing 29 minutes and saving two shots. Rachel Blum (26:06) and Kadie Hicks (15:04) also saw time in goal for the Tigers.

Tigers Edge Berry in Soccer

The Sewanee Tigers' women's soccer team scored a 27th minute goal and used stellar defense to earn a 1-0 home win over Berry on Sept. 26.

Elizabeth "Clay" McKnight netted her third goal of the season off a Walker Poe assist for the game winner.

The Tigers (3-5-1, 1-0-0) limited Berry (1-4-1, 0-1-0) to only one shot in the first half.

Leading the Sewanee defense was back-up goalie Savannah Williams, who earned her first win in goal with a clean sheet and four saves.

The big blow for the Purple and Gold came in the fourth quarter, when Proctor completed a 9-yard touchdown to Kain Mitchell to extend the lead.

Jacobs added a 41-yard field goal with 6:36 left to finish the scoring at 17-13.

The Tigers finished the contest leading the way in total offense with 354 yards to the Majors' 288.

Darras finished the game going 18-for-28 for 176 yards, and Holland led the way on the ground with a touchdown and 60 yards rushing on 21 carries.

Micah Maes led the Tigers receiving corps with nine catches for 56 yards.

Pierce Johnson posted 12 tackles, while John Cleveland recorded one sack and an interception.

The Tigers return to The Mountain for Hall of Fame weekend on Sept. 30 against Hendrix. Kickoff is scheduled for 1 p.m.

University Golf Earns Sixth Place

The 25th-ranked Sewanee men's golf program finished sixth out of 18 teams, with an 888 (296-297-295) at the Tournament Town Preview, hosted by Guilford College in Greensboro, N.C.

The Tigers missed the top five by one stroke in the tournament held Sept. 24-25. Methodist University finished with an 887 (293-301-293).

Tommy Oliver bounced back from a 74, two-over-par in the first round to finish the three-round tournament with a 217 (74-72-71), one-over-par. He finished in fifth place in a field of 90 golfers.

Thanks to 10 birdies out of the 54 he played, Oliver earned All-Tournament honors.

HEARING HEALTH NEWS

M.S. CCC-A Audiologist

TYPES OF HEARING LOSS

There are two general types of hearing loss.

1. Conductive hearing loss, a medically treatable condition that involves a problem in the ear canal or middle ear that prevents sound from getting to the inner ear (such as ear infections and wax build up).
2. Sensorineural hearing loss, a general term used to describe conditions that result from damage to the hair cells of the inner ear or the nerves that supply it. Persons with this type of hearing loss can be helped with properly selected and custom fitted digital hearing technology.

Your ability to hear is as unique as your fingerprints. No two people have the exact same impairment. Age, family history, medical conditions, childhood and adult illness, and noise exposure can combine to produce different kinds of hearing losses in different people. We recommend the services of the audiologist at Debbie Gamache's The Hearing Center LLC, when you need help with your hearing. We are located at 705 NW Atlantic St. Suite B, Tullahoma. Call us at 393-2051. You can also visit our website at www.thehearingcenterllc.com.

Glowworm

This past Sunday my husband and I were out on our porch stargazing, when he noticed something glowing in the courtyard on the ground—perhaps because our eyes were adjusted to the dark. It was linear and a few inches long. When he went inside to get a flashlight, I noticed it had moved! Closer inspection revealed a colorful creature, orange and black and yellow, something like a millipede, but with luminescence on dots on its sides and between its segments. When we saw that it had three pairs of legs on its first segments and something like the pseudopods of a caterpillar on the other segments, we realized it was an insect.

Heading inside to the computer, we searched for “large bioluminescent insect larva” and came up with the glow-worm or phenogogid. What we were seeing was, most likely, the larviform adult female of this type of beetle. It is also known as the railroad-worm, because the glowing spots on each side resemble the lighted windows of a railroad car as it trundles along. Some species, though not this one, even have a red “headlamp.” The bioluminescence is probably a deterrent to nocturnal predators rather than a signal to attract males.

Female fireflies, also larviform in some species and sometimes also called glow-worms, do use their flashing abdomens to signal males. Male phenogogids, though, have large feathery antennae to detect the pheromones of the females. These two insect groups are the only ones in the New World with bioluminescence and were thought to be close relatives, but recent studies indicate that the bioluminescence may have arisen independently in the two groups. Sightings of these glow-worms is uncommon—what a thrill!

Volunteers Needed to Finish Two New Trails

Ranger Jason Reynolds is leading a volunteer team building an incredible new trail in the recently-acquired Sherwood Forest area of the park. The trailhead for this new 3-mile loop trail, featuring panoramic bluff views of Lost Cove and surrounding areas, will be off Old CCC Road, south of Sewanee on Jumpoff Road. Ranger Jason will be working on the Sherwood trail each weekday starting at 9 a.m., with a goal of completing the loop in time for the Oct. 20 dedication of Sherwood Forest.

Denny Cove, the newest area of the park, is now officially open (weekends only, until the trail build is complete!). Help us complete the 1.5-mile main access trail out to Denny Falls, so this area of the park can be open on a daily basis. We need volunteers to help Ranger John Ball get the job done. Trail work will primarily be moderate to strenuous and will involve working on loose/uneven ground. Meet at 9 a.m., every Saturday, at the Denny Cove parking area. Look for a gravel road with a small brown park sign and bar gate, across from the Foster Falls Volunteer Fire Department on US 41, about 1.5 miles south of Foster Falls. Follow the gravel road about 3/4 of a mile to the Denny Cove parking area, on your right. The trailhead is at the far corner of the parking area, opposite where you drove in.

If you would like to volunteer to help get either of these trails built, please visit the Volunteer Opportunities page of the Friends' website <<http://www.friendsofsouthcumberland.org>>.

The Plateau's Guerrilla War—The Civil War wasn't just fought on battlefields by men in uniform. The Cumberland Plateau was the backdrop for some of the most ruthless and despicable characters of the era. Come to the Visitors' Center, 11745 U.S. 41, Monteagle, at 6 p.m. for a one-hour program and an easy 1.5-mile walk to expand your knowledge of the Civil War and its effects on plateau locals.

The South Cumberland State Park Visitors' Center is located on Highway 41 South between Monteagle and Tracy City and is open 8 a.m.–4:30 p.m. seven days a week. For more information call (931) 924-2980.

The Garden is a lovely mix of native and cultivated plants, and the ravine is steeped in Sewanee history. There are a surprising number of things to see and learn on this familiar trail. All are welcome to join in the walk.

Nature Journaling—A group meets for nature journaling on Thursdays, 9-11 a.m. Come try it out – stick with it if you like. Forest Loss Threatens Unique Wetlands

Some of the most important wetlands in the southeastern U.S. have experienced decades of degradation and now face an uncertain future. In a new study published in the journal Wetlands, ecologists at the University of the South show how an extensive network of small forested wetlands on the Cumberland Plateau in Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia are being threatened by loss of forest habitat.

These wetlands, called vernal pools, act as distinct aquatic “islands” of biodiversity scattered across the region's uplands. The wetlands are irreplaceable habitat for amphibians, birds, and rare plants. Amphibians such as salamanders depend on these pools to breed. Migrant birds use the wetlands as feeding stations to fuel their journeys. Rare plants live nowhere but the wet soils around the pools. When development or logging removes forest from around the pools, this biodiversity declines and disappears. Vernal pools are therefore considered vital “hotspots” of biodiversity.

Lead researcher Jon Evans and his colleagues used a computer analysis of aerial photographs to map almost 2,400 pools in the three-state study area. The authors found that only 7 percent of these pools were located on protected lands such as state parks. Forest cover around the pools steadily dropped between 1981 and 2010: the number of fully forested pools declined by more than one third, and the number of pools that had little or no forest around them increased by nearly four times.

“These tear-drop shaped pools are a vital part of the rich, natural tapestry of the Cumberland Plateau landscape,” Evans says. “Hopefully, our study will now generate awareness of their existence and provide a scientific basis to guide their conservation in the future.”

“This research helps to fill an important gap in our understanding of isolated wetlands at a critical juncture for the Clean Water Act,” said Brett Hartl, government affairs director at the Center for Biological Diversity. “Right now, the EPA is developing policies to decide which wetlands should receive federal protections, and this research shows just how vital these wetlands are, both to biodiversity and to the maintenance of water quality in this region.”

“The study directly supports the state's mission to prevent the degradation of its diverse wetlands,” stated Caitlin Elam, environmental scientist with the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation. “It allows a more thorough understanding of the current threats to vernal pool wetlands, and it facilitates the location and identification of these valuable wetland resources, resulting in more protective land-use planning and regulatory oversight for these unique waters, before they are lost.” See the full study at <<http://rdcu.be/va7d>>.

by Phoebe Bates

Founders' Day, Oct. 6, 2017

...The past teaches us that Sewanee is a place where one may distinguish between the wickedness of folly and the truth of humor. A broader student body, a more professional faculty, and an institution characterized by civility, tolerance, and a reasoned faith will become the institution the Founders intended. They envisioned the University of the South as the great Southern university that would interpret, shape and lead the region and the nation. They knew, as we know, that a "scarecrow in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing." Incivility, intolerance, and inflexibility are cucumbers."

—John M. Webb, Founders' Day, 1976
